There was a mild sensation when Trustee O'Mara testified that he had had complaints to the effect that Mrs. Eyler was using her influence to convert the Catholic inmates of the school to Protestantism. He cited a case in which there were two applicants for the services of a girl of the name of Katie. Ordinarily the first applicant would have secured the girl, but Mrs. Eyler decided to change the rule in this instance, as the first applicant employed a servant of the Catholic faith, and she was afraid that Katie would be converted to that church. Trustee O'Mara expressed the opinion that Mrs. Eyler was not employed by the State for the purpose of proselyting, and the committee agreed with him.

Mr O'Mara has made himself obnoxious to the administration because of his independence since appointed to the Board, and he is understood to be booked for dismissal under the reorganization. He intimated on the stand that he would not accept a reappointment if it were offered him.

Miss Catherine Fairlamb, who was a teacher in the school four years, said that there was no ill-feeling toward Mrs. Eyler when she came to the school as principal, but that she had not been there long before she made it so unpleasant for the teachers and officers that they were very unhappy. In the course of her testimony Miss Fairlamb said that she had knocked a girl down twice, and he said it as if he enjoyed the recollection of the act. The girl who went down under his blows had been disorderly at a religious meeting. Husband Eyler sat near Miss Fairlamb when she testified to his cruelty, but the calm, self-satisfied expression of his face did not change. Only once did he show any sign of mental agitation. It was when Trustee O'Mara was testifying to Mrs. Eyler's proselyting methods.

Before adjournment of the committee Husband Eyler was examined, and he entered a general denial of all the charges of cruelty made against him.

Several members of the Board of Trustees testified, and Lewis Parker, a former member of the Board, was asked some pertinent questions concerning a conversation that he had had with Managing Trustee Cook, in which he said he was of the opinion that it would be best for the school if Mrs. Eyler were asked to resign. Parker admitted that he had expressed such an opinion, but not officially.

PUSHING TROLLEY WORK

ARLINGTON AVENUE LINE TO BE READY BEFORE JUNE 1ST.

Tracks Will First be Laid on the Avenue, and Then Operations on Private Right-of-Way Started.

Before June 1st the Plainfield Street Railway Company expects to have its Arlington Avenue extension in operation. Work on that line was begun this week. The contract for building the line was given to Contractor Murray, of New York. A gang of his men went to work this week grading the private right-of-way through the Randolph property, south of Randolph road to the cemetery. There grading will be completed in a week and the ground will be allowed to settle while the work of laying the tracks on Arlington avenue, beginning at Fourth street, will be started.

The Arlington avenue line, it will be remembered, is to branch off the West Fourth street line at Arlington avenue and follow the latter thoroughfare south to Randolph road. It will there turn to the east and cross Park avenue, turning again to the south and following a private right-of-way close to and parallel to Park avenue, until opposite the entrance to Hillside cemetery. Then the line turns to the east again until Woodland avenue is reached, and that thoroughfare is followed southward to the city line, where the links of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club begin.

It is expected that the tracks can all be laid inside of a month and the line will then be ready for use. By the time the rails are put down on Arlington avenue and Randolph road the private right-of-way, now being graded, will be settled enough to allow the building of the line to go forward without delay.

A TALK ON BIRDS.

Prof. Apgar Denounced a Fashion That Tolerated the Slaughter of Beautiful Birds.

The subject of birds was treated in an entertaining and highly instructive manner by Prof. Austin C. Apgar, of Trenton, last evening, at the chapel of the Crescent Avenue church. The disagreeable weather prevented a large attendance, but those who were present were much gratified.

Prof. Apgar is thoroughly at home among the birds. He has made the characteristics of the feathered tribe a life study, and is therefore well fitted to talk entertainingly of their habits, peculiarities and usefulness. He impressed upon those present the wrong that was being done in the use by the women of the song birds for decoration on their bonnets and hats, and denounced the editors of certain magazines who had maintained that it was not detrimental to the propagation of the birds to slaughter them at certain periods of the year.

Prof. Apgar described many of the points of usefulness to which the birds are adapted and by illustrations on a blackboard outlined the various interesting features about them. He also told of the many kinds of birds to be found, and stated that a study of them could be made right at home as well as to go abroad.

PRESBYTERY OF ELIZABETH.

It Will Meet in Hope Chapel in This City April 17th and 18th.

The Presbytery of Elizabeth will meet at Hope chapel, Tuesday and Wednesday, April 17th and 18th. The opening sermon will be preached by Rev. J. O. McKelvey, the retiring moderator, Tuesday, April 17th, at 11 o'clock a. m.

Tuesday evening an address will be delivered on "Bible and Tract Work in North India," by Rev. T. S. Wynkoop, D. D., secretary of the North India Bible Society, which society is an auxiliary to the British and Foreign Bible Society in London. Dr. Wynkoop has also been honorary secretary of the North India Auxiliary of the Religious Tract Society of London, and is visiting America as delegate from the London Bible Society to the Ecumenical Conference on Foreign Missions. All are cordially invited to these meetings.

Miss Bourne's W. C. T. U. Appointments.

Miss Emma Bourne, president of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of New Jersey, is in Princeton, at the Mercer county convention, today. Her other appointments for this month are: April 18th, Garfield; 19th, Union Hill, Hudson county convention; 20th, Passaic, Passaic county convention; 23d, Gladstone; 25th, Lambertville, Hunterdon county convention, and 26th, Port Republic, Atlantic county convention.

Dance to Juniors.

Miss Kenyon, principal of the "Chestnuts," West Seventh street, will give a dance to the juniors of that school Tuesday evening in the school hall.

THE SIXTH MUSICALE.

Christian Endeavorers of the Seventh-day Baptist Church Heard Fine Talent.

The sixth musicale of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Seventy-Day Baptist church, held in the church last evening, fully sustained the reputation for excellence made by past affairs of a similar character. Every pew in the church was occupied and the audience overflowed into the chapel.

All those who took part in the programme, except Miss Lillie d'Angelo Bergh, of New York, were from this city and well-known in Plainfield musical circles. Miss Bergh is possessed of a strong rich soprano voice that evidenced the results of long and careful training. Her selections were admirably chosen to show her range and exact rendering of the difficult parts.

Miss Edith Waldo, violin, and Dr Leonard Waldo, violin-cello, gave several instrumental trios, with Miss Jessie Utter, piano, that were of unusual excellence.

The double quartette sang well while the baritone solos of William Holmes were satisfactorily rendered. Miss Jessie Utter acted as accompanist. To her much credit is due for arranging the delightful affair. She was chairman of the committee in charge and spared no efforts to make the musicale a success. The succes of her efforts was admirably demonstrated.

TO LEAD AT MARCONIER.

H. W. Marshall Chosen as Superintendent of Trinity Reformed Church's New Branch.

At the regular meeting of the consistory of Trinity Reformed church last evening, H. W. Marshall was the unanimous choice of the Consistory and he was elected for the position of general superintendent of Marconier chapel at Oak Tree, recently accepted as a branch of the church and Elder VanEmburgh and Deacons Thorpe and VanZandt were appointed as a committee from the church to assist Mr. Marshall in his work and to secure supplies for the Sunday evening services at the chapel. The selection of Mr. Marshall as general superintendent of the chapel is very pleasing to the people of Oak Tree, as he has already endeared himself to them by the interest he has manifested in the chapel and for his regular attendance at the Sunday-school ever since its adoption as a branch of Trinity.

The appointment of Mr. Marshall as general superintendent of the chapel will in no way effect the present superintendent of the Sunday school, A. E. Mettler, who is doing very efficient and satisfactory work at the chapel, and Mr. Mettler will continue to act as the superintendent of the Sunday-school.

Rheumatic People!

Mrs. C. Casky, of Easton, Pa., after taking electric massage treatment of F. L. Bathmann, 608 West Sixth street, states the following: "I had rheumatism in arms and legs, and also lumbago and general weakness for more than two years and during that time have been hardly a day without great pains. When I first read of electric massage I thought it was humbug like so many other remedies that are advertised, but hearing from other people how quickly they were cured I tried it and am not sorry for it, because in a short time and for little cost I was completely cured.

West Enders Want a Macadam Street.

Property owners living on West Fifth street, between Monroe and Grant avenue, are getting up a petition to present to the Common Council to have their street macadamized from curb to curb. They agree to pay two-thirds of the expense, if the city will pay the other third. If the work is done the property owners will have three years in which to pay the two-thirds. It is a most commendable effort and one if accomplished will be greatly appreciated.

Expedition Awheel.

An expedition awheel after trailing arbutus has been arranged for tomorrow afternoon by the social committee of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Congregational church. The party, to which all the members and their friends are invited to join, will meet at the church and start for its destination at 2:30 o'clock. It is necessary that all should be on hand promptly so that the trip can be accomplished in plenty of time.

Being Cut Down to Grade.

East Third street is being cut down to grade by Street Commissioner Gavett's men, an improvement which has long been needed. The street is to be resurfaced with macadam and will be put in excellent condition.

EXPENSIVE CLUB ROOM FOR JOHN VENABLE

City Judge Runyon Fined Him $30 for Running a Crap Game There.

TRIAL LASTED TWO HOURS.

VENABLE'S GUESTS WERE DISMISSED FOR LACK OF EVIDENCE.

Results of Raid Last Saturday Night in Court This Morning—Two of the Prisoners Forgot to Appear—Venable's Strange Defence.

It took City Judge Runyon two hours to find out just exactly what happened at John Venable's "club room" on the third floor of a building on Park avenue last Saturday night. Venable and five of his friends were arraigned before the Judge this morning on the charge of gambling. Two of the party forgot to put in an appearance.

The entire party came before the Judge last Monday morning, but their trial was adjourned until today at the request of Former Councilman W. L. Hetfield, lawyer for the bunch. They all entered a plea of not guilty. They were all on hand this morning except Joseph Kincaid and Walter Carter, alias "Cack."

Sergeant Kiely, Roundsman Frederickson and Patrolmann Saffron told how they made the raid and how they had found Venable sitting behind the green baize table while the rest gathered around it. They found "Cack" Carter at the door and told him to knock. Thus they gained an entrance.

The testimony of the prisoners was varied and rather exciting. George Anderson explained that he had gone there simply on a business errand and had not played at all. He and Thomas hid in the closet as they didn't care to go to jail. Saffron found them there.

Venable's defence was remarkable. He found great trouble in accounting for the mat ruled as a "crap" marker. He admitted owning it but, at first, had really forgotten what it was for. Then he remembered that it was to keep score in playing "seven up." The Judge asked him for a practical example, but Venable didn't seem to get the idea.

After a session lasting two hours the Judge finally found Venable guilty of running a gambling establishment and gave him his choice between paying a fine of $30 or going to jail for thirty days. He discharged the other prisoners, saying that there was no evidence that they had been gambling.

UNCLE SAM WON'T MOVE.

POSTOFFICE TO REMAIN WHERE IT IS FOR FIVE YEARS LONGER.

Lease Will be Signed With the Babcock Estate—Present Facilities are Excellent.

The city postoffice will not be moved, at least for five years, from its present location in the Babcock building. Last week Postofficer Inspector W. B. Snow was on here from Washington, D. C., for the purpose of making the necessary arrangements to continue the office in its present location. There has been some talk of locating the postoffice in the corner store of the Babcock building. That store is at present occupied as a carpet department by Woodhull & Martin. It is understood that the above firm is so well satisfied with the location that they do not desire to vacate for the store adjoining and west of the entrance to the Babcock building.

Postmaster Bird told a Daily Press reporter this morning that the necessary application papers had been made out and the lease drawn up by the representative of the executors of the Babcock estate and been forwarded to the first assistant postmaster general to whom all applications for rental and supplies must be submitted. The application has the approval and recommendation of Inspector Snow. While the lease has not yet been signed, it is quite probable that it soon will be, in consideration of the recommendation of the inspector.

Inspector Snow told Postmaster Bird that the Plainfield postoffice was one of the best equipped in the State, outside of large cities where the postoffice is located in a government building especially constructed for such a purpose. The lease of the present quarters occupied by the postoffice does not expire until October. It is probable, though, that the new application will be accepted by the government officials in a few days and the lease forwarded to the executors of the Babcock estate for their signature.

GOOD FRIDAY SERVICES.

Several Clergymen Will Preach From Christ's Utterances While on the Cross.

The usual Good Friday services will be held at 7:30 o'clock this evening in the First M. E. church and as is the custom the members of the churches will unite in the services. The clergymen of the city will participate and will speak of Christ's utterances while on the cross. The following arrangement has been made for the evening:

These words have been arranged as follows: First, "Father, forgive them; for they know not what they do," Rev. E. M. Rodman; second, "Verily, I say unto thee, this day shalt thou be with me in paradise," Rev. C. L. Goodrich; third, "Behold thy son; behold thy mother," Rev. C. J. Schenck; fourth, "My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?" Rev. D. J. Yerkes; fifth, "I thirst," Rev. A. E. Main; sixth, "It is finished," Rev. G. W. Gardner; seventh, "Father, into thy hands I commend my spirit," Rev. W. R. Richards.

The collection to be taken up at the service will be for the Children's Home.

B. AND O. PLANS.

Reports Which Involve the Absorption of the Reading and the Jersey Central Roads.

A Baltimore dispatch to the New York Herald says that it is currently reported that the Baltimore and Ohio is about to absorb the Philadelphia and Reading and the Central Railroad of New Jersey, thus obtaining a through line of its own to New York. The Pennsylvania is said to be interested in this deal, taking as its share the coal tonnage of the Scranton, Wilkesbarre and Mauch Chunk districts of Pennsylvania, now dominated by the Jersey Central.

This scheme, it is said, was considered in Philadelphia yesterday, when Chairman Salomon, of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, and President Cassatt, of the Pennsylvania Railroad, had a conference. The local railroad heads refuse to give out any information on the deal.

Fractured Two Ribs.

Joseph Kingston, a mason, residing on East Second street, met with a painful accident Monday last while at work on Mr. Loizeaux's house nearly opposite Mr. Kingston's house. He was standing on a ladder matching a cornice, when a plumber thoughtlessly removed the fastenings at the bottom of the ladder. Mr. Kingston fell a distance of fifteen feet and sustained a fracture of two ribs.

Let Us Hope So.

The statement is made on good authority that Plainfield will see the new station of the Jersey Central Railroad completed before summer is over. The officials of the company are even now considering the plans and it is expected that active work will be started before June. Once started it will not take many months to complete the improvements that the Central has planned.

Colored Couple Wedded.

Mrs. Emma Webster and Henry Brown, both of this city, were married last evening at the home of the bride, 304 Arlington avenue. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. D. Johnson, pastor of the Fillmore Baptist church, before a number of relatives and friends of the couple. The bride was accompanied by Mrs. Letta Maynard and the groom by Watson Randolph.

Death of Margaret A. McCready.

Word has been received of the death of Miss Margaret A. McCready, youngest daughter of Thomas L. and Emily A. McCready, and granddaughter of the late Benjamin W. McCready, M. D. She died at her home 138 West 12th street, New York, yesterday. She was formerly a resident of Plainfield.

BOTH MEN STILL ALIVE.

VICTIMS OF YESTERDAY'S ACCIDENT IN SERIOUS CONDITION.

John D. Runyon Had Breast Bone and Two Ribs Broken—J. D. Spicer is Still Unconscious.

The two victims of the giving way of the stairway in the large lumbershed of Boice, Runyon & Co., Park avenue, yesterday afternoon, have so far survived their injuries although both are in a serious condition. Joseph D. Spicer lies at his home, 125 West Fifth street, and has not yet recovered consciousness since the accident occured. John D. Runyon is at his home, 502 Park avenue. He is conscious but suffers much.

Fuller details of the circumstances, under which the accident happened, have been learned. Mr. Runyon, Mr. Spicer and Clayton Shew, a lumber dealer from Morristown, were walking through the building. They had been examining some of the stock.

The party of three men were on the upper gallery of the central superstructure and desired to reach the lower gallery on the north side of the building. A stairway bridges the driveway between, and over this the men started to cross. Mr. Spicer was the first to step down this gangway Mr. Runyon followed. Mr. Shew waited until they had nearly reached the lower end of the bridge and placed his foot on the top step. Then came the crash.

It is supposed that the united tread of the two men proved too much for the board on which the lower end of the bridge rested. The board split and the lower end gave way, throwing the two men headforemost. Mr. Spicer struck his face just at the nose against the edge of the lower gallery. He then fell to the ground. Mr. Runyon landed on the edge as well, striking on his chest. He fell to the ground, landing with his head twisted under him.

Mr. Spicer was unconscious when aid first reached him. His nose was broken and cut, and he bled freely from the wound. His right leg was broken just below the hip. Drs. Jenkins and Long attended him last evening and took several stitches in the wound on his face. Dr. Frank Wells and Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis assisted them. There was a slight hemorrhage at the ear and it is feared that internal bleeding may set in, resulting in the eventual paralysis of the brain. He passed a quiet night and showed slight signs of returning consciousness which is considered encouraging.

Mr. Runyon was partially dazed by the fall, but soon regained consciousness. He received a small scalp wound. There was an abrasion on his chest, where he struck the edge of the gallery. His breast-bone and two ribs were broken. He complained of difficulty in breathing and it is feared that his lungs may be injured. It is too soon yet to tell the exact nature of his injuries. Dr. Zsello is in attendance.

Daughters of Rebekah Danced.

A social dance was given last evening in the Camera Club rooms under the auspices of Friendship Degree Lodge, No. 4, Daughters of Rebekah. There was a very good attendance of young people who thoroughly enjoyed the dancing to the music furnished by Rogers. Those in charge of the affair were Mrs. Kettenring, chairman; Mrs. VanFleet and F. G. Walsh. Dancing commenced at 9 o'clock and was continued until a late hour, when refreshments were served by the committee.

Never Came After the Horse.

About the last of March a stranger, an old man with a long white beard, drove up to a stable in Newark and asked to have his horse put out. He said he hailed from Plainfield. That was the last seen of the man. He did not give his name. The horse is still at the stable awaiting an owner. Yesterday the police authorities of Newark telephoned to Chief Grant to see if he could locate the owner of the horse.

Preparing for Big Peach Crop.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Flemington, April 13.—Owing to the prospects for an immense crop of peaches in New Jersey this year, it is said that a number of peach basket factories will be erected. It is reported that another factory is to be located at Califon. L. H. Trimmer's basket factory at Middle Valley, which was destroyed by fire a few days ago, will be rebuilt.

Will Go to Jail for Insulting Women.

Patrolman McCue found John McGowen sitting on the steps of a hotel on Park avenue, yesterday afternoon, in an intoxicated condition. He had been visiting various houses, insulting the women. He was arrested and then arraigned this morning before Judge Runyon. He was sentenced to pay a fine of $10 or go to jail for thirty days. He will take the latter for lack of funds.

FREEHOLDERS WILL BUILD THE BRIDGES.

But Not Until All Doubt Is Removed Over Acceptance of the Streets.

JACKSON, JOHNSON AVES.

WERE ON CITY MAP BUT HAVE NEVER BEEN ACCEPTED.

W. R. Codington, Attorney for the Board of Freeholders, Wanted Question Definitely Settled — Will Come Before Council Again.

The request, presented at the last meeting of the Common Council asking that Jackson and Johnston avenues be accepted by the city, was an attempt on the part of the street department of the city to settle a puzzling question that has been troubling that department and the Union County Board of Freeholders.

Sometime ago the Daily Press told of the need of a better bridge over Cedar brook at Netherwood avenue and of bridges over that stream at Jackson and Johnston avenues. Heretofore there has been no bridges at all where these latter thoroughfares cross the brook. It has been necessary to wade or go around. The question was then raised as to whether the city or the county would have to bear the expense of these improvements.

The matter was considered by the Board of Freeholders and by the street department of this city, and the Freeholders finally admitted that it was their duty to repair or build the bridges if the streets had been duly accepted by the city. There was no question about Netherwood avenue, but Former Assemblyman W. R. Codington, attorney for the Board, wasn't sure about the other two streets.

The first official city map, made in 1870, the year after the incorporation of the city, which was duly signed by the Mayor and Council, shows both Jackson and Johnston avenues, but no ordinance was ever passed accepting them. According to the view of the street department, the fact that the streets are on the city map establishes the fact that they were considered as accepted, but Lawyer Codington had a little doubt on the matter.

To make sure of the fact Councilman Tolles, who is chairman of the street committee, introduced an ordinance at the last meeting of the Council declaring Jackson and Johnston avenues accepted by the city. The ordinance once passed, the Board of Freeholders would have no further excuse for delay in the building of the bridges. Then came the unexpected obstacle in a resolution passed by the Council sometime ago declaring that the city would hereafter accept no streets that were not macadamized. As neither Jackson nor Johnston avenue is macadamized, the ordinance as it was presented, conflicted with the resolution.

The Council will probably be asked to vote on the matter at the next meeting when the question will be presented in a different way. The Council will probably be asked to declare that it understands that Jackson and Johnston avenues have been duly accepted since both appear on the city map of 1870.

Changes of Residence.

The Man With The Bell

Means that the "Man with the H-O" has been in town again and arranged for the grocers to give a 1-lb. package of

for a few days, to each buyer of a 2-lb. package of the H-O Co.'s

PANCAKE FLOUR

Price, Ten Cents

WE gave a package of our Pancake Flour free in this locality a few months ago to introduce it. We did the same thing all over the United States, and its popularity induces us to make its merits the special feature of this advertisement.

In the first place it is convenient. This is the recipe

2 cups of the H-O Co.'s Pancake Flour

2 1-2 cups sweet milk

One egg

While your griddle is heating, beat the egg, mix with the milk, then add the flour.

It is almost like play—the matter of only a few minutes' time altogether. The cakes are delicious; there is just enough rice in the mixture to give them a crispness and tenderness which would otherwise be lacking.

Besides this they are wholesome and satisfactory for breakfast, lunch, or afternoon tea, whether the weather is warm or cold. There is nothing in the combination which could be otherwise than palatable and wholesome. And the price, 10 cts. for a 2-lb. package, is reasonable, isn't it?

For a few days only { 2 lbs. The H-O Co.'s Pancake Flour / 1 lb. H-O (Hornby's Oatmeal) } all for 10c., at grocers

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

If David Belasco's latest and most famous drama, "The Heart of Maryland," which is to be presented at Music Hall, Thursday of next week, is but one-half as effective and as humanly realistic a portraiture of southern character and its picturesque and luxurious home life of the manhood, and the charm and beauties of the womanhood, of its men and women in the higher and nobler conditions of their social and heroic nature, there can be but little wonder at the enormous success it has attained not only throughout this country, but as largely in the greater European cities. The play comes to us as having deservedly won the highest critical laudation and the most absolute of popular approval, not only upon the idyllic nature of its story of love and war, but the force of its text, the absorbing interest of its incidents and the romantic realism and dramatic force of numerous artists included in the cast. Seats are now on sale at box office.

Easter in the Mt. Olive Church.

The members of the Mt. Olive Baptist church are making special arrangements for Easter. Sunday morning Pastor Jackson will deliver an appropriate sermon on the resurrection of Christ and the significance of the observance of the day. In the afternoon the Sunday-school will worship at the First Baptist church as usual. In the evening at 7 30 o'clock, a special service will be held at which time Dr. Yerkes will deliver an address, followed by the superintendent of the Sunday-school. The children will also take part, and there will be music by the choir. Mrs. E. J. Robinson, the "Black Hattie," will sing several solos, and a special offering will be taken for the church.

Graceland Boy Missing.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Westfield, April 13.—Three weeks have passed since young Charles Wahl disappeared from his parents' home at Graceland, near here. Young Wahl is but 17 years old, and is the son of J. J. Wahl, a butcher, of this place. His parents and friends have searched in vain to find a trace of the young man. He took all his clothes with him and $30 in cash. It is believed he has gone to California.

F. A Barnaby and wife, who have been spending the winter in New York, have returned to their home on Plainfield avenue.

Miss Florence and Aletta Johns, of Richmond street, have returned home after attending the marriage of their aunt Miss Jennie W. McCrady, of Raritan, to Edward Ellison, of Bayville, L. I.

Miss Rachel Maire, formerly of this city, but for two years a missionary in Africa, is hoping to return to her home during the coming summer. She has been enjoying excellent health and is doing a grand work.

Miss Frances Thorn, formerly of this city, but now of Hoboken, will leave in a few weeks for Denver, Col., where she will remain for her health.

Frank Chaffee, a well-known writer of New York, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. George Wharton Edwards, of Franklin place, Wednesday evening.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Hudson, of the borough, and Wilbur P. Henderson, of this city. The event took place last Sunday.

Mrs. John Dixon and her sister, Miss May Bennett, of the borough, spent Wednesday at the Brooklyn Navy Yard, visiting their brother, Fred Bennett.

Fred Leland, of West Second street, who has been at Charlotteville, S. C., for many months for his health, is expected home this week. His health is no better.

Mrs. Brady, of Grove street, who has been confined to her home for sometime as the result of a fall, is getting well, much to the pleasure of her friends.

Mrs. Winter, of East Fifth street, is quite ill at her home. Her daughter has been obliged to relinquish her position for a time at Woodhull & Martin's store and give her mother attention.

Mrs. Olivia Compton, of West Front street, and her two children will leave Plainfield for her home in Sweden, April 21st, to be gone about two years. She expects to visit the Paris exposition this summer.

Miss Daisy Shepard will give a dinner Monday evening to a few friends from this city and New York at her home, "The Gables," on East Front street. After the dinner, the party will attend the assembly at the Casino.

James Merritt, of West Front street, president of the Plainfield Social Club, who has been quite ill for some time past, is gradually improving and will soon be able to be out and greet his fellow club members and many other friends.

The family of Rev. Arthur Crane, of West Fifth street, leave Plainfield today for Charleston, S. C., where Rev. Mr. Crane is now located as pastor of the First Baptist church of that place. One son, Henry Crane, will remain in Plainfield.

—Crescent Division, U. R., K. of P., will hold an important meeting this evening.

EASTERN PROBLEMS.

Former Senator Fassett Gives His Impressions.

KOREA IN A CRITICAL POSITION.

Russia and Japan Watching Each Other Across Her Mountains—The Outcome a Mystery—A Chance For American Diplomats.

NEW YORK, April 13.—Ex-Senator J. Sloat Fassett of Elmira, who is in this city, after a trip around the world and extensive visit to Korea, says:

"There is no telling what the outcome of the present strained relations between Russia and Japan will be. Those two nations are watching each other across the mountains of Korea. It would be wisdom if the nations interested in the open door on the Asiatic coast would guarantee the political autonomy of Korea and make her a buffer state, as nature designed her to be.

"Korea has about 3,000 miles of coast lines, which would be expensive for either Russia or Japan to control, guard and protect. Russia would never feel safe with Japan in full possession of Korea, because that would bring Japan to the Yaloo river, which a glance at the map will show to be strategically between Port Arthur and Vladivostok. On the other hand, Japan would always feel menaced if Russia were in possession of

J. SLOAT FASSETT.

Korea, for you can almost see the shores of Japan from the southern point of Korea. There would be no compensation to either power adequate to the enormous outlay it would take to seize, hold, govern and guard Korea, whereas if the integrity of Korea could be guaranteed nature has fitted her to be an ideal buffer state, and her integrity would be a large and important factor in maintaining the peace of the east. The Koreans are not politically aggressive. They are ideally fitted to be the inhabitants of a buffer state, and it would seem to be to the best interests of the nations most concerned in the peace of China and Asia to have Korea neutralized, with a similar guarantee as those which protect Switzerland and Holland.

"It seems to me that the situation offers a most promising opportunity for American diplomats to gain a victory full of the fruits of peace and prosperity in the orient. It is no secret that the relations between the overshadowing power of Russia on the north and the restless, magnificently compact strength of Japan on the south are at a point of high tension."

To Reserve a Forest Primeval.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—The senate and house Indian affairs committees heard arguments by Colonel John S. Cooper of Chicago and Mrs. Lydia Williams, president of the Women's club of Minnesota, in support of a proposition to create a forest reserve out of the reservations occupied by the Winnibagoshish, Chippeway and Leach Lake Indian tribes in Minnesota. These reservations cover 830,000 acres, and the argument was made that they constitute one of the few remaining primeval forests in the United States. It was contended also that the preservation of the forests would conserve the water supply and be of vast benefit in this respect, while the Indians could continue to occupy the land, acting as guides, etc., to tourists.

A Chance to Buy a Farm.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—The president has signed a proclamation opening to settlement the northern half of the Colville Indian reservation in Washington. The proclamation will go into effect Oct. 10 next. The land opened to settlement is all that part of the reservation which has not been allotted to the Indians and comprises about 1,500,000 acres. It will be disposed of under the homestead laws at $1.50 per acre. The right to mine in the reservation was granted several years ago, and it is now opened up for agricultural purposes.

A Strong Man Dead.

MONTICELLO, N. Y., April 13.—DeWitt Clinton Sprague, a veteran of the One Hundred and Forty-third regiment, is dead at his home in Parksville, Sullivan county, aged 66 years. He was with General Sherman in his march to the sea and had the distinction of being the strongest man in Sherman's army. He met the strong men of many different regiments from the east and west and was always victorious in athletic contests. He was six feet four inches in height and measured 54 inches around the chest.

Suspicious Death of Dr. Cocke.

BOSTON, April 13.—Dr. J. P. Cocke, the blind physician of 23 Pinckney street who recently figured in a sensational divorce case here, was found dead in his home last night with a pistol shot wound in the mouth. His wife, Charlotte, while not formally arrested, is under surveillance pending the clearing away of suspicions.

Harrison Coming to New York.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 13.—General Harrison will leave for New York today to attend the ecumenical mission which will convene in that city and over which he will preside. General Harrison will be in New York about two weeks and will be accompanied by Mrs. Harrison and their infant daughter.

A Queer Runaway.

SYRACUSE, April 13.—A horse ran away in South Swan street. It ran into and jumped into a wagon which contained James Burns. Mr. Burns was thrown out and injured, and his horse then ran away with the other horse in the wagon and drawing another wagon until caught.

Destructive Earthquake.

VIENNA, April 13.—A severe earthquake has occurred at Toron, Bohemia, 60 houses being destroyed, though without loss of life. The shocks continue, and it is feared that the town must be abandoned altogether.

JOTTINGS OF THE DAY

ENTERPRISINGLY GATHERED AND CONCISELY TOLD BY REPORTERS.

Newsy Notes of More or Less Importance Bunched Together for the Ready Reference of Press Readers

—Work has been commenced on the Cranford sewer extension to Garwood.

—J. William Klein, of this city, desires to deny the report being circulated that he has sold his business. He is still doing business at the old stand.

—Owing to the Good Friday service which will be held this evening at the First M. E. church, the regular Christian Endeavor Society meeting at the First Baptist church will not be held.

—A special Easter service will be held at the Congregational church Sunday morning. The Sunday school will hold special exercises in the afternoon. There will be no evening service.

—Today is Good Friday the most sacred of all ecclesiastical days, when the devote Christian attends divine worship, and the hot cross bun is in demand among those of the old school.

—Weida, the West Front street confectioner, has a large and choice stock of Easter goods, also ice cream, his own make. You can do no better than to purchase your candy and cream at his store.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Charles Dunlap, of East Fifth street, is confined to his home by illness.

Miss Lottie Wilson, of Lebanon, is visiting relatives in the borough for a short time.

Miss Kate Kenney, of this city, has returned from a visit with friends at Whitehouse.

Mrs. A. B. Darby, of Grove street, is stopping at the Palmer House, Lakewood, for a time.

Rev. G. W. Gardner and wife, of Park place, are entertaining company from out of town.

Miss Daisy Snyder, of West Front street, has been visiting her sister in Newark for a short time.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Cramer, of Annandale, have returned home after a visit with Plainfield relatives.

Mrs. Marcus L. Clawson, of East Front street, has been enjoying a visit from her father in New York state.

Carroll L. Runyon, of East Ninth street, has returned from Yale University to spend his Easter vacation at home.

Mrs. J. Harvey Ackerman and daughter, Miss Lydia P. Ackerman, of West Seventh street, have returned after spending the winter in the south.

Miss Commerford, milliner at Boehm's dry goods store, has returned to her position after an absence of several days on account of the death of a member of the family.

It was a source of much regret to Samuel Boss, of Craig place, that he could not be home Wednesday afternoon and see his daughter married, but on account of important business he was detained in the south.

JERSEY BANKRUPTCY RECORD.

Petitions in Insolvency Filed by 122 Essex County Residents.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, April 13—Three hundred and eighty four petitions in bankruptcy have been filed in this State since the National Bankruptcy law took effect. Some of these petitions represent two or more persons. The total number of persons who have sought to take advantage of the law is 453, of whom 202 have been discharged from bankruptcy. Five petitions have been dismissed. This leaves 239 cases still pending, including some of the first filed, but chiefly those more recently filed.

More than twice as many petitioners—122—are from Essex county than from any other county. Hudson follows with 56. Passaic with 52, Monmouth with 35 and Mercer with 26. The county which has had the least use for the court is Gloucester, with only one petition, Sussex and Ocean with four, Morris and Middlesex with five, Salem with six, Hunterdon, Cape May and Atlantic with seven and Burlington and Somerset with eight each.

Palisade Commission Not Yet Named.

Governor Voorhees said on Saturday that he had not yet appointed the Palisades Commissioners for New Jersey, and might not do so for some time. He was, however, giving the question his attention and looking about for men who, because of their fitness and willingness to undertake the duties of commissioners, would be the best men to appoint to a place which had only its honors to recommend it. There were no emoluments in the place, the Governor said, besides the legitimate traveling and other expenses.

New Bank President.

Hon. N. W. Voorhees has been elected president of the First National Bank of Clinton, Hunterdon county, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Benjamin E. Young, the former president of the bank.

THE BEST THEY KNOW.

YOU remember the old lady who rode for the first time on a railway train. There was a frightful collision, but when the rescuers reached her she was quite calm. She said she supposed they always stopped that way. The story well illustrates why so many women are satisfied to live without Ivory Soap. They have never tried it! Naturally enough, they think that annoying odors, sharp chemicals, and wasteful greasiness are common to all soaps!

MARRIAGE BY TELEGRAPH.

Bride and Groom Two Hundred Miles Apart When Knot Is Tied.

KANSAS CITY, April 13.—A marriage service by telegraph, with the bride and groom 200 miles apart, was carried out between Kansas City and Mulhall, O. T., at noon yesterday. The groom was Andrew M. Candell of Washington, an entomologist attached to the department of agriculture of the United States government, and the bride was Miss Penelope Cundiff, daughter of a prosperous farmer of Perkins, O. T.

Mr. Candell and Miss Cundiff became engaged about six months ago, and the wedding was set for May. Last week, however, Mr. Candell was called to Harrisonville, Mo., by the death of his mother. His duties made it necessary to start back to Washington today. He asked Miss Cundiff to come to Kansas City so that the wedding could take place at the home of his sister. Miss Cundiff was unable to reach Kansas City in time and arrangements were made with a telegraph company to have the marriage ceremony conducted by wire. A direct line between Kansas City and Mulhall was placed at the disposal of the couple. Mr. Candell secured Rev. Albert H. Linder, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, and accompanied by two friends went to the telegraph office. At Mulhall Miss Cundiff was accompanied to the telegraph office by her parents and sister. The questions and responses were wired back and forth and repeated at each end to the couple by the telegraph operators, the ceremony requiring 25 minutes' time.

POOR PORTO RICO.

Physicians Needed, but Nothing With Which to Pay Them.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, April 13.—The startling fact was recently made public that in many districts of Porto Rico where the population reaches thousands there is no resident physician. For instance, Wayuya, a town of 1,500, must depend on the simplest remedies in cases of illness, as there is no physician within call. At Utuado the death rate is 8 per cent annually, and this town is a day's ride from Ponce through the mountains.

It appears that physicians have been sent to these districts, but they refuse to remain, largely because no town is able to support one. As a result of this condition of things the order providing a physician for every 500 people is now very difficult of enforcement, because the towns reply that there is no fund to pay for such service.

This island is one vast poorhouse, and there are opportunities for charity at every step. Were $10,000 to be expended immediately for medicine and medical aid, it would possibly save the lives of 3,000 people. At one time the government considered the feasibility of assigning a physician to each town at an aggregate cost of $80,000 per year, but the funds for such an outlay are not available.

THAT CUBAN UPRISING.

No Truth In the Story of an Outbreak June 1.

HAVANA, April 13.—The Havana Journal publishes a statement to the effect that it had received information from a Cuban officer going to show that an outbreak had been arranged for June 1, on which day the whole Cuban army would be ready to take the field. General Wood summoned the editor, and his so-called "information" turned out to be valueless. It was merely the statement of a woman that a man, unknown to her, had remarked that if the Americans had not given the island independence by June 1, as the United States had promised, there would be trouble. The woman asserted that the man told her he was a captain in the Cuban army. Undoubtedly the story is made out of whole cloth.

Yesterday was observed as a holiday in Havana. All the public offices were closed, and the shops were kept open until 10 o'clock. All the newspapers published long articles dealing with the religious features of the season.

Spain Asks Too Much.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—The Spanish government has offered to sell the floating steel drydock at Havana for the sum of $200,000. The dock would be of much service to the navy, but the price is regarded as excessive in view of the deterioration which has taken place in the structure owing to neglect, and there must be further bargaining before the title passes.

OUR PHILIPPINE ARMY.

More Than 63,000 Men Now In the Archipelago.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—Adjutant General Corbin has prepared a statement showing the strength of the troops in the Philippines on April 1, the date of the last returns. According to this statement, there were on the date stated 63,585 officers and men there, being an increase of 308 since March 1, the date of the last previous report. This increase is due to the arrival of recruits, mainly members of the hospital corps and other staff departments. The total general officers and staff is 2,730, of whom 2,610 are regulars and 120 volunteers. In this total are included 2,521 enlisted men, all regulars and mostly in the medical department. There are 15 general staff officers, of whom all but one (Young) are classed as volunteers.

The total cavalry force is 3,207, of which 2,411 are regulars and 1,096 volunteers. There are three regiments of cavalry, of which one is made up of volunteers. There are five regiments of artillery, all of them regulars and numbering 2,228 officers and men. There are 41 regiments of infantry, aggregating 55,120 officers and men, of which 24,133 are regulars and 30,987 volunteers.

Including all classes, there are 31,382 regulars, of which 968 are officers and 30,414 enlisted men and 32,203 volunteers, of which number 1,356 are officers and 30,847 enlisted men.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

A Deadly Thunderbolt.

NORFOLK, April 13.—Advices from Currituck life saving station, 25 miles south of Virginia Beach, state that an unusually heavy bolt of lightning struck the public school building there during a storm and instantly killed Thomas O'Neill, one of the pupils, and so badly injured another, name not given, that he is not expected to live.

Successful Armor Tests.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—A test was made at Indian Head of a plate representing 360 tons of the turret armor of the battleship Wisconsin. The 14 inch plate was attacked by a ten inch gun with the usual results. The shell was smashed on the face of the plate, which received no substantial injury, as the lot was accepted.

German Banker Gets Two Years.

BERLIN, April 13.—Herr Sternberg, the Berlin banker who was arrested in February on a charge of fraudulent practices and, who furnished bail to the amount of 1,000,000 marks, has been sentenced to two years' imprisonment and to a loss of civil rights for three years for a "crime against morality."

Cape Cod Canal Bill Killed.

BOSTON, April 13.—The Cape Cod canal bill was killed in the senate yesterday afternoon by a vote of 15 to 14, with five pairs. The vote on the measure was a tie, and the president, being compelled to cast his ballot, voted in the negative.

Canal Survey Bill Signed.

ALBANY, April 13.—Governor Roosevelt has signed the Marshall-Hill bill which appropriates $200,000 for a preliminary survey of the state canals preparatory to the construction of a barge canal to cost some $62,000,000.

The Deadlock Broken.

MARYSVILLE, O., April 13.—Judge William R. Warnock was nominated on the four hundred and first ballot by the Republican congressional convention of the Eighth district.

Why the City Hall Is Held Up.

If a majority of the members of the Common Council could agree on one site that would satisfy their ideas of the location of a City Hall in Plainfield, such a building would undoubtedly be built in the near future. The Council, however, is apparently hopelessly divided as to the best site for the proposed municipal building, and as there seems to be no prospect of a majority of the members adjusting their views in accordance with one another the chances af the project being consummated in the immediate future are very meagre, indeed.

In the minds of nearly all the officials of the city there seems to be no question but what the best interests of the city government needs and demands the establishment of a City Hall, but until an agreement can be secured among the majority of the Solons the improvement seems likely to be held up.

The opponents of the City Hall building, headed by the garrulous and egotistical Bunion, are gloating over what they claim is the result of the influence that they exerted against the carrying out of the improvement. It is plain to be seen, however, that they are claiming a victory to which the true state of affairs does not conform. The City Hall project is stalled because the members of the Council cannot agree on a site, and not because of the clamor and wild claims made by the opponents.

Gov. Voorhees is out with a statement explaining his attitude in reference to the selection of the delegates-at-large to represent the New Jersey Republicans in their National convention. Inasmuch as there has been considerable said about the probability of there being a fight between Senator Kean and the Governor for the honor of being elected as one of the "Big Four," Mr. Voorhees takes occasion to say that he "would not be a party to a scramble for the place." By this, however, the Governor does not mean to say that he would not like to be elected a delegate-at-large. On the contrary, he says that he would esteem it a high honor. Incidentally, the Governor says that his choice for the "Big Four" is Senator Sewell, Senator Kean, Franklin Murphy and himself. Evidently he believes that Union county is still in the political swim, with good chances of its favorite Republicans—Voorhees and Kean—getting what they want in the line of Republican honors. It is against political practices to choose two members of the "Big Four" from the same county, but then this is an age when precedents are cutting but little figure in public life.

By the result of the city election in Elizabeth Tuesday the political complexion of the Union county Board of Freeholders is determined. The Republicans will virtually have two majority, providing Freeholder Adams, of Cranford, who was elected on an independent ticket—but who is a Republican—takes sides with them. This state of affairs is expected to come with the organization of the Board. Had the Elizabeth Democrats elected four of the Freeholders representing that city the balance of power would then have been put in the hands of Freeholder Adams, and an opportunity would have been given him to get inside the Republican breastworks. For sometime past he has been outside.

The New York Sun prints a despatch from Helena, Montana, which says that Charles W. Clark, son of Senator Clark, on the strength of a despatch received from his father announces that he will make a fight for vindication and re-election to the Senate before the people of Montana this fall. It is believed that the Governor will appoint a Republican to fill the vacancy as soon as the Senate shall adopt the report of the committee on privileges and elections.

FOR SEYMOUR FOR GOVERNOR.

Elizabeth "Daily Leader" Nails the Mayor's Name to Its Masthead.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, April 13.—The Elizabeth Daily Leader, which is published by General J. Madison Drake and his sons, yesterday came out with the announcement that Mayor James M. Seymour, of Newark, is its choice for Governor. The paper announces that it will keep his name at the top of its editorial column until the convention meets.

Mayor Seymour's victory immensely pleases the Elizabeth Democrats and likewise the party throughout Union county. The Union county delegation to the last Gubernatorial convention was for Seymour until satisfied he could not be nominated, and even then several of the delegates, among others City Clerk Manning and Lieutenant-Colonel D. F. Collins, stuck to him to the finish.

Mountainside Wants the Trolley.

The residents of the borough of Mountainside will present a petition to the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company, asking that that place be included in the route of the trolley line to Springfield. Last year, when the company wanted a franchise, the Council did not want to grant it.

Will Hold Up Morristown Argument.

Messrs. Richard Boardman, Joseph P. Lukeman and Leon S. Freeman will represent the Morristown literary society of the Y. M. C. A., at the debate at the local association rooms Monday evening. All are invited; admission free.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, April 13—Not much interest is taken in the Republican primary called for next Monday evening to choose a delegate to attend the State Convention at Trenton. As yet no candidate has appeared who is anxious to serve the party in this capacity. The honor is rather an empty one and the expense to a delegate is greater than the glory attached to the office. The office is literally seeking the man.

Grover Kratzel has secured the job of serving the morning papers for Dr. Brakeley, in place of Harry Apgar, who has accepted a situation with the Central Railroad at the main office in New York.

The house and two acres of land at Dewey Park that was reported last winter to have been sold to out-of-town parties, is still on the market, as a huge sign makes it appear.

Rev. S. K. Doolittle, the newly-assigned Methodist minister, who is to succeed Rev. E. S. Jamison, is expected to arrive in town tomorrow. He will preach Sunday.

The German supper, to have been held last night under the auspices of the Knights of the Golden Cross, has been postponed for two weeks.

Jack Burke, who drives the horses attached to the Deadwood stage coach in the Buffalo Bill Wild West show, has gone to join that company.

The Literary Circle will meet Saturday evening at the home of L. T. Titsworth. The circle will study Whittier and Longfellow.

There is said to be good fishing in the New Market pond. The boys have put away their marbles for the fish pole and line.

Some improvements have recently been made to the property of W. J. Winges on North avenue.

Rev. A. I. Martine preaches his farewell sermon at the Presbyterian church tomorrow.

Work has again been resumed on the reservoir for the Watchung Water Company.

The painters have improved the appearance of Mrs. Catherine Maire's dwelling.

The Dunellen Banjo Club met last evening at the home of Mrs. W. E. Terry.

Edward Ayers has been painting the exterior of Mrs. Nancy Thomas' house.

Postmaster Dealaman is recovering from a slight illness.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, April 13.—Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., will hold their regular weekly meeting in their rooms this evening. Business of importance will come before the meeting and a large turnout of members is desired.

Goodwill Lodge, K. of P., met in their rooms in Castle Hall last evening. Arrangements were completed for the proposed dance to be given by the lodge to their friends Thursday evening next.

Since the Fanwood stage route has closed the commuters to New York find it more convenient to take the trolley to Westfield mornings than to walk the mile to the station.

Miss Gertrude Smalley, who cut an artery in her wrist nearly a year ago, is suffering from a re-opening of the old wound and is obliged to carry her arm in a sling again.

Through the kindness of the Misses Hollingsworth the pew cushions in the Methodist church are to be cleaned and upholstered anew.

The little juniors society of the Baptist church held one of their pleasant meetings in the parlors of the church this afternoon.

John Bornmann's new cottage on Westfield avenue is about completed and will soon be ready for occupancy.

Ferdinand Schmidt is detained at home suffering from a severe cold.

Mrs. John Mooney visited friends in Plainfield Thursday afternoon.

SOMERVILLE.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Somerville, April 13—Stainer's Oratorio of the Crucifixion was rendered in superb style at St. John's church Wednesday evening by the choir, assisted by Messrs. Toune and Waters, of New York. The solos and duets rendered by these gentlemen were beautifully done, their voices blending perfectly. The work of the choir was also excellent, showing careful training. Organist Seibert's work on the organ was an enjoyable feature. The service was a treat to lovers of good music. The church was crowded, large delegations being present from Bound Brook and Raritan.

The Central Railroad has discharged Clark Blackford and George Kline, employes at their coal dumps here. All but three of the engines will be coaled at Jersey City and the wipers will have to coal the three. Blackford has been a faithful employe at the dumps for 17 years, and his discharge is regarded as rather cruel.

Wm. H. VanDoren, of Readington, will leave Saturday for Omaha, Neb., where he will join some relatives and proceed with them to Salt Lake City, where he will make his home.

Bedminster will vote May 11th on the question of raising $5,000 to build a new schoolhouse, or $900 to build an addition to the present building at Gladstone.

The Somerville Woolen Mills was compelled to shut down on Thursday owing to a leak in the roof which allowed the rain to run in and soak all the belts.

Conductor George VanNortwick injured his knee cap so severely on Wednesday that he was unable to finish his run.

Miss Anna Deforest Thompson, of Readington, is expected home from Japan next week, after an absence of over six years.

Enock Cain, of Harlingen, had two pigs and a dog bitten by a mad dog last week. He managed to shoot the rabid animal.

James Kilburn, of Bethlehem, Pa., has been engaged to train the trotters at Belle Mead Stock Farm the coming season.

Miss Virginia Negus, of Plainfield, was the guest of Mrs. J. Harper Smith, of Altamont place, Wednesday.

Hal B., of Belle Mead stock farm, record 2:04¼, has been sold to parties in Hornellsville, N. Y.

Peter R. Tiger, aged 75, living near Gladstone, died on the 10th.

Ex-Sheriff McMurtry has been visiting in Morristown.

Miss May Loomis went to Ocean Grove this week.

WESTFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Westfield, April 13.—The suit of Mrs. Charlotte Lawrence against Manning Perrine for $200, came up for trial before Justice of the Peace Toucey yesterday afternoon. Paul Q. Oliver appeared for the plaintiff, and Judge L. E. Hart, who looked after the interests of Perrine, demanded a jury trial. A jury was procured but the case was settled without examining any witnesses. Mrs. Lawrence, who lives in a cottage on Addison street during the summer months, and in New York during the winter, made arrangements with Perrine to keep her horse during the past winter. He was to use the animal in payment of his keep. She was to furnish the fodder, which she did. When she returned to Westfield and demanded the horse Perrine put in a bill for $50 for keeping the horse. Mrs. Lawrence refused to pay and brought suit for $200. Perrine being willing the suit was dropped on condition that both sides pay the costs and Perrine returned the horse which he promised to do.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

South Plainfield, April 13.—Some one should take it upon themselves to canvass this town for the rummage sale, as we are all interested in the welfare of Muhlenberg Hospital.

The funeral services of the late Manning F. Randolph, who died suddenly at his home in Piscataway Township Wednesday, will be held tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the South Plainfield Baptist church.

John Mahr, Jr., has taken charge of the storage ground section in the absence of John Connor.

Mrs. Morris Higgins is under the doctor's care.

Mrs. Harry Weaver is quite ill again.

Miss Doyle, of Brooklyn, is visiting her friend, Miss Ribrand, of Somerset street.

Mrs. George Wendell and daughter, of Boston, are visiting Mrs. Wendell's sister, Mrs. A. P. Hetfield, of Madison avenue. They arrived this morning and will be in Plainfield for some time.

Berlin. Der diplomatische Vertreter des Transvaals, Dr. Leyds, hat der Berliner Presse die Mittheilung zugehen lassen, daß in Deutschland bis vor Kurzem insgesammt 400,000 Mark für die Buren gesammelt worden seien. —Im abgelaufenen Vierteljahr belief sich der Export aus Berlin nach den Ver. Staaten auf 7,114,885 Mark. Er war somit um circa 1,000,000 Mark höher, als in dem entsprechenden Zeitraum der Jahre 1898 und 1899.— Die Abgaben der Berliner Straßenbahngesellschaften an die Stadtgemeinde Berlin werden in diesem Jahre voraussichtlich auf 2,126,000 Mark steigen. Den Löwenantheil an dieser Summe, nämlich nahezu 2,000,000 Mark, wird die Große Berliner Straßenbahn zu zahlen haben, deren abgabepflichtige Bruttoeinnahmen in den letzten Jahren 20,750,000 beziehungsweise 22,500,000 Mark betrugen und die für dieses Jahr auf 24,390,000 Mark geschätzt worden sind. —Nach Unterschlagung von 18,000 Mark ist der Kassirer Motschenbach, der bei der Verlagshandlung von Georg Stilke seit einer Reihe von Jahren beschäftigt war, flüchtig geworden.—Bei der Wahl zum zweiten Bürgermeister von Berlin erhielt der Kandidat der vereinigten freisinnigen Parteien, Brinkmann, 69, der von Seiten der Regierung gewünschte Stadtrath Meubrunk nur 66 Stimmen. Ersterer ist somit gewählt und hofft man, daß die Bestätigung desselben nicht so lange ausbleiben werde, wie die des Oberbürgermeisters Kirschner.

Neuzauche. Anhier sind elf Gehöfte niedergebrannt, wobei der Spritzenmeister Donzsch durch einen einstürzenden Giebel erschlagen wurde.

Ruhleben. Der Auswandererverkehr auf dem Bahnhof Ruhleben hat jetzt zum Frühjahr einen bisher noch nicht dagewesenen Umfang angenommen. Neulich an einem Tage wurden über 1000 Europamüde nach den Hafenstädten befördert. Die Passagiere waren Südrussen, Ruthenen und Magyaren.

Provinz Hannover.

Emden. Ein wesentlicher Theil des Ausbaues des Emdener Hafens soll demnächst in Angriff genommen werden, nämlich die für die Hamburg-Amerika-Linie bestimmten Anlagen, die einen Kostenaufwand von rund 1,300,000 Mark erfordern. Die Anlagen sollen in einem Quai von 200 Meter, einem Kohlenlagerplatz von 5000 Quadratmeter und einem Güterschuppen von 4000 Quadratmeter Grundfläche bestehen.

Stettin. Wegen Versuchs des Gattenmordes wurde die Frau des Schneidermeisters Neumann in Haft genommen. Sie ist mit dem Genannten seit Oktober v. J. in zweiter Ehe verheirathet, doch war diese Ehe ein fortgesetzter Kampf. Neulich kam es wieder zu einem Wortwechsel, während dessen die Frau plötzlich auf ihren Mann hinter einander sechs Schüsse abfeuerte, die sämmtlich trafen; damit nicht genug, hieb die Frau mit dem Revolver auf den Kopf des zu Boden gesunkenen Mannes und brachte ihm noch sieben Schlagwunden bei. Dann packte sie den Schwerverletzten in eine Droschke und fuhr mit ihm zur Sanitätswache, wo sie angab, ein Unbekannter habe ihren Mann mißhandelt. Bald aber stellte sich der wahre Sachverhalt heraus.

Greifswald. Die älteste Bewohnerin der Stadt Greifswald, die Stiftsdame Friederike v. Normann, ist im Alter von 102 Jahren gestorben.

Provinz Posen.

Posen. Der Posener Zoologische Garten hat sich im vorigen Jahre günstig entwickelt. An Mitgliederbeiträgen wurden 1300 Mark, an Gartenentree 4900 Mark und für verkaufte selbstgezüchtete Thiere 5125 Mark mehr eingenommen. Der Etat erreichte 1899 in Einnahmen und Ausgaben 100,000 Mark. Für 1900 sind die Einnahmen auf 66,000 Mark, die Ausgaben auf 63,000 Mark festgesetzt. Staat, Provinz und Stadt gewähren dem Institut zusammen 3400 Mark Beihilfe.

Janowitz. Am 8. August 1899 rettete die 14jährige Tochter des Pfarrers Richter mit eigener Lebensgefahr ihre Schwester Antonie und die Gutsbesitzerstochter Nanny Otto vom Tode des Ertrinkens. Die kleine Heldin ist für diese That jetzt öffentlich belobt worden.

FOR INSULAR FUNDS.

Secretary Gage to Name Government Depositories.

POPULAR ELECTION OF SENATORS.

Philippine Bill Barely Escapes Displacement In the Senate—Burrows Makes a Speech In Opposition to the Seating of Quay.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—The house yesterday, after a spirited debate, adopted the resolution reported from the insular affairs committee to authorize the secretary of the treasury to designate depositories in Porto Rico, Cuba and the Philippines for the deposit of government funds. By the terms of the resolution it applies to Cuba only so long as the island shall be occupied by the United States. An amendment to include the Philippines in this provision as to Cuba, offered, as stated, to emphasize the desire of the opposition not to retain the islands, was defeated by a party vote.

A senate bill which will permit the dependent mothers of soldiers or sailors of the Spanish war, even though they married Confederate soldiers, to receive the benefit of the general pension law was passed. The remainder of the day was devoted to debate upon a resolution from the committee on election of president, vice president and representatives in congress for a constitutional amendment empowering the legislatures of the states to decide whether United States senators shall be elected by the legislatures or directly by the people. A substitute resolution was offered by the minority of the committee which differed from the majority resolution in giving the states no option, but providing that in all states the people should vote directly for United States senators.

An effort was made in the senate by Mr. Morgan to displace the present unfinished business, the Spooner Philippine bill, by the substitution in its stead of the Nicaragua canal bill. While Mr. Morgan's motion failed—15 to 33—the Philippine measure had a narrow escape from being displaced by the Alaskan civil code bill on motion of Mr. Carter, the motion being defeated on a roll call—22 to 24. The feature of the day's proceedings was an exhaustive discussion of the Quay case by Mr. Burrows of Michigan. Senators on both sides of the chamber gave him most careful hearing and at the conclusion of his speech warmly congratulated him.

Mr. Jones of Arkansas, chairman of the Democratic national committee, opened the session with a sharp retort to a charge made against him in the house yesterday by Mr. Dolliver of Iowa. The senate will not be in session Good Friday, adjourning over until Saturday.

The Strike at Pawtucket, R. I.

PAWTUCKET, R. I., April 13.—Only one of the more than 500 weavers employed by the Torraine Manufacturing company went to work when the mill gates were opened yesterday. That man went in to finish a cut of cloth which took about two hours' time. Then he joined the other weavers. The other departments of the mills were started as usual. Treasurer and Agent James R. MacColl denied himself to newspaper representatives. The strike was caused by the refusal of Agent MacColl to permit the operatives to run three looms instead of four. The mills make cotton and worsted dress goods and employ about 1,400 hands.

Mrs. Grace's Mexican Silver Mines.

SYRACUSE, April 13.—Mrs. Mary D. Grace of this city, whose claim to the ownership of silver and lead mines in Mexico valued at millions of dollars has been decided to be valid by the highest courts in Mexico, has received word that a judge of a lower court recognizes the legality of the company which usurped her rights, and he refuses to recognize or obey the order of the court. Mrs. Grace will appeal to the United States government at Washington upon the ground that Mexican troops were called out to dispossess her five years ago.

Strike Cripples Telegraph Lines.

CHATTANOOGA, April 13.—The strike of telegraph operators on the Alabama Great Southern and Memphis divisions of the Southern railway is complete. No response can be obtained to calls for any station along the line, and the O. R. T. officers state that all the men with one or two exceptions are out. The seven Chattanooga operators went out. Officials of the Southern here state that they will be able to supply the places of the strikers in a few days.

Internal Revenue Collections.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—The March statement of the collections of internal revenue shows that the total receipts for the month were $24,326,677, an increase as compared with March, 1899, of $1,588,228. The receipts from some of the sources of revenue are given as follows: Spirits, $9,607,596, increase $647,429; tobacco, $5,348,423, increase $854,662; fermented liquors, $5,180,852, increase $213,299; oleomargarine, $225,162, increase $58,457.

No Change In the Canteen Matter.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—Relative to a published statement ascribed to Bishop Hurst to the effect that the president has made a substantial change in the army canteen, it is learned at the war department that no change whatever has been made in that institution, and according to Secretary Root no change is contemplated in existing methods.

Postmasters Appointed.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—The following fourth class postmasters have been appointed: Connecticut—Union, W. Richards. New Jersey—Harlington, E. H. Bergen. New York—Cheviot, Stephen H. Miller; Groton City, Henry R. Bliss; Ira, E. J. Eldridge; Mentor, H. R. Truesdell. Pennsylvania—Rutledge, W. S. Palmer; Whiteley, W. C. Flenniken.

Democrats Decide on Kansas City.

KANSAS CITY, April 13.—The subcommittee of the national Democratic committee has formally decided to let Kansas City retain the national convention in July, the local committees having made satisfactory promises of a hall.

How Does Altgeld Know?

ALBANY, April 13.—Former Governor Altgeld of Illinois will be the principal speaker at a banquet to be given at the Stanwix next Monday evening by the Albany County Bimetallic League. His subject will be "What Jefferson Would Do."

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning April 15—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

Topic.—The bread of life.—John vi, 24-40. (Easter meeting.)

Easter speaks of life, and not only so, but of new life. This is true in both the natural and ecclesiastical worlds. Nature is at this season putting on forms of life, after a condition, typical of death. The season in the church calendar speaks of the new life of Christ, His resurrection after being three days in the tomb. How appropriate at such a time that our thoughts should rise to the possible new life of the soul in Christ—eternal life!

Bread feeds and supports the physical life. Christ gives life to the soul. Therefore, in a marvelous metaphor, Christ likens Himself to bread. In this chapter He speaks of Himself as bread in four different ways, which it will profit us to consider.

1. Christ, "the true bread," verse 32. "My Father giveth you the true bread." Christ is the true, the real, bread. There is no pretense or hollow mockery in the gift which God offers the soul as its support and life. This bread is able to accomplish that which is desired. Assimilated, it will convey both the consciousness and reality of eternal blessedness. God created the soul. He knows what will satisfy its desires and cravings, and therefore the spiritual sustenance that He offers is the true bread.

2. Christ, "the bread of God," verse 33. Christ, the bread, is the gift of God. "God * * * gave his only begotten Son that whosoever believeth in Him should not perish, but have everlasting life." God has made abundant provision in nature for the sustenance of the body. Is it not natural therefore that He would make ample provision for the soul? It would have been most unnatural if He had not done so. Being from God, this bread is free to all. It is offered "without money and without price."

3. Christ, "the bread of life," verse 35. "I am the bread of life." Christ is Himself the bread of life. In Him the cravings of the soul are satisfied and its eternal life made secure and certain. "The veritable life, eternal bread, which Christ as the steward of divine bounty gives, is Himself, His divine humanity." This bread is appropriated by faith. "He that cometh to Me shall never hunger, and he that believeth in Me shall never thirst." He who comes in faith to Christ shall never hunger and never thirst again. Bread satisfies for a time. Christ satisfies forever. He is the bread of eternal life.

4. Christ "the bread * * * from heaven," verse 50. "This is the bread which cometh down from heaven, that a man may eat thereof and not die." Christ is the bread from heaven. From heaven alone can come the gift of eternal life. Christ as the bread from heaven was foreshadowed in the manna. Moses gave not this gift to the people, but God sent the manna from heaven to satisfy the hunger of His people. From the same source the soul hunger of the world is to be satisfied. Let us accept this bread of life from heaven that we, like Him, may rise from the dead and enjoy ever after, with Him, eternal life.

THE PRAYER MEETING.

The United society's special Easter programme should be used, or a special programme arranged, with appropriate Easter music as the principal feature.

BIBLE READINGS.

Ex. xvi, 11-15; Ps. lxxviii, 23-25; cxxxiii, 1-3; Isa. lv, 1-3; Math. iv, 1-4; Luke xi, 1-3; xii, 13-21; John i, 4; iv, 5-15; vi, 47-58; Rom. xii, 1, 2; II Tim. i, 8-19; iv, 7, 8; Heb. x, 5-10; Rev. xxii, 17.

Christian Discipleship.

The acceptance of Christian power from the Lord and the exercise of it in the practical relations of home, of the church, of society and business, will take away the hardness of life, the wear and friction and pain. In the home it will make heaven; in the church it will increase the power of worship and usefulness a hundredfold; in business it will relieve the weariness and burden. The hard things of life will be softened; the evil things and unkind things will lose their power to hurt. In every relation of life love will bring peace.

This is the crowning privilege of a Christian disciple. It is given to him to be a power in the world for good and to live in love and peace through the grace and mercy of the Lord. This more than all else must be felt by the world at large; it must be felt by the stranger and the children, and all will know the blessedness of Christian discipleship. The light will so shine that it cannot be hid.—Rev. William L. Worcester in Helper.

The Master's Touch.

It is said that once Mendelssohn came to see the great Freiburg organ. The old custodian refused him permission to play upon the instrument, not knowing who he was. At length, however, he reluctantly granted him leave to play a few notes. Mendelssohn took his seat, and soon the most wonderful music was breaking forth from the organ. The custodian was spellbound. He came up beside the great musician and asked his name. Learning it, he stood humiliated, self condemned, saying, "And I refused you permission to play upon my organ!" There comes one to us and desires to take our lives and play upon them. But we withhold ourselves from Him. He would bring from our souls heavenly music.—Christian Index.

Noontide.

The high stars, ever at night,
Are under at noon,
And a young soul's vision of heaven
Passes how soon!

He climbs, and the clear seen goal
Is gone—ah, where?
Whispers a voice from the infinite:
Climb! I am there!

—London Spectator.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning April 15, "The Bread of Life." Text, John vi, 24-40.

"I am the bread of life."

Without food come famine, weakness, death. No bodily strength can be kept up without frequent eating and drinking. Life depends on food. Fasting can go on for awhile; but, if not broken, ends in starvation. Bread, meat, drink, these sustain life and give strength.

No less does the soul of man need to be fed with food adapted to the spirit's wants. Confidence in God, hope for the future, love received and given—these nourish the inner life and give it health and rugged strength to bear and do.

Wealth can no more satisfy soul hunger than stones can feed a hungry stomach. Praises, honors and official position are no more like soul nutriment than a snake is like a fish. Nor can any form of creed or philosophy or system of mere reason fill the cravings of the human heart for comfort and knowledge of destiny. However much it may resemble an egg, it proves to be, too often, only a white scorpion in coil.

Has any one ever found rest to his soul, perfect peace of heart, absolute fullness of spirit and satisfaction of every craving except as he has found it in simple faith in Jesus Christ? Has any one ever come to Him in simple trust and loving obedience without finding all he needed and could desire? Has Jesus ever failed to give complete peace of spirit to all who came?

Truly does He become bread of life to all hungry souls.

Oh, that the world might taste and see
The riches of His grace!
The arms of love that compass me
Would all mankind embrace.

Manna in the wilderness was given only for a few years. Loaves and fishes were increased only twice to feed the multitudes. But God gives regularly harvests, to be had after faithful labor, and at no time is food lacking to feed all hungry mouths if only it was properly distributed.

So will the gospel save the souls of men from famishing if they will receive it.

To refuse salvation is as unwise and insane as to starve to death in the midst of plenty.

To neglect to carry the gospel to sinful men is as heartless and blameworthy as to neglect to feed the hungry at our door.

Religion In the Navy.

Chaplain Cassard was on the Indiana in the blockade of Havana and Santiago and was in the engagement which destroyed Cervera's fleet. Most interestingly he talks and lectures of life on shipboard and of the thrilling scenes he has witnessed in the late war.

There is real piety in the navy. Not a few of the sailors, marines and officers are devout Christians. The frequent changing of men from one vessel to another prevents any permanent organization or continuous work, but there is still much good possible for a chaplain to do among the men. In some of the vessels there are Endeavor societies which are spiritually helpful. Several of the chaplains are Methodists and in their Sunday services follow quite closely the order of service presented by the general conference.

CHAPLAIN CASSARD.

Self direction and self control are better than self denial. Deny self only when self indulgence will bring you into conflict with your higher interests. Hold fast all good, and when you must choose between two always take the highest. Of two evils choose neither. Shun both.

Gone Home.

"Gone home to be with God."
So runs the news
Which comes in day by day.
I cannot choose
But picture that great host
And those who now pass through
The open door.

How does it swell and grow—
That multitude
The "many mansions" still Earth's solitude
Is deeper than of yore,
But that home place—
How beautiful it grows
In joy and grace!

How safe, how free, how glad
They all must be!
They find themselves across
The dreaded sea;
The burden of their care
Has been laid down,
The cross they bore exchanged
For victor's crown.

Yet is their greatest joy
That they can see
The face of Him who died
To set them free.
We weep, but how can they
Do aught but sing?
No tears have they whose eyes
Have seen the King.

BRIDGE WORK
in Dentistry is the best substitute for nature's work that can be done. Sound roots may be built up and crowned and thus fill up an unsightly space. It has to be made of a material that has strength and durability and one that will not discolor. Gold is the one that stands the test. That is the secret of the expense. But the advantages of a bridge over a plate are many times more than the cost of one compared to that of the other.

A FATAL COLLAPSE.

Brick Building Falls In Pittsburg, Killing Three and Injuring Many.

PITTSBURG, April 13.—Without warning and with a rush and a roar the four story brick building at the corner of Second avenue and Wood street collapsed yesterday, burying in its ruins a number of people, three of whom were taken out dead. Six were badly hurt and several others slightly injured. The dead are: Mrs. Martha Jones, aged 64, of 511 Second avenue; Eugene Bernhardt, aged 29, of 1708 Manhattan street, Allegheny, salesman for the Armstrong & McKelvy company; Oscar Bigler, carpenter, home supposed to be near Harrisburg, was employed by Contractors McGovern and Lyttle.

The building was occupied by the Armstrong & McKelvy Lead and Oil company. It was being remodeled by Contractors McGovern and Lyttle, who were converting the lower floors of the corner store and that next door into one large room, which was to have been occupied by the lead company. About 48 feet of the middle partition had been removed, and steel girders supported by heavy iron posts were in place, and the finishing touches were being put on the remodeling work.

The fact that the rear portion of the building on Second avenue did not collapse saved many lives. It was in that part of the building that the offices were located, in which were about ten persons. Those who were in the rear portion of the building heard the crash and ran out of the side door into Second avenue and escaped.

Rumors of many people being buried under the debris were rife, but the list above comprises all of the casualties. The loss to the firm will be about $40,000.

LIGHT IN DARKNESS.

Londoners Encouraged by Lord Roberts' Message.

THOUGHT TO BE GETTING READY.

Boers Still Kept at Bay at Wepener. Enemy's Scouts Are Now Appearing on Flank and Rear of Buller's Army.

LONDON, April 13.—In a roundabout way London hears that Lord Roberts, when wiring to the Prince of Wales at Copenhagen congratulations upon his escape from assassination, added two or three hopeful sentences portending an early advance with wide reaching combinations.

Quiet assurances are passed around among military men that Lord Roberts is employing his great army effectively and that the adventurous Boer commandoes are likely to be enmeshed. Scraps of news—a detail here and another there—have reached England over comparatively idle cables, but they do not illuminate the situation.

The colonials at Wepener still hold off the Boers. Lord Methuen has worked eastward until he is within 80 miles of Kroonstadt. Boer scouts have gone around Ladysmith and have appeared at Dewdrop and other places on General Buller's flanks and rear. The officers of Buller's irregular horse estimate the Boers in Natal at 18,000, but these figures are probably excessive, 10,000 being regarded here as the outside number.

The Bloemfontein correspondent of The Daily Telegraph, telegraphing on Wednesday, says:

"Lord Roberts wisely declines to exhaust his men and horses in hunting the elusive Boers until his preparations are complete. He will leave to the enemy the barren comfort of the occupation of a few farms for a short time."

A dispatch to The Daily Mail from Lourenco Marques, dated Thursday, says:

"It is reported from Pretoria that a Boer commando is moving through Basutoland. This is said to be a clever ruse to draw the British army away from Wepener.

"About 2,000 foreigners constitute the new foreign legion in Pretoria, including some cossacks in uniform. Several fresh recruits left here for Pretoria today, including a French captain, brother of the late General de Villebois-Mareuil."

The Copenhagen correspondent of The Daily Mail says:

"Lord Roberts in a telegram to the Prince of Wales tendering congratulations on behalf of the troops in South Africa upon the escape of the prince at Brussels spoke very hopefully of the situation at the front."

Advices from Cape Town say the Bloemfontein correspondent of The Cape Argus says:

"Olivier's commando is moving in the direction of Smithfield.

"Five different laagers are located between Bethany and the Kaffir river, lying parallel to the railway, 12 miles eastward."

Brave Defense at Wepener.

ALIWAL NORTH, April 13.—The colonial troops are still holding their own splendidly at Wepener. Cannonading recommenced this morning. The Boer attack yesterday was not very serious. The British are carefully husbanding their ammunition, and their guns are making excellent practice. The Boers are short of ammunition. A patrol from Smithfield reports that small groups of Boers are visible.

Locked Up and Left.

FISHKILL, N. Y., April 13.—William Reilly, aged 35, a Boston painter, applied for a night's lodging to Constable Wiltse at Fishkill on Saturday night. He was placed in the jail, and the constable forgot he had locked up the man. On Wednesday afternoon Charles Sparks was passing the jail, which is in a remote part of the village. Hearing groans, he investigated and filed off the lock. He discovered Reilly almost dead. The man had had no food or drink in four days and nights. He exhausted himself shouting trying to make people liberate him from the jail. The man is in a bad condition, but careful nursing will probably save his life.

Monitors to Be Laid Off.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—The navy department has practically decided to put out of commission in the harbor of Manila the monitors Monterey and Monadnock, releasing the crews for service on other vessels where they are badly needed. An alternative proposition is to send one of the monitors north, to Nagasaki perhaps, which will serve as a base of operations while the monitor does duty as a training ship for gunners. In either case the purpose is to avoid the hardships to which officers and crews are subjected by keeping them aboard the monitors during the hot season in the Philippines.

Texas Bridge Destroyed.

COLUMBUS, Tex., April 13.—High water in the Colorado river has washed away the Southern Pacific railroad bridge here. The loss will exceed $100,000. Columbus is now entirely surrounded by water except for the railway outlet to the west. Half the town is submerged. No lives have been lost, but all crops have been destroyed. The river has begun to recede, however, and no further damage is anticipated.

Gigantic Mining Scheme.

SPOKANE, Wash., April 13.—The Chronicle says that the formation of the biggest mining company operated in the entire west and one of the most gigantic mining schemes ever formed has been made public. The King Solomon Mining company, headed by James B. Townsend of Lima, O., has been capitalized for $30,000,000 and has secured hundreds of claims for 2½ miles along Lake Kootenay, near Ainsworth, B. C.

Child Fatally Burned.

GOUVERNEUR, N. Y., April 13.—The 2-year-old son of Hiram Duscharm found a box of matches and set fire to the clothing on the cradle in which his infant sister was sleeping. Before help could arrive the baby was horribly burned and died in a few hours.

President Signs the Bill.

WASHINGTON, April 13.—The president at 7 o'clock last evening signed the Porto Rican tariff and civil government bill. Only Secretary Root and Mr. Cortelyou, the assistant secretary to the president, were present when the bill became a law.

Unique Premium Plan.

Crosby & Hill have introduced a very unique and original premium plan among their customers which is sure to be very much appreciated. They advertise that purchasers saving their duplicate purchase checks until they have accumulated $25 and presenting them to the cashier will be given in exchange a due bill entitling the holder to $1 worth of merchandise in any department of their immense store. It must be very apparent that their plan is far superior to any thing of the kind yet introduced as it gives the customer an immense range of goods from which to make their selection and at the established market value. This plan reduced to its simplest form gives the customer 4 per cent. discount on all their cash purchases when they amount to $25

ASKS STATE FOR BIG CONCESSIONS.

Scheme of Gigantic Proportions Believed to be Back of an Application.

THE CENTRAL INTERESTED.

A LEASE OF 999 YEARS WANTED ON CHEAP TERMS.

Railroads Banded Together to Secure a Lease That Will Enable Them to Build Warehouses in New York Bay.

Everything points to the fact that it is the Lehigh Valley Railroad, Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, Central Railroad of New Jersey and the Standard Oil interests that are back of the scheme to secure a lease of the land which the State owns between Ellis and Bedloe's islands, in New York Bay. The Board of Riparian Commissioners has been asked to establish around the land exterior, pier lines and interior lines for solid filling on the following conditions:

Terms of lease, 999 years; rent first five years, $1,000 a year; fifty years thereafter, $7,500 a year; and $20,000 a year for the remainder of the term. The lessee has the option to purchase the land in fee at any time within the first five years of the lease for $250,000. If the lessee fails to expend at least $50,000 upon the land within two years after the approval of the lease by the Secretary of War the lease shall be forfeited.

The first thing which would point to this conclusion is the fact that the grant, if made, would be in front of grants made to the Central Railroad, Lehigh Valley Railroad and Standard Oil Company. There is a clause in the grants which declares that the Riparian Board shall make no grants in front of the property already granted. Unless these corporations offered no objection to the making of a grant between Bedloe's and Ellis' Islands it would be a grave question if the grants could be made. Another thing to be considered is the fact the warehouses and warves contemplated would be of small value unless they could be reached by rail.

The only railroads which reach the shore front in proximity to the land under consideration are the Central and Lehigh Valley and their connections. The interests of the four great corporations mentioned are closely allied. The Lehigh Valley Railroad recently acquired possession of Black Tom, on which the National Storage Company's warehouses are located. It was said that this land was desired for a passenger terminus and ferry to New York. It is now the concensus of opinion among those who are interested in the matter that the real object which the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company had in view in securing the property was to give it a means of reaching the artificial islands with their immense warehouses, which it is proposed to build.

The distance from Black Tom to the land it is proposed to acquire would be slight and a railroad trestle across the flats at that point would not interfere with traffic to any considerable extent. The Central Railroad also would not be far from the artificial islands, and it would be possible to run its line to the warehouses also. The warehouses and wharves, if built, would enter into serious competition with the warehouses and wharves which the Pennsylvania Railroad Company is to build three thousand feet from the Greenville shore line. The fact that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company recently appropriated half a million of dollars for its improvement and now has men at work on it leads to the conclusion that it desires to anticipate the other large interests and rush its plans through while the capitalists back of the Cragin enterprise are striving for concessions and are overcoming the obstacles which the War Department may put in their way. P. Sandford Ross, the contractor who is to carry out the Pennsylvania Railroad Company's plans, already has a force of men at work with a tug and pile-driver.

The most serious thing for the Riparian Board to consider in the matter is the price to be demanded for the concession if it is decided to make it. Mr. Cragin offers $250,000 for the entire grant, comprising ninety acres. That is at the rate of about $27,000 an acre. The land is under water, but the men who buy it propose to make it as solid and as valuable as the shore front property, or more so, as there will be approaches from the water on two sides at least. Land on the shore front in the vicinity of the concession is valued at $1,000 a foot front. There are about 200 feet front to an acre. That would make the price offered by Mr. Cragin about $13 a foot front.

A FACTORY SETTLEMENT.

SO-CALLED ALTRUISTIC ENTERPRISE IN SOMERSET COUNTY.

It Will be Located at Belle Meade—Small Manufacturers Will be Induced to Locate There.

The Provident Realty Company has been formed to establish an altruistic factory settlement at Belle Meade, Somerset county. The company has already organized itself, secured a charter from the Secretary of State and elected its officers. The president of the company is John Guild Muirhead, of Trenton. Wm. G. Moore, cashier of the Trenton Trust Company, is treasurer, and Scott Scammel, a lawyer, is secretary and general counsel. The prime mover in the company is Wm. J. Robinson, of Red Bank, who is the general manager of the real estate department of the Knickerbocker Mortgage Company of New York. The capital stock of the company is $350,000, of which $150,000 is treasury stock, guaranteed by the trust company. All the stock is fully paid up and non-assessable.

The plan is to start a settlement similar to those of the Krupp Company in Essen, Germany, and the National Cash Register Company, of Ohio. In this instance, however, the settlement will be made up of many small manufacturers, who find it impossible to compete with their large contemporaries, instead of one large concern. The building of the settlement will be constructed so as to provide for employes especially the best possible surroundings, and it is proposed to erect a number of large buildings, which will be given over rent free to manufacturers who are cramped in lofts in New York and other cities.

LAUNDRY BURNED OUT.

OVERHEATED STOVE STARTED FIRE IN MILLER BUILDING LAST NIGHT.

Discovered by Occupant in Flat Above—Loss Will Reach $1,500, Mostly Covered by Insurance.

Flames swept the interior of the Queen City Laundry, 337 Park avenue, last evening, and threatened all the Miller building with destruction. The total loss to building and contents will reach nearly $1,500. The fire started in the drying room of the laundry from an overheated stove.

The fire was discovered by Mr. Humphrey, who occupies the flat on the third floor over the laundry. The smoke reached his rooms by way of the air shaft. He alarmed the occupants and notified the telephone exchange next door. An alarm was sent in by telephone but before the firemen could start, box 13 was pulled by City Judge W. N. Runyon at 9:07 o'clock.

Several wagon loads of paper were heaped in the cellar. The fire had just reached it when the firemen arrived. The interior of the laundry was all ablaze. One stream was turned the building from the rear and two from the front. In half an hour the fire was flooded out.

Fred Moore lived in the flat on the second floor. His wife was ill. She was moved to a neighboring flat. The second and third floors were filled with smoke, but the fire did not reach them.

Adam E. Dealaman, proprietor of the Queen City Laundry, places his loss at $600. He had a large wash on hand. His insurance was $300. The damage to the building, owned by Miss Annie Miller, will reach $700. The first floor is a wreck and the second and third are damaged by smoke. It was amply covered by insurance. Fred Moore's loss will reach $75, covered by insurance. Mr. Humphrey's loss will be slight.

Appointed by Governor Voorhees.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, April 14.—Governor Voorhees has reappointed Judge J. Franklin Fort, of East Orange, and Frank Bergen, of Elizabeth, as Commissioners for Promoting Uniformity of Legislation, and named John R. Hardin, of Newark, as a member of the commission to succeed Joseph D. Bedel, of Jersey city. The appointments are for five years. The commission consists of three members from each State in the Union.

Tinplate Mill to Resume.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Phillipsburg, April 14.—The tinplate mill of the American Sheet Iron Company is being put into shape to resume operations in a week or two. The mill was started several years ago, and was one of the first put into operation in this country. It turned out tinplate for a while, but was then devoted to other purposes. The company has sufficient orders on hand to keep the mill in operation the rest of the year. The plant is to be enlarged.

LAND FOR BOULEVARD

SOME BIG PROPERTY OWNERS MAKE CONCESSIONS.

Old Colony Land Company Has Deeded a Strip 3,000 Feet Long to the County for $1.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, April 14.—The commissioners appointed by the Court to assess damages to property owners for the proposed widening of Westfield avenue, so as to make it a county boulevard, met yesterday at the Courthouse. There were some of the property owners who refused to accept the award made by the commissioners, but have since reconsidered their action and are now willing to make a compromise. The commissioners have only been acting on property between Elizabeth and the Cranford township line.

The Old Colony Land Company, which owns large tracts in Union township, and of which the late Senator McPherson was the controlling spirit, has deeded to Union county for the nominal consideration of $1, a strip of land along Westfield avenue 3,000 feet in length and forty feet deep. Crawford and Parmelee, who also own considerable land in Union township, have deeded for the same nominal consideration 800x40 feet along Westfield avenue.

The commissioners accepted both these grants, and then adjourned to next Tuesday, when they expect to complete their report.

WAGONS COME TOGETHER.

Exciting Runaway Caused by Horse Owned by George Cole Being Frightened by Trolley Car.

Two platform wagons were pretty generally strewn about West Fourth street, near Park avenue, this morning. One belonged to George Cole, the undertaker. Robert Rushton, the painter, had been using it and had tied the grey horse attached in front of the Franklin School building. A trolley car came along and frightened the horse. The animal bolted in the direction of Park avenue, colliding with the wagon belonging to Moore & Schelein. Then the horse attached to the latter vehicle promptly ran away, too. Both wagons were upset and the wheels partially wrecked. Cole's rig suffered the worse.

Schools Closed for Easter Vacation.

The public schools of this city closed yesterday for the spring vacation which will last until Monday, April 23 It has been customary to hold the vacation the first week in April but this year the Board of Education made a change and conformed with the plan in general use at the colleges which is to give the week after Easter. Special exercises were held at the High School yesterday morning. There were a number of visitors, including many graduates, who came back to pay a short visit to the school.

WHAT WILL HAPPEN DURING EASTER WEEK.

All the Churches Will Observe Tomorrow With Special Easter Services.

SOCIAL EVENTS FOR WEEK.

THE ASSEMBLY AT THE CASINO MONDAY EVENING.

Park Club Plans Entertainment for Members and Their Friends—Several Dances Arranged—Events in Church, Political and Golf Circles.

Tomorrow is Easter Sunday. All the churches will observe the day with special services and lots of flowers. Society will take advantage of the day to turn out in all the brightness of spring attire. The weather prognosticators are kind this year and promise a warm spring day with lots of sunshine.

The milliners and the dressmakers have been busy for weeks preparing the Easter costumes that will blossom forth tomorrow if those promises regarding the weather are only kept. Today the florists are the busy ones. Hundreds of palms and potted plants have been rented for the decoration of the many churches of the city. None of the churches are in such circumstances that they cannot afford to decorate for Easter.

Besides the churches, hundreds of residences are bright with flowers for Easter. The Easter and the calla lilies are meeting with ready sale. So are the cut flowers, principally roses and carnations. The prices this year not usually high. As Easter comes somewhat later in the month than usual, the prices have a slight tendency to be lower. Owing to the great demand, cut flowers have risen to double the price that they were two weeks ago. The price of the Easter lilies depends on the number of blossoms. They average at the rate of fifteen cents for each blossom on the plant. Roses are bringing from $1.50 to $3 a dozen, depending on the variety. Carnations range in price from 75 cents to $1.50. Other cut flowers are selling at fair rates.

Nearly every church in the city announces special Easter services for tomorrow with appropriate music and sermon. In another column can be found the announcements of the special music and services. Many of the Sunday schools will also observe the day, either at one of the regular church services or separately.

Easter Sunday brings the Lenten season to an end and society is ready to assume its wonted activity after the quiet period. Many of the young people are home from college and boarding school while visitors are being entertained at many local homes. Easter week always sees a host of happenings in social circles, dances and entertainments and this year will be no exception. A concert by some of the college and musical organizations has heretofore been a feature of the week's activity but this year there will be none. There are many other pleasant events planned for next week, however.

Society has booked its formal dance for Monday evening. The success of the series of assemblies during the winter so great that Charles E. Brooks and the patronesses agreed to direct another in Easter week. The assembly Monday night will be independent of the proceeding set although conducted by the same people and will undoubtedly be as great a success as any of the former ones. It will be held as usual at the Casino.

The Park Club has announced an amateur dramatic entertainment for Tuesday night as its share in the festivities of Easter week. It will be given by and for young women of society and will undoubtedly be very pleasing. A limited number of invitations have been issued to the members. It will be followed by an informal dance. The same evening the juniors of the Seminary will be tendered a dance by Miss Kenyon, principal of that school. The affair will be held in the school hall.

Society has no event of great import for Wednesday night. Thursday afternoon Mrs. Martin I. Cooley has invited a number of friends to her home on Rockview avenue to hear Miss Dorsey in "Negro Charteristics." A subscription dance will be held that evening at the Park Club. A number of young women of the club have arranged it and a large attendance is promised. The Cotillion Club will be entertained Friday evening at the home of Councilman John B. Dumont, of East Seventh street.

Besides those events already mentioned there are a score of smaller

GOOD FRIDAY SERVICES.

PARTICIPATED IN BY PASTORS OF SEVERAL CHURCHES.

Held in the First Methodist Church, and Attended by a Large Concourse of People.

The Good Friday services at the First M. E. church last evening attracted the attendance of a large number of the church-going people. The services were very impressive and were participated in by the pastors of seven of the city's various churches. There were present Rev. Dr. E. M. Rodman, rector of Grace Episcopal church; Rev. C. L. Goodrich, pastor of the Congregational church; Rev. Cornelius Schenck, Ph. D., pastor of the Trinity Reformed church; Rev. D. J. Yerkes, pastor of the First Baptist church; Rev. A. E. Main, pastor of the Seventh-Day Baptist church; Rev. W. C. O'Donnell, former pastor of Monroe Avenue M. E. church, who took Rev. G. W. Gardner's place on account of the latter being ill, and Rev. W. R. Richards, pastor of Crescent Avenue church.

The services were opened by the choir singing "My Faith Looks Up to Thee," followed by prayer and responsive reading. After the scriptural reading the various pastors give brief addresses with regard to the utterances of Christ while on the cross. The subjects were arranged and the quotations from the scripture relating to the crucifixion were referred to as follows:

"Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do," Rev. E. M. Rodman; "Verily, I say unto thee, this day shalt thou be with me in paradise," Rev. C. L. Goodrich; "Behold thy son; behold thy mother," Rev. Cornelius Schenck; "My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?" Rev. D. J. Yerkes; "I thirst," Rev. A. E. Main; "It is finished," Rev. W. C. O'Donnell; "Father, into thy hands I commend my spirit," Rev. W. R. Richards.

The discourses were alike fervent, earnest and replete with Christian thought, conveying to the large congregation an inspiration that was imbued with spiritual magnetism and refreshing to the mind in the way of Biblical history.

After the brief sermons an offering was asked in aid of the Children's Home.

This union service was particularly interesting from the fact that the ministers who took part in it included one of an Episcopal faith as well as representatives of the Methodist, Baptist, Presbyterian, Congregational and Seventh-Day Baptist. It was a unity of brotherly love, joined in offering up praises to the Deity upon one of the most sacred of all holy days and at the close of the Lenton season—a period of prayer, fasting and self-denial. It is believed that these union services will be the means of doing much toward fostering a kindlier feeling between the members of the various denominations.

Rev. W. C. Snodgrass, pastor of the First Methodist church, presided over the services, and announced the various numbers on the programme.

HIS CONDITION CRITICAL.

Joseph D. Spicer Has Not Rallied From Serious Injuries Sustained by a Fall.

Joseph D. Spicer, who was injured in the breaking of the stairway in the lumbershed of Boice, Runyon & Co., on Park avenue, Thursday afternoon, is now in a very critical condition. He has not regained consciousness since the accident and the hemorrhage at the ear is feared to mean that there was concussion at the base of the brain. Drs. Long and Jenkins are still in attendance.

John D. Runyon, the other victim of the accident, passed a quiet night and is about the same. His injuries are considered very serious but it is hoped that he will recover.

RAILWAY RUMOR DENIED.

Pennsylvania and Baltimore & Ohio Not Acquiring Jersey Roads.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Philadelphia, April 14.—A vice-president of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company yesterday characterized as untrue a report from Baltimore that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company was in a deal with the Baltimore and Ohio to acquire the Philadelphia and Reading and the Central Railroad of New Jersey. He further stated that question of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad runnings its trains over the Pennsylvania Railroad to Jersey City had not been broached or discussed.

DEATH CAME SUDDENLY.

ISAAC LANCE PASSED AWAY SITTING IN A CHAIR.

Caused by a Stroke of Apoplexy—Had Been Ill for Some Time—A Christian Worker.

Isaac Lance, aged 50 years, a highly respected citizen of the borough, living at 12 Westervelt avenue, died suddenly yesterday afternoon at his home. He had just returned from the yard and had been sitting in a chair about ten minutes when he passed away. Dr. J. Hervey Buchanan, the family physican, was summoned, but he could do nothing to save his patient, who died two or three minutes' after he arrived. Death was due to apoplexy. For some time past Mr. Lance was being treated for kidney trouble with which he suffered a great deal at times.

Mr. Lance had been a resident for many years and was a painter by trade. He followed this business for several years until his health forced him to stop. He was an earnest, Christian man, and for some time past was interested in the Sunday-school work of the East Third Street Mission, where he was a regular attendant. He is survived by a wife, a daughter, Miss Eva Lance, and a son, Howard Lance, all of whom live in the borough.

The funeral services will be held Monday afternoon next from the residence, 15 Westervelt avenue, at 2 o'clock. Members of Queen City Lodge, No. 226, I. O. O. F., and Miantonomo Tribe, No. 118, I. O. R. M., will attend in a body. Interment will be in Evergreen Cemetery.

STRUCK BY TROLLEY CAR

HORSE SO BADLY INJURED THAT IT WAS NECESSARY TO KILL IT.

Dayton Mellick Did Not See Approach of the Car and He Turned Directly in Front of It.

Dayton Mellick, the milk dealer, whose farm is at Mount Pleasant, sustained the loss of one of his valuable team of horses early this morning. Mr. Mellick was serving his customers in the eastern portion of the city at about 6 o'clock.

While driving on East Fifth street in the vicinity of Franklin place the team was struck by trolley car No. 14 in charge of Motorman Gamble. Both horses were thrown down and one of them was so badly injured that it had to be killed. It was shot by P. H. Latourette, of East Fifth street. The other horse's legs were scratched but it was not seriously injured.

When the accident happened Mr. Mellick was driving along side the track in the direction of Netherwood. At Franklin place he turned his team across the track directly in front of the car which struck the horses before he was aware of the car's approach. Mr. Mellick told a Daily Press reporter that he did not see the car approaching nor hear any signal of warning given by the motorman.

A citizen who saw the accident says that the motorman did ring his gong some distance before approaching Mr Mellick. The milkman says that the reason he did hear or see the car was because his wagon is completely closed in.

Supt. Adlemann and Vice-President John T. Fritts have made Mr. Mellick an offer in settlement of all damages. It is not believed that the motorman is entirely responsible for accident.

RAIN DELAYED WORK.

Trolley Cars to Run to Elizabeth Next Week.

It is announced that the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company cannot open its road between Elizabeth and Plainfield tomorrow, as was expected. The rain of yesterday interfered with the work, and the connection through Jersey avenue, Elizabeth, cannot be finished in time.

No definite announcement is made, but one of the officials of the company said this morning that it was expected the cars could be running Tuesday next.

Funeral of Mrs. Rielly.

The funeral of Mrs. Catherine E. Rielly, of Brooklyn, mother of Eugene Rielly, of this city, took place Thursday, the interment being in the Holy Cross R. C. church cemetery at Flatbush, L. I. Mrs. Rielly was seventy six years of age and leaves seven children.

Used Profane Language.

Edward Couch was arraigned before City Judge Runyon this morning on the charge of using profane and indecent language, preferred by Mrs. Mary Laing. The judge found him guilty but supended sentence.

CUPS TO BE COMPETED FOR AT HILLSIDE CLUB

Schedule of Contests for the Season Announced by Golf Committee.

SEVERAL NEW TROPHIES.

HILLSIDE LINKS WILL OPEN SATURDAY WITH INFORMAL COMPETITION.

VanHerwerden and Golf Club Cups Have Just Been Offered—Schedule of Events—Conditions Governing Them—A Lively Season in Prospect.

An active season has been planned by the golf committee of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club. The schedule of competitions was announced last night by the committee. Besides the trophies that were contested for last season, there are several new ones. The schedule only includes the regular club competitions. Others may be added and then there will be the various team matches to be arranged by the captain of the team, Rutherford M. Shepard.

While the course will be informally opened next Saturday and a little competition has been arranged, it will not be until the second week in May that any event of importance is to take place. Then comes a scratch tournament. The first trophy to be played for is the VanHerwerden Cup, offered this year for the first time. The Golf Club Cups are also new. The active season runs through May and June up to the Fourth of July. Then there will be a lull until September as many of the golfers go away for the summer. There will undoubtedly be some informal competitions arranged during that time however.

The schedule, complete to date, as announced last evening by Lewis E. Waring, chairman of the golf committee, is as follows:

April 21, (Opening Day.) Prize for best score
May 12, 2 p. m., Scratch tournament, 18 holes, medal play, open to all active members.
May 19, 10 a. m., van Herwerden Cup.
May 26, 2 p. m., Preliminary round, Chapman Cup.
May 30, (Decoration Day,) 10 a. m., First round match play, Chapman Cup.
2 p. m., Semi-finals, Chapman Cup.
June 2, 2 p. m., Finals, Chapman Cup.
June 9, 10 a. m., Schoonmaker Cup.
June 16, 2 p. m., Reinhart Cup.
June 23, 2 p. m., Gilbert Cup.
June 30, 10 a. m., van Herwerden Cup.
2 p. m., Men's foursome.
July 4, (Independence Day,) Bogey Handicap.
Sept. 3, (Labor Day,) Golf Committee Cup.
Sept. 8, 10 a. m., van Herwerden Cup.
Sept. 15, 2 p. m., Reinnart Cup.
Sept. 29, 2 p. m., Golf Club Cups, classes "A" and "B."
Oct. 13, 10 a. m., Schoonmaker Cup.
Oct. 27, 10 a. m., van Herwerden Cup.
Nov. 3, 2 p. m., Preliminary round, Chapman Cup.
Nov. 6, (Election Day,) 10 a. m., First round match play, Chapman Cup.
2 p. m., Semi-finals, Chapman Cup.
Nov. 10, 2 p. m., Finals, Chapman Cup.
Nov. 29, (Thanksgiving Day,) 10 a. m., Gilbert Cup.

The play for the several cups will be regulated by the following conditions:

Chapman Cup. Men's competition, open to active members only, the eight players who shall have qualified at medal play, eighteen holes, to compete at match play, eighteen holes.

Reinhart Cup. Handicap, men's competition, open to active members only, eighteen holes, medal play.

Schoonmaker Cup. Handicap, competition open to ladies over sixteen years of age, whether active, associate or junior associate members, eighteen holes, medal play; the competition October 13th, match play, open only to those ladies who have made one or more wins for same cup.

Gilbert Cup for mixed foursomes. Handicap, competition open to both active and associate members, eighteen holes, medal play.

VanHerwerden Cup. Handicap, ladies' competition, open to all ladies whether active, associate or junior associate members, eighteen holes, medal play; final competition October 27th, match play, open only to those ladies who have made one or more wins for the same cup.

Golf Committee Cup. Handicap, eighteen holes, medal play, open to active and associate members.

Men's Foursome Cup. Handicap, competition open to active members only, eighteen holes, medal play.

Bogey Handicap Cup. Competition open to active members, eighteen holes, match play.

Golf Club Cups. Handicap, eighteen holes, medal play, classes "A" and "B;" class "A" open to all members whose handicap is 18 or less; class "B" open to all members whose handicap is 19 or more.

All entries for these competitions must reach the chairman of the golf committee or be dropped in the box provided for the purpose at the clubhouse at least twenty four hours be-

John Goodman, of Liberty street, has been troubled with a severe affection of the eyes since an attack of the grip recently, and he has been obliged to put on glasses. He is much worried concerning the trouble.

LITERARY.

A director of the Standard Oil Company has recently published in The Independent an article declaring trusts to be good for the workingman. To the May Century, Andrew Carnegie of the Carnegie Company, which rivals the Standard Oil for first place among the world's great corporations, will contribute an essay taking the same ground. In this article, which bears the title "Popular Illusions about Trusts," the great steel manufacturer argues that the evils of trusts are generally self-corrective; that no trust can live long unless it secures a virtual monopoly of the commodity it deals in; and that "the only people who have reason to fear trusts are those who trust them." In the same magazine "The Real Danger of Trusts"—their menace to the independence of the individual and the state—will be pointed out in a vigorous editorial.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

Professor Coles, the Sussex county weather sharp, who publishes "Storms and Signs," gives out the following as a sure cure for the grip. He says: "Roast one dozen middling size onions, press out the oil, add a lump of butter half as large as an egg, and some pepper; heat all together and drink it down. Remain in the house a day or two and the grip will fly away and be gone." Those who do not think the remedy worse than the disease are advised to try the onion cure.

Duplicity in the art of producing moving pictures was disclosed Thursday through the injury to two men who were taking part in the storming of "Spion Kop." This particular Spion Kop is on the eastern slope of the Orange mountain, and had it not been for the premature discharge of a cannon which seriously injured James H. White, of the Edison Projecting Kinetoscope Company, and William McCarthy, of Orange, many people would have looked upon the pictures as photographs of the real Spion Kop fight. More than 200 men were hired, half of the number, in Boer costume, being placed at the top, while the others, in British uniform, prepared to storm the kop.

This is one of the unique Hunterdon county happenings chronicled by the Flemington Democrat-Advertiser: "William Brown, of the 'Ferry' section of Delaware township, was moving to near Sergeantsville last week. He got all completed excepting a vigorous six month-old calf. Borrowing a neighbor's horse and wagon he loaded in the calf and started for his new home. On the way the calf became restive and got to acting some circus tricks in the wagon. This frightened the horse and he joined the calf in its performances. Mr. Brown was about to jump out of the wagon when the horse upset it, throwing him and the calf in one general heap upon the ground, together with the wagon body. The horse tore lose from the running gears and ran away. Mr. Brown was very seriously hurt in the accident, but no bones were broken. His face was badly scratched, and bruises without number were left upon his body. The calf came out of the shake-up in fine form."

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

Next Thursday at Music Hall, "The Heart of Maryland," David Belasco's romantic play, which proved the theatrical success in New York, Boston and Chicago the past three seasons, bids fair to outrival in magnitude anything seen in the city for years. It recently played a remarkable engagement of 100 nights at the Adelphi Theatre, London. The one great scene, however, in this wonderfully effective drama closes the third act, and is known as the "Belfry Sensation." The hero, condemned to death as a spy, escapes, and the bell in the old church tower is about to be rung to give a general alarm. The heroine rushes through the gloom and up the winding old stairway to the top of the belfry, and springing forward, grasps the clapper and swings to and fro as the great bell swings back and forth. She thus saves the man she loves from capture and certain death, by risking her own life.

BRIDGE WORK
in Dentistry is the best substitute for nature's work that can be done. Sound roots may be built up and crowned and thus fill up an unsightly space. It has to be made of a material that has strength and durability and one that will not discolor. Gold is the one that stands the test. That is the secret of the expense. But the advantages of a bridge over a plate are many times more than the cost of one compared to that of the other.

BOERS HELD IN CHECK

Lord Roberts Sends Assuring News to London.

RELIEF NOW NEARING WEPENER.

Mafeking In a Bad Way and Succor Not In Sight—Large Shipments of Horses—Boer Losses Over Twelve Thousand.

LONDON, April 14.—"The forward movement of the Boers is checked," says Lord Roberts. This is taken to mean, not by fighting, but by dispositions to head off their advance and bar the way to vulnerable points in the line of British communications.

Relief is on the way to Wepener. The Boers in Natal appear incapable of developing an aggressive movement at Elandslaagte.

Lord Methuen is at Zwartkopfontein, 12 miles east of Boshof, and is sending small, swift columns through the adjacent country. Lord Chesham, commanding one of these, encountered a small commando about ten miles southeast of Zwartkopfontein. He found most of the farms occupied by women and children only.

An editorial note in The Daily Mail avers that Mafeking is in a very bad way and that the hope of relief is far off, as no force is advancing from the south.

The war office announces that 4,000 horses will arrive at the Cape this week. It is well understood that the animals are not fit for work until about ten days after the voyage. Two thousand more are due at the Cape next week.

The war office has called out the reserve companies of several infantry battalions.

The war office has received the following dispatch from General Roberts:

"Bloemfontein, April 13.—The enemy's movements south have been checked. Wepener is still surrounded, but the little garrison is holding out well. Troops are being moved to their assistance. The health of the troops is good and the climate perfection."

The Bloemfontein correspondent of The Daily Telegraph, telegraphing Thursday, says:

"There is nothing whatever to cause uneasiness. It will presently be seen that the Boers are just where we want them. In a word, we are all right."

The Daily Mail publishes the following dispatch, dated April 13, from Lourenco Marques:

"The Boers are manufacturing shells, especially Vickers-Maxim, in large quantities at the Begbie foundry, Johannesburg.

"The actual Boer losses to the end of March, including prisoners, are estimated at 12,000. At present there are 7,000 Boers in Natal and 35,000 in the Free State."

The Bloemfontein correspondent of The Morning Post, telegraphing Thursday, says:

"The enemy have evidently determined to adopt entirely new tactics. Two columns are known to be moving to the south of Bloemfontein. They are relying on Cape carts for transport and are carrying scarcely any forage and only sufficient food to meet the immediate requirements of the convoy, with ox transport following at a secure distance. The Boer columns are thus enabled to move almost as quickly as cavalry.

"It is reported that there are 9,000 Boers to the south of De Wets Dorp, the force extending from that point to Odendahl. The burghers who had returned to their farms are undoubtedly rejoining the enemy.

"Lord Roberts has appointed the Duke of Marlborough to be assistant military secretary at headquarters."

The Daily Telegraph has the following from Elandslaagte, dated April 13:

"The Boers are changing their tactics and are moving from Glencoe westward with a view of threatening our lines of communication to Ladysmith.

"On Tuesday a corps of carbineers and another of Thorneycroft's horse narrowly escaped being cut off owing to the treachery of a Kaffir and a native guide."

The Bloemfontein correspondent of The Times, telegraphing Friday, says:

"Everything is going satisfactorily. Owing to the enemy's enterprise a necessity has arisen for a movement in the southeastern division, and for strategic reasons troop trains have monopolized the railway for a short period, but the Boer raids are only what was anticipated as a result of the halt in our main advance.

"We in Bloemfontein are full of great admiration of the calm front with which headquarters have received these incidents.

"Half of the object of the enemy has failed, since Lord Roberts has refused to be drawn into complications, but has fostered the enemy's enterprise, making dispositions to checkmate it almost without Bloemfontein being aware that movements of the troops have occurred."

A REPULSE AT WEPENER.

Boers Said to Be Giving Up the Attack—British Army Changes.

BLOEMFONTEIN, April 14.—Accounts received here of the fighting of the troops under Colonel Dalgety at Wepener show the Boers attacked them vigorously, but were repulsed with great loss. The Boers subsequently relinquished the attack, and it is said here they are returning northward.

A new division, consisting of two brigades, has been formed under General Ian Hamilton.

General Hutton's brigade is composed of Canadians, New Zealanders and all the Australians except the cavalry. His staff follows: Colonel Martyr, chief; Lord Rosmead, aide-de-camp; Colonels Hood of Victoria and Bridges of New South Wales and Major Cartwright of Canada, assistant adjutant generals.

The brigade consists of four corps of mounted infantry under Colonels Anderson, De Jisle, Pilcher and Henry.

The First corps consists of the First battalion Canadians, under Colonel Lissard, and the Second battalion, Canadians, under Colonel Herchmer.

Strathcona's horse, under Lieutenant Colonel Steele, and the Victorians, under Colonel Price, are in the Fourth corps.

The Second and Third corps are composed of Australians. Each corps has a battalion of imperial mounted infantry attached. The Canadian and New South Wales batteries and a number of Vickers-Maxims will also join the division.

General Ridley's brigade comprises all the South African troops.

Reichman Not In the Fight.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—The war department has received the following cablegram, dated April 12, from Adelbert Hay, United States consul at Pretoria, relative to a published statement that Captain Carl Reichman, the United States military observer in the Transvaal, had been leading a Boer force: "Rumor of Reichman's active participation is absolutely false."

Kimberley Fears Another Siege.

KIMBERLEY, April 14.—The town guard has been remobilized, and guns have been remounted on the forts owing to the fears of the populace that the Boers will again attempt a siege. A battalion of the Scottish rifles has arrived, and the redoubts around the town are manned with regular troops. The military authorities, however, regard these fears as groundless.

CUBAN PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

Their Needs Presented In Boston by Superintendent Frye.

BOSTON, April 14.—The cause of the Cuban public schools was succinctly and even eloquently presented to the American people last night through the means of a mass meeting held at Huntington hall, Institute of Technology, addressed by Mr. Alexis E. Frye, superintendent of schools in Cuba, and President Charles Eliot of Harvard university.

Incidentally, it may be said, the meeting was in touch with the movement under way in Boston and more particularly at Harvard to care for in appropriate and complete fashion the 1,400 or more Cuban teachers whom Superintendent Frye proposes to bring to this country in the summer on a patriotic excursion, as it were, the means for which will be provided by government and private aid.

Former Governor Robert Wolcott presided, and the hall was well filled. There were only two speakers, Superintendent Frye and President Eliot, and to the latter the former presented a copy of the original school laws of Cuba made up in a good sized volume.

EXPOSITION OPENS TODAY.

Few Exhibits Are Yet to Be Seen In Any Buildings.

PARIS, April 14.—The ceremony attending the opening of the Paris exposition is timed to begin at 2 o'clock, when M. Millerand, the minister of commerce, will make the inaugural address, to which President Loubet will reply.

The president will then walk through the grounds and afterward, embarking on a river craft, will go down the river Seine to the new Alexander III bridge, which he will formally declare open.

The exposition grounds will be closed for the remainder of the day, the formal opening to the public taking place on Sunday.

The president will not enter the exposition buildings proper, but only inspect the edifices from the outside, for the excellent reason that the buildings where finished are thus far mere shells, with scarcely any exhibits to be seen anywhere.

What Clark Will Do.

BUTTE, Mon., April 14.—The Inter Mountain, upon advices from the east, says: "It is certain that Senator Clark will not resign. The pressure from his Montana friends and legal advisers is in favor of contesting to a finish. Senators Clay, Mason, Bacon and Heitfeld will make a fight on the floor of the senate, claiming that a two-thirds vote is necessary to unseat him. They claim that the report of the committee does not sustain the direct charge of bribery against him. They will expose the character and plans of his enemies, and he will doubtless make a speech in his own behalf. This policy will prevent appointment by the governor and may lead to the election of two Republican senators, so a majority opposition to delay is not expected. Senator Mason will conduct the fight for Clark."

Whitecappers Face III.

DANVILLE, Ind., April 14.—The grand jury has returned indictments against Elwood Walker, Silas Walker, George Alexander, Sam Sauteney, William Terry, Lee Bolton, Benson Eggers, Harry Ewank, Fred Staley and John Reeder as participants in the whitecapping affair on the night of March 5, when Ed and Otis Hughes were flogged with blacksnake whips. All except Elwood Walker, Alexander and Staley are under $300 bonds. The cases are set for the May term of court. It is understood that one of the party has turned state's evidence.

Came Three Thousand Miles to Wed.

CHICAGO, April 14.—Serify Stefanowic and Annie Prulgonski raced over 3,000 miles from Telchus, Austria, to Chicago for the double purpose of avoiding Michael Satenski, a justice of the peace of the town of Telchus, and to be married. The justice was also in love with the young lady and had sworn to make her his bride. He followed them to America and is now said to be in Chicago searching for the couple and ignorant of their wedding, which took place yesterday.

Striking Miners Must Go.

KNOXVILLE, April 14.—Three hundred miners of the Coal Creek Coal company's mines at Coal Creek went out on a strike yesterday. The strikers are United Mine Workers who have taken the present step because one of their number was discharged. E. C. Camp, general manager of the company, stated that he would not reinstate the union men and had ordered all the strikers to turn over their tools and vacate the company's property within 24 hours.

The Holland Boat Bought.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—The navy department has signed a contract with the Holland Submarine Torpedo Boat company for the addition of some of their boats to the navy. By the terms of the contract the government pays $150,000 for the Holland. It also agrees to pay $175,000 each for any boats of the Holland type it may purchase hereafter.

The President's New Secretary.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Owing to continued ill health Hon. John Addison Porter, secretary to the president, has tendered his resignation, and the president has accepted it, to take effect May 1 next. George B. Cortelyou of New York, the present assistant secretary to the president, has been appointed to the office.

Illinois Town Burned Out.

PANA, Ills., April 14.—The business portion of Oconee, six miles south, was wiped out by fire yesterday. The fire is supposed to have been of incendiary origin. Two suspects have been arrested. The loss will exceed $50,000.

A FARMERS' TRUST.

Proposition For an International Combine.

NO WHEAT AT LESS THAN A DOLLAR

Two Wise Men Propose to Restrict Wheat Raising Throughout the World—A Panacea Discovered For Agricultural Ills.

MINNEAPOLIS, April 14.—"All the farmers of the world in a sort of international trust to restrict the production of wheat and raise prices," is the plan which it is hoped to carry into effect at the international agricultural conference in Paris July 9 to 16. It is proposed to ask the farmers of the world to reduce their wheat output by 20 per cent and not to sell a bushel for less than a dollar.

J. C. Hanley of St. Paul, executive agent of the Farmers' Alliance and Industrial union, the National Cotton Growers' association, the Farmers' Federation of the Mississippi Valley and the National Grain Growers' association, is the chief promoter of the International Agricultural trust in America.

Professor G. Ruhland of the University of Fribourg, Switzerland, is the chief promoter of the plan in Europe.

The idea was conceived by these two men independently. Mr. Hanley has been interested in many "hold your wheat" schemes and is prominently associated with the farmers' elevator and various co-operative undertakings. He has long believed that if the farmers would only come to an understanding as to limiting production and agree to sell only when their price could be obtained they could easily master the situation.

As a professor of economics Professor Ruhland had come to the same conclusion. His study of the agrarian problems of different countries led him to believe that the only cure for the widespread troubles of farmers, which are much more severe in the old than in the new world, is to restrict production. Both were hard at work getting the idea into practice when they encountered each other through correspondence. Since then they have been working with a common idea—namely, to persuade the international agricultural congress to indorse the plan and recommend it to the various national associations present for application next year.

While 20 per cent reduction in acreage is desired, Mr. Hanley points out that if only 5 per cent can be secured the world's wheat crop will be reduced about 125,000,000 bushels, which is, he says, enough to bring the price at Liverpool up to $1. To help out the effect of a restricted production the farmers are to hold their wheat for 90 days and are to market it at not less than $1 a bushel.

"Almost everything the farmer buys," Mr. Hanley said, "is regulated in price by some trust. On the other hand, all that the farmer sells has its price determined by the competition of all the rest of the farmers of the world. The farmers propose to unite, stop ruinous competition among themselves and make the world pay a fairer price for their product."

Following the Paris conference it is hoped to have established a permanent international grain growers' association.

Famous Journalist Dead.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., April 14.—George H. Scripps is dead at Miramdo, the ranch of his brother, E. W. Scripps, of pernicious anaemia after an illness of several months. The remains will be cremated at Los Angeles. Interment will be at Rushville, Ills., May 1. George H. Scripps was 66 years old, born in England and came to this country when 4 years old. He was reared on an Illinois farm, and when the war broke out he and his brother John enlisted. John lost his life and George his health. He entered on his journalistic career 25 years ago with the Detroit Evening News. He helped to found the Cleveland Press. He soon after became interested in the Cincinnati Post, Kentucky Post, St. Louis Chronicle, Kansas City World and Omaha News, and his journalistic possessions extended to the Pacific coast.

Imports and Exports.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—The March statement of the imports and exports of the United States shows as follows: Merchandise, imports, $86,442,177, of which $39,995,765 was free of duty, increase as compared with March, 1899, $14,000,000; exports, $134,313,348, increase $30,000,000. Gold, imports, $1,921,036, decrease $2,000,000; exports, $1,064,350, decrease $45,000. Silver, imports, $3,149,146, increase $24,000; exports, $5,452,422, increase $395,000. For the nine months of the present fiscal year there was an increase in the imports of dutiable merchandise of $76,148,067 as compared with the same period in 1899 and an increase of $105,167,933 in the exports of domestic merchandise.

Opposition to Senator Morgan.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 14.—Perhaps the most aggressive campaign ever conducted within the ranks of the Democratic party in Alabama will be brought to an end today when primaries will be held in a majority of the counties to select candidates for state offices and representatives to the general assembly involving the election of a United States senator to succeed John T. Morgan. Senator Morgan is opposed for re-election by Governor Joseph E. Johnston.

The Queen In Ireland.

DUBLIN, April 14.—The queen took her favorite morning drive yesterday in the private grounds of the viceregal lodge, after which she attended service in the royal chapel, where a large congregation assembled. The primate of Ireland preached. In the course of the sermon he referred to the Irish soldiers and the queen. During the afternoon her majesty took a drive in the country.

High Price For a Vase.

NEW YORK, April 14.—Three thousand two hundred and fifty dollars was given at the sale of the oriental objects belonging to William Churchill Oastler for a medium sized blue and white vase of the K'ang-Hsi period. The price is a record one for a specimen of Chinese blue and white porcelain other than of the Hawthorn pattern. The vase is only 24 inches high.

The Persian Ruler Sets Out.

LONDON, April 14.—A dispatch to The Times from Teheran announces that the shah of Persia has gone to Tabriz, north Persia, on his way to Europe. He will first visit St. Petersburg.

The New Spring Goods.

NOW OPEN.

We are now showing our entire line of the New Spring Goods for women's wear. Each department is full to overflowing with Fashion's latest and best, including many novelties that are entirely exclusive. We have made many notable opening displays in the past, but none to approach this one either in scope or beauty. A word or two of four specially noteworthy exhibits:

THE TRIMMED MILLINERY.

The Millinery display this season is superb, much larger and more beautiful than that of any previous year. Our assortment of imported Hats, Bonnets and Toques includes the best designs of the most famous milliners of Paris. Our own workrooms are also splendidly represented with a magnificent collection, embracing all that is new in shape, color and trimming. It is a display that every woman should see.

IN THE UNTRIMMED HAT DEPARTMENT

you will find the largest and best selected assortment in New York, one big enough to please the most exacting woman, for it includes all the popular shapes, braids and colors, as well as several designs that were made specially for us. In this department you will also find an elegant variety of CHILDREN'S TRIMMED HATS, both for school and dress wear.

The New Costumes, Wraps and Separate Skirts.

Our Big Cloak and Suit Showroom contains everything that is new in style and material, from the modest priced garment to the most exclusive imported novelty. Every line is now complete, and we believe a visit of inspection will prove both interesting and instructive. Just a hint.

TAILOR-MADE SUITS.

Our stock of the new Men Tailored Suits is especially noteworthy. It includes all the choice novelties in material and shape, as well as a number designed especially to our order. As none but the best makers are represented, every suit is perfect in workmanship and fit. The prices range from 9.98 to 75.00.

IN THE BIG COLORED DRESS GOODS SECTIONS

will be seen the productions of the best European makers in great variety, as well as the newest and choicest fabrics woven by American looms. It is an exhibit that is specially noteworthy, and one that every woman should see, for it includes all the popular moderate priced fabrics, as well as the most exclusive.

ENTERPRISINGLY GATHERED AND CONCISELY TOLD BY REPORTERS.

Newsy Notes of More or Less Importance Bunched Together for the Ready Reference of Press Readers

—Look at Weida's Easter display at his confectionery store on West Front street. It is a novel one.

—Trinity Commandery, No. 17, K. T., will meet Monday night and consider some important matters.

—The Primary Teachers' Union will go to Westfield next week to take part in an institute to be be held there.

—The debate between Morristown and the Plainfield Y. M. C. A., to be held at Association Hall Monday evening, will be free to all.

—The annual meeting of all the Sunday schools of Union county will be held in this city October 25th next in Trinity Reformed church.

—F. H Martin will speak and Prof. Charles Wold will render selections on musical glasses as the Y. M. C. A. meeting Sunday at 4:15 p. m.

—J. C. Storm, 318 Liberty street, near Fourth street, only handles the best of of all kinds of meat, has every thing in season. Prices are right.

—The members of the Young Women's Mission Band of Trinity Reformed church will be addressed at their next meeting by Mrs. H. V. S. Peeke, of East Millstone.

—Nothing is more gratifying to the palate than fine fruit. Alex. Lusardi 211 West Front street, has a choice stock of white grapes, grape fruit, oranges, nuts and bananas. You get a good article when you buy of him.

—At the meeting of John Hand Camp, No. 25, Sons of Veterans, next week Tuesday evening, final arrangements will be made to join the State Death Benefit Association. Plans will also be made to assist in the Memorial Day celebration.

—Rogers' seafood market presented an attractive sight yesterday. The place was handsomely decorated with choice flowers in honor of the arrival of the first North River shad, and the arrangement of the fish on the stand was an occasion for favorable comment from many customers.

MAYOR FOR METUCHEN.

Election on May 1 Will Probably be Vigorously Contested by the Aristocratic Element.

At last Metuchen is to have a Mayor and a full set of city officials. This scheme has been agitated for years, and the Middlesex County Board of Election has ordered an election for May 1, to choose a Mayor, six Councilmen, an Assessor, a Collector, three Commissioners of Appeal and one Justice. April 17 was fixed on as a date for a house to house registration canvass, to be revised on April 24. A board of four members—Clive B. Waite and David Powers, Democratic; Albert A. Green and Albert Acken, Republican—was appointed to take charge of the election.

It is probable that George Silzer, a Democratic lawyer, will head the ticket of the younger men and "Dickie" Wilson the club ticket.

THE EYLER TRUSTEES.

Governor Voorhees Has Not as Yet Named the New Board.

(Special to The Daily Press).

Trenton, April 14.—Governor Voorhees has not yet received replies to his letters tendering appointments, under the new law, to the old members of the board of trustees of the Girls' Industrial School, or, as it is now termed, the State Home for Girls.

The Governor states that two members of the old board had called upon him and signified a willingness to step aside, but that before taking any action he would wait until he had received answers from the other four.

The law calls for the appointment of four women trustees and abolishes the former board of woman managers.

Miss Atterbury and Miss Allison, both of this city, are pretty certain to be named, as is also Miss Eugene Emley, of Paterson. The fourth member will be either Mrs. Frank R. Bergen, of Elizabeth, or Mrs. Mary Colson, of Woodbury. All these ladies were members of the old board of lady managers.

MARTIN SAFE STILL CLOSED.

Heirs of Deceased Millionaire Wait on Locksmith's Progress for the Will.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, April 14th—Locksmith John Faulkner has succeeded in getting the outer door of the vault in the house of Mahlon Martin, the deceased millionaire, open. He still has two more to get through before the interior of the safe is reached.

The family expect to find nothing therein but the will, and are not sure whether that is in there or in the New York vault. They deny that any gold is contained in the safe, for the opening of which all are waiting with eagerness.

Senator Sewell Honored.

United States Senator William J. Sewell has been elected vice-president of the National Soldiers' Home for disabled volunteer soldiers.

LUDLOW QUITS CUBA

Retiring Military Governor Speaks Well of Natives.

PRAISE FOR HIS ADMINISTRATION.

The General Says Were He to Remain His Time Would Be Devoted Largely to Education of the Children.

HAVANA, April 14.—General Ludlow, the retiring military governor of the department of Havana, when interviewed yesterday called special attention to the addition made by Governor General Wood to the recent order continuing the police court by which the court is empowered to try libel and blackmailing cases and to treat them on the same footing as other misdemeanors. This addition was made in consequence of the numerous misstatements made by the local papers.

He said he had received many proofs of regard and good will from Cubans who regardless of what hostile newspapers might say had not hesitated to express their gratitude for his services. The municipalities of Regla and Guanabacoa have sent him testimonials of this character acknowledging the "permanent good accomplished during your term of office."

"If I were to remain in Cuba," said General Ludlow, "I would devote my time and resources principally to the education of the children and to the regulation of the municipal service, teaching municipal officers to perform their duties with due regard to their public responsibilities.

"The police force is an excellent body, which can be relied upon with absolute confidence when the leaders are well backed up. A good illustration of this was furnished during the general strike, which was suppressed by the police and without any help from the military.

"The Cubans are very desirous of figuring as a well ordered and civilized people, and I do not believe they will cause any trouble, as they realize that to do so would be fatal to the hopes of Cuba to become a sovereign and independent state. Possibly, however, there may be some trouble in the province of Santiago, where the people are wild, turbulent and somewhat different in racial origin and customs from the rest of the Cubans.

"The Cuban is timid. He does not lack judgment or common sense, but he does lack the moral courage to display these qualities.

"Excellent work is being done and has been done in Havana among the orphans. Not only have they been cared for, but they are being taught trades and otherwise prepared to earn their own livelihood. A great deal could be done for Cuba by assisting and teaching orphans throughout the island."

A New Presbyterian Creed.

CHICAGO, April 14.—The Interior, the Presbyterian organ, will contain a strong editorial Monday advocating the setting aside of the confession of faith and the adoption of a short evangelical creed. Dr. Gray, the editor, who has defended Dr. Hillis, repeats what he said when Dr. Hillis was first attacked, that three-fourths of the ministers and nine-tenths of the members of the Presbyterian church reject the clause in the confession which Hillis attacked and for which he was denounced by certain theologians and religious newspapers. Dr. Gray has no doubt that the church will take an early opportunity to vote on a new creed and that it will be carried by a large majority.

Fusion in Oregon.

PORTLAND, Or., April 14.—A complete fusion between the Democrats and Populists of Oregon was accomplished yesterday. The report of the conference committee was submitted to the state conventions, and both conventions adopted the report. The distribution of offices was as follows: Democrats, two presidential electors, justice of supreme court, two congressmen; Populists, two presidential electors and food and dairy commissioner. For justice of the supreme court W. M. Ramsay was nominated by the Democrats.

Deadlocked Convention Adjourns.

WELLINGTON, O., April 14.—The attempt to nominate a candidate for congress to succeed Representative W. S. Kerr was abandoned by the Republican convention of the Fourteenth district yesterday afternoon after 1,352 ballots had been taken. The convention met on Tuesday morning, and it was in session day and night, with short intermissions, for nearly four days.

Fifteen Injured by Explosion.

WHEELING, W. Va., April 14.—There were 15 men injured by the explosion at Riverside works, the most serious being R. K. Satterfield, terribly scalded; William Heil, Thomas Burke, George Spindler and Thomas Neil. The damage will exceed $25,000, and if the metal in the blast furnace chills there will be an additional loss of over $100,000.

Siam's Representative Arrives.

WASHINGTON, April 14.—Phya Prasiddhi, the new minister from Siam, accompanied by his clerk, has arrived here. He will present his credentials to the president at an early day. Minister Prasiddhi has had previous experience in Washington, having been an attache of the Siamese legation in 1887.

Wealth and the Governorship.

Mayor Seymour says in regard to the Governorship that a man of small means cannot stand the tax involved in a Gubernatorial campaign as a candidate and that "you want a rich man for such an ordeal."

This prompts the Newark Advertiser to say that an inspection of New Jersey's roll of Governors fails to sustain the Mayor's remark. Going back fifty years, it will be found that the only rich men elected in that time were Marcus L. Ward, Theodore Randolph and Leon Abbett. On the other hand, Rodman M. Price, George T. Werts, Robert S. Green, George C. Ludlow and Joel Parker were comparatively poor men, and so was John W. Griggs, when elected. Governor Voorhees is not rich. In a number of instances rich men were defeated by comparatively poor men. Thus Cornelius Walsh, George A. Halsey, Frederick A. Potts and John Kean, Jr., found that in an election by the people personal wealth was rather a handicap than otherwise.

The proud citizens of Dunellen are very much exercised over what they seem to think is a gross official slight of them on the part of the officials of Middlesex county. For instance, read this plaint in this week's Dunellen Call:

We notice that the Sheriff ignored the borough of Dunellen in his recent drawing of a Grand Jury, although drawing one of its citizens, but crediting him to Piscataway. Judge Strong also ignored our borough as such in granting licenses by crediting the license of W. H. Taylor to Piscataway.

Sheriff Barclay and Judge Strong will please note that Dunellen is still on the map, and her citizens must be recognized.

The excitement prevailing in New York over the suggestion that music be used to cure patients suffering from nervous and mental disorders seems to be excusable, in view of the fact that the kind and quality of the music has not been decided upon. Incidental to the discussion, Dr. Charles A. Dana says, "Music is attractive to idiots, degenerates and persons of abnormal temperaments. It may be soothing to a lunatic, but so is a horse-hairbrush."

Senator Clark, of Montana, states that he has determined not to resign, but to await the report of the committee on privileges and elections and the action of the Senate upon it. He has no hope, apparently, that he can prevent the Senate from turning him out under the unanimous report of the committee, since it only requires a majority vote.

The Philadelphia Times thinks that Governor Roosevelt's newly acquired fondness for quoting the West African proverb, "Speak softly and carry a large stick and you will go far," would seem to indicate that he has heard of something more attractive than the strenuous life.

—The demonstration of scientific cake baking is proving a great attraction to Plainfield ladies who are ambitious to enlarge their knowledge of cake baking, and a crowd of delighted pupils hover around the lectures from early morning until the close of day. 1,500 cakes have been made and sold within the last two weeks. All ladies are cordially invited to attend the daily sessions.

REDEEMING PROPERTY.

Several Owners Pay Taxes Under Martin Act and Thus Relieve the City's Lien.

Collector Martin has been kept busy for the last few days looking after the redemption of a number of properties sold under the Martin Act for delinquent taxes. According to the conditions of sale the former owners still have a chance to redeem the property upon paying the amount bid for it and the city's lien.

So far seven properties have been redeemed. They were owned by B. T. Barnes, on Norwood avenue; Elizabeth Mosher, on East Fourth street; Jennere Martoine, on Lake street; S. A. B. Green, on West Eighth street; Patrick Nugent, on West Third street; Charles McCann, on West Third street; the estate of Jeremiah Van-Winkle, on Central avenue.

"YOU LIE!" SAYS "BOB" DAVIS.

Democratic Leader's Answer to Report That He Will Betray Bryan.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Jersey City, April 14.—Democratic Leader Robert Davis was quite put out Thursday when he received a marked copy of the Burlington County Democrat with an article signed "S. M. B.," in which Collector Davis is attacked as an anti Bryan man. The article contains this:

"He (Davis) now proposes, as he can't prevent, the nomination of Mr. Bryan as the next Democratic candidate for President, that the Democrats shall go to Kansas City and nominate him for that high office, and then come home and prevent his election at the polls."

Davis Thursday sent this notice to the editor of the paper:

"Your correspondent's digestive organs must be sadly out of gear, because he is evidently afflicted with bad dreams, or he is suffering from over indulgence in applejack, and instead of seeing snakes as the usual D. T. victim does, his mind turns to things political. As a prophet, he is a flat failure, which will be demonstrated. The tersest contradiction I may use to S. M. B. is to quote the late Horace Greeley's famous phrase, 'You lie, you villain, you lie.'"

HUSBAND TELLS THE SECRET

Mrs. Buntling's Parents Hear of the Wedding but Do Not Forgive.

Nettie Cowperthwait, eighteen years old, daughter of Henry Cowperthwait, of Piscataway town, near New Brunswick, became acquainted with Frank L. Buntling, a conductor of the Brunswick Traction Company. The girl belongs to one of the oldest families in the county, and when her parents heard of the courtship they put a stern veto on it.

The girl, however, managed to meet her lover regularly upon his trips, and on March 23 they went to Somerville and were married by Rev. J. R. Bryan. Mrs. Buntling returned to her home and kept her secret. In violation of all traditions it was the husband who let the secret out. He told friends, who spoke of it and the rumor reached the ears of the bride's parents. They taxed her with the marriage and she admitted for the fortnight she had been Mrs. Buntling.

There was a time, and Mrs. Buntling left her parents' home and went to New Brunswick. She and her husband are living in that city at No. 21 Richmond street, waiting for the parental forgiveness. Mrs. Buntling says love is better that wealth.

New Pastor to Speak Tomorrow.

Rev. John MacMurray, who has just been appointed pastor of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church at the meeting of Conference, will preach his first sermon tomorrow morning. He will move into the parsonage on West Fourth street next week.

DOES COFFEE AGREE WITH YOU?

If not, drink Grain-O—made from pure grains. A lady writes: "The first time I made Grain-O I did not like it but after using it for one week nothing would induce me to go back to coffee." It nourishes and feeds the system. The children can drink it freely with great benefit. It is the strengthening substance of pure grains. Get a package today from your grocer, follow the directions in making it and you will have a delicious and healthful table beverage for old and young. 15c. and 25c.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, April 14—Louis Thomas, of this place, has accepted a permanent situation on the News in place of Walter Long, who has resigned to accept a clerical situation with the United Fruit Co., of New York city.

The usual Good Friday services were held last night a Holy Innocents'. On Easter Sunday the Holy communion will be celebrated at 8:30. In the afternoon special services will be held. The vested choir from St. Paul's church at Bound Brook will assist with the music.

The relations between Rev. A. I Martine and the Presbyterian church having been dissolved by the Presbytery the pastor will deliver his farewell sermon tomorrow morning. Special music will be the feature.

The funeral of Manning Randolph, who died suddenly on Wednesday, will be held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the Baptist church at South Plainfield.

Goldston Smalley, of Greenbrook, fell from his wagon in front of the Park Hotel yesterday afternoon and sustained slight injuries about the head.

A special meeting has been called for Tuesday afternoon, the 24th, to take action toward the erection of a new school building at South Plainfield.

Patrons of the Brunswick Traction Company were much inconvenienced yesterday because of the irregularity in the running of the cars on that line.

An Easter sale of cakes, pies and home-made candies will be held this evening at the Lincoln Schoolhouse. Proceeds for benefit of school.

W. B. Hayes has advertised to sell his celebrated trotting horse, "Ryland T," 2:07¼, next Thursday afternoon.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Seventh-Day Baptist church will meet at the parsonage on Wednesday, the 18th.

Special Easter services will held by the Sunday-school of the Methodist church tomorrow afternoon.

The teacher of the Lincoln school has been furnished a set of rules to govern the school.

Rev. S. K. Doolittle, the new Methodist pastor will preach tomorrow at both services.

At the morning service at the Baptist church tomorrow special music will be sung.

Thomas Thomas is home from Princeton College to spend the Easter vacation.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, April 14—The local hotel keepers whose licenses expire next month, are doing some quiet hustling among the residents to get the requisite number of signers to their applications. The work of the League in the past shows they mean business, and this keeps many, who have been in the habit of signing in the past, from attaching their names to the applications. It will need 84 freeholders to sign to give the required 12 signers to each of the seven applications which are expected to be made. The members of the League feel confident that some of them will be unable to get their 12 to make the application The League intends circulating petitions throughout the village and borough remonstrating against the licensing of any of the places, and feel quite confident of partial victory at least. The hotel keepers realize that it is a fight to death and are leaving no stone unturned to get signatures for their applications wherever they can.

Rev. C. C. Woodruff, of the Methodist church, will occupy his pulpit tomorrow after a two weeks' absence, part of which time was spent attending the Methodist conference. Mr Woodruff will no doubt be greeted by a large turnout of the members of the church and its friends who are pleased that he was reappointed by the conference pastor for another year.

Ernest Marsh, who has been confined to the house all winter with illness, is able to leave his bed for part of the day and come down stairs. Ernest's friends are glad to know he is improving and hope to see his face among them again soon.

There seems to be no prospects of a baseball team in town this season. The town has plenty of material to put a good team in the field if an interest could only be started among the players.

Rev. G. M. Shott will take for his text for Sunday morning, "Ressurection from the New Testament Standpoint." In the evening "Ressurection from the Old Testament Standpoint."

The Republican primary to elect delegates to the Congressional and State convention will be held in Excelsior Hall on Monday night at 8 o'clock.

Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., held an interesting meeting in their rooms last evening.

Another small encampment of Gypseys have struck their tents on Mountain avenue.

SOMERVILLE.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Somerville, April 14.—Special Easter services will be held in all the churches Sunday, and some good music may be expected. The choirs of the various churches have been practicing Easter music for some time, and all that is now needed for a successful day is good weather. At the First Reformed church the Sunday-school and congregation will have a joint service in the morning. There will be exercises by the Sunday school scholars and music by the choir and school. Pastor Cranmer will make an address. At the Second Reformed church there will be special music morning and evening. Mrs. Edith Norton Rensing will sing as a solo at the morning service, "Open the Gates of the Temple." At the evening service H. W. Rensing will sing a solo entitled, "Life Over Death," and Arthur Totten will sing the solo part of an anthem. At the Baptist church the choir will render special music in the morning, and a gospel praise service will be held at night, the theme being "Our Risen Rord." An elaborate musical programme will be rendered at St. John's. At 10:30 a. m. matins and holy Eucharist will be celebrated. Evensong will be held at 4 p. m. They have a large choir of boys and men at this church and the music is of a superior order. At the M. E church there will be special music by the choir in the morning, and a programme of music and recitations by the choir in the evening. Special services will held at the Fourth (German) Reformed and the Catholic church.

Judge Louis H. Schenck held his first court yesterday, when several criminals were brought before him on allegation. The three men charged with robbing Abram Lane's smoke house plead guilty and were sentenced as follows: James Sisser, $25 fine; John Fury $50 fine; Gat. Wyman, six months in county jail, less one day. They were all represented by counsel, who pleaded earnestly for leniency. Van Jackson, a colored youth, was arraigned for stealing a dozen or more bottles of soda water. He plead guilty to taking two and was given five days in the county jail. Paul Bower plead guilty to petty larceny, and was also given five days in the county jail. Judge Schenck presided with dignity and made a good impression.

Prof. H. E. Kiebs, superintendent of schools, received word Thursday that his father, who lives at Shenandoah, Pa., was very ill, and he immediately started for that place. When he arrived there he found his father dead. Mrs. Kiebs started yesterday afternoon for Shenandoah to attend the funeral.

The Washington Minstrel Co. from Jersey City gave a performance at Somerset Hall Thursday night, for the benefit of Washington Camp, P. O. S. of A. The hall was well filled and the performance was a very creditable one.

A. G. Anderson, president of the Board of Education, is gradually recovering from a serious attack of pneumonia.

Mrs. Docia Giles, of Brooklyn, is visiting her nieces, the Misses Vanderbeek, of West End avenue.

Six drunks were landed in the county jail yesterday. They were celebrating Good Friday.

Hon. John Ringleman who was stricken with paralysis sometime ago, is slowly improving.

Dr. S. C. Troutman is slightly improved from his paralytic stroke.

Senator Reed was in town yesterday.

WESTFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Westfield, April 14.—At the regular meeting of the Township Committee held last evening the following police officers were appointed: J. F. Knapp, C. P. Wilcox and Elmer Woodruff at $2.00 each a day, and Thomas O'Neil, James Harrison were appointed extras.

George A. Smith, of Plainfield, will sing two tenor solos at the Presbyterian church Sunday morning.

BUILDING A HOUSE BOAT.

Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Wheeler to Have a Unique Summer Home.

Mr. and Mrs. T. S. Wheeler, of 1023 Park avenue, will leave Monday and spend a few days in driving to Dover, N. Y., where they will stop for a week for trout fishing. Then they will go to Kingston, Ont., where Mr. Wheeler is building a house boat. It will have six large double staterooms, with hot and cold water in each, and owner's room will have a private bath. The dining room will seat fifteen people. Then comes the butler's pantry, store rooms and kitchen, also the servants' quarters. A novel feature of this boat will consist of a deck saloon 20x12 feet. The house, deck saloon and rails will be of mahogany. The boat will be moved by their steam yacht Naiad.

Goes to His New Charge.

Rev. William C. O'Donell, the former pastor of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, left today for Flemington where he will preach at the M. E. church there, his new charge. He will return to Plainfield next week to move his family and household goods to the parsonage at Flemington.

dances, receptions, teas and entertainments to be held during the week.

The golfers may find the week a trifle slow. The course of the Park Golf Club will probably be in condition toward the latter part of the week so that the players can go over it. The links of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club do not open until Saturday afternoon. Then a goodly number of experts are expected to be out for a little preliminary work on the greens.

In politics the week is to be a very busy one, for the Republicans at least. The primaries will be held Monday night, the Congressional district convention Tuesday afternoon at Belleville and the State convention Thursday at Trenton.

Beside the special Easter times in all the churches tomorrow, there are several other events of importance among the churches chronicled for Easter week. The Elizabeth Presbytery will hold a two days' session at Hope chapel Tuesday and Wednesday. The annual meeting of the Plainfield Local Union of Christian Endeavor Societies will be held at Trinity Reformed church Tuesday night.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucuous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Königsberg. Die ärztliche Approbation haben während des Prüfungsjahres 1898—99 aus Ostpreußen 33 Mediziner erhalten; ferner wurden aus Ostpreußen approbirt 3 Zahnärzte, 9 Thierärzte und 28 Apotheker.

Allenstein. Die hiesigen Maler- und Tischlerinnungen werden selbstständige Fachschulen am 1. Oktober d. J. eröffnen.

Groß-Dirschkeim. Die goldene Hochzeit feierten hier die Juppien'schen Eheleute.

Provinz Westpreußen.

Danzig. In der Nähe von Hela strandete ein Lachskutter. Es ertranken dabei die Hochseefischer Julius Pieykorn, Emil Klingbeil und Adolf Nöske vor den Augen der Ihrigen und Angesichts des Hafens.

Löbau. Sein 50jähriges Amtsjubiläum feierte hierorts der weit über die Grenzen seiner Wirksamkeit bekannte königliche Seminardirektor und Schulrath Göbel. Der 70jährige Jubilar gehört zu den wenigen Volkserziehern, die es in ihrem Leben vom gewöhnlichen Volksschullehrer bis zum Schulrath gebracht haben.

Rheinprovinz.

Köln. John A. Barnes, Konsul der Ver. Staaten in Köln, ist gestorben. Seine Leiche wurde nach den Ver. Staaten abgesandt.

Aachen. Vierundfünfzig der bedeutendsten hiesigen Tuchfabrikanten bildeten einen Arbeitgeberverband behufs gemeinsamen Vorgehens in den Arbeiterfragen.

Essen. Der Zimmermann Gruttke, der längere Zeit mit seiner Ehefrau in Streit lebte und wegen Bedrohung derselben in Haft gewesen war, lockte sie Abends in einen Neubau der Krupp'schen Kolonie Altenhof, schnitt ihr den Hals ab und erhängte sich.

Neuß. Kürzlich fand am hiesigen königlichen Gymnasium die Prüfung zweier vom Provinzialschulkollegium überwiesenen Abiturientinnen statt. Fräulein Lilli Wedell, die jüngste der bisherigen rheinischen Abiturientinnen, Tochter des verstorbenen Rabbiners Dr. A. Wedell in Düsseldorf, hat die Prüfung bestanden; sie will Medizin studiren.

Provinz Sachsen.

Mühlhausen. In einer Sandgrube vor den Thoren der Stadt, westlich von der Straße nach dem Dorfe Ammern, entdeckte der hiesige Lehrer Sellmann drei vorgeschichtliche Gräber. Es sind Flachgräber ohne Steinsetzung mit gestreckten Skeletten; die Länge der Gräber beträgt etwas über 2 Meter, die Tiefe 90 Centimeter. Außer den Skelettheilen wurden gefunden: eine Halskette, die jedoch in grünes Pulver zerfallen ist, eine Schmucknadel mit Spiralscheibe und eine Lanzenspitze. Man verlegt die Funde in die Zeit um 900 v. Chr.

Sangerhausen. Der diensthuende Eisenbahn-Stations-Assistent Lange wurde von der Maschine des Berliner Schnellzuges erfaßt, überfahren und getödtet.

Provinz Schlesien.

Glogau. Anhier ist Frau Auguste Fritsch geb. Strahl, Dame des Eisernen Kreuzes und der Rothen Kreuz-Medaille zweiter und dritter Klasse, im 81. Lebensjahre gestorben.

Königshütte. Die Salzfirma A. Goldstein wurde durch ihren Buchhalter Goldberger schwer geschädigt. Die Unterschlagungen, die der flüchtig gewordene Goldberger verübt hat, sollen mehr als 50,000 Mark betragen.

Landeshut. Die Inhaber der Landeshuter Leinen- und Gebild-Weberei J. B. Grünfeld, Ludwig und Stadtverordneter Heinrich Grünfeld, haben aus Anlaß ihres Wegzuges von Landeshut als Zeichen der Dankbarkeit für die Erfolge, welche ihr Unternehmen hier errungen hat, zur Errichtung eines Denkmals für Kaiser Wilhelm den Ersten mit Reliefdarstellungen Kaiser Friedrichs des Dritten, Bismarcks und Moltkes 6000 Mark als Grundstock zur Verfügung gestellt.

Marklissa. Der hiesige Riesengebirgsverein beabsichtigt, das Bismarck-Denkmal im Queisthal erst dann aufzustellen, wenn die für unsere Gegend so wichtige Frage wegen des Baues einer Thalsperre endgiltig erledigt ist. Für das Denkmal ist die Nähe des Eulensteines in Aussicht genommen.

Provinz Schleswig-Holstein.

Heiligenhafen. Der Maurermeister Boldt und der Maurer Steffens legten einen Brunnen an, der eine Tiefe von 45 Fuß hatte und bereits 10 Fuß hoch ausgemauert war. Beide stiegen in die Tiefe hinab. Als sie sich dort befanden, stürzte der Brunnen in Folge Rutschens der Sandmassen zusammen und begrub die Unglücklichen. Sie wurden als Leichen nach stundenlanger Arbeit hervorgezogen.

Preetz. Das hierselbst verstorbene Fräulein Friederike Sierck hat der Stadt 10,000 Mark mit der Bestimmung vermacht, daß die Zinsen des Kapitals alljährlich an Weihnachten an eine oder zwei bedürftige Personen oder Familien in Preetz vertheilt werden sollen.

DRESS ORNAMENTATION.

Various Uses of Trimmings Already in Favor.

Easter brings us no great novelties. The gowns which inaugurate the warm weather season are not new in cut, the chief originality depending upon the trimming, and the trimmings employed are not new, but are so varied that it is possible to gain many fresh effects with them.

Little ruffles of ribbon continue to be greatly employed. The ribbon is thin and is made with a heavier cord woven in, so that it may be drawn up into a ruche or ruffle. This is used as a decoration for the edges of plaitings and ruffles or describes designs upon the surface of taffeta, lace and mousseline de soie.

Small and complicated trimmings are more and more used, so fine that they would pass almost unnoticed in a general survey of the gown. Their attractiveness lies in their delicacy and fine workmanship rather than in their effectiveness. Stitched straps are much employed, applied to form motifs of various kinds. Sometimes they are of a color different from that of the gown and are wide, but the result is too striking to be pleasing.

The gown illustrated is of pearl gray satin cloth, and the skirt is mounted at the back in a hollow plait. Around the foot is a deep embroidery of pearl gray silk, above which are stitched straps of cloth fastened by a pearl button where they cross. The fitted bodice is closed in front by pearl buttons, stitched straps simulating a bolero and attaching themselves to the revers by pearl buttons. The revers are of white cloth embroidered with cream silk, the collar and plaited plastron of white satin. The close sleeves are trimmed with crossed stitched straps and buttons, like the skirt. The toque of pale gray bengaline is draped and is trimmed with two mottled golden brown feathers. JUDIC CHOLLET.

WEDDING GOWNS.

Materials Used For the Fashionable Bride's Toilet.

Wedding gowns are most elegant when simple in style, although they may be of the richest possible material—indeed, that is considered desirable even for a young bride—where it can be afforded. Fortunately, dead white is no longer inflexibly prescribed. Cream, ivory and pearl white are equally well worn by brides, so it is possible to suit the individual complexion. Wedding gowns are notoriously unbecoming, and every resource for mitigating the unfavorable effect is valuable.

Where a good quality of satin cannot be afforded it is best not to have satin at all, but to choose crepe de chine, which is far less expensive and really more becoming.

A picture is given of an evening gown of black lace over colored satin. The skirt is plaited, the bodice plain at the back and draped in front. A chou of black velvet is fastened at the side of the decolletage by a buckle of brilliants, and the velvet belt is also fastened by a bow and buckle, long ends of the ribbon falling upon the skirt. Piquets of flowers are placed across the shoulders, and a black velvet bow is worn in the hair.

ELECTRICITY ON SHIPS.

Modern Scientists Have Made Remarkable Use of the Power as an Aid in Naval Warfare.

The remarkable achievements of electricity on the recently completed battleships Kearsarge and Kentucky mark the highest level of electrical engineering in the world.

For years there has been a battle between mechanical engineers and electrical engineers as to the proper use and functions of electricity on shipboard. The subject has been fought up and down the engineering societies, and in the magazines, discussion has followed discussion, argument has been heaped upon argument, but no definite results were achieved until the actual electrical equipment was placed in these great battleships.

European as well as American engineers, have watched the contest with the deepest interest. If the views of the electricians are correct, electricity will very largely transform naval warfare and the management of warships. It is a fight between steam and electricity, and electricity now has the chance of winning out.

The following are some of the things that electricity can do:

For instance, in the time of battle these ships can be brilliantly lighted. They operate four powerful searchlights. It would be impossible to describe to a non-expert all the appliances and interior appliances upon these vessels for use of electricity and the doing of work in the communication of orders.

The apparatus for night signaling is complete. There are battle and range order indicators. There are electric propelling and steering engine telegraphs. There are revolution and helm angle indicators, the apportionment of which is better understood by naval officers. There are portable diving lanterns.

The two immense turrets, which hold 8-inch and 13-inch guns, are supplied with ammunition hoisted by electrical hoists. The rammers of these guns are operated by electricity. Special ventilation is provided to blow out gases from the bore of these guns.

Further than all this, these vessels are provided with ten endless chain ammunition hoists operated by electricity—eight of them supplying the 5-inch broad shell guns and two supplying the 6-pounder and 1-pounder guns on the upper deck.

The 6-pounder guns in the after cabin are supplied by two-winch type of hoist, electrically operated. There are also six deck winches so operated, and there are four boat cranes worked by electricity—the boats being hoisted and lowered and the cranes rotated by that power.

The ship is ventilated throughout by electricity (including the engine rooms, but excluding the fire rooms) by thirteen ventilating fans of which ten supply and three exhaust air for the various water-tank compartments. The Edison three-wire system is used.

There are two 50-horse power electric motors located below the floor of the 13-inch turrets. Each turret has one independent generator for the supply of turning the motors. The various powerful winches will lift over 2,200 pounds at a speed of 300 feet per minute.

Every part of this powerful but extremely delicate machinery is most efficient in all the experiments made with it, and shows that it can be relied on both in peace and in battle.

This is a great victory for the electrician, and it points to the wider use of electrical appliances on board of ship.—Philadelphia Press.

MINERS AND MORPHINE.

A Necessary Custom Which Is Not Pleasant for Tenderfeet to Contemplate.

"When I was in the northwest during last October," said a gentleman with some money invested in mines, "I employed a prospector to go out into the mountains looking for properties which had been recommended to me. One day he was to have gone from our camp over into a very rough and rocky district, but when evening came he reported that he hadn't made the trip.

"'Why not?' I inquired.

"'Because I didn't have my morphine with me,' he responded, in a very matter of fact manner.

"'Morphine?' said I in astonishment, 'what has that got to do with it? You are not a morphine fiend, are you?'

"'Not as much of a one as you are a tenderfoot,' he laughed, and proceeded to inform me that every prospector who knew his business always carried with him enough morphine to kill a man easily, and that he did so in order to end himself quickly in case of an accident which would disable him far away from assistance. There were many instances of prospectors falling over cliffs and crippling themselves, or breaking a leg in a hole among the rocks, or rendering themselves helpless in some other way, and death was sure to follow by starvation or freezing or in some sections by being devoured by wolves or other wild animals. In order to prevent such a horrible death as any of these, the prospector simplified matters by always carrying a little packet of morphine, which not only quieted the pain of the hurt he had sustained, but put him to sleep pleasantly to wake no more on earth. It struck me at first as uncanny, not to say wicked, but I got over that feeling after a narrow escape or two, and I carried my little tin box just like a veteran would."—Washington Star.

FACTS AND FANCIES FOR LADS AND LASSIES.

ARE FIERCE FIGHTERS.

When Thoroughly Aroused by Jealousy Camels Engage in Bloody and Remarkable Combats.

Camels have such a meek and saddened look that we never think of them as being quarrelsome, but it seems that there are occasions when their temper is aroused. The following description of a camel fight is supplied by an eye-witness:

"I have seen strange combats between animals in many lands, but none more remarkable than one I chanced to light upon in the holy city of Kairwan, in Tunisia. If the Arabs were like the Spaniards and South Americans they would certainly go in for camel-fighting as a regular sport. Even cock-fighting is not an exhibition of greater pugnacity, and the trial of strength between camels is naturally on a far larger scale. The Arabs, however, do not approve of camel-fighting; firstly, because they are not a cruel race, and secondly, because the event invariably means the loss of one valuable animal—if not two. Once two camels have begun to fight in real earnest it is impossible to part them before one at least has been killed. The cause is generally jealousy. But though the Arabs do not approve of the fight, the sight is not one to be missed, and they quickly gather in great crowds. The camels begin by lowering their long necks, and bending down like bulls about to rush. Their object is both to bite and to charge. A camel's bite is usually made only with his lips, but these are of such exceeding strength that they can inflict very serious wounds. The important point in a camel-fight is for one beast to get his antagonist down, either by tripping him, breaking his legs, or by some other judicious application of science. This done, the next thing is to pummel him to death with the cushion-like feet, which are like the hardest boxing-gloves ever tolerated in a prize-fight.—Golden Days.

SERVES AS A CLOCK.

Kansas Farmer Has a Bantam Rooster That Is as Reliable as Any Timepiece.

Dennis Keefe, who lives three miles southeast of Newton, Kan., has a three-year-old bantam rooster which, in one direction at least, shows more than human intelligence. Every day, exactly at 12:30 o'clock, it comes in from the fields, leaving the other chickens behind it, and pecks on the kitchen door until it is admitted, repeating the performance at six o'clock every evening. It never fails to be on time and is quite as accurate as the kitchen clock. In fact, Mr. Keefe says he could get along fairly well without any timepiece simply by watching the bantam. It was the only chick hatched out of a setting by a hen of ordinary size, which promptly deserted its insignificant offspring. Mr. Keefe then took the forlorn chick into the house and raised it by hand, feeding it daily at 12:30 and 6 o'clock. Once, after it had grown up and was running about the yard, he forgot to feed it. It promptly let its wants be known by pecking on the kitchen door. Since then it has never failed to make its calls twice a day, and always at exactly the same hour.

Heroic Act of a Miner.

A mine on Clear creek, Utah, caught fire and the men rushed out, all but one, who was working deep in the mine beyond where the fire was raging. The foreman called for volunteers to go into the mine to rescue the man, and several attempts were made, but the men were driven back by the flames, and the cry of "Powder!" Finally a young man named Franklin said: "I will go." He fought his way through smoke and flame and found the miner, working away all unconscious of his peril. The return journey was fully as dangerous, but the two men succeeded in getting out of the mine, although badly scorched. Ten minutes more of lost time and the miner could not have escaped alive.

THE ANIMATED DUMMY.

An Entertainment for Young People That Will Puzzle and Delight Any Audience.

I received a letter the other day which stated that the writer intended entertaining a small company by the exercise of his favorite pastime—ventriloquism.

Of course I went. People are always interested in ventriloquism, and, be sides knowing the host had never before laid claim to the art, I was curious as to his first attempt.

A good-sized audience had collected, and the auditors were seated in chairs before a small platform. Our host presently stepped forward, and after a few practical remarks regarding his art, proceeded to give illustrations by talking with some one who was apparently in the ceiling. I thought the effect marvelously good. The next feature of the entertainment was a dummy brought in by two attendants and propped up in a chair placed on the platform. It was an outrageous looking affair, with straws sticking out at all the joints.

My friend made a few remarks of apology for the dummy (which I certainly believed it needed), stating that, after all, he was merely interested in his work as an art, and had had no opportunity to procure the regulation figures. He then proceeded to make the figure recite verses, crack jokes and sing songs in the most approved manner of a professional. I was utterly bewildered, until the explanation came where I had least looked for it—our dummy, ungainly in form and bulging with straw, suddenly rose and walked from the platform.

The effect was tremendous; for a moment it seemed as though we, in the audience, could not believe it—that the dummy had been a real live boy all the while, and not one of us had guessed it. Then we rose in a body and, amid a storm of applause, surrounded the clever ventriloquist and his accomplice.

I went into the dressing-room after it was all over and helped take the dummy apart; so I can give a pretty accurate account of how he was made up. In the first place, the boy was enveloped in a suit of clothes very much too large for him, and the extra space was filled in with straw. The ends of the trousers and of the arms were gathered together and held with twine. A large pair of shoes fastened at different angles made feet which seemed utterly lifeless, and gloves stuffed with cotton took the place of hands.

A false face cleverly constructed covered the face, and a red handkerchief and large derby completed the deception.

The false face was made from a piece of cardboard about eight inches long and seven inches wide, bent into a semicircle. The eyes, nose and mouth were painted in with ink. If desired, the jaw could be easily made to work up and down. In this case, the lower part of the face must be covered with some dark material, so that it will not show when the mouth opens.

It is not difficult to acquire a small amount of skill in disguising the voice, and, if the attention of the audience is attracted in a certain direction, it is very ready to believe the sound comes from that direction. A boy lying down in the room overhead is a sure means of making a voice come from that direction.

The success of the dummy will be assured if it is properly brought in. The boy must remain perfectly limp, and handle as little as possible like a living thing.—Boston Globe.

Weight of the Human Brain.

The weight of the brain bears little or no relation to the ability of its possessor. The brains of two idiots weighed, respectively, 57.7 and 59.9 ounces, while that of Gambetta weighed less than that of the average boy of seven. A weak-minded man had a brain weighing 70.5, while a dwarfed Indian squaw possessed one of 73.6 ounces.

SOME LAZY ANIMALS.

Much-Abused Sloth Is a Marvel of Industry Compared to Some Birds and Insects.

A baser libel was never penned than that amazing bit of natural history which described the sloth as the laziest animal known. Like the snail, the poor sloth was never cut out for anything better. Even when his worst enemy, the keen-toothed jaguar, is hounding him through the green arches of the tropical forest, the wretched sloth cannot add another yard an hour to his speed.

The first duty of any self-respecting bird is surely to build a nest in which to raise its young. Yet look at the number which shirk this necessary proceeding. The kestrel never dreams of such exertion. The last year's home of a magpie suits Mr. and Mrs. Kestrel to perfection.

The sparrow hawk, too, finds something of the same sort very handy. The house where Mrs. Carrion Crow brought up her last year's brood does well to go on with. Even the lump of rough odds and ends which has once done duty as a squirrel's nest is not to be despised.

The cuckoo not only presumes on the kindness of other birds to lay her egg in their nests, but her young, when hatched, cruelly evicts its foster brothers and sisters to perish miserably on the cold earth below.

The cheeky sparrow, too, has many of the bad habits of the habitual tramp. His nest, when he makes one, is of the most untidy description, and a house marten's neat, mud-built abode is very much to his taste if he can seize it during the absence of its proper owner.

Some creatures are much too lazy to feed themselves. There is a large warrior ant the ancestors of which, many generations ago, captured smaller ants as slaves. In the course of ages the fighting ants have become so helpless and incapable that if their slaves do not attend them they simply perish, not knowing how or where to procure the necessary food.

To such an extent, indeed, has this degeneration proceeded, that the very structure of the Amazon ant, as it is called, has slowly altered, till its mandibles have lost their teeth and are become mere nippers — deadly weapons indeed, but useless except for purposes of war.

Not only do their slaves feed them, but also carry them on their backs from place to place.

The fishhawk is another creature that prefers its hard work done for it. It hovers over the gulls as they are fishing, spots one rising with a plump mackerel in its claws, and swoops down like a thunderbolt. The poor gull, scared out of its senses, drops its feast, which the pirate seizes ere it reaches the water, and devours it.

The remora, or sucking fish, thinks nothing of a thousand-mile trip fastened tight on the back of a shark or the hull of a ship, and when it lets go never dreams of offering a fare, or even so much as a thank you.

Another small fish with a big Latin name travels in the mouth of the Brazilian catfish.

The little pea crab generally foists himself upon the mussel or oyster, and lives in comfort on the spoils of his unwilling host. The hermit crab seems to have lost the power of forming for himself a shell of any kind; so he hides his jelly-like form in the recesses of the first old shell he may come across.—Stray Stories.

MORPHINE BEAT THE BOX.

How a Young Gambler Was Persuaded to Quit While a Winner at Cards.

"I see gambling is running wide open in Colorado again," said Walter Harris, a cattleman of Topeka, to a reporter for the Republican. "I don't suppose, though, it is as wide open now as it was in the late '80s. I was in Manitou every summer at that time, and the high games that used to run at some of the clubs would be an eye-opener to the gamblers of the present day. Cattlemen were making more money then, as were the miners, and they used to meet in Manitou and try for each other's pocketbooks, with the result that the professional gambler got the money.

"I remember how one young fellow was made to quit a winner against his will. His name was Rich. He was a nephew of one of the big reaper men, and his folks kept him supplied with money, a regular allowance. He had been gambling every cent of it, letting bills pile up for hotel and livery and everything else. His people sent word that they wouldn't send any more money, and said if he got into trouble he'd have to get out himself. His creditors were just about ready to jump onto him when one night he made a big winning. He was playing faro in the club that's torn down now. It used to stand over from the depot, and was the place for high play.

"I suppose he had $4,000 or $5,000 in front of him when his friends began trying to persuade him to quit. He was just like all the rest of them, going to break the bank, and all that sort of thing, and he wouldn't quit.

"It was a red-hot night for Manitou, and with the excitement and all Rich had pulled off his coat and rolled up his sleeves. There was a doctor among his friends, and though he had not said anything to Rich, I suppose he felt a responsibility, because the young fellow had come out here for his health, and had been referred to the Manitou doctor by the doctor he had at home.

"I was watching the play, though I didn't know any of the people. I saw the doctor turn his back to the crowd for a minute, and fiddle with something he had taken out of his pocket. Then he walked over to Rich and put his hand on his bare arm. 'You need a sedative,' he said. Quick as a flash he took the hypodermic syringe he had in his hand and fired a charge into Rich's arm.

"Rich said: 'Ouch!' and grabbed at the place where he had been pricked, but the deal was going on and he turned to that again. Before half the cards were out his head settled on the table, he commenced to draw good long breaths, and was asleep.

"The doctor took his chips, cashed them in, then he took and wrote a receipt for the money, and gave it to another friend of Rich's to keep. Then he took Rich, loaded him into a carriage, took him up to his office, and watched over him until he came around, the next day. Rich paid his bills, but he did no more gambling in Manitou. They wouldn't let him play again."—Denver Republican.

HIS IDEAL WOMAN.

Not So Much of an Angel as a Sympathetic, All-Divining, All-Forgiving Human.

Man has a number of fixed, old-fashioned notions about the ideal woman which are quite apart from the question of complexion and dress.

The sober truth is that while he may seek diversion with the rather showy, flippant type of girl, and is often caught by mere glitter, they have an ideal far, far above this cheap type which is imperishable. A man does not picture a completely limp and characterless creature as his soul's ideal, however "sweet." Yet the woman as she appears in his dreams is not too clever. It is a pleasure to him to be a little superior to his mate—to be "looked up to"—and as the true woman desires to "look up," it is clear that nature's arrangements in these matters are not without design. The most charming woman of all is she who has the consummate wit to seem to "look up" when really she stands on a level with the man who loves her, or per chance a little above him.

One thing imperatively demanded in the make-up of the ideal woman is sympathy—that all-divining, all-forgiving quality which makes the whole world akin. Sympathy is one of the prime factors of charm. So is humor. A man is fearfully lonesome when his wife cannot see his jokes. She could hardly offer him a more deadly affront than to laugh at the wrong place at one of his pet stories. The ideal woman is religious—has the wise, sweet, old-fashioned notions about right and wrong. A man is quite capable of making merry over his wife's scruples of conscience, but I think he would be rather disappointed if she had no scruples—if in his worldly way she was guided chiefly by experience. He may not say many prayers himself, but he likes to know that his children pray at their mother's knee. Perhaps he sometimes reflects that the nightly petition from innocent lips: "God bless father," may not be quite empty of meaning.—Carrie E. Garrett, in Woman's Home Companion.

Sanitarily Clean.

To keep a house in a perfect sanitary condition does not mean that you must be sweeping, dusting and scrubbing all the time. Let the air and sunshine into every part of the house; do not allow any decaying matter to accumulate in the cellar; wash and dry all cleaning cloths, tubs, pails, etc., as soon as you have finished using them. It is not so much the DEATH OF MRS. BEERS.

Little Daughter is Critically Ill With Same Disease That Killed the Mother.

Mrs. Adele Daniel Beers, wife of Albert B. Beers, of 734 Watchung avenue, died early this morning at her home after a several weeks' illness with pneumonia. Her little daughter is still critically ill with the same dread disease and, on that account, the funeral will be private. Both Mrs. Beers and her daughter were taken ill several weeks ago and grew steadily worse. It is hoped that the life of the child can be saved.

Mrs. Beers was the daughter of Edwin M. and Caroline M. Daniel, of West Eighth street. She was born in this city and has spent most of her life here. Twelve years ago she married Mr. Beers, who is engaged in the rubber goods business in New York. She has been a woman of domestic habits and her home was always a very happy one. She was quite modest and unassuming in her ways, but greatly beloved by all who knew her well. She was a member of the Rasores Club.

She leaves a husband and three children. Her death is a particularly sorrowful one on account of the serious illness of her daughter with the same disease that caused the death of the mother.

Miss Mae Eoff, of Crescent avenue, left for Washington today, where she will spend her Easter vacation.

BRIDE'S LONG JOURNEY.

MISS VERMEULE TO MEET PROSPECTIVE HUSBAND IN SALT LAKE CITY.

He is Lieutenant Pearson, U. S. A., and Theirs is a Love Match of Many Years.

Miss Marguerite Vermeule, daughter of Mrs. Sarah Vermeule, of Watchung avenue, will leave Plainfield next week Thursday for Salt Lake City, where she will meet Lieut. Samuel Pearson, U. S. A., to whom she will be married, after which they will proceed to Fort Duchesne, Utah, where Mr. Pearson is stationed.

It was originally planned that they should be married next June, but Lieut. Pearson was governed by army rules, and the time was changed accordingly. He is not able to get a sufficient amount of time off to come to Plainfield as he would like, hence the plan of meeting his bride part way. Mr. Pearson is a native of Pasedena, Cal., and came to Plainfield ten years ago when he entered Harned Academy. He remained there five years, and then took up the profession of civil engineer. He was associated with H. C. VanEmburgh, and did work in various New York state towns and cities. This business he followed for a few years, but finally decided to enter the Regular Army. He went to Sing Sing and enlisted in Company I, 1st Regiment, U. S. A., as a private, and travelled considerably through the west. When the Spanish-American War broke out he went to Cuba with his regiment, and had a very lively experience. He performed great service and won promotion to sergent after the fighting at SanJuan. Last October he was again promoted to lieutenant, and was stationed at Fort Duchesne, Utah, a military post.

Miss Vermeule met her future husband ten years ago and since then the friendship has ripened into a strong love for each other. She is a most estimable young woman, active in the work at the First Presbyterian church, and very popular in a large circle of friends. She will make the journey to Salt Lake City alone.

JERSEY DELEGATES WILL BE FOR BRYAN.

Meeting of Democratic State Committee Saturday Indicates Such an Outcome.

LITTLE THOUGHT OF DEWEY.

STATE CONVENTION WILL BE HELD IN TRENTON, MAY 31ST.

One Delegate Will be Allowed for Each 200 Democratic Votes Cast in the Gubernatorial Election Two Years Ago.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Newark, April 16—The Democratic State committee met at the Jeffersonian Club at noon Saturday, and fixed Thursday, May 31, for the convention at which delegates-at-large will be chosen for the National convention at Kansas City. The convention will be in Taylor's Opera House, Trenton.

The meeting was presided over by Chairman William B. Gourley, of Passaic county, and Secretary William K. Davereux recorded the proceedings.

The following members were present: William C. Heppenheimer, of Hudson; William B. Paugh, of Bergen; Eckert P. Budd, of Burlington; Harry B. Paul, of Camden; Colonel E. L. Price, of Essex; James W. Lanning, of Mercer; Oliver Kelly, of Middlesex; Charles L. Rogers, of Ocean; William J. Keys, of Somerset, and National Committeeman Philip D. Baker, of Cumberland.

It was decided that the delegates to the State convention will be elected on the same basis that prevailed in the last Gubernatorial convention. Each election district will be entitled to at least one delegate, and the general representation will be on the basis of one delegate for each 200 votes, and one additional for a majority fraction in excess thereof. The committee will meet again to prepare a declaration of principles the evening preceding the convention.

While no expression was made during the session of the committee as to the preferences of the members on the question of a candidate for President, it was the consensus of opinion, expressed before and after the meeting, that the New Jersey delegation to the National convention will be for William Jennings Bryan. A comparison of the sentiment existing in the various sections of the State, as reported by the committeemen, showed that the candidacy of Admiral Dewey has not taken a popular hold, and that the prevailing preference is undoubtedly for Bryan.

A talk with several members of the committee resulted in the opinion that the State convention will probably select as delegates-at-large to Kansas City, William B. Gourley, of Passaic; Johnston Cornish, of Warren; Colonel E. L. Price, of Essex, and Robert Davis, of Hudson.

The primary elections for delegates to the State convention and to the Congressional convention will be held at the will of the local organizations.

William C. Hendee, committeeman from Cumberland county, resigned and his place was filled by the appointment of Edward E. Grosscup.

FINGERHUTHS HAVE MOVED

There is Hope That the Wife Will be Relieved of Paying Full Penalty of Her Sentence.

Theodore Fingerhuth and his sons have finally moved from the Allen farm, near Somerset Park, where Peter Roehricht was shot and killed. They will now take up their home on a farm near Berkeley Heights, belonging to Robert Murphy. Mrs. Fingerhuth, who is now serving a term in the county jail at Somerville for the killing of Mr. Roehrict, may be released shortly. She was sentenced to jail for six months and to pay a fine of $500.

According to the law she can be released for good behavior when three-quarters of the time has been served. She has now been in jail for four and a-half months. The matter will be brought to the attention of the court at the next session and an effort will be made to have the fine remitted and Mrs. Fingerhuth released.

The Y. M. C. A. Debate.

The debate in Y. M. C. A. Hall tonight at 8 o'clock between Plainfield and Morristown will be free to men and women. There will be three judges, one representing Morriston, one Plainfield and one neutral. Counsellor S. S. Swackhamer will act as the latter, and the local association will be represented by I. N. Travell. The name of the Morristown man is not known.

FAMILY ROUTED OUT BY A FIERCE FIRE.

Charles J. Noel's Home Totally Destroyed at a Late Hour Last Night.

THE LOSS WILL BE $4,000.

A DEFECTIVE FLUE SUPPOSED TO BE THE CAUSE.

Members of Household Awoke Just in Time to Escape in Their Night Clothes—House Doomed When Firemen Arrived.

The home of Charles J. Noel, 229 Netherwood avenue, was totally destroyed by fire late last night, the family fleeing in their night clothing just in time to escape with their lives. The conflagration will result in a loss of $4,000 to Mr. Noel, most of which is covered by insurance. A defective flue is supposed to be the cause.

Mr. Noel, his wife, his mother and two young children were fast asleep when the fire started. They were awakened by a loud crash. An explosion of the superheated smoke, the "back draft," between the beams, blew down the ceiling to the dining room. They found the house full of smoke and the roar of the flames was plainly audible. Snatching a few articles of clothing, the frightened family fled out into the night.

The children were sent to give the alarm while Mr. Noel rushed into the house again and managed to save a few things from the lower floor before the flames drove him back. Charles P. Adams, of 249 Jackson avenue, sent in an alarm from box 19 at 11:09 o'clock. At that time the upper part of the house was a mass of flames.

It was a long run for the firemen and they had to lay in 1,650 feet of hose to reach the house. The steamer was necessary to get any pressure. By that time the walls fell in and the house was a wreck.

The house was a total loss and will reach $3,500, which is nearly all covered by insurance. The loss to the contents will reach $500, which is also covered by insurance. Mr. Noel owned both house and contents.

KILLED BY DYNAMITE.

Top of Head and One Leg Blown Off of an Italian at C. & C. Chemical Works in Bound Brook.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Bound Brook, April 16—By an explosion of a can of dynamite in a storehouse of the C. & C. Chemical Company at Bound Brook this morning an Italian workman was almost instantly killed. The Italian was in the storehouse alone at the time, and the exact cause of the disaster cannot be learned. The dead man was horribly mutilated, the top of his head being blown off and the right leg torn from the body. The building was a small frame one and was completely wrecked. No one else was hurt.

Donations for Rummage Sale.

The store in which the Rummage Sale is to be held, in the Jackson building, Madison avenue, near Front street, will be open for the reception of articles Friday morning, April 20th Those who can send their gifts are requested to do so on that date or as soon after as possible. Arrangements have been made for collecting between the 20th and 26th the donations of those who cannot conveniently send them. The names and addresses of those whose goods are to be called for should be sent not later than Wednesday, April 18th, to Miss Leonard, 111 East Ninth street. For this sale articles of every kind will be acceptable, for everything can be utilized, even if somewhat broken or torn.

Did Not Report the Fire.

The fire department was called to the Crescent Rink building, Watchung avenue, Saturday evening at 6 o'clock by telephone. There was smoke but no fire apparent. After a long hunt, the firemen found the Italian proprietor of the barber shop in the building putting out a little blaze that had started in his back room from a stove. He had seen the firemen and the apparatus but he had not reported the fire. The firemen had the flames extinguished in short order.

GLAD CAROLS SUNG TO WELCOME EASTER.

Elaborate Services Were Carried Out in the Local Churches Yesterday.

ALL LARGE CONGREGATIONS

SUNDAY-SCHOOLS TOOK A PROMINENT PART IN PROGRAMMES.

Music in the First Presbyterian Church Was Especially Good—Edifices Made Beautiful With Lavish Display of Beautiful Flowers.

An almost tropical sun, a temperate wind and a sky only dotted by fleecy white clouds were the elements which made yesterday the most delightful and joyous Easter Day which has been known in a long time. The influence of such a day could not be otherwise than far reaching, and everywhere, even in the air it seemed, could be felt the gladness and joyousness which marks the season of the anniversary of the resurrection of Christ and His triumph over death. Young and old, rich and poor all joined together in one grand strain of rejoicing and praise which could be heard everywhere, in the most humble home and in the most stately mansion.

As usual the day was marked by special Easter services in the churches in and about the city. In all of them, from the smaller ones with very small choirs, in some cases no choir at all, to the larger ones, with large chorus choirs, were rended musical programmes. The preparations for the larger and heavier services have extended over several weeks and an immense amount of labor has been required to put them into presentable shape. As a whole they were very creditably executed, although in some there were shortcomings, but as a general rule the special music was well rendered, and it was, in most instances, of a more elaborate nature than anything before attempted and it was these heavier services, with an apparent lack of talent, which caused the shortcomings. In all of the churches the choirs had been augmented to a considerable extent, while at the Presbyterian a quartette of soloists from outside the city assisted the choir. A very elaborate musical service was rendered at the First Presbyterian church. Prof. Miller, the organist and choirmaster, tendered his resignation some time ago to take effect May 1st. Before severing his connection with the church it was his intention to present the "Messiah." By request of a number of his congregation, however, this idea was given up and Prof. Miller threw all his energies and resources into the work of preparing one of the heaviest musical services ever given in a church in this city, and he succeeded admirably, for seldom has a better service been heard than that which was rendered under his direction yesterday.

The children figured largely in the day's special services, some in the morning, some in the afternoon and some in the evening, but in nearly all the churches at one time or another.

The services were largely attended, the fine weather bringing out large numbers of persons not regular churchgoers, and these, with the regular congregations of the churches, filled many of the edifices to overflowing.

The services of the various churches in detail, with a description of the decorations, follow:

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

The Easter services at the First Baptist church yesterday morning and evening were unusually attractive and were attended by a large number of people. The decorations were confined entirely to the pulpit platform and organ, consisted of flowers, palms and smilax.

The morning service opened with a selection for violincello and organ, by Felix and Howard Case. The offertory, "The King of Glory," was rendered by Miss Harris, soprano soloist. During the service there were solos by Mrs. Ward, contralto; Wm. Holmes, baritone, and George Smith, tenor. An appropriate sermon was delivered by the pastor, Dr. Yerkes.

The afternoon service was an elaborate one in which the home Sunday-school, together with the schools from the East Third Street Mission and Mt. Olive Baptist church, united. The choir was assisted by Mrs. B. T. Barnes, piano; Felix Bouche, 'cello, and Howard Case, organist. The exercises opened with a selection by the trio, and was followed by an Easter carol, "Welcome, Happy Morning," by the schools. The choir rendered an anthem "I am He that Liveth," which was followed with a carol "Hail, Thou Glorious Easter Morning," by the schools. The intermediate department sang "The Glad Easter Message," and the primary department rendered "The Sunbeam Song." A delightful recitation, "The Flower's Greeting," was given by Russell Miller. Mrs. Ward sang a contralto solo, after which there was a recitation by girls from the intermediate department. The offertory was a selection by the instrumental trio. The Easter Sunday-school lesson was taught by Mrs. Alonzo Pettit, of Elizabeth. After another carol by the schools, there was a selection "Andante," by the trio, and following the benediction there was an organ-postlude. The musical programme was in charge of Charles W. McCutchen.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH.

Easter was observed at the Congregational church with special services yesterday morning and afternoon. At the morning service Rev. C. L. Goodrich preached an appropriate sermon. There were two selections by an instrumental trio, Mrs. B. T. Barnes, organ; Mrs. M. E. Dwight, piano; and P. Ludwig Conde, violin. The selections, were "Adazio" by Fesca and a postlude by Haydn. A special quartette, composed of Miss Bertha V. Willis, Miss Julia Belknap, M. C. VanArsdale and Stacy Reynolds, sang Te Deum in D, by Shelley, and "This is the Day," by Holden. Miss Willis also sang the soprano solo "Easter Dawn," with violin obligato by Mr. Conde. In the afternoon, the Sunday-school held special exercises, the primary department taking part. Miss Addie Parker Jackson ready a story "The Garden of The Lord," and P. Ludwig Conde gave two violin solos. The decorations consisted chiefly of Easter lilies which were banked around the pulpit.

CRESCENT ANENUE CHURCH.

The Easter services in the Crescent Avenue Presbyterian church yesterday were marked by special Easter anthems sung by the regular quartette choir. The pastor, Rev. Dr. W. R. Richards, preached an Easter sermon in the morning. The Sunday school had no special exercises. The floral decorations were of particular beauty. The chancel arch was solidly banked with Easter lilies, the blossoms arranged in the form of a cross on a background of green.

FIRST M. E. CHURCH.

The musical programme at the First M. E. church, as published in the Daily Press, was followed. The Sunday-school took part in the morning service. The regular choir was augmented by several voices. Raymond A. McGee sang a bass solo and there was other special music by the choir. The attendance at the service was large. The church was prettily decorated with palms and potted plants. The Easter lilies prevailed in the decorations about the pulpit.

TRINITY REFORMED CHURCH.

The floral display was not lavish, but just enough to give a very pretty effect. The committee who arranged the display with such tastefulness is entitled to much credit for the result of their labors. The instrumental playing of A. L. Titsworth, organist, was, as usual, excellent, and the singing by the regular quartette of the church, the Misses Krymer and Williams, and Messrs. Cutting and Moore, was very gratifying and gave evidence of much practice and careful training by their leader, Mr. Titsworth. Dr. Schenck, the pastor, at the morning service, gave an excellent Easter sermon on Paul's injunction to the Corinthians, wherein they were exhorted to "be steadfast, unmovable, always abounding in the work of the Lord."

In the evening the edifice was thronged to its utmost capacity with members of the Sunday-school and congregation, and the members of Marconnier chapel and Sunday-school. The members from Marconnier chapel were in charge of Mrs. Mal Marconnier Schwenck, assisted by H. W. Marshall, the recently-appointed general superintendent. There were about seventy-five persons from this branch of the church present. Another feature was the presence of the new home department of the Sunday-school, that occupied side seats in the front of the church. The singing by the school was most excellent, under the leadership of F. S. Cutter, who faithfully and efficiently trained the scholars. The violin selections by Mrs. George Saums, accompanied by A. L. Titsworth, on the organ, were enjoyed, as was also the singing by the primary department under the direction of the superintendent, Mrs. J. M. Tier.

The exercises were in charge of Superintendent E. E. Anthony, and in addition to remarks by him, the pastor, Dr. Schenck and A. E. Mettler, spoke. Mr. Mettler, of Marconnier Sunday-school, also offered prayer.

In addition to the musical part of the service, there were recitations by DELEGATES TO GO TO G. O. P. CONVENTION.

There Will be No Contests in the Primaries Held in Various Wards Tonight.

POLLS OPEN A HALF HOUR.

DELEGATES WILL BE FOR FISK FOR A NATIONAL DELEGATE.

There Will be Eighteen Delegates From Plainfield in the Congressional District Convention—Delegates to State Convention.

The Plainfield Republicans will have their opportunity this evening to put in motion their part of the vast machinery that will eventually result in the selection of the Republican candidate for President of the United States.

As has already been stated in The Daily Press, the State convention will be held at Trenton Thursday of this week to select the four delegates at large to represent New Jersey at the Republican National convention at Philadelphia in June. The Congressional district convention will be held at Belleville tomorrow afternoon to elect two delegates and two alternates to represent the Eighth Congressional district at the National convention.

Under the amendment recently made by the Republican city executive committee to the primary rules, the primaries in this city this evening will begin at eight o'clock when the polls will be open half an hour.

Nominations for the delegates closed with the various ward clerks Saturday night. As only one set was nominated in each ward and only those nominated can be voted for, there is not the slightest chance of a fight at the primaries. Everything will go off harmoniously and while there will probably be no instructions given, it is understood that all the Plainfield delegates to the Congressional district convention will support Former Mayor Charles J. Fisk for one of the delegates to the national convention.

Plainfield will have a delegation of eighteen to the Congressional district convention, four delegates from the First, Second and Third wards and six from the Fourth ward. To the State convention, the First, Second and Third wards will elect two delegates and the Fourth ward three.

The nominations as received by the ward clerks Saturday night are as follows:

Second ward—To the State convention, William N. Runyon and John E. Keely; to the Congressional district convention, George P. Mellick, Joseph E. Morse, Charles C. Davis and Charles S. Foote.

Third ward—To the State convention, William T. Kirk and Robert Rushmore; to the Congressional district convention, Charles J. Fisk, Ernest R. Ackerman, George J. Tobin and William A. Pinto.

Fourth ward—To the State convention, Frank H. Smith, James Stewart and William Newcorn; to the Congressional district convention, Charles H. Dunham, Frank D. Randolph, Howard Woolston, Clarence L. Murphy, James Morrison and Neal Head.

Endeavor Union Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Plainfield Christian Endeavor Union will take place tomorrow evening in the lecture room of Trinity church. There will be a service of song at 7:45 o'clock. An interesting program has been arranged, including an address by Rev. Alex. MacGeorge, of Newark, in memory of Dr. J. Clement French. Special music will be rendered. A social with refreshments will follow the meeting.

Death of Miss Powell.

The death of Miss Laura R. Powell, aged thirty-eight years, of 60 Fairview avenue, occurred suddenly Saturday evening at about 8 o'clock at the hospital. She was taken to the hospital in the afternoon at 3 o'clock suffering with meningitis. She had been ill about two weeks. Notice of funeral will be given later.

To Attend Double Funeral.

George R. Leland, of Central avenue, left yesterday for Hartford, to attend the funeral of his sister, Mrs. Sarah Leland White and her husband, F. W. White, who both died suddenly last week. Mr. White died Thursday and his wife the following day. Pneumonia was the cause of death.

CLUBBED A WOMAN WITH FENCE RAIL

Distressing Results of the Attempt to Christen Johnson's Child.

JOHNSON HELD FOR JURY.

THREW CAUFIELD AND REAGAN OUT THE BACK DOOR.

Johnson Said They Weren't Invited—Mrs. Caufield Went to Husband's Rescue and Had Head Cut With Novel Weapon.

Frank Johnson and his wife, natives of Poland, tried to christen their little daughter yesterday afternoon. They live on St. Mary's avenue. A few friends gathered in honor of the event. James Caufield, of Johnston avenue, and Daniel Reagen, of Spooner avenue, dropped in. Johnson says they were unbidden guests and so he threw them out. Mrs Caufield went to the rescue of her husband and had her head split open with a rail. She now lies at home in a precarious condition. Johnson was held by Justice Nash under $500 bail for his appearance before the Grand Jury. City Judge Runyon fined Caufield $5 for fighting and let Reagan go, as he tried to act as peacemaker and was badly beaten for his pains.

When the gathering was in progress, the two guests walked in and drank beer for a time. Then Johnson threw them both out of the back door. It is alleged that he picked up a fence rail and clubbed Mrs. Caufield over the head. She had arrived after being told by a neighbor, James Fitzpatrick that her husband was being murdered.

Former Sheriff Kirk was driving by and heard the noise. He notified the police, Chief Grant, Sergeant Kiely and Patrolmen Saunders and Watson responded. They arrested the three men. Dr. Tomlinson was summoned to care for the injured woman.

The Tricky Parlor Match to Blame.

While Miss Margaret Heaphy was in the act of sealing a letter in the house of W. H. McGee, on Westervelt avenue, Saturday night, the head of a parlor match flew off and ignited the lace curtains. The fire department was called out on a still alarm and succeed in extinguishing the blaze after it had did considerable damage. Miss Heaphy had her eyebrows and hair singed in trying to put out the fire.

Former Plainfielder Dead.

Frederick T. Bolies, formerly of this city, died on the 13th inst. at his home in Boston, Mass., where he had taken up a residence for the past two years. He was born in Newark on the 9th of May, 1841. He leaves a wife and a son, his only child, who is soon to enter Harvard College.

Work on Cross County Trolley.

H. C. VanEmburgh, civil engineer for the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company, set a gang of men at work this morning constructing the Rahway-Springfield cross county trolley line, commencing at the Rahway end. Work will be pushed.

Moving Dyer House

Work was started this morning moving the Dyer house on Craig place to the corner of Craig place and Grove street. This is the property bought by W. M. Sullman, and is being moved to allow for the opening of Duer street into this city.

Called Out With Troop A.

R. M. Shepard, of West Front street, a member of Troop A, was called to New York early this morning to go out with the Troop on account of the trouble among the strikers at the Croton reservoir.

One of His Toes Crushed.

Henry VanMiddlesworth, of Elmwood place, an employe at Pond's Machine Works, had one of the toes of his left foot crushed Saturday by accidentally letting a heavy piece of steel fall on it.

D. and D.

E. Barneston and H. Zeohi were arrested yesterday in the borough for being drunk and disorderly. They will be tried this evening.

Sprinkling in the Borough.

The two water wagons purchased by the borough arrived this morning and the work of sprinkling was started at once.

For the Children's Home.

The receipts of the collection at the Good Friday service in the First M. E. church amounted to $27 55.

Margaret, the bright little daughter of Mrs. Anna P. Leggett, of 810 Madison avenue, has nearly recovered from an attack of the measles.

JOHN D. RUNYON'S SUFFERINGS AT END

One of the Victims of the Accident Last Thursday is Dead.

MR. SPICER STILL ALIVE.

THOUGH HIS CONDITION IS REPORTED TO BE CRITICAL.

Mr. Runyon's Death is Believed to be Due to a Fracture of the Breast Bone Which Punctured His Lung—He Was a Good Citizen.

The terrible injuries sustained by John D. Runyon last Thursday afternoon resulted in his death about 11 o'clock last night. It will be recalled that Mr. Runyon and Joseph B. Spicer while in the former's lumber shed were precipitated to the ground by the giving away of the bridge-like contrivance that was up in the loft of the big shed. The men fell a distance of about 15 feet and were seriously and it was thought fatally injured. Mr. Spicer is still in a critical condition and it is feared that he cannot survive the terrible injuries he received owing to his advanced years.

The death of Mr. Runyon was a surprise and a shock to the community. It was hoped that his rugged constitution would be the means of enabling him to survive the bruises he sustained. Although the most skilled physicians obtainable have been at Mr. Runyon's bedside, he did not give evidence of improvement. Last night Dr. Zeglio, the attending physician, noticing that there was an apparent change for the worse, at the suggestion of the family wired Dr. Weir, a celebrated physician of New York, but he was not at home. Word, however, was left for Dr. Weir to come to Plainfield as soon as possible.

Mr. Runyon complained of much pain in his chest and from a superficial examination by Dr. Zeglio it was feared that his breast-bone had been broken and that the lungs had been punctured. Besides this it was known that two of Mr. Runyon's ribs were fractured and he was otherwise frightfully bruised. His death however, is believed to have been the result of the injury to his chest. When he passed away at about 11 o'clock the sufferer was surrounded by his wife, sister in-law and H. O. Newman, his confidential clerk.

The age of Mr. Runyon was about fifty-five years.

John D. Runyon was a son of Ephriam J. Runyon, a well to do farmer, who lived in Piscataway township. The subject of this sketch was born at New Market, near the mill pond at that place, about 50 years ago. About a quarter of a century ago his father died and the farm was sold. It was about that time that John D. Runyon was married to Sarah R. Boice, a daughter of David J. Boice, a well known coal dealer, of Plainfield. For some years after his marriage, Mr. Runyon conducted a grocery business at New Brunswick. Later he moved to this city and engaged with his father-in-law in the coal and lumber business. The establishment of this concern was a few rods south of the present plant of Boice, Runyon & Co. The lumber sheds were subsequently destroyed by fire. Then the firm of Boice & Runyon was established and the Cook Brothers' lumber business was purchased. This was about ten years ago.

Upon the death of David J. Boice the firm was continued at the old stand, those composing the members of the firm being Mrs. Boice and John D. Runyon. For nearly a decade this firm has enjoyed a successful business career. John D. Runyon, the deceased, was largely instrumental in the construction of a number of dwellings in and about the city, his efforts in this direction being principally in Netherwood. In this enterprise Mr. Runyon was associated with Jeremiah Manning and Seamen Williams, well known contractors.

Although Mr. Runyon took an active interest in the affairs of Plainfield he never sought or held public office. He was, however, an active member of the Board of Trade, being one of the promoters of that well known organization. About two years ago Mr. Runyon was appointed one of the appraisers of the Union county boulevard. For many years Mr. Runyon had been a member and regular attendant of the First Baptist church of this city and at the time of his death was a member and secretary of the board of trustees. He is survived by his wife but there are no children.

The funeral arrangements have not been completed.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

At Music Hall, Thursday night of this week, one of the leading dramatic events of the season will be the first and only engagement of David Belasco's famous play, "The Heart of Maryland." Mr. Belasco, in "The Heart of Maryland," it is said, has written a play, the conception of which is a wonderful specimen of dramatic ingenuity, sufficiently so as to be classed with the best works of dramatic literature. Mr. Belasco has for years held a high place among contemporaneous dramatists and his work has always been accorded distinguished consideration, but it has been left for the latest effort of his prolific pen to raise him to that pinnacle which has been the ambition of all literary workers to reach. The sale of reserved seats for "The Heart of Maryland" is now open at Music Hall.

Klaw & Erlanger have decided to end, for the present season, the marvelously successful engagement of their great production of "Ben Hur" at the Broadway Theatre, New York, Saturday evening, May 12th. On this date this play will have run just six months and will have been presented 194 times. At that time over 400,000 people will have seen it and the box office receipts will have aggregated over $450,000. This is beyond dispute the greatest record of attendance and receipts ever recorded either in this country or abroad. Desirable seats may now be had for every performance from this time until the close of this season, Saturday, May 12th. Special attention will be given to all orders by mail accompanied by remittance.

WAR OFFICE SILENT.

Brabant's Reported Victory Is Doubted in London.

LATE DISPATCHES OF HOPEFUL TONE

Signs of Winter in the Free State. Winston Churchill Says 250,000 Men Will Be Needed to End the War.

LONDON, April 16.—The war office had nothing to communicate to the public yesterday. It may be taken for granted that the rumor of General Brabant's victory at Wepener is premature. With the remainder of his force he left Aliwal North Saturday for Rouxville, and there has scarcely been time for an engagement.

There is practically no fresh news this morning. All the Bloemfontein dispatches, however, breathe a confident tone. There seems to be a heavy demand on the railways for so large an army leaves the populace bare of everything save the absolute necessaries of life.

The fact that the censors allowed Mr. Winston Churchill's dispatch on the subject of remounts to pass speaks volumes for the condition of that question and concerning the prospect of any immediate advance toward Pretoria.

The utmost Lord Roberts will be able to do for some time to come will be in the direction of clearing the Boers from the southern part of the Free State.

The dispatches announce the approach of winter. The first pinch of frost has been felt at Bloemfontein, where considerable rain has fallen.

It is said that President Kruger visited the Boer camp at Kroonstadt as well as Brandfort.

The executive committee of the American women's hospital ship fund has received a cablegram from Lady Randolph Churchill announcing that the Maine arrived at Madeira Sunday morning and will reach Southampton on April 23. All on board are well.

The Cape Town correspondent of The Daily Telegraph, telegraphing Sunday, says:

"An unconfirmed report is in circulation here that General Brabant has inflicted a crushing defeat upon the Boers at Wepener, capturing guns and taking prisoners."

A dispatch from Reddersburg, dated April 15, says:

"Colonel Dalgety wired yesterday: "'All well. Enemy apparently slackening attack.'

"General Chermside's division is encamped 17 miles east of the railway. Boers are supposed to be in the vicinity, but an attack by them is improbable."

Mr. Winston Churchill telegraphs to The Morning Post from Bloemfontein under Saturday's date reiterating his opinion that the war is bound to prove an extremely expensive business. He says:

"Two hundred and fifty thousand men will be needed before the end is attained. The question of remounts will continue one of vital importance. Great numbers are now arriving, but owing to the fact that they have to be put to work before time is given them to recover from the effects of the voyage their condition is low and the death rate among them is high. Thousands therefore will be wanted in addition to those now here or on the way, and great resting depots must be formed, together with an ample staff to nurse and exercise them. If that is done, about four or five months hence you will be able to give your cavalry a new lease of life and strength."

SITUATION AT WEPENER.

Colonel Dalgety's Position Strong, but Completely Surrounded.

MASERU, Basutoland, April 16.—Sir Godfrey Lagden, British resident commissioner, returned here Friday from the scene of operations near Wepener. He and the paramount chief have stationed 3,000 armed natives to resist possible Boer encroachments. The orders of the resident commissioner are that the Basutos are not to be allowed to cross the Free State frontier on any pretense whatever. Two natives who crossed and looted an abandoned Boer farm are now in custody.

Colonel Dalgety's position is strong and well chosen, but he is completely surrounded.

The Boers have their backs against Basutoland, and if they stay much longer they will be hemmed in. The British operations are keenly watched from the neighboring heights. Shelling and sniping have been going on steadily during the last six days.

Colonel Dalgety's guns are admirably served, and there is no waste of ammunition. The Boers when they see the electric flash of the cordite bolt into their holes or behind walls.

So near are the Boers and the Basuto guards that they converse. The ambulances are close to the border, but the killed and wounded are not removed until nightfall in order to conceal the number of casualties. The Boers are fatigued, and their horses are tired and footsore.

The Boers attacked fiercely the British northern position on April 9, but they were beaten back at daybreak. Nothing is known here of the casualties on either side.

BOERS GAIN RECRUITS.

The Recent Invasion Added Largely to Federal Force.

ALIWAL NORTH, April 16.—The Northern Post asserts that the Rouxville district furnished 1,000 recruits to the Boer force as a result of the invasion last week.

Five hundred Boers, under Commandant Swanepoel, forced the Royal Irish Rifles to evacuate Rouxville. The former landdrost, who had been acting for the British, offered to go to the front to prove himself a true Free Stater, and almost to a man the Free Staters who had taken the oath rejoined the Boers. Nearly every one produced a Mauser. Looting, however, was repressed.

It is reported that there are 7,000 Boers at Wepener.

Fourteen British sympathizers have been imprisoned. The Boers admit having shot Mr. Guiney, the hotel keeper, for taking forage to the British.

A paymaster with £1,400 ($7,000) was captured.

Colonel Grenfell wires that the casualties at Wepener include Quartermaster Williams, Lieutenant Halford and Lieutenant Duncan and 15 men wounded.

Sir Godfrey Lagden, resident commissioner at Maseru, telegraphs that [illegible] shelling has been heard from the direction of Wepener of late.

A regiment of British infantry and a battery of artillery arrived Friday.

General Brabant's headquarters and all the mounted troops have gone to Rouxville.

It is officially reported that the British losses at Wepener in four days' fighting were 18 men killed and 132 wounded.

LORD ROBERTS PROTESTS.

British Prisoners Subjected to Harsh Treatment.

BLOEMFONTEIN, April 16.—Lord Roberts in his telegram of protest to President Kruger regarding the treatment to which the colonial officers and troops who are now prisoners at Pretoria have been subjected complains that the Boers have treated them as if criminals confined in jail.

He points out that there are 90 cases of enteric fever and dysentery in the prisoners' camp at Waterval; that the Transvaal government failed to supply on demand of the doctor the necessary medicines and medical comforts; that the prisoners were forced to bivouac on the open veldt; that the sick were placed in an open shed with an iron roof and that it was only when the new doctor threatened to resign that medicines and mattresses were supplied.

He invites President Kruger to remedy this state of affairs and contrasts it with the treatment the British give to Boer prisoners, sick and wounded, who, as Lord Roberts says, "receive the same treatment as our own soldiers."

Four farmers who had taken the oath to abstain from further co-operation with the queen's enemies were found signaling to the Boers at Karee Siding and have been brought here.

NEW CREED WANTED.

Rev. Dr. Parkhurst Creates a Stir in His Easter Sermon.

NEW YORK, April 16.—The Rev. Dr. Parkhurst in his sermon yesterday said things about the Westminster confession which provoked much comment among his hearers. Some of them said last night that he had made himself a candidate for such treatment as the Rev. Dr. N. Dwight Hillis has received from the Chicago presbytery. Dr. Parkhurst said:

"It is obvious that Christianity, which is of all things the most personal, is an affair of the heart and only contingently an affair of the head. You may not have noticed that the word 'brain' does not once occur in the Bible, while the word 'heart' occurs more than a thousand times. One of the most unfortunate mistakes ever made by the Christian church was to slide into the habit of identifying Christianity with theology. Now, I am not one of the number of those who take pleasure in saying slurring things about theology or in denying that it has a proper place in the sincere researches of the Christian age. But when we Presbyterians convict a man of heresy we do not ask what the man is nor whether what he believes is true, but 'what does the confession of faith say?'

"In the observation just made I am not so much reflecting upon the confession of faith as upon the use that traditional and stereotyped orthodoxy, what I would call congealed orthodoxy, makes of the confessional. At the same time I avail myself of the opportunity of that illusion to say that we ought to have a new confession of faith. It is surprising that the Presbyterian church is able to do as much as it is doing with such an incubus strapped upon us as we are tottering under in our present confession. In the first place the thing needed is not a system of theology, for that is what our present confession is, but a simple brief Saxon statement of a half dozen or so of the vital ingredients of Jesus Christ's message to the world.

"I could get along with a confession of faith containing little but what Jesus said when he was trying to make a Christian of Nicodemus, 'God so loved the world that he gave his only begotten son that whosoever believeth in him should not perish, but have eternal life.' That gives to us the doctrine of God's unlimited love, human guilt, the divinity of Christ, salvation through Christ, faith in Christ, immortality; every word Saxon, three-quarters of the words monosyllables, profound enough for any elder, simple enough for any 4-year-old. At any rate we want a new creed!"

A Fatal Explosion.

LOGANSPORT, Ind., April 16.—High pressure and a piece of alleged defective pipe in the mains of the Chicago Pipe Line company at a point four miles southeast of here were the cause of a terrible explosion yesterday in which Michael Ellison, Jr., was instantly killed and five other men received injuries from which it is doubtful if some will recover. The explosion tore the ground to a distance of 400 feet and was heard for miles, being accompanied by a heavy jar.

Halstead to Teach Journalism.

CINCINNATI, April 16.—Murat Halstead, the veteran editor, has returned home from Philadelphia and confirmed the report that he had accepted the presidency of what is to be known as the Halstead College of Journalism in this city. The instruction is largely to be given by correspondence as well as in classes. Mr. Halstead declined a chair of journalism in an eastern college previous to entering on this enterprise.

Tornado In Kansas.

WICHITA, Kan., April 16.—A storm approaching a tornado in proportions is reported from near Winfield, between here and Newton, and in the vicinity west of Clearwater. Two deaths are reported and four people are said to have been killed by overturned houses. Wires are down, and names and particulars are unobtainable today.

Early Spring In the North.

VICTORIA, B. C., April 16.—Arrivals from the north state that the warm weather in the north is breaking up winter trails, and the river is open in many places. Navigation will open two or three weeks earlier than usual. High water flooded the mines at Dominion and Hunker Creek.

Typhoid at Cape Nome.

VICTORIA, B. C., April 16.—Advices from Nome state that during the winter typhoid fever has raged there. There have been 30 deaths from the disease and 300 cases. It is also stated that many persons perished on the way from Dawson to Nome.

Poor Crops In Chile.

SANTIAGO, Chile, April 16.—In consequence of the poor crops wheat prices are advancing, and the situation will allow large importation from California.

CROWDS AT THE FAIR

Paris Exposition Thrown Open to the Public.

AMERICA LEADS ALL FOREIGN NATIONS

The Exhibits In a State of Chaos and the Grounds In Bad Condition. Few Attractions Ready For the Sightseers.

PARIS, April 16.—Glorious weather favored the opening of the exposition to the general public yesterday, and immense crowds flocked into the grounds. The area of the exhibition, however, is so great that nowhere was there any crush. The visitors were mainly composed of provincials and foreigners. Comparatively few Parisians were to be seen. Aware of the great backwardness of the preparations, they remained away for the most part.

The management demanded two entrance tickets for morning admission, one for afternoon admission and two during the evening, when the Eiffel tower and the palaces on the Champ de Mars were illuminated. But there were absolutely no attractions provided, not even a band of music, and the people promenaded in front of the empty and in many cases unfinished buildings and along roads where only in the case of the main avenues had the work of paving been completed.

Visitors who left the central arteries found their pathway filled with pitfalls and heaped with debris, some thoroughfares resembling mere bridle paths.

The crowd, however, was perfectly good natured and took the matter philosophically. Hardly a murmur was heard anywhere in the way of criticism.

The moving sidewalk, access to which cost 50 centimes, proved a great success and was crammed throughout the day.

The American national pavilion remained closed. So also did most of the other pavilions, for the excellent reason that their interiors are still unfinished.

The United States stands second to France in the number and extent of exhibits at the Paris exposition of 1900, which was formally opened by President Loubet with elaborate ceremonies. While many of the buildings are still in unfinished condition and not a few of the exhibits are yet to be installed, work in getting things in perfect order is being pushed with marvelous rapidity, and within a few weeks at most the exposition will be the most attractive, magnificent and complete that has ever been seen. Americans will have especial reason to be proud of their country's display, as the United States has the second largest exhibit at the fair, and it trebles that of any other country excepting only France.

America has three times the number of exhibitors that France had at the World's fair in Chicago. She occupies 329,052 square feet with her 47 distinct exhibition spaces, 33 in the main exposition grounds, 14 in the Vincennes annex, excluding the ground covered by our eagle surmounting the national pavilion on the Quai d'Orsay.

Another Bank Official Goes Wrong.

BURLINGTON, Vt., April 16.—A special from Waterbury, Vt., says that John C. Farrar, teller of the Waterbury National bank, is missing and that there is a defalcation of $25,000 of the bank's funds. The community is greatly shocked by the news, as Farrar was considered a model young man. His parents are very estimable people, and two years ago he married a young lady of high standing. One child was born to them. The shortage of funds in the bank was discovered by Cashier Charles Wells Friday afternoon. He called Farrar's attention to the fact, and he replied that there must be some mistake in the books. They began an examination at 6 o'clock, when Farrar suggested they go to supper and return in the evening for further examination. He has not been seen or heard of since.

Filipinos Again Active.

MANILA, April 16.—The insurgents, supposedly Mascado's command, are again active about the Marivales mountains, across the bay from Manila. A force estimated at 300 attacked the Balanga, where three companies of the Thirty-second infantry are stationed, on Monday night last, but were repulsed easily. Saturday they attacked Captain Goldman with 30 men of the Thirty-second regiment near Orion, killing two Americans. Goldman then retired. The transport Thomas sails today, taking General Theodore Schwan and 300 discharged and sick soldiers.

Newsboy Saved Three Lives.

CHICAGO, April 16.—Three boys who were clinging to a capsized boat half a mile from the lake shore near the mouth of the Calumet river were rescued by Carl Anderson, a newsboy, 16 years old, living at 9017 Green Bay avenue. The rescued boys were Joseph Conners, 19 years old; Wilbur Donnally, 16 years old, and Henry Shuda, 17 years old.

No Warlike Preparations In Russia.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 16.—At a conference held yesterday between representative Russian bankers and the ministry of finance the director of the credit department announced on behalf of the minister of finance, M. de Witte, that there was no foundation for the rumors that Russia was making warlike preparations.

Governor Taylor In Washington.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Governor Taylor of Kentucky is in the city and will remain here until Wednesday to look after his interests in the contest before the supreme court for the office of governor of Kentucky. Ex-Governor Bradley, chief Republican counsel in the case, will arrive today.

The Detroit to Be Rebuilt.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., April 16.—Word has been received in this city to the effect that the United States cruiser Detroit has been ordered here, to go out of commission and to be rebuilt. An assistant naval constructor will be ordered here during the coming week to take charge of the work.

To Repair Flood Damages.

AUSTIN, April 16.—At a mass meeting of citizens held here it was decided to build a steam plant to cost $250,000 to take the place of the dam and water system wrecked by the flood last Saturday.

Newsy Notes of More or Less Importance Bunched Together for the Ready Reference of Press Readers

—Press want ads pay.

—Trinity Commandery, No. 17, K. T., will hold a regular conclave this evening.

—There are now eighteen patients at the hospital. Of this number many are private patients.

—George Leland and Victor Lorton have formed a partnership and are engaged in doing plumbing and tinning work.

—There will be an important meeting of the borough street committee this evening in the Council chamber on Somerset street.

—The annual meeting of the Home Building and Loan Association will be held this evening when officers will be elected and the annual report will be presented.

—Following the regular Christian Endeavor Society meeting at the First Baptist church Friday evening, April 27th, a social will be held. A cordial invitation is extended to all.

—In the spring exhibit of the Society of American Artists in New York, H. Christian Anderson has a large marble bust of Julia Ward Howe, the mother of Mrs. David P. Hall, of Madison avenue.

—The physicians at the hospital are not yet fully decided as to the probable outcome of the condition of John Reilly so far as his eyesight is concerned. It is possible that he may regain his sight. Otherwise his condition is much improved, and he is able to walk out every day.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

South Plainfield, April 16.—Quite a number of citizens favor selling the old school grounds and then building where the can get more room. Some favor a part of the Webster property and some favor a site on Third street.

Mrs. Mary McDonough has completed arrangements for building a house on the corner of Church and Second streets. It will be of brick and will cost somewhere near $2,000

The railroad company has moved the dynamo and pump from the water tank to the coaling station where the lighting and pumping will be done after this.

When the township gets the school building off of the present lot, why not buy the lots through to Front street and open a new street through the block?

Chas. Sopher loaded his goods on a car Saturday and he and his son, Ralph, went to Newark.

Mrs. Weaver, of Pennsylvania, is here visiting her son, Harry, and nursing Mrs. Weaver.

The brick and lumber are being hauled for the new houses on Third street.

WESTFIELD

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Westfield, April 16—The Westfield sidewalk inspector, John M. C. Marsh, reported fifty property owners whose sidewalks are in bad repair. Ordinances were passed by the Township Committee ordering several pieces of sidewalk repaired.

A couple of boys bent on experimenting dropped a piece of wire across the trolley wires where they go under the railroad bridge on Westfield avenue. The display of fireworks frightened them, and they ran so fast that their identity was not discovered.

Trained Nurse Graduates.

Those who will be graduated as trained nurses from Muhlenberg Hospital in June are Miss Delaney, Miss Stryker and Miss Studeman. The exercises will probably be held in the chapel of the Crescent Avenue church, and will be fully as interesting as those of previous years.

Senator Hanna Ill.

CINCINNATI, April 16.—Word has been received here that Senator M. A. Hanna is quite ill with grip at Old Point Comfort, and he may not be able to attend the Ohio Republican state convention at Columbus next week.

Two Killed by a Train.

GARDNER, Mass., April 16.—A west bound freight train on the Fitchburg railroad struck and killed Patrick and William Fitzgerald, brothers, about two miles west of South Royalston yesterday morning.

Ohio Legislature Out.

COLUMBUS, O., April 16.—The legislature adjourned sine die at noon today. During the past week all records were broken in the number of laws enacted. None of the antitrust bills has become a law.

Hop Grower Expires.

COOPERSTOWN, N. Y., April 16.—James F. Clark, for years the largest hop grower in this state, died here yesterday of pneumonia.

Miss Rockhill, of Trenton, has been the guest of Miss Tallamy, of West Front street.

TO THE MAN WHO THINKS.

LOOK yourself squarely in the face and see if you are not half ashamed to be without Ivory Soap in your house. Worse than this, your wife is without it. It is bad enough for a man, though a man often doesn't care how his comfort is mis-spelled. But a woman misses all these little helps to housekeeping. And Ivory Soap is one; its great potency makes it actually cheaper than yellow soap for general work. It floats.

CHINESE EMPEROR AGAIN.

Said to Be Traveling Alone—A Fight With the "Boxers."

VICTORIA, B. C., April 16.—The steamer Rio Jun Maru, which arrived on Saturday from the orient, brings a strange story of a Chinaman who was arrested at Wuchang. After lying in jail and being beaten he proclaimed himself to be the emperor. He claimed he had escaped from the palace, where he had been imprisoned by the empress dowager, and had since been traveling incognito. He possesses documents bearing the seal of the court of Peking identifying him as the emperor.

A party of British government surveyors engaged on the work of defining the Burmese boundary had a collision with a large body of Chinese laborers, who some time ago waylaid and murdered Consul Lytton, Major Kyttle and Mr. Sutherland of the former boundary survey party. This time the Chinese were completely routed, 80 being killed and many injured.

Official advices have been received at Peking of a severe engagement between the imperial Chinese troops and a large body of the "Boxers" secret society. The battle, which was indecisive, occurred at Yen Chin, in Pechili province. About 4,000 men were engaged, the forces being equally divided. The casualties were very heavy.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

Fire in Brooklyn coal and lumber yards caused a loss of $500,000.

The strike of 70,000 coal miners in northern Austria shows little signs of a settlement.

Mrs. Nancy Washington, the oldest woman in the Old Bay State, celebrated the one hundred and fifth anniversary of her birth in Boston.

The Chicago House Wrecking company has already been awarded the contract for taking down the buildings after the Paris exposition closes.

Sympathy For Boers In Virginia.

NORFOLK, April 16.—An enthusiastic meeting of Boer sympathizers was held here yesterday. Representative William Alden Smith of Michigan evoked will applause when, in speaking of the propriety of American action in behalf of the Boers, he declared that no true American ever had regretted our action in Cuba and said that if the folds of our flag are not broad enough to shelter any oppressed people they should be made so. He had great hope, he said, of suitable energetic action by America at the proper time. Secretary Van Sicklen of the National Boer Relief association predicted the defeat of the British and said the South African republics had every right to expect the friendship of America, the greatest of republics.

Mexicans Insist on Passion Play.

CITY OF MEXICO, April 16.—The new order of the archbishop of Mexico regarding the Passion play, customary on Good Friday, was observed in the valley of Mexico, although the masses resented the prohibition of the spectacle, which has been a feature of Holy Week for centuries, originating with the clergy when they were christianizing the Indians. But at Yautepec, in the state of Morelos, the people assembled at the parish priest's home demanding that he distribute as usual the costumes for the Passion play. This he refused to do. It is reported that he was driven out of town, the people declaring that they would not stand such a priest and must be allowed their ancient customs.

Tennessee Republicans at Odds.

CHATTANOOGA, April 16.—Congressman W. P. Brownlow and Pension Commissioner H. Clay Evans were in Chattanooga yesterday en route to Nashville, where the state Republican convention meets Thursday. The state committee will meet today to take up all contests for seats in the convention. The decision of the committee will be final. Congressman Brownlow and his friends control the state committee, the former being its head. Fully one-third of the total vote of the convention is contested, and upon all these contests the committee will have to pass. Two candidates for governor may be put forward by the Republicans, and a bitter fight will ensue.

Rubber Tire Maker Dead.

CHICAGO, April 16.—Rufus Wright, the millionaire manufacturer of rubber tires, who was shot during a scuffle for possession of a revolver in the apartments of Mrs. Louisa Lothrage at the Leland hotel, died yesterday from the effects of the wound. The body of the millionaire is now at undertaking rooms, where an inquest will be held today. It is the opinion of the police that the coroner's investigation will mark the close of the sensational case. A statement by the deceased to Chief of Detectives Colleran that the shooting was accidental will, it is thought, clear Mrs. Lothridge of all responsibility.

The Tin Plate Industry.

HARRISBURG, April 16.—The annual returns to the bureau of industrial statistics for the year 1899 from the tin plate industry of Pennsylvania give the total production for the period of black plate pickled for tinning at 362,072,640 pounds, of which 292,046,000 pounds were tinned at the 21 black plate works in the state. The value of this tinned production was $10,238,390, while the aggregate value of the entire production of black plate tinned and untinned was $12,155,803. The average daily wage for all employed in this industry was $1.84, the average days of employment 204.

Train Wrecked by a Mule.

CHATTANOOGA, April 16.—A through freight train on the Southern railway struck a mule and was wrecked while running at full speed near Huntsville, Ala. The engineer, Percy Armstrong, and the fireman, Sandy Osborne, were killed, and five of the train's crew were seriously injured. The engine plunged down a steep embankment and immediately caught fire. The freight cars crowded upon the overturned engine and instantly suffocated and crushed to death in the cab both engineer and fireman. The wreck caused a delay of 12 hours.

Automobiles Run Into a Crowd.

PARIS, April 16.—The Paris-Roubaix autocar race yesterday led to a serious accident. Two competitors on motor tricycles collided and dashed at the speed of an express train into a crowd of 2,000 who had assembled at a crossroads in the forest of St. Germain to witness their passing. Twenty persons were knocked down, some having bones broken, and many others being bruised.

Tramps Rob and Murder.

TOLEDO, April 16.—Shortly before midnight two tramps with white handkerchiefs tied over their faces stopped at the house of two sisters, Kate and Johanna Sullivan, living four miles west of West Toledo, knocked at the door, and as Johanna opened the door one of the men struck her across the head with a club, knocking her down. Kate sprang to the assistance of her sister, when a second tramp felled her with an ax helve. The women were then bound and gagged and the house robbed. Johanna died in a short time, and Kate is a raving maniac as the result of her injuries. The tramps escaped with $200 in money.

Young Chase Wants Name Changed.

CINCINNATI, April 16.—Moses Fowler Chase, the young millionaire of Lafayette, Ind., sails for Europe next Wednesday, and his attorneys during his absence will petition court to change his name to Moses Fowler, the name of his grandfather, whose estate he inherited after the death of his mother. Chase's father recently arraigned the son for lunacy pending litigation over control of the estate. Chase is living with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Duhme of Cincinnati, whom he accompanies abroad and against whom Chase's father also brought suit in the contest over the estate.

New Steamer Sails Well.

ST. JOHN'S, N. F., April 16.—The magnificent new Allan liner Tunisian, 10,500 tons, has arrived at Halifax from Liverpool. She encountered several westerly gales, but these retarded her speed very little, and the passengers pronounce her a splendid sea boat and "as steady as a church." She landed 1,000 passengers at Halifax, including 250 cabin passengers, and proceeded for Portland, carrying 500 additional passengers.

Mysterious Drowning.

BRIDGEPORT, Conn., April 16.—The body of John E. Nooney was found early last evening in the water under the dock at the works of the Bridgeport Crucible company on the east side of the harbor. A week ago Nooney left the home of relatives at 698 Arctic street and since then nothing had been heard of him. He was about 42 years old and a widower. He had no children. How he came to be drowned is a mystery.

COMING EVENTS.

April 16—Debate Y. M. C. A. Literary Society against Morristown, at Plainfield, 8 p. m.

An Honor for Mr. Cleveland.

If Former President Cleveland desires it, Governor Voorhees will honor the distinguished Princetonian with an appointment to the membership of the Game and Fish Commission of New Jersey. At least this is the story circulated by those who are in a position to know. The commission is composed of two Democrats and two Republicans, and one of the present Democratic members has announced his determination of serving on the commission no longer. If Mr. Cleveland will accept the position it is the intention of the Governor to name him for the retiring member's place.

If there is any office that should prove congenial to the habits and tastes of the former President, this one should. In the first place he is a devotee of hunting and angling, and is very much interested in propagating and protection of fish and game. Besides that the office carries no salary with it, and in accepting the appointment Mr Cleveland would relieve himself of the charge of still being ready for any office that might bring financial gain.

Mr. Cleveland has not been consulted. His friends have expressed anxiety that he will accept the appointment as it is thoroughly praiseworthy, entirely non-partisan and is without pay or menace of unfriendly criticism. Meetings of the commissioners occur at irregular intervals in Jersey City or Trenton. A corps of twenty five wardens and a chief warden or protector do all of the field work. The commissioners supervise the accounts and make suggestions. Then they have a little dinner which they pay for from their own pockets. They all seem to like it and deem it highly probable that Mr. Cleveland would.

Remarking that educators in this country puzzle not a little over the problem how the proportion of High School pupils may be increased, although this may cause more extended accommodations and teaching facilities, the Newark News notes that an interesting inquiry made recently in Philadelphia brought out the fact that pupils are frequently dropped from failure on one or two subjects. One high authority—the question was in reference to a Girls' High School—put it in this way: Because a girl can't draw a picture of a horse is no reason for keeping her out of an education in other branches. The deduction from this is that the curriculum of High Schools should be made more elastic, effecting discriminations for the individual and for special aptitude or its like. This, of course, involves a more extensive teaching outfit and smaller classes. But if courses could be so adjusted as to permit an industrious and conscientious pupil to continue the course to the finish, in spite of inaptitude or failure in one or two subjects, there would certainly be an advantage gained in the best interests of education. After all, for nine-tenths of High School pupils, it is end of the school training, as a very small minority go higher to the college or university.

Fox Hunt at Lakewood.

Special reports from Lakewood tell of a drag hunt, when on Wednesday morning the Lakewood fox hounds were out for a private hunt for the family and friends of Charles J. Fisk, of Plainfield. The meet was near the head of the lake at 11 o'clock, and after the throw off, the hounds followed the scent through the Curtis, Hyers, Smith and Estes farms, making the kill on the Lecomte place The field included Charles W. Fisk, Augustus R Fisk, Harvey Fisk, Clarence H Robbins, Frank D. Beard, Mr. Hart shorn. Mr. White, of the Myopia Hunt; Miss Louise Fisk, Miss Hutchinson and Mrs. Hoyt. "Willie" Dwyer was acting as huntsman, and Charles Dwyer first whip.

NEW YORK SCHOOLS.

Annual Report of Superintendent Skinner.

PROPOSED UNIFICATION FAVORED.

Teaching of Pedagogy In Colleges and Universities Advocated—Increase In Kindergarten Work. A Million Children Enrolled.

ALBANY, April 16.—State Superintendent of Public Instruction Charles R. Skinner in his annual report, an abstract of which has just been made public, points out the fact that the agitation for unification commenced Jan. 29, 1898, when the board of regents first recommended the transfer to the university of the apportionment of public money and control of teachers, rooms and buildings occupied by the public tax supported schools of academic grade and also the examinations for Cornell scholarships and the state teachers' library.

He says that the proposed change would not throw the school system of the state into the vortex of politics for the reason that the employment of every teacher in the public schools of the state is subject entirely to local control, as is the levying and collection of every dollar of local taxes, while the state funds derived from state taxation under all schemes presented have been left subject to existing statutes, which could not be changed without action by the legislature.

In his report the superintendent makes the following recommendation:

"That the state is not in need of additional normal schools and that it would be of inestimable advantage to the cause of education if the state would encourage pedagogical departments in all the colleges and universities of the state by giving a liberal allowance for the best instruction in such departments."

During the school year there were 9,669 students in attendance at the several state normal schools, with an average daily attendance of 8,025. Diplomas were issued to 1,110 graduates, making a total of 15,988 since the opening of the first state normal school.

Five years ago there were only 104 kindergarten teachers in the public schools of the state, with 3,305 pupils. In June last there were 440 teachers, with 14,000 pupils.

During the past school year 23,200 children were arrested for truancy, of which 1,322 were committed to truant schools, and 618 parents were prosecuted for illegal detention of their children from school.

During the past year 9,883 districts observed Arbor day, and 16,357 trees were planted. In 11 years 214,571 trees have been planted on Arbor day by the school children of the state.

The total expenditure for all school purposes for the year ended July 31, 1899, was $28,052,990, a decrease of $422,881 from that of the previous year; for teachers' salaries, $16,484,647, an increase of $1,328,369 over that of last year; total number of teachers employed, 33,992, an increase of 919.

The number of children of school age enrolled in the public schools was 1,179,351, an increase of 10,357 over the preceding year.

Big Transfer of Michigan Lands.

CLEVELAND, April 16.—A heavy transfer of property on the upper peninsula of Michigan, involving over $1,000,000, was quietly completed in this city Saturday. Attorney John M. Duffy of Chicago, representing several Chicago capitalists, purchased and took over all the interests of a number of well known Cleveland and New York parties, including Secretary of State John Hay, Dan P. Eells, Fayette Brown, C. A. Otis and others, in the Munising Land company and the Munising Railway company. One hundred thousand acres of hard wood land and 60 miles of railroad in operation from Munising bay to Little lake passed into Chicago hands by the transfer.

Coal Miners Strike.

PIEDMONT, W. Va., April 16.—Seven hundred miners employed by the Davis Coal and Coke company in this section of the Elk Garden mining region have voted unanimously to strike and did not re-enter the mines today. Like their brothers of the Georges creek region, the miners demanded 60 cents per long ton. The mines involved are the Franklin big vein, Franklin gas coal and the six foot vein in Maryland and the Hampshire big vein and Hampshire gas coal and the six foot and four foot mines in West Virginia. Officials of the company urged the men to arbitrate their differences and offered to pay the men whatever the operators of the Georges creek region decided upon as the scale to prevail in that region for the current year.

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, April 16.—A pet dog of the Beagle breed called "Teddy," and owned by Dr. P. W. Brakely, met an untimely and peculiar death last Saturday morning. The dog had accompanied Dr. Brakeley's son and a playmate to a small pond on Jefferson avenue. The boys threw a stick into the water and the dog jumped in after it. Before the boys realized the dog's peril, a large water turtle had seized one of the dog's feet and drew the animal beneath the surface of the water literally drowning the canine. "Teddy" was a great pet in the neighborhood as well as being beloved by all members of Dr. Brakeley's family. "Teddy's" untimely end has caused genuine sorrow in the doctors family.

Those who heard Rev. S. K. Doolittle, the new pastor of the M. E. church, yesterday were much pleased with him. Mr. Doolittle will move his family here next week.

While the old homestead is being put in order Miss Mary I. South, a former resident of the borough, is stopping at Taylor's Hotel.

Rev. A. I. Martine has packed his household goods and will leave for his field of labor in Marlboro, N. J., probably tomorrow.

A new residence is to be built on Walnut street this spring by Julius Damreau on a lot bought of Mrs. Sara E. Hill.

H. J. Piddington has bought the house and lot recently owned by Isaac M. Lines on Edwards avenue in New Market.

A temperance hotel is soon to be established at Lincoln.

The Nelson Hotel at New Market is being repaired.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, April 16.—The plans of the Citizens' League regarding the circulating of petitions to be presented at court as a remonstrance against the granting of licenses in town, has been changed somewhat from the plan used before. Instead of a number of petitions being out only one will be circulated. This will be in the hands of a member and a house to house canvas will be made.

Rev. Mr. Woodruff occupied his pulpit in the Methodist church Sunday after a two weeks' absence. Mr. Woodruff was greeted by a large audience at both morning and evening service.

The pleasant spring weather of yesterday afternoon drew a great many strangers into town who were enjoying their customary Sunday trolley ride.

The Republican primary to elect delegates to the State and Congressional conventions will be held in Excelsior Hall tonight.

Miss Nancy Wade, of Marvah, this State, has been spending her Easter vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Abram Wade.

Miss Nina Seeber, of Front street, has been entertaining her father from Cortland, N. Y., for a short visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. M. Stamets, of Westfield, were the guests of old friends in town yesterday.

Wm. Collins, of the borough, who has been quite ill for several weeks, is able to be around again.

Mrs. Wm. S. Terry, of Netherwood, was the guest of her mother, Mrs. James Buckley, Sunday.

Miss Sadie Reger has returned from a pleasant visit with relatives in Newark.

SOMERVILLE.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Somerville, April 16.—The mail from Somerville to Grand View, a postoffice about 2½ miles from here, is carried by a man named Hennil. For weeks past he has been sick and unable to carry the mail, and so the work is done by his wife. She can be seen every morning about 9 o'clock impatiently waiting for the mail, and chafing under the delay which keeps her from her household duties. Every few minutes she pulls out a big brass watch, looks at it, sighs and shakes her head. When the pouch is finally handed her she fairly flies out of the office and down the street, walking all the way to Grand View as fast as she can trot. For this daily service the munificent sum of 30 cents is paid, which will not compensate for shoe leather worn in the five-mile tramp.

The drunken engineer and fireman of Engine 355, who created such a sensation here the other day, have left Somerville. They boarded the milk train and were put off at Bound Brook. The engineer then got on a Philadelphia train and was put off at Trenton, since which nothing has been heard of him. The drunken brakeman disappeared on the caboose of a coal train. We understand that all three men have been discharged.

Society is interested over a wedding that is to take place Wednesday night, when Laura Adair Smith, daughter of W. K. Smith, and Frederick Augustus Disborough, will be united in wedlock. The ceremony will take place at the First Baptist church, at 6:30 p. m., and will be performed by Rev. F. A. Smith, assisted by Rev. W. S. Cramner. A reception will follow at the residence of Jacob Klotz.

The churches were all well filled yesterday, and there was a grand display of millinery and new spring gowns. The flowers and feathers in the ladies' hats eclipsed the floral decorations around the pulpits in brilliancy and quantity. Special Easter music was rendered in all the churches and sermons appropriate to the day were preached.

members of the primary department as follows: Helen Woolley, Flossie Yaeger, Laura Bodine, Myra Dunavan, Russell Vail, Perry Holder, Ira Vail, Arthur Williams, George Coles, Mildred Caleen, Edna Coles, Hattie Nitschwitz, Ethel Vail, Cora Gray, Gertrude Schleif, Rowland Reighton, Anna Boes, Nettie Robinson, Bessie Randall and Helen Woolley. The last two named gave a recitation with organ accompaniment. Each one of the above acquitted themselves creditably and reflected credit on themselves and their instructor. The service closed with the congregational singing of "The Palms," and the doxology, after which Pastor Schenck, pronounced the benediction.

GRACE EPISCOPAL CHURCH.

Besides the two early services at Grace Episcopal church, the regular service at 10:30 o'clock was well attended, the sacred edifice being taxed to accommodate the large congregation that gathered to worship on Easter morning. The floral display was the most elaborate made in some years, the chancel being a veritable bower of loveliness with a profusion of cut flowers, potted plants and trailing vines. The special music was rendered by the magnificent vested choir in a manner inspiring to even those not familiar with sacred music. The rector, Rev. Dr. Rodman, was assisted by Rev. Frank Appleton, the curate. Dr. Rodman's sermon was most appropriate to the Easter festival, and was one of that well-known clergyman's best efforts. In the evening at 7:30 o'clock the service was made interesting by the children of the Sunday-school participating. The service took the form of a children's festival, in which the rector made use of the opportunity to impress upon the younger members of the school the importance of the Resurrection and what it teaches.

The music was under the direction of Mrs. W. A. Freeman, to whose excellence much credit is due. The choir was augmented by these soloists: Miss Mabelle Smith, soprano; William Tallamy, tenor; Arthur and Fred Freeman and Fred Pope, bass.

HOLY CROSS CHURCH.

The supberb music provided for Easter at Holy Cross Episcopal church attracted large congregations at both the morning service at 11 o'clock and at evensong at 4:30 o'clock. The floral display about the chancel was very handsome but perhaps not more elaborate than is usual on such occasions at this church Choirmaster G Edward Stubbs, ably assisted by Organist Clarence D Sears, rendered exquisite music with the aid of the vested choir. Besides the administering of Holy Communion the rector, Rev. W. Montgomery Downey, M. A., preached an able sermon on the Resurrection at the morning service. At evensong the children of the Sunday-school participated in the services. On Saturday evening, after the 4:30 o'clock service, five infants and three adults were baptized. On Tuesday afternoon the annual parish meeting will be held at the close of the service at the Parish House.

ST. MARY'S CHURCH.

The various services at St. Mary's church were well attended, but more particularly at 10:30, when high mass was celebrated, Rev. Father Westman being the celebrant. The sanctuary and altar were tastefully arranged with palms, easter lilies, etc., while above all in illuminated letters were the words, "He is Risen; Alleluia." Rev. Father Smyth, the pastor, preached a sermon on the Resurrection and the lessons we should derive from it. The musical part of the service was very fine. Farmer's mass was sung by the regular choir, Miss Smith, organist, augmented by an orchestra under the able leadership of Joseph Sattels. Responses were also sung by the acolytes, who, at the recessional, rendered "Holy God, We Praise Thy Name."

ST. JOSEPH'S CHURCH.

The services at St. Joseph's church at the 10:30 o'clock mass were largely attended yesterday morning. The edifice was taxed to its limit to accommodate all who wished to participate in the worship. The music was of a high order of excellence and was in charge of J. E. Bailey. Rev. Father Miller, pastor of the church, sang Farmer's mass in B. flat. A full orchestra assisted the choir. It consisted of Prof. A. G. Carpenter, M. A. Korff and Philip Neider, violins; Dr. J. F. Berg, cello; Claus Wallender, J. Nichols, cornets; E. J. Myers, C. B Myers, clarionets; J. Larsen, trombone. Mrs. A. LaPorte presided at the organ in her usual efficient manner. The decorations were designed by the Sisters of St. Joseph's Home.

PARK AVENUE BAPTIST.

Two anthems by the choir and an interesting sermon on "The Resurrection," by the pastor, Rev. J. W. Richardson, were the features of the services at the Park Avenue Baptist church yesterday morning. There were no special decorations other than a few plants in bloom on the platform. In the afternoon the Easter exercises of the Sunday-school were held. Two recitations, "My Garden," by Miss Florence Cuming, and "The Lily's Complaint," by Miss Nellie Giles, were interesting features of the occasion as was also the musical portion of the programme. Rev. Mr. Jones, of Kentucky, made a short address. Miss Adelia Runyon and choir rendered beautifully "The Palms." Rev. J. W. Richardson, the pastor, was presented with an Easter book by Miss Florence Smalley, on behalf of the Sunday-school

ST. STEPHEN'S CHURCH.

Special Easter services were held at St. Stephen's church yesterday morning and afternoon. There were special Easter carols by the choir. The decorations were very handsome and consisted principally of palms and Easter lilies.

SEVENTH-DAY BAPTIST CHURCH.

Easter was observed at the Seventh-Day Baptist church Saturday morning with special services. Rev. A. E Main preached a sermon appropriate to the day while the choir sang several Easter carols. The platform was banked with potted plants and Easter lilies.

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.

The services at the First Presbyterian church last evening were especially interesting. The feature was the singing of Miss Blanche Fellows and of a quartette consisting of Miss Fellows, Miss Vandervoort, Mr. Stengel and Mr. Charll. The last three named are from New York. Another feature was the violin playing by P. Ludwig Conde and the work of W. H. Miller, organist.

GRACE M. E. CHURCH.

Pleasing Easter exercises were held at Grace M. E. church yesterday afternoon under the auspices of the Sunday-school. There was special music and recitations by the little ones from the primary department, under the direction of Miss Lunger. Superintendent John Valiant was in charge and looked after things in general. He also made a few remarks of a happy nature. At the morning and evening services there was also special music and appropriate discourses by the pastor, Rev. G. W. Gardner. The church was tastefully decorated with all kinds of flowers by members of the school.

MONROE AVENUE CHURCH.

Rev. John MacMurray, the new pastor of the Monroe Avenue church, was greeted by a large congregation Easter morning. There was no special service and the decorations were confined to a few flowers and potted plants. The new pastor delivered an able discourse appropriate to the Easter festival. The sermon was favorably received. In the afternoon the children's exercises were held. They consisted of the singing of carols and recitations by various members of the school. An interesting feature was the lily exercise, which was participated in by sixty children who marched through the aisles and upon the platform, each carrying a small lily. There were no services in the evening.

ST. PETER'S LUTHERAN CHURCH.

At St. Peter's Lutheran church yesterday services appropriate to the day were held. Through the liberality of Mrs. L. Borsum, leader of the primary department in the Sunday-school, a bountiful supply of Easter and calla lilies were arranged in and around the chancel. The Lord's Supper celebration was largely attended. The music was also greatly enjoyed.

MT. OLIVE BAPTIST CHURCH.

At the Mt. Olive Baptist church last evening the Sunday-school enjoyed the Easter-tide by presenting a programme of recitations and songs. A feature was the singing by Mme. Robinson, otherwise known as "Black Hattie." An excellent address was made by Dr. D. J. Yerkes, of the First Baptist church, and remarks were made by the superintendent of the school, also by Pastor Jackson. A large sum of money was raised to help pay off the church debt.

CHURCH OF THE HEAVENLY REST.

The service at this church yesterday morning was one of the most pleasing in its history. The floral decorations were unusually fine, and the altar was embellished with lilies, asters, and many choice flowers. The selections by the choir were excellent, and the parts taken by the children were thoroughly enjoyable. A feature was the presentations of a set of brass vases and a brass font by the members of St. Agnes Guild, a former organization of the church. Each scholar was presented with an Easter card and an egg by W. W. Moore, who was in charge of the service.

Long Seems Willing.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Secretary Long's implied willingness to accept the Republican nomination for the vice presidency, as inferred from the statements made by him on that subject, is a matter of general comment in Washington. It set the Republican slate makers to thinking and for the time being has seriously upset the calculations of those who believed that the honor would go to one of a half dozen others mentioned for the vice presidency. The secretary, however, is not an avowed candidate seeking the place, but the belief is general that if the nomination is offered to him he will accept.

Tried to Be a Magician.

BERLIN, April 16.—A sensational case of murder has just come to light at Grunewald, a popular suburb of Berlin. The murderer, Jaenicke, has confessed that he pretended to be a great magician and induced his victim, Louise Bergher, to meet him and to drink a potation containing strychnine, of which she died. The corpse was hidden under ice.

American Missionaries Quiet Revolt.

BERLIN, April 16.—According to official reports from the Cameroons the revolt there is dying out, and orderly conditions are being resumed. This is understood to be due largely to the good offices of American missionaries, who have acted as intermediaries in negotiations for a peaceful settlement with the Buli chiefs.

Grand Jury at Work on Goebel Case.

FRANKFORT, Ky., April 16.—The grand jury, which has spent the last two weeks investigating the assassination of Goebel, reconvened today and resumed the investigation. It is understood that nearly all of the witnesses have been heard, and the report is expected very soon.

Dortmund. Aus Dortmund und Umgegend sind 50 Mann nach Transvaal abgereist, um Dienst im Burenheer zu nehmen.

Hamm. Unter dem Protektorate des Oberpräsidenten Freiherrn v. d. Recke v. d. Horst wird in Hamm vom 12. bis 28. Mai eine gewerbliche Ausstellung für Küche, Keller, Haus und Hof stattfinden. Die Stadt Hamm sowie hervorragende Gewerbetreibende haben durch Zeichnung eines größeren Garantiefonds das Unternehmen gesichert.

Sachsen.

Dresden. Die Sachsengänger treffen hier wieder in großer Anzahl ein, um sich Arbeit zu suchen. Man betrachtet sie hier als die ersten Frühlingsboten, und auf den Bahnhöfen kann man täglich ganze Trupps dieser Leute aus Schlesien, Posen, Böhmen und auch aus dem sonnigen Italien beobachten.—Die hiesigen Holzbildhauer sind in den Strike eingetreten. Sie verlangen die Abschaffung der Akkordarbeit.

Gottleuba. Der Forellenreichthum der Gebirgsbäche des östlichen Erzgebirges und der Sächsischen Schweiz hat in den beiden letzten Jahren sehr zugenommen. Es ist dies dem andauernden Wasserstande zuzuschreiben, den die Zuflüsse der Gebirgsbäche in den kurzen Seitenthälern während der Laichzeit hatten. In seichten Tümpeln der Zuflüsse traf man im vergangenen Sommer kleine Forellen von 2 bis 3 Centimeter Länge zu Hunderten. Ein einziger hiesiger Forellenzüchter verkaufte 200 Pfund Forellen nach Dresden.

Rathendorf. Der Gutsbesitzer Chr. G. Rößner wurde vom Schwurgericht wegen Brandstiftung zu einem Jahr sechs Monaten Gefängniß verurtheilt. Er hatte einen ihm gehörigen Heimen, dessen Inhalt mit 600 Mark versichert war, angezündet und ein paar alte Stiefel neben die Brandstätte gelegt, um den Verdacht auf einen Handwerksburschen zu lenken.

Robschütz. Hier starb die älteste Ortseinwohnerin, die Mutter des Gemeindevorstandes Breber, im 98. Lebensjahre. Im Jahre 1813 mußte sie als elfjähriges Mädchen in ihrem Heimathdorfe das Vieh vor den Russen und Franzosen in den Wäldern bergen. Die Greisin erfreute sich bis in ihr hohes Alter seltener körperlicher Frische und Gesundheit.

Zwickau. Für den Bismarckthurm, den der Erzgebirgsverein in Gestalt einer Feuersäule auf dem Windberge bei Zwickau errichtet, wurde am 1. April, dem Geburtstage des Altreichskanzlers, der Grundstein feierlich gelegt. Den Platz für diesen Bau im Werthe von mehreren Tausend Mark spendete Kaufmann Zimmermann in Werdau, während zu den Kosten des Baues die Stadtvertretung Zwickaus 6000 Mark bewilligte, etwa 12,000 M. aber durch Spenden aufgebracht werden sind.

TRIMMINGS.

Feathers and Other Decorations For New Gowns.

The plumage of the barn door fowl is again in demand for decorative purposes, and, indeed, coq feathers are, as a rule, more becoming for boas, bands and collar lining than the more expensive but less effective ostrich plumage. Gowns as well as hats are now trimmed with feathers, the latter being used to border tunics, corsages and yokes. Little bands of curled marabou, very fine, are placed upon the edges of ruffles, embroidered upon lace and used to outline motifs of embroidery and passementerie.

Ostrich feathers are, of course, much employed, also other kinds of feathers. Bands of plumage are the greatest novelty of the moment, no particular change of form being seen in general attire.

Embroideries and passementeries continue to be as much employed as ever, and braid is also greatly employed for gowns of the plainer class. The newest braid, plain or waved, is provided with a heavier thread, which may be drawn tightly to gather the braid into curves which will follow any design.

The cut shows a gown of pastel red cloth. The skirt has a short tablier, upon which is mounted the lower part of the skirt, which is laid in stitched plaits, the junction being concealed by an application of black jetted passementerie. The back is laid in two box plaits. The bodice, pointed at the back, has loose fronts, trimmed with gold buttons and a border of white satin embroidered and spangled with black. The chemisette is of white mousseline de soie, the cravat of white tulle. The black satin belt is fastened with an enameled buckle. The white hat of rice straw is trimmed with bunches of red roses.

NEW MILLINERY.

French Hats and Bonnets and Their Decorations.

The spring millinery models exhibited for the Easter season show many odd features. Nearly all the hats are large, but they are composed of the most varied materials. The frames are covered with silk, tulle, lace, mousseline de soie, guipure or entirely with foliage or flowers, while something still newer is the use of straw tissue so fine as to be as transparent as tulle. Flowers, and especially fruit and foliage, are used in great profusion, grapes, with their leaves, being in particular favor. Many cherries are also seen, the prettiest of these being of painted velvet.

GIRL'S CLOTH GOWN.

Old fashioned lace straw is being revived as a novelty, and numerous small bonnet shapes are shown in it, especially in the natural yellowish color.

A picture is given which shows a tailor made spring costume for a girl of 10 or 11 years. It is of pastel blue cloth, the skirt having a plain tablier and being mounted in box plaits at the sides and back. There are lines of white silk stitching around the foot of the skirt and at the top of each plait. The short sack bodice has a shawl collar and revers faced with blue and white checked silk. The plastron is of blue cloth and, like the sack and sleeves, is ornamented with lines of white stitching. The buttons are of dull gold. A hat of blue straw is worn, with a trimming of white embroidered mousseline de soie and a curved feather.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

SCHOOL AND CHURCH.

The Methodist of Greater New York have decided to raise $100,00 to clear the indebtedness of all the Methodist churches there.

Medical inspectors excluded 400 pupils from the public schools of Chicago one week recently on account of more or less contagious diseases.

On being applauded with hand-clapping during a recent sermon Rev. Dr. Lorimer, of Boston, stopped, forbade the people to clap, and requested them to say "Amen" instead.

The University of Michigan has 22 graduates, Yale 14, Harvard 10 and the University of Virginia 19 in the present senate and house of representatives.

At the dedication of the First Lutheran church at Elkhorn, Wis., a Bible was used which Emperor William gave to Rev. Hugo Stubenvall, pastor of the church, because he wrote a poem on the emperor's honor.

The ecclesiastical record of Pope Sophronius, patriarch of the orthodox Greek church of Alexandria, who recently died, aged 107, shows that he was a priest 87 years, a bishop 78, archbishop 70, and patriarch 35.

The English Congregational year book, which has just been issued, shows in Great Britain 4,851 churches and missions, 415,664 church members, and 3,132 ministers, with 290 churches seeking pastors and 289 pastors without charges.

While a student at Norwich university, Admiral Dewey took lessons in painting in water color, and proved an apt pupil. He produced several promising bits of work, mostly marine sketches, one of which has been rescued from oblivion, and, in a large frame, now adorns the walls of one of the university's class rooms.

The Central Presbyterian Church of New York has decided to hold an early morning service to correspond to the early mass in the Roman Catholic churches, and intended, like that, for servant girls. A similar service will be held in the afternoon. Both will last only a half hour, and a short address will be given at each. The Central is one of the largest and most aristocratic churches in the city.

MANY KINDS OF OLIVES.

They Are Imported in Casks Chiefly from Spain and Bottled in This Country.

Most of the olives eaten in this country come from a territory of about a hundred miles in diameter, around the city of Seville, in Spain. They are imported in casks of 160 gallons each, the importations varying with the crop, ranging from 3,000 to 6,000 casks a year, and averaging about 4,000 casks.

Olives are sorted in Spain, according to sizes, and each big cask is filled with olives of approximately the same size. There are 12 trade sizes. Formerly the several sizes were described by names; now they are commonly known in the trade by numerical designations, the names indicating the number of olives to the kilogramme. Thus, 75's means olives that will count from 70 to 80 to the kilogramme.

The olives are imported in brine. Formerly many olives were imported already put up in bottles, but almost all the olives sold in this country are now packed here. The work is done chiefly by women and girls. There are ingenious machines for pitting olives that are put up pitted, but no machine has yet been invented for putting the olives into the bottles, with the symmetrical arrangement in which they are now so commonly seen. This work, the building of the wall around the inside of the bottle, where it may be seen through the glass, is all done by hand, the filer placing each olive in the bottle separately with tongs made for the purpose, every olive and row being arranged with care and precision, so that the effect of the whole is attractive and pleasing. This is slow work for beginners, but experts come to fill bottles very rapidly, and perfectly as well, and with such deftness of touch on the tongs as not to bruise or mar the olives in the handling. The interior space is filled with a specially prepared brine, to be then corked, capped and labeled, the bottles being then packed in cases.

Olives are put up in a great variety of packages; a single packer in New York uses bottles in a hundred different sizes and styles. Olives are put up in better shape in this country than anywhere else. The glass used in making the American bottles is better, to start with, and the bottles are more perfect in form, the olives are more handsomely packed in the bottles, and the bottles are better labeled; the whole package, in fact, is better and more sightly in appearance.

Olives are packed nowadays in this country in other cities than New York, but the chief importations come to this port, and more olives are packed here than at any other point. From this city olives are distributed all over the country, and carload lots of olives, either in bulk or in glass, are not uncommon shipments.—N. Y. Sun.

A Little Stepmother.

Uncle Hello, Dot, got a new dolly?

Little Miss Dot—Hush, uncle! Don't speak so loud. She is not one of my own, but belonged to Millie Simpson, who was cruel to her and 'bandoned her. So I 'dopted her; but I don't want her to know, 'cause I mean to make no difference between her and my own dollies.—Pittsburgh Bulletin.

The "High School" Horse.

A great deal of trouble is expended in educating the showy, high-stepping horse. He is trained to step high and act showily by being driven along a path whereon rails are set crosswise. He steps high to avoid stumbling, and in time always steps high.—N. Y. World.

OLD HARRISON HOMESTEAD

Many Famous Personages Have Lived Under Its Roof

[Special Cincinnati Letter.]

WHATEVER may be one's partisan convictions, the fact that the Harrison family is one of the most illustrious in American history cannot be denied. At least three of its members have played epoch-making parts in the forming and development of the government of the United States. Benjamin Harrison, who was born in Charles City county, Va., in 1740, was one of the signers of the declaration of independence, for four terms served as a member of congress, was twice elected governor of Virginia, besides filling many other offices of honor and responsibility. His third and youngest son, William Henry Harrison, born February 9, 1773, was the ninth president of the United States, and one of the most gallant, intrepid and loyal soldiers of his time. For several years he was a member of congress and governor of the territory of Indiana, which then included the present states of Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin; and in this position secured the subdivision of public lands into small tracts and the passage of many measures for the welfare of actual settlers. In 1811, when it seemed that the hostile Indians would massacre all the white settlers, he gave the redskins battle at Tippecanoe and defeated them. Equally conspicuous and patriotic were his services on the Wabash during the war of 1812. In 1839 he was nominated for president by the whigs, and elected next year after a red-hot campaign in which log cabins and hard cider were made the party emblems. A few days after his inauguration he was prostrated by a chill and died April 4, 1841, just one month after having assumed the duties of his office.

In 1814 Gen. Harrison established a family homestead at North Bend, O., not far from Cincinnati, at the junction of the Ohio and Miami rivers. When President Jackson, at the outset of his administration, recalled him from his post as minister to the United States of Colombia, he retired to this North Bend estate, the eastern end of whose manor house consisted of a log cabin that had been built by one of the first settlers of Ohio, but which had long since been covered with clapboards. In this house was reared John Scott Harrison, the general's son, who served in congress from 1853 to 1857; and on August 20, 1833, Benjamin Harrison, who was elected president of the United States in 1880, was born in the same historic old mansion.

Originally the Harrison estate consisted of 600 acres, but when it was sold a few weeks ago to Mrs. O. H. Hall, of Cincinnati, but seven acres remained. John Scott Harrison was a good man, but a poor manager, and permitted the property to drift away from him. For a time it looked as though the old Harrison homestead would fall into the hands of speculators and be torn down, but Mrs. Hall, prompted by a commendable desire to keep the property intact as a kind of historical charge, purchased it for $15,000 and has just erected a brass tablet over the main entrance setting forth the fact that the house had been founded by the hero of Tippecanoe.

How long the old property will thus be preserved for the public is, of course, hard to tell; but a movement is now on foot to have some society or other take charge of it. It has been suggested that the Daughters of the Revolution enter into negotiations with Mrs. Hall for the purpose of obtaining control of the house and refurnishing its empty rooms. It is believed that in the course of time it might again become an inspiration to patriotic pilgrims, as it was back in the thirties when thousands journeyed to North Bend to rest and refresh themselves under the mighty trees which shaded its hospitable entrance.

CRAZY AS MARCH HARES

The Jacobite Agitators of England and Scotland

[Special London Letter.]

THE craziest organization of which we have any record in England at the present time is the "Legitimist Jacobite league," formed for the purpose of restoring the Stuarts to the throne of Great Britain. Its membership is not very large, but it is noisy, and whenever the anniversary of the death of Charles I. comes around its ringleaders hold semi-public meetings, denounce Queen Victoria's title to the throne and indulge in talk which, were it not so extremely ridiculous, would be seditious. They pay homage to a Bavarian princess whom they are pleased to call "Queen Mary III. and IV. of Scotland and England," and whose praises they sing in prose and verse.

Just now the Jacobites are scattering circulars and posters through London and the provinces in which the government is denounced for plunging the country into war with the South African republic.

PALACE OF PRINCESS MARY AT MUNICH, BAVARIA.

Here at home the Jacobite agitation is looked upon as a joke, but as some of its leaders have succeeded in enlisting the services of two or three otherwise sane American correspondents in their agitation it might be well to state that the "rightful" queen of the Stuart contingent is a charming German princess who takes but little stock in the pronunciamentos of her deluded followers.

Queen Mary IV. of the Jacobites is Princess Mary Theresa, wife of Prince Ludwig, heir presumptive to the throne of Bavaria. She was born an archduchess of the ancient house of Austria-Este-Modena. She is a direct decendant of Mary Stuart, James I. and the ill-fated Charles I., who was decapitated by order of Oliver Cromwell. After the collapse of the lord protectorate Charles II. became king; and he, in turn, was succeeded by his brother James II. The latter was such a dismal failure as a ruler that he was deposed, his daughter Mary and her Nassau husband, William, succeeding to the throne, although his sister Henrietta Anne, seventh child of Charles I., was next in line of succession. It is from this sister that Princess Mary, the present queen of the Jacobites, is directly descended.

Princess Mary, who, in the course of time, will be queen of Bavaria, has no unfriendly feelings toward the "usurping" Victoria. She is a happy wife and mother, and occupies one of the prettiest palaces in Munich, a city noted for its magnificent public buildings. Vanity being an heirloom of kings as well as paupers, it is to be supposed that she is not averse to being addressed as "her majesty" by 4,000 or 5,000 half-baked Scotchmen and Englishmen, but she has sense enough not to enter into any sort of "entangling alliances" and conspiracies. The present king of Bavaria, Otto, is crazy as a March hare; the prince regent of the kingdom, Luitpold, is a very old man, and it is only a question of a few months when her husband, Prince Ludwig, will be ruler of the Bavarian kingdom and the head of the Wittelsbach family, one of the oldest and most distinguished of royal houses.

The London legitimists claim that the princess is ready to "stand up for her rights" whenever a good opportunity shall arrive; but as she has a sensible husband and is surrounded by advisers who care more for the welfare of the house of Bavaria than the interests of a band of political fanatics in a foreign land, it is safe to presume that the call for a Jacobite uprising will not be issued in our day. At any rate, the Hanoverianians who now share the spoils of British royalty do not seem to be quaking in their boots.

IN FASHION'S REALM.

Prominent Features and Minute Details of the Latest Costumes for the Ladies.

The rumors of full-gathered housemaid skirts that have reached America have already materialized among some of the diaphanous evening toilets for slender women, and all the fashionable houses have them among their new spring and summer models.

New weaves in crepe de chine and chiffon are now especially creped for mourning uses. They are made up as much as possible without solid foundations, light taffetas in jet black being first choice. One of the most beautiful of these light fabrics is fleur de suede, soft and pliable, but with great tenacity of fiber. It has all the grace of chiffon and crepe, with the added firmness of light-suede kid.

One of the newest skirts is the bonne femme model slightly altered, composed of perpendicular plaits about three inches wide, which meet each other and are stitched about half an inch from the edge, extending from the waist to about a quarter of a yard above the hem, where the fabric is allowed to flare. These plaits are disposed on the old umbrella style of foundation, as narrow at the top as possible, with a decidedly outward curve from the knees down.

In the minute details of fashionable toilets and costume there is so much attention paid to the exact matching of the shade of nets, laces, buttons, ribbons, fringes, gloves, girdles, etc., that there are now experienced buyers who not only shop for these perfect matches, but "professionals," who design and do every sort of embroidery by hand or intricate machine work; who braid, bead, or spangle a gown or wrap, dye laces, fringes, and nets, and make gimps and buttons to match any style or color of gown in fashion.

The recent sales of cotton fabrics included new and beautiful weaves on organdie, batiste, French lawn, dimity, India muslin, plain and fancy pique, etc. These goods are attractive in coloring and pattern, and their success is assured. Moreover, the present styles can be most charmingly and appropriately carried out in these fabrics, which rival taffeta and foulard silks in delicacy of color and design. The gimped, yoked, and plaited waists, the graceful skirts, the frills, ruches, kiltings, berthas, fichus, scarf draperies, and the like will all be seen at their best in the airy textiles for summer wear.

Wedding gowns of an improved princesse style and made of satin royal and peau de soie with garnitures of venetian lace and corresponding net scarfs and other draperies, will be in marked favor for Easter brides. For bridesmaids there are lovely dresses of briar-rose pink, rosy mauve, or primrose yellow crepe de chine, the skirts plaited, the bodices finished with gimps and Marie Antoinette underaleeves of guipure de flandre lace. The short, closely fitted oversleeve reaches in a deep point a few inches below the elbow, and is edged with two rows of narrow pearl and opal bead passementerie.—N. Y. Post.

Honest Confession.—"Young man," said the careful father, "if I consent to you marrying my daughter, will you furnish her the luxuries to which she is accustomed?" "Well," said the young man, "it is more than likely that I won't be buying her as many theater admissions as I have been doing for the past year."—Indianapolis Press.

Undoubtedly.

Here is a little actual conversation that was overheard a day or two ago by a local newspaper man:

"I see that 'suicide pier' has claimed another victim."

"So the papers state. Awful thing to suicide, isn't it?"

"Well, you can bet it's the last thing I'll ever do!"

And the speaker was quite unconscious of the humorous streak in his solemn observation.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

OLDEST MONUMENT.

It Is Now in the British Museum and Perpetuates the Memory of an Ancient Architect.

Of course, the most antique monument in the world belongs to Egypt.

It is not over 18 inches high, and when inspected closely it has none of the appearance of extreme old age. Yet it dates back to the year 3760 B. C. and immortalizes the fact that one Hetep was architect to the king of Memphis.

Incidentally, the oldest monument pertains to the oldest story in the world. The little piece of carving in the British museum shows two tiny figures seated in a high-backed chair. It will be noticed that the two figures are seated in the same chair—which in itself is a significant fact—and on close inspection you will observe that the gentleman has his arm around the lady's waist.

A GENUINE ANTIQUE.
(Egyptian Figures Said to Have Been Carved in 3760 B. C.)

It may be well to say, however, that the lady is the wife of Hetep, the king's architect. So it is evident that the monument only sets forth a case of conjugal happiness, which was none the less perfect because these old persons were Egyptians.

A very remarkable feature about this oldest monument is the fact that the color which was placed on the figures in those early ages still retains its brightness.

The red and yellow are very distinct, and it is marvelous that these pigments should have lasted through so many centuries.

The little monument is exhibited today under a glass case in the western gallery of the British museum. It bears no inscriptions to tell that it is the oldest monument on earth known to man; only the date sets forth its story.

This date is, of course, vouched for by the most learned Egyptologists.

A WEALTHY INDIAN.

Dr. Acland Oronhyatekha, Supreme Ruler of the "Ancient Order of Foresters."

Although once the possessors of a vast continent, the American Indians are to-day a poor people. Except in a few cases where they have separated from the mass of their race and adopt the life of their white neighbors, their accumulations of property cut a comparatively small figure in the total wealth of the country. A rare exception to the rule is found in the person of Dr. Acland Oronhyatekha, a Canadian Indian, who has gained both wealth and fame by force of his genius and business ability. Dr. Oronhyatekha's good fortune began in 1860, at Brantford, Ont., when he, a lad of 19, chanced to meet the prince of Wales, who was then making a tour of America. The prince was so impressed with the brightness of the young man that he invited him to England and gave him an education at Oxford university. Oronhyatekha afterward studied medicine at Toronto university, graduating therefrom in due course. He was highly successful as a physician, but his best fortune came in connection with the Ancient Order of Foresters, a fraternal benefit society which he reorganized and carried to success. He has been the chief official of this order for years, and is said to receive a salary of $10,000 a year. He owns a magnificent home and entertains sumptuously. Mrs. Oronhyatekha is a great-granddaughter of the famous chief, Joseph Brant, who figured largely in the Indian troubles of early days. She is a woman of noble character and many accomplishments.

Tons of Leaden Death.

Forty million rounds of small-arms ammunition, 11,000 rounds of shrapnel, lyddite, and common shell, 851 boxes of fuses and 40 boxes of pistol ammunition were recently dispatched to the seat of war. This is one of the largest consignments of ammunition ever sent from Great Britain.

LEAL'S PUT UP FINE GAME

SUCCEEDED IN WINNING FROM BOROUGH HIGH SCHOOL BOYS.

The Winning Team Was Minus Two Regular Players—The Score Was 20 to 3.

The baseball team of Leal's School won its third game Saturday afternoon, defeating the North Plainfield High School boys without trouble by a score of 20 to 3. The Leal School team easily outbatted and outfielded their opponents. The game was played on the Washington avenue grounds.

The Leal School nine went in the game minus the regular first baseman and shortstop. Mason played at short, while Millar was moved up to first. Dupee pitched a great game for six innings, holding the North Plainfield boys down to three hits. As the Leal boys were then in the lead 18 to 1, Dupee was taken out and Mason was given a chance to pitch for three innings. Only four hits were made off him. Dupee struck out ten and Mason three.

From the very first it was evident that the Leal boys were batting well. They hit Krite with ease and safety. During the second inning Tilney and McGee both made doubles, while five single hits were made. The outcome of it all was ten runs. The remainder of the game was not so one-sided, but the victors still found no trouble in scoring. They made seventeen hits.

The North Plainfield boys were inclined to lose heart at the hard hitting of ther opponents, but they steadied up and made but few errors. Errors were few on the other side.

The batting order of the teams was as follows:

SCHOOL AND CHURCH.

In the Danish high schools the cost of educating students, including everything except clothing, is $65 a year.

The strength of the various sections of the Methodist church, by recent returns, shows that throughout the world there are 7,957 churches, with 44,598 ordained ministers.

Rev. Dr. F. W. Hamilton, of the Universalist church, Roxbury, Mass., has placed paid advertisements of his church in the street cars of Roxbury and in the cars of the Boston "L" road.

Baldwin City, Kan., is the seat of a Methodist college. Cards cannot be bought in the town; there is no place in which billiards may be played, and two attempts to hold a dance have failed.

St. Matthew's Lutheran church (German), of Jersey City, has decided to employ an assistant preacher to conduct services in English. Services in both German and English will be held every Sunday in the future. Three English Lutheran churches have been established in Jersey City within the last five years, and are flourishing.

The two Atlantic walruses in the museum of the University of Michigan have been mounted on a platform in the hall on the second floor of the museum building. These specimens were captured in the vicinity of Greenland by Lieut. Perry during two of his trips into the arctic region. One was secured in 1874 and the other in 1881.

Every recruit in the British army or navy is required to declare himself as belonging to one of four churches—the Church of England, Catholic church, Presbyterian, or Wesleyan. If he has no preference he is put upon the list of the establishment. On one occasion a recruit said he had no religius belief. Whereupon the commanding officer said, with a twinkle in his eye: "Sergeant, this recruit has no religious belief. On Sunday see that he attends parade service with the Wesleyans at eight o'clock, with the Presbyterians at nine, with the Roman Catholics at ten, and the Church of England service at eleven."

SORRY TIME AS "SUPER."

Experience of a Harvard Freshman with Ambitions for the Stage.

"When I was at Harvard," said Walter Kellogg, of St. Louis, to the Tribune man, "during my freshman year I had a vast ambition to appear upon the stage, which finally assumed such proportions and so colored my every thought that I at length determined to gratify it. Fate seemed to play into my hands, for upon making guarded inquiries in the matter, I ascertained that 'supers' were in great demand at a certain theater, and so one night, in great trepidation, I presented myself at the stage entrance. I was finally admitted with a crowd of 'hoboes,' examined and passed by a profane and 'familiar-on-short-acquaintance' personage, and told to take my place in line.

"My outer garments I removed, as did the others, and in a dazed state I found myself passing them through the window of a sort of coatroom and receiving a costume and check in return. I then moved on to a sort of dressing-room. The costume I had received was dirty enough and the idea of putting it on was not only repugnant, but impossible. While I was debating what to do a loud, coarse voice informed us to clear the dressing-room, and again I found myself on the stage in my undergarments, with that bundle of rags on my hands. I made my way to the coatroom, only to find it closed, and my appeals to the stage hands met only derisive responses, while an offer of money for the return of my clothes they would not accept in a promissory form. It was all I could then offer, but they regarded it with open suspicion.

"I spent an awful evening, hiding behind anything I could find, chased out of odd corners by perspiring and personally abusive scene shifters, and in an agony of confusion whenever an actress came within the line of my vision. My embarrassment, I must say, they did not share, and when they did see me they commented on my appearance and costume with ungratifying freedom and painful detail. At length I recovered my own clothes and, sadder and wiser, made my way back to Cambridge. Since then I have been content to see plays from the paying side of the footlights."—N. Y. Tribune.

Many Blind Russians.

Statistics which have just been compiled show that of the 302,000 totally blind persons in Europe 192,000 are natives of Russia, and this means that out of every 500 subjects of the czar there is one who is deprived of sight. In no other country do we find this terrible affliction by any means so widespread. In Germany, France, Great Britain, Italy, and Spain there is only one blind person in every 1,000 inhabitants. Russian oculists and physicians say that the reason why so many of their countrymen are blind and so many others have defective eyesight is because insufficient attention is paid throughout the country to the ordinary laws of hygiene, and they maintain that Russians will continue to suffer in this way as long as they keep themselves and their homes in unhealthy condition.—N. Y. Herald.

BLACKS AND WHITES CLASH.

General Gomez's Reception at Santiago Causes Bad Blood.

SANTIAGO, Cuba, April 16.—The reception tendered to General Maximo Gomez yesterday on his way to Santo Domingo caused great excitement owing to the efforts of the white and black parties to obtain the first recognition. The black party, represented by the Cubano Libre, which continues occasional publication in defiance of the orders of the authorities, who had directed its suppression, sent a tug to meet the steamer Maria Herrera at Quarantine and succeeded in inducing General Gomez to accompany them. Meanwhile another tug, carrying the civil governor, General Castillo; the mayor and other officials, representing the dominant white party, was entirely ignored by Gomez.

The black party, highly elated, took the guest to the landing, where an immense crowd gathered on the frail private wharf of a local boat club. This collapsed, and many were thrown into the water, one man being drowned. General Gomez himself narrowly escaped immersion.

The official party declined to recognize General Gomez in consequence of his recognition of the black party, and there was considerable excitement.

When the procession passed through the city without either civil governor or mayor, rioting was narrowly prevented by the vigorous action of the police under American officers.

In the afternoon all the clubs gave receptions to General Gomez, but the white party refused to attend any of them.

The Strike That Failed.

WASHINGTON, April 16.—Mr. Gannon, third vice president and general manager of the Southern Railway company, has made the following statement concerning the strike: "The so called strike, if it ever existed, of the telegraph operators may be considered ended. Out of a total of some 1,400 operators less than 10 per cent left the service of the company, whose places have now been supplied, and there is absolutely no interruption in the telegraph system from this cause, and passenger and freight traffic is being conducted without any delay. The report of the annulment of trains into Chattanooga or, for that matter, on any portion of the road is entirely without foundation. The company will prosecute in the courts any persons interfering with the conduct of its business, several arrests having been made, and others will follow."

Prominent Railroad Man Dead.

PHILADELPHIA, April 16.—Charles E. Smith, former president of the Philadelphia and Reading Railroad company, is dead of paralysis, aged 79 years. Mr. Smith was born in this city, and at the age of 18 he took service in an engineer corps engaged in the location of a railroad from Blossburg, Pa., to Corning, N. Y., there to connect with the Chemung canal. He became superintendent of the road, which supervision was extended over the Blossburg coal mines. Subsequently he took the management of the Rensselaer Iron works, Troy, N. Y., which were the first in that state, it is said, to manufacture railroad iron. On May 1, 1861, Mr. Smith was elected president of the Reading railroad and resigned that office in July, 1869.

A Handy War Instrument.

The heliograph, so often mentioned in newspapers in connection with British military operations in South Africa, has been termed "the trump card of visual signaling," since it possesses four essential military virtues—portability, rapidity of action, ease of range and secrecy. Through its mechanism, the sun's rays can be reflected upon any desired place by means of a movable mirror attached to a tripod, and messages, in the dot and dash method of telegraphy, readily transmitted. The signals can be read only in the direct line upon which the rays are transmitted, so that its secrecy in operation is perfect. The "helio" is easily portable—weighing, with its accessories, no more than a soldier's rifle.—Youth's Companion.

Comes Higher.

Mrs. Smyth (looking up from her paper)—What does it mean in the Washington news when it speaks of "the lower house?"

Mr. Symth—That means the house of representatives. The senate is higher.

"How is it higher? Do you mean that it costs more to get there?"—Philadelphia Record.

He Was Too Dark.

Photographer—Is there any particular way in which you would like to be taken?

Negro—Yes, sah. If dere's no dejection I'd like to be taken in light cream color.—Tit-Bits.

Farm Buildings Burned.

Last Friday night the large barns and outbuildings on the property formerly owned by Paul Beardsley at East Millstone, were entirely destroyed by fire. Spencer VanCleef, the owner of the place, had just taken possession and a large amount of valuable furniture, farming implements, etc., were burned up. How the place caught fire is a mystery, but it is believed to have been the work of an incendiary.

CITY DELEGATES WILL SUPPORT FISK

Republican Primaries Last Night Passed off Without a Single Contest.

ATTENDANCE WAS SMALL.

DELEGATES CHOSEN TO STATE AND CONGRESSIONAL CONVENTION.

Primaries Last From Eight to Half-Past According to New Rules—Delegates Favor C. J. Fisk as Delegate to National Convention.

Peace and quietude prevailed at the Republican primaries held in the four wards of the city last night to select delegates to the State and Congressional district conventions. There was only one ticket up at each primary and consequenily no opposition.

The delegates were chosen as nominated Saturday night. They were as follows:

Second ward—To the State convention, William N. Runyon and John E. Keely; to the Congressional district convention, George P. Mellick, Joseph E. Morse, Charles C. Davis and Charles S. Foote.

Fourth ward—To the State convention, Frank H. Smith, James Stewart and William Newcorn; to the Congressional district convention, Charles H. Dunham, Frank D. Randolph, Howard Woolston, Clarence L. Murphy, James Morrison and Neal Head.

In the First ward there were 63 out to vote. The primary officers were W. R. Codington, judge; Fred Danckiau, inspector; Arthur Stryker, clerk. At the business meeting James F. Buckle was chairman and Charles W. Sminck secretary. The delegations were empowered to fill vacancies.

Only ten ballots were cast in the Second ward. The primary officers were J. Hervey Doane, judge; Charles M. Ulrich, inspector; W. P. Spangenberg, clerk. Charles S. Foote was made chairman of the business meeting and Charles B. Morse secretary. The delegates were given power to fill vacancies in their ranks.

An even dozen Republicans voted at the Third ward primary. The primary officers were J. W. Murray, Jr., judge; Robert Rushmore, inspector; Albert I. Little, clerk. Mayor George W. Rockfellow was chairman of the business meeting and Frank W. Runyon secretary. The delegates to the State convention were empowered to select each his own alternate. The other delegation was instructed to fill all vacancies in its ranks.

Over in the Fourth ward there were 90 ballots cast. James Morrison was judge; Fred J. Huff inspector; and James E. Huntington clerk. At the business meeting William Newcorn was made chairman and Robert L. Lee secretary. The chairman and secretary were empowered to fill vacancies in the delegations.

STUDENT'S JOKE ON COMRADES.

Swam Out of Sight, and They Thought He Was Drowned.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Princeton, April 17.—Gordon Beaham, J. N. Carver, J. M. Kinsey, Peter Brokaw and Thomas Robinson, Princeton students, rowed down the canal to New Brunswick Thursday. On their way home at night the boat was upset. All swam ashore except Beaham, and his companions, after a vain search came to the conclusion that he must have drowned. Twelve men were hired to drag the canal, but while they were at work Beaham appeared alive and much amused. He exclaimed that he swam down the canal some distance, landed, and made his way to Bound Brook.

Sisser-Bock Trouble May be Settled.

The trouble existing between Chas. Bock and James Sisser over the Somerset street saloon business, is likely to be settled soon. A conference of the interested parties is called for tomorrow afternoon, when all difficulties will be discussed with a hope of settlement. Alvah Clark does not represent James Sisser now. The latter has secured Former Judge Bartine for his counsel. Mr. Clark represents the Plainfield Bottling Association and will look after their interests.

TWO PRIMARIES HELD

FACTIONAL TROUBLE IN SOMERSET G. O. P. BREAKS OUT AGAIN.

Thompson Men Stole a March on Reed Faction, but Latter Refused to Abide by Decision.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, April 17—The trouble between the faction of the Republican party, headed by Chancery Clerk L. A. Thompson, of this place, and the one led by Senator Charles A. Reed, of North Plainfield, broke out afresh yesterday afternoon over the election of delegates to the State and Congressional conventions from Bridgewater township. The result is that two sets of delegates will go to both conventions, as two primaries were held.

The regular primary was called at 3 o'clock. The Thompson men met and organized the primary a few minutes before 3 o'clock, and without opposition at that time elected the following delegates: To the Congressional convention, George A. Dilts, John D. Hornby, J. A. Mets, Jr., James Brown, Jr., and John B. Osborn; to the State convention, Job C. Kinyon, Christopher Ehni, Walter Smith, William H. Thompson and William H. Long. All these delegates, it is understood, will act as Chancery Clerk Thompson wants them to.

While this primary was being held, the Reed adherents were witnessing a fight between some Italians. They arrived at the place of holding the primary just a few minutes after 3 o'clock, and were much surprised when they found that the Thompson men played a sharp trick on them. They claimed that they were victims of a snap primary, and as such they would not consent to abide by its decision. As a result they organized and elected the following delegates: To State convention, Alex. W. Mack, William S. Stryker, James C. Wyckoff and Thomas Enright; to Congressional convention, Job C. Kenyon, John F. Ayres, Harry A. Smith, Louis T. Reed and James Brown, Jr.

BOROUGH PRIMARY.

Republicans Selected Their Delegates to the Congressional and State Conventions.

There was a large and enthusiastic gathering of Republicans at the primary held last night in the basement of the Somerset street school when delegates were chosen to attend the State and Congressional district conventions. Much interest was manifested and the gathering was marked by the presence of representative men of the party.

Senator Charles A. Reed called the primary to order and Former Mayor Charles Place was selected chairman. Former Borough Clerk J. K. Arnold was the secretary, and he read the call for the meeting. The borough is entitled to three delegates to each convention to be held. Those selected to attend the State convention to be held at Trenton Thursday are Dr. J. H. Cooley, Thomas Doud and J. Worth Codington, and those chosen to go to the Congressional convention to be held at Asbury Park on May 16th are B. A. Hegeman, Jr., Charles A. Reed and Robert Clark, Jr.

Mr. Place explained why the Congressional convention is to be held at Asbury Park. He said that the hall formerly used at New Brunswick burned down and there is no other suitable place in the district where the convention can be held. The committee therefore decided on Asbury Park.

Before the primary adjourned the delegates were empowered to fill all vacancies.

Holy Cross Officers.

The annual meeting of the Church of the Holy Cross was held last evening in the parish house, when officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: George P. Dupee, senior warden; J. H. Carman, junior warden; vestrymen, E. C. Perkins, Horsley Barker, T. H. Pollard, C. L. Nichols, A. E. Farber, Jr.; delegates to convention, George P. Dupee, James A. Alexander, E. C. Perkins; alternates, A. E. Faber, Jr., Horsley Barker and T. H. Pollard. It was unanimously decided to change the date of the annual meeting from Easter Monday to the first Monday in Advent.

New Club for West End.

A new organization called the Crescent Athletic Club was formed last evening in the West End, and the following officers were elected: President, Joseph Barry; vice-president, Harry Shannon; secretary, George Keen; treasurer, George Taylor. Daniel Guinee was selected manager of the baseball team and Joseph Barry captain. The club is composed of twenty members. Entertainments will be given from time to time to raise funds to purchase uniforms for the ball team.

PRESBYTERY IN SESSION.

CONVENED IN HOPE CHAPEL THIS MORNING.

Rev. J. O. McKelvey Preached Opening Sermon—Rev. E. B. Cobb, of Elizabeth, Elected Moderator.

The first session of a meeting of the Presbytery of Elizabeth was held this morning in the Hope chapel, delegates being present from all over this section. The sessions will continue through the remainder of today and tomorrow.

The meeting opened soon after 11 o'clock, the retiring moderator, Rev. J. O. McKelvey, pastor of Warren chapel, this city, being in the chair. The Scripture lesson was read by Rev. Mr. Simonton, of Califon, and prayer was offered by Rev. Dr. Leggett, of Rahway.

The sermon of the morning was preached by Rev. Mr. McKelvey.

The text was Matthew 10:27: "What I tell you in darkness, that speak ye in light; and what ye hear in the ear, that preach ye upon the housetops."

At the close Mr. McKelvey offered a brief prayer, asking that the blessing of God might rest upon the meeting, after which the business session opened with the calling of the roll by Rev. Mr. Perry, of Pluckamin. Excuses were read from several members not able to be present. A new member, Rev. Mr. Mendenhall, was admitted to the Presbytery, after which Rev. E. B. Cobb, D. D., of Elizabeth, was elected moderator of the meeting, and Mr. Hathaway, of Elizabeth, temporary clerk. The application of Rev. J. A. Frye, of Rahway, to be released from his pastorate, and to have the relation between him and the Presbytery dissolved, was granted. A report from the committee on ministerial relief was made by Dr. Leggett.

The report of the committee of arrangements was given by Rev. G. Kennedy Newell, pastor of the church in which the meeting is held. He announced that the afternoon session would begin at 2 o'clock, and that in the evening there would be a public meeting, with an address by Rev. T. S. Wynkoop, of North India, a delegate to the ecumenical mission councils. The morning session tomorrow will include a conference on home missions, to be held at 10:30 o'clock, conducted by Rev. John Dixon, D. D., assistant secretary of the Board of Home Missions, and a devotional meeting at 12 o'clock.

At 12:30 o'clock the meeting was adjourned for luncheon, which was served by the women of the church in one of the smaller rooms.

MR. SPICER IS BETTER.

Decided Change For the Better Noticed This Morning in Condition of J. D. Spicer.

A decided change for the better was noted this morning in the condition of Joseph D. Spicer, of 125 West Fifth street, who was so badly injured in the accident at Boice, Runyon & Co.'s lumber shed. Thursday afternoon, which proved fatal to John D. Runyon, the other victim.

From the time of the accident until this morning, Mr. Spicer was in an unconscious condition. Yesterday it was feared that inflammation had set in. This morning his temperature and pulse were far nearer their normal condition and Mr. Spicer talked rationally with Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis and several members of the family. He realized that he had been ill but was surprised to learn that it was Tuesday. Unless there is a relapse, it is believed that he will recover.

To Push Somerset Street Widening.

It is quite likely that at the adjourned meeting of the Borough Council next Friday evening something will be said or done regarding the widening of Somerset street. Counsel Reed has drafted a petition, and if a sufficient number of signatures can be secured to it, the Council will confirm the appointment of the commissioners recently named, and the work will be started at once.

No Cause for Action.

The action of H. C. McVoy, of Westfield, against C. VanHerwerden, of this city, to recover $33, alleged to be due for extra plumbing on a house on South avenue was tried before Justice Moffettt yesterday. A verdit for no cause for action was rendered. V. W. Nash, Jr., for the plaintiff and Isaac Runyon, of the firm of Bruce & Runyon for defendant.

Meeting of Creditors Called.

The referee, Atwood L. DeCoster, of Newark, to consider the petition of A. D. Thompson to go into bankruptcy, has called a meeting of Mr. Thompson's creditors to be held in Mr. DeCoster's offices in the Cory building, Elizabeth, Wednesday, April 25th. In the call for the meeting, the liabilities are given at $258,789.52 and the assets at $51,366.52.

ESSEX AND BAYONNE UNITE AGAINST FISK.

Combination Made at Congressional Convention to Leave Union County out in the Cold.

ESSEX COUNTY MAY SPLIT.

ON THAT DEPENDS FISK'S CHANCES OF GOING TO NATIONAL CONVENTION

Edward P. Allen and an Essex Man Will be Candidates of the Combination—Union May Have a Split in Elizabeth.

(By a Staff Correspondent.)

Belleville, April 17.—Already there is a gathering of the Republican politicians of the Eighth Congressional district in this place for the Congressional district convention to be held here this afternoon, to choose two delegates and two alternates to the Republican national convention. Plainfield's eighteen delegates are on hand beside a number of other Plainfielders, prominent in the party but not included in the delegation.

There is every prospect of a lively time at this convention this afternoon. The trouble is that there are three men for two positions. Plainfield and most of Union county wants Former Mayor Charles J. Fisk to go to the national convention as a delegate. Four years ago he was elected an alternate and his friends claim that it is but fair that he should now have the other honor.

The Fisk boom has been underway for some time. It was a question whether Bayonne City, which is the only part of Hudson county included in the Eigth district, or Essex county, all of which except Newark, forms part of the Eighth, would furnish a running mate for Mr. Fisk. While the Plainfielders have been wondering about it, the leaders from Bayonne and Essex have quietly gotten together and arranged a little combination that threatens to defeat Mr. Fisk unless his friends can manage to break the solid delegation from Essex.

Essex county has 88 delegates and Bayonne, 18. Together they can defeat the 95 that come from Union county. It is a question, however, how far the managers of the opposition to the Fisk boom can keep their delegates in line. The combination has selected Edward P. Allen, a New York lawyer, who lives in Bayonne, as the Hudson end of the scheme. The other candidate will be an Essex man, possibly William Riker.

Plainfield has come down solid supposedly for Mr. Fisk. So will the rest of Union county, with the exception of one ward in Elizabeth. It may be possible for the other side to keep the eighteen men from Bayonne in line, but the Essex crowd will be harder to manage. A lively time may therefore be expected.

The Plainfield delegation and the Union county delegation will caucus before the convention. There will be lots of button-holeing and a determined effort to swing part of Essex into support of Former Mayor Fisk.

SENATOR KEAN.

Has No Statement to Make With Reference to Congressman Fowler.

Washington, April 17—When asked what he thought of the announcement that Representative Fowler was a candidate for renomination, Senator John Kean said he had nothing to say at the present time. He made a like reply when asked what he thought of the possibility of Mayor Edward Hoos, of Jersey City, being named for Governor by the Democrats.

"River Rest" Told.

The magnificent property in Piscataway township, once the home of the late Richard B. Field, and for many years owned by the Mutual Life Insurance Company, has been sold through the agency of John C. VanDoren to J. K. Tilloston, an electric railroad man, of New York. Mr. Tilloston came here about two weeks ago with his wife and expressed their delight with the place as soon as it was shown to them. It is understood that the purchaser will make extensive improvements to the property, including the erection of some new outbuildings.

Big Peach Crop in Prospect.

Superintendent Ball, of the Prudential Insurance Company, has returned from Clinton. He says that the peach-growers are more than delighted with the prospects for a big crop. They say that unless something unforeseen should happen, the crop this year will exeed those for a period of several years past.

DEBATED A BIG QUESTION.

MORRISTOWN DELEGATIONS MADE THE BEST ARGUMENTS.

Plainfield Boys Took the Affirmative Side, and the Judges Decided With Them.

Three young men from the Morristown Y. M. C. A. Association were pitted against a trio from the local association in the debate at Y. M. C. A. Hall last night. The debaters chose for their subject one of the important questions of the day, to wit: "Resolved, That American interests require American fortifications on the Nicaragua Canal."

The visitors were Messrs. Richard Boardman, J. P. Lukeman and Leon S. Freeman, who had the negative. The Plainfield contingent was represented by C. M. Dolliver, H. F. Boorroughs and J. H. Crane. The judges were S. S. Swackhamer, I. W. Trevell, of this city, and William R Eadie, of Morristown. Thomas A. Cuming was master of ceremonies and referee.

Mr. Dolliver opened the debate for the affirmative. He read from a carefully prepared article his argument in support of the United States constructing and owning the proposed canal, which he maintained was necessary to the safety of the Nation and the interests of commerce.

Mr. Boardman in support of his side advanced the argument that the United States was in duty bound to live up to the Clayton-Bulwar treaty as to the neutrality to be preserved in respect to the proposed canal and other international affairs. Mr. Boardman held that the nation's honor was at stake and that fact, if for no other, should be recognized by the government in dealing with this question.

Space is not available to speak in detail of the other debaters, more than to say that they displayed an intelligent knowledge of the subject and evinced a freedom of speech and an easy manner that was well received by the small audience present to hear them.

The best speaker of the evening was possibly Mr. Lukeman, of Morristown, whose eloquence perhaps caught the audience quite as much as did the arguments he put forth.

The fact that each speaker was given fifteen minutes to make arguments and the leaders ten minutes to sum up, prolonged the debate to an extent that fatigued many in the audience.

The judges decided that the affirmative had advanced the best argument. The audience approved by giving vent to generous applause. After the debate the speakers and judges were regaled with light refreshments.

THREW HATCHETS.

"Dave" Thompson Was Having Lots of Fun When Patrolman McCue Arrived — Now in Jail.

Patrolman McCue interrupted "Dave" Thompson, a colored man living on East Fourth street, in a new amusement yesterday afternoon. Thompson was out in the yard busily employed, it is said, in casting hatchets and bricks at his wife and neighbors. The immediate neighborhood of the man was deserted until the policeman arrived. An extra quantity of rum is supposed to be responsible for Thompson's action. As City Judge Runyon was not well this morning Thompson is kept in the cell. Chief Grant does not care to turn him loose for fear of a repetition of yesterday's performances.

Last of Miss Lyon's Lectures.

The last of the series of six lectures on "Europe in Africa in the Nineteenth Century," by Miss Dorothy Wilberforce Lyon, Ph. D., of Elizabeth, was given yesterday morning at 11 o'clock, at the home of Mrs. Harlot Burton Ford, of Watchung avenue. The subject was "Italy in Africa; Abyssinia and Madagascar." The whole course has been an interesting and profitable one to all who have attended it, and this closing lecture was no exception to the rule, much information on the subject being given in an entertaining way.

Ministers Discussed Christian Science.

The Plainfield Ministers' Association was entertained yesterday afternoon by Rev. Cornelius Schenck, Ph. D., of 904 West Front street. There were eleven ministers present and all thoroughly enjoyed the paper prepared and presented by Rev. G. W. Gardner, of Grace M. E. church, on "Christian Science." An informal discussion of the subject followed which was of considerable interest. The next meeting of the association will be held Monday, May 14th.

WORK MUST NOT BE SLOW

BOROUGH SIDEWALKS TO BE LAID WITHIN WEEK AFTER STARTED.

Street Committee of Council Lays Down This Rule to Contractors—Bids for Crushed Stone.

Mayor Smalley and the street committee from the Borough Council met last evening in the council rooms receive bids for furnishing crushed stone, flagging and crosswalks for the coming year. There were three bids. Manhattan & Cashin offered to furnish flagging 1½ inches thick at 43½ cents a lineal foot, and crosswalks 4½ inches thick at 80 cents a lineal foot. William Barton's was 90 cents for crosswalks and 46 cents a lineal foot for flagging. He also bid 97 cents a lineal foot for the best blue stone flagging. The bid of Manhattan & Cashin was accepted and they will commence work as soon as the stone ordered arrives.

There was one bid to furnish crushed stone. That was from J. H. Wilson. He offered to furnish No. 2 size and slab for 95 cents a ton and 1 inch and dust for $1 a ton. This bid was accepted.

It was decided that before any stones are laid that Superintendent of Highways Doud should inspect the stones, and see that the work is done satisfactorily. The first crosswalk to be laid will be on Warren street. Mayor Smalley instructed Manhattan & Cashin that all work must done within a week after its ordered. The committee also decided to have Chief Campbell ride about the borough and get a correct list of all properties where stone walks should be laid, and this list will be returned to the committee for use as soon as the sidewalk ordinance is adopted which will be May 1st. The committee discussed several matters regarding streets and walks, which will be brought up at the regular Council for action.

DEATH OF ISAAC A. CONNETT

Had Been Ill for a Long Time—Engaged in the Meat Business for Many Years.

Isaac A. Connett, aged 62 years, one of Plainfield's best known citizens, died last evening at his home on East Fifth street after an illness covering a period of six months. He was a great sufferer from heart and stomach trouble. Toward the last he was unconscious and remained so till he died.

Mr. Connett was born at Short Hills, and was a son of the late Samuel and Sarah Connett. Early in life he went into the butcher business and this he followed all his life. He formerly ran a wagon through the country in the vicinity of Oak Tree, Metuchen and other nearby places. Some time before he was taken ill he was engaged by L. A. Hummer, the Somerset street butcher, to run this route. He was a man of quiet manners and retiring. He had a host of friends who will learn of his death with sorrow. He leaves a wife, a daughter, Miss Lottie Connett, and a son, Harry Connett. He also leaves two brothers, Frazee and Henry Connett, of Illinois, and two sisters, Mrs. I. D. TenEyck and Mrs. L. C. Putnam, of this city.

The funeral services will be held from the late residence, 303 East Fifth street, Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Interment will be in Hillside cemetery.

Professor Smith's Lecture.

A very delightful lecture was given yesterday afternoon by Professor Charles Sprague Smith, of New York, at All Souls church, under the auspices of the Monday Afternoon Club. Professor Smith's subject was "The Spanish Drama," fitting in well with the year's study by the club on "Spain, Her People, Art and Literature." The lecturer, an accomplished master in his field, followed general statements on the drama as developed in Spain by interesting accounts of the dramatists Lope de Vega and Calderon, with others of minor note, and read selections from some of the famous dramas.

Ladies' Whist Club Entertained.

The members of the Ladies' Afternoon Whist Club entertained a number of their friends at the home of the Misses French, of West Seventh street, last evening. Whist was played. There were nine tables. First prizes were won by Mrs. William Western and Charles H. Lyman.

Park Club Dramatics.

The Park Club will hold a dramatic entertainment and informal dance at the clubhouse on Washington avenue, this evening. An entertaining little comedy sketch will be given by four young women and will be followed by an opportunity for those who wish to dance.

Mr. Runyon's Funeral Tomorrow.

The funeral services of John D. Runyon will be held from his late residence, 502 Park avenue, Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

ACTIVE SOCIAL LIFE COMMENCED AGAIN.

Formal Affair Given in the Union County Country Club Casino Last Night.

PROVED TO BE A SUCCESS.

THE HALL PRETTILY ARRANGED FOR THE OCCASION.

Many Out-of-Town Guests Were Present—Informal Dinners Preceded the Dance—Those Who Acted as Patronesses.

The formal function of Plainfield society, the Assembly, marked the close of the Lenten season and the resumption of the active social life last evening. The dance was really a continuation of the series held during the winter and it was practically the same people who gathered at the club house and Casino of the defunct Union Country Club last evening. It proved just as great a success as the others and as fully attended.

The series of Assemblies last winter was given rather as an experiment. It was not then intended to hold any formal dance after Lent. The series proved so successful and there was such a general demand for another dance in the spring that the patronesses and Charles E. Brooks agreed to hold another Easter Monday night.

At the suggestion of Mr. Brooks the young people turned out early and there was quite a number on hand to start the dancing at 9 o'clock. The younger set were out in force. As many of the young people at college and boarding school are home for the Easter holidays, there was an unusually large attendance. Then many strangers, guests in Plainfield homes, were present.

The Casino was prettily arranged with chairs and divans in the alcoves and a floral screen on the stage behind which the orchestra played. Guests were received in the club house and there the supper was served at midnight. The table was handsomely decorated.

The patronesses were Mrs. Charles E. Brooks, Mrs. Rowland Cox, Mrs. M. E. Edgerton, Mrs. Charles J. Fisk, Mrs. Pliny Fisk, Mrs. Wm. T. Kaufman, Mrs. Sylvanus L. Schoonmaker, Mrs. Henry M. Stockton and Mrs. H. P. Talmage.

Aside from the success of the affair as a dance, it proved a delightful reunion of the society young folk. Many have been out-of-town during Lent and there was a general exchange of experiences. The dance is the first of a series of charming affairs that will occupy the attention of society this week.

Preceding the dance there were several informal dinners at Plainfield homes. Miss Daisy Shepard gave a charming one at her home, "The Gables," where she entertained a number of New York and Plainfield society folk. After the dinner the party went to the Casino to attend the Assembly.

Helping the Summit Y. M. C. A.

The Summit branch of the Y. M. C. A. carries a mortgage of $8,000 on its building on Springfield avenue. It received an offer from a member a few weeks since to contribute $3,000 toward paying this off, provided the additional $5,000 could be raised. The friend's contribution was supplemented by another offer of $1,000 when that was needed to complete the $5,000, and a committee was at once appointed to canvass. So successful has the committee been that it expects to have the entire amount subscribed by about June 1st.

To Receive Grand Officers.

The members of Plainfield Council, No. 711, Royal Arcanum, are planning for a big time for Monday evening, April 30th, when they will receive a visit from Grand Regent Lightfoot and his entire staff. A banquet will be given to the officers and covers will laid for 100 people. The affair will be held at the Hotel Kensington.

It Will be a Great Game.

Considerable interest is already manifest in the proposed baseball game between the Mayor and Borough Council and the Mayor of this city and Common Council. If nothing happens the struggle will come off on Decoration Day, and the proceeds will be given to the Children's Home.

Received a New Wheel.

Harry Hann, of Somerset place, has received a new wheel from C. Frank French, for the one which was wrecked Monday of last week by Mr. French's horse running away.

Any stooping or heavy lifting aggravated it, and if I contracted a cold it always settled in my back and at such times my suffering was something intense.

BRIDGE WORK

In Dentistry is the best substitute for nature's work that can be done. Sound roots may be built up and crowned and thus fill up an unsightly space. It has to be made of a material that has strength and durability and one that will not discolor. Gold is the one that stands the test. That is the secret of the expense. But the advantages of a bridge over a plate are many times more than the cost of one compared to that of the other.

BOER POWER WANING

This Impression Prevails at Roberts' Headquarters.

BRITISH CLAIM TO HAVE THEM IN A NET

Conflicting Reports of the Movements of Federal Commandoes. They Are Said to Be In Full Retreat—Word From Mafeking.

LONDON, April 17.—Lord Roberts has spread his net far and wide to catch the adventurous commandoes that have been making mischief in the southeastern part of the Free State. The net has not yet been drawn in, but at the headquarters of Lord Roberts the impression exists that the power of the Boers is decreasing. A Daily News correspondent has them fleeing to the southeast, a Standard correspondent reports them fleeing northward, a Daily Telegraph correspondent says that some are going north and others south, while a Morning Post representative says it is not known what the Boers are doing.

Evidently the feeling at Bloemfontein is that the dispositions of Lord Roberts are such as to enable him to concentrate a large force rapidly at any point. The Boers, being aware of this, are presumed to be thinking now chiefly of retreat.

The Bloemfontein correspondent of The Morning Post, telegraphing Monday, says:

"Small bodies of Boers are prowling around and are even coming within eight or ten miles of Bloemfontein. Three Johannesburg 'tarps' actually entered the town one night and escaped without being discovered.

"The Boer demonstration yesterday at Karee Siding was designed to cover the withdrawal of an immense convoy of provisions. There is no doubt that the Boer incursion into the southeastern part of the Free State was largely due to the need of replenishing victuals in the most fertile part of the country. This explains why the enemy marched south with empty wagons.

"Various important movements are occurring which, naturally, it is not desirable to specify."

The Bloemfontein correspondent of The Standard, telegraphing Monday, says:

"The Boers are in full retreat from Wepener, hugging the Basutoland frontier. The Basutos are marching parallel with them along the frontier, watching eagerly for the slightest encroachment."

The Daily News has the following from Reddersburg, dated Friday:

"General Chernside saw the rear guard of the Boers disappear southeast in full retreat.

"The enemy appear to be in strong force 14 miles east of Reddersburg. They are falling back before our advance guard."

The Bloemfontein correspondent of The Daily Telegraph, in a dispatch dated yesterday, says:

"The Boers have raised the siege of Wepener and have left Rouxville. A majority of them has undoubtedly retired north with the exception of a body of about 6,000, now reported to be going toward Bethulie."

A correspondent of The Daily Mail at Ladysmith, in a dispatch dated April 16, says:

"The Boers are down again at Dewdrop, east of Ladysmith."

The Lourenco Marques correspondent of The Daily Mail, telegraphing Sunday, April 15, says:

"The tone of The Standard and Diggers' News shows that the Transvaal government is relying strongly upon American intervention. Great results are expected from the campaign of Mr. Webster Davis and from the presidential contest.

"While the semi-blockade of Delagoa Bay has not done the slightest harm to the Transvaal, it has enriched foreign firms at the expense of ruined Britishers."

The Daily Mail has the following from Lady Sarah Wilson, dated Mafeking, April 5:

"The pinch of hunger is beginning to be felt, and relief seems more distant than ever.

"Since March 31 there had been no shelling until today, Commandant Snyman having taken his burghers to bar Colonel Plumer's road. Yesterday, however, he returned, and the bombardment was renewed today with splendid high velocity guns firing 14 pound shells, such as had not been used since the first days of the siege.

"The military authorities say the British artillery has nothing to compare with these guns."

Boer Prisoners Landed.

JAMESTOWN, St. Helena, April 17.—The remainder of the Boer prisoners were landed yesterday and sent to Deadwood. Colonel Schiel and the two others who had been confined at the citadel after their attempt to escape have been released, and they also have gone to Deadwood.

Mafeking Heard From.

LORENCO MARQUES, April 17.—Lieutenant Smith-Eman, a Rhodesian scout who entered Mafeking through the Boer lines, has returned to Colonel Plumer's camp with dispatches from Mafeking saying that all was well there April 8.

Tornado In Iowa.

HAMBURG, Ia., April 17.—A tornado did considerable damage in the northern part of town yesterday, completely wrecking Fred Johnson's brickyards. All of his sheds, corncribs and windmills were piled in a heap in the middle of his lot, and his house was moved from the foundation. The residences of Lark Miller and John Crane were complete wrecks, but no one was seriously injured. There was considerable damage done other property in the destruction of small buildings, etc. No reports have been received from the country, but it is not thought any great damage was done there.

Weather For the Farmers.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Secretary of Agriculture Wilson has directed that advantage be taken of the rural free delivery established by the postoffice department by having carriers on such routes distribute to the farmers cards containing the latest weather forecasts and warnings.

Low Rates to the West.

CHICAGO, April 17.—Under the name of homeseekers' excursions every interested line will today be selling round trip tickets to Denver, Colorado Springs and Pueblo for $31.50. This is a half fare rate plus $2, and purchasers may remain in the west for 21 days if they so desire.

HOW M'TAGUE GOT GAFFNEY.

The Clever Ruse by Which a Sheriff Secured the Drop on a Dangerously Bad Man.

Let it be said in the first place that there is nothing of the white feather about Tom McTague. He is cool, he is brave, he is intrepid. Many a daring exploit has he had in which he exhibited the highest qualities of courage. Once—it was back in 1883—Jim McMasters was sheriff and Tom was under sheriff; there was a gang of horse thieves operating along Flat creek, in what is now Granite county. They would steal anything from a horse to a telegraph pole. Everybody knew who they were, but was afraid to say a word. Everybody realized if he made complaint he would be burned out of house and home, his cattle and property confiscated, all his property either stolen or destroyed and he and his family left hopelessly ruined.

The leaders of this gang of "bad men" were Mark Ryan, Chris Gaffney and Jerry Quinlan. Tom McTague got after them. He landed Quinlan all right at New Chicago. He traced Gaffney and located him and a man named Pat Dooley in a charcoal house at Lion Mountain, in Beaverhead county. Tom left his horse a mile below and went into the charcoal house all alone.

"I want you, Gaffney," said McTague.

"I am not Gaffney," said Gaffney, drawing his gun, "and you had better get out of here."

Gaffney had the drop on McTague, and there was no use parleying.

"Oh, well," said McTague, "if you are not Gaffney I don't want you. I have made a mistake and beg your pardon. You looked so much like him you deceived people, and they put me onto you. As a matter of fact, you deceived me myself, for I have seen Gaffney myself once or twice. But come to inspect you more closely I see well enough that you are not Gaffney, the man I am looking for, and that's all right."

McTague turned to go. At that moment Gaffney dropped his gun. Quick as a flash McTague, who had his own gun in his outside coat pocket, drew it and had the drop on Gaffney.

"Now," said McTague, "no more monkeying, Gaffney, or you are a dead man. You march and do as I tell you."

McTague compelled both Gaffney and Dooley to march outside the house, threw them a pair of handcuffs with his disengaged hand and compelled them to put the handcuffs on themselves. Then he marched them down to his conveyance and took them safely to Deer Lodge. Ryan was caught at Glendale.

Unfortunately, however, the people who had suffered from the depredations of the gang were still too terrified to testify against them and all were acquitted. A year or two later Gaffney was shot dead in a Deer Lodge saloon in a barroom dispute.—Anaconda Standard.

BOY SWALLOWS FISHHOOK.

His Life Saved by the Simple Scheme of a Common-Sense Physician.

Early in my husband's professional career, says the wife of a busy physician, he was called in haste to the assistance of a boy who in some way had succeeded in lodging a fishhook in his throat. It was such a queer accident that we could not help laughing over it, despite the gravity of the case. Arming himself with various instruments for the dislodging of foreign bodies in the throat, the young doctor hurried away to find upon arrival the features of the case entirely changed by the lad having swallowed the hook. The parents were naturally much alarmed over the outcome of the unheard-of accident, and in the excitement everybody was prescribing what to do. Some were for pouring emetics down his throat, others suggested the stomach pump or a knife as the only means of saving his life, while others were for dosing him liberally with oil.

While questioning the boy regarding the size and so forth of the hook, merely to gain time for thought, my husband, calling common sense to his aid, directed that the boy be allowed to eat all the solid food he could manage to digest, being aware that the safety of the delicate organs through which the hook must pass depended solely on imbedding its cruel points in a mass of solids, so as to protect the surrounding tissues.

The amount of bread, meat, potatoes and other solids that that boy managed to put out of sight that evening even astonished those who knew something of the capacity of a boy's stomach. Only the minimum of fluids was allowed, and, well, the young doctor was gratified to be assured, on the following day, that his original method of treating fishhooks was both safe and practical. This is an accident not likely to become epidemic, but I repeat the formula, not knowing, but it might prove advantageous in other emergencies, such as sometimes arise when any sharp or jagged edged bodies such as pins, needles, tacks or bits of glass may have been swallowed.—What to Eat.

An Eye for Business.

Poor Lo had met with an accident on the plains.

"Flint Face," said the surgeon who had fixed him up, "how do you like your wooden leg?"

"Ugh!" responded the noble red man. "Very good. Like you make me all wood."

"All wood, Flint Face? Why in the world do you want to be all wood?"

"Make money! Get job stand in front of cigar store."—Chicago Evening News.

A HARD SUBJECT NOW

House Discusses Armor Plate and Its Manufacture.

TWO MEASURES AGAINST TRUSTS.

Special Committee to Recommend a Constitutional Amendment and a New Antitrust Law Extending the Sherman Act.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—The house yesterday entered upon the consideration of the naval appropriation bill with the prospect of a severe struggle ahead over the question of armor plate, building ships in government yards and the provision in the bill for the coast and geodetic survey. The bill carries $13,000,000 more than any previous naval bill. No arrangement could be reached to limit general debate. Yesterday Mr. Foss, the acting chairman of the committee, made a general defense of the bill, which was defended also by Mr. Cummings, the ranking minority member of the committee. The latter declared himself in favor of paying $545 for Krupp armor at least until all the ships authorized were built and said that the committee had information, the source of which he was not at liberty to reveal, showing that we could obtain Krupp armor at a price lower than any other country in the world. Mr. Kitchin of North Carolina, one of the members who signed the minority report, criticised what he termed the general extravagance of the bill and advocated the establishment of a government armor plate factory to protect the government against extortion. He also advocated the building of warships in government yards, as did Mr. Driggs of New York. Mr. Barber of Pennsylvania opposed the establishment of a government armor plate factory.

During almost the entire session the senate had under consideration the Alaskan civil code bill. The amendment providing for the mining of gold along the beach in the district was perfected after a discussion lasting nearly four hours.

Two measures directed against trusts were determined upon by the special subcommittee on trusts of the house judiciary committee. The special subcommittee has spent many days examining the various remedies proposed, and the conferences were not concluded until a late hour. As agreed upon, the remedy is twofold—namely, a constitutional amendment giving congress full power to deal with trusts and a new antitrust law making the following extensions to the Sherman act:

First.—Requiring the branding or marking of trust made goods shipped out of a state so as to be easily identified as the product of a trust.

Second.—Prohibiting the interstate traffic of trust made goods not so branded and making them subject to seizure and condemnation.

Third.—Requiring corporations having a capital over $1,000,000 or doing an annual business of $1,000,000 to file a report of their affairs with the secretary of state.

Fourth.—Providing the process of injunction against combinations sending trust made goods from state to state or to foreign countries.

Fifth.—Prohibiting the use of the mails to concerns and their officials proved to be trusts.

Loubet's First Fete.

PARIS, April 17.—The first of the series of official fetes to be given in connection with the exposition took place last night at the Elysee palace. President Loubet entertained 260 guests at dinner, the largest number ever seated at an Elysee banquet. Among those present were the diplomatic corps and the commissioners general of the various nations represented at the exposition. The decorations were very elaborate. Following the banquet a reception was held, to which 3,000 invitations were issued.

Professor Churchill's Funeral.

ANDOVER, Mass., April 17.—The funeral of the late Professor John Wesley Churchill of Andover Theological seminary took place here yesterday. A private service was conducted at the Churchill home at 1:45 o'clock by Rev. W. Winchester Donald of Trinity church, Boston. At 2:30 the public service took place in the seminary chapel. Dr. Alexander McKenzie of Cambridge officiated, and many Boston clergymen and friends and relatives of the professor were present.

Well Known Physician Dead.

NYACK, N. Y., April 17.—Dr. Isaac C. Haring, an old and well known physician of Rockland county, died yesterday at the Nyack hospital, where he underwent an operation several days ago. Dr. Haring was born at Nanuit. He was a graduate of the Albany Medical college and for 50 years had practiced medicine in Rockland county. For the last 30 years he had lived and practiced at West Nyack.

Northern Pacific Terminus Fixed.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—In the opinions handed down in two cases yesterday the supreme court decided that Ashland, Wis., and not Duluth is the eastern terminus of the Northern Pacific Railway company and that the company had right of way to the former place. The principal of these cases was that of Doherty versus the Northern Pacific Railway company.

Three Miners Killed In a Riot.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., April 17.—At a speak easy at mine No. 31 of the Berwind-White Coal company, near Windber, Somerset county, a riot occurred yesterday in which three men were killed, one being shot and two stabbed to death, and another man was so badly stabbed that his recovery is doubtful.

The Kentucky Contest Cases.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—The cases involving the Kentucky governorship were docketed in the United States supreme court yesterday. A brief statement, in which counsel for both Taylor and Beckham joined, was filed at the same time asking for an early hearing.

Woman Burned to Death.

TORRINGTON, Conn., April 17.—Mrs. Rebecca Barnes, a widow, aged 86, who resided on Migeon avenue, was burned to death late yesterday afternoon by her clothes accidentally coming in contact with a bonfire.

Another Conscience Contribution.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—The secretary of the treasury has received in an envelope postmarked "C. & St. L. R. P. O." from an unknown person a conscience contribution of $623.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

A few Sundays ago Rev. A. M. Lake, of the Point Pleasant M. E. church, was expected to preach his farewell sermon. The church was filled with members of the congregation, but Rev. Mr. Lake was too ill to appear. In this emergency his wife took his place in the pulpit and read the sermon, which he had prepared. The Point Pleasant Deacon says: "It was a grand message, full of love for the flock, which fully reciprocated it, and sad regrets for the sickness which had caused a cessation of his work there. As Mrs. Lake read the more tender and beautifully pathetic sentiments her voice would falter, but her energy dominated, and the finish witnessed not a dry eye in the buildidg."

A Paterson lad, writing to friends at home from the Philippines, gives many interesting details of the struggle there which do not usually get into print. His account of the natives and their habits and costumes is interesting, as is his story of the daily life of the private soldier. There is one suggestion in the letter which should be acted upon by the people of this country. The young man pleads for books to relieve the monotony of camp life. Bright and wholesome literature of whatever kind or date is always welcome to the soldier, especially if his field of duty is far from home. The experiences of the soldier are dreary enough at best, and likely enough to exercise no very beneficial influence upon his character. Books are plentiful and cheap. They are profitable comrades for those who read them, full of good cheer and ennobling influence. There would seem to be no good reason why the request of the lad should not be granted. He and his comrades should have all the books that they can use.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

At last our theatre-going readers are to have an opportunity of witnessing the performance of David Belasco's latest and greatest dramatic work, "The Heart of Maryland." It is to be brought forward at Music Hall Thursday night of this week. Since it passed from the pen of its brilliant author to the production upon the New York stage, its career has been one unprecedented triumph, and its fame as one of the most perfect and effective plays of modern construction, has become international. It is now being presented with uninterrupted success in the principal cities of England, France and Germany. Its run last season at the Adelphi Theatre in London exceeded one hundred performances. It is a story, or rather and idyl, of realism, and its theme—love and war. Thronged with startling events, thrilling situations, its progress touches a chord of humanly emotions and human passion with a grand and unerring purpose. The cast includes some of the foremost of the leading players from the Metropolitan theatres.

Last Personally-Conducted Tour to Washington Via Pennsylvania Railroad.

The last of the present series of Pennsylvania Railroad three-day personally-conducted tours to Washington, D. C., will be run May 3. The rate, $14.50 from New York, $11.50 from Philadelphia, and proportionate rates from other points, includes transportation, hotel accomodations, and transfer of passenger and baggage commodations for two days at the Arlington, Normandie, Riggs or Ebbitt House. For accomodations at Willards, Regent, Metropolitan or National Hotel, $2 50 less. All tickets good ten days, with special hotel rates after expiration of hotel coupons. An experienced chaperon will also accompany the party.

Side trips may also be made to Mount Vernon, the home of George Washington; Old Point Comfort, opposite which the Monitor and Merrimac met in their memorable struggle, and Richmond, Va. These side trip excursion tickets may be obtained by holders of Pennsylvania tour tickets at the following rates: Mount Vernon 75 cents; Old Point Comfort $3.50 via steamer, $6 00 all rail; Richmond, $4.

TRAINED CONSULS NEEDED.

Mr. Monaghan Advocates a Service Better Fitted and Paid.

BERLIN, April 17.—Mr. James C. Monaghan, the former United States consul in Chemnitz, in an interview said:

"We have reached a point where we must export, and we have shown that we can export. The question is, Where to? Our consuls must answer this. Hence the necessity for fully trained men in the consular service. Germany has made her immense strides forward as an exporting country mainly on the strength of thorough technical education. With us consular reform is sure to come. The question whether this shall be through the Adams or the Lodge bill is more a matter of detail. Some people in the United States favor a consular school, apportioning the students as at Annapolis and West Point. I think a school is not necessary, but special education is, and it would be necessary to apportion consular appointees upon the basis of representation in congress. I favor making $5,000 the lowest salary limit for consuls. A consul can do his country as much good as a member of congress and should be paid accordingly."

Mr. Monaghan started for England today, where he will deliver several lectures. He sails for the United States April 25 on the North German Lloyd steamer Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse to assume the editorship of a paper representing manufacturing interests in Philadelphia and to lecture on commercial and export subjects in the west for the American Association of Manufacturers, dwelling on the importance of industrial and commercial education and industrial art.

NO FISHING YET.

Adirondack Lakes Icebound and Will Be For Some Time.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., April 17.—The fishing season in the Adirondacks would ordinarily have opened yesterday, but as every lake and pond in the entire Adirondack wilderness is still locked in ice and as the game laws prohibit trout fishing through the ice no fishing was done. Old fishermen say it will be the 1st of May before the ice goes out, according to present indications.

Lake Placid, Saranac lake, St. Regis lake and Loon lake are frozen over from shore to shore, and on some of the smaller ponds the ice is still 18 inches thick. Teams heavily loaded with cement were driven across St. Regis lake yesterday to Rockefeller's new camp.

Holland Will Try Farming.

NEW YORK, April 17.—W. A. Holland, private secretary of John Gates, chairman of the board of directors of the American Steel and Wire company, has resigned and retired to a farm he has in Pennsylvania. Mr. Holland, who during Mr. Gates' absence sent a communication to a newspaper containing the information that the steel and wire company's chairman had made between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000 in stock speculation, which communication the newspaper reproduced, with the sender's signature, did not wait for Mr. Gates to return to his office, but left a note for him in which he explained that he knew he had made a mistake and feared that his action might be misconstrued. He therefore thought it best to leave.

Trains Snowbound In Colorado.

DENVER, April 17.—No trains have been run on any road between Denver and Colorado Springs since Sunday. About 20 trains, passenger and freight, are stuck in the snow on the division between the two points named. In some places the drifts are 16 feet deep, the snow being so wet and heavy that the plows are almost unable to move it. The storm has now subsided, and with an army of men at work the railroad officials announce that they expect to have the roads clear today.

Naval Movements.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Admiral Schley has cabled the navy department of his arrival on the Chicago at Para, Brazil, accompanied by the Montgomery. The next port of the squadron probably will be Bahia, where the Hartford is to meet the ships. The Prairie has sailed from New York for New Orleans to begin the season's work of the training of the Louisiana naval militia. The Alliance sailed yesterday from Jamaica for Guantanamo.

Cheers For the Queen.

DUBLIN, April 17.—The queen, accompanied by the princesses, drove out in an open landau yesterday in the presence of immense holiday crowds. The route was past the Hibernian school to Clondalkin, returning to the vice regal lodge by way of Long avenue, which was still lined with equipages and cheering crowds when her majesty returned.

Mrs. Ross Not Guilty.

DEDHAM, Mass., April 17.—Mrs. Mary E. Ross, who was on trial here for several days last week charged with manslaughter in shooting her husband, John P. Ross, was found not guilty by the jury, who returned a sealed verdict Saturday. He was shot in 1899.

A SHOT IN THE DARK

Soldier Killed by Strikers at Croton Dam.

HIS COMRADES SWEAR REVENGE.

Two Companies of Troops on the Ground—More Ordered Out—Search Being Made For Slayer of Sergeant Douglass.

NEW YORK, April 17.—One hundred and fifty-two soldiers and their officers reached the new Croton dam yesterday, and military authority was thus asserted. The soldiers comprised 75 men of the Eleventh separate company of Mount Vernon and 75 men of the Fourth separate company of Yonkers.

In the absence of Colonel George Emmett, who is in the south, the detachment was in command of Major Charles A. Denike, who will continue in charge until the arrival today, it is expected, of the Seventh regiment, three companies of which started to the scene last night.

This morning Troop A arrived. It bivouacked at Irvington last night after a six hours' hard ride from its armory on Madison avenue.

A shot fired in the dark last night, supposedly by a striker, killed Sergeant Robert Douglass of the Mount Vernon company, while he was making the rounds with a corporal's guard relieving the sentries.

An air gun was the weapon. No report was heard. Shot through the abdomen, Sergeant Douglass fell to the ground, exclaiming to his little command:

"Boys, I've been shot. Load quickly and fire!"

Pointing in the direction on the bluff whence he thought the shot came, the dying sergeant ordered his men to aim in that direction and commanded them to fire.

A volley rang out from the muskets of the militiamen. The detonation reverberated through the valley and aroused the entire camp. No answering shot came back from the unseen enemy. The squad of soldiers, reloading as they advanced, ran to the top of the bluff in search of the murderer, but he had escaped.

Meantime Sergeant Douglass was being attended by his comrades. A litter was hastily formed, a bandage was applied to his wound, and he was being carried down the mountain side to the hospital tent when a squad of soldiers from the Fourth separate company of Yonkers arrived with stretcher.

The shooting had alarmed Major Denike, who, surmising what had happened, sent assistance. Tenderly Douglass was taken into the hospital.

Surgeon Eugene Smith promptly did all in his power for the injured man, but the soldier was beyond relief. Half an hour later he died.

After the shooting Major Denike sent a party of 50 soldiers and 20 deputy sheriffs to hunt for the murderer. At midnight the strikers' settlement was being searched for him. The killing created great excitement among the soldiers, who expressed their determination to avenge the death.

Altgeld In Albany.

ALBANY, April 17.—Former Governor John P. Altgeld of Illinois was the principal speaker last night at the banquet given at the Stanwix hotel by the Bimetallic League of Albany County in honor of the anniversary of the birth of Jefferson. He responded to the toast, "What Would Jefferson Do?" The other speakers were: "The United States," by Assemblyman Daniel D. Frisbie of Schoharie; "Thomas Jefferson," by Hon. Jacob L. Ten Eyck; "Imperialism," by Hon. Zeb A. Dyer; "Bimetallism," by Joseph McDonough.

Two Years Without a Postoffice.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—The postoffice at Lake City, S. C., has been reestablished, and Mrs. Della D. Carter (white) appointed postmaster. This was done upon petitions filed by practically all of the white and colored citizens requesting re-establishment of the office and this lady's appointment. The colored people submitted a separate petition requesting her appointment. There has been no postoffice at Lake City since the colored postmaster there was killed by a mob two years ago.

Antilynching Law Stands.

COLUMBUS, O., April 17.—The supreme court has declared the antilynching law constitutional. The law provides that the heirs of any person who is lynched may collect $5000 from the commissioners in the county in which the affair occurs. The decision was rendered in the cases of Click Mitchell, hanged by a mob at Urbana, and J. W. Caldwell, who was shot and beaten by strikers at Cleveland. The present law was drawn by Albion W. Tourgee, the celebrated jurist and novelist.

Open Hearth Steel Production.

PHILADELPHIA, April 17.—The production of open hearth steel in the United States in 1899, as ascertained by the American Iron and Steel association, was 2,947,316 tons against 2,230,292 tons in 1898. The following shows the production of open hearth steel ingots and direct castings by states in 1899 in gross tons: New England, 57,124; New York and New Jersey, 61,461; Pennsylvania, 2,393,811; Ohio, 117,458; Illinois, 246,183; other states, 71,279.

Canal Consideration Delayed.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Representative Hepburn has secured additional signatures to his petition for the consideration of the Nicaragua canal. The petition was not presented to the committee on rules, and members of that body expressed doubt whether anything would be done at present, as it desired to dispose of present business before the house, including accumulated appropriation bills, before outlining any plans for the canal bill.

A Large Steel Steamer.

BOSTON, April 17.—The Boston Towboat company's new steel steamer Pleiades, the largest cargo steamer ever built in the United States, arrived here yesterday from Norfolk with 5,200 tons of coal. On her trip up the harbor yesterday she received a handsome ovation in the whistling from the various tugs, steamers, etc., and ringing of bells from vessels moored at their wharfs and also those at anchor in the stream.

One of the Argonauts Dead.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., April 17.—James W. Phillips, Sr., one of the original California gold miners and a graduate of West Point Military academy, is dead, aged 68 years.

PLAINFIELD, N. J., APRIL 17, 1900

The Rummage Sale.

Plainfield is very much interested just now in what will undoubtedly prove to be one of the most unique affairs ever given in this city for the benefit of charity. It is the "rummage sale" which several score women are arranging to carry out on a profitable basis for the Muhlenberg Hospital. They will undoubtedly receive very substantial encouragement in their unique enterprise, and in this connection it is interesting to note the following editorial from the Newark Advertiser, which was written after Newark had just ended a "rummage sale." The Advertiser says:

The "rummage" sale is a capital scheme for cleaning out the accumulated unused stuff in a household and converting it to some useful purpose.

Every housekeeper stores away in the attic articles of clothing, furniture, etc., which have a certain value in her eyes and cannot therefore, be thrown out or given away. The store is added to year after year and embraces all kinds of discarded articles, many of which would be of use to some less provided household.

The "rummage" has a charitable object and offers an opportunity to empty the attic of the accumulation to good advantage. When the frugal housekeeper realizes that her useless and cumbersome store of things can be turned into cash for philanthropy, or to promote causes in which she is interested, there is a clearance out of the attic, and the sense of giving it is gratifyingly blended with a feeling of deliverance from a long standing domestic nuisance.

It is already practically agreed on the part of New Jersey Republicans—big and little—that Senator Sewell and Kean and Franklin Murphy will be three of the four delegates-at-large to represent the State (G. O. P. in the National convention in Philadelphia in June, but who is to act as the fourth delegate-at-large is a question that is arousing considerable interest and perhaps not a little bitterness in Republican circles. Governor Voorhees has announced that he would like to receive the honor, and Barker Gummere, of Trenton, is also very anxious to be named for the place. Under ordinary conditions it would seem that as the Governor of the State, and occupying an exceptional prominent place in Republican affairs, Mr. Voorhees would be able to gain the honor. But, strange to say, powerful influences are working against him—and that openly. It is a ticklish question for the great minds of the Republican party to settle, and the outcome will be of particular interest in Union county, where the Governor is regarded as a favorite son.

If the Orange Journal is an index of the general sentiment of the Republicans in that section of the Eighth Congressional district Congressman Fowler need not fear about Frank Bergen injuring his chances for a renomination in the Essex county part of the district. The Journal, which, it must be admitted, is an influential organ in Republican affairs in the Oranges, says that "the sentiment of the Republicans of the district is overwhelmingly in favor of retaining Mr. Fowler in the public service. They believe that where ability and experience are combined it is worse than folly to dispense with the services of a representative with those qualifications for a new and untried man. The short term idea is a thing of the past in New Jersey. The custom of handing around nominations to this most important office in order to recognize a section of a district or the claims of some liberal contributor to the party no longer prevails."

It transpires that the claim of Michael J. Dady, of Brooklyn, that his million-dollar contract for sewers and paving in Havana is valid and binding, which claim has just been repudiated by the decision of Elihu Root, Secretary of War, was based on the favorable opinion secured by Mr. Dady from the law firm of which Mr. Root was a member at a cost of $5,000.

The Philadelphia Times notes that the comment in the English papers on Admiral Dewey's candidacy for the Presidency is very general, and the majority of it is perhaps unfavorable, and then adds: What right such a journal as the London Spectator has to make any comment at all is indicated by its reference to Dewey as "the hero who took Santiago."

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, April 17.—There was a delightful entertainment in the chapel of the Presbyterian church last evening under the auspices of the juniors of the Christian Endeavor Society. The various features were as follows: "Rising Sun," Clarence Carman; "Single Blessedness," Fred Touseau; "Soldiers' Dream of Home," Lizzie Rousch, Carrie Wyhuski, Dora Day, Fred Touseau, Hattie Giles; "A Country Wedding," Edna Corriell, the bride, Eugene Smith, groom, Mamie Snyder, bridesmaid, Francis Gender, best man, Mary Baldwin, maid of honor; "Reuben and Rachel," Edna Coriell, Lobert Lowery and Edne Baldwin; "Rock of Ages," Edna Baldwin, Geraldine Dunham; "Night Before Christmas," Lizzie Reusch and Lizzie Liable; post office, Arthur Bogardus, postmaster, with Edna Vail, Alice Apgar, Charles Lake, Hudson Wilcox as patrons; "Yankee Doodle's Kitchen," Alice Apgar, Lottie Ginder, Robert Lowery, Gertie Badum, Ellis Carman, Edgar Starker. One of the interesting features of the pretty effects was the tableaux "Goddess of Liberty" impersonated by Miss Florence Dickerson, the handsome and interesting young daughter of F. T. Dickerson, assisted by Robert Bogardus and Fred Touzeau.

Many of the members came forward and bade goodbye and God speed to Rev. A. I. Martine at the close of the Easter morning service. Mr. Martine preached his farewell sermon and severed his connection with that denomination. Mr. and Mrs. Martine leave tomorrow for their new home in Marlboro, N. J., followed by the wishes of a host of friends, who have learned to appreciate him at his worth after nine years' of labor among them.

Fred Snyder received a telegram from Brooklyn yesterday announcing the sudden death in that city of his father. Mr. Snyder was a retired steamboat captain. He is survived by two daughters and three sons. The funeral will be held at Brooklyn tomorrow afternoon.

The family of Rev. E. S. Jamison will leave for their new home in Raritan Thursday. Rev. S. K. Doolittle, the new pastor, occupied the pulpit at the Methodist church Sunday and preached an able discourse that was favorably commented upon.

The funeral of the late Manning Randolph was held from the Baptist church, South Plainfield, Saturday afternoon. Rev. J. A. Cubberly officiated. Interment was at the Hillside cemetery, Samptown.

The special missionary service at the Methodist church by the infant department of the Sunday-school on Easter served to attract a large congregation.

The Literary Society met with Mrs. Lewis T. Titsworth Saturday night. The subject studied was Whittier's "Snowbound."

The residence of A. N. Randolph is now supplied with water by the Watchung Water Company.

The Sandford farm is now occupied by Dr. Bunker, who is improving the grounds.

Miss Laura Orleman, of Montclair, has been visiting the family of John Peters.

Rev. S. K. Doolittle was entertained Sunday at the home of Thomas J. Todd.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, April 17.—The Republican primary to elect delegates to the State and Congressional conventions was held in Excelsior Hall last evening. John Robison was elected delegate to the State convention which meets at Trenton Thursday, and L. W. Miller and Randolph Drake delegates to the Congressional which is meeting in Belleville today. The Borough primary was held in the club house and proved to be one of the smallest and shortest primaries on record. T. R. Collins was elected a delegate to both conventions.

The residents of the borough and and village are obliged to send their telegrams between the hours of 7 a. m. and 7 p. m., as the Central Railroad Company have taken off the night operator at the station.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Smith and daughter, who have been visiting Mrs. Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs Joseph Clark, have returned to their home at Lincoln.

Interment of the body of Richard Vaught, who died at his home in Elizabeth Friday, was made in the family plot in the Baptist cemetery here yesterday afternoon.

About twenty from the village attended the Easter services in the Plainfield churches Sunday morning and evening.

Mr. and Mrs. John B. Stiliger have been visiting at the home of Mr. Stiligers parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Stiliger.

Miss Minnie Hosinger has been entertaining Miss Wahl, of New Providence, for a short visit.

Rev. G. M. Shott attended the weekly ministers conference meeting in New York yesterday.

Excelsior H. and L. Co. held their regular monthly meeting in their parlors last evening.

James McNair, of Brooklyn, has been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Robinson.

VIEW OF PARIS EXPOSITION GROUNDS.

The grounds and buildings of the Paris Exposition make an immense and gorgeous sight. The city has an unusual amount of land available for such affairs and the Seine fits into the scheme admirably. Architects and artists have done their parts and the gay Parisian and his guests may be relied upon to do the rest. The illustration shows a part of the grounds.

SOMERVILLE.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Somerville, April 17.—The rummage sale opened today with a large assortment of goods. Almost every article imaginable can be found here. There are pianos, sewing machines, bedroom suits, chairs, old mirrors, rare china and bric a brac, glassware, tinware, silverware, oil and gasoline stones, baby wagons, cradles, stands, clothing, hats, canned goods, coal, wagons, cigars, etc. There are many new articles contributed by the merchants of the town, as well as old antiques and curios. The goods were all placed in a small store first and thoroughly fumigated over night by the Board of Health in order to destry any ancient microbes that might be lingering around, although no danger was apprehended, as all the articles were contributed by respectable families. The sale is being held in the double store in the Adair building on the corner of Main and Doughty auenue. It is being conducted by the Ladies' Auxiliary of the hospital and the proceeds will be devoted to the hospital fund.

Miss Evangeline Norton, who lives with her sister, Mrs. H. W. Reussing, at this place, and is the solo singer in the Congregational church at Bound Brook, is to be married on Thursday, the 19th, to A. O. Foster, of Utica, N. Y. The ceremony will take place at Groveneur, N. Y., the home of the bride's parents. Miss Norton is a popular young lady and has lots of friends here who regret to have her leave town, but wish her happiness in her new estate.

A gang of Italian workmen are brought from New Brunswick every morning in one of the regular passenger cars of the Brunswick Traction Co., and landed between Bound Brook and Somerville. They smell of strong tobacco, garlic and numerous other things, and people with delicate nostrils are obliged to ride on the platforms, while the ladies have to resort to smelling bottles. They should be carried in a separate car.

Invitations are out for the wedding of Thomas P. Gallagher, of Raritan, and Ella M., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Stevens, of Plainfield. The ceremony will take place Wednesday evening, May 2d, at 7:30 o'clock, at the residence of the bride's parents, 133 Watchung avenue.

Dr. Wm Mathewson, of Plainfield, was in town today.

WESTFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Westfield, April 17.—The people living on the south side of the track, west of Broad street, have petitioned the township committee to extend Osborn avenue across the tracks of the Central Railroad. The street has been opened up on both sides of the track for many years. As it is now there is no crossing from Broad street, Westfield, until the bridge at Fanwood is reached. The railroad company will be asked to erect a bridge and if they refuse the street will be put across the tracks at grade.

Charles Embleton, the speedy young bicycle rider, who made so good a showing in road races and on the track last year, will ride this year for the Pierce wheel people. His brother William Embleton, who is also one of the best riders in the county, will be mounted as last year on a Spalding. The former now holds the cup offered by Emery at Scotch Plains and hopes to win it twice this season, which will give it to him for good.

The Republican primary was held in the town rooms last evening. Martin Welles was chosen chairman and Charles H. Denman secretary. Messrs. E. R. Pearsall, Wm. Foster and Harry P. Condit were elected delegates to the State convention Thursday, and Assemblyman Chester M. Smith, Fred. C. Decker, George H. Embree, Hiram L. Fink and A. G. Anderson to the convention of the Eighth Congressional district at Belleville today.

Benjamin Franklin Godshalk died at his home on Union place Saturday morning after an illness of one week from pneumonia. Mr. Godshalk was born at Easton, Pa., and was at the time of his death 50 years of age. He was the son of Benjamin and Anna R. Godshalk. His father was at one time sheriff of Northampton county, Pa.

Miss Mary Adelaide Luckey, of Plainfield, was one of the artists that appeared at a musicale given by the Thimble Club at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Cooke, on Westfield avenue, last evening.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

South Plainfield, April 17.—An entertainment will be held in Washington Hall under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society Wednesday evening, April 18th. Moving pictures, a phonograph, etc., form the programme.

The funeral of Manning Randolph was held at the Baptist church Saturday. It was one of the largest funerals ever held here.

John Angleman, of Bayonne, was calling on friends in town Sunday. He attended school here during the Civil war.

The first automobile to appear in town passed through Sunday.

Several children in town have the mumps.

John Connors is improving so as to sit up.

SUNDAY-SCHOOL INSTITUTE.

Union County Teachers Will Meet in Westfield Thursday.

The Sunday-school Institute and the Union County Sunday-school Association will meet in the Presbyterian church, Westfield, Thursday. The afternoon session will be held at 2 o'clock and will be under the auspices of the State Primary Council. The opening service will be in charge of the members of the Primary Teachers' Union, of this city, and Miss Nettie Beeching, of the Plainfield Union, will teach the primary Sunday-school lesson for next Sunday. Rev. Dr. A. E. Main, of this city, will conduct the Home Department Work.

In the evening Rev. J. W. Richardson, of the Park Avenue Baptist church, will deliver an address on "How to Stimulate Attendance at Church and Sunday-school," and G. E Hall, of this city, will give an address on "Value of Systematic Giving and How to Stimulate It."

THE COMMISSION'S EXPENSES.

What It Cost to Send Four Men to the Philippines.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Complying with a resolution of inquiry, the president has sent to the senate an itemized statement of the expenses of the Philippine commission. The statement includes the following items: Compensation of $10,000 each to Commissioners Schurman, Worcester and Denby, $30,000; per diem allowance to commissioners after their return to the United States, $5,285; secretary to the commission (compensation $8,500, per diem $3,660), $12,160; transportation, $13,687; household expenses in Manila, $9,252; clerical service, $31,701; miscellaneous, $14,998; total, $117,185.

The president also transmits with his indorsement a recommendation from Secretary Hay that provision be made for payment to the naval and military members of the commission (Admiral Dewey and General Otis) at the same rate as that paid to the other members. He says they have received nothing for their services in excess of their regular salaries.

MILLER FOUND GUILTY.

Jury Convicts the 520 Per Cent Financier.

NEW YORK, April 17.—William F. Miller, the 520 per cent Franklin syndicate manager, was found guilty shortly before 9 o'clock last night by the jury, which had been out since ten minutes after 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Miller was accused of swindling thousands of persons in all parts of the country out of over $1,000,000.

Counsel for the accused declined to put in any testimony for the defense, and the case closed yesterday afternoon.

Judge Hurd's charge to the jury was taken as being unfavorable to the defendant.

When the verdict was announced, Miller grew white and showed extreme nervousness. His counsel announced that the case would be appealed. The prisoner was remanded for sentence a week from next Friday.

A Flourishing Society.

BOSTON, April 17.—The sixty-eighth annual meeting of the Congregational Sunday School and Publishing society was held here yesterday, the president, Rev. Willard Scott, D. D., of Worcester, presiding. The chief feature at the annual report presented by the secretary, Rev. George M. Boynton, D. D., was the showing that 22 superintendents, 16 missionaries and 5 correspondents had been employed in the field. Of the 104 Congregational churches added to the list during the year to Jan. 1, 1899, 31 grew from schools planted by this agency. The total receipts for the year amount to $62,990, about $5,000 more than the preceding year.

Buffalo Trade Excursion.

BUFFALO, April 17.—The first trade excursion of the Buffalo Merchants' Exchange and Credit Men's association left here yesterday morning at 8:20 on a train of four superbly equipped cars of the Erie railway for a week's tour of western New York and Pennsylvania. Sixty-five business houses were represented. Last night was spent in Rochester. Tonight will be passed in Elmira, Wednesday night in Hornellsville, Thursday night in Bradford, Pa., and Friday night in Cambridge Springs. The party will return to Buffalo Saturday evening.

Portugal Ready to Pay.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—United States Minister Irwin at Lisbon has reported to the department of state that the Portuguese government has made all necessary arrangements for the payment of the judgments, amounting to almost $5,000,000, on the award of the Delagoa bay arbitration. As stated in the house by the Portuguese minister for foreign affairs, the money can be realized upon the Northern and Eastern railroad bonds, and the Lourenco Marques railroad will remain in the possession of Portugal.

A sign in South Clark Street reads: "Stomachs Washed Out While You Wait." It means just what it says. A doctor who has an office at the head of the stairs does the work of renovating stomachs that have become diseased through bad treatment by the owner. For the modest sum of 50 cents he inserts a rubber tube down the esophagus and pumps hot water into the human reservoir until the cavity is thoroughly flushed out. The benefits of the treatment are said to give so much satisfaction to the sufferer that the doctor has many regular customers, and he is making a good living.—From Printers' Ink (Chicago Correspondence), January 27th, 1897.

EASTER COSTUMES.

They Indicate the Prevailing Styles For the Future.

Costumes for Easter set the pace for later ones, so we may expect to see much stitching and a continuation of the excessive use of tucks and plaits. The newest idea in tucks is to have them waved instead of straight.

Buttons still hold an important position. Both small and large ones are used and are often very costly and are elaborately made. Watteau miniatures and steel or jeweled buttons are most employed for elegant costumes.

Revers, yokes, collars and panels are shown in embroidery of all kinds. Embroidered applications also continue in use, while lace and spangles still appear. Lace in particular decorates in all manners, completely covering bedroom gowns, ornamenting the most formal costumes and being generally employed.

GIRL'S COSTUME.

The picture shows a very pretty costume for a girl. The skirt of nile green cloth is mounted in two hollow plaits at the back, while around the foot is a deep band of tucked white cloth, the upper edge of the band being concealed by an application of cloth. The blouse is of green cloth perforated and embroidered, opening over a collar and plastron of tucked nile green silk. The tight sleeves of perforated cloth have cuffs of tucked green silk. The belt is of green silk. The large hat of white straw is trimmed with a bow of nile green taffeta and pink hawthorn flowers. The perforated cloth might be replaced by renaissance guipure with equally good results.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

WARM WEATHER MATERIALS.

Goods to Be Used For Light Summer Costumes.

Pale, soft tones are much to be worn. Fine cloths in Scotch plaid effects of delicate coloring are a pleasing novelty. Stitched strips of satin are again seen for decoration of woolen fabrics, and lace, embroidery, spangled and beaded tulle and fringe in which beads are mingled continue to be largely employed.

Cloths for summer wear are ideally thin, light and soft and are admirably adapted to the plaited and tucked styles which promise to continue in favor indefinitely. Skirts, sleeves and bodices are all plaited, and there is every prospect that gathered and shirred effects will be equally well worn, especially as delicate summer fabrics lend themselves so well to such arrangements. Crepe de chine, mousseline de soie, organdie and open embroidery will be more apt to be gathered than plaited, on account of the transparency of the goods. The general shape of the costume, however, shows no symptom of change—the skirt will continue to be close at the top and softly expansive at the foot.

The illustration given today shows a bodice of satin cloth. It is plain at the back, but is laid in stitched plaits in front. The sleeves are also plaited lengthwise and stitched. The yoke, the tops of the sleeves and the cuffs are of guipure, and the belt is covered with applications of guipure. The collar also is of guipure, with a frill of plaited surah at the top.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

HIS TRUNK IS STILL THERE.

And Mary Anna's "Daddy" Still Regrets Using a Phrase That Had Two Meanings.

William Frederick Allen was in love with Mary Ann Jenkins, and was unhappy when not in her company. When he began to call upon her it was only on Friday nights, and he never stayed later than ten. Then he began to come on Monday nights also. Later he added Sunday afternoons to his list, and so on until he was liable to drop in at the Jenkins residence every evening in the week, besides spending every Sunday afternoon there.

Mr. Jenkins, Mary Anna's father, watched with growing anger the increasing frequency of Mr. Allen's calls, and often expressed his mind on the subject to the wife of his bosom, but she silenced him with the convincing query: "Would you like Mary Anna to die an old maid?"

Notwithstanding this, Mr. Jenkins was rarely civil to the young man for he did not like him, and he was more than ever on the point of saying something to him which, in all probability he would have regretted later.

One day, however, Mr. Jenkins could restrain himself no longer. William Frederick had not omitted to call a single night for nearly three weeks, and had been at the house on six afternoons in a week. After Mary Anna had dismissed her admirer she turned and confronted her papa. He made a great effort to be calm, and said, with what he intended to be cutting sarcasm:

"Hadn't that young man of yours better bring his trunk?"

Instantly Mary Anna threw her arms around her father's neck and kissed him impulsively.

"O! You dearest, sweetest, best father in all the world," she cried, "you don't know how happy you make me."

"What!" gasped the old man.

"And William will be happy, too, when I tell him," she went on, nearly strangling her parent with her enthusiastic hugs.

"W—what's that?"

"You see, papa, it's just this way. Dear Billy is the best fellow in the world, but he isn't well off, and we couldn't for the life of us see how we could go to housekeeping; but your kind suggestion that he bring his trunk has solved all the difficulties. We'll stay right with you, father dear, when we are married. O! You are the best daddy in creation. I'll go and tell mamma and we'll decide on the wedding day right away."

Mr. Jenkins attempted to speak, but she had gone, and the next he heard was that the wedding would take place in about three weeks. If he had any opinions on the subject they were mental ones, for he was not allowed to express them orally, and the affair came off as planned.

His son-in-law and family are still living with him.—Chicago Tribune.

CLEANING CLOTH.

How to Treat Worn Dress Goods to Give Them a New Look.

Dark cloth of any kind, if it is pure wool, can be easily cleaned. Professional dyers and cleaners do not attempt to clean cloth which is mixed with cotton, or wool or any other textile. Experienced manufacturers dislike to use mixtures even of silk and wool, because they are less durable and less satisfactory as a rule than goods of pure wool or pure silk.

To clean cloth dresses rip them, if possible. Men's cloth clothes can be much more easily cleaned without ripping than women's gowns. Whether the garment is ripped or not, begin by shaking and brushing all the dust you can from it. After this examine it for grease spots. Remove these with gasolene. If they are obstinate heat them and try washing out the grease with a solution of soap bark and lukewarm water. Use a stiff brush to scrub the goods on both sides. When it is dry use gasolene again. In time the most obstinate grease stain will come out. When the grease stains are gone clean the garment for dust. Go over every portion of it on the right side with a brush dipped in a solution of soap bark. Rinse off this soap with clear cold or lukewarm water, taking care if the garment is not ripped to absorb the rinsing water as fast as it is applied. By this means the soap bark can be rinsed out. Let the garments dry a little, then iron them dry. Ammonia may be used diluted with water to help rinse out soap bark. It dries more rapidly than clear water. Silk garments that will not wash are difficult to clean. A mixture of half alcohol and half water applied with a stiff brush or a firm white cotton cloth does better work than anything else we know. Ribbons may be very successfully cleaned in this way after first removing any grease stains with gasolene. After using alcohol and water absorb all the moisture you can with a linen cloth, lay them on a linen cloth and lay a linen cloth over them and a heavy cotton one over that, and press them nearly dry. Now press them perfectly smooth with a thin cotton cloth over them, and let them hang in a warm room on a line until they are perfectly dry. Linen absorbs water more easily and is better than cotton to lay under and over silk when it is pressed.—N. Y. Tribune.

Port Royal CornCakes.

One pint of corn meal, four tablespoonfuls of flour, one quart of milk and three eggs, with salt to taste. Mix flour and meal with the milk, beat the eggs very light and add them. Bake on a griddle. Spiced sugar goes very nicely with these cakes. To prepare it, take a cupful of granulated sugar and stir in well one-half teaspoonful of ground cinnamon and a good pinch each of ground cloves and mace, sprinkle well with nutmeg; mix thoroughly.—Housewife.

IN THE PUBLIC EYE ABROAD

Statistical and Historical Data Bearing on the News of the Day from Foreign Lands

American Enterprise in Switzerland.

Capitalists of Europe are watching closely the invasion of what they consider their "sphere of influence" by American brains and American money. But while they are inclined to resent this new American influence that is being exerted in European cities, they are not so prejudiced as to be unwilling to invest their money in projects in which the Americans are leaders.

Within six months an electric street railway, projected by citizens of San Francisco and constructed by an American electrical engineer, will be in operation in Geneva.

Some two and a half years ago, Mr. Henry E. Butters, of San Francisco, Cal., who has been connected with the construction and exploitation of street railways in Cape Town and the City of Mexico, was in Geneva. He found a congested population, badly served by old-fashioned steam tramways and horse cars, and the idea of securing control of the franchise of the principal companies and organizing a new company for the operation of a street railway system on the American plan at once occurred to him. The interest of local capitalists was enlisted, and in the course of some months Mr. Butters had secured a controlling interest in the Narrow Gauge Street Railway company of Geneva, which owns and operates 44.74 miles in the city and suburbs. The projectors also secured an option on the franchise and property of the Compagnie Generale des Tramways Suisses, which owns and operates 10.56 miles in the heart of the city and its environs. The price to be paid if the right under this option is exercised, as it doubtless will be, is $1,254,500. The projectors have also secured a federal charter under the title of "Compagnie Genevoise des Tramways Electriques" and obtained concessions to lay their tracks on some of the finest streets and quays of the city, including the famous Rue du Rhone and Quai des Bergues. They also secured the right to construct and operate a line on the famous lake-side drive from Geneva to Versoix, a distance of some 5.44 miles, past the fine villas and chateaux of the wealthy and aristocratic classes.

The new company was organized with a capital of $965,000, but none of the stock has yet been issued or sold, although it has probably been largely apportioned. It is understood that the money for the construction is being furnished by the Paris Bank of South Africa. London capitalists are also interested in the venture, and it is likely that the new company in a short time will own and control all the street car lines in the city and canton of Geneva. To put existing options into effect, to construct and equip all these lines on the American plan, and to exploit the extra exclusive rights of the new company will entail a total expenditure of about $2,895,000. The company would then have about 95 miles of road traversing the city in every direction and serving the entire canton. The total population amounts to about 119,000. The canton is next to the smallest of the Swiss confederation and has only about 12 square miles of territory. The lines would also cross the frontier of France and would serve various small towns in the French departments of Haute Savoie and Ain.

The engineer under whose management and direction the new lines are being constructed is Mr. Stephen D. Field, of New York and Boston. The work is progressing, nine miles of track having already been laid. One, at least, of the new lines will be in operation by the 1st of June. The American overhead-trolley system is being used and the American system of conduits for underground cables, for the first time in Europe.

Italian Laborers in Switzerland.

It is claimed that 100,000 Italian laborers, skilled and unskilled, find employment in Switzerland, 90 per cent. of whom come into the country in the spring and return in the fall. For endurance, industry, sobriety and economy the Swiss affirm that the Italians excel all other laborers; but it is claimed that when the labor season is over they return across the border to their homes and spend their earnings in the Italian markets. It is estimated that these laborers take to Italy every fall an average of 200 francs per person. This would make an annual total of 18,000,000 francs ($3,474,000), or six francs per capita for the entire Swiss population. This is nearly two-thirds of the per capita ground, poll, fortune and income tax for the entire country, which amounts to over $5,500,000 annually.

Important Decision in Germany.

The German federal court recently rendered a decision that is of interest to the commercial interests of every nation because it places the ownership of trade secrets in Germany in the hands of the manufacturers instead of the hands of the employe who discovered or invented them. In this particular case it appears that a foreman in the employ of a certain establishment invented a substance which his employer used in finishing "rustling" velvet. The use of this substance was considered a trade or business secret of the firm. The foreman, however, imparted the composition to others, and the firm had him tried under the law of May 27, 1898, entitled "An act for the suppression of base competition" (Gesetz zur Bekaempfung des unlauteren Wettbetriebs). The foreman was found guilty in the lower court.

The case was appealed to the federal court and the defense made the point that the foreman had only imparted his own invention to others; that the same was his intellectual property. The federal court dismissed the appeal on the following grounds:

The foreman was employed as such by the firm, and therefore it was his duty to try experiments by which the methods of work could be improved.

His achievement in inventing the substance was therefore only a part of the services which he owed to his employers. The invention belonged to his employers, and therefore the action of the foreman in imparting the secret to outsiders was in violation of the law referred to. Only an employe is intrusted with experiments which may lead to such inventions. A stranger, whose labor does not belong to the establishment, is excluded from such experiments. The foreman was admitted to the experiments only on account of his employment by the firm, and it followed that the invention in question was made by him in consequence of his employment by the firm, for which he was paid.

Next to France, Switzerland seems to have had a smaller percentage of births over deaths in 1898 than any other country in Europe. France, with a population of 38,000,000, had 843,933 births and 810,073 deaths, or an increase in births over deaths of eight-tenths of one per cent. of the population. Switzerland had but 11 births over deaths in every 1,000 inhabitants; England, 11½; Germany, 15; Russia, 14; Belgium, 11½; Italy 13; Austria, 12; and Hungary, 12. There were 8.1 marriages in Switzerland in every 1,000 inhabitants; in France 7.5; in England, 15.2; in Germany, 8.4; in Russia, 8.6; in Belgium, 8.2; in Italy, 7.8; in Austria, 8; in Hungary, 8.2. From 1870 to 1898 the population of Switzerland increased 370,000; from 1876 France increased 1,500,000; Germany has gained 10,000,000 since 1875; England, 6,000,000 between 1871 and 1891; Belgium gained 1,242,000 between 1866 and 1890; from 1869 to 1890 Austria gained 3,500,000 and Hungary 2,000,000; since 1882 Italy has increased 5,000,000. In Switzerland there are 73.2 inhabitants to the square kilometer (247.1 acres); England has 120; Germany, 96.7; Russia, 49.9; Belgium, 206; Austria, 79.6; Hungary, 54.2; Italy, 110.5; and France, 71.8, or the third lowest of the European powers, Russia and Hungary having less than France.

National Movement in Switzerland.

There is a national movement in Switzerland looking to the establishment of hospitals for the treatment of lung diseases. Already there are hospitals at Leysin, Heiligenschwendi, Davos, Bronnwald, Faltisbergwald and Malvillers. The number of beds is at present nearly 400. The principal cure is fresh air, rain or shine.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

The Board of Education, at a regular meeting held April 2d, 1900, adopted the following resolutions, viz:

Resolved. That a requisition be made upon the Assessors and the Collector of Taxes of this city and school district to assess and collect this current year, the sum of 50-100 (fifty one hundredths) per cent. on the taxable valuation of the real and personal property in the city and district for school purposes, for the school year 1900-1901, commencing September 1st, 1900, and also such sum as may be required for the annual payment on indebtedness and interest.

Resolved. That a requisition be made upon the Assessors and the Collector of Taxes of this city and school district to assess and collect this current year, the sum of 4-100 (four one hundredths) per cent on the taxable valuation of the real and personal property in the city and district, for the school year 1900-1901, commencing September 1st, 1900, as a special school tax now required by law for the purchase of text books and school supplies, these resolutions to be signed by the President and Secretary of the Board and a copy to be served on the Assessors and the Collector of Taxes and advertised in compliance with the law governing the same.

Signed, J. B. PROBASCO, President,
FRED C. LOUNSBURY, Secretary

PORTO RICO TO A NEW YORKER

An American Business Man's Favorable Impressions of the Island and Its People.

From whatever point of view the city of San Juan is seen it is like an elaborate stage picture. The houses as well as the fortification, government buildings, etc., rise in tiers one behind another and the embrasures for the guns, the parapets, and the Moorish towers here and there add to the effect. All the buildings are of brightly painted stone or brick, with marble tiled floors and stairs with iron railings. The interior partitions and roofs are also of masonry, so that the town practically is incombustible and needs no fire department. This applies to the poorest quarters of the city as well as to the best, and the only exceptions are a few detached wooden houses and the negroes' huts at the south end. Looking out from the city in any direction the same suggestion of stage scenery strikes one. The blue waters of the ocean on the one side and the bay on the other, with the wooded plains and the hills and mountains rising in the distance and the clear atmosphere bringing everything apparently into such range heighten the theatrical appearance. The views in every direction are beautiful. Walking through the city one is struck with the smooth clean brick paved narrow streets with their overhanging piazzas, the arched entrances to the buildings and the well-stocked busy and businesslike stores.

We read of the dirt and poverty of Cuba, but nothing of the sort is apparent here. The people of all sorts and conditions look well, are dressed cleanly and brightly and there are no dirty children or ragged negroes in any quarter such as we see in our own southern cities. In a week's walking through all parts I have not seen a beggar or anyone who looked as if he did not have enough to eat. Neither have I seen an intoxicated person, though cafes and "American bars" are plentiful and native rum is cheap.

The American soldiers here are allowed to have almost every liberty, and are to be met with everywhere and are in appearance, manner and action a credit to their country and to their officers. They have very little to do, as the entire population is peaceable and friendly and satisfied to be "Americans." This feeling is especially strong among the young men, and the rising generation of both sexes from appearances will be as enthusiastic Yankees as our boys and girls in the states. The fact that there are less than 2,000 United States troops on the entire island, with close to a million population, shows the friendliness of the Porto Ricans.

As regards comfort in living, of course, it is warm, but there is a refreshing breeze from the ocean or the mountains almost always, and with proper clothing one can be comfortable. We have good drinking water and there are four ice factories and a fifth is being built. Nearly everything in the way of food supplies that can be obtained in New York is obtainable here, and many fruits etc., in addition. The New Yorker feels the need of American cookery. Though there are some "American" hotels here, so called, grease and onions are still too conspicuous. The beef and milk cattle are of the best, fat and sleek as anywhere, but American ways of killing and dressing the beef would be a big improvement. Fish are excellent and plenty. There is no game worth speaking of, but neither are there poisonous snakes or insects, so we won't grumble at that. Of course we have summer vegetables, beans, tomatoes, lettuce, &c., all the time, winter and summer.

Capital and direction are what is needed. Sugar, coffee, tobacco and oranges are the crops to raise and the soil and the workers are here. Money and intelligence are needed particularly in the development of the tobacco and fruit industry. There is a great future for both of these crops here. Tobacco is good now, but with improved handling and curing will equal almost any Havana. Oranges and pineapples of the best variety flourish in all parts of the island, and before long their production in large quanties for the states will be among the American enterprises here. Sugar and coffee have first place with the Porto Rican agriculturists and will probably always be their staple crops. —N. Y. Sun.

Tennessee Criticising Missouri.

A tall, lean, hungry-looking countryman walked up to the box office at the Grand opera house several nights ago and called for a front seat. He was accommodated as he threw his half dollar down in front of the ticket seller. He stalked into the theater about ten minutes before the curtain went up and was shown his seat. The usher did not turn it down for him, and he didn't know there was any turn to it. He perched himself on the edge of the upturned seat and was apparently enjoying himself until an old gentleman behind him touched him on the shoulder and said:

"Why don't you sit in your seat right?"

"Wal, I 'lowed I was," replied the countryman, but he was from Missouri, and the usher had to show him. —Memphis Scimitar.

SPORTING.

ON THE DIAMOND

The Arion baseball team played its second game Saturday afternoon against the nine from the Lincoln High School of Westfield. The game was played on the Sherman avenue grounds. The Westfield boys won by a score of 16 to 11.

The Plainfield High School team will meet the nine from Leal's school tomorrow afternoon at three o'clock on the Washington avenue grounds. There is little doubt but that the Leal School boys will have no trouble in winning the match. If the High School boys brace up, however, they may be able to give the others a hard fight for it. The evident superiority of the Leal School team over the borough High School nine made it practically certain how tomorrow's game will turn out. The season tickets issued by both the Leal School and High School management will admit the holders to the game tomorrow afternoon.

GOLF

There were quiet a number of golfers out on the Park Golf Club course Saturday afternoon for a little preliminary practice. The putting greens were not yet ready for use and will not be until Saturday of this week but Professional Blair arranged some temporary holes that enabled the members to get their hand in at the game. The fair greens are in excellent condition, even better than last year. There will be some playing this week, particularly by the boys who are home from college. The course will not be regularly opened until Saturday afternoon. The small boys in the neighborhood are taking an interest in the course as there will be opportunity for a nnmber to act as caddies.

Miss Celia Hiscock, of Westerley, R. I., is a guest at the home of Mrs. George H. Babcock, of West Eighth street.

DR. CARROLL THANKED.

Prominent Porto Rican Appreciates What He Has Done for the Island.

Dr. H. K. Carroll, of Westervelt avenue, who was President McKinley's special commissioner to Porto Rico to investigate the internal affairs of that island, has just received a letter from Senor M. Radrena, a prominent and influential business man of Mayaquaz, in which he thanks Dr. Carroll for his interest in the affairs of the island, and the desire to see her citizens prosand be well governed. Concerning the present condition of the island he says:

"You cannot imagine what enormous misery there is in the island. I see people of good standing pledging their jewels first, then their furniture, to keep soul and body together. The delay in disposing of the affairs of the island in the House of Representatives at Washington has aggravated matters very much."

Judgment for Plaintiff.

The contract case of J. W. Matthews against F. A. Long was tried in Justice Mattison's office yesterday. Lawyer Irving L. Brady represented the plaintiff. The amount of the claim was $115 77. The defendent did not appear and judgment was given for $118.36, which includes the costs.

Borough Public Hearing.

The Borough Council will hold an adjourned meeting Friday evening of this week when the sidewalk ordinance will come up for a second reading and a public hearing will be granted those interested.

Gets Out Today.

Theodore Wilson, of the borough, who was committed to the lockup for five days for failing to pay a $5 fine imposed for being drunk and disorderly, will be released today.

Admitted to Bail.

Frank Johnson, arrested Sunday for assaulting Mrs. James Caufield, of Johnston avenue, has been admitted to bail by Justice Nash, before whom he was arraigned.

Mr. and Mrs. DeNise, of Harmony street, are rejoicing over the arrival of an eight-pound boy.

APRIL TERM OF COURT.

CONVENED IN SOMERSET COUNTY THIS MORNING.

Mayor Smalley and A. L. Force Grand Jurors From the Borough—Judge Magie's Court.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville April 17—The April term of the Supreme court in Somerset county convened in the court house here today, Judge Magie presiding. The members of the Grand Jury from North Plainfield are Mayor N. B. Smalley and A. L. Force. The former was elected foreman of the jury.

In charging the Grand Jury, Judge Magie referred especially to the cases of liquor dealers who are granted licenses, but who do not pay the fee until sometime after, during the interval of which they continue to do business. Judge Magie said that where there is evidence to that effect it is the duty of the Grand Jury to indict.

A number of license applications came up and most of them were laid over for a week.

The following is the list of Supreme court cases which North Plainfielders are interested in and which will be tried at this term of the Somerset county court: Nellie Steger against Andrew Dominick, in tort; W. K. McClure represents the plaintiff and J. P. D. Kirch the defendant. Union Stove Works against Alfred B. Thorn on contract; Murphy & Blatz for the plaintiff and W. S. Angleman for the defendant. Ronalds & Johnson against Alfred B. Thorn, on contract; Nelson and W. N. Runyon for the plaintiff, and W. S. Angleman for the defendant. The cases on appeal include Wm. Newcorn against James M. Derby; Justus H. Cooley against Peter Zimmerman.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mrs. George Thatcher and daughter, of West Seventh street, are visiting friends in Philadelphia.

Miss Smalley, of Somerset street, will entertain the Tuesday Evening Euchre Club at her home this evening.

Lesley and Ralph Hallock, of Willow avenue, have gone to Ghent, N. Y., where they will spend a few days fishing.

Mrs. C. Pfeffer, formerly of Madison avenue, but who has been living at Denver, Col., for the past two years has taken up her residence at Ceder Edge, Delta county, Col.

Supervising Deputy and Grand Overseer V. W. Nash of the A. O. U. W. will pay an official visit to Rahway Workmen tonight. Tomorrow night he is in Phillipsburg and Thursday night in Hackensack.

Although George Weida, the West Front street confectioner, deals in sweets, there is nothing in his store that is as sweet as the baby boy that arrived to brighten his home. The little fellow made his debut Sunday morning.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—The work of laying a stonewalk about the Watchung School property in the borough will be started in a few days.

—The Heptasophs will meet this evening to take action on the death of John D. Runyon, a member of that organization.

—Jerry Moore, for several years grocery clerk at J. Fred MacDonald's and recently at J. F. Mattiage's store, has accepted a position with C. E. Gulick & Co., the Park grocers, and will be pleased to have his friends give him their wagon orders or call at the store and leave their order.

Funeral of Late Isaac Lance.

The funeral services of Isaac Lance were held from his late home yesterday afternoon. The services were conducted by Rev. Cornelius Schenck, Ph. D., who spoke feelingly to the relatives and friends. The members of Queen City Lodge, No. 226, I. O. O. F., of which Mr. Lance was a member, attended the services in a body and accompanied the casket to the grave, where the officers of that organization conducted the Odd Fellows' burial ritual.

Entertained at Euchre.

The members of the Montauk Euchre Club were entertained very pleasantly last evening at the home of Miss Clara Williams, of Madison avenue. There were five tables. Miss May McLoughlin and Robert M. Clark won the first prizes. The second prizes went to Mrs. Robert M. Clark and Francis J. Blatz. Miss Addie Weaver and Arthur A. Cannon took the consolation prizes. Dancing followed.

ALLEN GETTING READY.

Porto Rico's Civil Governor Will Start This Week.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Mr. Allen, the newly chosen governor of Porto Rico, is arranging to leave Washington for San Juan toward the end of the present week. He will be accompanied by Mrs. Allen and their daughter. The trip will be made on the United States steamship Dolphin, Captain Southerland, which is now lying at the Washington navy yard. It is Governor Allen's intention to make this a flying visit. He will set up the new civil government and inside of three weeks will return to the United States to arrange his private affairs.

The president and Secretary Long have determined that the inauguration of the civil government in Porto Rico shall be marked with as much pomp as is befitting an event of that magnitude. Therefore the United States will see to it that there is at San Juan on the occasion of the inauguration of the first American governor a dignified and impressive ceremony that will fix the event in the minds of the people.

The United States steamer Dolphin, which will carry Mr. Allen to San Juan, will enter the harbor there escorted by the entire north Atlantic squadron under the command of Rear Admiral Farquhar on his flagship the New York. The squadron is now at Bermuda and will time its movements so as to arrive off the north coast of Porto Rico about the time the Dolphin is sighted.

Governor Allen will be inaugurated at San Juan on May 1, and General Davis, the military governor, will turn out all of the United States troops under his command in honor of the occasion. The ships of the squadron will fire salutes, which will be answered by the shore batteries. There will be some speeches, and at night the fleet will use their electric lights, and there will be general illuminations.

FILIPINOS ATTACK.

Repulsed With Great Loss at Batoc. Another Force Trapped.

MANILA, April 17.—General Young reports that 300 insurgent riflemen and bolomen attacked the American garrison at Batoc, province of North Ilocos, but were repulsed, losing 106. The Americans had no casualties.

A troop of the Third cavalry trapped 180 insurgents near Benguet. Fifty-three rebels were killed and 44 taken prisoners. The Americans had one man wounded. Ninety Spanish prisoners who were liberated at Tayabas, the capital of the province of the same name, arrived here yesterday morning.

Much Gold In Luzon.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 17.—The transport Tartar, which arrived Saturday afternoon from Manila, has been released from quarantine. The Tartar brought advices from the Philippines up to March 6. One of the reports from Manila is that William Odun, who is spoken of as a miner of large experience, has returned from a prospecting trip to the distant coast of Vigan. He showed rich specimens of gold and declared that he had located a ledge of quartz as rich as anything in Colorado or California. He is organizing a company of ex-soldiers and will go into the mountain districts of Vigan to secure claims. In an interview in the Manila Freedom Odun says: "Never before did I see such indications of mineral wealth. I have traveled from the Klondike to South Africa, and I am convinced there is not a richer mining country in the world than the island of Luzon."

To Build Mammoth Steamers.

NEW LONDON, Conn., April 17.—The lease conveying land in Groton from the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company to the Eastern Shipbuilding company was deposited with the clerk of the town of Groton yesterday. The shipbuilding company acquires the land for three years, with a privilege of five three year renewals. The shipbuilding company is to pay a monthly rental of $250. The keels for the two steamers which will be the largest in the world will be laid within three months. The dimensions of the boats are as follows: Six hundred and thirty feet long, 73 feet wide and 56 feet deep. They will be of 34,000 tons' displacement. They will attain a speed of from 12 to 14 knots under forced draft.

Church Pillaged and Burned.

PARIS, April 17.—The historic church of Notre Dame des Vertus, in the villagg of Aubervilliers, on the outskirts of Paris, was entered Sunday evening or Monday morning by vandals, who, after pillaging it, set it on fire. Several firemen were badly injured by burning brands, and Abbe Bernard received slight injuries. The interior of the church was found in a state of great disorder, and the communion vessels are believed to have been stolen, unless they are buried in the debris. One of the huge bells fell into the sacristy and three others through the roof into the organ.

Beet Sugar Making In Canada.

WASHINGTON, April 17.—Commercial Agent Johnson, at Stanbridge, writes to the state department that the establishment of a $500,000 factory for the manufacture of beet sugar will shortly be undertaken by American capitalists in conjunction with Messrs. J. E. Askwith and James Lowler of Ottawa. The Canadian government is to be asked to place a bounty on the production of beet sugar in Canada, which if complied with is expected to result in the establishment of a great many similar factories.

Hispano-American Congress.

MADRID, April 17.—The queen regent has signed a decree convoking the projected Hispano-American congress for November next. The congress is a sequel to the demonstrations which attended the recent visit to Spanish ports of the Argentine training ship Presidente Sarmiento. Early this month the Spanish government assigned a credit to defray the expenses of the Spanish representatives at the congress.

Dream Slayer on Trial.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., April 17.—Alfred Morrison, who on Dec. 20 shot and fatally wounded his wife at their home in Mount Vernon, was placed on trial for his life here yesterday. It was the beginning of the April term of the supreme court of Westchester county, and it was decided that Morrison's case should be the first called.

A Plot to Kill Loubet.

PARIS, April 17.—Word comes from Nice to the Petit Journal that the police have discovered that three Italians have entered into a plot against the president of the republic. One has left for Paris to carry out the project.

A JAPANESE CHARACTER.

The Crafty Jinrikisha-Man Is at Once the Bane and Blessing of Travelers.

Onoto Watanna, the gifted Japanese writer, writing of "The Horseless Carriage of Japan," gives this description of the most picturesque laborer of her native land: "The jinrikisha-man waits at the street-corners and solicits fares, though this is contrary to the exact police regulations. However, the jinrikisha-man is not always as principled as he might be, and has little, if any, regard for the police or his regulations. He has no compunction whatever in overcharging the scale of fares set by the police, but as a rule the customer himself pays but little attention to this. The fare is usually higgled over before riding, and while they walk, and sometimes great distances are covered, before terms have been reached. The jinrikisha-man also generally (unlawfully) demands drink-money, especially when he is forced to wait at teahouses or pleasure resorts on the road. He is constantly being set on by the police for charging more than agreed on, threatening to put down female customers unless his demands are acceded to. A woman hiring a vehicle, for instance, may sometimes find herself, within impossible walking distance of any town or point, and a surly man demanding extra fare or threatening to 'dump' her. Counter-threats do not affect him. Better pay and be done with it. However, when you have melted his heart with a handful of sen he becomes a friend worth having. It is true he may 'spot' you as being one whom it is worth his while to keep in touch with during your visit in the city, and you will find it difficult to leave your hotel without encountering him hard by, importunately soliciting your patronage, though on each and every occasion he will call to you as though you were an utter stranger to him and he has never seen you before, or does not appear to recognize you as the person who tipped him so well the previous day."—Woman's Home Companion.

The policemen of a certain precinct are having a quiet laugh at the expense of a superior officer whose eccentricities have often provoked much amusement among members of the force and his acquaintances.

Before the public lighting commission sent in its estimates, printed slips were sent to each of the stations, with the request that they be returned with the blanks properly filled out, designating the needs of the precinct in the line of street illumination. The officer aforementioned turned the slips over to his day squad, with solemn instructions to make notes on the poorly-lighted districts and to report accordingly. Of course, the day squad had no opportunity of observing the dark places and reporting intelligently upon them, so no slips were turned in.

"Well," remarked the officer, with a complacent air, "I guess our precinct is pretty well lighted," and, as he so reported to the commission, the limits over which he has police jurisdiction were ignored in the estimates.—Detroit Free Press.

FISK WAS MADE A NATIONAL DELEGATE.

His Plainfield Friends Were Able to Make a Deal to Secure the Coveted Honor.

ORANGE HELPED TO DO IT.

FOWLER - BERGEN CONTROVERSY WORKED INTO THE CONVENTION.

Bayonne and Essex Men Combined to Beat Fisk, But Were Unable to Do so—George E. DeCamp is the Other Delegate.

Belleville, April 18.—Former Mayor Charles J. Fisk, of Plainfield, will be be one of the two men to represent the Eighth Congressional district at the Republican national convention in Philadelphia next June. Mr. Fisk and George E. DeCamp, of Livingston, were elected delegates at the Congressional district convention held at the Belleview hall, yesterday afternoon. The alternates chosen were Edward P. Allen, of Bayonne and John H. Eastwood, of Belleview.

All these things were not accomplished, however, in as brief a time as it takes to tell of them. While Mr. Fisk was elected by an overwhelming majority, his friends had to do some lively hustling to secure such a result. To begin with it was necessary to break up the combination that the city of Bayonne and part of Essex had formed. Then the cohorts of Congressman Fowler demanded an expression of opinion from Mr. Fisk on the Fowler-Bergen factional strife. As Mr. Fisk was not there to express himself for or against either side, they had to be content with a resolution instructing the National delegates to support Franklin Murphy for National committeeman. The Fowler faction has favored Murphy as against Barker Gummere, of Trenton, who is understood to have the support of Senator Kean.

There really wasn't the slightest reason for bringing the Fowler-Bergen fight into the convention, but some of the former's friends in Elizabeth were anxious on the subject and wished particularly to know how Mr. Fisk stood in the matter. This agitation threatened to make trouble in the Union county delegation, and, as it was, delayed proceedings for some time.

Mr. Fisk was absent, but Former Sheriff Wm. T. Kirk came in his place as delegate and told the rest that Mr. Fisk was not well enough to attend.

An attempt had been made by the Bayonne and Essex delegations to join forces and leave Plainfield out in the cold, but it happened that Essex had two candidates and its delegation was split. The Plainfield leaders hustled about and found Orange and neighboring townships ready to unite on Fisk and their choice, George E. DeCamp, of Livingston. That settled the result of the convention, while the other trouble was cleared up by deciding in caucus to instruct the delegates to support Murphy for the National committee.

It was not until 3:45 o'clock that Samuel Martin, of Belleville, chairman of the Congressional committee, called the meeting to order. Horace Roberson, of Bayonne, was made chairman and T. M. TenBrook, of Bayonne; H. L. Johnson, of Glen Ridge and Noah F. Morrison, of Elizabeth, secretaries. Committees were appointed, Plainfield being represented only on the committee on credentials by Charles H. Dunham.

A somewhat lengthy platform was adopted, endorsing everything the Republicans have done, are doing or ever expect to do. While the delegation was not instructed, the convention expressed itself in favor of William McKinley as the next Republican presidential candidate.

There were a few words of commendation for Congressman Fowler were upon most of the delegates shouted and applauded for several minutes. It showed pretty conclusively the feelings of a majority of the delegates on that question at least.

Charles N. Codding, of Westfield, chairman of the Union county delegation, introduced the resolution about instructing the delegates to support Murphy and it was unanimously carried.

Then came the choice of delegates. Bayonne first put up E. P. Allen but gracefully withdrew when the result was evident and supported Fisk and DeCamp. Mr. Fisk was nominated by Ernest R. Ackerman, of Plainfield, in a little speech. Montclair and Bloomfield refused to give up the fight and named their candidate, Charles H.

PROSPERING FINELY.

St. Peter's Lutheran Congregation Finds Find, Its Financial Affairs Improving Considerably.

The Evangelical Lutheran congregation of St. Peter's church is reporting good success. The members are worshipping in their own house of worship, and though no longer renting the church to others they have managed to close the last fiscal year with apparent signs of success. They have been able by recent action of the trustees to raise the pastor's salary $100, and transfer a snug treasurer's balance to their credit at the bank. This certainly reflects credit on the good management when it is considered that no concerts, sociables or suppers have been held in the church for its benefit, neither has the Synod contributed anything to the support of the work in the church.

The members are gratified with the success attained, but do not intend to rest with that, as is evidenced from the determination to open preaching stations at Cranford and Westfield. To enable Rev. Mr. Shaffer to do this an assistant from the seminary will be secured at once. In addition to this he will provide for the wants of another charge whose pastor is abroad.

HOP LEE WAS MAD.

"Melican" Man Did Not Like the Way His Shirt was Ironed, but His Protest Didn't Avail Him.

Hop Lee, the West Front street Chinese laundryman, came near getting himself into trouble yesterday afternoon with a customer. The latter called to explain some trouble about a shirt that was poorly ironed. Hop decided after looking at the shirt that he did not do the work. This angered the customer who talked in strong language to the Chinese. One word brought on another and finally the Chinese picked up an iron and was about to strike the customer, when Hop's assistant jumped in and separated the two. The customer walked out declaring that he would have satisfaction and that he would secure the services of Captain Grant to assist him.

SYSTEM TO A FINE POINT.

Superintendent of Highways Dowd Inaugurates it in the Borough.

Thomas Doud, superintendent of the streets in the borough, is about to put in operation a system whereby an accurate and detailed account of every man employed in the borough on streets can be kept and referred to at any time. This system will be used in connection with the sprinkling of the streets, and this will tell exactly what the cost will be for the sprinkling and how long it takes to cover the borough. A personnel of the men will be kept and their work will be noted. Mr. Doud desires to place the work on a systematic basis and secure for the borough the greatest amount of work for the least money, consistent with fair wages for the work done.

MARRIED AT ST. MARY'S.

Nuptials of Annie O'Brien and Herman Redrupt Celebrated Monday.

The marriage of Miss Annie O'Brien and Herman Redrupt, of this city, took place Monday evening at 5 o'clock at St. Mary's church in the presence of a number of relatives and friends. Rev. Father Westman, assistant rector, officiated. Miss Maggie O'Connor, of this city, was the bridemaid, and Thomas O'Keefe, also of this city, was best man.

The bride was gowned in blue silk trimmed with white satin, and the bridemaid wore a gown of white organdie over pink silk. After the wedding the bride and groom returned to their home on South Second street, where a wedding supper was enjoyed by many friends.

Rushing Trolley Work

Work is being rushed on the trolley line between Westfield and Rahway, and by May 15th cars are expected to be running over the route. Gangs of workmen are also preparing the Woodbridge and Sewaren end of the course, getting ready for the increase of travel that is expected when the road is completed. Cars are expected to run at intervals of fifteen minutes' headway, instead of about forty-five minutes, as isthe case at present.

Club Car "Evona" Overhauled.

WORK OF ENDEAVORERS.

CITY UNION HEARS WHAT HAS BEEN DONE DURING THE YEAR.

Miss Hawkins Elected President for the Year—Reports From Various Committees.

The annual meeting of the Plainfield Christian Endeavor Union was held last night in the lecture room of Trinity Reformed church. There was a good attendance in spite of the threatening night. Miss Florence Genevieve Hawkins, president of the Union, was in the chair. E. C. Martin acted as precentor, and Miss Lillian A. Force as pianist.

The meeting began with a service of song, after which brief devotional exercises were conducted by Rev. Cornelius Schenck, Ph. D., pastor of the church in which the meeting was held. The minutes of the last meeting was read by the secretary, Miss Ernestine C. Smith, and accepted. Miss Smith then gave a general report of the year's work in the societies of the union. This was a most encouraging report. There are now in the union fourteen societies, with more than six hundred active members. The junior work was said to be succeeding equally well, while the Union as a whole reported excellent work done in various departments, and some fine meetings held.

This report was followed by that of the missionary department, of which Mrs. David M. Runyon is chairman. The Union has held a missionary mass-meeting, provided during the summer for an outing for twenty little girls from New York, and promoted the reading of missionary literature.

The roll-call of societies followed, after which came the election of officers. This resultrd as follows: President, Miss Florence Genevieve Hawkins; first vice-president, Jos. DeGroff, Dunellen; second vice president, Miss Nettie J. Beeching, of Washingtonville; secretary and treasurer, Miss Ernestine C. Smith.

The offering was then received, Miss Nancy Randolph singing an offertory solo.

The first address of the evening was by Rev. Alexander McGeorge, of Newark, who told of the work of the J. Clement French Industrial Home for Men, which has been made a memorial of the late beloved State president. This industrial home was the last work undertaken by Dr. French. The aim of the institution is to help men to help themselves. Mr. McGeorge told of the starting of the home, and gave some illustrations of the good work it is doing.

Mr. Martin sang "The Homeland," then Miss Hawkins introduced Dr. Ward, of Lyons Farms, who told of "The Personal Side of Dr. French." He gave a short biographical sketch of Dr. French, speaking especially, however, of what he was as a Christian Endeavorer. Dr. Ward read extracts from several letters written by friends of Dr. French, telling what he had been to them and told of his many beautiful traits of character, and of his noble work for the Master. He died March 14th, 1899, after a long illness, leaving behind him great and general sorrow.

After the singing of a hymn, and the benediction pronounced by Rev. A. E. Main, an informal social was held, under the charge of the Union social committee.

MAYOR WAS LENIENT.

He Presided in City Court and Suspended Sentence on a Quartette of Offenders.

Mayor Rockfellow was kind this morning. In the absence of City Judge Runyon with illness he presided in the City Court this morning and suspended sentence on the quartette of offenders arraigned before him. In the case of David Thompson, colored, who threw bricks and hatchets at his wife and the neighbors Monday afternoon, there was a proviso to the suspension of sentence. Thompson had to promise to give up drinking for a year. Thomas Kennedy, who was arrested yesterday by Roundsman Flynn for being drunk, was arraigned and sentence was suspended. John Lawler, a hobo, arrested last night by Patrolman Mattox, was allowed to go on promising to leave town at once. Sentence was suspended on Robert Kelly, arrested by Roundsman Flynn for being drunk.

City Judge Runyon Ill.

City Judge Runyon is confined at his home on East Ninth street with an attack of tonsilitis. He may not be able to go to Trenton tomorrow to attend the Republican State convention to which he was elected a delegete.

A Farewell Reception.

Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Powell, of Fairview avenue, gave a farewell reception at their home last evening. They will leave next week for Asbury Park, where they will remain this summer.

"THE OTHER WOMAN" AT THE PARK CLUB.

Bright Comedy Sketch Given by Amateur Dramatic Talent Last Night.

CLEVER ACTING WAS SEEN.

TWO JUVENILE ACTRESSES MADE THE HIT OF THE EVENING.

They Portrayed Country Children—The Dramatic Part of the Entertainment Was Followed by an Informal Dance.

Two little comedy sketches, produced by local talent, were greatly enjoyed by an audience that filled the small hall at the club house of the Park Club last evening. After the entertainment came an informal dance. The whole affair formed the Park Club's share in the festivities of Easter week.

A one-act curtain-raiser, entitled "The Other Woman" was first given by Miss Grace E. Overton and Miss Edith L. Burt. Miss Overton was the social chatterbox with Miss Burt as a guest at her afternoon tea. There was a man in it, of course, although he didn't appear on the stage. The portrayal of the character of the hostess, with all her chatter and gossip, by Miss Overton, was excellent. She told of the man, what a great flirt he was and how he was about to marry an heiress. Then she gossiped about his entanglement the summer before with "the other woman," which happened to be, of cousse, Miss Burt. The efforts of the latter to appear unconcerned were cleverly shown.

"'Tis an Ill Wind That Blows No Body Good," was the title of a clever sketch in two scenes. Miss Overton appeared as the country house maid, and took the part in delightful fashion. Miss Burt and Miss Alice Barlow, as young women from the city, had come to the country for a visit accompanied by their French maid, Miss Mabel VanDeventer. There was trouble at once between the maids that did not end until the second scene when the French maid departed to marry the other's butcher sweetheart.

Miss Overton is a clever young woman and was able to take the difficult part with much success. Miss Burt was perfectly natural in her acting and put a deal of enthusiasm in her work. Miss Barlow was the charming young society woman, more quiet perhaps than her friend, but filling the role satisfactorily. Miss VanDeventer made a capital French maid.

The hit of the evening was, however, the appearance of two youthful participants, Marion Overton and Margaret Townsend, as the two country children in all the glory of their gingham gowns and sunbonnets.

Both plays were well received and words of commendation were generously bestowed on the young women at the completion of the programme. During the intervals there were mandolin solos by Everett Murray, accompanied by Miss Alice Barlow on the piano.

MISS WALDO A BRIDE.

Wedded to Rev. DeV. Beach, of New Haven, at His Father's Home Yesterday.

A very quiet wedding took place yesterday at noon at the home of Dr. Leonard Waldo, of Stelle avenue, when his daughter, Miss Edith Waldo, and Rev. William DeV. Beach, assistant rector of a Methodist Episcopal church of New Haven, were united in marriage in the presence of guests to the number of about fifty. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Edward Greer Fullerton, of Bridgeport, Conn., uncle of the bride.

The home was prettily decrated with roses and smilax. After the ceremony and congratulations a wedding luncheon was served. Mr. and Mrs. Beach left Plainfield during the early part of the afternoon to enjoy their honeymoon. They will take up their residence in New Haven upon their return.

Father Smyth Invites the Veterans.

Rev. Father Smyth, pastor of St. Mary's R. C. church, has extended an invitation to the members of Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., Woman's Relief Corps and Sons of Veterans, to attend divine worship at his church the Sunday evening prior to Memorial Day. It is always customary for some pastor to extend this invitation, and Father Smyth desires that his invitation be accepted, which it will be undoubtedly. The invitation will be acted upon within a short time.

LICENSE FEE IS RAISED.

SOMERSET WHOLESALE DEALERS MUST PAY $400.

The Fee Has Been $125 in the Past—W. J. Logan Elected Foreman of the Grand Jury.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, April 18.—The Somerset county Grand Jury for the April term of the Supreme Court was organized yesterday by electing Wm. J. Logan, of Bridgewater, foreman, and not Mayor Smalley, of North Plainfield, as was erroneously reported yesterday.

That there is to be a decided change in relation to the treatment of liquor dealers in Somerset county under the judicial administration was evidenced in the announcement that hereafter the fee to be exacted for wholesale liquor licenses will be $400, instead of $225, as it has been in the past. The following licenses were granted:

Hotel—Charles Jensen, North Plainfield; George W. Olinstead, East Millstone; Aug. Bechtold, Harlingen; Henry Pedefious, Warrenville; William O. Allen, Liberty Corner; Fred A. Nelson, Washingtonville; James Toman, Chimney Rock; Martin Liddy, Bernardsville; John W. Huiszer, East Millstone; Henry J. Iden, Rocky Hill; Pauline Able, Neshanic Station; Edward T. Wright, Millstone; John J. O'Kane, Kingston; Andrew H. Schley, Bernardsville; Ellis Sutton, Peapack; David S. Young, Mt. Bethel; Thos. Howard, Bedminister; Wm. J. Sisser, Raritan; Richard O'Connor, Jacob J. Mauer and Frederick Coombs, Bound Brook; Chas. J. Fury, William H. Cawley, Somerville. Sarah L. Fisher and Mary A. Caldwell both had applications for the Middlebrook Hotel, owned by Miss Fisher. Mrs. Caldwell is now in possession. There was a remonstrance against the latter. The court laid the matter over until Friday. Judge Magie also remarked that David S. Young, of Mt. Bethel, had not paid his last year's fees until recently, and he would give him a chance Friday to be heard. The following wholesale licenses were granted: Michael Bresser, Bound Brook; Peter Bailey, N. J. Bottling Association, Somerville and North Plainfield. Saloons—John Donahue, South Bound Brook; Richard Hickey, Cornelius Hickey and John Traynor, Raritan.

The calendar was called and all the Supreme Court cases, but two, went off for the term. These two were set down for the 23d and 25th. Only four of the Circuit Court cases were ready. They were taken up today. The first one called was that of Kate Hodge, administrix, against Benjamin F. Jennings, executor, on contract. Alvah A. Clark appeared for plaintiff, and W. S. Angleman, for defendant.

The slander suit of Wesley Brokaw against W. L. Saunders was laid over until the September term at the request of James J. Bergen, lawyer for the defense. Irving L. Brady, Brokaw's attorney, had agreed with Saunders' first lawyer to try the case this term, but Mr. Saunders made a change and so the case went over.

A non-suit was granted by Justice Magie this morning in the Circuit Court at Somerville in the action of Kate Hodge, administratrix of the estate of William J. Hodge, deceased, against Benjamin F. Jennings, executor of the estate of Emily Hodge, deceased.

Before Emily Hodge died in 1894 she gave a note for $300 to William J. Hodge, then her husband. The note was to be payable the day after her death. After his first wife's death Wm. J. Hodge married Kate Hodge.

Some time after Wm. J. Hodge died when Kate Hodge brought suit against the estate of Emily Hodge to recover on the note.

Corner-stone of Good Manners.

The last meeting for the season of the Study Course of the Alliance of Unitarian and Other Liberal Christian Women was held yesterday afternoon at All Souls' church, Park avenue, at 3:30 o'clock. Considering the inclement weather there was a fair attendance and all enjoyed thoroughly the lecture given by Mrs. Florence Howe Hall on "Christian Courtesy the Corner-stone of Good Manners." Mrs. Hall treated the subject in a broad manner and the various excellent points were given due emphasis. Following the lecture a general discussion of the subject was indulged in by those present. After the meeting tea was served by members of the Alliance.

OLD FIRE BOYS DINED.

Members of Alert Hose Company Had a Good Time at the Hotel Kensington.

Alert Hose Company, No. 1, which for many years performed good fire protection service in this city, has now officially, as well as otherwise, passed out of existence, and the company and its deeds can now be considered as history. The act that caused this passing event was a dinner given last evening at the Hotel Kensington, by members of the company. It was the desire of all to sit about the festive board once more and swap stories of old times. There were plenty of good speakers present and their talents were used to good advantage.

Prior to the banquet the members held a meeting in which they closed up the affairs of the association. It was about 9 o'clock when the meeting adjourned and the members took their seats at the table, and from that time until the small hours the members thoroughly enjoyed themselves. Those present were W. R. Cook, R. M. Stelle, B. Frank Cornell, F. O. Herring, S. F. Kimball, Joseph M. Hawkins, R. H. Lowry, L. G. Timpson, W. S. Lowry, W. F. Arnold, E. E. Anthony, J. L. Moore, Louis M. Stover, C. C. Burnett, Townsend Bushmore, Roger F. Murray and J. B. Dumont.

WILL SUPPORT VOORHEES.

Union County Delegates Will Vote to Have the Governor Chosen as One of the "Big Four."

The Republican State convention will be held at Trenton tomorrow to select the "Big Four" to represent New Jersey at the national convention and to name the successor to the late Garret A. Hobart in the national committee. The only question regarding the composition of the "Big Four" is whether it will be Governor Voorhees or Barker Gummere, of Trenton, who will be of the party. The others will be the two Senators, Kean and Sewell and Franklin Murphy, chairman of the State committee. It is understood that most of Union county, including this city, will support the Governor.

Some of the delegates will go down to Trenton tonight and the remainder tomorrow morning. Former Assemblyman George Squier, of Elizabeth, will probably be chosen chairman of the Union county delegation. Its headquarters will be at the State Street House.

ON CITY SIDE TOO.

Project to Have Somerset Street Widened on Both Sides of the Brook.

Borough Councilman Robert Clark, Jr., and the street committee, of which he is the chairman, will at an early date hold a conference with the street committee from the Common Council for the purpose of discussing the advisability of widening Somerset street from Front street to the bridge. It is the intention of the borough officials to widen the street from the bridge to Jackson avenue, but they would like to see the widening continued through to Front street so that it may be uniform.

It is proposed to ask P. M. French to move his scales that are now located on the sidewalk, and to secure if possible the closing up of the area way alongside of the building occupied by the News. The officials believe that the time has arrived when this improvement is demanded, and every effort will be made to make it.

Found Dead in Bed.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, April 18.—Alexander Dunn, aged 74 years, a prominent and well-known citizen of this place, was found dead in bed Monday morning at the residence of his son on West Main street. As the bed clothes were not disturbed it is evident that he passed away in his sleep. Heart trouble is the cause assigned for death. Mr. Dunn owned a large farm and lived at Greenbrook for over thirty years. He had been in his usual good health, and was not sick a day. He leaves one son, Fred Dunn, with whom he lived. The funeral services will be held from the residence of the son tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. Interment will take place at Evergreen Cemetery, this place.

Mr. Fisk Home Again.

Former Mayor Chas. J. Fisk, of West Seventh street, returned from Lakewood Monday night. An attack of the grip has kept him at home ever since and he was unable to attend the Congressional district convention at Belleville yesterday on that account.

CHURCH GOVERNMENT OF PRESBYTERIANS.

The Elizabeth Presbytery Continues its Sessions in Hope Chapel.

GOOD REPORTS ARE MADE.

PLAINFIELD CHURCHES ARE IN A PROSPEROUS CONDITION.

Delegates Elected to the General Conference—Candidates for Ministry Examined—Want Better Sabbath Observance.

A business session was held this morning, the moderator being again in the chair. The first business of the morning was the examination of candidates for the ministry. Three candidates were present, Walter S. Greenway, Robert D. Schoonmaker, and John F. Dobbs.

Robert M. Cumings was also received under the care of the Presbytery as a student preparing for the ministry. The time for the consideration of other business arrived before the examination was concluded, and it will be resumed this afternoon.

Delegates to the General Assembly at St. Louis were next to be elected. The election resulted as follows: Pastors, Rev. Dr. Kempshall and Rev. G. Kennedy Newell; alternates, Rev. Mr. Mason and Rev. Mr. Flathaway; elders, Messrs. Smith and Stephenson; alternates, Messrs. Squier and Bull.

A fifteen minute address on the Sabbath question was delivered by Rev. Dr. Hathaway, secretary of the American Sabbath Union. Dr. Hathaway, began by saying that most of the evils which exist in the country are the result of Sabbath desecration. He drew a startling picture of the way the God's day is used for work and amusement, and then spoke of the need that the church should awaken to the state of things and work unitedly to change it. He told something of the efforts of the American Sabbath Union, and begged that they be sustained. He spoke especially of the Paris Exposition, and the efforts of the Americans to close their exhibits Sundays.

The morning closed with a devotional half hour, conducted by Rev. George Buckle, of Elizabeth. At 1:30 the Presbytery adjourned for luncheon to meet again at 2 p. m.

The second session of the meeting of the Elizabeth Presbytery now being held in Hope chapel began yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Mr. Cobb, of Elizabeth, the newly elected moderator, was in the chair. The afternoon session was devoted to having the minutes of former meetings and other reports read, and the transaction of other routine business.

The moderator appointed two special committees, as follows: Committees, Messrs. Perry, Kerr and Pierson; committee on judical commissions, Messrs. McKelvey, Green, Atwater, Kempshall, Richards, Cross and Stephenson. An invitation was extended to the Presbytery to hold their next meeting at Liberty Corner. This invitation was accepted.

Reports were rendered concerning the work and condition of the churches in the Presbytery during the past year. Nearly all were extremely encouraging. The pastors of the Plainfield churches told of a year of successful efforts and growth. Dr. Richard said that Crescent Avenue church had never had a better year, and that there was no cloud resting on Hope chapel; he told of spiritual awakenings, the building of the new chapel, and steady, consecrated work. Affairs in Warren chapel, according to Mr. McKelvey's report, are in a satisfactory condition with a growing membership and well attended meetings. Rev. Mr. Tilden, of Bethel chapel, gave an encouraging report of that church, speaking especially of the work among young people. For the Dunellen church A. A. Lake reported good attendance at meetings, and larger gifts to missions than for several years.

Rev. C. E. Herring, of the First Presbyterian church, could not be present, but an elder of the church, Wm. H. Shotwell, rendered an encouraging report. Nearly all the speakers reported increase in membership, large and helpful meetings, and active societies. There was a considerable amount of discussion as to the real spirituality in the churches, it being emphasized that spirited meetings are not necessarily spiritual ones, and that enthusiasm in work is not the same thing as a deep religious life. The concensus of opinion, however, seemed to be that there is much real spirituality in the churches, and in many cases a perceptible growth in the Christian life. One most dis-

BRIDGE WORK

In Dentistry is the best substitute for nature's work that can be done. Sound roots may be built up and crowned and thus fill up an unsightly space. It has to be made of a material that has strength and durability and one that will not discolor. Gold is the one that stands the test. That is the secret of the expense. But the advantages of a bridge over a plate are many times more than the cost of one compared to that of the other.

OFFICERS CENSURED.

Roberts' Dispatches Fall Like a Bomb In London.

LIKELY TO DROP BULLER AND WARREN

Other Changes May Be Made In the Army at the Front—Wepener Still Surrounded, but Relief Is Approaching From Two Ways.

LONDON, April 18.—The government has chosen this as the moment to publish a dispatch from Lord Roberts pronouncing censure upon Sir Redvers Buller and Sir Charles Warren, two of his most important subordinate commanders. This dispatch, written Feb. 13, has been in the hands of the war office for five weeks. Just why it is published now, in the middle of the campaign, is not understood, unless it is expected that General Buller and General Warren will ask to be relieved of their commands.

The revelation of their incapacity must tend to undermine the confidence of the troops in their leadership.

Lord Roberts' dispatch, with the inclosures, is the great feature of the London press this morning. In a long editorial The Daily News speaks of the "somewhat appalling language" of the dispatch and then goes on to say:

"Upon the whole, these dispatches are disquieting and disheartening in no ordinary degree. Following immediately upon the recall of General Gatacre, they will create a widespread feeling of uneasiness and anxiety."

Lord Roberts' long wait and the Boer activity have seriously disturbed public equanimity. He is still 300 hundred miles from Pretoria. No one doubts the ultimate success of British arms, but behind the British army that crushes the Boer armies an army of occupation will have to be installed. From various sources come hints that more men than are already provided for will have to be sent out.

Lord Roberts indicates that at least 10,000 men are advancing to cut off the Boers who are investing Wepener.

General Buller's prohibition of all press telegrams in Natal until further notice is taken to indicate that a movement is about to begin there.

A dispatch to The Times from Jammersberg, dated Monday, April 16, says:

"On Friday the Boers tried to rush Colonel Dalgety's left front, but retired after fighting an hour.

"Their attack is apparently weakening, although large numbers of fresh schansjes are visible along the enemy's position."

The war office has received the following dispatch from Lord Roberts, dated Bloemfontein, Tuesday, April 17:

"Our force at Wepener is still surrounded, but it is reported that the enemy are attacking in a half hearted manner and are anxious about their communications, fearing that forces are approaching Wepener from two directions—one under General Rundle via Reddersburg and another under General Brabant, with General Hart's brigade in support, via Rouxville.

"On the reoccupation of Rouxville, April 15, the few Boers there retired, and General Brabant made some important arrests.

"Violent storms of rain have somewhat interfered with the march of these columns, but it is hoped they will soon be able to make their presence more decidedly felt.

"General Settle reports from Kenhardt, April 14, that 200 Transvaalers made a determined attack the previous day on Dopaspoort, held by a party of Orpen's horse. Our losses were two killed and one wounded. The enemy's losses must have been heavy, as they applied to us for doctors and an ambulance."

A dispatch from Mafeking, dated April 7, says:

"The success of Lieutenant Smith-Eman, the Rhodesian scout, who, with the exception of a Reuter correspondent, a cyclist, is the only white man who has entered Mafeking since the siege began, is likely to prove of great value to Colonel Plumer, to whom he has returned with dispatches, should Plumer decide to raise the siege of Mafeking in earnest.

"A Scottish crofter has introduced a method of making nourishing porridge with oat bran, which is a great boon and is solving the question of feeding the natives.

"We are now confident of holding out two months longer. The men in the trenches are determined to play the game to the end."

HUNGRY MAFEKING.

The Boer Force About the Town Said to Be In Good Condition.

PLUMER'S CAMP, via Lourenco Marques, April 18.—The Boer artillery about Mafeking is well horsed. Their pompoms are mounted on light four wheeled carriages, each drawn by four smart horses, in marked contrast with those Colonel Plumer fought with at Crocodile Pools. The Boers, too, are well mounted and well dressed and have fit looking patrols. The grain and other crops in the district are excellent, so the Transvaalers are not likely to suffer from scarcity of food for a long time.

Plumer's little force is now strongly intrenched northwest of Mafeking.

The country hereabouts is much easier traversed than that the Rhodesians are operating in. The total casualties Saturday were 73, but many are convalescing. Men and horses are improving in health as the winter approaches.

Natives report that the inhabitants of Mafeking are very hungry. Should a flying column be dispatched to their relief it will find the country well grassed and watered as it proceeds northward.

The body of Captain Crewe has been handed over to Colonel Baden-Powell and buried in Mafeking cemetery.

The Boers are being bolstered up by all sorts of stories from Pretoria, among them reports that Russia and France have declared war against Great Britain.

Mr. Chambers Already Married.

LONDON, April 18.—Considerable amusement was caused in London last evening by the publication of a dispatch from New York saying that Mme. Melba was about to marry Mr. Haddon Chambers, the dramatist. As a matter of fact Mr. Chambers is already happily married.

THE TRICKY SULTAN.

Our Relations With Turkey Strained to Breaking Point.

REFUSES TO PAY CLAIMS AS PROMISED

The Damage Was Committed During the Armenian Massacres of 1895. Diplomacy Seems to Have Been Exhausted Without Result.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—There is no longer any question that the diplomatic relations between the United States and Turkey are in a critical state, growing out of the sultan's bad faith. He promised to pay the indemnity claims of the American missionaries for the destruction of eight buildings of the Euphrates college at Harpat and several buildings belonging to the American missionaries at Marash during the Armenian massacres of 1895. Mr. Straus, the United States minister to Turkey, is at present here on leave of absence. As has already been announced, he presented his resignation, but the president, regarding the services of Mr. Straus as indispensable, indefinitely extended his leave, subject to the call of the secretary of state whenever circumstances may necessitate his return.

Diplomacy appears to have exhausted itself at Constantinople, the sultan having promised to pay the indemnity claims, amounting to some $90,000, which promise was again renewed prior to Mr. Straus' departure, and although 16 months have elapsed since the promise was first made that promise still remains unfulfilled. What action the government will now take to enforce the sultan's promise is not definitely known, but as the situation is critical it may result in Secretary Hay sending the Turkish minister at Washington his passport. The question involved between the two countries is no longer one resting upon disputed points of international law, but upon the sultan's broken faith. This is not his only promise, he having stated to our minister that he would give his permit for the reconstruction of the American college and school buildings, yet up to the present the official permit upon one excuse and another has been withheld.

The Turkish government shortly before the departure of Dr. Angell sent a reply denying all liability for the buildings and property destroyed. A similar reply was sent to the embassadors of England, France and Italy, having like claims. Mr. Straus took up the question anew, basing his argument upon the well recognized principles of international law, with the result that at an audience with the sultan on Dec. 8, 1898, the sultan promised to pay the claims. The claims were examined with great care and scrutiny based upon the principle of indemnity for the actual value of the property destroyed. The sultan also stated that he had given permission for the reconstruction of the destroyed buildings. Neither of these promises has been kept.

The situation is practically this: Our minister has succeeded in obtaining judgment by confession upon the claims, which confession was made by the sultan himself, but the execution remains unsatisfied. Diplomacy has exhausted itself, and Mr. Straus has, under the guidance of Secretary Hay, done everything diplomacy could accomplish to bring to the sultan's attention the seriousness of the situation. Our minister as well as our government hoped that the sultan's promise, though delayed, would be fulfilled.

Floods In Alabama.

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., April 18.—Tuscaloosa is completely shut out from communication with the outside world except by telegraph. No trains on either the Mobile and Ohio or Alabama Great Southern have reached here since Monday. There are washouts on both roads, and the tracks are under water. Northport is almost entirely submerged. The river hill road leading to the bridge has been washed away until there is in one place an abyss nearly 50 feet wide. Two houses have floated down the river, and several people were rescued from the roofs of others. The river is four feet higher than ever before known and is still rising.

An Apology to Silvela.

MADRID, April 18.—The United States minister, Mr. Bellamy Storer, visited Premier Silvela yesterday and apologized for the action of the mayor of Chicago, Mr. Carter H. Harrison, in sending an invitation to the Duke of Arcos, the Spanish minister at Washington, to attend the Dewey day celebration there. Mr. Storer said the United States government regretted the incident, which, he explained, was the result of an error committed by a municipal clerk, and promised it should not be repeated.

Wedding Anniversary.

NEWBURG, N. Y., April 18.—Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin B. Odell celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding last night at their home. Hundreds of the friends of the couple called and offered congratulations. The house was a mass of flowers, and a large number of presents were received by the couple. Mr. and Mrs. Odell have always resided here. They are the parents of B. B. Odell, Jr., chairman of the Republican state committee.

The Queen to Return April 26.

DUBLIN, April 18.—The queen and the princesses drove about 18 miles in the course of two hours yesterday afternoon, making brief calls at Adelaide hospital and Dundrum convent. There was an escort of life guards, and the beautiful weather brought out crowds of enthusiastic spectators. Her majesty has decided to revert to her original plan and will leave Ireland April 26, reaching Windsor the following morning.

Nominations Confirmed.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—The senate has confirmed the following nominations: Charles H. Allen of Massachusetts, to be governor of Porto Rico; I. J. McCottrie, to be collector of customs for the district of Georgetown, S. C.; Joan B. Robinson, to be marshal for the eastern district of Pennsylvania.

Army of the Potomac.

NEW YORK, April 18.—General Horatio C. King announces that the thirty-first annual reunion of the army of the Potomac will be held at Fredericksburg, Va., on May 25 and 26. Reduced rates have been granted by the railroads. General Sickles will be the orator.

HOAR'S GREAT PLEA.

Senator From Massachusetts Attacks Imperialism.

FILIPINO CHIEFTAIN EULOGIZED.

Compared to Kossuth, Joubert and Nathan Hale—Roll Call of Great Americans on the Retention of Philippines Causes Sensation.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—For more than three hours yesterday Mr. Hoar, the senior member from Massachusetts, addressed the senate in opposition to the policy of "imperialism" on which, he maintained, this government has embarked. As prepared, the address was 50,000 words in length, but Mr. Hoar omitted much of it owing to an incipient attack of the grip from which he was suffering. He spoke for three hours, and while it was a tremendous strain on him the more important passages of the argument were delivered with force and vigor.

The speech was brilliantly written, was illuminated with splendid rhetorical figures and was rich with citations from history. One of the notable parts of the address was the eulogy of Aguinaldo. Mr. Hoar did not liken the insurgent leader to Washington, as has been done heretofore, but to Kossuth, Oom Paul, Joubert, Nathan Hale and other builders of the church of liberty. In statecraft he likened Aguinaldo and his associates in the leadership of the Filipinos to the best minds ever produced in the Asiatic race—a race which handed down to us the scriptures of the Old and New Testament, the poetry of David, the eloquence of Isaiah, the wisdom of Solomon and the profound philosophy of Paul. One of the most effective parts of the address was his fancied roll call of the distinguished statesmen of the United States on the question of the retention of the Philippines. He began with George Washington and closed with William McKinley, each in a sentence giving the reason for his vote. Every vote was in the negative except that of Aaron Burr, who voted "yes" and explained: "You are repeating my buccaneering expedition down the Mississippi. I am to be vindicated at last." When the name of William McKinley was called he replied: "There has been a cloud before my vision for a moment, but I see clearly now. I go back to what I said two years ago, 'Forcible annexation is criminal aggression; governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed, not of some of them, but of all of them.' I will stand with the fathers of the republic. I will stand with the founders of the Republican party. No."

The effect was dramatic. As Mr. Hoar pronounced his peroration the stillness in the chamber was intense. Applause swept over the galleries, but is was hushed quickly by the president pro tempore.

The second day's debate upon the naval appropriation bill in the house was confined closely to the subject matter of the bill and was, as a rule, devoid of interesting features. The questions of armor plate and the building of warships in government yards, as on the day before, attracted most attention.

An Album For Dewey.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—A beautiful and unique souvenir autograph album has been presented to Admiral Dewey by the New York Commercial as a testimonial of his heroic deed in Manila bay. The book is a leather bound volume, with an illuminated, illustrated title page setting forth in detail the service he rendered to his country by the destruction of the Spanish fleet, and the first sheet of autographs contains the original signatures of President McKinley and each member of his cabinet. Then follow the autographs of several hundred of the most distinguished and influential men in New York city, including all of the prominent financiers and journalists.

What Dr. Patton Thinks.

PRINCETON, N. J., April 18.—Dr. F. L. Patton, president of Princeton university, has given out the following statement concerning the discussion on the revision of the Presbyterian confession of faith: "At present I am not taking an active part in theological discussions. I see no pressing need for revision of the confession. It is impossible to forecast the result of this agitation of the question. It is possible that there is a greater demand now for revision than when it was tried ten years ago, but I do not know."

Military Prisoners Escape.

BUFFALO, April 18.—Four prisoners named Kirk, Brown, Andrews and Porter, undergoing sentences of from two to four years each, escaped from Fort Porter early yesterday morning by digging the bricks out of the side wall and loosening the bars. They were members of a party of 11 military prisoners brought here from Governors Island recently. They had been sentenced for various crimes against the military regulations in Porto Rico.

Chancellor McGill to Resign.

NEW YORK, April 18.—The Times this morning prints the following: "It is announced in Jersey City that the condition of Chancellor Alexander T. McGill has greatly improved within two or three days. But with this came the further announcement, made by a close friend, to the effect that Mr. McGill had decided to send his resignation to Governor Voorhees on or before June 1."

Indiana Miners Strike.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., April 18.—Two thousand bituminous miners in Vigo, Greene and Sullivan counties have gone out on a strike. There is a controversy between the machine miners and helpers on one side and the loaders and shooters on the other hand growing out of the division of the machine scale. The machine men precipitated the strike, claiming the division is unfair to them.

Rev. T. K. Beecher's Successors.

ELMIRA, N. Y., April 18.—At a meeting of the congregation of Park church Rev. Samuel E. Eastman and Rev. Annis Ford Eastman were unanimously elected pastors to succeed the late Rev. Thomas K. Beecher. Mr. and Mrs. Eastman had been Mr. Beecher's assistants for several years previous to his death.

Drowned In a Mine.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., April 18.—Willard Dukett was drowned in an iron mine at Lyon mountain, near here, while engaged in pumping the water from the mine. The mine is about 1,400 feet deep and is about half full of water.

CURRENT ATTRACTIONS THAT PLAINFIELDERS MAY WITNESS.

Local and Metropolitan Performances That Will Please Those Who Delight in the Art of Thespis and Mimic World.

The latest triumph in dramatic work is David Belasco's romatic play, "The Heart of Maryland." It is to be presented at Music Hall tomorrow night. The play deals with an American subject and the succession of events in the four acts are increased in interest and, hightened by the sympathetic charm of the love element the author has woven in the story. The closely following events of the play, and the efforts of the heroine to rescue the man she loves from the perils with which his own daring rashness has brought upon him, the culmination of her tremendous struggle to accomplish her purpose, her rush into the old church tower and fearful flight up the narrow stairs through the semi-darkness, into the belfry, and her clutching the clapper of the great bell as it swings to and fro, clinging to it at that terrible height, she prevents the ringing out of the alarm which the deaf old sexton far below imagines he is giving the country round that a spy condemned to death has escaped.

Tommy Shearer and his company will inagurate a season of repertoire at Music Hall, Monday evening, April 23d, presenting the funny comedy, "The Girl from Porto Rico," with the versatile actress, Isabelle Fletcher, in the title role. This attraction presents a high-class repertoire, and comes to this city with the endorsement of the leading popular-price houses in the cities where they have recently appeared to enormous business and given the best of satisfaction. Special scenery, novel effects and elegant costumes are carried, enabling them to produce any play in their repertoire in a complete manner. Up-to-date specialties are introduced between acts giving a continuous performance. Prices 10, 20 and 30 cents. Ladies tickets issued for Monday evening, the sale of which is limited to 300.

"The Great Ruby" has made one of the strongest hits ever known at the Fourteenth Street Theatre, New York, where it continues to draw overflowing and enthusiastic audiences at every performance. The play is given with one of the strongest casts ever gathered in a melodrama, including such popular favorites as Rose Coghlan, Minnie Seligman, John T. Sullivan, Cuyler Hastings and Louis Massen, and of course it is not much wonder that it draws large audiences. It is staged in the same handsome and elaborate manner as it was at Daly's Theatre, and in one or two instances is better done than it was at that house. The handsome four-horse drag used in the second act is cleverly introduced, and the sensational balloon scene, with the battle in the clouds, is more realistic and thrilling. The end of "The Great Ruby" is not yet in sight.

Stealing Tools.

Contractors who leave their tools stored in outdoor tool-boxes are having considerable trouble with tool thieves, who break open the boxes and steal the tools. A box of the Westfield and Elizabeth Street Railway Company was broken open last night, but the box was empty. One night last week most of the tools used on the Cranford sewer extension were stolen, and the work was at a standstill until new tools were procured. An attempt was made Saturday to break into the tool house at the organ factory at Garwood, but the thieves were frightened away.

Scale on the Peach Trees.

The peach-growers of Somerset and Hunterdon counties have been rejoicing because no frost came to injure the buds, but are now worried over a bulletin sent out by State Entomologist Smith, who has found the San Jose scale prevalent in Peapack. Prof. Smith says: "A large proportion of the trees are already so scaly that they will never leaf out properly, while others will fail to mature a crop of fruit." He says crude petroleum should be used.

Rahway Man Dead.

William McManus, former Councilman, a well-known and highly respected citizen of Rahway, died Saturday at his residence, in Irving street. Mr. McManus was of the firm of Houseman & McManus, coal dealers, who for several years after 1872 carried on an extensive carriage works in connection with their coal interests. The deceased was born in Ireland, May 18th, 1838 going to Rahway in 1859, where he has resided ever since.

New Plant for New Orange.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, April 18.—Ground was broken Monday morning at New Orange for a large chandelier factory which, when completed, will furnish employment to 600 people. The builder is Mr. Williamson, of New York. The plant will cost $50,000. In connection with it 100 houses are to be erected for the use of the employes and their families.

GUMPTION.

"ONE does not have gumption till one has been properly cheated." Persons of gumption are using Ivory Soap, women who have trusted themselves too near the precipice of false economy and who can now appreciate the true economy in a soap made of pure vegetable oils and other high-class ingredients, but made in such quantity as to bring the price within the reach of the very poorest family. Indeed it is the very poor who most need it, for they can least afford the extravagance of common soap.

NEW YORK REPUBLICANS.

A Brief and Harmonious State Convention to Elect Delegates.

NEW YORK, April 18.—The Republican convention for the election of delegates at large to the national convention at Philadelphia named two United States senators, a governor and the second in command of the Republican state organization as their choice for delegates at large.

Then they complimented the newspaper profession by naming as electors at large the proprietor and editor of a Buffalo newspaper and the proprietor and editor of a Rochester newspaper. The men signally honored were United States Senators Thomas C. Platt and Chauncey M. Depew, Governor Roosevelt and State Committee Chairman B. B. Odell as delegates at large and Edward H. Butler of Buffalo and F. A. Mitchell of Rochester as electors at large.

The convention was not enthusiastic at its morning session, but was demonstrative at its afternoon session. It had few spectators when it met at noon and a good gathering when it met in the late afternoon. It appeared that, so far as individual delegates went, they were not quite decided in their preference as to whether Governor Roosevelt should be a candidate for governor or for vice president, whether they wanted T. L. Woodruff for lieutenant governor again or for vice president. When both the temporary chairman, Senator Elsburg, and permanent chairman, Congressman James S. Sherman, announced the candidacy of Governor Roosevelt for a second term, the convention went wild with enthusiasm; but, just to the contrary, when Mr. Sherman coupled the names of McKinley and Roosevelt the applause and enthusiasm were still greater. So it was impossible to diagnose the attitude of the majority of the delegates toward the governor.

It is believed, however, that the general trend is toward the renomination of Governor Roosevelt and the pushing of T. L. Woodruff for second place on the national ticket.

The convention had the unique distinction of having no business for the committee on contested seats to perform and of having no interruption of the programme laid out by the organization.

TEN INDICTMENTS.

Grand Jury Finds Against Many Kentuckians For Goebel's Murder.

FRANKFORT, Ky., April 18.—The Franklin county grand jury yesterday afternoon returned indictments against ten persons, charging them with complicity in the murder of William Goebel. The principals named are Henry E. Youtsey, James Howard, Berry Howard, Harland Whittaker and "Tallow Dick" Combs, colored. Those indicted as accessories before the fact are Secretary of State Caleb Powers, Captain John T. Powers, ex-Secretary of State Charles Finley, W. H. Culton and F. Wharton Golden. In the indictment relating to the alleged accessories three other men, one of whom is a high state official, are indirectly referred to as accessories, though no indictments were reported against them.

Henry E. Youtsey, who is mentioned as the first principal, was a clerk in the office of State Auditor Sweeney. He formerly lived at Newport. Youtsey was first named in the case by Wharton Golden, the star witness for the prosecution at the examining trial of Caleb Powers. Jim and Berry Howard are cousins and mountaineers of note in connection with the old Howard feud.

General Schwan Leaves Manila.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—Information has reached the war department that the transport Thomas left Manila Sunday for San Francisco with a number of sick and invalided officers and men, including Brigadier General Theodore Schwan, Colonel Jacob Kline, Twenty-first infantry; Colonel J. W. French, Twenty-second infantry, and Colonel Simon Snyder, Nineteenth infantry. Word also was received of the arrival of the transport Meade at Manila.

Allen's Probable Successor.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—The president has under favorable consideration the name of Mr. Frank W. Hackett of Portsmouth, N. H., as the successor of Assistant Secretary Allen of the navy, who has been appointed governor of Porto Rico. It is expected Mr. Hackett's nomination will be sent to the senate in a day or two. He is about 55 years of age and is well known in New Hampshire. Hackett has practiced law in Washington.

QUIET AT CROTON DAM.

Strike Still On—Additional Troops on Guard.

CROTON LANDING, N. Y., April 18.—The strike of the Italian laborers on the new Cornell dam in the Croton valley is still on, but the contractors claim that it will soon be over. Everything points to either a speedy settlement of the difficulty with many of the strikers going back to work or else a prolonged session of wearisome and fitful days, if not worse. The killing of Sergeant Douglas Monday night has changed the aspect of affairs very much to the disadvantage of the laborers who are clamoring for an increased scale of wages.

The Italians were not much in evidence in the forenoon. Later the denizens of Little Italy and the Bowery came out of doors, but made no particular demonstration.

Upon the hill near where the Mount Vernon soldier was shot down several Italians gathered late in the afternoon, but they spoke quietly and earnestly and refused to repeat what had been the topic of conversation. Outside of the arrival of the additional troops the only other interesting episodes of yesterday were the holding of the inquest on the body of Sergeant Douglas and the removal of his remains from the camp to his late home in Mount Vernon for interment.

Some excitement was caused in the valley and in the cavalry camps a few minutes before 8 o'clock last night by the sharp report of a rifle or shotgun which was fired from the direction of Little Italy, but as there was no damage done the excitement soon subsided.

General Roe, commander of the New York state troops, and his staff have established headquarters on the north side of the Croton valley, directly opposite to the spot where Sergeant Douglas was killed. The Yonkers and Mount Vernon infantry are encamped in the valley close by the works, about 400 yards south of the new dam.

Troop C of Brooklyn is encamped in a commanding position a few hundred yards higher up the hill behind the general's quarters, and on the opposite side of the river to the north of the big stone structure Squadron A is under canvas.

The entire valley in the vicinity of the works from which the striking laborers walked out two weeks ago on a demand for higher wages is now under the surveillance of the military, and in case the contractors wish to put new men to work in the places of the strikers every inch of the ground where the men will be called upon to labor will be under the vigilant observation of the soldiers.

About four miles farther up the valley three companies of the Seventh regiment, New York, are encamped, about a quarter of a mile south of the Croton dam from which New York city receives its supply of water. The big waterworks are closely guarded by sentinels from the regiment. Every approach to the dam is patrolled by sentinels, who challenge every person who comes near them, and so far as close watching can protect the reservoir from possible destruction nothing has been left undone to protect the Empire city from a water famine.

The other seven companies of the Seventh were to have been on the spot, but the train in which they were being conveyed was stalled behind a wrecked freight on the New York and Putnam railroad.

New Jersey's Delegates.

TRENTON, N. J., April 18.—Governor Voorhees was at the statehouse yesterday and had a conference with some of his political friends, and it was decided that he should remain in the field as a candidate for one of the four places as delegate at large from New Jersey to the Republican national convention. The delegates will be chosen at the Republican state convention in this city on Thursday. It has been agreed for some time that three of the four delegates at large should be United States Senators Sewell and Kean and State Chairman Franklin Murphy.

To Depose Pastor.

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., April 18.—The Schenectady classis of the Dutch Reformed church has voted unanimously to depose the Rev. Thomas C. Johnston from the ministry. A year ago the classis suspended Mr. Johnson for a year, and his expulsion was the result of his broken promises to do better. Johnston is supposed to be conducting revival meetings in the middle west. The charge against Johnston was the too free use of intoxicants.

Trouble In Somerset.

The old saying that "all is lovely and the goose hangs high" is certainly not applicable to the situation of affairs that confronts the Republican organization of Somerset county. The flames of factional heat between the cohorts of Senator Reed and the followers of the Thompson standard have broken out again, and it will require a pretty big political fire department to quench them and sooth the fiery spirits that have been aroused.

The present dissension, of course, is brought about by the muss that the Bridgewater Republicans have become mixed up in over the selection of delegates to the State and Congressional conventions. As was told in yesterday's Press, two primaries were held in that township, and as an aftermath of that conditon of affairs it is now stated that numerous affidavits are being made on both sides to be submitted to the Committee on Credentials of the State Convention. According to the present estimate of the Thompson men, if they get the Bridgewater delegation they claim they will have ten delegates in the county to eight for Reed.

The Reed men claim a majority. The Thompson delegates will be for Governor Voorhees for delegate-at-large in the State convention, and at the district convention will endeavor to have L. A. Thompson made the district delegate. The Reed men may vote for Voorhees for delegate-at-large, but will be against Thompson in the district convention and in favor of Frederick P. Olcott.

The contention by the Thompson men is that a majority of the Somerset delegation should choose the district delegate, who is to come from this county. It is intimated, however, that Somerset may lose the delegate entirely if the factions cannot get together.

Income from Franchise Tax.

Commissioner Charles C. Black, of the State Board of Taxation, has prepared an instructive statement regarding the working of the new Franchise Tax law, which will take effect Jan. 1st, 1901. The report in part is as follows:

The companies affected by this act are, generally speaking, water and sewer companies, cable, electric and horse railroad companies, telegraph and telephone companies, oil and pipe line companies, gas and electric light companies, because these are the companies whose business requires the use of the public streets and highways. Other persons and companies are not affected.

The 2 per cent. tax on gross receipts of the business done by these companies is in lieu of the taxes now paid to the State for State purposes as franchise tax or license fees, but it is in addition to the tax now paid on the property of these companies in the taxing districts where located. A 2 per cent. tax on the returns available of the companies, would be in round figures $380,000, which does not include the tax on water and sewer companies. They are taxed on the capital stock.

The above figures will not be greatly increased, but it is fair to presume that the tax for the year 1901 under this act will amount to $300,000, of which the State relinquishes the sum of $120,000 and the companies pay an additional $180,000. It is probably fair to assume that half of this $300,000 will go to Essex and Hudson counties, if the value of the property in the streets and highways in these counties bears the same proportion to the other property in these counties that the ratables of these counties bear to the ratables of the entire State.

According to an Elizabeth correspondent a veritable political love-feast for Republicans is to be held in the clubhouse of the Elizabeth Club tomorrow night. It is said that Governor Voorhees is expected to be a guest, and also the Congressional rivals, Charles N. Fowler and Frank Bergen. As the Governor is said to be a warm friend of both aspirants he will probably be seated between them, so as to keep things moving cheerfully. Speaker B. F. Jones, of the late Jersey Legislature; Assemblyman Leon Abbett and Edmund Wakelee, together with a score of lesser lights, are expected to grace the festive board. It is said Senator Kean has been invited, but it is doubtful if he can attend.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

If you have any tears prepare to shed a huge bunch. Sad news has reached the ears of many Plainfielders. The Central New Jersey Times, for many years one of the most prominent and influential weekly papers in the State, has ceased publication and is no more. It is a severe blow to newspaperdom, and while it is believed that the community as well as the State will survive the shock, it is a lamentable fact that its place in the newspaper field can never be filled. Editor Runyon does not wear morning either.

The rapid increase in foxes in different parts of New Jersey has attracted no little attention. A few years ago foxes were scarce and were seldom found except in the wildest section of the State. Now, however, there is scarcely a rural locality where they do not exist in greater or less numbers and they have become a source of considerable loss to the farmers as well as destructive of game. Game Warden Phifer, of Cumberland county, says 129 foxes were killed during the year, within the radius of ten miles in that county. The warden says the scarcity of rabbits is due to the great number of foxes.

The house to house registration of letters and packages went into effect Monday. It is possible that Plainfield citizens were not aware of the postal law, for not a single registered letter was brought in by any of the fourteen letter-carriers employed under Postmaster Bird. One woman said she would have availed herself of the privilege had she known of the new rule. All that is necessary is to give the letter and sufficient money to pay for the registration to the carrier, who will give a receipt to the sender at the house or place of business where the letter is received. At the post-office the carrier again receipts for the registered letter, which is then properly mailed by the mailing clerk. All letters or packages to be registered must have the necessary postage stamps affixed, besides paying the cost of registration, which is usually about 10 cents for letters.

NEW YORK'S GREATEST SHOW.

The Only Arenic Season at Madison Square Garden.

If you are in New York city, and chance to drop into Madison Square Garden, you will find yourself one among many thousands to be captivated by the magnificence and fairly submerged in the fascinations, fun and furore of the great Adam Forepaugh and Sells Brothers' United Shows; the most wonderful and winning menagerie, circus and hippodrome aggregation ever seen in the famous amusement building named, and now the only one big enough to exhibit there at all. Particular mention is made of this fact for the reason that the show will not be seen in this vicinity this season, wherefore it is a case in which the faithful circus Mahomet must go to the arenic mountain. And the pilgrimage will pay well and pan out faithfully if the united efforts of the four richest and most famous circus managers count for as much in the present as they did last season, when their great arenic aggregation broke all previous metropolitan records. The large addition to every department, forwarded by James A. Bailey from abroad, make the show even bigger and better than it then was.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, April 18—The apathy frequently displayed among the Republicans of Dunellen regarding primaries, was again in evidence at Monday evening's primary, called to choose delegates to the State and Congressional conventions. Although the call for the primary had been published in both daily papers of Plainfield, also in the Dunellen Call, and had been posted conspicuously in five different public places about the borough, as the law specifies, but four Republicans evinced sufficient interest in the matter to attend the meeting which was held in Apgar Hall. Those staunch Republicans who had party interests at heart and were present were Dr. P. W. Brakeley, a member of the executive committee; former Postmaster Charles A. Coriell, Justice A. W. Warden and Henry Garettson. Not another soul put in an appearance. The primary was called for 8 o'clock. After waiting until 8:15 o'clock the meeting was called to order and Dr. Brakeley was made chairman and Charles A. Coriell secretary. Then somebody made a motion that Postmaster Adam Dealaman be chosen to represent the borough at the State convention at Trenton tomorrow. The motion was carried. It was then the unanimous choice of the four faithful members of the local G. O. P. that Frank Wynkoop, an engineer on the Central Railroad, should be the choice of the primary as delegate to the Congressional convention to be held at Asbury Park May 16. Dr. Brakeley was named a committee of one to fill vacancies. Then the primary adjourned at 8:27 o'clock, having been in session exactly 12 minutes. No resolutions were submitted, the long speeches were made and no bitterness was engendered. Perfect harmony prevailed and it is believed everybody will be satisfied.

A reception was tendered last evening to Rev. A. I. Martine, the retiring pastor of the Presbyterian church, at the home of Mayor R. J. Swackhamer. About 25 members of the church and intimate friends of the family were present to greet the pastor. Rev. Frank Fletcher, pastor of the New Market Baptist church, made a brief address by way of speeding the parting guest. The affair was a pleasant finale to Mr. Martine's nine-year pastorate.

Two cases of scarlet fever have developed in the family of Mrs. Ambros Marrenschenk, of Grove street. Health Officer Peters has caused the house to be quarantined. Dr. Whitford is looking after the patients.

Some alterations are to be made to the building formerly used as a meat market, before being occupied by Garettson & Gray.

Mrs. P. W. Brakeley and daughter, Miss Louise Brakeley attended the soiree at the Plainfield Seminary last night.

Miss Loretta G. Clawson is spending a few days with friends in Brooklyn.

Rev. S. K. Doolittle will move into the Methodist parsonage tomorrow.

The interior of the post office is being painted.

KEARSARGE, "QUEEN OF THE NAVY."

The Kearsarge is justly called "Queen of the Navy." It is said she can sink any ship afloat. The turrets of the Kearsarge are among her special features. These are double-deckers, the upper deck carrying two 8-inch guns, the lower deck two 13-inch guns. The Kentucky, the Kearsarge's sister battleship, will be similarly equipped when ready for service.

SOMERVILLE.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Somerville, April 18.—John V. M. Wyckoff, of Raritan, aged 27, died Monday from rheumatism of the heart. He had been ill with rheumatism for nearly a year. He leaves a bride of only a little over a year to mourn his loss. The funeral will be held from the residence of his brother-in-law, John F. Reger, Thursday, at 2:30 p. m. Interment in the new cemetery at Somerville.

The Commissioners to award damages in the Middlebrook railway right-of-way, Messrs. Peter J. Staats, Calvin Corle and L. C. Walding, met at Bound Brook on Friday and awarded $400 damages to John Brown and $50 for the land. Other parties along the road will apply for the appointment of Commissioners.

Anna A. Watt, aged 27, died Monday, of peritonitis. The funeral will be held from her late residence, on Main street, at 10 a. m., Thursday, Rev. H. B. Wright officiating. Interment in the new cemetery at Somerville.

The Independent Fife and Drum Corps had a successful dance at Germania Hall last night. Music was furnished by Struck and dancing was kept up until early morning. About $40 was netted.

John Vorseller, aged 80, of Two Bridges, died Sunday. The funeral will be held from his late residence at 2 p. m., Wednesday. Interment in the new cemetery at Somerville.

WESTFIELD

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Westfield, April 18—At a meeting of the Township Committee held last night the rules and regulations to govern the new police department were adopted. They are similar to the rules of the Plainfield department. Martin Welles chairman of the committee, will be the commanding officer of the force. It was also decided that the force would go on duty in May, one man during the day and two at night. The officers will wear blue suits the trousers having a white stripe down the leg, a blouse coat and helmet hat. They will be provided with two clubs, a revolver and a pair of handcuffs.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

Johnson. The vote showed 189 ballots for Mr. Fisk, 173 for DeCamp and 30 for Johnson. There were 206 delegates at the convention, 97 from Union, 90 from Essex and 19 from Hudson.

In the election of alternates, Bayonne put up its candidate again and this time with success. Essex was again divided, the two candidates being Charles H. Johnson, of Montclair, and John H. Eastman, of Belleville. Allen received 188, Eastman 126 and Johnson 86. The meeting adjourned after a committee of five of which J. T. McMurray, of Plainfield, and C. N. Codding, of Westfield, were members, was appointed to fill any vacancies.

PAST FOUR SCORE POINT.

Mrs. Louise Davis Passes Her Eighty-sixth Birthday in a Most Pleasant Manner.

The cordial reception accorded Mrs. Louise Davis, Monday afternoon, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Catharine Stevens, on Clinton avenue, on the occasion of her reaching her eighty-sixth birthday, will not soon be forgotten by kind-hearted and popular lady.

From 3 to 6 o'clock Mrs. Davis received her callers and was the honored host to about sixty of her dear friends, who took occasion to offer to her their heartfelt congratulations on the auspicious event. To round out more than four score years is something to be proud of, and none felt more elated over the fact than did the venerable octogenarian, who gives every indication that she may yet live to see a century.

Among the many gifts of which Mrs. Davis was the recipient none was more appreciated than the magnificent bouquet composed of eighty six roses of choice variety. These came from a gentleman living in New York, who is a close friend of the dear lady.

Mrs. Davis is a neice of General Daily, a veteran of the war of 1812, who died in New York city a few years ago at the age of ninety-seven years. Sarah Davis, a maiden aunt, who died at Dunellen about fifteen years ago, was also a person of longevity, being eighty-nine years at the time of her death.

Among those present at the pleasant event was Rev. W. Montgomery Downing, rector of Holy Cross Episcopal church; Rev. Dr. J. P. Taylor, of this city, and Dr. and Mrs. P. W. Brakeley, of Dunellen, the latter being a daughter of Mrs. Davis.

Must be Tried Over Again.

The jury in the case of Baggagemaster Frank Vannatta, of Whitehouse, against the Rockaway Valley Railroad, failed to agree, standing six to six, and were discharged. Vannatta brought suit to recover $5,000 damages for injuries received by his train running into some cars that the Rockaway Valley trainmen had run out on the Central Railroad tracks.

Mr. Spicer Better Today.

The condition of Joseph D. Spicer is much improved today and the chances for recovery are considered most excellent. He has partially regained consciousness and at times he has been able to ask about business matters. The physicians in charge are more hopeful than at any time for Mr. Spicer's recovery.

FILIPINO LEADER SURRENDERS.

General Montenegro Yields After Being Surrounded.

MANILA, April 18.—General Montenegro, one of the insurgents' best fighters, has surrendered to Colonel Smith in the mountains near Camaling, in the province of Pangasinan, where, with General Macabulos, he had been trying to reorganize the Filipino army. Colonel Smith, with five companies of the Seventeenth regiment, nearly surrounded the force of Montenegro, who, discouraged by the impossibility of making his men stand against the Americans, surrendered. Macabulos escaped.

The insurgents have attacked San Jose, in the province of Batangas, and Santa Cruz, on the lake, fruitlessly.

Twelve hundred Tagalogs attacked Case's battalion headquarters of the Fortieth regiment at Cagayan, island of Mindanao, on the 7th. The Americans had 15 casualties, while of the attacking force 50 were killed and 30 wounded or taken prisoners. The enemy, numbering 150 riflemen, the remainder being bolomen, archers and mounted spearmen, swooped down in a howling mass at daylight, surprising and killing three of the sentries. They swarmed the streets in small parties, some bearing scaling ladders, by means of which they attempted to enter the houses.

The Americans tumbled out of the barracks and formed in the plaza, and companies began sweeping the town. The subsequent street fighting lasted 20 minutes. Twelve of the wounded Americans are now on board the hospital ship Relief.

The enemy withdrew to the mountains in great confusion.

Carnegie Doubles Library Pledge.

PITTSBURG, April 18.—Mr. Andrew Carnegie has promised the trustees of the Carnegie library and institute to become responsible for $3,600,000, the amount estimated as necessary for the proposed extension and enlargement of the already fine building at the entrance of Schenley park, this city. When the plans for enlargement were submitted to Mr. Carnegie last year, the estimate of expenditures was $1,750,000. This sum he readily agreed to give the institute, but later it was thought best to enlarge on the original scheme, and when the study plans were submitted to the steel king in New York last week he willingly assumed the added responsibility, thus more than doubling his contribution.

Jury Fails to Agree.

ROME, N. Y., April 18.—The jury in the case of the people against Richard Manahan, charged with complicity in causing the break in the Forestport feeder in 1898, at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, after having been out 24½ hours, announced their inability to agree on a verdict. The members of the jury were discharged by the court.

Stuttgart. Zur Feier des 500jährigen Geburtstages des Erfinders der Buchdruckerkunst, Johann Gutenberg, hat sich ein Komite aus Buchdruckereibesitzern und Gehilfen gebildet, um am 16. und 17. Juni ein für alle Berufsangehörigen in Württemberg bestimmtes Fest zu begehen.—Gestorben sind hierorts der frühere Oberlandesgerichtspräsident Geheimrath von Kästlie, ferner der Minister des Kirchen- und Schulwesens, Dr. v. Sarwey, sowie der im Jahre 1826 zu Lemberg geborene Hoftapellmeister Doppler.

Gmünd. Fabrikant Gustav Hauber hat aus Anlaß seiner 30jährigen Geschäftsthätigkeit und seines 60. Geburtstages eine private Invaliden- und Altersrentenstiftung errichtet. Jeder Arbeiter und jede Arbeiterin erhält nach fünf- bis zehnjähriger Thätigkeit mit dem Eintritt der Invalidität eine jährliche Rente von 72 Mark, die von fünf zu fünf Jahren je um 24 Mark steigt bis zu 180 Mark bei einer Thätigkeit von über 25 Jahren. Arbeiter, die über 25 Jahre im Geschäft und 60 Jahre alt sind, erhalten eine Alterszulage von wöchentlich 2 Mark. Zu Begräbnißkosten werden 25 Mark ausgezahlt. Arbeiterinnen, die sich verheirathen, erhalten nach fünfjähriger Fabrikangehörigkeit 50 Mark, nach zehn Jahren 100 Mark und nach 15 Jahren 150 Mark.

Hochweiler. Die hier herrschende Epidemie, an der 28 Menschen erkrankten, wovon sieben gestorben sind, ist als epidemisches Frieselfieber, eine sehr selten auftretende Krankheit, erkannt worden. Sie ist im Erlöschen begriffen.

Ulm. Anhier wurde kürzlich ein Einbrecher dingfest gemacht, der sich als ein besonders gefährliches Subjekt entpuppte. Es ist ein Schlosser Wilhelm Felsenheimer aus Frankfurt, der schon 14 Jahre Zuchthaus hinter sich hat.

Baden.

Karlsruhe. Die fürstlich Fürstenbergische Erbschaftssteuer, um die lange Zeit zwischen der großherzoglichen Regierung und der fürstlichen Vermögensverwaltung gestritten wurde, ist dem fürstlichen Hause von der höchsten Instanz zu vollem Betrage auferlegt worden. Die Summe beläuft sich auf 3,473,443 Mark. Sie ist in zehn Jahresraten ohne Zinszahlung zu entrichten.

Heddesheim. Bei einer Rauferei in Heddesheim wurde der Fabrikarbeiter Josef Wierling erstochen, ein anderer tödtlich verletzt.

Heidelberg. Die hiesige juristische Fakultät hat zu einer Neuerung die Hand geboten. In der Anzeige der Vorlesungen für das Sommer-Halbjahr hat Privatdozent Dr. Affolter einen Ferienkurs angekündigt. Er wird vom 13. August bis 13. Oktober täglich ein Repetitorium des gesammten Bürgerlichen Gesetzbuches abhalten.

Müllheim. Wegen Urkundenfälschung und Betrugs wurden der Bankier E. Mayer aus Müllheim und der Gärtner Guttmann aus Staufen zu 1½ beziehungsweise einem halben Jahre Gefängniß verurtheilt.

Walldorf. Der Arbeiter Leonhard Kern ermordete seine zweite Frau, mit der er schon seit längerer Zeit in ehelichen Zwistigkeiten lebte, auf offener Straße. Nach der That floh er in den Wald, wo er erhängt aufgefunden wurde.

Elsaß-Lothringen.

Kolmar. Eine in Kolmar stattgehabte Versammlung von Winzern aus den verschiedenen Bezirken Elsaß-Lothringens beschloß einstimmig die Gründung eines elsaß-lothringischen Weinbauvereins. Der Verein beabsichtigt, sich als Zweigverband dem deutschen Weinbauverein anzuschließen.

Schlettstadt. Die Stadt Schlettstadt hat dem Kaiser im vorigen Jahre die in ihrer Nähe gelegene Hohkönigsburg geschenkt. Es ist eine der großartigsten und gewaltigsten Burgruinen Deutschlands und einer der besuchtesten Punkte der Vogesen. Der Kaiser hat nunmehr beschlossen, die Ruine nicht wieder als Schloß vollständig aufzubauen, sondern sie so weit herrichten zu lassen, daß sie eine Art Architekturmuseum darstellt, das Jedermann offen stehen soll.

This Spring's Advice

Don't be led to believe in the claims of the many "mushroom-growth" stores that promise all sorts of impossible things! You're safest trading with an old established house like this. Before the people over 40 Spring seasons—over 4 acres of goods—prices below any "cash" stores; yet credit's given!

Remember—cash or accounts opened at same prices for 30, 60 or 90 days, or longer if more convenient.

Read over every one of this week's special things.

$3.69—a pretty Corner Chair—damask covering—cherry frame.

$17.98—Solid Oak Bedroom Suite—large French plate mirror, washstand has splasher back. $25 value, surely.

$3.49—instead of $5.00—a mahogany finish frame Rocker. Embossed leather seat.

CARPETS—over 500 rolls Spring Carpets in. Specially-priced ones this week:

There was a clergyman in a Long Island village who suffered from dyspepsia to such an extent that it positively seemed sometimes as though his doctrine was not sound. It was, however, only a stomach trouble, and had nothing to do with the mind. Being convinced of this, one of his parishioners, a lady, presented him with a small quantity of Ripans Tabules and the relief he experienced was such that all the congregation noticed an improvement, and now, although his salary is small, this clergyman and his wife devote a portion of it to keeping the medicine closet stocked with a suitable supply of Ripans Tabules. Doubtless there are many cases where what has been thought heresy was in fact nothing more nor less than dyspepsia, and Ripans Tabules cure dyspepsia. One gives relief.

WANTED—A case of bad health that RIPANS will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word RIPANS on the package and accept no substitute. RIPANS, 10 for 5 cents, may be had at any drug store. Ten samples and one thousand testimonials will be mailed to any address for 50 cents, by addressing the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

BRIDES OF CONGRESS.

Young Wives of Statesmen Make Washington Society Gay.

The many brides of the official circle at Washington have made the past season unusually gay. Generally this distinction is conceded to the daughters of the capital set, but this year the tables have been turned, for the young wives of the congressional homes have added their quota to the gayety of the social whirl and have not failed to have their share of attention.

The "bride of the senate" this year is Mrs. Thurston, who was married to the senior senator from Nebraska during the latter part of November. Mrs. Thurston is the senator's second wife. She is tall and slender and has the rather rare type of beauty of dark hair and olive complexion, with azure eyes. She is very much younger than her distinguished husband. At the time of her marriage certain newspapers referred to her stage career. There was very little truth in the statements.

A good part of her girlhood was passed in Washington while her father was senator from Florida. She was educated in Boston, and after she had been graduated she went abroad for a few months to study elocution under a well known master. This was probably the basis of the "stage" romance.

Mrs. Thurston's hotel apartments are very beautiful. They are filled with curios and interesting things from all parts of the world. The senator's smoking room is an ideal oriental den. The walls are draped with heavy tapestries, exquisite embroideries from China, curios from Cuba, the Philippines and Hawaii, and all around them are couches piled high with down pillows. There are teak and inlaid tables, with pipes from all corners of the globe, tobacco pouches and bowls of curious design and strange looking musical instruments that breathe eastern luxury.

Senator and Mrs. Thurston have entertained extensively during the season, and Mrs. Thurston has been voted as great a success as was Miss Lola Pueman, the debutante.

Mrs. Mondell, the wife of Representative Frank W. Mondell of Wyoming, is a typical western girl. She was born and spent her girlhood except when studying in the east at Laramie. Dr. Harris, her father, was one of the early pioneers of the west and made a large fortune in mining. He gave his daughter every advantage of education and travel.

Although Miss Harris and Representative Mondell were from the same state, they had never met until he was serving his first term in congress. Miss Harris and her affianced were firm believers in short engagements, and less than four months after they had met for the first time Miss Harris became Mrs. Mondell.

The youngest daughter of Ohio's eminent member of the house, Hon. Charles Grosvenor, has recently become the bride of Dr. Cassius Shepard of Columbus. Mrs. Shepard is almost as well known in Washington as she is in her home. Her father has been in congress more than 17 years, and she has virtually grown up in Washington, where she was educated.

She was abroad for two years to complete her education and to study music. Since her marriage she has visited with her parents during the month of March. She is very popular in society and has been entertained continually since her arrival in Washington.

Dr. Cassius Shepard is a graduate from the Pennsylvania Medical college, class of '99. He is practicing medicine at his beautiful home in Columbus.

The young and stately bride of the Harrisburg representative is a Virginia girl who was born and bred at its capital. A few years ago as Miss Gertrude Howard she went to reside with her uncle at Lynchburg. It was while visiting there that she met Representative Olmstead. He was apparently armor proof until he saw Miss Howard arrayed in bridesmaid's attire. He capitulated to her charms, and the wedding last October followed.

They reside at the Shoreham, where they have been among the most generous entertainers of the season. Representative Olmstead was a stalwart bachelor when he entered congress three years ago, and as he was known to be wealthy he was considered one of the "catches" of the house.

RUSHING THE SEASON.

Well Dressed Women Are Governed by the Weather in Changing Costumes.

There are always persons who are discontented if they cannot be in advance with every change of fashion—who are eager to put on spring attire before the winds of winter are laid. However bitter the blasts they decree to lay aside their comfortable winter wraps as soon as the calendar changes and appear in spring coats. The number of foolish women who thus sacrifice their health to shallow vanity is not so large as it once was, because, in spite of all that is said to the contrary, the women of to-day are wiser in such matters than their mothers or their grandmothers. They are more learned in matters of health, and have become, for that reason, more intelligent housekeepers and mothers. There are not, therefore, so many women as there once were who "rush the seasons" and adopt the attire of May in March. Fashionable women never do this to-day, as they once did, because it is now considered "bad form" to do so. It is the woman who aims to be fashionable, and who does not comprehend the fact that common sense is at the foundation of the modern fashion, who makes this blunder. The elegant woman of to-day makes no sudden changes in her dress. She abhors the startling and extreme in her attire as she does in everything. Pronounced styles in dress were once looked upon with favor by fashion, but fashion has changed.

The only persons in the cities who rush into a new gown and a spring bonnet, whatever the weather is, are maidservants who attempt to copy their mistresses' styles, and other ignorant but ambitious persons.

Each year the changes of dress from one season to another are more gradual. The distinctive fashions of spring and autumn are almost lost sight of, so gradual is the change in the present day between the styles of winter and summer. Well dressed women of to-day are governed by the weather and by the calendar in making changes from winter to spring dress. It is not an uncommon thing to see women wearing their heavy winter wraps and fur garments as late as May. The sensible English fashion of using fur capes and boas for cool evenings in midsummer has long ago been adopted in this country, so that fur is no longer a badge of the season of frosts. Ultra changes in the cut and fit of clothes are not now introduced suddenly, as they once were. The fashions of one year, on the contrary, are gradually merged into those of the next. It is as though all well dressed women had agreed to the poet's dictum:

"Be not the first by whom the new is tried,
Nor yet the last to lay the old aside."

KITCHEN ECONOMIES.

Various Small Items Which Go Far Towards Reducing Expenses.

After a broth has been skillfully skimmed and still little atoms of grease appear on the surface, lay a piece of clean brown paper over the top, and the grease will cling to it.

Often only the whites of eggs are required for immediate use. The yolks may be kept some time if they are put into a small cup, covered with a little cold water, and kept in a cool place.

A loaf of cake that has got stale and dry may be freshened so as to seem newly baked by putting it in a tin, covering the tin with another pan, and leaving the whole in a warm oven about 20 minutes.

To boil meat so as to retain the juices and soluble salts, and yet cook it sufficiently, it should be plunged into boiling water and boiled rapidly for about ten minutes. After this fast cooking the kettle must be pushed over to the back of the fire, where its contents will simmer gently. This tends to coagulate the outer rind of the meat, so that the juices cannot escape. If meat be treated in this manner the inside will be found juicy and tender, but if the meat is allowed to boil it will be found hard and chippy.

When small pieces of pie crust are left from making pies, instead of forming them into tarts, as is usually done, secure some round hardwood sticks, about four inches long, and, after the pieces of crusts are rolled out thin, cut them into narrow strips, with a jaggered iron, flour the sticks and roll the strips around them. Place these in a tin and put in a hot oven to bake. When the crust has got partly cool, slide the stick out. When serving, fill the spaces with jelly, whipped cream or a marmalade, and the family will be delighted with a new dish.—Home Life.

Quiet Colors the Vogue.

No matter how inexpensive a gown may be, it should be becoming in color. There are a few points that should always be remembered by the woman with a limited wardrobe. She should not invest in high novelty shades if very stout or very tall, or unusually slender, she should not wear light or brown colors on the street. Black and white are particularly stylish for trimmings on any color or material. A light, airy effect should be aimed at by young women and young girls. The colors on the color card issued for the manufacturing and retail trades are almost faded in appearance, so light are the tones represented by the pastel or miniature shades. Everything is softened by art to appear as though subdued by time, and several bright colors in the list are well disguised by this antique finish.—Ladies' Home Journal.

"Knights of the Indicator" of the National League

Something About the Five Men Whose Decisions Are Law on the Green Diamond

IN ABANDONING the double umpire system and reverting to the scheme of having one knight of the indicator to be the supreme arbiter in baseball games, the national league magnates believe that they have assured the public that disgraceful rows over decisions will not mar the play this season. Many a time James A. Hart, one of the leading national league rule makers, has said to me: "It is hard enough to find six men who know how to umpire games; what sense is there in the plan that requires us to find ten or twelve men?"

Mr. Hart's logic made an impression on his fellow magnates and they named five of the most experienced men that were available for the task this year. When the pitchers face the batsmen for the first time this season, and the hour has come for "play ball" in the opening contests of the National league, the men in blue behind the catchers will be the veterans, Tim Hurst, Henry O'Day, Ed Swartwood, Thomas Connolly and Robert Emslie. I have it from one of the major league leaders that the supervisor of umpires and players, John M. Ward, will actually be compelled to work this season to earn his salary, which has been his in the past more as a pure gift from the National league than as a remuneration for services rendered. In theory it is fine—Mr. Day is to wander about the circuit almost incognito, as it were, and to keep his eagle eye on the umpires and players. In cases of disputes over decisions that may be of such a vital nature that they decide the fate of a close game, the supervisor is to be the sole and final arbiter. It is one thing for Messrs. Hart, Soden and Brush to legislate in this pleasant way, but it will be quite another thing for the players to depart from the established habit of "kicking."

I have sat through many a score of games on National league diamonds watching the work of the umpires named for this season's staff—it will be seen that there are five umpires while but four can be on duty at once, because of the league circuit being reduced to eight clubs. Naturally I have formed opinions of the ability of each man. These opinions are personal and doubtless they would not agree with those of many who are in the habit of witnessing games from less advantageous positions—the newspaper men sit immediately behind the catcher and umpire, where the balls that the pitcher "floats over" the plate or near it can be judged with about as much accuracy as by the backstop and the umpire.

Knowing these men, I must say that there can be no sympathy extended to any critic who will say Umpire So and So "deliberately robbed" New York, or whatever team might have been visiting the city in question, of a game. The umpires, whatever may be their human proneness to occasionally err, are high-minded sportsmen. They are impartial—owing their allegiance only to the national body, which pays them a good salary and expense money—and they have no desire to throw a game either way. The players realize this fully as well as the close critics do, But they are naturally prejudiced when an umpire's decision snatches away what looked to be a certain victory.

Of all the men on the league staff, Tim Hurst is the most maligned by those who do not know him. Because he has officiated as referee in pugilistic bouts and has maintained his reputation for pugnacity when attacked by senseless and brutish players, Tim is denied the right to illumine the game with his experience.

For two years Hurst was absent from the league staff. He conducts some prize dissertations with the noisy players, in his quiet, undertone manner, that are often more persuasive than all the threats and brow-beating language of some umpires. The men who bellow loudest over his decisions are the quickest to admit after a game that Tim understands his business. Once "Muggsy" McGraw, the worst feared player of the league by the umpires, objected to Hurst's decision and applied some vile epithets to the little man in blue. Hurst stepped up to the little third baseman, looked him in the eye and remarked: "You talk like a missing link. Some day I hope to see you take on human form and betray some sign of intelligence. Now trot off to the bench, you ourang outang."

Spectators there for the game did not hear the repartee. But they wondered what sort of a rapid firing gun Hurst had turned on the belligerent "Muggsy" to so effectually silence the oriole player's batteries. It was Hurst's style of diplomacy. He has plenty more of the same sort for other occasions.

"Bob" Emslie, by many considered the star umpire of the staff, is 34 years old and had five years' experience as a pitcher with the Camden, Baltimore, Toronto and Savannah clubs. For 12 years he has been calling strikes and balls, part of the time in the American association and International league and nearly nine years in the major league. Emslie appreciates the call for dignity in his position and when traveling to a city to officiate holds himself aloof from the baseball men. He is a silent but not taciturn man, a close student of the rules and can be depended upon to be where his schedule will demand his presence. The grandstandites who never get familiar with the faces of the umpires notice Emslie immediately he takes up his position at the plate by his distinguishing habit of frequently sweeping off the rubber to guide the pitcher in putting over the sphere and by the peculiar, partially bald spot on the right hand side of his head, which he attempts to conceal by some extra long locks. In a heated discussion these locks often get brushed aside. Emslie is a most conscientious umpire.

The greatest "jollier" of the crowd is Ed Swartwood, a veteran American association and league player and a graduate from the umpiring ranks of the Eastern league. No one could get mad over "Swarty's" decisions. Even the late Marty Bergen, who was a chronic kicker while standing to catch, keeping up a continual round of verbal attack on umpires, although some critics called him the silent man, would say: "Swarty takes the cake. You have to get into the band wagon with him." During a game Swartwood made a bad decision and laughingly told the spectators behind him that he had made a "bull." "But it didn't cost anything," added the umpire. "Yet I will hear all sorts of kicks." Sure enough, after the game the defeated captain came to the umpire, his eyes fairly blazing. "That decision was dead wrong," he said. "I know it," was the reply. "Then why didn't you reverse it when you saw it was wrong?" asked the captain.

"You are very much off your trolley," replied Swarty. "Why didn't you die and be born again when you found that you were cut out for a cheap kicking ball player?" That settled it. Swartwood, as the result of his abundance of animal spirits, his genuine honesty and conscientious manner, his determination to spread the milk of human kindness rather than the rennet of human dissension, is the favorite of the staff. He would stick to a wrong decision if he had to quit the game rather than make the game ridiculous by reversing his opinion. But he seldom errs in judgment. Connolly has had some experience as an umpire on bases in the big league, but has not the faculty of controlling his speech. He will have to "cut this out" of his accomplishments to regain favor with the fans. Hank O'Day is the Nestor of the staff. He wears well, and although very blunt and dictatorial in his talk with the players is a most capable umpire. He had years of experience as a pitcher, knows every player and his characteristics and cannot be deceived by feints and tricks. He is honest to the core and the only thing that Chicago fans ever had against Hank was that he was so afraid of being called a "home umpire"—he lives in Chicago—that he leaned away from the rough riders at every possible close decision.

There cannot be too many umpires like O'Day. E. G. WESTLAKE.

Insurance for Workingmen.

A new accident and sick benefit insurance law has been passed (subject to referendum) in Switzerland. According to the law, after January 1, 1903, all persons 14 years of age, and over, employed by, or carrying on work for any other person in Swiss territory, must become insured. The insurance fund is to be raised by contributions from the government, the employers and the work people. Work people are never to be required to pay more than two per cent. of their wages into the fund. The proportion which employers must pay varies according to nature of the employment, and in the cases of some dangerous occupations is considerable, the maximum rate being as high as 12 per cent. of an employe's wages.

A SEAMLESS PATCH.

How Our Grandmothers Did It—Follow These Careful Directions.

Our grandmothers prided themselves upon their patching. For a time the art languished, but, fortunately, during the last few years, since sewing was introduced into the public schools, the children are all being taught the manifold uses of the needle, and many a mother has to confess that her little daughter can turn out a far better patch than she can herself. Here is a lesson on how to insert invisibly a patch in serge, muslin or any material easily frayed out:

First, cut away the torn or worn out part, so as to form either a square or rectangular opening. Second, to fill up exactly this hole, cut a corresponding piece from a material of the same texture and color, allowing on either side a margin which when frayed out will form four projecting tabs in the semblance of the arms of a cross. Third, apply the patch thus divided into five exact sections or squares in such a way as to have the solid center filling up the hole to a thread. Tack the four arms on the foundation framing the hole. Fourth, thread a fine needle with the two ends of a thin strand of silk, doubled in two to form a loop; with this needle and silk darn a straight row radiating from one of the edges of the patch. Before drawing the silk right through, slip into the loop one of the frayed out threads, which hold lightly in place with the thumb of the left hand. Now pull the needle, and by this movement both the silk and the frayed out threads will be drawn into the material, the smaller or pearl stitches scarcely showing on the right side. Be careful to have the darning started from the very edge of the patch to avoid any appearance of a break. Repeat this thread by thread. These frayed out threads, being about two inches long, cannot be threaded and darned without some skillful management, hence their introduction into the loop silk to drag them through the running stitches.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

SOME CANADIAN ENGLISH.

Funny Dialect of the Habitant of the Backwoods Country.

Joe Place, who lives out on the Biddeford Pool road, supplies a fair amount of innocent amusement to the people of that section.

The other day he drove into the city with a load of cordwood. On the top of the load he had some mysterious parcel in a short sack, and the contents of the parcel occasionally moved and writhed.

When some one came along and asked him about the bundle Joe lifted up the shorts sack and immediately there was a mighty squealing from within.

"Leetle pigs," quoth Joseph, smiling.

"Now I tal yo' w'at I do," he said, jocosely, "yo' tal me how manny leetle peegs dere be in dat bag, and ba gar, I geeve yo' de whole t'ree of heem."

"Well," said the other, "I guess there are three pigs there, Joseph."

Joseph was disgusted.

"Oh, ba gar," shouted he, "somebody gon' tol' yo' 'bout dat."

They undertook to run down the capacities of Joseph's horse the other day, and Joseph was mad. Some one told him that the critter couldn't trot in 4:30. Joseph shook his fists. His voice trembled with suppressed feeling. He pulled out his wallet and wanted to bet. And as he talked he grew madder.

At last he said:

"Now yo' look here, yo' don' know w'at yo' talk about. Dat hoss he all r-rat. He can go jussas fas' as yo' want heem trot. I bat yo' I put heem on de barn and geeve heem handful of oat and quart of hay. I tak' heem off de barn. Den he go batter dan ha'f pas' four or ba gar, I geeve yo' to heem."—Lewiston (Me.) Journal.

TWO FABLES.

Showing the Gratitude of Republics and the Power of the Machine.

Charles and William were partners in a Small Way in the Commission Business. When the War broke out William went to the Front, but as Charles had an Uncle who was a Congressman he went to Washington and Did Important Work for Some Contractors.

After the War William came Home in dusty Blue Clothes and was a Hero, although he was about Six Hundred Dollars in Debt. He found Charles not only Engaged to the Prettiest Girl in the Place, but with his Pockets full of Ready Money.

It is Pleasant to Know that Republics are not Always Ungrateful.

David was a Fine old Merchant. He was a Deacon, a Solid Man and universally Respected. The Civic Reform Club urged upon him to Run for Mayor, and the committee Informed him that he would be Pretty Near unanimously Elected. He Weakly consented, and the Respectable Element was Delighted.

They ran Against him an Unknown person named Michael, a retired Saloon Keeper. He was an Ignorant man, but he knew a great Deal about Machines.

When they counted the Ballots it was Discovered that Michael had been elected by a Vote of Two Thousand Two Hundred and Ninety-three to One Hundred and Fifty-eight.

David felt very Sore, and is Still Wondering how it Happened.

Stories like This should Demonstate that Success consists in Knowing How to Succeed.—Life.

RESCUED JUDAS ISCARIOT.

Dash of an Inexperienced American Army Officer Into an Excited Cuban Mob.

Down in Cuba when a fellow gets religion he gets it mighty bad. On no day in the year does militant Christianity crop out more strongly than on that set apart as a reminder of the betrayal of Jesus Christ by Judas Iscariot. What they do to Judas on this occasion is a sad tale. They bring him into being in the shape of a tough, old rag dummy, and men with an ecstatic enthusiasm, which, if properly applied, would go a long way toward rehabilitating the island, proceed to kick the stuffing out of him. Everybody takes a hack at him and the whole proceeding, being of the nature of a tiny revolution, immense enjoyment is thereby obtained together with the soothing balm of Gilead for their religiously outraged souls.

An American lieutenant witnessed one of these vengeances upon Judas this year and now he is sorry he did. He is stationed down in the eastern end of the island in command of a vest pocket garrison. One day he was sitting in his quarters when he heard a distant roar like the voice of a great multitude in anger. It came closer and closer and soon he could distinguish fearful and angry oaths, as though a mob were fearfully enraged. Rushing to a window he looked out and saw a great crowd of men and women swirling through the plaza. They were dragging an unfortunate creature by a rope which was tied around the victim's neck. As they yanked the object of their wrath along members of the mob jumped upon the prostrate figure with hideous screams of rage, waving their arms with all the fury of madmen.

The lieutenant saw in a second what was happening. The Cubans had found some unfortunate Spanish exguerrilla and they were lynching him. Not an instant was to be lost. The lieutenant seized his pistol and rushed hatless into the surging mob, yelling in his most terrific tones for the crowd to stand back. All the while he was discharging his revolver to give weight to his commands. With great precipitancy the men stood apart to permit the officer to pass. Was he in time, he wondered, as he dashed down upon his knees beside the bedraggled figure, his fingers clutching at the rope about the choking neck. With an oath the lieutenant stood up. The victim was poor old Judas Iscariot, dead more than 1,800 years.

"The d—d fools!" was his one exclamation of disgust as he turned back to his quarters with a very red face, while the guffaws of the Cubans followed. The lieutenant kept out of sight the rest of that day and the good old haters of the world's arch-traitor wound up their day by burning the effigy in the most approved manner.—N. Y. Sun.

GOVERNMENT TELEGRAPHY.

It Has Been a Great Success in Great Britain During the Past Thirty Years.

Since the British government, in the year 1870, assumed control of all inland telegrams, the business of that department of the general post office has grown to enormous proportions. The object of assuming this control was twofold: First, to reduce the exorbitant telegraph tolls of private companies—tolls so high as virtually to be prohibitive for many kinds of business; and, secondly, to safeguard the public against any return to former charges. It matters not what one may think as to the desirability of the introduction of such a system into the United States, the fact is patent that in Great Britain it has proved a signal success. The twofold object was long since attained, and there is no likelihood that the system will be overthrown.

The report of the post office department for 1899 gives the latest available figures. This report shows that the people so far appreciate and utilize the system that they sent in 1899, up to the date of the closing of the report, in ordinary telegrams, cable messages, government, franked, and reduced-rate dispatches, over 3,000,000 messages more than during 1898. In 1869, the year before the government assumption, 7,000,000 messages were sent; in 1899, nearly 90,000,000 messages. In 1869 the average charge for telegrams was a little over 50 cents, while the charge for the same message to-day, inclusive of address, is about 15 cents. In 1869 there were under 300 employes, while there are at present over 3,000 in the London office alone. Last year, after allowing for a deficit of at least a million dollars in the department devoted to the daily newspapers, the system cleared above all cost of maintenance over £165,000; in round numbers, $850,000.—W. S. Harwood, in Century.

He Was Insulting.

The ancient lady clerk, whose term of departmental service began not with the era of the Hyksos kings of Egypt, but with the beginning of the regime of the lamented Gen. Skinner, had just stooped behind her desk screen the other afternoon to dab her nose with a chamois skin powder rag—preparatory to a one-minute to-four department — when the new male stenographer who was audibly checking off an account for one of the auditors sang out:

"Flour—two hundred-weight."

"Insulting creature," muttered the ancient lady clerk, hastily restoring the powder rag to its receptacle, and then all of the subdued ancient male clerks in the room sniggered in a way that was real rude, to say the least.—Washington Post.

WRECK ON THE CENTRAL.

Freight Train Collides With Derailed Coal Car at North Branch — Fifteen Cars Piled Up.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, April 18.—A wreck occurred on the Central Railroad of New Jersey near North Branch station yesterday, which completely blocked the road between Easton and Somerville for seven hours. A gravel train standing on the eastbound track sent out a brakeman to flag a mixed freight and coal train drawn by engine 401 and running on the same track. The train stopped suddenly on a down grade and broke in two.

A coal car was thrown on the westbound track just as a freight drawn by engine 341 was passing. The engine crashed into the derailed car and was thrown over on its side. The engineer and fireman jumped and escaped with slight injuries. Fifteen cars were piled up and badly wrecked. The Central passenger trains were run over the Lehigh Valley railroad from Easton until last night, when one track was cleared and a passenger train sent through.

Two Men Hurt in Shops.

Timothy Whalen, an employe in the steel works at Lincoln, suffered the loss of a finger Monday, and he was obliged to go to the Muhlenberg Hospital, where the member was amputated. Phillip Curran, of South Second street, an employe at the Pond Tool Works, sustained an injury to his arm while at work Monday. He also went to the hospital and had the wound dressed.

couraging report was that presented by Rev. Mr. Mitchell, the pastor of a colored church in Elizabeth, who gave as his opinion that the money spent by the Presbytery in maintaining that church could be spent somewhere else to better advantage. The discussion was followed by brief devotional exercises, conducted by the moderator, and including music and prayer by a number of delegates.

A brief business session followed the devotional exercises. The request of Rev. James G. Williamson, of Bethlehem, to be relieved from his pastorate, which he has held for fifty-one years, came up for action. The request was granted. The request of Rev. C. S. Converse, of Connecticut Farms, that relations between him and his church be dissolved, on account of his ill health, was also granted. The call of the church of Perth Amboy to Rev. Mr. Mendenhall, was considered, and placed in the hands of Mr. Mendenhall, who expressed his willingness to accept it. This concluded the afternoon session.

The evening session of the Presbytery was called a popular meeting and was fairly well attended. Rev. G. Kennedy Newell, pastor of Hope chapel, presided. Rev. Mr. Blauvelt, of Roselle, read the Scripture, after which Rev. T. S. Wynkoop, of Northern India, a delegate to the Ecumenical Mission Council, delivered a short address in relation to the circulation of the Bible and religious tracts and the great benefits that had been derived from their broad dissemination throughout the world.

Rev. Mr. Wynkoop's address contained many statistics in reference to the Bible that were new to the congregation and it proved as instructive as it was entertaining.

The session then adjourned to 9 o'clock this morning. Rev. Dr. Rodman, rector of Grace Episcopal church, was among those who attended the session.

New York Democrats.

NEW YORK, April 18.—The Democratic state committee will meet at the Hoffman House Friday for the purpose of calling the Democratic state convention to name delegates to the national convention, which will meet at Kansas City July 4. The impression prevails that the state convention will be held in Albany some time during the latter part of next month or early in June. There is, however, some talk of the convention being held either in this city or Syracuse. Much speculation is being indulged in as to who will be the delegates at large to the Kansas City convention. There seems to be no doubt that ex-United States Senators David B. Hill and Edward Murphy will go to the convention.

Earthquakes In Bohemia.

LONDON, April 18.—The Vienna correspondent of The Daily Telegraph says: "The mountain which overlooks the town of Klappi, where the landslide recently occurred, has undergone a seismic disturbance, which is spreading throughout the entire province of Bohemia between the rivers Elbe and Eger. The heights of the Bohemian middle range are moving, with the result that houses and churches have collapsed in some 30 villages. Railway embankments have been moved, streams diverted and roads sunk."

Tornado In Missouri.

LEXINGTON, Mo., April 18.—Five people were injured, one fatally, and considerable property was damaged by a tornado that passed just west of Concordia, Lafayette county, last evening. The first place struck was the residence of Martha Bergman, occupied by Henry Meyer. The house and barn were destroyed. Robert Hendricks' house and half a dozen big barns were also destroyed, several head of stock killed and much other damage done to property.

Root Rechristens Steamers.

WASHINGTON, April 18.—The secretary of war has rechristened the steamer Dickinson, recently purchased for the Alaskan station, the Seward in honor of ex-Secretary Seward, who conducted the negotiations for the purchase of the territory of Alaska. He also rechristened the transport Resolute, recently acquired from the navy, the Rawlins in honor of the Union general of that name.

Clean Sweep In Pettigrew's Town.

SIOUX FALLS, April 18.—In the city election here yesterday the Republicans swept everything. Burnside (Rep.) was elected mayor by 354 majority and carried every ward in the city in the largest vote ever cast. Republicans elected the entire city ticket and aldermen in all the wards. This is Senator Pettigrew's home town.

Vermont Republicans Meet Today.

BURLINGTON, Vt., April 18.—Three or four hundred delegates have arrived here to attend the Republican state convention today. The convention will elect four delegates and four alternates for the Republican national convention at Philadelphia.

King Oscar Going to Paris.

PARIS, April 18.—It is officially announced that King Oscar will visit the exposition before the end of the month. The crown prince and crown princess of Denmark have postponed their visit for some days.

A VOLUMINOUS REPORT.

County Attorney Codington Will Have a Job Fixing Up Boulevard Business for Court.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, April 18—The Westfield Boulevard Commission for the widening of that thoroughfare to the Cranford Township line was in session here yesterday at the Courthouse and expects to complete its report by 5 o'clock this afternoon, and have it in readiness for submission to County Attorney Codington. The report is voluminous. It will take some days for the County Attorney to carefully go over the awards made by the commission to property owners, whose land has been condemned for the construction of the new boulevard. The report will be presented by the County Attorney to Judge VanSyckel at the opening of the May term of the Circuit Court.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—The large stock of canned goods at Neuman Brothers, the Watchung avenue grocer, is being closed out at reduced prices.

—If you want to purchase from a good stock of white grapes, grape fruit, oranges, lemons and fresh fruit go to Alex Lusardi, 211 West Front street.

—The Plainfield Photograph Supply Company, 133 North avenue, have just received a complete line of photographers materials, camers etc. Their prices are as low as New York.

MUST COMPLETE TROLLEY ROADS.

Springfield Committee Anxious to Have a Line to That Place.

The Springfield Township Committee, at its meeting held Monday night, decided to ascertain whether or not it is the intention of the Elizabeth and Westfield Street Railway Company to extend its trolley line to Springfield in the near future, according to its franchise with the township. Chairman Terry said the franchise would expire on July 1st next, unless the line was in operation. He said he was opposed to extending the time unless there was some indication that the company would push the road through to Springfield.

Town Clerk Farrell was instructed to communicate with Colonel Hine in reference to the matter.

Entertained at Euchre.

The Tuesday Night Euchre Club was entertained last evening by Miss Minnie Smalley, of Somerset street. There were four tables and the members had the usual good time. The first and second honors for the women were won by Miss Marguerite Summers and Miss Minnie Smalley, while Dennis E. Gavin and J. M. Smalley won the first and second honors for the men. The next and last meeting for the season will be held next week Tuesday evening, when Mr. and Mrs. Harry Coddington, of Mountain avenue, will entertain.

Wrong Man Mentioned.

The Daily Press in reporting the raid made at the home of Mrs. Bearsford, in Vine street, a few days ago, mentioned the name of Benjamin Scribner as one of the parties arrested. This is a mistake. It was Spencer Scribner. Benjamin Scribnes is at Charlton, Iowa, and was there when the raid was made.

105 Cases of Measles.

According to the last report there are 105 cases of measles in the borough. A large number of these cases are on the road to recovery, and as no new cases are being reported the physicians believe that the epidemic has about reached its height.

A Parlor Meeting.

The Woman's Association of the Congregational church will hold a parlor meeting at the home of Mrs. Wm. B. Wadsworth, 452 West Eighth street, tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. Mrs. Sheffield, of North China, will deliver an address.

Colombian Rebels Routed.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, April 18.—News received here from Colombia says two big battles have been fought at Matamundo and Pradera, where the rebel forces under Generals Rosa, Ibanez and Caicedo were completely routed, a large number being killed, wounded or taken prisoners. The Colombian government has sent 6,000 additional troops north. Peace is reported to be completely restored in the department of Magdalena.

Italian's Fifth Victim Dead.

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., April 18.—The dead as a result of an unknown Italian's skillful wielding of a stiletto at Windber on Sunday night now number five. Thomas Kipling, the fifth victim, is dead at his home in the mining town where the terrible tragedy occurred. He was stabbed through the bladder, and there was at no time any hope of recovery.

Big Check From City Comptroller.

ALBANY, April 18.—State Treasurer Jaeckel yesterday received a check from Comptroller Bird S. Coler of New York city for $2,484,981, the amount of the collateral inheritance tax collected in New York county during the quarter ended March 31. The check is drawn on the City Trust company.

Shot by a Highwayman.

ST. LOUIS, April 18.—Edgar Atkins, coach of the Smith academy football and baseball teams, was shot after a desperate struggle with a negro highwayman yesterday in the fashionable west end of town.

ESTABLISHED MAY 10, 1887. PLAINFIELD, N. J., THURSDAY, APRIL 19, 1900. TWO CENTS A COPY—$5 A YEAR.

GOLF SEASON WILL OPEN SATURDAY.

Both Hillside and Park Clubs are Prepared for a Big Turn-out of Players.

THE "KICKERS" HANDICAP.

THIS UNIQUE CONTEST SCHEDULED FOR THE PARK LINKS.

At the Hillside Club Course the Opening Event Will be the Competition for the Highest Score of the Day.

The golf season in Plainfield will begin Saturday afternoon when the links of both the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club and the Park Golf Club will be opened for play. Both clubs have arranged competitions to mark the event and a goodly turnout of golfers is expected at both courses.

At the Hillside Club there will be a competition for the highest gross score in which all will take part. The Hillside links are being rapidly rounded into excellent shape and both fair and putting greens are expected to be ready for play by Saturday. The rain of the last few days has been very beneficial and has made a great improvement in the turf.

M. R. Brown, the club professional, is back again this year and will assume his usual duties. Brown has been so busy during the last season with instruction that he has had but little time to keep up his regular game. He still plays very well, however, and a match between Brown and Blair, the Park Club's new professional, is anticipated.

The greens committee of the Park Golf Club has just announced that a "kickers' handicap" tournament will be held over the course Saturday afternoon. A "kickers' handicap," while a proven success on many links, has never been tried before at the Park Club course, and much fun is anticipated. Each competitor is allowed to fix his own handicap, while the greens committee selects a certain score that is kept secret. The player whose net score is nearest to the chosen score wins.

Two prizes are offered. The first is a Vardon driver and the second a Vardon iron. The competion will be open to all members.

Last Saturday there were a few of the more enthusiastic players out on the Park Club course but the putting greens were not in shape for use and temporary holes were arranged. The fair greens were then in excellent condition and are now even better. The putting greens will be ready by Saturday and Professional Blair reports them in fine shape. Blair will be on hand Saturday so that the members will have an opportunity to get acquainted with the young expert.

CENTRAL MAY OPPOSE GRANT.

Cragin, Who Wants to Build an Island May Not Get Permission.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Jersey City, April 19.—It was given out yesterday that the Central Railroad Company has not yet given its consent to the plans of Edward F. Cragin for the formation of an island between Ellis and Liberty Islands, and that the railroad company would probably protest against the proposed grant to Cragin at the next meeting of the Riparian Commission.

The Central owns the shore front in front of the proposed island. Its agent is reported to be preparing a protest. Amasa Thornton, counsel for Cragin, said in regard to these rumors, that a satisfactory understanding is being reached and that the Central would not oppose the grant.

Stanhope Furnace "Blown In."
(Special to The Daily Press.)

High Bridge, April 19th—The large iron furnace at Stanhope, which has been idle since 1892, was "blown in" yesterday, and about 300 men were put to work. For several months past about 100 men have been employed at this furnace, which is one of the largest in northern New Jersey, getting it in readiness. The tradesmen of Stanhope look upon the starting up of the furnace as a great boom for the town and vicinity.

Martin Act Sale Tomorrow Again.

Mayor Rockfellow desires to call the attention of those interested to the adjourned tax sale under the provisions of the Martin Act which takes place tomorrow afternoon at the office of Collector Martin at 2:30 o'clock. There are about sixty properties to be sold and a strong effort will be made to close the sale without any further adjournments.

MEMORIAL DAY.

Winfield Scott Post Takes Steps for its Proper Observance in This City.

The committee from Winfield Scott Post, No. 73, G. A. R., to make arrangements to properly observe Memorial Day, met at the office of Comrade Elmore D. Moffett last evening. After the meeting was called to order E. C. Morse was made chairman and E. D. Moffett secretary. Then various committees were appointed to confer together with reference to the proper programme to be carried out. The secretary was instructed to request the Sons of Veterans and the Women's Relief Corps to send a committee to unite with a committee from the Post at a joint meeting to be held Wednesday evening, May 2d, to perfect arrangements to observe the day in a suitable manner.

The Post accepted an invitation from Rev. Father Smyth, pastor of St. Mary's church, to attend services at that church Sunday, May 27th. The secretary was authorized to write to Father Smyth, thanking him for the kind invitation and to notify him that the invitation had been unanimously accepted.

The meeting then adjourned to Wednesday evening, May 2d, at Justice Moffett's office.

NEW SPRINGFIELD CULVERT.

One Will be Put in on the Branch Mills Road.

The Union County Board of Freeholders has begun the spring work of repairing bridges and culverts throughout the county and in some instances erecting new structures. In Springfield the work is quite extensive and is under the supervision of Freeholder J. Martin Roll, a member of the committee.

The largest piece of work in the township in the erection of a stone culvert on the Branch Mills road, a short distance east of Westfield avenue. This culvert, when completed, will be forty-eight feet long, four feet wide and four feet high. It will be constructed of stone, with a heavy flag covering and a paved bed. The other work will be painting several stone structures and replanking wooden ones. Repairs will be made on three bridges and culverts on the Branch Mills road, one on Turkey lane, six on Westfield avenue, three on Mountain avenue, two on Morris avenue, and seven on Springfield avenue.

Annual Epworth League Meeting.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Ocean Grove, April 19.—The sixth annual convention of the New Jersey Epworth League began last night in St. Paul's church. Several hundred members were present when the State president, Rev. Marshall Owens, of Mount Holly, called the meeting to order. The devotions were conducted by Rev. J. L. Roe, of Asbury Park. Rev. F. C. Iglehart, of New York city, delivered an address on "The Laws of Labor and of Love." The convention will continue tomorrow evening. A prayer and praise service will be held tomorrow afternoon on the beach front.

School Bonds Sold.

The bonds to raise money to build the Westfield and Mountainside school houses have been sold to Spitzer & Co., of New York, at $101. The amount of the bonds is $50,000. As soon as the committee of the State Board of Education and supervising architect have approved of the plans, work will be commenced on the buildings.

Man Killed by Falling Building.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Oxford, April 19.—While tearing down an old building yesterday a serious accident occurred. The building collapsed suddenly, burying beneath the ruins Russell and George Cobb, brothers. Russell Cobb was killed instantly, his back and neck being broken. George Cobb received serious injuries.

Destroying Elm Trees.

The peeling, breaking and destruction of slippery-elm trees on Johnston drive has become so common that the owners of the property adjoining will pay a reward for detection of those who are guilty of this vandalism.

A Model Prisoner.

William Darling, of this city, who is serving a sentence of fifteen years in State Prison for the murder of Harry Dunham, is in charge of the broom department, and is considred a model prisoner.

The Rummage Sale.

Donations for the "rummage sale" of every description are asked from all towns near Plainfield, sent direct to Jackson building or notice sent to Miss Leonard, who will send for them.

Will Act as Cadi at Night.

During Mayor Smalley's absence at Somerville, where he is fulfilling the duties of a Grand Juryman, he will hold court in the borough, when the occasion requires, in the evening.

END OF THE PRESBYTERY

CLOSING SESSION HELD IN HOPE CHAPEL YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

Committee Appointed to Look After Various Details of Work—Three New Ministers.

The closing session of the meeting of the Presbytery of Elizabeth, which has been held in Hope chapel during the past two days, took place yesterday afternoon. The session began at 2 o'clock with Moderator Cobb in the chair.

The first part of the afternoon was occupied by an address on home missions, by Rev. John Dixon, D. D., assistant secretary of the board of home missions. A number of questions were asked by delegates, and answered by the speaker.

The conclusion of the examination of the three young candidates for license to preach was the next item of business. The examinations being satisfactory, the candidates were called in, and officially licensed. They were Walter B. Greenway and Robert D Schoonmaker, of Princeton Seminary, and John F. Dobbs, who is not now connected with any seminary.

A number of committee reports occupied the remainder of the session. Especially interesting was the report of the committee on church extension, who reported good work done in Garwood and Aldene, and other places; the committee on sabbath observance, who told of sermons preached and literature distributed, bearing on the subject; and the committee young people's societies, who reported a large number of such organizations, chiefly Christian Endeavor societies, doing an excellent work in their individual churches.

The standing committees for the year were appointed as follows: Missions—Richards, Blauvelt and Stevenson; church extension—Cobb, Barry, Kerr, Newell, Green, Worth, Hoppaugh, Rowland, Bull, Tennoy, Necker, Fawks, Edgar and Bettmann; education—McKelvey, Martin and Willett; publication and Sunday-school work—Rowland, Hamilton and Trimmer; church erection—Mason, Payson and Powelson; ministerial relief—Leggett, Mendenhall and Waters; freedmen — Tildon, Mitchell and Gavett; Sabbath observance—Hathaway, Strechell and Clark; temperance—Cadmus, Simonton and Lune; systematic benevolence—Newell, Richards, Cobb, McNulty, Rowland, Mason, Leggett, Tildon and Buckle; advisory—Leggett, McNulty, Richards, Squires and Cross; young people's societies — McKelvey, Condit, VanDerveer; leave of absence—the clerks of the Presbytery; examinations—Rowland, Simonton, Condit, Martin, Blauvelt, Mason, Richards, Payson, McNulty, Mott, Mendenhall, Kerr, Newell, Heppaugh; and for colleges—Buckle, Herring and Andrews.

The minutes of the meeting having been read by Rev. Mr. Kerr, the clerk, a hymn was sung, and with prayer and the pronouncing of the benediction by the moderator, Rev. Mr. Cobb, this meeting of the Elizabeth Presbytery stood adjourned.

The number of delegates present during the sessions was about fifty.

A Locomobile Agency.

Henry C. Squires & Son, of No. 20 Cortlandt street, New York, are now sole agents in New Jersey for "Locomobiles," and in addition to the New York office, a branch has been established at 405 Park avenue, this city, where the "Locomobiles" can be seen, operated, bought, repaired, stored and cared for. This is undoubtedly one of the best horseless carriages on the market and four factories are running night and day to supply orders. An inspection is invited.

Park Club Rivals Defeated.

The chief rivals of the Park Club in the contest for the State challenge whist trophy, the Elizabeth Chess and Whist Club was defeated Tuesday night by the Jersey City Club by a score of 17 to 6. The Jersey City Club was the holder of the trophy and the Elizabeth Club the challenger. The Park Club will have its turn in a few weeks.

Will Have Sidewalk Repaired.

At the meeting of the Mayor and borough street committee Monday evening mention was made of the condition of the walk on Watchung avenue which passes St. Joseph's church and parsonage. Superintendent Doud will look after the matter and see that the trouble is remedied.

Realty Changes.

The following real estate transfers have been recorded from North Plainfield during the past week: James Merritt et ux to Thos. E. Currin, $1; James Merritt et ux to John F. McIntyre, $1.

—Neuman Brothers have a hundred cases of solid Jersey packed tomatoes in three pound cans which are selling for 95c per dozen cans. 4 18 3

TO ABANDON CEMETERY.

SEVENTH-DAY BAPTIST SOCIETY WILL TRY TO DO SO.

Possibility of the Cemetery Property Being Used for a Site for the New High School.

A movement is on foot to abandon the use of the Seventh-Day Baptist cemetery, at the corner of East Ninth street and Arlington avenue, in order that the property may be placed upon the market for sale. The Seventh-Day Baptist cemetery is one of the oldest burying grounds in Plainfield.

There has been a good deal of talk about the possibility of the city purchasing it for the new high school site, and it is understood that it is this possibility that has induced the trustees to take up the question of abandoning it at the present time.

Frank J. Hubbard is now at work endeavoring to secure the consents of those who have relatives interred there to have the remains removed and placed in a plot at the Hillside cemetery, which will be purchased by the Seventh-Day Baptist society for that purpose. As trace of the interested ones have been lost in many cases, and the others are scattered all over the country, the job of securing the necessary consents will prove a difficult one.

If the property should not be bought for the city, it will undoubtedly be cut up into building lots, as it is directly opposite the city park and in the most aristocratic part of the town.

MRS. EYLER LACKS TACT.

TRUSTEE PRESIDENT'S TESTIMONY IN THE SCHOOL INQUIRY.

Mr. McCullough Declares That She is Not Big Enough to Forgive—Other Testimony Given.

(Special to The Daily Press).

Trenton, April 19. — The special committee of the Assembly had another session yesterday afternoon to investigate the management of the Girls' Industrial School. President McCullough, of the new Board of Trustees, testified that he considered Mrs. Eyler lacking in tact, and not big enough to forgive.

Mrs. Miller, who was matron of the school under Mrs. McFadden and also under Mrs. Eyler, testified to some cases of cruel treatment, and she said that the management of the school was disorganized by reason of Mrs. Eyler's attitude toward a number of the assistants. She heard before Mrs. Eyler came there that the latter had announced her intention of appointing some one else as matron. Mrs. Miller said that Mrs. Eyler's treatment of herself was unbearable, and, as a result, she resigned.

Mrs. Isaac Weatherby, a manager for ten years, and who resigned last summer, testified in severe criticism of Mrs. Eyler's methods. She said that while Mrs. Eyler was a smart woman, she did not possess the faculty of reaching the better nature of the girls, and that, as a result, the spirit of revolt and resentment in the girls was aroused, and disorder resulted.

Mrs. Frank Bergen, of Elizabeth, another of the managers, testified in answer to the charges of Trustee O'Mara, who said Mrs. Eyler was trying to convert the Catholic inmates to the Protestant faith. Mrs. Bergen admitted a conversation with Mr. O'Mara, but testified that what she said to him was her own notions, and not anything coming from Mrs. Eyler. She admitted that the girl in question had become a Protestant while at the school, but the reason for her not taking the girl was not a question of religion, but one as to whether it would be wise to put an indentured girl in company with other servants who were free agents.

Mrs Eugene Emley, another manager, testified strongly in Mrs. Eyler's behalf, and expressed her opinion that Mrs. Eyler was a most excellent woman for the place she holds. The committee will meet again Thursday of next week.

Injunction Stops Work.

Work on the switch from the Central Railroad to the Beach Glen mines has been indefinitely postponed owing to an injunction issued by the courts against further operations. Some of the ties were laid and work was being pushed as fast as possible.

Member of the Prison Choir.

Oscar Vaughn, of the borough, who is serving time in State Prison for a robbery committed at Bayonne sometime ago, has made quite a reputation as a singer. He is a member of the choir at the prison and takes part in the musical services held there.

An all-round athletic championship contest will be held Saturday evening at the Y. M. C. A. "gym."

BUSY LIFE AT AN END

FUNERAL SERVICES OVER REMAINS OF LATE JOHN D. RUNYON.

Eulogistic Sermon Preached by Rev. D. J. Yerkes, Who Had Known Deceased From Boyhood.

A large and representative gathering of people, including many business men from this city and various parts of New Jersey and New York, attended the funeral services of the late John D. Runyon which were held yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the house, corner of Park avenue and Fifth street. It was a touching and impressive tribute to one of Plainfield's leading and most prominent business men, and gave strong evidence of the high esteem in which he was held by all who knew him.

The services were conducted by Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes, pastor of the First Baptist church, where the deceased was a member and secretary of the board of trustees. They were marked by the absence of any display, Dr. Yerkes read appropriate Scripture selections, after which he spoke in the highest terms of the departed. He referred to his life and character, of his energy, honesty and integrity, that stamped him as an upright citizen. He spoke of the profound shock to the community which his sudden death had caused, and of the gloom of sadness that had been cast over the city.

The speaker referred to Mr. Runyon's warm heart and generous hand and said that he would be greatly missed. He then spoke of his personal knowledge. He said that he had known him since he was a lad, having joined his church by letter. He spoke of his activity as a member of the board of trustees of the church. When he was not in his pew he knew that it must be sickness that detained him from church.

Dr. Yerkes said that Mr. Runyon's uprightness and stability of character was recognized by the entire community, and no one could know him without being deeply impressed by his integrity. Those who came in touch with him socially were impressed by his warm-heartedness. In conclusion the speaker referred touchingly to Mr. Runyon as a wise counselor and guide for his aged mother, as well as for his household, and said that there is a vacancy left that will be very hard to fill. At the close of the service Dr. Yerkes offered an impressive prayer, in which he remembered the bereaved ones and invoked the blessings of God on the afflicted ones.

The floral tributes were numerous and lavish, consisting of large set pieces, wreaths and anchors, that came from friends, employes, business associates and relatives. It was another strong evidence of esteem that was expressed at the services.

After an opportunity had been given to view the remains they were placed in the receiving vault at Hillside Cemetery. The interment will take place later.

Where Sidewalks are Necessary.

Chief Campbell, of the borough, is now busily engaged in getting a list of all properties in the borough in front of which stone walks are needed. He has been furnished with a suitable book by the street committee and when the list is completed it will be returned to the committee who will take up the question of laying the walks under the new ordinance which will go into effect May 1st.

Must Do in a Legal Way.

As soon as possible the Mayor and Borough Council will put into operation an ordinance whereby proper notices will have to be secured from the officials when any street or a portion thereof is to be opened. The borough has had considerable trouble in this matter as different ones have opened the streets and then failed to put them in as good condition as they were before.

Telephone in Mayor's House.

The telephone No. 214 A, that has been doing duty at the Borough Council rooms, has been removed and in its place a telephone has been put in Mayor Smalley's house, where His Honor's office will be. The number of his 'phone is 1153. Mr Smalley is seldom at the Council rooms and he believes that better results can be obtained by having the telephone in his house.

Dislocated Ankle Playing Lacrosse.

Everett J. Peck, of Myrtle avenue, is able to be about again after being confined to his home with a dislocated ankle. He was injured while out playing with the Lehigh University lacrosse team. He expects to return to his studies at Lehigh in a few days.

LONG JOURNEY BEFORE HER

Miss Marguerite Vermeule Departed This Morning to Meet Her Prospective Husband in Utah.

A company of relatives and friends assembled at the North Avenue station this morning to see Miss Marguerite Vermeule, daughter of Mrs. Sarah Vermeule, of Watchung avenue, start on her long journey west where she is to meet Lieut. Samuel Pearson, U. S. A., and be married at Salt Lake City. There were fond and affectionate farewells and God-speed for a safe journey and a happy and successful married life.

Miss Vermeule left on the 11:10 o'clock train for New York. She will then go west by the Lackawanna Railroad, and she expects to reach Salt Lake City within five days. She will be met by Lieut. Pearson and they will then go to the home of a minister and be married, after which they will spend three days at Salt Lake City. They will then go to where Lieut. Pearson is station, Fort Duchesne, where they will take up their residence.

Although Miss Vermeule's approaching marriage has been known but a short time, her many friends remembered her handsomely with elegant and costly presents, and she takes with her the best wishes of all.

COUNTY BOULEVARD.

Commissioners Preparing Their Report for Judge VanSyckel.

The Westfield avenue commissioners were in session again yesterday at the court house, and were busy in the prepartion of their final report, which they will have in readiness to present to Justice VanSyckel at the opening of the May term of court. They were going over the figures heretofore presented and fixing the awards. They expect to complete their labors in two days. It is the general expectation now that the boulevard will be made as the scheme contemplated, and that there will be very little if any opposition. The concessions that have been made by the Old Colony Land Company, which dedicates 3,600 feet of its lands, and the dedication and the reduction in offers from other land owners who have heretofore held out for larger awards, insures the success of the scheme, and the beginning of work on the great improvement may be early expected.

New Jersey Daughters of Liberty.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Long Branch, April 19—The fifth annual session of the Daughters of Liberty of New Jersey closed last evening by electing the following officers: State councillor, Elizabeth Packer, Seabright; State associate councillor, Carrie Lippincott, New Brunswick; State vice-councillor, Sara T. Rellstab, Trenton; State associate vice-councillor, Ella P. Yard, Newark; State associate secretary, Jennie B. Hayward, Newark; State associate treasurer, Mary L. Siefert, Jersey City; State guide, Rebecca Potter, Jersey City; National representatives to the National council to be held at Charlotte, N. C., Lillian R. Irwin, Keyport; F. Lippincott, New Brunswick; Laura C. R Wilson, Newark; W. N. Gray, Cranford; Emma Weeks Metzer, Riverside.

Killing Rats by the Wholesale.

Last Monday evening Chris Bock remained at his place on Somerset street until the small hours of the morning. He amused himself shooting rats with a flobert rifle. He killed so many that it was impossible to count them. He hopes that the pestiferous animals are now extinct so far as his place is concerned, and he does not want to see any more.

New New Jersey Postoffices.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Washington, April 19—In the Postal Guide just issued for April the following changes in New Jersey are noted: New offices have been established at Leslie, Bergen county, and Watchung, Somerset county. The offices at South Park, Burlington county, and Stone Harbor, Cape May county, have been discontinued.

Death of Mrs. James Donohue.

Mrs. James Donohue, aged 52 years, of 186 East Front street, died last evening after a long illness caused by a tumor. She was born in Ireland and has lived in Plainfield many years. She leaves a husband, two daughters and a son. Notice of funeral will be given tomorrow.

Eighteen at the Hospital.

The nurses at Muhlenberg Hospital are kept very busy these days. There are now eighteen patients at the institution and some are very ill.

Robert Aggleman, one of the special delivery messengers at the postoffice, has resigned to accept a position with J. R. Blair, the Park avenue gent's furnisher.

KEAN IS OUT FOR HARMONY

Voorhees and Gummere Both To Go To Philadelphia.

CONVENTION AT TRENTON

KEAN NAMED FOR STATE COMMITTEE FROM UNION.

Somerset County Contest Amicably Settled Before Convention Met—Senator Johnson is the Presiding Officer.

Trenton, April 19—The political atmosphere was much clarified this morning as the result of Senator Kean last night announcing that he would not permit his name to go before the State convention as a candidate for delegate-at-large in order that both Governor Voorhees and Barker Gummere might be chosen as two members of the "Big Four," and harmony and good feeling thus maintained in the ranks of the G. O. P.

Earlier in last evening efforts had been made to get Governor Voorhees to withdraw, on the ground that he could afford to do so since by his efforts Mr. Gummere was defeated for National Committeeman, but the Governor felt that he had been wantonly insulted by Colonel Samuel Dickinson, the Republican leader of Hudson county, who was determined to beat the Governor if he remained in the contest. Sentiment in the Governor's favor was so strong that it was seen that he could by no possibility be beaten in the convention, and then efforts were made to get Mr. Gummere to withdraw, but he also refused. It was at this juncture that the question of Senator Kean's withdrawal was broached, and, greatly to the surprise of even those who made the proposition, he almost at once agreed to retire.

In making the settlement of the affair public, Senator Sewell said it was owing to party harmony that the Republicans had grown in New Jersey. For the sake of preserving that harmony and at the same time not combating the Governor in his proper ambition to go to the Philadelphia convention, Senator Kean had decided to make the sacrifice. "Had Senator Kean not withdrawn I should have done so," said Senator Sewell. His remarks were applauded by all the bystanders, and cheers proposed by Senator Pitney, of Morris county, were given heartily for both Senators Sewell and Kean.

While much unnecessary friction and intense feeling has been avoided by the action of Senator Kean, there is a manifest feeling of dissatisfaction on the part of the friends of the Senator that he should be compelled to offer himself as a sacrifice so that an unseemly squabble might be avoided in the convention. Many of the Senator's friends were quite outspoken in their sentiments.

The attendance that usually characterizes a State convention was somewhat smaller today, but still there is a big crowd of all kinds of politicians on hand.

Union county faces can be seen on all sides, and the fact that two of the most prominent figures of the convention—Senator Kean and Gov. Voorhees—are from Union, gives that bailiwick added importance and prominence. The headquarters of the Union county delegation is at the Trenton House. The caucus of the Union county delegates was held in Room 8 of this hotel at 11 o'clock. Former Assemblyman George Squier, of Elizabeth, was chosen chairman, and C. Addison Swift, also of Elizabeth, secretary of the meeting.

The first business of the caucus was the selection of a member of the State committee. Senator Kean and Congressman Fowler were nominated. At this point County Chairman Charles Codding, of Westfield, got up and said that inasmuch as Senator Kean had withdrawn from the contest for dele-

in Dentistry is the best substitute for nature's work that can be done. Sound roots may be built up and crowned and thus fill up an unsightly space. It has to be made of a material that has strength and durability and one that will not discolor. Gold is the one that stands the test. That is the secret of the expense. Mr. Jos. VanArsdale, carpenter and contractor, living at 213 Spooner Ave, says:—"For several years I suffered from severe pain in my back, hips and loins so bad at times that it was almost impossible for me to get around and attend to my work. Any stooping or heavy lifting aggravated it, and if I contracted a cold it always settled in my back and at such times my suffering was something intense.

NAVAL BILL DEBATE

Representatives Indulge in Political Wrangling.

SOME PROGRESS ON THE MEASURE.

But Most of the Time Was Wasted in a Partisan Warfare of Words—Senate Considers the Alaskan Civil Code—Long Speech by Stewart.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—The debate on the naval appropriation bill under the five minute rule yesterday drifted into politics, and for a good portion of the afternoon members fought hammer and tongs across the political aisle. The partisan rancor almost culminated in a sensational scene between Mr. Grosvenor of Ohio, the champion of the administration, and Mr. Williams of Mississippi.

Some progress was made with the bill, but most of the controverted points went over. A motion to strike from the bill the contingent fund of $500,000 for the navy department was defeated. A point of order against the appropriation of $350,000 for the new naval academy at Annapolis was pending when the house adjourned.

During almost the entire session of the senate the Alaskan civil code bill was under consideration. In this connection Mr. Stewart of Nevada delivered an address of nearly three hours upon the mining laws of the United States and their relation to the proposed amendment of Mr. Hansbrough as to the rights of alien locaters of claims. Mr. Nelson of Minnesota, Mr. Carter of Montana and Mr. Teller of Colorado discussed the pending amendment at length, both Mr. Nelson and Mr. Teller being particularly vigorous in their denunciation of it.

Eight Hour Labor Bill.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—The house subcommittee on labor, in charge of the Gardner eight hour bill, has reached a decision on the final form of the bill and on several amendments, all of which will be reported to the full committee on labor next Friday, when it is expected that final action will be taken. The bill has attracted much attention in labor circles, being actively urged by the American Federation of Labor, and has been energetically opposed by many large steel, armor, shipbuilding and ammunition concerns doing business with the government, as the measure will have the effect of fixing an eight hour day on armor and like commodities and in the building of warships.

Populists Want New Name.

KANSAS CITY, April 19.—Middle-of-the Road Populists at their mass convention yesterday effected a permanent state organization and adopted a new name—the Progressive People's party. The name will be presented to the national convention for ratification. The platform demands legislation on lines indicated in the Omaha platform, urges the reduction of state and county salaries to correspond with the prices paid for products, denounces both the old parties for failure to enact initiative and referendum, for the protection of corporation interests and for legislation for protection of national banks; condemns William J. Bryan and John D. Rockefeller for their alleged connections with trusts and especially censures the Democratic state administration because of its "disregard for paramount interests of the people."

Appointment of Brigadiers.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—Representative Grosvenor of Ohio introduced a bill yesterday authorizing the president to appoint three volunteer officers as brigadier generals with a view to their retirement. The bill is an administration measure, having been presented by Mr. Grosvenor after conference with administration officials and at their request. It is designed to benefit General Joseph Wheeler, General Fitz-Hugh Lee and General James H. Wilson, all of them volunteer officers, who by the terms of the bill would be given rank as brigadier generals in the regular service and subsequently retired.

Tennessee Republicans Split.

NASHVILLE, April 19.—The Republican state convention met today, and the forces of Pension Commissioner Evans and Congressman Brownlow are as far apart as ever, and a split seems inevitable. The Brownlow men have a large majority of the uncontested delegates and claim 250 of the 337 contested votes. They undoubtedly will control the convention. The Evans men are bitter in denunciation of the methods which they say were used to bring about this result and threaten to make a contest before the national convention unless they receive what they consider just treatment.

To Bridge the St. Lawrence.

QUEBEC, April 19.—Mayor Parent states that the contracts for building the Quebec bridge over the St. Lawrence have been given out at last. The building of the two piers and other stone work, awarded to W. Davis & Sons of Cardinal, Ont., will cost about $1,200,000 and will be finished in two years, and the building and putting in place of the superstructure will take about three years.

Winslow Congratulates Hoar.

BOSTON, April 19.—The following telegram from the secretary of the Anti-imperialist league has been sent to Senator Hoar: "Congratulations. If Republican party rejects this tremendous appeal, it is doomed. We shall follow your inexorable logic, supporting no party or candidate not standing with you on this paramount question. Everything else insignificant."

High Water in Wisconsin.

WAUSAU, Wis., April 19.—The Wisconsin river has reached the highest point in 20 years. All the railway bridges are threatened, and in many cases the rails are now under water. Men are working building piers to hold booms containing millions of feet of logs. Rain has been falling for nearly a week, and the water reaches one block into the city.

Our Helen Going Too.

CHICAGO, April 19.—Miss Helen Gould has been invited to attend the Dewey day celebrations and has signified her intention of accepting the invitation. The members of the ladies' reception committee, however, are in doubt as to whether she should be extended the same reception as Mrs. Dewey or be treated as other officially invited guests.

Work on Croton Dam Resumed With Small Force.

ITALIAN STRIKERS REFUSE TO WORK

Nearly Fourteen Hundred Soldiers Under General Roe on Guard. Contractors Refuse the Demands For an Advance.

CROTON LANDING, N. Y., April 19.—Yesterday was a day of bustle at the new camp in the Croton valley. The military force was augmented by six companies of the Seventh regiment, and now the number of soldiers under canvas is about 1,350.

This force is deemed sufficient to protect any number of workmen that the contractors may decide to put to work on the new Cornell dam. The old Croton dam, four miles to the north of the new one, is guarded by two companies of the Seventh regiment, and the remaining two companies are encamped at the granite quarries near Peekskill from which the stone for constructing the huge wall is taken and hauled by train down to the scene of trouble.

At 7 o'clock in the morning all the men who quit work when the striking laborers went out reported to the several timekeepers in response to the request of the contractors. Their idleness was enforced by reason of the lack of laborers to do the rough work, and many of them, while in sympathy with the strikers, were glad to return to work.

At the office of the contractors, in which General Roe has taken up his quarters, a conference was held between Contractors Brenchard and Coleman and Rev. Father Shapiro of Yonkers. The latter asked the employers to accede to the demands of the men, but the contractors were stubborn in their refusal. Father Shapiro urged that the rate of wages be made $1.50 per day, the men to work ten hours. Mr. Coleman would not consent to this and said it had been the intention of the firm to increase the laborers' wages from $1.25 to $1.50 per day beginning the 1st of May, but they had abandoned this idea since the men had gone out on strike, and he further stated that under no conditions would the contractors make any concessions.

General Roe, with his staff and a deputy sheriff, visited the Italian quarters in the afternoon. The commander of the military forces advised them to go back to their old positions and assured them they would be fully protected against any of those who might try to assault or otherwise injure them. On the other hand he told them that all new laborers would be carefully guarded, and he impressed his hearers with the fact that the militia was there for business and not for pleasure. The Italians listened to the general's remarks, which were translated, but they showed no sign of weakening.

A Florida Canal.

TALLAHASSEE, April 19.—An agreement has just been signed here for the cutting of the long projected canal from the vicinity of Lake Washington on the upper St. John's river to Indian river. The contracting parties are J. H. Whitner, C. W. Goodrick, C. O. Chase and A. T. Rossiter and William D. Bloxham, governor of Florida; William H. Reynolds, comptroller; W. B. Laman, attorney general; J. B. Whitfield, state treasurer, and L. B. Wambwell, commissioner of agriculture for the state of Florida.

For Rest and Recreation.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—Second Assistant Secretary of State Alvey A. Adee has left Washington for a two months' tour in northern Europe. He sailed from New York today on the Columbia for Cherbourg. He purposes making a tour awheel in northern France, along the Rhine and through the Black forest, returning to Washington about July 1. Mr. Adee is in search of recreation and pleasure and goes to Europe absolutely free from any diplomatic missions.

Stanford Mansion Given Away.

SACRAMENTO, April 19.—The Bee says that the Leland Stanford mansion in this city was yesterday presented by Mrs. Stanford to Right Rev. Bishop Grace of the Catholic diocese of Sacramento and his successors, together with an endowment fund of $75,000 invested in interest bearing bonds. The mansion is to be known as the Lathrop-Stanford Children's home and is to be used in any educational way which will realize the ideas of Mrs. Stanford.

Steel Rails For Russia.

BALTIMORE, April 19.—The British steamship Samoa is taking on board at Sparrow's Point the largest cargo of steel rails ever loaded at an American port. It will amount to 8,700 tons and is destined for Vladivostok, Russia. Seven hundred tons of the 4,300 tons of coal necessary to furnish the steaming power of the vessel on her 16,000 mile voyage will also be loaded here if it can be procured when she is ready to depart.

Stone Cutters Out Again.

BRANFORD, Conn., April 19.—The stone cutters and blacksmiths employed at the Norcross Brothers' quarries at Stony Creek have again quit work owing, it is said, to the representations of the officers of the National Association of Stone Cutters.

Richard Peck Dead.

NEW HAVEN, April 19.—Richard Peck, secretary of the New Haven Steamboat company, died at his home in this city last night in his eighty-fifth year.

Watch Your Kidneys!

They are Filters For the Blood. Impure Blood Causes Disease.

Few people understand the important part performed by the kidneys in filtering the blood. As the blood in its circulation through the body passes through the kidneys, its impurity is left in the kidneys, which in turn empties the secretions into the bladder in the form of urine.

If the kidneys are blocked and filtration of the blood from poisonous or diseased germs is prevented thereby, the result is one or all of the following: Sleeplessness, Nervous Prostration, Weak Back, Pains in the Back and Loins, Scalding Dark and Cloudy Urine, Dizziness, Rheumatism, Diabetes, Congestion of the Kidneys, Bright's Disease and Inflammation of the Bladder.

Unhealthy Kidneys Must Be Treated

A medicine is needed that will properly promote the filtration of the blood and check the over-secretion of urine.

THE AMUSEMENT WORLD

Local and Metropolitan Performances That Will Please Those Who Delight in the Art of Thespis and Mimic World

Every play-goer and every one interested in the study and progress of the better and purer class of American dramatic production will greet with gatification the announcement that David Belasco's famous and successful play, "The Heart of Haryland," is to be presented at Music Hall tonight. It is a production that cannot be seen too often. Its intense and cumulative heart interest; the heroic struggles of its heroine, Maryland Culvert, to rescue her lover from the ignominious death of a spy, and her final triumph; the typical individuality of the numerous characters; the romanticism of the story and the realistic and picturesque beauty of the scenic illustrations all combined have made it a marvelous triumph of the dramatist's genius. None should fail to witness its performance. All who do witness it will profit by its story and ever hold a pleasurable remembrance of the event.

Tommy Shearer, the bright, particular star of the Tommy Shearer Company, has long since been recognized by theatregoers as a laugh producer, who stands alone in his line of work, compelling his audience to laugh no matter how much inclined otherwise. His supporting company is equaled by only a few at popular prices and includes the versatile actress, Isabelle Fletcher, whose charming personality and ability has placed her as one of the foremost leading ladies in repertoire. Their engagement at Music Hall opens Monday evening, presenting the funniest of all comedies, "The Girl from Porto Rico." The prices are 10, 20 and 30 cents. Matinees Wednesday and Saturday. Prices 10 and 20 cents. Ladies' tickets issued for Monday evening.

When the Fifth Avenue Theatre, at Broadway and Twenty-eighth street, is opened on Monday, May 7th, by F. F. Proctor, as the third in his chain of continuous performance theatres in New York city, the public will see unquestionably the handsome vaudeville theatre in the country. It will be a revelation in the way of Broadway theatres, for the best seats on the orchestra floor will cost only 50 cents, while the balconies are to be only 25 cents. The opening programme at the Fifth Avenue Theatre will certainly be a corker and it ought to be one of the most memorable first nights ever given on Broadway. There will be headliners and stars galore including the Earl of Yarmouth, England's noted nobleman actor in a charming comedietta; Thomas Q. Seabrooke, the comic opera star, now the head of "The Rounders" company; Cissie Loftus, in new imitations; Henri French, the marvelous European cyclist and juggler and others of the same high grade.

CHANCELLOR M'GILL MAY RESIGN.

His Health Has Failed and He is in Serious Condition.

It is said on good authority in Jersey City that Chancellor Alexander T. McGill will resign his office not later than June 1st. He suffered a collapse a year ago, which was attributed to overwork. Although stout and hearty before his health failed, he now weighs only ninety pounds.

Two months ago, after improvement, the Chancellor having been urged by his brother, Dr. John D. McGill, decided to resign. He was dissuaded, however, by many lawyers, insluding the five Vice-Chancellors. The Vice-Chancellors offered to do the extra work his absence would require if he desired to take a long vacation. It is said that he is now in a serious condition. Dr. McGill says his brother's health, and perhaps life, depends upon absolute rest. Chancellor McGill's term will expire May 1st, 1901.

New Y. M. C. A. Secretary for Elizabeth

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, April 19.—J. H. Strawbridge has resigned as secretary of the West Philadelphia Young Men's Christian Association and has accepted a call to the general secretaryship of the Young Men's Christian Association in this city. He will assume charge of his new office May 1st. Mr. Strawbridge has been secretary of the West Philadelphia branch for six years. He has been actively engaged in Y. M. C. A. work for ten years.

Case Against Central Settled.

The case of Frank Miller, of Glen Gardner, against the Central Railroad of New Jersey has been settled. Miller brought action to recover damages caused by being injured by a piece of coal that fell from a train and struck him as he was going under the railroad. It is reported that Miller received $5,500.

W. W. Moore has moved from Third place to his new residence on West Seventh street near Monroe avenue.

A FARMER FLEECED.

Two Smart Strangers Work the Gold Brick Scheme For $4,000.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., April 19.—As the result of his overweening confidence in the honesty of two slick strangers Daniel Leonard, a middle aged farmer of Feeding Hills, three miles out of this city, is poorer by $4,000 than he was Tuesday and richer by 75 pounds of gilded metal, which he supposed represented two blocks of virgin gold. It is the old, old game of the smooth city man with the gold brick and the farmer hastening to be relieved of his money in his anxiety to capture a rare bargain. The proceedings were made more interesting for Mr. Leonard by the addition of a real, live Indian with long, black hair, eagle plumes and a buckskin suit with fringed trappings. There was also a government assayer, with a set of formidable instruments and a certificate from the United States government, besides a diploma from a mining school.

When the assayer, who was presumably a stranger to the man with the bricks, showed the large red seal which he said he had received from Uncle Sam, the very small vestige of doubt which existed in the mind of the farmer vanished, and he hastened to the various banks in which he had money deposited and drew out $4,000 in large bills, which he gave to the stranger for the bricks. Mr. Leonard became suspicious and told his story to the police of this city. There is no clew to the swindlers, who left town soon after relieving Mr. Leonard of his cash.

Earl Russell Weds In Nevada.

RENO, Nev., April 19.—A marriage license was issued to John Francis Stanley Russell and Mollie Cook in this city Saturday, April 14. They stopped at the Riverside hotel Saturday night and were married Sunday by Judge Benjamin Curler. They left Sunday night for the east, their destination being unknown. Mollie Cook's son, about 23 years of age, was with the couple. They came to Reno from Glenbrook, Nev., a small summer resort on the shores of Lake Tahoe. In the case of the cross petitions of the earl and countess for a judicial separation the court of appeals in London refused to grant relief to either. Earl Russell is an electrical engineer, while the countess is an actress. They separated some six months after their marriage, ten years ago.

A Warning to Democrats.

NEW YORK, April 19.—At the Brooklyn Democratic club banquet last evening Hon. James E. Campbell, former governor of Ohio, said among other things: "The political party founded by Thomas Jefferson cannot survive half Democratic and half Populistic. It is true that many thousands of us will again support the nominees of our party no matter into what mistakes it may fall, but it is equally true that many other thousands will forever abandon the party if it again supplants truth with error. The Chicago platform enunciated many great and enduring truths, but it coupled them to at least one fatal error—the un-Jeffersonian and under existing mining and commercial conditions the impossible proposition of '16 to 1.'"

British In Trouble In West Africa.

ACCRA, Gold Coast Colony, West Africa, April 19.—News has been received here that Kumassi is closely invested and that the situation will become exceedingly grave if relief is delayed. The governor, Sir Frederick Mitchell Hodgson, is asking for all available forces. A British officer who is in command of an important station north of Kumassi says that unless relief is forthcoming soon it will be impossible to hold out. The first relieving force is expected to arrive at Kumassi today, and it will attempt to force the cordon. Natives here are convinced that French influences are operating against the British.

Russian Military Scandal.

VIENNA, April 19.—Two Russian admirals and 42 other Russian naval officers of high rank are reported to have been arrested at Sevastopol owing to irregularities in the construction department and to the embezzlement of millions. All the ships in Black sea harbors are being ordered to Sevastopol for inspection. To this movement is attributable the recent rumor of Russian naval mobilization in the Black sea.

Babe Killed by a Brick.

PITTSBURG, April 19.—James Roach, aged 2 years, has died from the effects of being struck on the head by a brick thrown by Joseph Crarniuski, aged 12 years. The boy was arrested at the Polish parochial school and will be held to await the coroner's investigation. The brick which killed the child was thrown in anger at the 8-year-old sister of the baby, with whom young Crarniuski was quarreling.

Bequest to Princeton.

PRINCETON, N. J., April 19.—President Patton has announced that the university has recently received the sum of $45,000 by the will of Augustus Van Wickle of Hazleton, Pa. Twenty-five thousand dollars is to be used in the erection of a gateway on the campus and $20,000 for a register's office to be connected with the gateway.

Baseball Season Opens Today.

NEW YORK, April 19.—Weather permitting, the National league baseball season of 1900 will open today with games on the Polo grounds in this city between New York and Brooklyn, between Boston and Philadelphia in Boston, Pittsburg and St. Louis in the latter city and Chicago and Cincinnati in Cincinnati.

Germany Gets Pledges.

BERLIN, April 19.—According to advices from Kiaochou, Sangtung, the German officials there have succeeded in obtaining garantees from the new governor general of Shangtung against native riots and native interference during railroad construction. It is also asserted that everything there is quiet now.

Repairs For the Boston.

WASHINGTON, April 19.—The board of survey in the case of the United States cruiser Boston has reported to the navy department that the ship can be repaired at a cost of $175,000, or one-half of the original estimates. The work has been ordered done at the Mare Island navy yard.

China to Protect Christians.

PEKING, April 19.—The government has issued an edict directing all viceroys and governors to warn armed organizations that they must refrain from acts of hostility toward native Christians. These officials are also instructed to punish severely any infractions of the order.

WEPENER HELD FAST

Field Hospitals Crowded With British Sick.

RECALL FOR BULLER AND WARREN.

Foreign Volunteers Pouring Into the Transvaal to Aid the Boers—Chicago Red Cross Men Said to Have Enlisted.

LONDON, April 19.—Heavy rains impede the movements of the British columns. The blockade of Wepener continues, although relief is near. Large quantities of stores are being moved southward from Bloemfontein, which is a reversal of the course of freight for the last six weeks. These shipments are made necessary by the operations in the southeast of the Free State.

There are 2,000 sick in the field hospitals, most of the cases being of dysentery and enteric fever.

With the exception of these facts the embargo upon war intelligence is almost complete. The special correspondents send trivialities or statements which obscure rather than explain the situation in their efforts to prepare matter that will pass the censor. Here and there a phrase indicates an expectancy that large things are about to happen.

What is to be done with Sir Redvers Buller and Sir Charles Warren occupies everybody's attention. The papers continue to comment earnestly upon Lord Roberts' censure of these commanders. They ask if more errors are not likely to occur, together with fruitless waste of life, in the event that men who have been declared incompetent by their superior continue to command 40,000 troops. It is now generally accepted that the government had a purpose in the publication of Lord Roberts' dispatch and that the recall of General Buller and General Warren has probably been decided upon.

Presumably the officer referred to in this report is General de Negrier, former member of the French supreme council of war, who was removed from the active list last July by the Marquis de Gallifet as a disciplinary measure during the excitement arising from the Dreyfus court martial.

According to Boer reports there is a steady flow of foreign volunteers to the Transvaal. Hitherto these adventurers have been attached to the various commandoes. Now it is said they are to be formed into a special legion, with continental officers, and there is a rumor that the command will be given to a distinguished French soldier, lately retired, who is now in the Transvaal or is nearing the end of the journey thither.

According to a dispatch to The Daily Mail from Lourenco Marques, nearly half the members of the Chicago ambulance corps when offered Mausers on their arrival at Pretoria tore off their Red Cross badges.

Mr. Adelbert S. Hay, United States consul, notified the Transvaal government that he must report the circumstance to Washington.

The Bloemfontein correspondent of The Morning Post, telegraphing April 17, says:

"The town has been drenched with rain during the last three days, which has caused the greatest discomfort, especially as the Thirteenth brigade is not provided with tents."

The Lourenco Marques correspondent of The Daily Mail, telegraphing Wednesday, says:

"Two hundred and fifty Boers started today from Watervalender, marching through the Zoutpansberg district, to intercept General Carrington's force."

Colonel Crofton, who was in command at Spion kop from the time General Woodgate was wounded until Colonel Thorneycroft was appointed to the position and whose hellograph messages to General Warren caused General Buller to appoint Thorneycroft to the command, was placed on half pay yesterday.

BRITISH CORNERED BY BOERS.

They Are Strongly Intrenched, However, at Wepener.

PRETORIA, April 19.—The latest official reports from the Orange Free State are to the effect that General De Wet is still surrounding Dalgety's forces, though the British are strongly intrenched in Boer fashion, indicating that they are colonials.

Commandant Fronemann reports that he chased 400 troops across the river in the direction of Aliwal North, capturing several prisoners.

It is said that Bethulie bridge has been blown up.

As soon as the Bern award in the Delagoa Bay railroad arbitration was published the Transvaal government offered to lend Portugal the amount she was condemned to pay ($3,000,000), which, however, was courteously declined, the statement being made that the money was already provided.

The government is receiving many memorials from burghers on the subject of sending the Boer prisoners to St. Helena and will formally protest to Great Britain on the subject.

Secretary of State Reitz says the Transvaal government is not taking any resolution regarding the destruction of the mines.

Roosevelt Gives a Dinner.

ALBANY, April 19.—Governor Roosevelt gave a dinner last night to a few of his personal and political friends. The dinner took place at the executive mansion, and those present were Lieutenant Governor T. L. Woodruff, Senators Ellsworth, Elsberg, Humphrey and Brown, Congressman Littauer, Assemblymen Post and Cooley, Colonel John N. Partridge and Messrs. Frank Platt, William J. Youngs, J. A. Hooker, G. A. Heins and George Edward Graham.

Sultan Should Heed the Warning.

LONDON, April 19.—The Vienna correspondent of The Times says: "By further resistance to the claims of the United States the sultan will expose himself to grave consequences, which he probably has not foreseen. The United States government is not accustomed to indulge in empty threats. If the sultan, for a moment supposes that he would find protection from any European power, let him remember Spain."

Tried to Kill Playmate.

NEW YORK, April 19.—Over the possession of a piece of slate pencil, to the ownership of which both lads laid claim, George Stock attempted to kill his 12-year-old classmate, Frank Gillelo, by stabbing him with a penknife. The stabbing occurred in a classroom in school No. 12 at 192 Johnson avenue, Brooklyn borough.

The decision of Senator Kean to retire from the canvass for election as one of the "Big Four" by the Republican State convention today, in order that both Governor Voorhees and Barker Gummere may be elected delegates-at-large, is a generous sacrifice in the interests of political harmony. By such action Senator Kean will be hailed as one who has the best interests of his party at heart rather than his own personal glorification. However, Senator Kean can afford to be be generous. He is faring well just now at the hands of New Jersey Republicans, and the fact that he will not figure as one of the "Big Four" will not, in view of the circumstances surrounding his retirement, lessen the importance of his position in party councils.

The Exposition at Paris is nothing more nor less than a great commercial advertisement of the countries there represented, of the exhibitors whose goods are displayed and of the artificers who created the spectacle, says the Philadelphia Record. In a more convenient form every prominent newspaper contains an exposition of the mercantile and manufacturing industries of the city in which it is published. The merchant who advertises in a widely circulated newspaper daily makes the worth of his goods known to more people than visit a world's fair within the same space of time.

Congressman Fowler, after seeing how enthusiastically his name was received in the Eighth Congressional district Tuesday, is reported to be very happy and of the opinion that he has the inside track for a renomination despite the influences that are at work to secure the nomination of Frank Bergen. The Bergenites are not discouraged, however, and with the Elizabeth Journal back of them they expect to be able to stir up quite a respectable opposition to Mr. Fowler before the convention is held.

Census enumerators begin work June 1st, and must finish in thirty days. Cities of 8,000 or less inhabitants, as shown by preceding censuses, must be completed in two weeks. The four principal reports, on population, mortality, agriculture and manufactures, must be printed by July 1st, 1902. After that tabulation special inquiries will be taken up. There is no time fixed in which these latter reports must be completed.

Considered from the standpoint of party services, there is no man in the Eighth Congressional district who is more entitled to the honor of being selected as one of the delegates to the Republican national convention than former Mayor Charles J. Fisk. Mr. Fisk has done yoeman service for his party during the last few years and the honor that has been conferred upon by the Republicans of the Eighth district is well deserved.

Judged by the face of the returns of the election held in Louisiana Tuesday, there must be a deplorable lack of interest in the affairs of the State by the citizens of that commonwealth. Out of a total registration of 124,000 there were only 60,000 votes cast. Last year the vote was 207,000, but the new election law, which disfranchised a good many negroes, made some difference in the showing.

Congressman Henry C. Loudenslager was unanimously renominated yesterday by the Republicans of the First New Jersey Congressional District. Mr. Loudenslager has served four terms in Congress.

Congressman Daly still believes that he is in the race for the Democratic nomination for Governor of New Jersey.

It looks as though Col. Dickinson and Governor Voorhees should have a little harmony convention all to themselves.

Once again Mr. Platt has demonstrated that he is the whole thing in the Republican party in New York State.

It is the most natural thing in the world for the wallpaper trust to go to the wall.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

Mrs. John M. Pancoast, of Lower Creek, Salem county, recently came into possession of a gallon pitcher that was originally owned by her great-grandparents, John and Eliza Miller, and has been in the family about a hundred years. On one side of the pitcher is a monument surrounded by the names of the thirteen original States. On the base is the bust of Washington and the following inscription: "First in Fame, First in Virtue, First in War, First in Peace." On the shaft "Born in 1732, died 1798." On the reverse a full rigged merchant ship flying the Stars and Stripes. A shield at the base of the handle contains this: "A man without example, A Patriot without reproach." In front is an eagle with E pluribus unum and capped with thirteen stars. Above this are the initials of Mr. Miller and his wife, surrounded by a wreath.

The announcement that Jersey City has decided to prohibit Sunday baseball comes like a pleasant shock to people in general, who have not hitherto been wont to think the big town very puritanical. Indeed, it is calculated to make the oldest inhabitant rub his eyes and wonder whether the millenium isn't heaving into view. A little study of the local situation, however, relieves the city of any charges of tenderness in the matter of conscience. The plain fact seems to be that there is a deep-seated antipathy to the Freedman-Rogers baseball combination in Jersey City, because none of the local players have been permitted to join the Jersey City club. Mr. Freedman wants Sunday games, and, therefore, the authorities forbid them. It is not a desire to be good that has wrought the information. Only just a desire to get even with Freedman. This view of the case vindicates Jersey City.

The rummage sale's the thing. There's nothing like it to take the edge of a church debt or to fill the ever-empty coffers of the charitable institutions. It gives scores of people a chance to help on the good work who do not feel able to patronize any of the other enterprises mentioned for lack of ready money, and clears out a vast amount of rubbish from garrets and cellars, and supplies hundreds of other people with goods that they enjoy having and get more or less benefit from. The purchasers feel they have got bargains, and they are happy; the donors to the sale feel that they have done something to aid a good cause and they are happy; the ladies who have engineered the thing are conscious that they have more money in a short space of time, and with comparatively less effort than they ever did before, and they, too, are happy. Everybody is pleased and a good work work has been done all around. Great is the rummage sale, indeed, and if it were only possible to learn with whom the germ idea for all this originated he or she would deserve a monument or some other tribute.

Mrs. George Schick was the guest of Plainfield friends yesterday.

SOMERVILLE.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Somerville, April 19—The First Baptist church was the scene of a brilliant wedding last night, when Frederick Augustus Disborough and Laura Adair Smith were joined in the holy bonds of matrimony by Rev. Frank Austin Smith, assisted by Rev. W. Stockton Cranmer. The church was beautifully decorated and the wedding march was played by Dr. Frank C. Adair. The bride was dressed in white silk poplin, trimmed with chiffon and duchess lace. She wore a veil and carried a bouquet of white roses. The maid-of-honor, Miss Mabel L. Ennis, of Morristown, wore green crepe de chine, trimmed with Cluny lace and fringe. She carried American Beauty roses. The bridemaids, Misses Grace Garretson, of Somerville, and Mattie S. Eastlack, of Shirley, N. J., wore white point d'esprit over pink silk, trimmed with ribbons. They carried pink roses. The best man was Bogaart T. Conklin, and the ushers were Harry Herbert Smith, Eugene R. Clark, Dr. Charles Pool and Chas. W. Moore. A reception followed at 161 West High street, which was attended by about 150 relatives and intimate friends. After the reception the happy couple were driven to Bound Brook, where they took a late train for their wedding tour. Upon their return they will live at 155 West High street, in a house presented to the bride by her father.

The Somerset Bar Association held a meeting Tuesday, after the adjournment of Court, which was called to order by President C. A. Reed. Judge Schenck, after consultation with the association, announced that he would call the jury appeals pre-emptorily the third Tuesday in May, the fourth Tuesday in October and the fourth Tuesday in January, and the court appeals will be called the following Fridays. Court will be held every Friday for Orphans' Court and special session matters. Several new members were proposed.

MOVING SIDEWALKS AT PARIS EXPOSITION.

Among the novel features at the Paris Exposition may be named the moving sidewalks. They are intended to take spectators from point to point in the grounds. There are two of these perambulating walks, one traveling at a little less than two miles an hour and the other at about four miles an hour. Pedestrians step first to the slower plane and then to the other, if desired, and reverse this process in getting back to solid ground.

WESTFIELD

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Westfield, April 19—Louis E. Hendrickson, the Westfield correspondent of the Elizabeth Journal, underwent an operation at the Flower Hospital in New York yesterday. He is now getting along nicely but it will be at least two weeks before he is able to leave the hospital.

Messrs. Isaac Seeley, David Burke, Charles D. Reese, George B. Miller and James P. English have been elected delegates to the State Exempt Firemen's Association convention at Dover, May 16, from the Westfield Association.

A. G. Anderson, who conducted the Westfield Leader for some months past, is now employed as telegraph editor on the New York Daily News.

Rev. and Mrs. N. W. Codwell will entertain the members of the Advance Club at the Presbyterian manse next Friday evening.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

South Plainfield, April 19.—John Connors expects to be able to be at work the first of next week.

The entertainment given in the hall last night was quite a success. The war scenes were especially good. The same entertainment will be given at Marconnier chapel tonight.

WILL OF MAHLON C. MARTIN.

Estate Valued at From $3,000,000 to $5,000,000 Left to Sister and Brother.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, April 19.—The will of the late Mahlon C. Martin was admitted to probate yesterday by Surrogate Furman in this city. The value of the estate is estimated at from $3,000,000 to $5,000,000. By the terms of the will the property of the testator in this city goes to his three sisters, Serena A. Martin, Eliza M. Abbe and Maria R. Martin. His summer home in Chautauqua county, N. Y., is also left to the three sisters. All the residue of his property, consisting of stocks in railroads, banks, insurance, mining and manufacturing companies, railroad bonds and mortgages, is bequeathed to his three sisters and the brother, Miles Martin, two-sevenths to each sister and one-seventh to the brother. Eliza M. Abbe, Maria R. Martin and Miles Martin are named as executors.

The will is dated April 3d, 1891. When Mr. Martin died the will was in his safe, and his family was obliged to have the safe broken open in order to secure the document.

LeRoy Adams, of Netherwood, has returned after a visit with relatives in Newark.

Lokal-Nachrichten aus der alten Heimath.

Oesterreich.

Wien. Die österreichische Heeresverwaltung hat den Delegationen mitgetheilt, sie habe sich in Berücksichtigung der inneren Lage des Landes entschlossen, auf die beabsichtigt gewesenen größeren Kreditforderungen zur Vermehrung des Rekrutenkontingents und der Artillerie vorläufig zu verzichten.—Der Wiener Stadtrath beschloß den Bau einer neuen zweiten Hochquellenleitung aus dem Salzathal für 80,000,000 bis 90,000,000 Kronen.—Anhier hat sich der Fabrikant von Wagenbauartikeln, Dominik Lang, mißlicher Vermögensverhältnisse halber sammt seinen vier Töchtern im Alter von 14 bis 24 Jahren mittelst Cyankalis vergiftet.

Budapest. Hier starb eine 64jährige Baronin Namens Klara Horvath, welche in ihrer Jugend eine gefeierte Schönheit war. Sie verarmte in solchem Maße, daß sie betteln ging. Unlängst wurde sie von einer Equipage überfahren. Sie wurde in Gemeinschaft mit noch vier Todten des Armenhauses in einem gemeinschaftlichen Grabe bestattet.

Cfura. Der Grundbesitzer Joseph Jakob dang einen Winzer um 200 Kronen zur Ermordung seines Vaters, um sich von einer Servitut zu befreien, die der Alte auf seinem Weingarten hatte. Der Winzer vollbrachte die That und legte gleich darauf ein Geständniß ab, auf Grund dessen auch Jakob und seine Frau verhaftet wurden.

Graz. In Feliferhof bei Graz fand zwischen dem Juristen Fuchs und dem Mediziner Deinitzer in Folge eines Wortwechsels ein Pistolenduell mit einmaligem Kugelwechsel statt. Fuchs erhielt einen Schuß in die Stirn und war sofort todt. Deinitzer hat sich dem Gerichte selbst gestellt.

Nemeti. Hier erschoß der siebenjährige Hans Kalacs aus Uebermuth seinen 70jährigen Großvater Georg Kalacs.

Pilsen. Die Kanonensendung von der Skoda'schen Waffenfabrik nach Triest, deren Sistirung die Abgeordneten Lemisch und Wolf vom Ministerpräsidenten verlangten, war, wie jetzt bekannt wird, nach Shanghai, China, bestimmt.

Riva. Am Abhange der Hügel von San Giacomo bei Riva wurde eine alte Todtenstätte aufgedeckt. In den Gräbern fand man elf Skelette, Gefäße, Münzen, Schmuckfachen u. s. w.

Rovereto. Der 24jährige Bauernbursche Joseph Leoni, der aus Haß gegen die Deutschen, wie er selbst sagte, den Gastwirth Alexander Pacher in Arco erstochen hat, wurde vom Geschworenengericht zum Tode verurtheilt.

Zlibo. Unser Ort ist niedergebrannt. Von den 350 Häusern ist fast keines unversehrt geblieben.

Schweiz.

Bern. Das Schweizerdorf auf der Pariser Weltausstellung zählt auf seinem Areal 111 Bauten, von denen etwa die Hälfte bewohnt und durch die verschiedenartigste Thätigkeit in Betrieb gesetzt sein wird. Vor Allem kommen die schweizerischen Hausindustrien dort zur Darstellung.—Zum Dekan der philosophischen Fakultät der Berner Hochschule ist Professor Dr. J. H. Graf gewählt worden.

Zürich. Die Generalversammlung der Kunstgesellschaft in Zürich genehmigte den Vertrag mit dem Stadtrath, betreffend den Bau eines Kunsthauses auf dem Areal der alten Tonhalle. Die Stadt leistet der Gesellschaft einen Beitrag von 100,000 Francs an die Baukosten und überläßt der Kunstgesellschaft das neue Gebäude auf die Dauer von 100 Jahren unentgeltlich zum Nießbrauch.

Graubünden. Die Gemeinde Misox hat einstimmig eine Aktienbetheiligung von 200,000 Francs für eine elektrische Straßenbahn von Bellinzona nach Misox beschlossen.

Thurgau. In dem Bodenseestädtchen Arbon, dessen Entstehung in die Römerzeit zurückdatirt, sind bei Ausgrabungen römische Funde, wie Scherben, Gefäße u. s. w., entdeckt worden.

Waadt. Die Regierung des Kantons hat den Bundesrath um Maßnahmen gegen den Bischof von Wallis ersucht, der in seinem Fastenmandat das Lesen protestantischer Zeitungen verbot und die Katholiken eindringlich vor der Einwanderung in den protestantischen Kanton Waadt warnte.

Genf. Zur Korrektion des Genfer Quartiers zwischen der Rue du Rive, der Rue du Rhone, der Rue du Pont und der Rue de la Tour-Maitresse hat sich eine Gesellschaft mit einem Kapital von 700,000 Francs gebildet. Mit dem Abbruch der alten Häuser soll im Laufe dieses Jahres begonnen werden; die Neubauten werden auf fünf Jahre bemessen.

MABEL. I expect you'll think me a crank on Ripans Tabules. I want to tell you the latest case. Roswell was here from Schenectady. You know he's Emily's husband: he was looking as yellow as saffron, and I went right over to the drug store opposite and bought a supply of the Tabules, and made him take them according to the directions—three a day.
LUCY. Did he do it?
MABEL. Yes, and you ought to have seen the change in him; his complexion cleared up in the week he was here, and Em writes that she never saw such a change in a man in all her life.

SCHOOL AND CHURCH.

There are ten Harvard graduates in the diplomatic and consular service, not counting secretaries of legation.

Last year $3,300,000 was expended in Greater New York for the current expenses of Protestant churches. The increase in membership was 5,278.

In Japan there is a Buddhist temple for every 540 of the population, and a Buddhist priest for every 400 Japanese. About $10,000,000 are spent each year in this idolatry.

The centennial anniversary of the graduation of Daniel Webster from Dartmouth college will be observed by that institution next year. President Low, of Columbia, has been invited to deliver an address.

In Switzerland's six universities there are 937 women students, of whom 555 are matriculated regularly. The greatest number, 353, come from Russia; 65 are Swiss, 53 Germans, 25 Bulgarians and seven from the United States.

The Christian constituency in Japan numbers about 120,000, of which 54,000 are Roman Catholics, 25,000 are Greek Catholics and 41,000 are Protestants. This is about one in every 350 of the population who make any profession of Christianity.

Speaking of efforts of Baptists to induce the Massachusetts legislature to revoke the old edict banishing Roger Williams, the Springfield Republican says: "The edict banishing Roger Williams can well be rescinded when Mr. Williams asks that it be done. Meanwhile, let it remain. It belongs there, like the wart on Cromwell's nose."

President Low, of Columbia college, is a believer in college athletics. A recent interview quotes him as saying: "The body, of course, should not be cultivated to an extent to injure the cultivation of the mind, but a healthy mind is impossible without a healthy body, and a college student who goes in for athletics moderately is generally all the better for it in an intellectual way."

NATURE'S PROVISIONS.

The Feet of Animals Are Perfectly Adapted for Their Mode of Locomotion.

Creatures that need neither to grasp their prey nor to climb trees nor to dig burrows, but which feed by browsing and seek safety in flight, have feet strengthened for running or standing without fatigue. It is easy to see that a foot with two strong, long toes would be better fitted to bear a weight and the shock felt in running over hard ground than a foot with five more slender digits, the bones of which would be far more likely to break or be injured.

Ancestors of all hoofed animals have five toes on each foot, but the plan which has been carried out in perfecting their descendants for different modes of life has been by degrees to lengthen and strengthen one or more of the five, and more or less to do away with the rest. Elephants have kept five toes. Deer, antelopes, goats, sheep and cattle tread on two digits, answering to our third and fourth; and the horse, which surpasses them all in fleetness and endurance, uses one toe only, the third, answering to our middle digit.

As the thumb is useless to an animal that never grasps, this is the first digit to disappear, as fossil remains teach us. Next the second and fifth digits become smaller and weaker. In a pig's foot traces of the second and fifth digits may be plainly seen, but from the camel's foot they have entirely vanished. He has two toes, below is solid cannon bone, and the soles of his feet are like broad cushions. With these he can tread firmly on the loose sand of the desert and travel with ease and comfort where no other hoofed animal could walk far.

The rhinoceros is an instance of an animal which has three toes. The foot of the reindeer, which must pass swiftly over soft snow, has a pair of short, broad, rounded hoofs which spread out sideways as he steps. Above these are two side toes, which form an extra pair of hoofs, taking a good grip of the shifting snow and preventing the reindeer from sinking into the drifts. The little chamois, who dwells among rocks, has tiny, hard hoofs, which can find a footing on the narrowest ridge.—Chicago Evening News.

His One Regret.

McGinty—Yis, yer honor.

"But it seems he didn't quite kill you, anyway."

"No, bad 'cess to him; but it's wishin' he had Oi do be."

"Why do you wish that?"

"Begory, thin Oi would have seen the schoundrel hanged for murther."—Chicago Evening News.

KHAKI AND ITS INVENTOR.

Something About the Shade Just Now So Fashionable.

To the observer of fashion and fashion's changes the great popularity of khaki cloth must be apparent. All the new gowns that will permit of its introduction have some of it used in the trimming, and the most stylish of all are made entirely of the shade.

It is interesting to know just what the Persian word means and how it was introduced into the world of fashion. There is a mistaken notion that prevails concerning the word applied to the dust colored uniform that our soldiers adopted when ordered to the southern fields of battle, which is that khaki refers to texture or material, when it is synonymous of color only.

Khaki—which, by the way, is the only way of spelling the word, notwithstanding the many ways that are attempted—signifies dust color. It is therefore quite proper to speak of khaki cotton, flannel, silk, house, dog, cow or khaki anything so long as it is khaki colored. Khaki is "dust color." It has absolutely no other meaning.

The claimant of the honor for inventing the khaki is a Belgian engineer, Colonel Dulier, who has spent many years in service with the English army in Egypt. It was wholly by accident that he fell upon the usefulness of the color. Far from home and a supply of cloth out of which the regular uniforms of the English army were made, all his wardrobe was stolen. The only cloth to be found on the spur of the necessity was khaki, but even that was good to find, and by the assistance of an Egyptian tailor a uniform was constructed that attracted the attention of the officers under whom he was serving.

Colonel Dulier still has in his possession the first khaki coat ever worn by a soldier. The fact that it so nearly matched the color of the soil of Egypt was soon recognized and that it rendered its wearer less conspicuous as a target for the enemy's bullets forced itself on the attention of the authorities and it was soon generally adopted.

English chemists made many attempts at copying the color used by the Persian soldiers, the results of which were never very successful. Although the desired shade was easily found, the lasting qualities were not readily obtained. The shade was not "fast." Consequently the first visit of the garment to the laundry invariably resulted in reducing the garment to its original unbleached condition. This was very inconvenient, as it necessitated redyeing after each laundering, a matter of considerable expense and great inconvenience.

As is to be supposed, new experiments were made from time to time, with more or less satisfactory results, but in every case two or three applications of common washing soda had the effect of restoring the material to its original color. But at last the mystery of the secret by which the desired tint could be "fixed" was discovered by a Manchester dyer.

Like all industrial discoveries, this one was only accomplished after much expenditure of time and energy. After many fruitless attempts the chemist had almost given up in despair, when in sheer desperation he tried a composition which it seemed would have to add another failure to the already long list of its predecessors. Contrary to all expectation, the result proved the crowning success of his efforts. The tint produced defied the severest tests to which it was subjected. A large cotton manufacturer was communicated with, and many thousands of yards were promptly dyed fast khaki. From that time on the army factory at Pimlico was supplied with miles of khaki cotton to make into clothing for the soldiers.

Despite the success in fixing the color on cotton, the fastness of the color when applied to woolen goods was not so satisfactory, and even yet it often happens that a shower of rain will make a khaki uniform of serge quite useless. Experiments are still being made daily in the hope that something will be found that will overcome the obstacle.

In connection with the foregoing it can hardly seem necessary to warn the fortunate possessor of a khaki duster gown to beware of April showers.

MILDRED MERRIAM.

A novel way of reaching the Klondike will soon be attempted by a New York woman who is a claim holder in the gold region. She will attempt the journey on her bicycle. The trip to Dawson City will be made in the usual way, but from there on she will pedal her way over 1,000 miles of snow and ice to Cape Nome, which is her destination.

The daughter of a well known Washington physician is the first duly qualified mechanical engineer in that city. She will continue the practicing of her profession to the running of her own locomobile.

CLEVER DANCING BEAR.

La Belle Fatima, of the Baltimore Zoo, Goes Through a Series of Oriental Movements.

Baltimore has a dancing bear at its zoo that quite outdoes all the other bear movements and tricks up to date.

This bear, called La Belle Fatima, has made her reputation by a "specialty," an imitation of the couchee-couchee dance of oriental women.

When Fatima shuffles out upon the platform in the airy attire of a Turkish dancing girl, it is then time for all other attractions of the zoo to subside into dark corners. For Fatima is certainly the queen of all animal dancers.

Time was when La Belle Fatima was only an ordinary trick bear, with tumbling as her specialty, but one day while in Chicago she was inveigled into a Midway Plaisance performance that lingered there after the world's fair was over, and there she saw several of the Egyptian dancers perform their peculiar dance.

Here it was demonstrated that evil communications corrupt even the good morals and manners of a bear, for, during a moment or two, when the Hagenback band was playing the melody of that famous oriental dance, Fatima stood upright and gravely proceeded to "wiggle" in exact time with the music.

Mr. Francis Ferrari, her trainer, was dumfounded, but upon regaining composure saw that he had a real danseuse in the versatile Fatima.

The director general of the Baltimore zoo also appreciated the new accomplishment of the bear to such an extent that he paid a bonus of several thousand dollars to secure her talented bearship.

In the garb of a Midway dancer Fatima reveals the twitch and play of her muscles. She shakes like a huge bowl of jelly, keeping exact time to the oriental music, and she is as vain over her performance as the average stage beauty.

There is nothing in the dance to offend the most sensitive—in fact, the whole performance is hugely humorous.

Fatima evidently has a lot of wisdom stowed away in her curiously shaped head. In her leisure moments she lies rolled up in a huge brown ball, thoughtfully contemplating her long toenails, but wears a far-away look, indicating that her mind is occupied with nobler things.

The only sign of self-importance thus far observed is the bear's obvious repugnance to continuous performances. Fatima's contract requires her to appear morning, afternoon and evening, and she is kept hustling, to her manifest disgust.

The elephant, Jolly, takes no pains to disguise his professional jealousy, and trumpets maliciously while Fatima is dancing.—N. Y. World.

A Wise Mexican Bird.

Mexico has a clever bird called the melanarpes, which has discovered a new use for the telegraph pole. At the foot of the post this bird makes a large hole, in which it rears its family. Somewhat higher up the post it makes an observatory, from which bored holes permit it to observe the horizon in every direction. Still higher this sagacious bird makes its storehouse, and thus the pole serves as its house, fortress and warehouse.

HABITS OF RACCOONS.

They Are Mischievous and Pretty, and Fond of Nuts and Fruits as Well as Fat Chickens.

A few years ago, in the top of a large hollow tree in a moist bit of woods in northern Pennsylvania, there lived a family of four young raccoons. Their mother, with a feeling common to all mothers, thought these four, fluffy, frolicsome youngsters to be the finest babies in the world. All went well with the little fellows while they remained in the hollow tree, under the care of their wise old mother. As they grew older, however, they felt a desire to see the big world outside, and, accordingly, fell into the habit of taking long rambles by night.

RACCOON ON A TREE BRANCH.

It was while returning home early one morning from one of these rambles that the prettiest one of the lot came face to face with a bright-eyed boy of about 14. For a moment both were too frightened to move; but the boy soon recovered and made a prisoner of the poor little raccoon. For a time the little captive bore his imprisonment very sullenly; but good food and kind treatment soon changed his wild, shy nature into a spirit of love and confidence. When he had attained full size his appearance was between that of a fox and a bear, on a smaller scale, of course.

For the benefit of our girls and boys interested in nature, our friend, Mr. E. A. Sterling, sends a photograph of this pretty and intelligent little animal climbing up the big limb of a tree.

In the wild state the raccoon always conducts himself like a perfect little gentleman. His favorite feeding-grounds are along the shady banks of streams, or in some swampy bit of woods, where can be found those large delicious frogs he loves so well. He has, however, no scruples against going out into the fields and orchards in search of nuts, fruits and green corn; and, moreover, when Dame Fortune puts nice fat poultry in his way Mr. Raccoon is too much of a gentleman to refuse them, which often gets him into trouble with the farmer. He also eats mice, rats, insects, eggs—in fact is almost omnivorous. He is active day and night.

A curious and interesting habit of raccoons is that of washing all their food in water. It matters not whether they have an ear of corn, a nice clean berry or a big fat bug, they will always seek a little pool of water and carefully dip the object in it several times before conveying it to their mouth.—St. Nicholas.

Milk Direct from the Cow.

Mrs. Morey of Coney Island, New York, peddles milk, but she doesn't keep a horse and wagon. Instead of that she drives her cow around to the houses of her customers, and while they wait Mrs. Morey says, "So, Bess!" to the sleek-looking cow, and proceeds to milk the desired quantity. In this way each customer is assured that the milk received is fresh and free from adulteration. This custom of leading the cow from door to door was a common practice in this country many, many years ago, and in parts of Europe the milch cows or goats are still made to serve in the place of the modern milk wagon.

FOOLED THROUGH THE EYES.

THERE is nothing of which we are more sure than of that we see—yet there is nothing in which we are more easily deceived. Anyone would decide in a moment that the left-hand figure inclosing a dog is the smaller of the two in the picture—but it isn't. Both of these are exactly the same size, as measurement will prove. Why do we think that one is larger than the other? Because the top and bottom lines of the left-hand figure run toward each other on the right, and this makes the figure seem smaller than the one next to it, although a compass will prove that they are of precisely the same size. Now, if the two pictures of the fat man and the lean man are observed, everyone will say that the lean man is the taller of the two, but they are really exactly the same height. The reason of this deception is that the stout man, because of the breadth of his figure, seems shorter. This explains the very common phrase, "thin and tall," the thinness contributing to the impression of height. The importance of proportion for beauty, either in person or in art, is demonstrated by this example.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

A TARHEEL WEDDING.

Shrewd Southern Magistrate Who Did Business on a Strictly Cash Basis.

When Capt. Shaw was a justice of the peace in a country place not far from Raleigh, N. C., while riding home late one afternoon he met a young woman and a young man who wished to be married at once. Now, the captain had never witnessed a marriage. He remembered having seen a book about the house years before with a form of marriage in it, but where it was he could not remember. A less assured man would have been sorely perplexed, but not he. He lost no time in removing his hat, and, ascending the split-bottomed seat of justice, remarked: "Hats off in the presence of the court." All being uncovered, he said: "I'll swear you in fust. Hold up yer right hands."

"Me, too?" asked the friend of the groom.

"Of course," said the wise captain. "All witnesses must be sworn. You and each of you solemnly swear that the evidence you shall give in this case shall be the truth, th' hull truth, an' nothin' but the truth. You, John Marvin, do solemnly swear that to the best of yer knowledge an' belief you take this yer woman ter have another hold for yerself, yer heirs, exekyerters, administrators and assigns, for your an' their use an' behoof forever?"

"I do," answered the groom.

"You, Alice Ewer, take this yer man for your husband ter hev' an' ter hold forever, and you do further swear that you are lawfully seized in fee-simple, are free from all incumbrance and hev good right to sell, bargain and convey to the said grantee, yerself, yer heirs, administrators and assigns?"

"I do," said the bride, somewhat doubtfully.

"Well, John," said the captain, "that 'll be about a dollar 'n' fifty cents.

"Are we married?" asked the other.

"Not yet, ye ain't," quoth the captain, with emphasis, "but the fee comes in here."

After some fumbling it was produced and handed over to the "court," who examined it to make sure it was all right, and then pocketed it and continued:

"Know all men by these presents that I, Capt. Shaw, of Raleigh, North Carolina, being in good health and of sound and disposin' mind, in consideration of a dollar 'n' fifty cents to me in hand paid, the receipt whereof is here by acknowledged, do and by these presents have declared you man and wife during good behavior and till otherwise ordered by the court."—Utica (N. Y.) Observer.

TERRIBLE PESTS.

Hungry Leeches That Are Numerous in the Damp Forest of Teester Valley.

Traveling has its advantages and its disadvantages. Maj. Waddell, in his new book, relates some experiences which few travelers in the Himalayas, or anywhere else, would care to duplicate. Foremost among these is the encounter with leeches in the damp forest of the Teester valley.

A leech that is famishing, Maj. Waddell explains, is no thicker than a knitting-needle. In such a condition, he is a dangerous enemy to every two or four-legged creature that crosses its path.

In that forest, hungry leeches stood alert on every twig of the brushwood that overhung the track, and on every dead leaf in the path. As the travelers approached, they lashed themselves vigorously two and fro in a frantic effort to seize hold of one or other of the party. The instant they touched their victim, they fixed themselves firmly, and then, by a series of rapid movements, reached a vulnerable point, and once there lost not an instant in beginning its surgical operations.

The servants and coolies, who walked barefoot, were badly bitten. From their ankles and legs little streams of blood trickled all day, and at almost every step they had to stop and pick off the pests. It was often hard to dislodge them.

Maj. Waddell and some of his friends took the precaution to dust their stockings with tobacco snuff, and bind their legs from ankle to knee with "putties." But the leeches were not to be kept out. They crawled through the eyelets of the travelers' boots, and caused them much discomfort.

It was upon the poor cattle and goats and ponies, however, that the leeches made the most determined attack. Their legs were always bleeding, and the little pests would lodge in their nostrils and hang from their eyelids, and from every vulnerable part of the body. Maj. Waddell attributes the remarkable absence of four-footed game in these regions to the prevalence of these tormenting creatures.—Youth's Companion.

A Naval Plum.

The command of a receiving ship is preeminently that of a married man, and he and his family always live on board, in unique and delightful homes. There are but six receiving ships in the service—the Franklin, at Norfolk, Va.; the Independence and Pensacola, at Mare Island, Cal.; the Richmond, at League Island, Pa.; the Vermont, at the Brooklyn yard, and the Wabash, at Charleston, Mass. There is no house rent to pay; the captain is allowed two stewards by the government; so it is looked upon as one of the very few chances offered in the naval officer's career to save money.—Anna E. Rogers, in Woman's Home Companion.

Bigger Than Life.

Visitor—But this portrait of Mr. Bulger is a good deal more than life size.

PRETTY HOME WEDDING.

Nuptials of Miss Lillian Ficke and George Zepp Were Performed Sunday Afternoon.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ficke, East Front street, was the scene of a pretty wedding last Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock, when their daughter, Miss Lillian Ficke, became the wife of George Zepp, of this city. The affair was attended by only the relatives and near friends of the contracting parties. Rev. Mr. Koechli, pastor of the German church, Somerville, and an old friend of the family, performed the ceremony.

The bride wore a gown of grey Henrietta trimmed with white satin, and she carried a bouquet of bridal roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Frieda Ficke, of this city, and Miss Lena Zepp, sister of the groom, of Hartford, Conn., as bridesmaids, both of whom were gowned in dark blue cloth trimmed with white lawn, and carried bouquets of pink roses. The groom was attended by Charles Marrow, of Harlem, N. Y., and John Storms, of this city, who acted as best men.

Following the ceremony there were congratulations and then a wedding supper was served. Mr. and Mrs. Zepp received a great many useful and handsome presents that will help them in keeping house on West Fourth street, where they are now residing. Among the presents received by the bride was $25 from her sister. The presents comprised cutglass, silverware, china, lamps, etc.

There were guests present from Ohio, New York, Newark, Hoboken, Jersey City, and Hartford, Conn.

Miss May VanFleet, of East Third street, has returned from a visit with New Brunswick relatives.

gate at large, he thought he ought to be named for State committeeman. This suggestion was favorably received and Congressman Fowlew withdrew his name, and Mr. Kean was named to succeed himself on the committee.

The committee honors for the county were distributed as follows: Vice president, J. W. Cliff, of Summit; committee on resolutions, Senator Cross, of Elizabeth; committee on rules, Nelson Runyon, of Plainfield, committee on organization, W. J. Austin, of Cranford; committee on credentials, H. P. Condit, of Westfield.

The caucus of the Somerset county delegates was regarded with considerable interest on account of the contest in Bridgewater township. The caucus was held in the Hotel Windsor. Senator Reed was made chairman, and Former Assemblyman P. D. VanDoren, secretary. The settlement of the contest was effected by giving each member of the two delegations a-half vote each, this being satisfactory to both sides. The committee honors were distributed as follows: Vice-President, Job Kenyon, of Raritan; committee on resolutions, W. N. Long, of Somerville; committee on rules, Assemblyman E. E. Cooper, of Warren; committee on permanent organization, Chris. Ehni, of Raritan; committee on credentials, W. W. Smalley, of Bound Brook.

A conference of the leaders, held this morning before the convention, decided that Franklin Murphy, chairman of the State committee, should be named as the member of the National committee from New Jersey in place of the late Vice President Hobart.

Long before the hour of calling the convention in Taylor's Opera House, the latter place commenced to fill up. The convention was called to order at noon by Franklin Murphy as chairman of the State committee. As had been arranged by the State committee last night Senator Johnson, of Bergen county, was selected as chairman. The secretaries were J. Herbert Potts, of Hudson; Charles Bateman, of Somerset; A. S. Barber, of Gloucester, and Captain James Parker, of Passaic.

ONLY FOUR INDICTMENTS.

Nineteen of the Twenty-Three Complaints Examined Were Thrown Out by Grand Jury.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, April 19.—The Grand Jury, after being in session for two days, came into court this morning and reported that the business brought before the members had been cleaned up. There were twenty-three complaints, but only four indictments were made. The jurors were discharged with the thanks of the court by Judge Schenck.

Before the jury adjourned, however, the members passed resolutions of thanks to Foreman Logan, as was also a vote of thanks extended to the clerk of the jury, Mr. Reger, and to the new prosecutor, James L. Griggs. Prosecutor Griggs passed around the cigars and a smoker was enjoyed, during which felicitious remarks were made by nearly all the members.

Wedded at St. Mary's.

Miss Nellie McCann, daughter of William McCann, of East Front street, and Matthias Miller, of Westfield were married yesterday afternoon at St. Mary's church by Rev. Father Smyth, assisted by Rev. Fathers Wilson and Murphy, of Cranford.

PROHIBITIONISTS NAME DELEGATES.

Somerset County Convention Held in North Plainfield Yesterday Afternoon.

A LITTLE BIT DISCOURAGED.

STILL THEY RESOLVE TO KEEP SUPPORTING THEIR PARTY.

Better Organization is Urged and it is Decided to Continue the Prohibition Column in Bound Brook State Centre.

The Somerset County Prohibition party yesterday afternoon in Spencer's Hall, Somerset street, for the purpose of electing nine delegates and alternates to attend the State convention to be held at Trenton Tuesday, May 8th.

William Lunger, chairman of the county committee, called the meeting to order after which B. W. Hand offered prayer. Mr. Lunger was then chosen chairman of the meeting. John Voorhees, of Somerville, acted in his customary position of secretary. The question of electing delegates was the first business and the following were chosen: John V. Haas, Bernards; John L. Corle, Branchburg; John Voorhees, B. K. Hoppock, George W. Adair, George Lamont, William H. Vacter, Bridgewater; William N. Brown, Franklin; William Lunger, Thomas Maier, North Plainfield,(borough); Peter Robinson, North Plainfield Township; alternates, B. K. Hoppock, Theodore S. Quick, George H. Murphy, Thomas Maier, Rev. George Bowers, C. E. Dunham, A. P. Sutphen, M. Lance and Andrew Wilson.

The chairman and secretary were given the power to fill vacancies if any should occur. J. P. Haven, chairman of the State committee, was present and had something to say regarding the cause of prohibition. He spoke of the many discouraging features that are constantly presenting themselves, but on the other hand spoke encouragingly of the work. He referred to a plan now under consideration to canvass the entire State and learn exactly who have been and who will vote the ticket. An extra effort is also to be made to circulate judiciously good literature in the hope of enthusing the people along the line of temperance. He urged more effort toward local organization.

Mr. Voorhees, the secretary, spoke at some length concerning the work in general. He for one felt somewhat discouraged when he considered what little interest the other members are taking in the work. He was willing to do anything to arouse interest if the other members would only do their share. He then rehearsed the history of the past year showing what was accomplished for prohibition in the county. He offered his house for a meeting once a month if the members would come and discuss plans of work.

Other remarks were made by Ethan Lanphear, of this city; B. K. Hoppock, of Somerville; Thomas Maier, of the borough, and Chairman Lunger. All spoke in an encouraging manner and urged the others to do more in the future.

The question of maintaining the column on temperance in the Bound Brook State Centre was discussed. Mr. Voorhees stated that Rev. Mr. Wilson, of Bound Brook, who looked after the column, for which $25 a year was paid, had moved away and for two weeks past he had been looking after it. At his suggestion B. W. Hand and Ethan Lanphear agreed to contribute articles for the column and Mr. Voorhees agreed to edit the material.

Another matter introduced by Mr. Voorhees was that in regard to the shocking condition of the train crew on the Jersey Central Railroad the other day when they were helplessly drunk and could not run their train. He thought it was scandalous that such a condition of affairs should exist and not one person to raise their voice against it.

The meeting adjourned about 5 o'clock and everyone went away more determined than ever to work for the cause of temperance and the Prohibition party.

IMITATED THE DARKY.

CLEVER ENTERTAINMENT IN MISS DORSEY'S MONOLOGUES.

Given at the Home of Mrs. M. I. Cooley and Attended by Many Society Folks.

Mrs. Martin I. Cooley, of Rockview avenue, gave a delightful entertainment yesterday afternoon, when Miss Dorsey, in a unique and charming manner, gave some of the characteristics of the southern negro. Miss Dorsey's unmistakeable southern accent at once bore witness to the fact that she was no stranger to their words and ways. In the most charmingly natural style she told their stories and imitated their conversations, sermons, revival scenes and confidences. To the accompaniment of a banjo Miss Dorsey sang a variety of songs, some of them being the only folk lore of this country, if the songs and legends of the American Indians are excepted. Miss Dorsey did more than sing the songs. She analyzed the life and emotions out of which the songs had sprung. She designated these songs as rhythmic and emotional, the scale of notes being smaller and the words very often silly, but with a peculiar quality of melody that rendered them very fascinating. All the fascination of the happy, go lucky people, who are not cast down under adverse circumstances, whose emotions are easily stirred and whose consciences are elastic were portrayed with a genuineness and charm that made each guest regret when the pleasant hour or more was over.

Mrs. Cooley was assisted in receiving by the guest of honor, Mrs. H. H. Belding, of Dayton, Ohio, Mrs. Chas. W. McCutchen and Mrs. J. Kirtland Myers. The ushers were the Misses Cooley, Randolph, Caroline Randolph, Dumont, Ginna, Huntington and Margaret Yates.

Beautiful flowers and plants decorated the rooms and Easter lilies and white jonquils were used with pleasing effect in the dining rooms where ices were served, Mrs. J. Kirtland Myers and Mrs. Charles McCutchen presiding at the table.

DEATH CAME SUDDEN.

Mrs. Susan Rafferty Was Sick for Only a Few Hours When She Passed Away.

Death came suddenly last evening to Mrs. Susan Rafferty at her home at 42 Sycamore avenue. She complained of an indisposition yesterday but her illness was not thought to be serious. She retired early and passed away quietly at 10 o'clock. She was the widow of Col. Thomas Rafferty.

Mrs. Rafferty was born at Coxsackie, N. Y., seventy-six years ago. In 1888 she moved to North Plainfield with her family and has resided there up to the time of her death. She was a member of the First Baptist church. She was a woman of beautiful character, quiet and retiring, but with a word of cheer and encouragement for all her friends. She loved her home and devoted her life to making it as pleasant as possible. She is survived by five children, of whom four reside in this city. They are Mrs. L. H. Bigelow, Jr., of Central avenue, Mrs. Isabelle Milne, Mrs. DeWitt Brokaw and Miss Susan Rafferty, all of Sycamore avenue.

While Mrs. Rafferty has not been as strong of late as in former years, she was apparently in fairly good health up to yesterday morning. Her death was caused by heart failure.

The funeral will be held from her late residence, 42 Sycamore avenue, Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

The Boy Was Not Kidnapped.

It was reported in the borough this morning that Claude Hann, young son of Mrs. E. E. Hann, of Somerset place, was kidnapped by some gypsies who, it was alleged, had tied his hands, thrown him in their wagon and taken him away. The report caused consternation among the little fellow's companions, as well as his mother. A search was made at once and upon inquiry it was learned that the lad had taken a ride with Mr. Codington, of Mt. Horeb, dealer in produce, and who serves Mrs. Hann. In a short time the boy returned and everyone was happy.

Mr. Spicer Slightly Improved.

Joseph D. Spicer, of 125 West Fifth street, who still lies in a serious condition as a result of the accident last week, shows a very slight improvement this morning. His temperature during the night was nearest to normal that it has been any night since the accident. There are brief periods of consciousness but no change of importance in his condition. The physicians are hopeful.

—A fine line of fresh vegetables will be received by Neuman Brothers for tomorrow's trade. Everything that is seasonable.

SERIOUS SPLIT WAS AVERTED BY KEAN.

So the Republican State Convention Finally Had a Harmonious Ending.

AT TRENTON YESTERDAY.

HUDSON COUNTY INSISTED ON VOTING FOR SENATOR KEAN.

A Stampede Seemed Imminent, but the Senator Stopped It by an Emphatic Statement—Same Old Trouble in Union County at Bottom of It.

Trenton, April 20.—There was every prospect of a bitter controversy at the Republican State convention, held at Taylor's Opera House, yesterday afternoon, but United States Senator John Kean stepped into the breech and positively declined to be one of the "Big Four" to represent New Jersey at the National convention at Philadelphia next June. That act promised harmony at the convention. But Col. Dickinson and his friends from Hudson county wouldn't harmonize and it was only the very emphatic statement of Senator Kean, made on the floor of the convention, that finally succeeded in preventing a renewal of hostilities and gave the convention a harmonious ending.

It was that same factional strife now apparent in Elizabeth in the Fowler-Bergen controversary, that was at the bottom of it all. Some months ago the slate for the "Big Four" was made out with Senators Sewell and Kean, Franklin Murphy, chairman of the State committee, and Barker Gummere, Jr., of Trenton, as the four delegates-at-large. It is said that Senator Kean promised Gummere a place on the delegation.

Then the friends of Governor Voorhees wanted the Governor to be one of the party. Neither side seemed willing to give up the point and the feeling ran high. As there was no apparent chance of either Gummere or Voorhees withdrawing Senator Kean stepped out of the race as was told in yesterday's Press. After that it was supposed that the convention would be plain sailing.

There was every visible sign of unity when the convention opened fifteen minutes late. Senator William M. Johnson, of Passaic, was made chairman, and the secretaries were A. L. Barber, of Gloucester; C. R. Bacon, of Camden; Charles H. Bateman, of Somerset; J. Herbert Potts, of Hudson, and J. H. Parker, of Passaic. When Senator Sewell arose to speak he was greeted with prolonged applause. The mention of Senator Kean's name on the State committee was the signal for much cheering.

A recess of twenty minutes gave the committees an opportunity to confer. Judge James Cross, of Elizabeth, was chairman of the committee on resolutions, which reported a platform strongly indorsing President McKinley and the Republican administration in all their acts.

An Essex delegate tried to slip in a resolution indorsing Judge Franklin Fort, of Newark, as candidate for Vice-President, but he was promptly sat upon.

The call was made for nominations and the chairman of the Atlantic county delegation named Senator Sewell, Governor Voorhees, Franklin Murphy and Barker Gummer. The other counties joined in until Hudson was reached. Then Col. Dickinson added the name of Senator Kean. There was a murmur of surprise and the call went on. Only four alternates were named. They were Harry J. Irick, of Burlington, John, I. Blair Riley, of Morris, Robert Williams, of Passaic, and Edward W. Wooley, of Hudson.

When the voting began, the Atlantic county candidates received the straight vote of all until Hudson was reached. Hudson gave 111 to Sewell and Murphy, 109 to Gummere, 91 to Kean, 20 to Voorhees and two were blank. Union county's 46 delegates voted straight for Kean, Sewell, Voorhees and Murphy.

It would not have taken much to stampede the whole convention for Kean to the detriment of Gummere and the Senator realized the fact. He stepped to the front but the wild cheering interrupted him for several minutes. Then he spoke emphatically. He said that he trusted that his withdrawl was understood by the people of New Jersey. He did not want the election and he begged his friends not to vote for him. Then he moved that the other four be elected by acclamation.

Senator Sewell spoke, too, and declared that Mr. Kean's action had been taken in the interests of harmony. Had not Mr. Kean withdrawn, he should have done so, the Camden leader declared.

The question was put to a vote, the Hudson men alone voting a vociferous "no." The Atlantic county nominees were declared elected.

State Senator McCarter, of Essex, promptly introduced a resolution extending the thanks of the convention to Senator Kean for his manly attitude in withdrawing in the interests of harmony. It was unanimously adopted and the convention adjourned.

There was one other meeting of the factions that also had a harmonious ending. It was part of the duty of the Union county caucus, held before the convention, to elect a member of the State Committee to succeed Senator Kean. Both Kean and Fowler were nominated. Speaking for Mr. Fowler, Charles N. Codding said that Mr. Fowler felt that the place was due Mr. Kean, now that the Senator had voluntarily gone out of the "Big Four," and so the Congressman wished to withdraw his name in favor of the other. The friends of Mr. Fowler claim that the latter could have easily had the place, as a large majority of the delegates favored him.

AFFAIRS OF CHINA.

Missionary Delivered an Interesting Talk at a Parlor Meeting of Congregational Women.

A pleasant parlor meeting was held yesterday afternoon by the Women's Association of the Congregational church, at the home of Mrs. William B. Wadsworth, of West Eighth street. A large number of the women of the church were present.

Opening devotional exercises were conducted by Mrs. Wadsworth, the president of the association. She read the Scripture lesson, prayer was offered by Mrs. M. E Dwight, and a solo, "Publish Glad Tidings," was sung by Miss M. G. Morse.

The address of the afternoon was delivered by Mrs. Dr. Sheffield, of Tung-Cho, North China, who went to that field in 1869, and could tell much of interest concerning China and the Chinese. She told in a very entertaining manner of the work carried on by the Congregational Missions in China, the schools, college and theological seminary, the medical work, in which Mrs. Sheffield herself has borne a considerable part, the evangelistic touring, and the special work for Chinese women. The politics of the empire, the climate, the practice of foot-binding, and the methods of learning the language, were other topics considered.

At the close of the meeting tea was served in the dining room. Mrs. John M. Whiton and Mrs Alexander Millar presided at the table. The young women who assisted in serving were Mrs. J. A. Robinson, Mrs. Frederick Stack, Miss Mary Wadsworth, Miss Katharine W. Dwight, Miss Minnie G. Morse, Miss Jessie McIntosh and Miss Anna E. Manktelow.

FUNERAL OF LATE ISAAC CONNETT.

Rev. Dr. Yerkes Conducted Services—Many Floral Tributes.

The funeral services of the late Isaac Connett were held yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock from the residence, 303 East Fifth street, and was largely attended by relatives and friends. Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes, pastor of the First Baptist church, conducted the services, and spoke briefly on the necessity of being ready when the last call comes.

The floral tributes from relatives and friends were beautiful, and consisted of several set pieces, together with bunches of roses. The remains were placed in the receiving vault at Hillside Cemetery and will be interred later. Those who served as pallbearers were L. A. Hummer, J. E. Flannery, Benjamin F. Moore and G. H. VanNest.

Death of Mrs. Warbeck.

Mrs. Nora Warbeck, aged 27 years, wife of Christopher Warbeck, of North avenue, died at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon after a short illness. She was a native of New York. She is survived by a husband who is employed as coachman for A. C. Vail, of West Eighth street, and a baby nine days old. Arrangements for the funeral have not yet been completed.

Want Name of Street Changed.

The question of changing the name of Duer street to Madison avenue will probably be decided at the May meeting of the Borough Council. The idea is steadily growing in favor and a majority of the people seem to be in favor of it.

On Duty at Croton Dam.

Capt. John I. Holly, of Park avenue, is now in service with Troop A, of the New York National Guard, at the Croton Dam, where the troopers have been ordered on account of the strike. Captain Holly is quartermaster of the Troop.

MR. M'CUTCHEN TALKS OF NEW SCHOOL LAW

Declares That It Was the Best Measure Possible Under Conditions that Prevail.

THE VARIOUS FEATURES.

HARD TO MAKE IT FIT BOTH CITY AND COUNTRY DISTRICTS.

He Says That the Commission Visited Newark for Advice and Suggestions, But No One Offered to Co-operate With Them.

S St. John McCutchen, of North Plainfield, who is a member of the State Board of Education, and was one of the special commission to prepare the new school law passed by the last Legislature, appeared before the Newark Board of Trade Wednesday night and addressed the members on subject of the law.

Mr. McCutcheon said that the first thought that came to him was that that city was pretty late in the field in now taking up the subject. He went on to say that the commission, of which he was a member, went to Newark, as it went to all others from Cape May to Sussex county, to ask for advice and suggestions and help. But the request for such co-operation was ignored and the consequence was the bill had been ultimately drafted without assistance from any municipality except Camden.

"We members of that commission," continued Mr. McCutcheon; "well, we're hayseeds, and it may seem funny for us to be tackling a subject of that character. Senator Stokes is from South Jersey and I am from a little borough up in Somerset, and Mr. Betts is from no one knows where. He isn't saying anything about it. But I feel free to say to you that we have given you a pretty fair school law, certainly an improvement over former ones. I regret that you were not back of us, that you have not helped us.

"As to the operation of the law in county districts, I know perfectly well it is an improvement, but when we attempted to get up an improved uniform law for city and county schools the trouble began. I sincerely wish that the revision as we proposed it, had prevailed, that Senator McCarter's amendment had prevailed. We thought it would be accepted, but in the hurry of the close of the Legislature—that infernal last half hour—the amendment was lost. We had hoped to have a provision in the law that the Boards of Education should be elected at large or appointed.

"The first material departure from the present law is the provision for a board of estimate to determine upon how much money the schools shall have. It is not dependent upon the Common Council or financial board of a city. In Pennsylvania the school boards have power to fix the amounts. That, I think, is too large a power. A man gets interested in educational work and soon begins to reason that there's nothing too good for the schools. In his desire to increase and improve facilities he is apt to show a tendency to extravagance. So I don't think discretion in financial matters should be allowed a board likely to be thus prejudiced. Nor should the board be left to the mercy of Common Councils to come in for appropriations after police and firemen's pensions. It must be expected that the schools will thus get the fag end of the budgets."

"Our law provides that an intermediate body shall be named to consist of two Board of Education members, the Mayor and two appointed by the financial body. You so have a board of five members, only two of which are committed to the interests of the Board of Education. Now isn't that a fair body to pass upon a school budget. When it comes to the issue of bonds I say no one but the taxing body should have that power. The new law so provides."

"I ought to refer to this—I have read with deep concern the expression of legal advice of the Corporation Counsel of Jersey City, to the effect that the provisions of the law were unconstitutional. I don't know that it is in the mouth of any one man to say the provision for a Board of Estimate is unconstitutional. The bill before its introduction had the scrutiny of lawyers quite as able as Allan McDermott. They agreed that in no respect could the constitutionality be questioned. As Governor Voorhees has said, it is your duty and my duty to accept the law as constitutional until the Supreme Court declares it otherwise. I have no hesitation in saying that it ought to be brought to a test at the very earliest moment."

LARGE STORAGE VAULTS.

EXTENSIVE IMPROVEMENTS AT THE CITY NATIONAL BANK.

New Vault is to be 10x23 Feet in Size With a Wall 20 Inches Thick—It Will be Burglar-Proof.

Extensive improvements are about to be made to the City National Bank in the way of enlarging the storage vaults. In fact the work has already been commenced. The present vault having become altogether too small to accommodate the increasing business that the bank people have secured from the many who have confidence in them, that it has been decided to greatly increase the size of the vaults by the construction of a new vault in the centre of the basement, sufficiently large to accommodate packages of all sizes, even if necessary to care for a Saratoga trunk.

The new vault is to be 10x23 feet in size, with a wall 20 inches in thickness. It will be seven feet in height. The doors of the new vault will be of steel 6½ inches thick and will weigh half a ton.

Heretofore, owning to the limited space available in the bank's storage vaults, the officials of that institution have been unable to accommodate many of the wealthy class of citizens who desire to store valuables during their absence from home in the summer months. Therefore, it has been necessary for them to take their valuables to New York for safe keeping during their sojourn at summer resorts, and while their residences were closed.

The new vaults will fill a desire for the storage of large boxes, trunks and valuables of bulk that it has been impossible to safely care for owning to lack of cramped facilities.

CLUB MEMBERS DANCED.

A Pleasant Affair Given at the Camera Club Rooms Last Night—Fourteen Prizes Given.

A very pleasant affair was held last evening at the Camera Club rooms under the auspices of the Tuesday Evening Euchre Club, Tuesday Evening Whist Club and the Thursday Evening Whist Club, when each club brought to a close an enjoyable series of meetings that have been held throughout the winter.

The early part of the evening, from 9 until 11 o'clock, was devoted to playing cards. There were fifteen tables and fourteen prizes were offered. The playing was spirited and exciting. In some cases the contestants had to cut for honors. At 11 o'clock the game was brought to a close and dancing was started. Music was furnished by George Rogers, and it was quite early this morning when the guests left the happy scene for their homes. A feature of the event was the supper served during the evening.

DANCE AT PARK CLUB.

Subscription Affair in Which a Number of City and Borough Young People Participated.

The little hall at the Park Club never looked prettier than it did last evening for the subscription dance held there by a number of the young people of borough and city. A profusion of rugs, portierres and cushions were arranged about the hall with excellent effect. The music was excellent and the whole affair proved one of the most enjoyable of the happenings of Easter week.

The dance was arranged by Miss Phillips and Miss Saidee Mae Howell. There were about seventy guests present during the evening. The patronesses were Mrs. H. R. Phillips, Mrs. J. H. Howell, Mrs. Samuel Townsend, Mrs. George Hallock, Mrs. George T. Rogers, Mrs. George Dupee and Mrs. Charles A. Reed.

Martin Act Sale Put Off.

There will be no sale this afternoon under the provisions of the Martin Act as advertised, it having been decided to hold the sale Friday afternoon, May 4th. This will be the last sale as it has been decided to dispose of all properties at that time.

Borough Council Meets Tonight.

There will be an adjourned meeting of the Borough Council this evening to discuss some very important matters. A full attendance of citizens is desired as the sidewalk ordinance will come up for consideration.

An Approaching Marriage.

Invitations have been issued by Mr. and Mrs. John H. Stevens, of 139 Watchung avenue, for the marriage of their daughter, Ella M., to Thomas B. Gallagher, of Somerville, Wednesday evening, May 2d.

Wouldn't Correct a Mistake.

It was Thomas Kennedy and not John Kennedy that was arrested a few days ago. The name was published incorrectly by the News, whose editor refused to make a correction.

BRIDE PAID PARSON, NOW SUED FOR DIVORCE

Henry Cook, of Scotch Plains, Tells a Queer Tale of Woe About His Marital Life.

WIFE WON'T LIVE WITH HIM.

HIS WIFE PARTED FROM HIM IMMEDIATELY AFTER CEREMONY.

That Was Ten Years Ago, and Now the Forlorn Husband Wants to be Relieved of the Nuptial Pledges That He Has Taken.

To win a wager ten years ago, Miss Lizzie Englehart, of Brooklyn, proposed to Henry Cook, of Scotch Plains, took him to the preacher's, married him, and paid the dominie for the job. Now she is being sued for divorce. Cook is fifty-five years old, and a wealthy quarryman.

Ten years ago, according to his declaration, Miss Englehart, with whom he was acquainted, invited him on New Year's Day to see her. He went to her home, and, alleges, she made him drink. When he had done so, she invited him to go shopping with her. They went out, and, finally, stopping in front of the residence of Rev. Mr. Loch, she said: "Now, Henry, here is a preacher's house, and we are going in to get married."

Henry protested, but he was so full of joy—and New Year's wine—that he could not resist. So he went in, was married, Lizzie paid the preacher, and they departed.

"We walked back to her home," he says, "and when we got to the gate she said: 'Now, Henry, we are married, you go back home and attend to your business as usual, and I'll attend to mine. Good-bye,' and she shut the gate between us and went in the house." No amount of pleading, entreaties or threats could induce her to allow him to accompany her, so he went home with a heavy heart.

From time to time he called to see her, but she would not be seen. Then he would write and beg her to come and live with him, but she treated him with contumely, contempt and other inexpensive things, and replied in a crushing manner.

It was more than two years after the fatal wedding that Cook saw his wife again, by chance. She ventured an explanation. Her parents teased her, saying Cook would never marry her. They taunted her so, she said, that she finally made a bet with her parents that they would be married.

After this brief colloquy eight years more rolled by, and Mrs. Cook still refused to have anything to do with her self-sought husband, so he sued for divorce on the grounds of desertion.

The case was referred to Senator Joseph Cross, of Elizabeth, as special master in chancery, to take testimony. It has dragged along all winter until now, and Mr. Cross has filed his report, recommending that Mr. Cook be granted a decree of absolute divorce. Mrs. Cook put in no defense.

Mr. Cook was 45 years old and his wife was 20 years his junior when they were married. Cook lives on a farm at the corner of Westfield and Coles avenues.

Off on a Pleasant Trip.

Honeyman's private tour to Washington and Mount Vernon left Plainfield yesterday and will return tomorrow. There are thirteen members of the party and those from here include Miss Luella A. Crowther, Miss Edna D. French, Miss Maud L. Honeyman, Miss M. M. Montague, Miss Clara VanFleet, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Wightman, all of North Plainfield. The party is under the personal supervision of Mr. Honeyman, and a good time is assured all.

Died at the Home of Her Son.

Mrs. Miller, aged about 75 years, of Newark, died yesterday evening at the home of her son, Isaac Miller, of Somerset street, near Coddington avenue, after an illness lasting a few weeks. Mrs. Miller came to visit her son about ten days ago. While she was ill, her condition was not thought to be serious. Announcement of the funeral will be given later.

Stole the Beef Steak.

A ferocious dog, with the temerity of a hungry tramp, had the audacity this morning to seize and make off with a large beef steak, used to advertise the epicurian offerings at the Delmonico restaurant, much to the disgust of William Ross, the rotound proprietor.

To Take Up Tax Ordinance.

There will be a special meeting of the Common Council next Monday evening when the tax ordinance will come up for consideration.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

Social amenities are very beautiful, sometimes indicating thoughtful remembrance and true kindness of heart. Some friends who were detained from accepting an invitation to dinner by the sudden death of a relative, were greatly surprised and touched on the date of the entertainment as they sat down to their quiet dinner at home, to receive a box of choice flowers. The hostess of the occasion had sent a share of the flowers to be used for table decorations and individual guests to the friends in mourning who could not come. They were accompanied by the dinner cards of the absent guests.

The Jersey City Journal's "Gossip of the Railroads" contained the following: "Charlie" Clapp, brother of Morris, and a bold engineer, too, devotes his time to the good cause of the New Jersey Central. He is down on the official program of last November as part proprietor of engines 585 and 581, both of the new giant compound type with eight-foot drivers. He runs trains 505, 520, 519 and 524, or, in other words, he and Engineers Waite and Allen share the honors alike. All these are Royal Blue Line trains, bound for the City of Brotherly Love. Charlie is spoken of as an "awful good boy," leaving manhood, whiskers and all that out of the argument. Just a good boy. It is many long years since he, while happy as happy could be, black diamonds did pour in the engine's red maw, while he whistled a tune merrily. And Charlie is a hot runner when it comes to making time—one of the fastest on the road.

One delegate from the township of Clinton, in the county of Essex, furnished lots of fun at the Eighth Congressional district convention, held at Belleville, last Tuesday. According to the official call, there was supposed to be two delegates from the township but there proved to be but the one man. Each delegate had the right to vote for two names for delegates to the National convention. When the secretaries called for the vote from Clinton, the Clinton man rose and announced one vote for Fisk and one for DeCamp.

"But you have two votes," shouted the secretary.

"That's right," responded the delegate, "One for Fisk and one for e-Camp." The crowd shouted and the delegates became excited. He rose and said that there were two votes for Fisk and one for DeCamp. That pleased the crowd still more. At last Charles N. Codding, chairman of the Union county delegation, arose while the poor Clinton man was vainly endeavoring to make himself heard above the shouts of laughter, and moved that the Clinton delegate be allowed to hold a caucus and find out exactly who he did want to vote for. It was some time before the chairman of the convention was able to stop the laughter that followed.

The recent wreck, that occurred on the Jersey Central Railroad near Bayonne, when the Scranton express crashed into the truck of a passing locomotive, was an exciting time for Plainfielders. Among them were Albert Schomp, of West Front street, and Harry Cuming, of Putnam avenue. They have an exciting story to tell of their experiences. They were sitting together, Cuming next to the aisle, when they felt the brakes put on suddenly. Then came a crash and the car went bumping over the ties, having left the rails. They could see the windows and woodwork of the car ahead splintered. Then the car began to tip and finally rolled completely over with a great noise. Cuming held fast to the arm of the seat and was left dangling in mid air while his companion was thrown forward. The car instantly filled with steam so that it was impossible to see anything for a moment. When the steam cleared away somewhat, Cuming climbed down only to have a woman, one of the Elizabeth passengers, rush at him and throw her arms wildly about his neck begging to be saved. Cuming explained as well as he could that there was no immediate danger and the young woman gradually recovered her self-possession. Schomp found himself covered with blood but it proved to be from one of the other passengers. Both Cuming and Schomp escaped unhurt. Bernard Benson, of East Fourth street, telegraph operator at the Jersey City yard, was in the same train. He thought that the train had run off the draw bridge into Newark Bay and promptly prepared to met the emergency. He carefully removed his coat and vest and climbed up to the window prepared to swim for his life. When he looked out of the window, he found himself on dry land so he descended again, put on his coat and vest and patiently awaited the arrival of rescuers.

BRIDGE WORK

In Dentistry is the best substitute for nature's work that can be done. Sound roots may be built up and crowned and thus fill up an unsightly space. It has to be made of a material that has strength and durability and one that will not discolor. Gold is the one that stands the test. That is the secret of the expense. But the advantages of a bridge over a plate are many times more than the cost of one compared to that of the other.

Military Operations In Free State at a Standstill.

TEN THOUSAND BOERS AT WEPENER.

Lord Roberts Ready to Move—The Enemy Quiet About Bloemfontein—Remounts and Equipments Are Arriving.

LONDON, April 20.—A deluge of rain lasting ten days has brought the operations in the southeastern part of the Free State almost to a standstill. The creeks have become roaring rivers, and the roads are streams of mud.

A singular message, dated Bloemfontein, April 19, 10:55 a. m., and beginning, "Via press censor, Bloemfontein," reports an exchange of shots in the direction of De Wets Dorp, where the Boers are said to be concentrating after their withdrawal from Wepener."

There is nothing else to indicate that the investment of Wepener has been abandoned by the Boers.

An obscure message from Aliwal North, dated April 19, says that General Brabant has arrived there, but whether he returned alone or with his troops is not clear.

Boer reports from Aliwal North aver that from 8,000 to 10,000 Boers are at Wepener.

Extended reports of the Bloemfontein concert for the benefit of the widows and orphans have been cabled. No less than seven separate accounts are published in London today.

The concert, the weather and the bare statement that Lord Roberts is ready to move are about the only things that the censor has allowed to pass, and the correspondent who announces that Lord Roberts is ready to move does not specify the direction in which he is going.

Bishop Hartzell, bishop of the American Methodist Episcopal church for Africa, who will sail for the United States Saturday by the St. Louis, says that he considers Great Britain has been entirely right in the South African trouble from the outset, and he expresses the hope that Dutch South Africa will be converted into British South Africa.

The Bloemfontein correspondent of The Daily Chronicle, telegraphing Thursday, says:

"The requisite remounts and equipments have arrived, and all the infantry divisions are now supplied with tents.

"The Boers in the immediate neighborhood are quiet, but both sides are steadily preparing for the coming struggle. Lord Roberts is now ready.

"Several lots of concealed arms and ammunition have been discovered here this week.

"The epidemic of enteric fever is abating."

The Bloemfontein correspondent of The Morning Post, telegraphing Wednesday, says:

"This city of canards has been breeding impossible peace rumors during the last few days. Every one now awaits eagerly the announcement of a renewed advance.

"The latest arrivals of remounts show an improvement on the earlier arrivals."

A dispatch to The Morning Post from Kimberley, dated Wednesday, says:

"Lord Methuen has issued a proclamation forbidding civilians to carry arms without military permits and ordering rebels to surrender all serviceable modern arms by May 6.

"At present the military here are mainly occupied in collecting arms and arresting rebels, but everything points to an early resumption of activity."

BOER PEACE ENVOYS.

Queen of Holland Grants Them a Private Audience.

THE HAGUE, April 20.—Queen Wilhelmina gave a private audience to the Boer peace mission yesterday, at which Dr. Leyds, the diplomatic agent of the Transvaal, was present.

There is a difference of opinion as to the significance of this audience. While it is freely admitted that Holland alone would be unable to accomplish anything in aid of the South African republics, the reception of the Boer peace mission by the queen is taken in some quarters as an indication of the prevalence of peace sentiment in some other European capitals. There has during the past few days been much talk of overtures being made by some of the powers to England for the ending of the war, and this event may possibly be an opening wedge in that direction. As it was here that the peace conference called by the czar convened, there may be special significance in Queen Wilhelmina's reception to the Boer peace envoys.

Water Plenty Now.

BLOEMFONTEIN, April 20.—During the last ten days there has been constant rains, and an enormous quantity of water has fallen. These conditions, although extremely uncomfortable so far as the soldiers are concerned, have had their advantages, for every dam in the country round about is filled, and the question of water, which hitherto during the march of the army has been one of great difficulty, is now practically solved. The troops will be able to move in any direction with a certainty of finding a sufficiency of water.

Methodist Episcopal Conference.

OWEGO, N. Y., April 20.—The Wyoming conference of the Methodist Episcopal church is in session here, with about 300 ministers and 200 laymen in attendance. Bishop Cyrus D. Foss is the presiding bishop, who made a strong address at the opening session, which was followed by the election of officers for the session and the appointment of the committees.

Senator Sawyer's Will.

OSHKOSH, Wis., April 20.—The will of the late ex-United States Senator Philetus Sawyer has been filed for probate here. The estate is estimated to be worth over $3,000,000, and all goes to the family with the exception of $10,000 left to the Ladies' Benevolent Society of Oshkosh.

Lived and Died Together.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., April 20.—The Misses Josephine and Frances Pitts, aged 52 and 49 years, both died at the same time of pneumonia in Warwick yesterday. They had always lived and worked together.

Delaware Postoffice Robbed.

WILMINGTON, Del., April 20.—The Smyrna postoffice has been robbed, the safe door being shattered by explosives. Postmaster Megear thinks the loss may reach $700 in stamps and money.

STRIKERS IN IRONS.

Twenty-six Italians Arrested at Croton Landing.

MANY SEEK WORK ELSEWHERE.

The Prisoners Will Be Examined on Charges of Inciting to Riot and Carrying Weapons With Intent to Kill.

CROTON LANDING, N. Y., April 20.—Yesterday was by far the liveliest yet in and around the Croton valley since the strike began, 17 days ago. The civil and military authorities played a very prominent part in the day's proceedings, and the result is that 26 Italians are now behind prison bars awaiting examination on charges of inciting to riot and carrying weapons with intent to inflict bodily injury.

Sheriff Molloy of Westchester county secured 32 warrants for the arrest of the leaders of the strikers and also search warrants for the houses in the Italian colonies where the laborers lived from Judge Smith Lent at Sing Sing. This fact became known Wednesday night, and more than 100 Italians fled from their homes during the night to avoid arrest. It was said that fully 150 of the men who had struck for higher wages had gone to New York and Syracuse, where they have secured other places. Many of them left the depot here early this morning, and some of them said they could get work elsewhere and were leaving to avoid trouble. Since the arrival of the cavalry on Tuesday the strikers have been very quiet and did not repeat their drills with the accompanying display of shotguns, rifles and revolvers. In fact the result of the raid would go to show that the arms have been carefully hidden away.

Just what effect the arrests will have on the other strikers remains to be seen, but the fact that many of them have fled may influence the others to do likewise or else return to their work. Very little work was accomplished at the dam yesterday, and only four additional laborers were working with the 30 who are quartered at the works. Superintendent Goldsborough said that he could not say exactly how many men had gone to work, but he seemed satisfied with the outcome of the day's proceedings. The troops still show a clean bill of health, with the exception of a couple of cases of tonsilitis, and appeared to much better advantage owing to the change in the weather, as bright sunshine had taken the place of rainstorms of the two previous days.

State Buys More Adirondack Land.

ALBANY, April 20.—The state forest preserve board has voted to purchase 30,000 acres of land in the Adirondacks. These tracts are well located, well surrounded by other portions of state forest preserves and were obtained at a low figure. Of the entire purchase 17,000 acres is lumbered land in Hamilton county at $1.50 an acre, which was obtained of the Norwood Lumber company, and a tract of 13,000 acres in township 35 at $2 an acre, containing a portion of Forked lake and all of the Sargent ponds, three of the most beautiful lakes in the wilderness. With this latter purchase the state also acquires the right of way from Hon. William C. Whitney through the Racquette river and Forked lake in township 35. Other parcels were purchased aggregating 2,000 acres in Hamilton and Franklin counties.

New York Central to Enter Brooklyn

NEW YORK, April 20.—The Brooklyn Eagle says the New York Central and Hudson River Railroad company has for some time been making plans to enter Brooklyn by way of the bridge which the New York Connecting Railroad company proposes to build across the East river by way of Randall's and Ward's islands. Although this fact is not admitted by the New York Central people an official of the New York Connecting Railroad company said that the company he represented was depending on the New York Central for its main support. It was not the purpose of the Connecting company, however, he said, to limit the use of the bridge to any one road.

The Buffalo Sails.

NEW YORK, April 20.—Over 500 people assembled at the navy yard in Brooklyn yesterday to see the converted cruiser Buffalo leave on her cruise in foreign waters for the next four months or more. It was freely stated among the navy yard officials that it was altogether likely that the Buffalo would not return to America in September, as she is now scheduled to do, but that she would be ordered to proceed to Manila with her landsmen. Many of the officers on the Buffalo admitted that they would not be at all surprised if the Buffalo, like her sister ship, the Dixie, was suddenly ordered to the Philippines.

Admit Canned Goods to Philippines.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—The war department has taken up the question of reducing the tariff on American canned goods, preserves, etc., going to the Philippines. The matter was brought to the attention of the department by Representative Needham of California, who represents one of the great fruit districts. He pointed out that American canned goods, tomatoes, peaches, apricots, etc., were practically barred from the Philippines because of the military regulations containing the old Spanish prohibitory rates against these goods.

Supplies For India.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—The navy department has secured a 5,000 ton steamer to carry the wheat and other food supplies collected by charitable organizations in New York to the plague and famine sufferers in India. Secretary Long has been informed by telegraph by Pay Director Denniston that he had found a suitable vessel. The stores collected in New York amount to 3,500 tons.

Taxes For German Naval Increase.

BERLIN, April 20.—The government, after looking into various reichstag propositions for raising taxes to meet the expenses of the naval augmentation bill, now says that the only taxes available for this purpose are those on lotteries and bourse transactions.

William Meets Wales.

ALTONA, Prussia, April 20.—Emperor William arrived here unexpectedly yesterday and cordially greeted the Prince of Wales, with whom he conversed for a considerable time while the prince was waiting to continue his journey homeward.

THE AMUSEMENT WORLD

Local and Metropolitan Performances That Will Please Those Who Delight in the Art of Thespis and Music World

Commencing Monday evening the Tommy Shearer company, a repertoire company playing only the best and highest plays, will be seen at Music Hall for the entire week. The company, which is a large one, will play at popular prices, 10, 20 and 30 cents. The scenery and costuming of the various plays to be presented here are elaborate and magnificent. The beautiful comedy, "The Girl from Porto Rico," will be presented Monday evening, and during the week such plays as "Son of Monte Cristo," "Temptation of Money," "The Moonshiner's Daughter," "Heart of the Rockies," and this company's success the past two seasons, "Cyrano de Bergerac." Matinees will be given Wednesday and Saturday, when the prices will be 10 cents for children—12 and under—and 20 cents for adults. "Ladies' tickets" have been issued for Monday evening, the sale of which is limited to 300. They are half price and will have to be exchanged at box office before 6 p. m., Monday.

For years American theatregoers have associated "Rip Van Winkle" with Joseph Jefferson, until one thinks and speaks of the man and the character as one and the same. And now the public has the opportunity of seeing and listening to this old and thoroughly American stage production in an entirely new light. The presentation by the Jefferson Comedy Company is of special interest on account of the exceptional cast. The three sons of Joseph Jefferson, who are so well recommended by the father and by ex-President Cleveland, make up a most interesting company. Thomas Jefferson, who takes the part of "Rip," is certainly the most successful. He has evidently taken his father for his model, but where could he find another so perfect. When he comes on the stage it seems as if the elder Jefferson himself was there. His voice is that of his father in many passages, and his laugh recalls old associations with dear old "Rip." His characterization leaves nothing to be desired, and if he is not his father, he is as good as it is possible for any one else to be. The other sons, Joseph, Jr., as "Derrick von Beekman," and William, as "Cockles," are excellent. The play is given with elaborate scenic effects. This clever company will present "Rip Van Winkle" in Plainfield, May 11th.

Those who have seen Edmund D. Lyons play the part of "Nero" in the magnificent F. C. Whitney "Quo Vadis," now running at the New York Theatre, are apt to form a wrong impression of the notorious Roman. Mr. Lyons presents "Nero" as he is popularly understood by those who have not taken the trouble to examine the records of the time. "Nero" is shown as a mere brute in human form, subject only to the influences of the base passions characteristic of the lowest forms of intelligence—cruel beyond description, a monument of conceit, an ingrate, a coward, an immoral monster and a tyrant absolutely without regard for the rights of his subjects. These characteristics, as portrayed by Mr. Lyons, are, perhaps, true to life, so far as they apply to his later years, and they were, of course, used for the sake of their dramatic possibilities, but it is more than probable that "Nero" was never as bad as he is made to appear. Certain it is that the earlier years of his life were free from the excesses which shrouded the later in a pall of infamy. His accession to the throne was hailed by contemporaries as the beginning of a new era in civilization. These fond hopes were more than realized for a time, as the young emperor was just and affable, fully appreciating the responsibilities of his position at the head of the civilized world. Mr. Lyons and the other members of the "Quo Vadis" company now playing at the New York Theatre are scoring the biggest kind of a hit, their work having received the unstinted praises of the greatest dramatic critics in the country, and they are mightily crowding the immense house.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

FATAL ECONOMY.

A VERY old maxim declares that it isn't economy to pick up pins; the time is worth more than the pins. Similarly it is not true economy to do without Ivory Soap; your health requires the daily removal of the bodily excretions which are discharged through the pores of the skin. These tiny mouths must be kept open, and they should be opened only with a pure soap.

MISSIONARY GATHERING.

Ecumenical Delegates Arriving—Ex-President Harrison to Preside.

NEW YORK, April 20.—Delegates to the ecumenical conference on foreign missions which is to begin in this city on Saturday afternoon and last till May 1 are arriving in large numbers. Ex-President Harrison, who is to preside at the conference, has reached the Fifth Avenue hotel in company with Mrs. Harrison. The hospitality committee, which has had its headquarters in the Presbyterian building, has moved to Carnegie hall, where it will look out for the comfort of the delegates and missionaries.

While the main meetings of the conference will not begin until Monday in Carnegie hall, perhaps the greatest popular interest is felt in the meeting at that place Saturday night, when there will be a reception for the delegates. Addresses will be made by President McKinley, ex-President Harrison and Governor Roosevelt.

The delegates will be welcomed to the conference at Carnegie hall Saturday afternoon. This will be the preliminary opening session, and General Harrison will preside. Following this address there will be an address of welcome by the Rev. Dr. Judson Smith, chairman of the general committee, to which responses will be made by eminent clergymen.

These will be followed by a report of the general committee by the secretary, the Rev. Dr. S. L. Baldwin.

Saturday afternoon President McKinley and his party will be met at the Pennsylvania station in Jersey City by Morris K. Jesup, Cornelius N. Bliss and the Rev. Dr. Arthur J. Brown, Dr. Brown being the chairman of the hospitality committee. The president's party will be escorted to the Hotel Manhattan, where the president will meet some of the conference committee. This informal reception will be attended by Rear Admiral John W. Philip, representing the navy, and Major General Wesley Merritt, representing the army.

The White Star line steamship Teutonic, which arrived yesterday from Liverpool, had on board a number of prominent clergymen who have come here to attend the conference.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

The Erie canal will open April 25 and the Black river canal May 15.

General Edward P. Pearson was reported critically ill at West Point.

The Prince of Wales left Copenhagen for England yesterday morning.

The Spanish cabinet was reorganized because of continued dissensions.

The United States transport Sedgwick brought $330,000 in French gold from Cuba.

Automobiles valued at $50,000 were shipped to the Hawaiian Islands from Chicago.

The Swedish riksdag voted large sums for ammunition, rifles, field artillery and increase of the navy.

The Spanish minister, the Duke d'Arcos, will be invited to attend the G. A. R. encampment at Chicago in August.

All England celebrated Primrose day, the anniversary of Lord Beaconsfield's death. Queen Victoria sent a massive wreath of primroses for his grave at Hughenden.

Governor Roosevelt signed the bill providing that the primary day to select state convention delegates in presidential years shall be the tenth instead of the seventh Tuesday before election.

THOUSANDS LEAVE DAWSON.

Coldest Winter on Record—Gold Output Doubled.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Deputy Consul Adams reports to the state department from Dawson City, under date of Feb. 28, that in spite of danger and hardship no less than 700 people left Dawson for Cape Nome during the winter, and thousands more are ready to leave when spring opens. The winter was the coldest on record at Dawson, ranging from 17 to 59 degrees below zero. The gold output for this season is estimated at double that of a year ago, or from $20,000,000 to $25,000,000, due to improved methods of mining.

The character of the buildings going up in the burned districts shows doubt in the minds of the property owners as to conditions after the exodus takes place to Nome next summer, most of them being unsubstantial. Great finds of copper are reported from the Tanana district, northeast of Prince William Town, huge masses of nearly pure copper from hundreds to thousands of pounds weight being scattered over the country at accessible points.

Financier and Manufacturer Dead.

NEW YORK, April 20.—Napoleon J. Haines, one of the organizers of the Union Dime Savings bank, in which he held official positions for 21 years, and of the Fifth National bank, in which he was a director for 32 years, and founder of the piano firm of Haines Bros., died suddenly yesterday from apoplexy. Mr. Haines was born in England in 1824 and came to this country in early life. He obtained a position with the New York Pianoforte Manufacturing company, but started business for himself in 1851. For more than 40 years he remained in active participation in the business and was the inventor of several improvements in piano making.

Perjured Himself to Save Father.

NEW HAVEN, April 20.—A motion has been filed in the clerk's office of the superior court asking for a new trial for William Russell of Wallingford, who was sentenced Wednesday to nearly nine years in state prison. Yesterday he made a confession to his counsel in which he states that he perjured himself to save his father. Russell was charged with robbery accompanied with personal violence and attempt to murder and was found guilty. The father is 56 years of age, and the son has scarcely reached his majority.

Another Contract For Carnegie.

NEW YORK, April 20.—The Herald says: "The Carnegie Steel company will build the viaduct and elevated structures of the rapid transit system. John B. McDonald, the contractor for the underground road, has not yet announced this subcontract, but he will probably do so in a few days. There will be five miles of elevated structure in the Bronx. Mr. McDonald has already awarded the contract for the structural iron and steel which will be used in the construction of the underground road to the Carnegie company."

Alabama Republicans In a Row.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., April 20.—The Republican state convention which was called to meet at the state capitol at noon yesterday was split wide open before any of the preliminaries were arranged. Gaston Scott, a Vaughan man, was kept out of the hall by Frank Moragne, a Bingham sergeant-at-arms. A quarrel followed. Moragne pulled a pistol and shot Scott twice in the right hand and in the left lung. Scott fell at the second shot, and Moragne went at once to the governor's office to surrender himself.

For Indian Supplies.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Commissioner of Indian Affairs Jones has gone to Chicago to superintend the annual opening of bids for supplies for the Indian bureau during the ensuing fiscal year. He will remain in Chicago several weeks and then go to New York, where similar work will be begun May 15. Bids will be opened at San Francisco June 19. The supplies for which bids are to be submitted consist of machinery, food, clothing, etc., for Indians.

Henderson Gets Another Gavel.

WASHINGTON, April 20.—Speaker Henderson has received a unique gavel from Admiral Hichborn, chief of the bureau of construction of the navy department. It is unlike most gavels in being a solid piece of wood without handle, but with a groove in the middle for the speaker's grasp.

A Congressional Record.

Just at the present time the voters of this country are regaled with long and enthusiastic claims of the great and glorious work done by members of Congress, such statements usually being made to impress upon the constituents of various districts the idea that the country won't be safe unless the present Representatives are returned to Washington. Much fulsome flattery and many unique arguments are incidental to the discussion, all of which the people must sift down to a practical, hard-pan basis of what actually is best to do in the choice of Congressmen. A record that contains some startling facts and unusual claims is that of Henry R. Gibson, member of Congress from the Second Tennessee district, who lives at Knoxville, and finds his reelection threatened. He sends out an appeal to his constituents in view of what he has done in his official capacity.

Here it is: He has put through 833 war claims, amounting to over $1,200,600; he put through 65 special pension bills; he had 41 men commissioned as officers in the army by the President; he had 29 men appointed as postmasters; he had 74 new postoffices established; he made about 12,000 calls on the Pension Bureau; he sent out 29,000 packages of vegetable seeds; he sent out 67,000 pamphlets and books; he sent out 167,000 copies of his own speeches; he wrote 47,000 letters to his constituents. This is Gibson's account of his own doings (extending, it is to be presumed, through more than one Congress), printed and sent into his district. He says, in addition, that he was "more regular in attending the sessions of Congress" and "gave more of his time to the business of the people and spent less of it in pleasure and idleness," than anybody else.

Now let us hear from our own Congressman, the Hon. Charles N. Fowler, and see if he can't equal this wonderful record of the Tennessee statesman.

Plainfield is showing a woeful lack of enterprise and appreciation of a good thing in not taking an active part in the preliminary movement for the holding of a great State exposition in Newark in 1902. Yesterday a meeting of representative men from nearly every city in the State was held in Newark to determine the plan and scope of the proposed event, but not a Plainfield man was there to represent the Eldorado of the East. Certainly, Plainfield cannot afford to have this great exposition carried out without taking some part in it. Either President Woolston, of the Board of Trade, or Mayor Rockfellow should at once take it upon themselves to see to it that the city is properly represented in this great enterprise.

The Philadelphia Record says that in the face of a sagging steel market the Wire and Nail Trust has continued to advance the prices of its products in the home market, while selling at reduced prices for export, and that as a means of further pinching the consumer it is now shutting down its mills and throwing thousands of workingmen out of employment on the plea of a temporary lull in the home demand. Considering how enormous are the present profits of nearly every branch of steel manufacture, this must be deemed one of the most daring exploits in the history of Trust operations. No robber ever robbed with more candid and brutal indifference to the outcry of his victims, comments the Record.

The Democrats of Elizabeth do not propose to give up the loss of a member in their City Council without a fight. In two wards the result on election day was very close, and the Democrats believe that enough invalid ballots were cast for Republican nominees to have their election declared null and void. At an rate the Democrats propose to make a fight over the matter.

Now that Senator Kean has proven his qualities as a harmonizer in a State convention, it behooves him to get a move on and arrange matters amicably for the next Congressional convention of the Republicans in the Eighth district. The trouble here, though, is that there are two men pitted against each other who propose to stay to the finish.

The first commission sent to the Philippines cost the people $117,185, but now the Administration finds it necessary to send another commission off to our new possessions in the East at a cost which can only be determined in the future, but which will undoubtedly equal or exceed that of the first one.

The Kentucky admirers of Admiral Dewey have presented him with twenty quarts of twenty-year-old whiskey. The fact that he accepted it has made it sure that it will not be the Prohibitionists who will run him for President.

During the Republican State convention in Alabama yesterday a hundred pistols were drawn at one time and one delegate was shot. Alabamaians don't propose to let Kentucky get the best of them in the shooting business.

Gov. Voorhees goes to Philadelphia, and so does Barker Gummere. Now what has Col. Dickinson to say?

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND.

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

As to the renomination of all the Jersey Representatives the Elizabeth Journal thinks it is good policy to trade horses while crossing a stream, "provided you can get a better horse." Maybe that idea is what is agitating the friends of Mr. Bergen to get in and defeat Mr. Fowler in the Eighth district, and those behind John S. Gibson of Newark to beat out Mr. Parker in the Sixth. Well, it will be a case of "horse and horse" in each instance, but the main thing, after all, is to get across the stream.—Freeholder in New York Press.

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, April 20th—At the regular annual meeting of the Dunellen Building and Loan Association held Wednesday evening, J. W. Moynihan, James R. Dunham and George W. Day were elected directors. The annual reports showed the association to be in a flourishing condition. Last evening the board met and perfected an organization by the election of officers.

Rev. S. K. Doolittle, the newly-assigned pastor of the Methodist church, is expected in town today with his family. He will occupy the parsonage at once. Mr. Doolittle's family consists of his wife and four children, two of the latter being a young man and woman.

The annual meeting of the stockholders of the Dunellen Electric Light Company will be held Monday afternoon, April 30, for the purpose of choosing five directors and the transaction of such other business as may come before the meeting.

There will be a special meeting at the New Market schoolhouse tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock to take action in reference to building the proposed new schoolhouse at South Plainfield.

Charles Day, of New Market, was elected a delegate to Republican State convention, and J. B. Cleaver, of the same place, has been chosen to attend the Congressional convention.

Frank Humpston has been appointed financial secretary of the William G. Holton Council, Junior O. U. A. M., in place of Willard N. Apgar, who resigned.

Alex Dunn, who died suddenly at his home in Somerville Monday, was a former resident of Lincoln, where his son, Fred Dunn, is the station agent.

The household goods of Rev. A. I. Martine, former pastor of the Presbyterian church, are advertised for sale by Auctioneer Day next Thursday.

The chair factory is rushed with orders. A concern in New York city has recently placed an order with them for 350 shoemaker's stools.

Henry Wiedenkaupt, the butcher, is having his meat market put in first-class order, new fixtures having recently been added.

The recent entertainment held under the auspices of the Christian Endeavor Society, of the Presbyterian church, netted about $15.

The Dunellen Banjo Club will meet this evening at the home of Travers Sutphen.

Scotch Plains, April 20.—Goodwill Lodge, K. of P., entertained their many friends at a social dance in Excelsior Hall, last evening. Music was by Prof. O'Riely's orchestra, of Plainfield. The tripping of the light fantastic toe was kept up until a late hour. Those who enjoyed Goodwill's hospitality passed an evening very pleasantly and the affair will remain a pleasant memory.

The weekly school paper "The Scribe," which made its appearance several weeks ago, is meeting with encouraging success. A number of bright and newsy writers are being developed in the school. The paper is published each Friday and is sold for the small sum of 5 cents.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Beekon, of the borough, will shortly move from their residence on Park avenue to Wm. E. Gibbs' house on Forest avenue.

Quite a number from this village enjoyed the performance of "The Heart of Maryland" at Music Hall last evening.

The Friday Evening Literary Society will hold one of their weekly readings in the Methodist church this evening.

The Township Committee will meet to transact routine business in the town rooms this evening.

Rev. G. M. Shott leads the weekly prayer meeting in the Baptist church this evening.

John R. Haskard was the guest of friends in town last evening.

JAPAN'S IRONCLAD SHIKISHIMA.

Japan has in recent years become a factor in the tangle which is called "the eastern question." She has also in the same recent years become of consequence as a naval power, which coincidence is not an accident. The Shikishima was built in England. She carries as armament four 12-inch and fourteen 6-inch guns and twenty 12-pounders and twelve 3-pounders.

drill of Company M was held at the armory last night, when the marksmen's badges were distributed. There will be an election for non-commissioned officers Friday, May 4, at the company's rooms, when two sergeants (who must be marksmen) and three corporals will be elected. A quartermaster sergeant and commissary sergeant will be appointed by the company commandant.

Alexander Brokaw, of this place, and Mrs. Mary Wyckoff, of Lincoln, were married last night by Rev. Dr. E. G. Read, at the residence of the bride's sister, Mrs. Gryn T. Hodge, corner of Main and New street. A reception followed at the groom's home, on South street. They were given a calithumpian serenade by the boys. A bonfire was kindled, cannon and fireworks shot off, and a general good time had. The serenaders were treated right royally.

Cooper's store, at Millstone, was broken into Thursday night, and a large amount of plunder secured. The thieves broke into Wyckoff's wheelwright shop and procured chisels, and into VanNostrand's blacksmith shop for a hammer. These tools were found the next morning at Cooper's store. This is the fourth time that Cooper's store has been robbed.

Wm. H. Long, Postmaster George W. Cooper, Editor C. H. Bateman, Wm. H. Humpson, Will Stryker, Walter Smith and W. H. Cawley, of this place, and ex-Sheriff W. H. H. Wyckoff, Job C. Kinyon, Chris. Ehin and J. F. McGregor, of Raritan, went to Trenton yesterday to attend the Republican State Convention.

A man from Morristown created a scene in court Wednesday afternoon by loudly demanding of the Prosecutor, while he was engaged in trying a case, more money for appearing as a witness before the Grand Jury. Chief Justice Magie called him down and he was removed by a constable.

A. O. Foster, of Utica, N. Y, and Miss Evangeline Norton, soloist at the Congregational church, Bound Brook, were united in marriage today at Groveneur, N. Y., the home of the bride's parents. Mr and Mrs. H. W. Reussing, of this place, attended the wedding.

Mrs. D. N. VanZandt, of Philadelphia, and Mrs. W. S. VanZandt, of Passadena, Cal., are visiting their nephews, D. N. and L. M. Messler.

The jury in the case of Elbertson against Anderson brought in a verdict for the plaintiff for $816.66.

Chief Justice Magie Wednesday raised the license fee of bottlers from $150 to $300.

Peter S. Polhemus, of Rocky Hill, recently lost four horses from spinal meningitis.

C. W. Ennis and family, of Morristown, spent Wednesday in town.

J. C. Henry is again laid up in the house, having had a relapse.

Colby Barcalow, of Trenton, is visiting relatives in town.

The petit jurors has all been excused until next Monday.

Miss Angie Kuhl has returned to Wellesley College.

Jacob Boice, of Harlingen, was in town today.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

South Plainfield, April 20 — The bridge near the church needs looking after. A load of cinders could be applied to the approach to good advantage.

The section gangs here are pretty well filled up. Men out of work are not so scarce as they were.

John McGuire moved his family today into part of Mr. TenEyck's house on Front street.

Dennis Harlowe has bought the vacant lot adjoining his place on the south.

Miss Carrie VanNest and Miss Emma Faulks both have the mumps.

Al Young captured quite a nice string of fish in the pond yesterday.

Frank Poling has taken a vacation. He left town the first of the week.

TEACHERS TAUGHT.

Sunday-School Institute Held in Westfield—Plainfielders Took a Prominent Part.

(Special to The Daily Press).

Westfield April 20—The Presbyterian chapel was the scene yesterday of the meeting of the Sunday-school Institute of the Union County Sunday-school Association. Teachers were present from all over the county. The afternoon session was under the auspices of the State Primary Council, the opening session being in charge of the Plainfield Union, with Miss Nettie Beeching as leader. Miss J. L. Baldwin, of Plainfield, gave an illustrated address on the Twenty-third Psalm, which was very interesting. The address on "Principles of Teaching and Lessons for Little Beginners," by Mrs. Alonzo Pettit, was followed by a discussion in which the teachers took part. The lesson for Sunday, April 29d, was then taught, the primary by Miss Beeching and the junior by Miss Baldwin.

Just before supper was served an hour was spent in the study of "Home Department Work," under the leadership of Rev. Arthur Main, of Plainfield.

The evening meeting opened with a service of prayer led by Rev. George Buckle, of Elizabeth, and this was followed by an open parliament in charge of Arthur N. Pierson. Rev. John W. Richardson, of Plainfield, spoke entertainingly and instructively on "How to Stimulate Attendance at Church and Sunday-school," G. E. Hall, of Plainfield, followed with an address on "The Value of Systematic Giving and How to Stimulate it."

Miss Overton's Recital.

Miss Grace Elting Overton, reader, assisted by Miss Bertha VanNuise Willis, soprano, will give a recital Monday evening at 8:30 o'clock in Y. M. C. A. Hall. Tickets can be secured from the patronesses or at Randolph's and Rowley's drug stores.

—Neuman Brothers will sell the famous Rockdale print butter tomorrow for 25 cents per pound. 4-20 2

—Neuman Bros. call particular attention to the reduced price of canned Jersey tomatoes in three pound cans. They have 100 cases of them, selling at 95c a dozen cans. 4 18 3

Preußen.

Provinz Brandenburg.

Berlin. Im Jahre 1899 sind in Preußen aus Veranlassung goldener und diamantener Hochzeiten an 1328 Ehepaare Ehejubiläumsmedaillen verliehen worden. Von den Paaren waren evangelisch 1010, darunter vier, welche die 60jährige Hochzeit feierten, katholisch 273, mennonitisch 2, gemischtkonfessionell 10 und jüdisch 33.—Verschärfte, mit dem 15. Oktober d. J. in Kraft tretende Promotionsbedingungen für Ausländer hat die philosophische Fakultät der Berliner Universität neuerdings angeordnet. Darnach werden Ausländer nur dann zur Promotion zugelassen, wenn sie das Reifezeugniß einer Hochschule besitzen, welche dem humanistischen Gymnasium, dem Realgymnasium oder der Oberrealschule des deutschen Reiches als gleichwerthig angesehen werden kann.—Der russische Cigarettenmacher Noah Inhaber, der holländische Kellner Haas und der österreichische Stallschweizer Kieslinger sind aus Berlin polizeilich ausgewiesen worden.

Biesenthal. Ein Genesungsheim für das Gardekorps wird in Biesenthal in's Leben gerufen. Die Baukosten, welche die Stadt trägt, betragen 280,000 Mark; der Militärfiskus verzinst das Kapital 30 Jahre mit 5 Prozent jährlich, gleichviel, ob die Anstalt voll belegt ist oder nicht.

Friedrichshagen. Zwei Selbstmorde wurden an einem Tage bei Friedrichshagen verübt. Beim Restaurant zum „Waldkater" tödtete sich der 29 Jahre alte Zimmermann Hermann Michaelis aus Zehdenick durch einen Schuß in die Schläfe. Fast um dieselbe Zeit durchschnitt sich der 35 Jahre alte Maurer Götze aus Köpenick in einem Eisenbahnzug mit einem Taschenmesser die Schlagadern. Auf der Station Friedrichshagen wurde er von Eisenbahnbeamten aus dem Abtheil geholt und sterbend in's Krankenhaus gefahren.

Provinz Hannover.

Hannover. Kürzlich sind hier die Fahnen der englisch-deutschen Legion wieder eingetroffen. Absender war das Kriegsministerium, Empfänger das 73. Infanterie-Regiment, das die Fahnen sofort nach dem Leibnizhause schaffen ließ. Die aus 17,000 Hannoveranern bestehende, im Jahre 1803 errichtete englisch-deutsche Legion focht auf fast allen europäischen Kriegsschauplätzen gegen Napoleon den Ersten mit Auszeichnung und wurde in 1816 aufgelöst.

Borkum. Das vergangene Jahr ist für den Besuch der Seebade-Anstalt auf der Insel Borkum ein so außerordentlich günstiges gewesen, wie kein anderes seit dem 44jährigen Bestehen derselben, denn die Besuchsziffer, welche früher jährlich um einige Hundert stieg, hat im Vergleich zu der Saison vom Jahre 1898 um 2585 zugenommen. An einem Tage im August wurde die enorme Zahl von 6009 Kurgästen auf Borkum amtlich festgestellt.

Provinz Hessen-Nassau.

Kassel. In Gegenwart von Vertretern der Staats- und städtischen Behörden wurde das von der hiesigen Handelskammer erbaute neue „Kaufmannshaus" eröffnet. Das in der Hohenzollernstraße gelegene Gebäude ist nach den Plänen des Architekten Karst errichtet. Der Bau erforderte einen Kostenaufwand von circa 420,000 Mark.

Frankfurt. Der Export aus dem Bezirk des amerikanischen Generalkonsulats zu Frankfurt nach den Ver. Staaten betrug im letzten Vierteljahr $9,245,473 oder über $1,000,000 mehr als im entsprechenden Zeitraum des Vorjahres. Für die gleiche Periode von 1900 betrug der Export aus ganz Deutschland, mit Ausnahme des Dresdener Distrikts, $27,352,397 oder $6,265,155 mehr als in der korrespondirenden Periode von 1899.

Provinz Pommern.

Grimmen. Die Versteigerung des Eigenthums des Landrathes Osterroth, der durchgebrannt ist, brachte nur 5000 Mark, während an Forderungen über 100,000 Mark eingegangen waren.

Kammin. Die Gründung einer „Stettin-Wollin-Kammin-Dievenower Dampfschifffahrtsgesellschaft" ist hier erfolgt. Betheiligt sind hiesige, Wolliner, Fiddichower und Berliner Herren.

Provinz Posen.

Posen. In der Stadtverordnetensitzung theilte Oberbürgermeister Witting mit, daß die Entfestigungsfrage bis zum Jahre 1901 gelöst sein werde. Die Versammlung bewilligte als Dank für die glatte und schnelle Abwickelung der Eingemeindungs-Angelegenheiten dem Oberbürgermeister 5000, dem Bürgermeister und Stadtbaurath je 1500, den besoldeten Stadträthen je 1000 Mark als persönliche, pensionsfähige Zulage.

Bromberg. Der Stadtbauassistent Labes von hier ist vom Kolonialamt in Berlin als Ingenieur beim Bahnbau Swakopmund-Windhoek nach Südwestafrika einberufen worden und befindet sich bereits auf der Reise nach seinem Bestimmungsort.

Provinz Ostpreußen.

Königsberg. Auf der städtischen elektrischen Straßenbahn wurden im Jahre 1899 insgesammt 2,868,883 Personen befördert. Wagenkilometer wurden insgesammt zurückgelegt von den Motorwagen 1,175,477, von den Anhängewagen 10,987.

MILLINERY HINTS.

Hats and Boas to Accompany Summer Gowns.

Among other millinery novelties is a hat of heavy straw braid, upon each seam of which is a tiny ruche of black gauze. The crown of some hats is completely covered with flowers.

The newest hat shapes have a high, narrow crown. A shape of this sort is made of real lace, laid flat over a transparent puffing of light mousseline de soie, the trimming being a simple piquet of roses or orchids.

Hats of coarse chip in all colors are to be much worn, as are horsehair lace braids and hats all of tulle and mousseline de soie. These are very large and much trimmed, with flowers especially.

Boas for warm weather use are very large and fluffy, covering the entire shoulders and falling to the waist in front. They are made of lace, gauze, silk and velvet and are rather elaborate. No woman with a short neck should indulge in these accessories, attractive as they are, for they suit only slender, long necked figures.

Today's cut shows a costume for a young woman. It is of sky blue taffeta, the plain skirt being laid in a box plait at the back. The bodice has clusters of tucks alternating with bands of guipure insertion, and the sleeves are made in the same way. The corselet belt, the cuffs, the medici collar and the bertha are of sky blue panne, the plaited collar and the cravat of white mousseline de soie. Rhinestone buttons form a decoration. The leghorn hat is trimmed with forgetmenots. JUDIC CHOLLET.

FASHION NOTES.

Materials For Warm Weather and Styles For Making.

Fancy wool goods are trimmed chiefly with galloon, ribbon and lace. The designs for these materials are chiefly tiny dots or figures, fine stripes of various kinds and small broche flowers.

The newest leather belts are no longer a plain band of leather. They are repousse and are often decorated with a gold design. High corselet belts of spangles or embroidery are also worn over full bodices of mousseline de soie or lace and are very becoming to a slender figure.

All skirts are lined except those of very thin materials, such as mousseline de soie, lawn, etc., which have a separate lining skirt. The skirt is no longer perfectly plain at the back, being now mounted with plaits or gathered if the goods are thin.

Foulard is again used and is well represented among the goods intended for summer wear. Being very light and thin, ruffles are indicated for the decoration, although plaitings, especially accordion plaitings, are also very suitable. Delicate lace or mousseline de soie may also be employed.

The costume illustrated is of very thin cloth. There is a line of cording near the foot of the skirt, which also runs up the front, and the skirt is fitted by cordings at the hips. The bodice, which is fitted at the back and stretched in front, has a guimpe of corded silk framed in an application of velvet embroidery. The tight sleeves are decorated with cording at the top and have little epaulets appliqued at the shoulder. The toque is entirely of flowers, with a bow of ribbon and feathers as trimming. Unique Receptions Planned for the People of Washington.

John R. McLean's Country Place Near the National Capital to Be Converted Into a Semi-Religious Retreat.

A series of outdoor Saturday afternoon receptions has been planned for the summer by Mr. and Mrs. John R. McLean, of Washington.

As the noted democratic leader and editor of the Cincinnati Enquirer and Mrs. McLean are among the most princely entertainers in that city of elaborate and costly functions it would be reasonable to expect that the summer receptions are being arranged for the Washington world of fashion and position. But they are not. They will be outings for the people; they will all take place at Mr. McLean's country place, near Tenallytown, a suburb of Washington. The United States Marine band probably will be engaged for the receptions, and on a platform in a beautiful grove the government's best musical organization will play during all the waning half of the day of rest such selections as "Hold the Fort for I am Coming." The crowds will have the freedom of grounds that comprise about 75 acres, which nature has enhanced with many grassy slopes and shady nooks. To these refreshing scenes the people can go from the heart of the heated, red-brick and asphalt city in half an hour by electric car, and immense crowds are expected, because there will be no formal programme, except that of the music; no limitation in the invitation, as regards race, color or position. The outings will be announced by Washington pastors from their pulpits. It is believed that the response will be as prompt as widespread.

The country place which will be used for these outings of a semireligious nature, says the Chicago Daily News, is called "Friendship." It formerly was a retreat for Georgetown monks.

JOHN R. M'LEAN.
(Will Open His Summer Home as a Resort for the Public.)

Then, by way of contrast, it became the property and home of the Country club. Later a Richmond (Va.) syndicate bought it, and two years ago the place was sold to John R. McLean, who will cause it again to be used for religious purposes.

It was reported that the open-air receptions were to take place at Beauvoir, a beautiful country home near Washington. But Beauvoir has been leased to Mr. McLean's brother-in-law, Admiral Dewey, for the summer. The property is owned by Francis G. Newlands, the millionaire young congressman from Nevada.

Mr. McLean, though known throughout the country as a distinguished Ohioan, spends a large part of his time in Washington. His residence, a few blocks north of the white house, occupies nearly half a block, and in the course of every social season is the scene of most brilliant receptions and dinners. He owns a great deal of valuable real estate in the best part of Washington, and democratic politicians and other prominent persons who know him will tell you that he usually can be found about ten o'clock in the morning "at the gas office." Mr. McLean is president of the Washington Gaslight company, and at the hour mentioned a caller, these days, is pretty sure to find from two to a dozen democrats of note waiting in the Cincinnati editor's anteroom. A colored messenger is on guard at the hall door, which reveals a view of the gas office's interior, but Mr. McLean himself operates the door between his large private office and the anteroom. On a recent morning he received and bowed out four men in less than 20 minutes, the consultation with each being behind the closed door. The scene was suggestive of a busy day in those upper rooms of the white house where callers cool their heels.

Pine Needles in Commerce.

The pine needles of south Oregon are being utilized, says the New York Evening Post. The needles are first boiled and then run between horizontal wooden rollers, which extract the juice. This is called pine needle oil, which is supposed to possess medical properties. The pulp is used as a medicated material for upholstering, and is also said to be a good substitute for horsehair. It is said that insect pests will not live in furniture that has been upholstered with pine needles.

The Energy of Sheep.

The sheep possesses a less degree of nervous energy than the horse, ox or pig, but it is capable of enduring great extremes of heat and cold with less inconvenience and possesses a more vigorous digestion than those animals.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning April 22—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle,

Topic.—Serving God joyously.—Math. xxii, 1-14.

THE PARABLE.

The topical reference is Christ's parable of "The Royal Marriage Feast." A king makes a marriage feast for his son. He sends forth his servants to call them who have been previously invited, in accordance with the custom of the east. But they would not come. The second time he sent forth his servants to tell the invited guests that all things were ready. This time they treated the invitation lightly and continued to engage in their usual occupations. Some of them even took his servants and mistreated them. The king was angry and sent forth his armies, which burned up their city. Then he sent his servants forth again into the highways and hedges, and guests were provided. When the king appeared, he saw a man who had not on a wedding garment, a garment usually provided by the host. For this needless and inexcusable neglect the king had him taken away and thrown into outer darkness.

THE INTERPRETATION.

The king is God; the son is Christ; the marriage is the union of Christ with His church, espoused at His first coming and to be consummated at His second coming; the feast represents the bounteous provision that God has made for those who accept the invitation to come to Christ. It may include not only the joys that shall come to Christians at the actual marriage feast of the Lamb, but all the joyous benefits that come to believers here and hereafter. The blessings of the gospel are often represented in the figure of a marriage and a feast. Here the two symbols are combined. Those first invited, but who refused to come, are the Jews. The first servants sent out are the preachers in the lifetime of our Lord. The second are those who proclaimed the gospel after Christ's death and resurrection, of whom Stephen and James were killed. The burning of the city is the destruction of Jerusalem by the Romans A. D. 70. Those last invited are the gentiles. The man who had not on the wedding garment represents those who profess to have accepted the invitation, but have not. That which they have not on is righteousness, the root of which is faith and the flower works. They are inexcusable because it is Christ's righteousness which they should have had on and He provided freely for all. The casting out of the man typifies the eternal doom of those who profess to be Christ's, but are not.

THE APPLICATION.

The application of this parable to the topic, "Serving God Joyously," is easily made. God, in inviting us to come to Christ, invites us to a feast. He calls us to a marriage celebration, always characterized by joy. This marriage feast represents the plenteousness and joyousness of the spiritual blessings offered to us in Christ. And where do we serve more joyously than at a marriage feast? He serves most joyously who serves a friend on such a joyous occasion. In the same spirit of joy we should serve God in Christ here, that we may partake of the heavenly joys in store for those who shall sit down at the marriage feast of the Lamb.

THE PRAYER MEETING.

Let the leader explain the parables and then throw the meeting open for voluntary participation, seeing that joy in service be particularly emphasized.

The Light of History.

Imagination is the world's enchanter. By it we put form into the formless, color into the colorless and life into the dead. By it we deepen our sorrow and heighten our joy. By it we turn what we touch into what we will. By it we circle home with a halo. We see none in it as they are. By it we have the vision and pattern of things we wish. We live "after the pattern seen in the mount." The painter and the poet do. The young man does when he seeks a work, a wife and a home. Every man does when he strives for his livelihood. The world does. The sun of the ideal shines through the dust. Mediæval Europe was aglow with imagination, from prince to peasant. There were legend of hero and legend of saint. There were epic song and folk song and story. Imagination is that breath by which all enduring literature lives and moves and has its being. It is the light of history.—Occident.

The Power Behind the Bricks.

In north India a few Mohammedans were discussing the affairs of a certain Christian school. They declared, "If we had our way, we would come in a body and pull down these buildings and take them away, brick by brick, until not one remained."

A young Hindoo, who happened to hear their remarks, answered promptly: "You might do that; you might tear them down, so that not one brick was left standing upon another. But there is a power behind the bricks that you cannot destroy, however much you may wish to do so."—Missionary Review of the World.

Pray by Name.

Rev. F. E. Clark, president of the United Society of Christian Endeavor, said a good thing recently: "At our house," he said, "we teach our children to pray for our missionaries by name, and every night after they have said, 'Now I lay me down to sleep,' they add, 'God bless Mrs. Logan and Beulah Logan in Micronesia.'"—Detroit News-Tribune.

EPWORTH LEAGUE.

Topic For the Week Beginning April 22, "Serving God Joyously." Text, Math. xxii, 1-14.

"Come unto the marriage."

The invitation is from the King. The occasion is the wedding feast of His Son. It is hard to believe that any one will neglect such a call. Surely no one will refuse it. All will seek to be summoned. How strangely perverse are those who treat such courtesy with contempt!

Jesus represents the Christian life as such an invitation from God. His service is not intended to be a life of bondage. It is not a call to hardships and privations, but to joyous participation in the pleasures of the King himself, to companionship with the Son, who is heir of all things, by whom and for whom all things are made. The prospect of happiness and plenty could not be made more attractive. The feast, the palace, the wedding garments, are all provided by the Lord. The guests are required only to accept the offered hospitality and come.

Every true believer finds this an accurate picture of God's goodness to him. The joyousness of life is fullest and most free in the work of Christ. Our privations are such as are inseparable from earthly life. Pain, bodily want, cravings and longings of soul, doubts and searchings of mind, temptations and care come to every one and must come in such a world as this and to such creatures as we are. The greatest need is the chance for higher life. No worthy aim is found in mere money getting nor in working just for passing pleasures and honors. The prizes of worldly life are not worth the striving unless something more lies beyond them. No deep joy and satisfaction can be reached unless the soul can feel that its work is worthy of its best efforts and that the end sought is a noble one. To better ourselves is more than to get more things. It is to become purer, stronger in truth and right. It is to see more of beauty in the world and to be more beautiful and gentle in nature.

This is the clew to all abiding joy.

Happiness and Health.

One who is well ought to be happy. So we all say when we are sick. But many who are well in body are far from being happy in spirit or contented in mind.

It is dangerous to bodily health not to be cheerful. Much of our sickness comes from useless worry and fretting. Anger is deathly. It increases the heart action and in cases not a few has resulted in serious sickness and occasionally in death. To say nothing of its sinfulness, it is physically dangerous to the one who is angry. You cannot afford to get provoked.

Despondency leads to dyspepsia and many complications. A young Englishman in a town in Connecticut was so troubled in mind over Buller's lack of success in January last in his battles on Tugela river, in South Africa, that he lost appetite and health and reason and committed suicide. Despondency is deadly. Joyousness, trust in God, aids every power of body. Cultivate cheerfulness. Look on the bright side—the Christ side—of things.

What Do You Read?

Make a list of what you have read the past month and see if it has been worth the time spent upon it. It is a good plan to lay out a course of reading and keep to it closely, refusing to let the mind be drawn off on outside topics. Make it include something in several departments. Things will go more smoothly in business and in home life if there is a course of reading to take the thought away from perplexities and annoyances that tend to irritate. Include some poetry, some books on travel and art, some stories and histories.

You cannot always get introduced to people who can do you good by their conversation, but you can always get an introduction through their books to the best that the ablest men and women have to say on every question.

Don't try to read too much, but try to read the best. A second rate book takes as much time to master as a first class one in the same line and gives you far less for your effort. Get the best.

Is It Helpful?

What is the League doing to help the young people to better and broader and happier lives? Is your chapter aiding to develop the spirit of devotion and loyalty? The spiritual department should be of great assistance to every member of the League. Make the meetings sparkle with earnest, cheerful, helpful testimony, prayer and song.

The mercy and help work should enlist every person. Send flowers and delicacies to the sick of the church, and, best of all, send the young people to call on the aged, infirm and sick. Sing where it can be done without harm, pray and give good cheer to the down hearted and afflicted.

Be on the lookout for strangers at church. Speak to them and make them welcome.

Stir up that literary department. Get some reading started. Have a comparison of books read by the members. Let each person be called on for a list of those read recently. Occasionally let some one in a three or five minute speech review some good book.

Make your League helpful. Otherwise it is worse than useless.

Bishop Ninde has gone to South America to hold the conferences of our church. He went via Colon and Panama to the west coast. He will visit Peru and Chile, cross the Andes and visit Bolivia, Paraguay, Uruguay, Buenos Ayres and Brazil. He will probably return by way of Europe, as it is easier to reach New York from the east coast of South America by going to Liverpool than in any other way.

in home-making. Selecting a large, fresh-grown banana leaf, she carefully sews the two edges together with her bill for the needle, and some strong grass or rootlets for the thread. She even follows the grain of the leaf close by one of the veins, and so neatly are the stitches made that only the closest examination reveals them. Inside this pocket is built a nest of soft grass or hair, and here the mother bird lays her dainty eggs and raises her family without fear of discovery. — Youth's Companion.

NOW AT WASHINGTON

Joseph, the Brave and Noble Chief of the Nez Perces.

Is Petitioning the National Authorities for Civil Rights for His People—His Part in the Great War of 1877.

That picturesque and noble Indian statesman Joseph, chief of the Nez Perces, whose proud boast has always been that they are the faithful friends of the white man, has come, after an absence of many years, to visit the Great Father at Washington and petition the authorities for those civil rights his people still hope will be granted them. Chief Joseph is accompanied by a delegation among whom are his nephew and interpreter, Steven Reuben, a brother of Gen. Miles' faithful scout, who was killed by his own tribe, and an alumnus of the school at Carlisle, Chief Showeway. The other day an Indian, one of Chief Joseph's associates, was brought before the local police court on the charge of carrying concealed weapons and threatening a negro. The chief testified in behalf of his friend, who was released on Joseph's unsupported word. In announcing the prisoner's discharge, the judge paid a high tribute to the chief of the Nez Perces, referring to his dealings with Howard and Miles and his honorable action both during and after the famous war, concluding his laudation by saying he deserved and had won the respect of every one.

Chief Joseph, says the New York Tribune, has lost much. His tribe, through the greed of the white man, were hunted from their old homes, and their present holdings are not those handed down to them by their fathers, but lands allotted the tribe by the government. Conventions made have been repeatedly broken, and there must be in the heart of this proud descendant of a noble tribe a feeling of bitterness and chagrin; but it is doubtless some compensation to know that when he was weighed in the balance he was not found wanting, and that he succeeded, misrepresented and misquoted as he often was, in winning the regard, respect and esteem of his old enemies.

CHIEF JOSEPH.
(Now at Washington to Secure Civil Rights for His People.)

Chief Joseph commanded in the war which the official accounts term "one of the most extraordinary Indian wars of which there is any record." The Indians throughout displayed a courage and skill that elicited universal praise. They abstained from scalping, let the captive women go free, did not commit indiscriminate murder of peaceful families, which is usual; and fought with almost scientific skill, using advance and rear guards, skirmish lines and field fortifications, and one thinks of him at that time, 1877, as a middle aged man and now as a patriarch. This veteran warrior is, on the contrary, just turned 50, his face is the face of a man in the prime of life, his head sits proudly on his shoulders, and his eyes look into the eyes of his white brother with truth and sincerity as of old. He wears, as a rule, the garb of civilization, but has always at hand his chief's costume, and is a brave figure in his paint and feathers.

After the war Joseph and his people were imprisoned at Fort Leavenworth, where they endured much suffering and where many of them died.

"I cannot tell how much my heart suffered for my people while at Leavenworth," said Joseph. "The Great Spirit Chief who rules above seemed to be looking some other way and did not see what was being done to my people."

Returned the Wrong Child.

An extraordinary incident has come to light regarding one of the Liverpool corporation hospitals for infectious diseases. A grocer had two children down with scarlet fever, a girl, aged five, and a boy of two. They were removed to the infectious hospital, and in due time the parents were notified that they had recovered and might go home again. When the mother attended at the hospital a baby well wrapped up in shawls was handed to her. On getting home and examining the child more closely the mother began to doubt that it was her own. The father and the other children also declared that the wrong baby had been brought home. The child was thereupon taken back to the hospital, where the father demanded his own offspring. At first he was assured that the right child had been handed over, but his persistent denial caused a search of the hospital, when the proper infant was found.

A Strange Fasting Case.

A fasting case is puzzling the doctors at Ghent. A young girl fell ill at the beginning of November with a kind of dyspepsia, and since that time has not taken any nourishment whatever. Although exceedingly weak, she retains all her faculties.

THERE IS AN OLD STORY

About a man who put green goggles on his horse and tried to feed him shavings. He thought the horse would think the shavings were grass. This seems exaggerated, but how many people are today buying grain containing 2 to 10 per cent dirt, and paying full prices for same, thus injuring the horse and the pocketbook?

To profitably maintain a grain cleaning plant requires a large business, a large business permits lower prices, thus our customers gain both in quality and price.

SPORTING.

COULDN'T BEAT LEAL'S.

HIGH SCHOOL BOYS LOST TO THE CRACK SCHOOL NINE.

Didn't Score for Seven Innings and Then Were Able to Secure Four Runs to Leal's Fifteen.

For seven innings the Plainfield High School boys failed to score at all against the crack baseball nine of Leal's School, in the first game of the series played on the Washington avenue ground yesterday afternoon. Then they managed to get in four runs. The Leal School boys won easily by a score of 15 to 4.

After the drubbing the North Plainfield boys received at the hands of the Leal School team, it was expected that the city High School team would be completely lost. They really made a better showing, however, than the borough boys.

Dupee pitched an excellent game for Leal's. The High School boys made eight hits but they were badly scattered and the base running was also poor. The Mason brothers carried off the honors at base runing.

The Leal boys hit the ball hard and often, batting Denton safely seventeen times. It was Denton's first game, however, and he did very well, steadying up as the game progressed. At times the Plainfield infielders went up into the air and the Leal's school men ran around the bases unhindered. A few of these little experiences proved very costly for the High School team.

The winners made errors, too, but none of them happened to be at all costly. It was a fair game, however, and showed that the High School boys were able to play better ball than they did at their opening game. When those agonizing intervals are overcome, they will make a fair showing against the other local teams.

The teams batted as follows:

The Congregational Association.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

East Orange, April 20.—At the meeting of the Congregational Association of New Jersey Wednesday night, just before the adjournment, it was decided to hold the next annual meeting with the Associated Congregational church, of Baltimore. A committee, consisting of Rev. Oliver Huckel, pastor of the Baltimore church; Rev. Dr. S. M. Newman, of Washington, and William H. Wanamaker, of Philadelphia, was appointed to make the arrangements.

To be Paid 37 1-2 Cents an Hour

The street committee from the Borough Council has made arrangements for the sprinkling of the streets on a basis of 37½ cents an hour to be paid to each of the two men employed to do the work. The work comes under the supervision of the superintendent of highways, Thomas Doud, who will keep a strict account of what is done.

Appointed Administratrix.

Mrs. Underhill, of Watchung, was yesterday appointed administratrix of the estate of her late brother, who died several months ago. The estate is located in North Plainfield township.

PLAN AND SCOPE.

First Meeting Held in Newark, and Industrial Exposition Discussed.

In the Board of Trade rooms in Newark yesterday afternoon the members of the plan and scope committee of the proposed New Jersey Industrial Exposition, to be held in Newark in 1902, held its first meeting.

There were present representatives from Newark, Jersey City, Trenton, Camden, Elizabeth, Dover, Paterson, Orange, Westfield, Bridgeton, Perth Amboy, Montclair, Morristown, Summit, Freehold, Boonton, Asbury Park, Newton, Burlington and other places. Chandler W. Riker, of Newark, was elected permanent chairman of the committee. An address was made by Edmund H. Felder, who was assistant director general of the recent Philadelphia Export Exposition. He gave the committee much valuable information.

There was also an informal discussion on several phases of the Exposition, but no definite action was taken. It was proposed to raise a working capital or fund of at least $1,000,000. The next meeting will be held at the call of the chairman.

Eighth—Charles J. Fisk, Union; George E. Decamp, Essex.

The convention of the Third Congressional district has been set for May 16th at Asbury Park, when the delegates from that district will be chosen.

TO BUILD NEAR CRANFORD.

Richardson, Smith & Co., with Capital of $150,000, is Incorporated.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, April 20—Richardson, Smith & Co. is the latest corporation to file its articles with County Clerk Howard. It has a paid-up capital of 150,000, and it will put up a factory in or near Cranford.

The object of the corporation is to advertise, make, sell or trade books, printed matter, furniture, school books, stationary and general school and office supplies, merchandise, scientific instruments and apparatus.

The life of the company is limited to fifty years, and the incorporators are Alfred W. Richardson, Springfield, Mass.; Stephen J. Cox, Cranford; Victor M. Allen, Albany, N. Y.; Henry D. Harrower, Chatham, and Helen P. Smith, of the borough of Brooklyn.

Edward Nelson, of West Front street, witnessed the production of "Quo Vadis," at the New York Theatre last evening, where his friend, Edward Phillips, of North Plainfield, takes the part of a Christian. Mr. Nelson was favorably impressed with the play.

WONDERFUL ARRAY OF RUMMAGE SALE STUFF

Contributions of Articles for the Charitable Affair Are Now Being Received.

ONE CENT TO FIVE DOLLARS.

THAT IS THE RANGE OF PRICES THAT WILL PREVAIL.

Many Relics Will be Found on Display, Some of Which are Both Unique and Valuable—Large Corps of Women Arranging the Store.

The work of receiving, sorting and pricing the stock for the "Rummage Sale" has begun. Already the store in the Jackson building, where the sale is to be held, is overflowing with a wonderful collection of articles. The store was opened yesterday for the reception of the donations. Monday the vacant store in the Stillman building on West Front street will be made the receiving depot and store house, as the present headquarters cannot accommodate more. The ladies in charge are anxious that prospective donors shall not be discouraged from giving to the sale and promise to gladly receive and care for all that may be sent.

The ladies of the receiving committee, of which Miss Tweedy is chairman, took possession of the store yesterday morning. Six long tables, reaching from the front to the back of the store, were arranged on which to display the wares of the sale. Two wagons were busy all day bringing in the stock. Today the work has been continued unceasingly. The United States Express Company and many of the local expressmen assisted in carting the goods to the store.

Such a varied assortment of everything was never seen before in Plainfield. Nothing is missing expect groceries and canned goods. A great majority of the articles are in good condition, some of them almost new. A few rare old curios have found their way into the collection.

As fast as the things came they were sorted, priced and arranged, if possible, on the tables. Although fifteen of the committee were on duty the goods began to heap up. There are show windows to be arranged, and one of the duties of the afternoon was to give them as unique an appearance as possible. They will receive the finishing touches in time for the opening Wednesday morning.

What a collection there is now spread over the tables. The first table on the right is devoted to articles the price of which is a cent. Then the prices are graded up to as high as $5 for a rare old silver urn. Among the penny collection are a number of paper covered novels. A horse is to be sold for three cents, but as he happens to be of wood he will be of little use as a steed. Bonnets and hats of all styles and ages, from the vintage of 1860 to the latest modern Paris creation, are there.

In the way of clothing, there is a vast assortment for both sexes and all ages. Most of the garments are but little worn and are going to be sold at prices that will bring out some wonderful bargains. Bric-a-bric and fancy articles are distributed on all the tables and form a great collection.

Then there are cook stoves, skates for the small boys, bedsteads, bird cages, kitchen-ware, china, shoes, high hats, soft hats and all other kinds of hats; in fact, there is a little of everything you can think of and some that you can't. It's a great collection and when complete will be well worth a trip to the store to look over. There will be loads of bargains that are bound to attract.

Quite a number of visitors turned up at the store yesterday and today, but it was explained to them that the opening would not take place until Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock. Much interest has been shown in the sale and there is every prospect that the Rummage Sale, for the benefit of Muhlenberg Hospital and the Plainfield Relief Association, two worthy charities, will be a great success.

Problem of the Liquor Traffic.

Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis, editor of the Sabbath Recorder, will address the meeting of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Congregational church tomorrow night at 7:30 o'clock. His subject will be "The Problem of the Liquor Traffic." He spoke on the same subject at Trinity Reformed church several months ago and advanced some radically new ideas on the subject. All are invited to attend the meeting tomorrow night.

GIRLS' LITERARY CLUBS.

FOUR NEW ORGANIZATIONS FORMED AT PLAINFIELD HIGH SCHOOL.

Last Period on Friday's Devoted to Club Meetings While the Young Men Attend Battalion Drill.

Four literary societies have been organized among the young women of the Plainfield High School and hold their meetings every Friday. They did not meet yesterday on account of the holiday. The societies were formed under the auspices of the faculty and were intended to occupy the time of the young women during the last period when the young men are all absent for drill.

The members of the Senior and Junior classes have united to form one society which is under the charge of the principal, Ira Winthrop Travell and Miss Ellen E. Niles. New presiding and recording officers are elected at each meeting to give the young women an opportunity to learn something of the methods employed in conducting a meeting. Then there is a drill in parliamentary law and a programme which includes readings, recitations, debates and charades.

The Third class forms the second of the literary societies and is in charge of Miss S. Lena Bass and Ralph Campbell, of the faculty. This organization has a permanent chairman and secretary, but otherwise is conducted on a similar plan to that of the Seniors and Juniors.

The young women from the Fourth class have another organization which is looked after by Miss Alice M. Whitney and George Weeks Sandford, of the faculty. It is conducted as the others. The fourth society is formed from the High School preparatory classes and is directed by Miss Benedict and Mrs. Buck, the instructors of those classes.

The societies have been found a decided success during the few weeks that they have been tried. Before their organization the last period was devoted to study and recitation. Classes with all the young men absent did not prove satisfactory and so it was decided to adopt some plan to look after the young women.

JERSEYMAN'S BIG WAR CLAIM.

F. W. Armstrong, of Asbury Park, Wants $86,494 37.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Washington, April 21—Congressman Howell introduced a bill in the House recently for the relief of Frederick W. Armstrong, of Asbury Park. The bill authorized the payment of an old war claim of $86,494 37, being the amount of certificates of indebtedness owned by him and issued by authority of the State of Missouri to officers and privates of militia forces of the State for military services actually performed in the suppression of the rebellion, and to citizens of that State for necessary supplies actually furnished to said militia forces. The bill was referred to the committee on war claims.

Christian Endeavor Missionary League.

Arrangements have been perfected for the eighth annual convention of the Christian Endeavor Missionary League of the Reformed (Dutch) church, which will be held in New Brunswick. The opening session will be at 2:30 p. m., May 2d, and the conference will last two days. Among those who have promised to speak are Rev. Cornelius Brett, D. D., president of the Board of Domestic Missions; Dr. Charles H. Pool, its secretary, and Rev. W. W. Clark, its field secretary; Rev. Jas. M. Farrar, D. D., of Brooklyn, and Rev. D. Sage Mackay, D. D., of New York. A pleasant feature of the conference will be the union meeting with the students of the New Brunswick Theological Seminary in Hertzog Hall Thursday morning, when a conference for workers will be led by A. L. Warnshius, of the seminary. The larger portion of the afternoon session will be devoted to the Junior societies. Among the missionaries who will speak are Rev. H. V. S. Peeke, Miss Leila Winn, Rev. Lewis R. Scudder and Dr. John Cross, one of the representatives to the Ecumenical Conference.

To Tap Small Towns With Telephone.

The New York and New Jersey Telephone Company has about decided to run a telephone line through to Watchung and the small towns beyond, and the chances are that the work will be started this summer. Telephones will be established at convenient points. The residents will appreciate this convenience as it will bring them in closer touch with the outside world and give them an idea of how things are going.

To Lay Crosswalks Next Week.

The work of laying several crosswalks in the borough will commence next week. The contractors, Manhattan & Cashin, have not yet received their flagging, which is now on the road.

VICTORY FOR JERSEY TARS.

Reserves Who Served on the Resolute Will Secure Both Medals and Prize Money.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, April 21.—There is rejoicing among the New Jersey Naval Reserves who served on the transport ship Resolute over news just received that the claims that that ship participated in the battle of Santiago will be fully recognized.

The Resolute was attached to Admiral Sampson's fleet, and was manned by reserves from New Jersey, particularly from Camden and Haddonfield, under charge of Lieutenant Braddock. In the action of July 3d, the Resolute was situated about half a mile from the battleship Indiana, but in Admiral Sampson's report both the Resolute and the Indiana were not considered.

The officers of the Indiana at once took the matter up and appealed to the Resolute's officers for testimony as to the position of the Indiana in the fight. Admiral Sampson, however, now announces that it was an error to overlook both the Indiana and Resolute, and besides medals provided for under an act of Congress, the tars will receive a portion of prize money to be divided among them.

LITTLE TOTS WANDERED OFF.

Parents Couldn't Find Them and Were Greatly Worried—Chief Campbell Hunted Them Up.

Chief Campbell, of the borough, was kept busy yesterday searching for two small children that wandered away from their parents. The two-year old boy of Dr. Emerson, of Washington avenue, wandered away early in the morning and the parents were greatly concerned about him. After several hours he was found in Washington Park about a mile from home. He was alone and did not seem disturbed in the least, but was glad to get back home again.

The four-year old daughter of Milkman Hensen, of Stelton, wandered away from her father while he was delivering milk on Somerset street yesterday morning. Chief Campbell was called upon to institute a search. After a time she was found at Nitschwitz & Kitchen's feed store on Watchung avenue. She was also glad to be brought back and declared that she would never wander again.

HARMONY AT ELIZABETH BANQUET.

Politicians Enjoy Themselves and Listen to Several Speeches.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, April 21.—The political dinner given Thursday night by the Elizabeth Club was a successful affair. Covers were laid for 100. Charles H. K. Halsey, president of the club, was toastmaster and was flanked on one side by Congressman Fowler and on the other by Mayor Mack.

The speakers at the affair were Congressman Fowler, who was given a warm reception; Mayor Mack, Speaker B. F. Jones, of the New Jersey Assembly; Former Assemblyman George A. Squire, Assemblyman Leon Abbett and Editor Charles C. McBride. Assemblymen Jones and Abbett, together with Mayor Mack and Mr. Fowler, were the social lions of the evening, and their speeches were cheered to the echo.

The Congressman's boom was in a healthy and vigorous condition in Elizabeth judging from Thursday night's demonstration. Frank Bergen, his rival for the nomination, was conspicuous by his absence.

The Printer-Farmers.

Another delegation of printers arrived at Bound Brook Monday and for an hour or so the town was quite wideawake. There are about thirty-four at the Printers' Farm now, more to come, all turning up ground to beat the band. A potato planter that puts in the fertilizer, drops the potato and covers it up is the newest addition and the boys are all happy thereat, for while they are not in favor of the science that created the typesetting machines yet one and all declare for the planter. They are going in for big results this year.

New Type of Locomotives.

Two new locomotives for the Central Railroad passed through Plainfield this morning. They were of the large type of engines, made at the Baldwin Locomotive Works in Philadelphia, and were numbered respectively 2012 and 2013.

Administrator of Mellick Estate.

It is reported that Mr. Morris, of Stelton, father of Luther M. Morris of West Front street, has been appointed administrator of the estate of the late Henry Mellick, who died recently, leaving a large amount of money.

SIDEWALKS WILL BE LAID IN THE BOROUGH.

After Giving a Hearing on the Ordinance, the Council Decides to Adopt It.

DOZEN PROTESTS, THOUGH.

A REASONABLE TIME WILL BE ALLOWED TO COMPLY WITH LAW.

The Ordinance Explained by Senator Reed, Who Said That it Would Not Work Hardships—To Take Effect May 18 h.

An adjourned meeting of the Borough Council was held last evening chiefly for the purpose of discussing the new sidewalk ordinance, which was adopted on its first reading at the regular meeting this month. All of the members were present and there were about a dozen taxpayers on hand to be heard against the ordinance.

The first business taken up was the reading of the written protests to the ordinance. Mrs. Fred VanEmburgh, occupying the property on Westervelt avenue owned by Mrs. Curry, entered a protest for the owner. Dr. H. K. Carroll protested on behalf of himself and then again in a petition against the laying of flagging on Westervelt avenue. L. M. Codington protested on behalf of Somerset street, Watchung avenue and Codington avenue. J. F. Wilson protested against the enforcement of the ordinance on Greenbrook road between Somerset street and Grove street. P. M. French and Elston M. French also protested on behalf of the same street. The latter represented the Haviland property, and altogether presented protests for 2,435 feet, which is two-thirds of the property owned on the street. All of the protests were in writing.

The ordinance was then ordered read for the second time, after which at the suggestion of Mayor Smalley, Borough Counsel Reed stated the reasons for adopting such an ordinance. He cited the fact that the courts had decided that a walk is a benefit to the extent of the cost of laying and they have given boroughs power to lay such walks. The law now says that a thirty day notice shall be given each property-owner before the borough can lay a walk in front of his property and charge him for it. The present ordinance does not provide for that, hence its illegality. Mr. Reed stated that where fifty per cent of property-owners on a street object to the ordinance being enforced that street can be omitted. The ordinance, he said, is practically the same as the old one except for the thirty day notice provision.

The meeting was then thrown open for a hearing, and L. B. Woolston, who was one of those who signed the petition asking for the adoption of the ordinance, admitted that when he signed he did not realize what he was doing. Later in the evening, after Mr. Woolston heard the other arguments and the explanation of the ordinance, he changed his mind and favored the adoption of the ordinance.

George P. Dupee had the impression that as soon as the ordinance was adopted walks would be laid under compulsion at once. After it was explained that such was not the case, he favored the ordinance. Mr. Reed assured him that plenty of time would be given all owners to lay walks.

Elston M. French at this time objected to the ordinance so far as it included Greenbrook road. He maintained that stone walks are not a necessity and inasmuch as no walks had been laid there during the past six years under the old ordinance and that the officials have no intention of enforcing the new ordinance on that street, it would be useless to include Greenbrook road in it.

Martin I. Cooley came to the meeting prejudiced, but finally said that he did not believe it was necessary to flag Greenbrook road, but if it was necessary to include that street to insure the adoption of the ordinance he would favor the adoption rather than defeat the project.

Harry Webb, editor of The Weekly Review, spoke rather in favor of the ordinance. He was followed by Mayor Smalley who made some stirring remarks about the laying of sidewalks on Somerset street from Codington avenue to Johnston's Drive, and thought the time would come when there would be demand for a walk on one side of Greenbrook road.

Councilman Clark favored the ordinance, and stated that it was not the intention or purpose of the Council to do anyone an injustice. He considered it only right and business-like that such an ordinance should be in force so that the Council could have a

CHRISTIAN AMUSEMENT.

Rev. Mr. Reed Says That Innocent Games Should Not Come Under the Ban.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Ocean Grove, April 21.—In yesterday's session of the New Jersey Epworth League convention Rev. J. Morgan Reed, of Atlantic City, the newly-elected president, condemned the section on amusements in the Methodist Book of Discipline. Mr. Reed's criticism was the result of a recommendation by the committee on resolutions that the convention stand "firmly and unequivocally" for the retention of the section. Said Mr. Reed:

"This section is a dead letter and inconsistent. Even the Bishops cannot interpret it. There is a decided difference of opinion whether parcheesi, authors, old maids and other innocent games come under the ban of the section. You cannot harness people's consciences. A Christian will be a Christian in life."

The resolution was adopted, notwithstanding the president's opposition. Another commotion was started by S. S. Wetherby, of Camden, who said:

"The domineering influences of the rich in our churches are a stigma upon the Christian religion. I do not believe the church should cater to the rich or poor as apart from one another. I believe when the church caters to the rich it stoops to base servility."

Rev. Dr. John Handley, of Camden, upheld Mr. Wetherby's position. The convention, after selecting Trenton as the place for the next convention, elected the following officers: President, Rev. J. Morgan Read, of Atlantic City; vice-presidents, Rev. M. E. Snyder, of New Brunswick; Annie Youder, of Salem; Helen Jeffries, of Camden, and Sarah E. Lenhart, of New Brunswick; secretary, Harry D. Hendrickson, of Long Branch; treasurer, Joseph P. Severns, of Burlington, and superintendent of junior work, S. H. Thompson, of Camden.

LITERALLY A NIGHT OFF.

Society Will Certainly Turn Out in Large Numbers to See Amateur Dramatic Talent.

A full dress rehearsal will be held at Music Hall on Monday evening, April 31st, of Augustin Daly's play "A Night Off," that is to be given under the auspices of the society folk May 1st.

A number of invitations have been issued to friends of those taking part in the performance, granting them permission to be present at the rehearsal, to which admission is by invitation only.

At last evening's rehearsal the amateurs gave evidence of considerable ability and carried their lines fairly well. There is a probability that standing room will be at a premium the night of the play.

All society people have arranged to literally take a night off on the occasion and show their appreciation of Former Mayor Saunders' efforts to produce something in the amateur theatrical line that will be meritorious as well as result in financial benefit to charity.

SUED THE WIFE.

Now She Claims That Her Husband is Liable for the Claim That E. D. Barrett Makes.

The contract case of E. D. Barrett against Mrs. Julia K. Lang, of the borough, was tried before Justice Smalley yesterday afternoon. W. K. McClure represented the plaintiff, and Senator Reed the defendant. The suit was brought to recover between $90 and $100 which plaintiff said was due him for installing a furnace and doing other work in Mrs. Lang's country home at Union Village. It was claimed that she had ordered the work done and was liable. The defense claimed that Mrs. Lang's husband was liable and he should pay the bill. After hearing both sides of the case Justice Smalley reserved his decision until Monday.

Died of an Incurable Disease.

After a long illness with an incurable disease, Mrs. Mary A. Curran, aged 35 years, wife of John Curran, of 937 Arlington avenue, died yesterday afternoon. She was the daughter of Thomas Savord, of South Plainfield, and was born at that place. She is survived by a husband and three children. The funeral services will be held from the house Monday morning at 8:30 o'clock and from St. Mary's church at 9 o'clock. Interment will be in St. Mary's cemetery.

Pawnee Bill Coming.

J. Henry Rice, advance man for Pawnee Bill's Wild West Show, has been in town for several days making arrangements for the show which will come to Plainfield May 11th. It is claimed that the show this year excells that of any previous year.

TO FIGHT BOCK'S CLAIM.

BOROUGH WILL NOT AGREE TO EXEMPTION FROM TAXES.

To be Heard Before State Board of Taxation—Want Duer Street Changed to Hamilton Avenue.

In addition to the public hearing at the adjourned meeting of the Mayor and Borough Council last evening, there were a few matters that were considered prior to the hearing. L. A. Hummer and others asked for a crosswalk at the corner of Somerset street and Linden avenue.

J. H. VanWinkle and others petitioned the council to change the name of Duer street to Hamilton avenue. This name is thought to be more desirable than the present name or that of Madison avenue. The matter was referred to the street committee.

Charles Bock petitioned the council as an exempt fireman for exemption from certain taxes for the years 1896, 1897 and 1898. He presented a lengthy communication in which he said that he appeared before the State Board of Taxation and stated his case and he believed that he was entitled to a rebate. He also said that he went before the Commissioners Appeal, but the exemption had not been allowed.

Counsel Reed said that Mr. Bock had not been before the State Board of Taxation and that he had admitted that fact. He then asked the Council for permission to call such witnesses as he would need when the case will come up before the State Board next week Thursday at Newark. The Council adopted a resolution authorizing Mr. Reed to defend them in the case.

A number of residents and property owners on Myrtle avenue, between Giraud and West End avenues, asked the Council to accept their street and properly light the same. Mr. Rogers suggested that this be done at once, but Mr. Valiant raised the question as to whether all the property owners had signed the petition. He was informed that those who were not on the petition had already dedicated their property and macadamized the street. After discussing the matter at some length it was finally decided to refer it to the street committee and it will be acted upon at the next regular meeting.

NOT YET FINISHED.

Last Trolley Link Between Roselle and Elizabeth Will Not be Ready Till Monday.

The announcement that the Elizabeth and West Street Railway had completed its line through to Elizabeth, was denied this morning by Superintendent John Adelmann, of the trolley company. The connecting link between Elizabeth and Roselle was not finished, he said. Work has been delayed by the rain and the tracks would not be ready for use before Monday afternoon. It was then intended to run to run a car from Elizabeth to the B. & O. crossing at Cranford Junction and there transfer the passengers to another car on this end of the line. The material for the bridge over the B. & O. tracks has not yet been received but is expected in a short time.

Strawride From South Orange.

About twenty young people from South Orange enjoyed a straw ride to this city last evening and stopped at the Hotel Kensington, where they had supper. It was nearly 11 o'clock when the party arrived and it was quite late when they departed for home. All had a good time and enjoyed the excellent supper served. Among those in the party were the Misses Cort, Salisbury, Christian, Prior, Smith, Wheeler, Tracy, Griffin and Messrs. Burghardt, Kitchell, Kilburn, Brainerd, Cort, Prior, Gardener, Dean and VanIderstine.

Still at Odds.

Charles Bock and James Sisser, who are having troubles of their own as to who shall open a saloon on Somerset street, near the bridge, have not yet come to an agreement. A conference was appointed for last Wednesday, but it did not take place, owing to the failure of one of the parties to show up. Both are still hoping that an agreement will be reached soon so that the place can be opened. The work of improvment has ceased, and it will take sometime to complete it when work is resumed.

Appointed by Governor Voorhees.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, April 21—Governor Voorhees yesterday issued commissions to Major Lewis T. Bryant, of Atlantic City, and Major John K. Beam, of Paterson, as lieutenant-colonels and assistant inspectors-general, under the new National Guard law. They will perform the work that has heretofore been done by Colonel Charles Bolt Wood, of the First Brigade, and Colonel Daniel B. Murphy, of the Second Brigade.

ETXORTION CHARGE AGAINST JUSTICE.

Somerset County Grand Jury Indicted John Dunster, of Bernardsville.

OFFERED TO "FIX MATTERS."

IT IS ALLEGED THAT DUNSTER RECEIVED $100 FOR SUCH WORK.

His Charge of Libel Made Against Editor Wells Was Thrown Out and Investigation Resulted in His Own Indictment.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, April 21.—John B. Dunster, Justice of the Peace, of Bernardsville, was arraigned before the Somerset Court yesterday charged with using his office to extort money from those who came before his court. The Grand Jury indicted him after listening to the testimony of a large proportion of the residents of Bernardsville. The facts as brought to the attention of the Grand Jury indicate that the alleged illegal practices have been going on for a long time, but that they were not brought to light until Justice Dunster and John E. Wells, editor of The Bernardsville News, had a misunderstanding last fall, which made them deadly enemies.

After their trouble Wells began an investigation of Dunster's official acts and this resulted in the publication of a series of articles and affidavits alleging that Dunster for a money consideration had permitted the sale of beer and other liquor on Sunday, promising the guilty parties immunity from punishment. The money was actually paid over according to the affidavits. These affidavits charged that after a resident had been arrested, brought before Dunster and fined under the disorderly act Dunster offered for $10 to "fix matters" with the court at Somerville. A short time after, it was alleged, Dunster had procured another $10 in the same way, and from one person over $100. Other alleged irregularities of a similar nature were charged.

Dunster wrote to The News and demanded a retraction of the articles, but this only led to a reiteration of the statements made and a threat to publish more affidavits. Then Dunster had Wells arrested for criminal libel. He was brought before the Grand Jury in Somerville Tuesday, but no indictment was found. Instead, through witnesses brought by Wells, Dunster was indicted on the technical charge of attempting to compound misdemeanors. Dunster pleaded not guilty to this charge, and he will be tried May 16th.

James J. Bergen will be his counsel. Prosecutor James L. Griggs will conduct the case for the State.

Prohibitionists to Organize.

For the purpose of stimulating an interest in the cause of prohibition a movement is now on foot to organize a Prohibition League in the borough, and if possible extend it throughout Somerset county. Efforts will be made to get the league in operation before the next election so that effective work may be accomplished. William Lunger is at the head of the movement in the borough, and a meeting will be held at an early date to take steps toward the formation of such an organization.

Democrats Ask for a Recount.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, April 21.—The Democratic leaders in this city are going to contest the recent election of Aldermen in the Eighth and Twelfth wards. In the former Aldermen Kleinhaus, Democrat, who was regarded as sure to win, was beaten by 11 votes by Harry A. Rath, Republican. In the Twelfth, where Edward Nugent, Democrat, got almost 100 Republican votes, he was defeated by 15. The Democratic leaders assert that a recount will seat both the defeated candidates.

Little Fellow's Birthday.

Master Roy Hafner, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Hafner, of Watchung avenue, celebrated the second anniversary of his birthday yesterday and in the afternoon the event was pleasantly celebrated. The little fellow's parents gave him a party and invited a number of his young friends to be present and join in the festivities.

Sodden Roads Hinder Troops on Free State Frontier.

WEPENER RELIEF FORCE HEARD FROM

Boers In Natal Beginning Guerrilla Warfare—Natives Forced to Bear Arms—Advance From Bloemfontein to Be Made Soon.

LONDON, April 21.—General Chermside and General Rundle are moving over the sodden roads. Rain was still falling when they went into camp Thursday afternoon 18 miles west of Dewetsdorp. They hold the railway and the southern frontier of the Free State with 20,000 men.

How many are going with the generals who will engage the Boers at Wepener is not mentioned in the latest dispatch from Oorlogspoort, where the British bivouacked Wednesday night. The field telegraph ends there.

General White, if not required in South Africa, will go as governor of Gibraltar toward the end of May.

The Ladysmith correspondent of The Daily News says:

"The Boers in Natal are already commencing a guerrilla warfare. Both the Transvaalers and the Free Staters are compelling the natives to bear arms.

"General Buller has ordered all the farmers between Ladysmith and the Drakensberg range to retire to Estcourt."

The Ladysmith correspondent of The Standard says:

"There is good reason to believe that the Boer raids are intended to cover the enemy's withdrawal from Natal in order to help the Boers in opposing the advance of Lord Roberts."

The Bloemfontein correspondent of The Daily Telegraph, telegraphing Friday, says:

"The weather is now fine. The enemy still holds the water works, and our scouts report that the Boers have a line of outposts and small commandoes 15 miles east of Bloemfontein from the Modder river to the Kaffir river."

The Bloemfontein correspondent of The Times, telegraphing Friday, says:

"Major General Prettyman has been appointed military governor of the whole territory which hitherto belonged to the Free State. This extension of our authority has become necessary to preserve law and order. The arrests of suspected Free Staters continue."

The Bloemfontein correspondent of The Morning Post, telegraphing April 19, says:

"There is already a 30 foot flood of the Caledon river, which is reported to be still rising. All the drifts on the Modder river are impassable. Traffic is temporarily interrupted southward, the water having washed the ballast from the line of the railway.

"The country about Bloemfontein is so deep in mud that the farmers' carts are unable to reach the town. We had a heavy rain last night. Today the weather is improving, but progress will be impossible until the roads are in a better condition.

"Strenuous efforts are being made to rearrange the transport to meet the requirements of the enlarged army.

"In view of the impending advance anxiety increases among the troops concerning the future of the garrison at Bloemfontein, every one hating the thought of being left there.

"There has been no increase of sickness."

A dispatch from Maseru, Basutoland, dated April 19, says:

"The Boers continue to move freely around Wepener, going in all directions from which relief columns are expected. Desultory cannon fire and sniping have been going on all day, with scarcely any reply from Colonel Dalgety's force.

"The Caledon river rose considerably during the night. This made the Boers uneasy, as they fear separation. Some re-enforcements have arrived for them, coming apparently from Thaba N'Chu or that direction.

"Our casualties up to date are believed to have been 25 killed and 110 wounded.

"Owing to the heavy rain and clouds heliographing has been impossible for the last two days.

"The Boers who lately surrendered in the Wepener district have been forced again with violence to fight. Ten of their leaders have been arrested.

"President Steyn has issued orders to the Boer forces to hold tight to the grain districts of Wepener, Ladybrand and Ficksburg, from which they draw their food supplies, and also to prevent the British forces from getting the rich supplies now in those districts."

Heavy Boer Losses Reported.

ALIWAL NORTH, April 21.—Captain Little of Brabant's horse, Lieutenant Holbeck and Mr. Milne, a Reuter correspondent, fell into the hands of the enemy while they were trying to reach Wepener a week ago. Everything was taken from the prisoners, who were sent to Pretoria. Their native servants, who escaped from the Boer langer near Wepener, say that there were four guns disabled and that the Boers had lost 100 in killed alone. It is also ascertained that the Boers made a night attack on April 11, but were discovered while creeping along a deep ditch by Cape mounted rifles with Maxims, who fired into them at a distance of 200 yards, with the result that the Boers lost five wagon loads of killed and wounded. A simultaneous attack in other quarters was repulsed by the British, who used their bayonets. The Boers still surround Wepener, but there has been little firing lately.

The Boers at Biggarsberg.

ELANDSLAAGTE, April 21.—Wednesday the British patrols discovered another party of Boers on the British left in the same position from which the enemy recently fired on the South African horse. In this instance, however, there was no firing. Native deserters confirm previous statements with respect to the fortifications and strength of the Boers along the Biggarsberg range. The enemy have recently established a large hospital, which is already filled, and similar hospitals are being established by them at the various railway towns. The Boers are losing many horses. The rank and file are not allowed to forage for supplies. Their sugar is exhausted, and only bush tea is available. The Boers are reported to wish to leave the Biggarsberg and take up a position at Majuba, but the commandants refuse.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

The Tommy Shearer company will open an engagement Monday evening for six nights and matinees Wednesday and Saturday at Music Hall. This organization is one of surpassing excellence, including the comedian, Tommy Shearer, and the versatile actress, Isabelle Fletcher, presenting a high-class repertoire of royalty plays. Each will be produced in a manner to suit the most critical and please any audience. Monday evening they appear in the funniest comedy on the American stage, "The Girl from Porto Rico." Elegant stage settings and costumes are used in this production. Up-to-date specialties are introduced between acts by vaudeville artists especially engaged for this feature of each performance. Prices 10, 20 and 30 cents. Ladies' tickets issued for Monday evening, limited to 300. Matinee prices, 10 cents for children and 20 cents for adults.

Some Interesting Figures.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—In course of investigation connected with some work I am engaged in, I find the following data which may, at this time, be of some interest to people who are traveling about in the vicinity of Plainfield on their bicycles. It will be very interesting to know that street railroading in our vicinity is much less costly than among the hills of New England, Pennsylvania or Northern New York. The grades are extremely light in most any direction. The cost of operation is correspondingly light. Most of the heights noted below are at the railway stations in the respective towns:

All Going to the Circus.

Everybody is talking about Ringling Bros', famous big circus, which is to exhibit in New Brunswick, Thursday, April 26th. Several big excursions will go from this vicinity, and the popularity of the show will insure an enormous crowd. People from this locality should make an especial effort to arrive in time to see the new free street carnival which precedes the exhibition every morning at 10 o'clock. The procession is divided into thirty enormous sections, each of which is a complete parade, and presents in its entirety a bewilderingly-magnificent two-mile carnival of pageantry such as the world has never seen. In this gorgeous display are shown over 100 beautiful dens and cages of wild animals, 500 horses, 25 elephants and nearly a thousand people, and the costumes throughout are of the finest silks, satins, velvet and cloth of gold. The performance that follows is the most magnificent arenic display ever presented by any circus in America.

THE STRIKE WANING.

Many Italians Return to Work on Croton Dam.

CONTRACTORS YIELD TO WOMEN'S PLEA

Anarchists Said to Be Urging Men to Resist—Prisoners Arraigned and Two Sent to Jail—Hearing For Others Today.

CROTON DAM, N. Y., April 21.—The same men who reported on Thursday to the summons of the whistle at 7 a. m. reported for work again yesterday morning, bringing a dozen more with them. At the quarry 132 men appeared for work. This was 52 more than Thursday. In all 312 men went to work, and at noon this number was increased to about 380. This is about half the number at work before the strike.

The contractors announced that the places of the strikers would be kept open until noon yesterday and that all that wished to return to work could do so. Accordingly after the noon hour it was announced no strikers would be taken back, and it was said their places would be filled with new men. The contractors announced that in response to appeals from some of the Italian women the limit for going back to work had been extended until Monday morning. The women said their husbands, sons and relatives had gone to New York or other places so as not to be in any way mixed up in any trouble there might be at the dam and had not returned, but would do so as soon as possible, and they urged the time limit had been too short.

The officials have been searching everywhere for William Cassala, one of the leaders of the strikers for whom a warrant has been issued, but so far no trace of him has been found. It is reported that there are three anarchists in the camp of the Italian strikers and that they have been urging the men to keep up the fight. An Italian deputy has been at work among the strikers trying to identify them and to arrest them if possible.

The seven Italians who were arrested Thursday without warrants were arraigned before Justice of the Peace Baker, at Croton Landing. They were charged with carrying concealed weapons and threatening life and property. Two of the prisoners, Joseph Farmossa and Dominee Musira, waived examination and were sent to the White Plains jail to await the action of the grand jury. The five other prisoners insisted upon having an examination, and their cases were set down for a hearing today before Justice Baker.

The contractors' paymaster arrived here last night and will pay out $30,000 due the men.

General Roe said that from present indications the troops would not have to stay here much longer. The soldiers will probably remain over until Tuesday or Wednesday, however, to see that the new workmen are not interfered with. The places of the strikers not filled on Monday will be filled on Tuesday by new men from New York.

Sentenced to Twenty-five Years.

KANSAS CITY, April 21.—C. E. Moreledge, an actor who last winter held up two restaurants and a saloon in the center of the business district single handed in order to get money sufficient to put his company on the road, has been found guilty in the circuit court here and sentenced to 25 years in the penitentiary. He pleaded insanity. His career as portrayed by witnesses in the case showed him to be a veritable Mulberry Sellers.

Atlanta Shops In Receiver's Hands.

ATLANTA, April 21.—The Southern Agricultural works, a large farm implement manufacturing company of this city, has been placed in the hands of a receiver. George W. Parrott was named by Judge Newman of the United States district court as the receiver. He is instructed to investigate the financial condition of the company and report to the court whether a trustee should be appointed.

Japanese Dislike Us.

LONDON, April 21.—The Daily Mail publishes a letter from Yokohama describing the "growth of anti-American feeling" in Japan. The writer says: "This development is due to the harsh treatment the Japanese have received in Hawaii and to the belief that the United States will stop Japanese immigration to Hawaii. The feeling is calculated to lead to a deplorable war of tariffs and to retaliatory restrictions."

Will Not Rebuild.

UTICA, N. Y., April 21.—The executive committee of the state Universalist convention has decided against the rebuilding of the Clinton liberal institute at Fort Plain, and after the present school year what is left of the institution will be transferred to and made a part of the St. Lawrence university, Canton, St. Lawrence county.

Lake Michigan Opens.

HOUGHTON, Mich., April 21.—Navigation has opened here with the arrival of two steamships from Duluth. The iron mines at Ishpeming and Negaunee will begin shipping ore by rail to the Marquette and Escanaba ore docks next Monday. Every indication points to the largest year's business in the iron ore, coal and general trade ever known on Lake Superior.

Pilgrims Flock to St. Peter's.

ROME, April 21.—Twelve thousand pilgrims, among whom were 3,000 foreigners, attended the papal reception at St. Peter's cathedral yesterday. The pope, who was supported by 40 cardinals, looked wonderfully well. He pronounced the benediction in a clear voice.

Bonds For Exchange.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—The amount of bonds so far exchanged at the treasury for new 2 per cents is $250,061,300, of which $40,346,700 was received from individuals and institutions other than national banks.

Russia and Korea Agree.

SEOUL, April 21.—An agreement has been concluded between the Russian and Korean governments, Korea pledging herself not to alienate Kopje island at the mouth of Masampho harbor.

Dreyfus In Switzerland.

GENEVA, April 21.—Former Captain Dreyfus arrived here at noon yesterday and drove with his nephew, M. Paul Valabregue, to Cologny, where he has taken a villa for the season.

BUSINESS DISTURBED.

Reductions In Iron—Textile Industries Have Large Orders.

NEW YORK, April 21.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

Apart from the disturbance in speculation there has been produced a measure of distrust regarding prices that are maintained by the great combinations which may for the present tend to deter buying. In the iron business the formal reductions were almost wholly anticipated in actual sales, of which this paper has given record. To that extent they only recognized existing facts. Some urgent and important contracts have been made, including that for the New York tunnel, requiring 70,000 tons at prices not stated, but it is known that many others have been deferred until the prospect is clearer.

The textile industries have large orders yet to be filled, which keep many of the mills busy, but there are many others less fortunate, and their hunt for orders without much regard for prices causes irregularity in the lines not of established position. The staple woolen and worsted goods hold steadily, as the makers need no more contracts, but in less favored lines both for men's wear and in dress goods the business is by no means satisfactory. Wool has been inactive without change in prices. Cotton goods are by some sold at concessions for future delivery, as all realize that present prices will not long control cost of production.

Wheat has declined a fraction in price, and corn advanced a fraction, both markets being rendered comparatively inactive by certainty that the remaining foreign requirements will be easily met.

Money continues easy, treasury payments and receipts from the interior having added about $3,500,000 to the supply of New York banks, and London's purchases of stocks have exceeded sales by about 50,000 shares for the week. The volume of business continues heavy, the earnings of railroads in April having exceeded last year's by 11.4 per cent thus far and those of 1898 by 21.4 per cent.

Failures for the week have been 184 in the United States against 184 last year and 17 in Canada against 22 last year.

TURKEY MUST NOT DELAY.

United States Will Insist on Payment of Armenian Indemnity.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—The state department is waiting for Turkey to make the next move in the Armenian indemnity negotiations. Ali Ferrouh Bey, the sultan's representative here, has informed his government of the positive attitude of the United States, and it is expected that he will receive some instructions on the subject. Until something more is heard from Turkey the matter must rest, so far as the United States is concerned, until Turkey delays answering for too long a time. The government has no intention, however, of permitting the negotiations to drag along.

Despite the repeated statements of Ali Ferrouh Bey that his government never acknowledged its liability for the Armenian outrages or promised to pay, it is learned that the acknowledgment of liability was made by the sultan personally three times to Minister Straus, and on each occasion the sultan assured Mr. Straus that he would have the porte put in writing his personal promise that the indemnity would be paid. Mr. Straus endeavored to secure this written pledge, but met with failure, although the sultan continued to assure him that it would be given. The state department accepts Mr. Straus' statement and will use it as a basis for insisting on the payment of the money.

Many Japanese Immigrants.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—Assistant Secretary Taylor of the treasury department has received a telegram from the immigrant inspector at Port Townshend in which he states that 1,000 Japanese immigrants were landed at that port Thursday, and 2,000 are expected to arrive today. In consequence of this sudden increase in the arrival of orientals he is unable to make the necessary examinations unaided and asks for authority to employ additional help. Mr. Taylor has wired him authority to employ three emergency assistants.

Government to Open Truth's Letters.

BOSTON, April 21.—Twelve sacks of mail addressed to Francis Truth, the divine healer, who was arrested recently, charged with fraud, have been impounded by the United States government under the usual "fraud order." Many of the thousands of letters contained in the 12 mail sacks carry money for "absent treatment." Truth's usual charge was $5 for absent treatment, so that necessarily the amount of money contained in the letters is very large.

New York Democratic Convention.

NEW YORK, April 21.—The Democratic state committee, with three-quarters of its members present, met in the Hoffman House yesterday and decided to hold the state convention for the election of national delegates and state committeemen in the Academy of Music in this city on June 5 at 11 o'clock. There was no contest, although Albany had been a rival candidate for the honor, and the committee was in session only a brief while.

Jumped From Brooklyn Bridge.

NEW YORK, April 21.—Marie Rosalie Dinse, a pretty young woman who apparently has no friends in this country and who became penniless through unfortunate business associations, jumped from the Brooklyn bridge at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. She survived the awful plunge, and the doctors of the Hudson Street hospital say she will recover.

The Messenger Reaches Paris.

PARIS, April 21.—James Francis Smith, the American District Telegraph boy who is bearing to President Kruger a message of sympathy from Philadelphia and New York schoolboys, has arrived here. He will sail from Marseilles April 26, but before leaving he will have an interview with Dr. Leyds at The Hague.

Steamboat Company Absorbed.

NEW HAVEN, April 21.—According to information that leaked out last night in a most peculiar way, the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad company has absorbed the New Haven Steamboat company, which involves both freight and passenger boat traffic between Providence and New York.

Transferred to Auburn.

SING SING, April 21.—Fifty class B convicts were removed from the state prison here yesterday to Auburn.

The New Spring Goods.

NOW OPEN.

We are now showing our entire line of the New Spring Goods for women's wear. Each department is full to overflowing with Fashion's latest and best, including many novelties that are entirely exclusive. We have made many notable opening displays in the past, but none to approach this one either in scope or beauty. A word or two of four specially noteworthy exhibits:

THE TRIMMED MILLINERY.

The Millinery display this season is superb, much larger and more beautiful than that of any previous year. Our assortment of imported Hats, Bonnets and Toques includes the best designs of the most famous milliners of Paris. Our own workrooms are also splendidly represented with a magnificent collection, embracing all that is new in shape, color and trimming. It is a display that every woman should see.

IN THE UNTRIMMED HAT DEPARTMENT

you will find the largest and best selected assortment in New York, one big enough to please the most exacting woman, for it includes all the popular shapes, braids and colors, as well as several designs that were made specially for us. In this department you will also find an elegant variety of CHILDREN'S TRIMMED HATS, both for school and dress wear.

The New Costumes, Wraps and Separate Skirts.

Our Big Cloak and Suit Showroom contains everything that is new in style and material, from the modest priced garment to the most exclusive imported novelty. Every line is now complete, and we believe a visit of inspection will prove both interesting and instructive. Just a hint.

TAILOR-MADE SUITS.

Our stock of the new Men Tailored Suits is especially noteworthy. It includes all the choice novelties in material and shape, as well as a number designed especially to our order. As none but the best makers are represented, every suit is perfect in workmanship and fit. The prices range from 9.98 to 75.00.

IN THE BIG COLORED DRESS GOODS SECTIONS

will be seen the productions of the best European makers in great variety, as well as the newest and choicest fabrics woven by American looms. It is an exhibit that is specially noteworthy, and one that every woman should see, for it includes all the popular moderate priced fabrics, as well as the most exclusive.

JOTTINGS OF THE DAY

ENTERPRISINGLY GATHERED AND CONCISELY TOLD BY REPORTERS.

Newsy Notes of More or Less Importance Bunched Together for the Ready Reference of Press Readers

—Mizpah Lodge, No. 1, U. O. of I. O. L., will hold a lunch-box social next Monday evening.

—A plank shad dinner will be given this evening at the Hotel Kensington by a party of Plainfielders.

—Neuman Brothers will sell the famous Rockdale print butter tomorrow for 25 cents per pound. 4-20 2

—The new hymn books ordered by the East Third Street mission have arrived and are now in use.

—Under the direction of Street Commissioner Gavett, West Front street has been cleaned of the surplus mud.

—The women of the Monroe Avenue church are planning to give their new pastor, Rev. Mr. MacMurray, a reception in the near future.

—The regular meeting of the Woman's Parliamentary Club will be held Thursday morning next at 10 o'clock in the Y. M. C. A. building.

—The Hurricanes Band, under the leadership of Ensign Martin, will conduct special meetings in the Salvation Army Hall Saturday and all day Sunday.

—There will be Danish Lutheran service in the Y. M. C. A. building Sunday evening next at 7:30 o'clock, preaching by Rev. C. Mengers. All are cordially invited.

—Ladies, clean your kid gloves with LaBelle glove cleaner. It is not a liquid, leaves no odor and can be used while the glove is on the hand. For sale only by Frank Rowley, druggist. tf —Employes of the New York and New Jersey Telephone Company have been busy for several days testing the underground wires along Front street between Watchung and Madison avenues.

—A post office special agent has been in Sussex county arranging a free rural delivery system. The proposed new service will accommodate about one hundred and fifty families and cover a large extent of territory.

—A wheel owned by Percy Vail, of The Daily Press, was run into Thursday afternoon on Watchung avenue, by a stone wagon. The front wheel was wrecked, necessitating an expense of several dollars for repairs.

—F. A. Long, of the borough, who is one of the State officers of the Jr. O. U. A. M., denies the statement made by another paper that the State officers will visit Plainfield soon. This statement is made in justice to the members, so that they may know the truth of the matter.

—Major's cement retails at fifteen and twenty-five cents a bottle, and when a dealer tries to sell a substitute you can depend upon it that his only object is to make larger profit. The profit on Major's cement is as much as any dealer ought to make on any cement. And this is doubly true in view of the fact that each dealer gets his share of the benefit of Mr. Major's advertising, which now amounts to over $500 a month throughout the country. Insist on having Major's. Don't accept any offhand advice from a druggist.

The Third Big Free Newark Excursion.

The dry goods merchants of Newark announce another free excursion to their famous shopping centre, Wednesday, April 25th, 1900. There never was a better time in this or any other year for spending the day in Newark. All the big stores have their great lines of new spring merchandise upon exhibition and the numerous displays of choice goods and charming styles in number and variety are not to be outdone by even metropolitan sights. A notable feature of the present occasion will be the early selling of excursion tickets. Those anxious to avoid the rush will be able to purchase their tickets at the railroad offices on the Tuesday afternoon and evening previous as well as Wednesday up to the time of train leaving. Persons going on the excursion must buy their tickets at the regular ticket office and the whole amount paid will be refunded upon presentation of the rebate coupon attached to each ticket at any of the following stores in Newark, Wednesday, April 25th, 1900. Viz: Hahne & Co., Broad and New streets; Straus's, 685-687 Broad street; L. S. Plaut & Co., 707 to 721 Broad street; Goerke's, 159-167 Market street; Bamberger & Co., Market and Halsey streets.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Dryden, of Watchung avenue, are visiting their daughter at St. Michaels, Md.

Israel D. TenEyck, superintendent of the City Industrial Home, is confined to his room with pneumonia.

Miss Marguerite McCutchen, of Smith College, has returned after spending the Easter vacation at her home in Washington Park.

Mrs. George H. Dalley, of Whitehouse, a sister of Mrs. S. S. Swackhamer, is visiting at the home of Councilman Swackhamer.

ARMOR OR NO ARMOR

The House Indulges In Long Wrangle Over Naval Bill.

THREE BATTLESHIPS AWAIT PLATES

Proposition to Establish a Government Plant to Make Armor Fails. Senate Still Considers Civil Government of Hawaii.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—As a result of a protracted struggle in the house yesterday the provision of the naval appropriation bill to enable the secretary of the navy to contract for armor for the battleships Maine, Ohio and Missouri, now awaiting their armor equipment, at $545 per ton, the price asked for Krupp armor, is out of the bill, as is the provision to repeal the $300 limitation placed upon the price of armor by the current law. The fight came at the end of the consideration of the bill. Although the provision was obnoxious to the rule, all the minority members of the committee had agreed to it, but when the majority declined to allow the discussion of a proposition for the establishment of an armor plate factory they retaliated by raising a point of order against the two provisions above referred to, and they were ruled out. The exact effect of the action of the house is disputed. The appropriation of $4,000,000 under the head of "armor and armament" remains in the bill, as well as the language of the proviso authorizing the secretary of the navy to contract for armor of the best quality for the Maine, Ohio and Missouri, the words stricken out being "at a cost not to exceed $545 a ton, including royalties." It is contended by some that this empowers the secretary to contract for the armor without regard to cost. By others it is claimed that the provision will be ineffective until the senate inserts the price. So much bad feeling was aroused by the wrangle over the armor plate provision that Mr. Underwood of Alabama began a filibuster after the bill was reported to the house and finally forced an adjournment without final action on the bill.

The senate had under consideration during the greater part of yesterday's session the conference report on the Hawaiian civil government measure. Mr. Cullom made an extended explanation of the changes in the bill. The report was the subject of sharp criticism. Final action upon it was postponed until today.

The Ecumenical Conference.

NEW YORK, April 21.—With a blaze of oratory the ecumenical conference on foreign missions will be opened this afternoon at Carnegie hall. It is only on rare occasions that a public meeting of any sort can have on the platform the same evening a president, a former president and a governor of New York among the orators. This will, however, be the distinction of the meeting of the ecumenical conference. The two meetings will be devoted to preliminary greetings, salutations and addresses of welcome. At the afternoon meeting former President Benjamin Harrison will preside and make a short speech. President McKinley will make the principal speech at the evening session, welcoming the delegates to the United States.

Southern Railroad Consolidation.

WILMINGTON, N. C., April 21.—Special meetings of the stockholders of the Wilmington and Weldon and Southeastern Railroad companies were held here yesterday, 98 per cent of the stock being represented. The action taken by the board of directors at Baltimore on Wednesday with regard to the consolidation of all the companies composing the Atlantic coast line system into one corporation was unanimously indorsed. The name of the new company will be the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad company, with a mileage of about 1,750 miles and an additional mileage of 800 controlled by lease or joint ownership, making a total of approximately 2,200 miles.

Public Buildings.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—The senate committee on public buildings and grounds yesterday authorized favorable reports on the following bills: Authorizing the construction of a public building at East St. Louis at a cost of $220,000, increasing the limit of cost of the proposed public building at Leadville, Colo., from $50,000 to $117,000; increasing the limit of the appropriation for the public building at Joplin, Mo., from $50,000 to $105,000; enlarging the building at Burlington, Ia., $65,000.

Canned Beef For the Army.

WASHINGTON, April 21.—War department officials have been compelled to resort to the use of canned roast beef for subsistence of the army in the Philippines. This is due to the fact that it is absolutely essential that the soldiers shall be served with fresh meat and because of the impossibility of providing refrigerated beef or cattle on the hoof under existing conditions.

Indicted For Bank Robbery.

LIMA, O., April 21.—An indictment has been returned by the grand jury against N. L. Michael, ex-vice president of the American National bank, which was mysteriously robbed here two years ago of $18,000. Michael declared some time ago that the efforts to connect him with looting the now defunct bank were being made for the purpose of blackmail.

Governor Taylor Indicted.

FRANKFORT, Ky., April 21.—There seems no doubt here that an indictment has been found against Governor W. S. Taylor, charging him with being an accessory before the fact of the murder of William Goebel, but the indictment has not been made public and will probably not be until the last day the grand jury is in session.

Convicted of Arson.

ROCHESTER, April 21.—Josiah G. Fisk, a well known resident of Penfield, has been convicted of arson in setting fire to a number of buildings owned by him in that village. Much interest has centered in the trial of Fisk on account of the prominence of the man.

No Sunday Baseball In Elmira.

ELMIRA, N. Y., April 21.—Mayor Flood announces that he will not allow Sunday baseball in Elmira. A game has been scheduled for next Sunday between Elmira and Binghamton.

Russian Laborers Expelled.

BERLIN, April 21.—Eighty Russian and Galician laborers have been expelled from northern Silesia, Prussia.

The Price That Staggers Humanity.

"The price that staggers humanity." This famous utterance of Oom Paul is just beginning to be realized by the people who are following not only the course of events in the South African war but as well observing the trend of affairs in India, over which the British Empire wields government with a hard hand. The agonizing cry for bread that rises from the lips of the countless millions in far-off India, where thousands are dying daily of starvation, may not be regarded as closely connected with the war of conquest and oppression being carried on by England, but nevertheless it is. The millions of dollars that is being poured into South Africa by the British Government to prosecute this unholy endeavor to subjugate the struggling and noble little Dutch Republic is a sum ten-fold sufficient—if honestly and rightly used, as it should be—to relieve the horrible misery of the British serfs and dependents in India.

A stirring appeal of The Christian Herald for aid from Americans for the starving people of India offers some instructive facts in this connection as brought out by the Philadelphia North American. Referring to the plight of the people of India The Christian Herald says that "our courage has failed us to present all the shocking details. Every time the clock strikes the hour it tolls the death-knell of at least five hundred victims in India who have died for the want of a crust. The cable operates quickly and your contribution today may save scores, hundreds, yes, thousands of lives tomorrow."

And each individual's responsibility is brought home by this definite appeal:

How many lives will you save?

Two cents a day will support one life.

One dollar will save a life for two months.

Two dollars will save a life until the harvest.

Five dollars will save a man, wife and child until the next crop is gathered.

Ten dollars will save a whole family from death.

Twenty dollars will save ten lives for four months.

Twenty-five dollars will save them and afford them the comfort of blankets during the rainy and cold season.

Fifty dollars would save five families.

One hundred dollars would save a small community.

Taking up the appeal of the Christian Herald the North American says that "God forbid that we should do anything to check for one instant the flow of American benevolence toward a tortured people betrayed in their desperate need by their rightful protectors. But it is impossible to read this appeal without reflecting on the responsibilities of those who have made it necessary. India is a part of the British Empire. The British government is spending $500,000,000 to subjugate a little group of farmers just outside of its dominions while its own subjects are dying by millions for lack of the assistance which it is amply able to furnish."

The North American turns the table of the Christian Herald in another direction, and makes these striking comparisons:

Two rifle cartridges a day will support one life.

One six-pounder shell will save a life for two months.

One twelve-pounder shell will save a life until the harvest.

One pair of cavalry boots will save a man wife and child until the next crop is gathered.

One minute's discharge of a Maxim gun will save a whole family from death.

The cost of the war for one second will save ten lives for four months.

Two rifles will save them and afford them the comfort of blankets during the rainy and cold season.

The cost of firing one shot from a six-inch gun would save five families.

One scrub baggage-train horse would save a small community.

The comments of the North American furnish a scathing arraignment of the British government, and the soundness of its position and the aptness of its criticisms will strike the American people with peculiar force. It is a very forcible lesson in "the price that staggers humanity."

The Kansas City Star sums up a discussion of the negro and the South as follows: "All the discussions going on as to what shall be done with the American negro are the meerest twaddle, with the quality of indescribable weariness. He will stay in the Southland, where he was born, live as best he may, and be buried in its soil." All of which is true.

The public is ready to buy your goods, and will buy them if you will make known the fact that you are ready to sell, says the Philadelphia Record. And the more pleasing your business announcement the more freely will the public purchase. All that is needed to bring seller and buyer into commercial relations is publicity.

The National League baseball season was opened Thursday. Although there were no record-breaking crowds, the attendance at the games showed that the great National sport has not lost its popularity, over 50,000 people turning out to see the games in the four cities of the League.

Within a few days the officials of the Delaware and Raritan Canal will make a test of a new electrical canal-boat propelling device. The day of the canal mule is passing with that of the stage and hack horse.

Liliuokalani, former Queen of Hawaii, has made her own shroud. Illness and failure to get a pension in Washington have turned her thoughts to death. Poor Lil.

Rev. Charles M. Sheldon says that he sees in Topeka an ideal city, and hopes that his schemes for social regeneration will be realized there.

In a poll of New York Presbyterian ministers over 60 per cent. favored a revision of the creed and about 13 per cent. were non-committal.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

Except in a strictly professional way, it isn't safe to call a Freehold editor a liar. George P. R. Weeden, a member of Good Will Hook and Ladder Company, learned this the other day by sad experience. The editor of the Freehold Inquirer is also a member of the company and the two were rival candidates for foreman. The editor won out and Weeden got real mad. He accused the editor of bad faith and finally called him a liar. The subsequent events were chaotic, but when Weeden emerged it was with a black eye, while the editor was unscratched. Weeden sought revenge by having the newspaper man held in bail on a charge of assault and battery. The hook and ladder company is still known as the Good Will.

There has just been received from Fred Bowden, formerly of this city, but now a member of the Second Cavalry Band, U. S. A., located at Santa Clara, Cuba, a programme of a concert and minstrels that was given in "La Caridar" theatre, Santa Clara, Monday evening, April 16th, under the direction of Prof. John H. Scully. It is noticed that Fred, whose sweet tenor voice has been heard many times in this city, was down on the programme as a vocalist. He was one of a sextette that rendered several selections. The programme is printed in good style and has the stamp of Americanism upon it. The various selections were popular ones and concluded with a sketch "What Happened to Loewenberg." It is also noted at the bottom of the programme that "The Machettes used in this performance were kindly loaned by Garcia & Co.," but it is not supposed that the people who attended the performance were obliged to carry them.

DOES COFFEE AGREE WITH YOU?

If not, drink Grain-O—made from pure grains. A lady writes: "The first time I made Grain-O I did not like it but after using it for one week nothing would induce me to go back to coffee." It nourishes and feeds the system. The children can drink it freely with great benefit. It is the strengthening substance of pure grains. Get a package today from your grocer, follow the directions in making it and you will have a delicious and healthful table beverage for old and young. 15c. and 25c.

BAKING POWDER

-Absolutely Pure-

The housewife will find the Royal Baking Powder indispensable in making finest foods. It makes the hot bread, hot biscuit, cake and other pastry light, sweet and excellent in every quality.

Royal Baking Powder is made from pure grape cream of tartar, the most healthful and pleasant of all fruit acids, and adds anti-dyspeptic qualities to the food.

Many low-priced imitation baking powders are upon the market. These are made with alum, and care should be taken to avoid them, as alum is a poison, never to be taken in the food proper basis to work on.

A. E. Faber had a few words to say in protest of the ordinance, and his son, Charles Faber, wanted to know that if a walk should be laid on Greenbrook road which side would be selected for it. He was informed that the side travelled mostly would be chosen.

J. S. Lunger and his son, W. H. Lunger, of Westervelt avenue, made a few remarks. They were not opposed to the ordinance, for J. S. Lunger had signed the petition, but he advised that the Council go slow in enforcing it.

This concluded the hearing and Mr. Valiant offered a resolution to the effect that inasmuch as not fifty per cent. of the property owners of anyone street had objected to the ordinance the petition, asking that such an ordinance be granted, be adopted. This was adopted by a unanimous vote.

Mr. French still objected to the ordinance as it affected Greenbrook road, claiming that he had presented more than fifty per cent. of objections on that street. Mayor Smalley asked him to produce the figures, which he did. Mr. Reed figured the frontage and decided that there was not fifty per cent. as Mr. Faber had not entered a written protest, which Mr. French said he did not understand was necessary. He claimed that he could get Mr. Faber's written protest if necessary.

Councilmen Clark, Rogers and Valiant, as well as Mayor Smalley, could not be persuaded to believe that there are fifty per cent. of the property owners who object, and they did not believe that John F. Wilson would object when he fully understood the question. On this basis the ordinance was adopted on its second reading. The third reading will take place at the next regular meeting, and it is provided that it shall take effect May 18th.

There was another objectionable feature to the ordinance cited by Mr. French and that was regarding the part which includes Harrison avenue where it extends up on the mountain. His point was that the ordinance should not include every inch of ground in the borough and on the mountain as well, where it would work a harpship on persons who cannot afford to lay walks and where they are not needed.

The distress in India was reported spreading, and 5,500,000 persons were said to be receiving relief.

Trouble was reported between the British and French on the Dahomey frontiers in West Africa. An uprising in Gaman, northwest of Ashanti, was also reported.

Cissie Loftus Fell Overboard.

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., April 21.—Cissie Loftus, the English music hall singer, who is resting at Old Point, had a narrow escape from drowning. While walking on the pier she suffered an attack of vertigo, to which she is subject. She was standing over the stringpiece when the attack came upon her and falling she rolled overboard. Coxswain Delem of the United States training ship Monongahela was an eyewitness, and he leaped into the water and effected a rescue, bringing the lady safely ashore in his arms after she had twice gone down.

A New Practice Ship.

BOSTON, April 21.—The United States ship the Chesapeake, the new practice ship for the naval academy, which has been rigged out and equipped in entirety at the navy yard, proceeded yesterday for Annapolis in tow of the naval tug Potomac, which arrived here a day or two ago from Cuba. The Chesapeake is the first vessel of her type and purpose designed for the navy. She is a full rigged ship without a propeller and, it is estimated, has cost the government about $500,000.

A Twelve-year-old Murderer.

CHARLESTON, April 21.—Several weeks ago at Rockville, this state, Bud Jenkins stabbed Sylvester Jones to death, both of them being about 12 years old. Jones charged Jenkins with "gossiping about him" to a negro girl of their own age. They went to her house, and there the fatal quarrel ensued. Evidence of murder against Jenkins was complete, but the jury this week acquitted him because of "infancy."

Enthusiasm For the Queen.

DUBLIN, April 21.—Queen Victoria, after visiting the zoological gardens in the morning, where she seemed much interested, paid a visit in the afternoon with the princesses to the convent of St. Mary of Loretto, where she was presented with a bouquet in the shape of an Irish harp. The return to the viceregal lodge was made amid many scenes of enthusiasm.

Driven Out by Grasshoppers.

NEW YORK, April 21.—Six families of Russian Jews, 35 persons in all, arrived here yesterday on the Kaiser Wilhelm II. They have been detained at the barge office pending an investigation into their solvency. The people left Rio de Janeiro ten weeks ago. They had been farming in the Argentine Republic, and their crops were ruined by grasshoppers.

Salzwedel. Ein Burenstat, an welchem sich sämmtliche Statspieler der Altmark betheiligten, wurde neulich an einem Tage in allen altmärkischen Städten und Dörfern gespielt. Der Gewinn des Stakes wurde an den Transvaalvertreter in Brüssel gesandt.

Zahna. Am Bahnkörper, in der Nähe der Chamottefabrik, fand man in früher Morgenstunde den Leichnam des 22jährigen Arbeiters Henze, Sohn einer armen Wittwe. Der Kopf war vollständig vom Rumpfe getrennt. Bei näherer Untersuchung fand man ein Stilet. Es wird angenommen, daß polnische Arbeiter obiger Fabrik den bedauernswerthen Menschen erstochen und dann auf den Bahnkörper geschleift haben, um den Verdacht der Thäterschaft abzulenken. Die Untersuchung ist im Gange.

Provinz Schlesien.

Gleiwitz. Das Schwurgericht verurtheilte die Wittwe Knorr, die am 14. Februar ihrer von ihrem Gatten getrennt lebenden Schwiegertochter, der Frau des Schlossermeisters Vogt, eine mit Arsenik vergiftete Torte geschickt hatte, zu zehn Jahren Zuchthaus. Frau Vogt, deren Tochter, sowie zwei andere Personen, die von der Torte gegessen hatten, erkrankten schwer und schwebten in ernster Lebensgefahr.

Waldenburg. Der vor Kurzem hierselbst verstorbene Kaufmann Paul Schaff, ein Junggeselle, hat sein ganzes Vermögen zu wohlthätigen Zwecken bestimmt. Der Stadt fielen unter anderen Zuwendungen zu: 20,000 Mark, deren Zinsen zur Unterstützung von Wittwen und vaterlosen Waisen hier wohnhaft gewesener Kaufleute zu verwenden sind, ferner 20,000 Mark und der Erlös des Mobiliars zur Unterstützung hilfsbedürftiger Einwohner.

Provinz Schleswig-Holstein.

Altona. Großes Aufsehen erregt die Thatsache, daß der kürzlich verstorbene Justizrath Jessen zu seinen Lebzeiten bedeutende Betrügereien und Unterschlagungen begangen hat. Wie erst jetzt bekannt wird, hat Jessen eine Dame um 80,000 Mark, eine andere um 40,000 Mark betrogen. Insgesammt belaufen sich die defraudirten Gelder auf etwa 200,000 Mark. Außerdem hat Jessen zahlreiche Sachen, die ihm zur Wahrnehmung vor Gericht übergeben waren, einfach liegen lassen und dann aus seiner Tasche die erwachsenen Kosten bezahlt. Als er die Katastrophe herannahen sah, wußte er keinen anderen Ausweg, als sich das Leben zu nehmen.

Kiel. Auf den Bürgermeister Lorey versuchte ein anscheinend geistesgestörter Mann Namens Schütt ein Revolverattentat. Der Unbekannte konnte jedoch rechtzeitig überwältigt und unschädlich gemacht werden.

A middle-aged man in New Hampshire, who had been a soldier in the war of the rebellion, was strong and well but suffered from shortness of breath when going up hill, and was told that this was a sure sign of dropsy of the heart, and on this account was advised to apply for a pension. The application was made and granted. Shortly after he learned from a neighbor who had experienced the same shortness of breath under similar circumstances, that he had obtained complete relief by the use of Ripans Tabules, merely taking one at night before going to bed. He therefore had recourse to the Tabules as recommended and with the same happy result. He has no fear now of any return of the difficulty, but does not find his pension any less a convenience on that account.

WANTED—A case of bad health that R-I-P-A-N-S will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word R-I-P-A-N-S on the package, and accept no substitute. NEVER SO CHARMING.

Dame Fashion Is Breaking All Its Records of the Past.

Both as Regards Fabrics and Styles the 1900 Easter Gowns and Hats Are Unsurpassed in Genuine Loveliness.

[Special Chicago Letter.]

FASHION was never more charming, less exaggerated or more generally becoming than at the present moment. The discretion and good taste of fashionmakers seem to have been exercised to the very utmost, with truly fascinating results, and madam will have no one to blame but herself if she does not look prettier than ever in her new Easter finery.

There are many interesting things to say concerning the new dress materials. Never were they more beautiful in texture or more harmonious in color than now. The variety is utterly without limit, and the same may be said of the price. While many of the so-called novelties are sold at a disproportionately high figure, on the other hand some of the choicest patersns are marked at such a reasonable figure as to place them easily within the reach of the multitude.

Wool fabrics have been restored to all their old-time popularity, while silk and wool mixtures were never prettier or more in demand than at present. There are silks of all kinds and descriptions, from the stately looking rich black down to the most inexpensive taffeta. Foulard silk, which has been so popular the past three summers, is giving way to the pretty printed crepes which are brought out for the first time this season. They come in all colors, as well as in the new pastel shades, and are ideal for summer gowns. The furore for crepe de chine remains unabated, while embroidered crepe de brege is to be counted among the most sought after dress fabrics. It is, however, in wash gowns that manufacturers seem to have reached the limit of perfection, particularly in the silk mulls and printed organdies. Something entirely new are the organdies showing an Egyptian design on pastel grounds. They are as beautiful as the costliest silk, and if one can afford the luxury are the thing to buy.

There is a prevailing tone of black in both gowns and millinery this season, and it is safe to predict its popularity for some time to come. Dame Fashion has set the seal of her approval on all shades of gray, especially a new shade called Parisian gray. It is certainly charming to look upon, but is too cold in tone to prove becoming to any but a small minority, and the same may be said of the new shade of green now so much in vogue. Brown is another favorite color of the season, and some of the new shades which border closely on tan are ideal for street wear, but they require careful handling and must be worn en suite or the wearer will look hopelessly dowdy and ill-dressed.

Many of the handsomest gowns seen thus far are made with accordion-plaited skirts. While this is called a new fashion it is really a revival of three years ago; but, after all, we cannot have too much of a good thing, especially when it concerns one of the prettiest vagaries of fashion. The plaiting, unlike the work of past seasons, is done so extremely well, so fine and yet so firm, that a skirt of this kind can well be reckoned among one's most serviceable belongings. These skirts look particularly well when fashioned of crepe de chine or any of the soft clinging stuffs now in vogue.

Anent of black, the newest black gown in the blackest of the black, its rich tone not marred by daubs of color here and there, as was the prevailing fashion throughout the past season, and which at its best showed a lamentahble lack of originality. On the contrary, the trimming on this new gown invariably takes on the same somber hue, and usually consists of many tiny tucks and frills of fine lace or net or the ever-becoming chiffon or tulle.

The tailored skirt of the moment is long and trailing, made with a quantity of perpendicular tucks and plaits which give the required amount of fullness at the bottom, and is snug and close fitting about the hips, like those of the early autumn. These skirts look particularly smart when worn with a jaunty little black silk coat and headgear composed of lace, adorned with chenille and ostrich plumes. Fashionable tailors are trimming their swellest looking tailor-mades with handsome applique, put on with a more or less liberal hand. It is a daring mode, but when manipulated by the deft fingers of the expert is in good taste. For instance, a black broadcloth gown, otherwise commonplace in itself, takes on quite a different air when ornamented with an applique showing an intermingling of black, white and silver, while equally fetching in appearance is a gown made of royal blue venetian cloth, fashioned with the all-conquering Ascot coat, adorned with a quantity of silver and blue applique.

In spite of the fact that the blouse has been relegated time and time again by certain fashion writers, there is nothing further from the minds of those who decree the fashions than the extinction of this useful and generally becoming little garment. Dame Fashion, however, wills that for this particular season it shall not be worn with a skirt of a contrasting color. The blouse may be ever so much finer and elegant in every way, but the color scheme must be the same as appears in the skirt. The newest silk blouses are made to fit the figure with perfect snugness, and how to get into them is a mystery to the beholder, for there are apparently no seams and no opening and no wrinkles are visible. On the other hand, those made of ribbon and lace are pouched ever so slightly both in back and front. They are daintier and prettier than anything yet seen, and with the added charm of novelty are, of course, in great demand.

Many of the newest blouses are made entirely of accordion-plaited lace and chiffon, and from the point of good looks and becomingness have much to recommend them. For the woman who errs on the side of too much plumpness such a waist will prove ideal, as it yields to the figure, takes good lines and when properly adjusted at the waist invariably makes it look small.

TWO DAINTY CREATIONS FOR BRIGHT SPRING DAYS.

There is no doubt of the important part lace is going to play this summer both as a trimming and for entire gowns. In the latter form it is most attractive, and when mounted on a silken lining makes as stunning a gown as one can desire. Next in importance are the little lace boleros that ornament the bodice of every other gown this season. It is a very pretty fashion in itself, besides affording an excellent opportunity for doing over last summer's frock; for with the addition of a little accordion-plaited chiffon and a lace bolero one can readily turn out a most respectable "done over" at very little cost.

There is so much newness in millinery this season that every woman must see for herself in order to appreciate the radical changes Dame Fashion has wrought. Some of the newest shapes dip in the front, thus forming a becoming shading to the eyes, especially when surmounted by endless folds of chiffon. Others, again, turn squarely off the face in directoire fashion, while the three-cornered headgear is a happy compromise between a toque and a hat.

The picture hat may be bent into any shape you like, but according to the best authorities it must be dead black, shaded with the softest ostrich plumes. The craze for the all-jet hat is becoming daily more marked. When trimmed with ruches of softest chiffon, and worn with the clear tulle veil of the moment, it is chic and becoming, but unless toned down in this manner the wise woman will not fall into the error of wearing one.

KATE GARDNER.

CARDINAL RAMPOLLA.

Many Churchmen Are of the Opinion That He Will Be the Successor of Pope Leo.

Recent dispatches from Rome have again revived interest in the probable successor of Leo XIII., and in this connection Cardinal Rampolla, the papal secretary of state, is most prominently mentioned. This is probably for the reason that he is closer to the holy father than any other member of the sacred college, as his official office brings him in touch with the pope almost every day. Then it is said that he reflects the political views of the venerable pontiff, and that he is eminently qualified to succeed to the throne of St. Peter. Although only 57 years old, he has held many of the most important offices in the Roman Catholic hierarchy, and his advancement to the high office which he now occupies came in an incredibly short space of time. Cardinal Rampolla was born in Polizzi, August 17, 1843, and is of the Sicilian nobility. He was educated entirely in Rome. At a comparatively early age he evidenced that he was possessed of diplomatic talents of a high order. In 1882 he was consecrated archbishop of Heraclea and appointed nuncio at the court of Madrid. When in 1885 the quarrel between Germany and Spain over the Caroline islands threatened to assume serious proportions it was largely through his diplomatic action that peace was maintained, and it was on his suggestion that the pope was requested to undertake the office of arbitrator between the two powers. While in Madrid the cardinal won the esteem of the entire royal family, and it was with regret that they parted with him when the pope called him to Rome in 1887 to honor him with a cardinal's hat and to make him papal secretary of state.

CARDINAL RAMPOLLA.
(Papal Secretary of State and the Pope's Possible Successor.)

PRINCE FERDINAND.

Bulgaria's Erratic and Ambitious Ruler to Be Made a King by the Czar of Russia.

Prince Ferdinand, whose title will be changed to Ferdinand, king of Bulgaria, when the Russo-Bulgarian treaty arrangements are completed, has been for years one of the most conspicuous sovereigns in Europe. He has ruled over the troublesome Bulgarians since 1887, and is exceedingly popular with his subjects. Upon the death of Prince Alexander in 1886 the sobranje sent a deputation to Ferdinand requesting that he occupy the vacant throne. An attempt to assassinate him while attending the funeral of the dead prince was a sensation at the time. He took the oath of office

PRINCE FERDINAND.
(Ruler of Bulgaria Who Is Soon to Be Created a King.)

on August 14, 1887. Russia had taken a dislike to him, and he was also persona non grata at the vatican. This opposition was mollified later by his decision to have the oldest of his two sons educated in the rites of the Greek church. The prince was born in Vienna February 26, 1861, and is, therefore, 39 years old. He was the youngest son of Prince Augustus of Saxe-Coburg and Princess Clementin of Bourbon-Orleans. As a youth he served in the Austrian army. He is wealthy.

His Name Was Struck Off.

Bucharest officials are conscientious. After a revision of the registration lists in that city the following notice was sent out: "Maj. A. Fanutza: It is hereby brought to your notice that your name is struck off the list of electors for deputies and senators in the First district and will not again be inserted in it. The reason for this is the fact that your death occurred some time ago."

The Evolution of a Name.

A teacher in the Philadelphia girls' normal school tells a story of a girl of humble parentage who gave her name as Bridget when she was first enrolled. During her first year Bridget changed to Bridgetta. During her second year the first syllable was dropped and she became Etta. That developed into Margaretta, and when she received her diploma her name was Marguerite.

Miss Fanny Crosby, the celebrated hymn writer, is ill at her home, No. 845 Quincy street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

As Miss Crosby is over 80 years old, and blind, her present illness has caused considerable alarm among her friends.

Miss Crosby is perhaps the best-known writer of sacred songs in the world, and the words of over 4,000 hymns are said to be her work. Her most celebrated song, perhaps, is "Saved by Grace."

Up to a few days before she was taken sick, despite the infirmity of her

MISS FANNY CROSBY.
(Blind Hymn Writer Now Seriously Sick at Brooklyn, N. Y.)

declining years, she was busy writing a new hymn.

She has been closely associated with many of the renowned musical men of the past half century. Among her many friends is Ira D. Sankey, who for so many years helped the late Dwight L. Moody in revival work.

Mr. Sankey delights in singing Miss Crosby's hymns and thinks that she is the most prolific and pathetic religious song writer that the passing century has produced.

Speaking of Miss Crosby's work, Mr. Sankey says:

"Fanny Crosby will live for many, many years—her work will survive. I have also enough unpublished hymns from her pen to keep her memory alive.

"Many of her hymns will be sung as long as the English speaking race exists.

"Few persons know," continued Mr. Sankey, "that Miss Crosby has been blind ever since she was six weeks old. She was not born blind, but her blindness was brought about by an affection of the eyes, which necessitated an operation.

"A calamity which others would consider as beyond compensation, she looks upon as one of the commonplaces of her normal condition."

Miss Crosby does not grumble at affliction, and on one occasion was heard to remark that if the gift of sight were offered her she would prefer to remain as she is. She is of the opinion that her blindness has proved a blessing.

The statements published in several papers that Miss Crosby is in destitute circumstances is strongly denied by her friends, who declare that the royalty she receives from her hymns and poems affords her more than a comfortable living.

Miss Crosby has lived in Brooklyn for the past 30 years. She is a devoted member of the Methodist Episcopal church and found great pleasure in attending all its services before she was taken ill.

GEN. CRONJE'S PRISON.

Boer Leader to Be Confined in the House Built for the Great Napoleon at St. Helena.

The little island of St. Helena, where the Boer general, Cronje, and his captured army will be confined, is situated in the South Atlantic ocean, 1,200 miles off the coast of Africa and 1,160 miles from Cape Town, from which port the first detachment of Boers were started the other day. Lying all alone in the Atlantic, it is a mere spot of land in the midst of the waste of water. At its greatest it is but little more than ten miles in length and six and a quarter miles in width. Its total area is 45 square miles. The southeast trade winds blow constantly over the island and make the climate mild and equable, while on the high slopes of the mountains, which cover a large part of the island, any desired degree of coolness can be found. The island is surrounded by high and steep cliffs and there are few possible landing places for ships. In every way St. Helena is a natural prison. The capital is Jamestown, a village with a population of 2,500, which is half of the entire population of the island. Previous to the opening of the Suez canal the island was a place of refreshment for homeward-bound vessels, but now it is only visited by an occasional steamer. It is possible that Longwood, the house built for the occupancy of the great Napoleon, will be given to Cronje as a residence.

Baseball teams formed from among the members of the choirs of Grace and Holy Cross churches met in an exciting game at the cricket field on Giraud avenue yesterday afternoon. When the last half of the last inning was begun and the Holy Cross boys came to the bat, the score stood 27 to 18 in favor of the Grace church team. The boroughites gathered themselves together for a grand finale and succeeded in bringing in eleven runs, thus winning the game for Holy Cross by a score of 29 to 27. Caleen and Yaeger were the battery for Grace, and Sherwin, Sheppard and Emmons for the Holy Cross team.

AMONG THE STEPPERS.

The track at the Gentlemen's Driving Park is rapidly being put into good condition, and if the weather remains favorable the opening will take place soon.

CYCLING COMMENT.

Robert Schreiner, of Randolph's pharmacy, has purchased a Lovell-Diamond bicycle.

Judge Runyon Has the Grip.

City Judge Runyon is still detained at his home on East Ninth street with illness. It has proved to be the grip, but the Judge expects to shake it off in a few days and return to duty.

J. W. Fisher, of Somerville, has bought the milk route of Douglas Darby and has removed with his family to LaGrande avenue.

Local News on Pages 2 and 3.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Miss Marion Bowen and Miss Belle Paterson are visiting friends in Wilmington, Del.

Mrs. William Schorb, of East Front street, is confined to her home with an attack of the grip.

Mrs. H. C. Drake, of North avenue, who was taken seriously ill Thursday night, is much improved.

Miss Edith Edwards, of New York, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Maze Edwards, of the Jackson building. She will spend a week here.

Mrs. Robert Lowry has secured a suite of rooms at the home of Mrs. Truell, Central avenue, and will break up housekeeping at her present home, 902 Madison avenue, May 1st, and board at Mrs. Truell's.

DANCED COTILLION.

Members of Cotillion Club Entertained Last Evening at Home of J. B. Dumont.

The last important social event of Easter week was the gathering of the Cotillion Club at the residence of Councilman J. B. Dumont, of East Seventh street, last evening. Like the other meetings of that club the affair was a decided success. There were twenty-five couples who participated in the cotillion led by Thomas Van-Boskerck. The house was prettily decorated for the occasion.

Gold Watch Lost.

Miss Rhodes, a nurse at Muhlenberg Hospital, lost a valuable gold watch, hunting case, Friday evening of last week while walking from Fifth street to North avenue on Watchung avenue. On the inside of the case are the initials "C. M. R." and the figures "25219." The watch is prized very highly as it was a birthday gift and its return would be deeply appreciated. A suitable reward will be paid for its return to the hospital.

—Prof. Louis Schnepel, of Elizabeth, the blind baritone, who is to be one of the principal features of Professor Conde's annual orchestral concert, is a vocalist of fine ability. He entered a New York institution at the age of nine years, where he fitted himself general in education, but particularly in music. He has a beautiful voice over which he has perfect control.

First Time They Met.

Dr. Charles Lancaster, of Duer street, enjoyed a complete surprise this week, when his granddaughter, Mrs. Sawyer Raymond Masters, and her young son, Harold, of Oakland, California, came to visit him. It is the first time that he has seen either of them, although a correspondence has been continued for years. Mrs. Masters and her son expect to visit the Paris Exposition and they will sail abroad next week.

Arrived After His Bedtime.

A party of Plainfielders tendered a surprise party last evening to John Wright, of Westfield, in honor of the celebration of the anniversary of his nineteenth birthday. When the party reached the home of Mr. Wright they learned he had retired for the night. It was only a matter of a short time when they aroused him and he willingly presented himself. The evening was passed in dancing and supper was served at a late hour.

May Ask for License Money Back.

It is now understood that James Sisser will apply to the courts to have the money refunded which he paid for the license to open a saloon on the Somerset street bridge. No doubt the courts would be pleased to refund the money, and if this is done, it is an assured fact that no saloon will be opened on the bridge under the present Judge. This would settle the trouble for some time to come.

Granted a Non-Suit.

The suit of the Richmond Stove Company against J. C. McCarthy and E. D. Barrett for a promissory note for $120.64 came up this morning before Justice Moffett. Through the inability of the plaintiff, through their counsel, Coddington & Swackhamer, to prove a case, Justice Moffett granted a non-suit for the defendants who were represented by W. K. McClure.

Somerset Street Property Sold.

It is rumored that Mrs. A. M. Hanigan has sold the property at 49 Somerset street which is occupied by Dr. Pittis. She and her family will move to 13 Grove street, and Dr. Pittis will continue to occupy the premises.

SUCCESSFUL OPENING OF PARK GOLF LINKS.

Kicker's Handicap Competition Was Won by Aubrey C. Hull, W. J. R. Thiers Second.

LARGE TURNOUT AT COURSE

INFORMAL TEA HELD AT THE CLUB HOUSE DURING AFTERNOON.

Despite the Threatening Weather There Were Many Who Attended the Opening at the Park Golf Club Saturday Afternoon.

Even with the promise of rain at any moment, the golfers turned out in force for the opening of the links of the Park Golf Club Saturday afternoon. The course, both fair and putting greens, was in good condition. Nobody was in good form and so the "kicker's handicap" tournament, in which everybody had a chance to fix their own handicap, found particular favor. The competition was won by Aubrey C. Hull with William J. R. Thiers second and Senator Charles A. Reed third.

Although the addition to the club house has not yet been made, the interior of the building was in fine order. The ladies of the club took possession of the parlor during the afternoon and an informal tea was held, Mrs. Charles A. Reed and Mrs. Walter M. McGee presiding at the tables. A few of the young ladies went over the course while a number of others gathered at the club house and watched the play from there.

There was some questions as to whether the putting greens would be ready for use. George T. Rogers, chairman of the greens committee and Professional Blair, conferred and decided that they were hard enough to stand play. It was the first opportunity to play on the greens and nobody could putt at all. After the turf is well started and has been cut and rolled several times, they will be very smooth. The fair greens were in excellent shape except in a few places where they were a trifle soft.

All the afternoon the rain clouds were banked along the mountain and finally a little rain began as the last of the players straggled in. Considering the weather, the attendance was remarkably good and promises well for the coming season that opened Saturday. Almost all of the players of last season were on hand together with many new ones.

The event of the afternoon was the "kicker's handicap." As it opened the season it was made a nine hole competition. A score between 42 and 52 was secretly drawn and not announced until the completion of the event. Each competitor selected his or her own handicap. At the end, the player, whose score should be nearest the one drawn, was to be declared winner. A Vardon driver was given as first prize and a Vardon iron as second.

As it was all a matter of guesswork as to where the winning score would be, the competitors had to take their chances. Some figured on the lower scores and some on the higher. Nearly all, however, availed themselves of the opportunity to take generous handicaps to make up for lack of practice.

The winning score proved to be 44. Aubrey C. Hull, with a handicap of 25, reached that figure exactly. There were twenty-four entries in the competition and fourteen cards were handed in. Most of the net scores were in the neighborhood of 50. The best gross score for the afternoon was made by W. J. R. Thiers, 62 strokes. J. H. Howell was next with 64. It was the first play of the season for both.

The best scores in the competition were as follows:

	Gross.	Handicap.	Net.
Aubrey C. Hull	69	25	44
W. J. R. Thiers	62	16	46
Charles A. Reed	76	30	46
Herbert S. Rogers	71	24	47
Joseph H. Howell	64	14	50
W. J. Buttfield	78	25	53
Wm. R. Faber	71	18	53
W. W. Beekman	66	12	54

Repeated Easter Music.

The First Baptist church choir last evening repeated the Easter music given a week ago yesterday morning, and a large congregation assembled to hear the various selections. The renditions were delightful and enjoyed thoroughly. There were solos by Miss Harris, Mrs. Ward, William Holmes and George Smith, and each one gave his or her part perfectly.

Bishop Wigger Coming Home.

Bishop W. M. Wigger, of the Catholic Diocese of Newark, and Rev. L. C. M. Carroll, of Jersey City, sailed from Genoa Friday and are expected to arrive in New York May 1st. The Bishop and Father Carroll have been abroad four months.

MARRIED IN AUGUST.

But William F. VanHorn and Bride Didn't Announce the Fact Till This Morning.

Considerable surprise was occasioned here this morning by the announcement that William P. VanHorn, of Duer street, has been married since last August, although his friends thought him free from matrimonial affairs. The young man's wife's maiden name was Miss Lillian Brooks, of Ellenville, N. Y. Miss Brooks was visiting here last summer, and during the time became acquainted with Mr. VanHorn. Their friendship ripened into love and one evening while they were out walking they decided that they would be married immediately, and keep the affair a secret till a later date. So on August 5th they took a trolley car to Dunellen, where they visited Rev. Mr. Jamison at the Methodist pasonage and were united in marriage. Not even their most intimate friends were aware of the wedding till this morning, when they announced that they were going to house keeping on Somerset street.

VACANT HOUSE BURNED.

FIRST WARNING WAS WHEN THE ROOF BEGAN TO BLAZE.

Fire Supposed to Have Smouldered There Since the Occupants Left Two Days Before—Loss $200—Insured.

A conflagration in a vacant house on West Third street, near Plainfield avenue, called out the city fire department at 1:50 o'clock Sunday morning. The fire had evidently been smouldering for many hours before it broke out. The roof was destroyed and the second floor gutted. The damage will nearly reach $200, covered by insurance.

The house is a small story-and-a-half frame dwelling owned by Mrs. Bridget Burke. Thomas Marley and family moved out of the house two days before, and since then it has been unoccupied. Daniel Galbrath, of West Third street, was passing and noticed the flames coming from the roof. He sent in an alarm from box 46.

The cause of the fire is unknown, but the theory of incendiary origin is not believed by the firemen. It is supposed that the fire caught from the stove in some way before the occupants departed and smouldered away until yesterday morning. There was a slate roof over shingles and the latter were burning fiercely when the firemen arrived. Two lines of hose were laid in and the chemical engine was also used. It took an hour to get at and extinguish all the fire.

New Rahway Church.

The Church of the Holy Comforter, whose edifice was destroyed by fire about four years ago, has been rebuilt, a handsome stone structure taking the place of the former building. From time to time, through donations and otherwise, the necessary furniture has been added, until now all the church paraphernalia is in place and ready for use. At the Easter services Sunday collections came in so abundantly that every dollar of indebtedness was raised.

New Telephone Directory.

The New York and New Jersey Telephone Company will issue a new local telephone directory in the next ten days which will include the list of subscribers at the exchanges in Plainfield, Westfield, Bound Brook and Somerville. The last general directory was issued March 1st, and does not include a number of new local subscribers.

Acts of Vandalism.

Residents of LaGrande avenue, near Washington street, are righteously indignant at the contemptible acts of some person or persons, who wilfully pull up choice flower plants from the dooryards of several persons on the street named and then simply throw them aside. If they are detected they will get the full benefit of the law.

Odd Fellows Eighty-First Anniversay.

The eighty-first anniversary of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows will be observed by Plainfield Lodge, No. 44, I. O. O. F., Thursday evening with a reception and dance in Odd Fellows' hall. Invitations have been issued for the affair.

Police Force Drill and Inspection.

The police force of this city will hold its final drill and inspection for the month Saturday afternoon at the Olympia, police headquarters. The Police Board and other city officials will be present.

For the Old Folks' Home.

The offering at the First Baptist church yesterday morning was the annual contribution for the benefit of the "Old Folks' Home" of the denomination located at Roseville.

E. B. Clark, of Crescent avenue, has gone to Washington, D. C., on a business trip.

ON THE HILLSIDE LINKS.

FIRST PLAYING OF GOLF WAS ENJOYED LAST SATURDAY.

The Event of the Day Was the Scratch Competition for a Prize for the Best Score.

It was an auspicious opening that took place at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club grounds Saturday afternoon. The large number of golf enthusiasts who have been eagerly waiting for the initial event turned out and thoroughly enjoyed the day. The temporary greens were used, as the regular ones will not be ready for two weeks. Otherwise the course was enjoyed and the contestants showed by their play that they are in good form. There were fully one hundred people in attendance and of that number about sixty occupied the course.

The event of the day was the scratch competition for a prize for the best score. There were about twenty-five competitors, and twelve of that number handed in their scores, everyone of which showed good playing, considering it was the first time the majority had played this season. Frank Talmadge won the prize, a set of golf balls, with a score of 90. He played very near to his old form. The rest of the scores were excellent as the following will show: F. O. Reinhart, 94; T. R. VanBoskerck, 95; J. W. Baker, 98; Willard Wadsworth, 100; Morris Dumont, 103; W. T. Kaufman, 106; F. C. Ard, 108; Olaf Saugstaud, 110; Howard Wright, 116; C. W. Abbott, 116; D. H. Barrows, 130.

Another interesting event of the afternoon was the private match, mixed foursome, in which Archibald Henderson and Miss VanBoskerck beat Howard Hunting and Miss Dudley, of New York, 6 up. Their scores were 131 and 123.

There were many social features associated with the opening, including tea in the afternoon and dinners at night. A number attended the afternoon tea and enjoyed a chat. In the evening a large dinner was given by Archibald Henderson and Howard Huntington to a number of their friends.

Work on the course will be resumed today when the greens will be cut and other improvements made. Much hard work has been and will be done so that the course will be second to none in the State. Professional Brown was on hand Saturday and Steward Ivmy was in his customary place doing everything possible for the comfort and pleasure of all. Judging by the opening the season will be the most successful in the history of the club.

WILLIAM DUNAVAN DEAD.

He Was Seventy-seven Years of Age and Had Lived in Plainfield for Fifty Years.

Wm. Dunavan, aged 77 years, one of Plainfield's best-known citizens, died this morning about 9 o'clock after an illness of several months with blood poisoning, which caused intense suffering. Very recently Mr. Dunavan was attacked with pneumonia and this was the cause of death.

Mr. Dunavan was born at Asbury, Warren county, and came to Plainfield fifty years ago. He followed farming for several years and finally secured a position as night watchman for Cook Brothers, dealers in coal and lumber, the place now owned by Boice, Runyon & Company. After several years' service there he engaged with the late David J. Boice in the same capacity at his yards, where Captain Hand's building now stands on Park avenue.

Although Mr. Dunavan was not a member of any church, he attended services at the First M. E. church. He is survived by a wife and eight children as follows: Mrs. Frances Slater, of Philipsburg; Walter Dunavan, of New Durham; Charles Dunavan, of Rochester; Daniel Dunavan, of Milwaukee; A. B. Dunavan, Mrs. R. B. Rogers, L. M. Dunavan and David S. Dunavan, of this city.

Announcement of the funeral services will be made later.

Denounced "Sapho."

Last evening at the First Presbyterian church, the pastor, Rev. Charles E. Herring, preached a sermon on "Novels." In the course of his remarks he referred to "Sapho," and many of the books written by Zola. In his opinion he thought that the productions of American authors in many instances are as bad as those of French authors. He denounced "Sapho" and all harmful books as dangerous.

Banquet for Grand Lodge Officers.

DINNER IN HONOR OF DR. ENDICOTT.

Given by Former Mayor W. M. Saunders at His Home Saturday Evening.

MANY PROMINENT GUESTS.

TOASTS RESPONDED TO AFTER MENU WAS SERVED.

Dr. Endicott Deeply Grateful for the Expression of Friendship Which the Affair Meant—Those Who Were Present.

The dinner given by former Mayor William M. Saunders, of Rockview avenue, in honor of Dr. George W. Endicott, Saturday night, was attended by many prominent gentlemen. It was a gorgeous and delightful affair. Mr. Saunders' beautiful home was profusely decorated with flowers. The dinner was served in the dining room opening into a well-filled conservatory. The guests sat down to a table formed after the letter E, which, as the host said, stood primarily for Endicott.

The menu was an elaborate one, and after it had been served Mr. Saunders acted as toastmaster and introduced those who were called upon for short speeches. Mr. Saunders said that the guests had come together to honor one whom they all loved and admired, and who had come out of a most trying ordeal of an unjust accusation a clean and honorable citizen and most loyal friend. Mr. Saunders said that Dr. Endicott's friends had never lost faith in his honor and integrity and delighted to do him honor.

Dr. Endicott, the guest of honor, was then called upon and he responded in a feeling manner, saying that words were utterly inadequate to express his gratitude and the emotions that were prompted by the expression of loyalty of his friends.

Dr. Endicott was followed by Hugh Hastings, historian of New York State; Craig A. Marsh, who was Dr. Endicott's counsel; J. E. Martine, the well-known Democratic leader; Admiral Endicott, brother of the Doctor; J. Evarts Tracy, the well-known New York lawyer; Hon. Allan Endicott, Judge of Atlantic county, also a brother of the Doctor; Wm. Cock, F. W. Iredell and Howard C. Fleming.

The affair wound up at midnight in a most pleasant interchange of farewells.

Those present at the dinner were: Rear Admiral Endicott, Judge Endicott, Former Mayor Hegeman, Councilman George T. Rogers, Hugh Hastings, W. T. Kaufman, S. L. Schoonmaker, W. R. Cock, Charles E. Brooks, J. T. Scott, J. W. Reinhart, F. W. Iredell, Craig A. Marsh, W. B. Wadsworth, John Bushnell, John Leal, C. F. Abbott, J. Evarts Tracy, E. H. Ladd, J. M. Whiton, Henry Squires, Howard Fleming, G. L. Howard, John T. Baker, Frank Curtis, E. L. Finch, James E. Martine, E. H. Booth, Thomas J. Mumford, Lewis G. Timpson and E. M. VanBuren. L. H. Biglow sent his regrets owing to the death of his wife's mother, Mrs. Rafferty.

TRAMPS SCATTERED.

Chief Campbell and Patrolman Mattox Found Six Hobos, but Five of Them Got Away.

Chief Campbell, of the borough, and Patrolman Mattox, of this city, instituted a still hunt along the brook yesterday looking for tramps and vagrants. They came upon a crowd of six who were hanging out back of Former Councilman V. L. Frazee's house in West End Park. The crowd scattered, and all got away but one. Chief Campbell caught the one who gave his name as J. McCormick, and his residence anywhere. He was in Mr. Frazee's barn, but so far as can be learned nothing was missed. McCormick was locked up in the borough and is now awaiting a hearing. When the crowd scattered Patrolman Mattox was completely lost and unable to capture anyone of the five that got away.

Rode Without a Light.

Albert Brinkley, a colored man who lives on East Third street, was stopped by Patrolman McCarty last night for riding his wheel without a light. Some words followed and McCarty locked him up. He was arraigned before City Judge Runyon this morning and fined $1.

FREE RUM THE REMEDY.

DR. A. H. LEWIS ABHORS THE LIQUOR LICENSE SYSTEM.

He Believes That the Abolishing of It Would Eventually Kill the Traffic.

Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis spoke to the Christian Endeavor Society of the Congregational church last evening and presented his ideas concerning the present position of the liquor traffic and suggested the line of campaign he believed would be most efficient in advancing the cause of temperance. The meeting was in charge of Rev. C. L. Goodrich, pastor of the church.

Dr. Lewis' address was particularly to the young people. The fifty years before them promised, he said, to be one of the most important epochs of modern times. They were about to enter one of the most commercial and wordly periods in the history of the world and the centre of it would be in the United States. In the last three years this country had stepped into a position it had never before expected to reach. There were life questions to be answered. There was no question that had not been disturbed or was about to be disturbed. With the new possessions came new opportunies, new entanglements and new temptations.

Of the questions to be considered, he pointed out, none would be more important than that of the liquor traffic. The great trouble to be encountered, he said, will be indifference.

To break up the liquor traffic, he explained, it was first necessary to break up its commercial power. Anything will go in this age as long as it pays. One of the strongest supports of the traffic was the license system. The abolishment of the license system and the advent of "free rum" would, he declared, be the means of ending the traffic all the sooner. It might drive the drinking habit into the homes but that was a step better than the saloon as the family influence would have its restraining effect.

His suggestions, briefly summed up, were that the commercial power of the saloons should be gradually undermined and the traffic forced down from its present protected position to that of any other trade and that there should be individual educational work among the young. The coming generation, if brought up to a proper realization of the evils of the traffic, would eventually leave the saloon without patrons and so effectively close its doors in the only practical way.

CHANCELLOR'S FUNERAL.

It Will be Held in Princeton Tomorrow Noon — Many Notables Will be There.

Arrangements for the funeral of Chancellor Alexander T. McGill were not fully completed last night, but it had been decided that the services should be held at the First Presbyterian church, in Princeton, at noon tomorrow. The interment will then be made in the old Princeton cemetery.

A special train will leave Jersey City at 10:30 o'clock tomorrow morning and will carry the body and the mourners. The honorary pall bearers will be the Justices of the Supreme Court, the five Vice Chancellors and United States Attorney-General John W. Griggs.

Mrs. McGill yesterday received many messenges of sympathy. One of the first was this from former President Harrison.

"Mary and I have heard with sorrow of your great loss and beg to offer you our tender sympathy.

"Benjamin Harrison."

Other messages were received from Governor Foster M. Voorhees and Vice Chancellors Pitney, Emery, Reed and Gray. Supreme Court Justices Magie, Dixon, Lippincott and Collins; Attorney-General S. H. Gray, Cortland Parker and Isaac L. Taylor paid their respects in person.

The Hudson County Bar Association met at the City Hall, Jersey City, at noon today to take action on the Chancellor's death.

Mrs. David Shephard Dead.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Flemington, April 23.—Mrs. David Shephard, of this place, died Saturday evening after an operation. She was formerly a resident of North Plainfield. She was a daughter of the late Stephen Pangborn, and a sister of of William Pangborn, Freeman Pangborn, Mrs. M. D. Brown, Mrs. Lewis Willett, of Plainfield, and Mrs. William Allen, of Westfield. Her husband was a well-known paperhanger and painter, formerly doing business in Plainfield. The funeral services will be held from the late residence, this place, tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock.

COURT ADJOURNED.

Out of Respect to the Late Chancellor McGill—Important Case Put Over the Term.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, April 23.—The case of Bernard Meyer against Joseph S. Harris, et als., was postponed for the term this morning by Judge Magie, on account of Chancellor McGill's death. The Judge stated that he would not hold court today out of respect for the late Chancellor, and tomorrow he would attend his funeral. That would only leave him three days this week for the trial, and it would be impossible for him to hold court here next week. As the case would probably take two weeks it was necessary to have it go off for the term. The jurors were excused until April 30th.

The Raritan sewer assessment was objected to by James Cooper and ex-Judge Bartine for the Cornelis on account of its being excessive. The Cornelis were assessed $600 on 1282 feet. Judge Magie granted them a rule to show cause, returnable May 11th, as to why the assessment should be set aside.

WHO TOOK THE FLOWERS

THE QUESTION THAT IS AGITATING PARK AVENUE BAPTISTS.

Easter Flowers Mysteriously Disappears From the Church—No One Knows Where They Are.

Another of the many mysterious cases of theft has been reported at the Park Avenue Baptist church. It occurred a week ago today and consisted of a large collection of very valuable flowers that were purchased for Easter decorations at that church, including some that were donated. It was desired that the flowers be frequently watered so that they might be kept until tomorrow evening when they were to be used for some social affair.

Those who were in charge of the flowers asked Edward Brokaw, the sexton, if he would sprinkle them occasionally, but he was unable to do so on Monday following Easter, as he was obliged to go to Westfield. Easter Monday morning two or three young men appeared at the church with an express wagon, and they were seen to enter the edifice by a nearby neighbor, who knew nothing of their purpose. She saw them bring the flowers out and take them away. During the day some of the church folks went to the church to water the flowers and greatly to their surprise they learned that they had been taken away. A thorough search was instituted, but not a trace of them could be found. They went to Peterson, the florist, where the flowers were purchased, thinking that he might have sent for them, but he knew nothing of the flowers. Other inquiriers were and have been made, but to no purpose.

The members of the church are becoming exasperated over these common depredations and are considering plans whereby it may be brought to an end. From every indication the parties that took the flowers had a key to the edifice, but where they secured it no one knows.

DEATH OF A YOUNG LAD.

Son of Armstrong Mulford—Was a Favorite With All Who Knew Him.

In the sudden death of Edward Armstrong Mulford, son of Armstrong Mulford, this city, the sympathy of the community is extended to the bereaved father. About a month ago the young man was taken with appendicitis, and an operation was performed, after which there were good chances of an early recovery. Recently bronchial-pneumonia developed and this caused his death which occurred this morning at 6 o'clock at his home, 583 Bainbridge street, Brooklyn. Mr. Mulford was with his son yesterday all day and there were no alarming symptoms.

The lad was a favorite with all who knew him. He was in the twelfth year of his age and was bright and active. Many will remember him when he lived in this city, where he made a host of friends. The funeral services will be held from the residence in Brooklyn tomorrow evening at 7:30 o'clock, and interment will take place in Hillside cemetery, this city, at the convenience of the family.

The Rummage Sale.

The donations for the Rummage Sale continue to pour in in an uninterrupted stream. The store in the Jackson building is now completely stocked but the ladies in charge desire to state that they will be very glad to receive anything further at the vacant store in the Stillman building on West Front street. The latter will be used as a stock room and the tables in the store will be replenished as fast as they are emptied.

ANOTHER VICTORY FOR LEAL'S SCHOOL TEAM

Easily Defeated Arion A. C., of This City, by a Score of 17 to 2.

HIGH SCHOOL DEFEATED.

LINCOLN HIGH SCHOOL OF WESTFIELD WON 26 TO 17.

Leal School Boys Outbatted and Outfielded Their Opponents—Poor Exhibition of Ball Given by High School Teams—The Scores.

The baseball team from Leal's School won another easy victory Saturday afternoon defeating the Arion A. C., of this city, by a score of 17 to 2. The game was played on the Washington avenue grounds. Timely batting and almost errorless fielding for the school boys were important factors in the result.

From the very start, it was evident that the Leal School team would be victorious and the question was only as to the score. The Arions hit Dupee's pitching harder than any other opposing team has this season but the hits were widely scattered. Poor base running helped to keep down the score. Eleven safe hits were made off Dupee's delivery but they only netted two runs, one in the fifth and one in the sixth.

Squires pitched a fair game, but the school boys had confidence and nineteen hits resulted. Twelve errors by the Arion team assisted in running up Leal's score. Only two errors were recorded against the latter team. A little wildness on the part of the Arion pitcher proved expensive, nine men taking their bases on balls to Dupee's two. Squires struck out five and Dupee ten.

It was too one-sided a game to please the spectators much. A meeting later in the season between the two clubs may prove more exciting. The Arions showed the need of practice. They had plenty of good material, but lacked the unity and confidence that made victory so easy for the school team.

The teams were as follows:

LEAL'S SCHOOL.	ARION A. C.
Tilney, c.	Kenneth, c.
McGee, lf.	Dolmer, 3b.
Dupee, p.	Roseberry, lf.
R. Schoonmaker, ss.	Gerdes, rf.
W. Schoonmaker, cf.	Reynolds, 2b.
Barcalow, rf.	Evans, 1b
Brown, 1b.	Smith, ss.
Mason, 2b.	Hand, cf
Millar, 3b.	Squire, 1b.

SCORE BY INNINGS.

Leals	3	1	2	0	5	5	0	1	x	—17

Some very poor ball playing characterized the game between the nines of the Plainfield High School and the Lincoln High School, of Westfield, played on Martine Common, Saturday afternoon. The major share of it fell to the local team. The Westfield team therefore won by a score of 26 to 17.

Davis pitched the first three innings for the Plainfield team. Somehow the visitors fell upon his curves with vigor and with the lack of anything resembling support from the infield and outfield, seventeen runs were rolled up to one for Plainfield. Denton went into the box after that and held down the visitors fairly well.

In the fifth inning the local team began to bat. In the seventh Westfield collapsed entirely and Plainfield pulled up to the extent of ten runs. They also scored in the last two innings, but the fat lead that Westfield obtained at the beginning was too great to be overcome.

The fielding of both teams was loose and both lacked team work. The local players showed a decided improvement in base running but their batting would stand much improvement. Squires caught throughout the game. The Westfield battery was Hegeman and Brown.

The score by innings was as follows:

Plainfield H. S.	1	0	0	0	2	1	1	0	2	1—17
Lincoln H. S.	4	7	6	0	2	0	3	1	3	—26

Heard President McKinley.

Mr. and Mrs. Isaac L. Miller, Mrs. Fanny G. Foster, John Valient, Chas. Place, Mr. and Mrs. William D. Murray, Dr. H. K. Carroll, Frederick H. Andrews were among those who attended the welcome meeting of the great Ecumenical conference in Carnegie Hall Saturday evening and who heard the addresses of President McKinley, Governor Roosevelt and General Harrison.

School Commenced This Morning.

Sessions of the Plainfield public schools were resumed this morning after the spring vacation which lasted all last week. Many of the teachers spent their vacations out of town but returned in time for the opening this morning.

FIGHTING IN LUZON.

Last Week One of the Bloodiest of the War.

FILIPINOS EVERYWHERE AGGRESSIVE

Heavy Losses Do Not Seem to Check Them—Pio del Pilar, Reported Dead, Is at the Head of His Warriors Again.

MANILA, April 23.—The past week has been one of the bloodiest of the war since the first day's fighting around Manila. Authentic reports, mostly official, show a total of 378 Filipinos killed, 12 officers and 244 men captured and many more wounded. The number of wounded is hardly guessable. Considering that the Filipinos entirely lack hospital facilities a great majority of the wounded will die. Probably the week's work finished 1,000 insurgents. The Americans' total loss was 9 killed and 16 wounded. Two sergeants and one private were killed in ambushes while escorting provision trains.

The insurgents have been aggressive in almost every province of Luzon. General Pio del Pilar's band, numbering 300, which was out of sight for three months, the leader being reported killed, has reappeared in its old field about San Miguel. Pilar is supposed to be again in command. He gave the American garrison at San Miguel, consisting of three companies of the Thirty-fifth infantry, with a Gatling, a three hours' fight during a night attack. The loss of the insurgents in this engagement is not included in the foregoing total, as they removed their dead and wounded.

Twenty Filipinos in the province of Batangas attacked Lieutenant Wende, who with eight men was scouting near San Jose. The lieutenant and five men were wounded and one private killed.

Sergeant Ledoius of the Thirty-fifth infantry was badly wounded in an ambush near Baliuag. Lieutenant Balch of the Thirty-seventh infantry with 70 men had a five hours' fight with 400 insurgents in the Nueva Caceres district. Twenty of the insurgents were killed.

Colonel Smith of the Seventeenth infantry, who captured General Montenegro and brought him to Manila, is in the isolation hospital suffering from smallpox, presumably caught from the Filipinos.

Colonel Smith's command captured 180 officers and men with Montenegro. The officers were brought to Manila. Montenegro, who was formerly one of the most dapper officers in the Filipino army, looks worn and haggerd. He says he has led a terrible life for months, and he has offered to return to the north with Colonel Smith to endeavor to persuade his former comrades of the uselessness of opposing the Americans.

One hundred escaped Spanish prisoners from the province of Tayabas, south Luzon, have arrived at Manila.

The insurgents have 400 more Spaniards in that district. Recently the Filipinos destroyed several rods of the railway line near Panique in an unsuccessful attempt to wreck a train.

Alabama Election Still In Doubt.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., April 23.—The race for governor is still a matter of conjecture. Returns have been received from 49 of the 66 counties voting one week ago, but these do not furnish any candidate a sufficient number to insure his election. From the returns received it appears that Colonel W. J. Samford has received instructions in 29 counties with a total of 142 delegates, Mr. Waller five counties with 68 delegates, General Shelley four counties with 57 delegates and Mr. Stallings seven counties with 41 delegates. Fourteen counties with a total of 108 delegates report uninstructed delegates. This leaves a total of 90 delegates yet to be heard from. These delegates are to come largly from western Alabama.

Shot by Mexican Bandit.

EAGLE PASS, Tex., April 23.—News has just reached here of the killing of Jordon L. Cooke at Acatlan, Oaxaca, Mexico. Cooke was in charge of a railroad construction gang at that place and was standing in a group of half a dozen men, when a bandit rode up and fired several shots, killing young Cooke. His father, who is ex-Sheriff Cooke of Maverick county, Tex., has taken the matter up with the Mexican authorities.

The Waters Subsiding.

AUGUSTA, Me., April 23.—The water in the Kennebec has fallen seven inches since Saturday morning, and it is thought the worst of the freshet is over. The outlook is so hopeful that a few of the departments of the Edwards Cotton mill were started today. Reports from up the river state that part of the Lockwood mill at Waterville remained shut down Saturday. So far no damage has been done in the Sandy river region.

Archbishop Corrigan Sails.

NEW YORK, April 23.—Archbishop Corrigan sailed on the Kaiser Wilhelm II yesterday. He was accompanied by his secretaries, Father J. M. Connolly and Father G. H. Huntman of St. Joseph's church. The archbishop will go direct to Rome, where he will remain several months. He will make a tour of the continent before his return.

Many Worthless Checks.

CHICAGO, April 23.—The Chicago police say they have 18 cases against C. O. Charlston, under arrest on the charge of getting small sums of money from various persons on worthless checks. Charlston is said to be a former justice of the peace and a former member of the Nebraska legislature.

Talmage Preaches Twice.

MANCHESTER, April 23.—The Rev. Dr. Talmage on leaving the church here yesterday where he had preached was called upon by an immense throng who had been unable to enter the building and was urged to speak again. He complied, preaching in the open air.

Steel Plant Closed For Rpairs.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., April 23.—The Ohio plant of the National Steel company was closed yesterday for the purpose of making repairs and putting in machinery to make steel rails. It is expected the plant will resume within ten days.

Connecticut River at Danger Point.

BRADFORD, Vt., April 23.—The Connecticut river is the highest for years here and still rising. Portions of the track of the Boston and Maine railroad between here and Wells River are under water. A warm rain is falling.

MAKESHIFTS IN TIME OF WAR.

As is usual in time of war, the South African campaign has displayed the genius of the contestants in the field of improvisation. The illustration shows two British examples in this line. The blanket shelter serves a very useful purpose in protecting the men from the rays of the hot African sun. The other picture gives a horse-watering scene. The water is placed in portable canvas troughs that are easily transported.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

One of the enjoyable features of the Tommy Shearer Company, during their engagement at Music Hall all this week, is the numerous high-class specialties which are introduced between acts every evening. Tommy Shearer with his new songs, jokes, dances and original wit is amusing in the extreme. Edw. Barton, descriptive vocalist; Edith Randal, who sings German versions of popular coon melodies and introduces her original success, buck dancing in wooden shoes, a big hit everywhere, and the comedy sketch artists, John J. and Florence Murray, recently of the Keith and Castle circuits, contribute to the specialty portion of the programme. The engagement of this talented company begins tonight on which occasion they present one of their best plays, the melo-drama, "The Day of Reckoning." Prices, 10, 20 and 30 cents. Ladies' tickets, issued for tonight, limited to sale of 300, one-half price and must be exchanged at box office before 6 p. m.

Last Tour to Old Point Comfort, Richmond and Washington Under Personal Escort.

The last six-day personally-conducted tour of the season to Old Point Comfort, Richmond, and Washington via the Pennsylvania Railroad will leave New York and Philadelphia on Saturday, April 28th.

Tickets, including transportation, meals en route in both directions, transfers of passengers and baggage, hotel accommodations at Old Point Comfort, Richmond, and Washington, and carriage ride about Richmond will be sold at rate of $34 from New York, Brooklyn and Newark; $32.50 from Trenton; $31 from Philadelphia, and proportionate rates from other stations.

OLD POINT COMFORT ONLY.

Tickets to Old Point Comfort only, including luncheon on going trip, one and three-fourths days' board at that place, and good to return direct by regular trains within six days, will be sold in connection with this tour at rate of $15 from New York; $13.50 from Trenton; $12.50 from Philadelphia, and proportionate rates from other points.

Cranford Woman Granted a Divorce.

Vice-Chancellor Stevens announced Friday that he would recommend a decree of divorce to Mrs. Augusta May Thompson, of Cranford, in the action brought against her husband, Herbert L. Thompson. He also gave her the custody of their two children and ordered Thompson to pay $25 counsel fee and $4 a week. The action was brought on the ground of desertion. Thompson answered with a general denial, and was represented in court by counsel, but refused to appear himself.

Rural Delivery of Mail.

The latest advices from the postal authorities at Washington received by Postmaster Fennell, of Morristown, regarding the establishment of a rural free postal delivery between Morristown and Mendham, which also includes Washington Valley and Brookside, appear to be favorable. Examinations under the Civil Service rules will soon be held for the appointment of additional letter carriers. If any appointments are made, the new men will be assigned to new territory.

BRIDGE WORK

In Dentistry is the best substitute for nature's work that can be done. Sound roots may be built up and crowned and thus fill up an unsightly space. It has to be made of a material that has strength and durability and one that will not discolor. Gold is the one that stands the test. That is the secret of the expense. But the advantages of a bridge over a plate are many times more than the cost of one compared to that of the other.

ACTION AGAINST ROE

Major Smith Charges Perjury, Conspiracy and Oppression.

COMPLAINT FILED IN ALBANY.

The Deposed Officer Seeks to Get Even With the Commander of New York State National Guard.

NEW YORK, April 23.—Charges have been preferred against Major General Charles F. Roe, commanding the national guard of New York, by Major Clinton H. Smith of the Seventy-first regiment, who was relieved from duty in December, 1898, at the time the state court of inquiry was ordered to inquire into the conduct of the regiment in the Cuban campaign. It was learned today that these charges reached the adjutant general's office in Albany last week, and the governor is expected to act upon them without delay.

Major Smith relies upon ex-Governor Frank S. Black and ex-Adjutant General C. Whitney Tillinghast to substantiate his principal allegations. It is understood that they will be subpœnaed as witnesses in case a court is ordered for the trial of General Roe. The principal charge against General Roe is perjury. This is based upon an affidavit made by General Roe in connection with mandamus proceedings instituted by Major Smith in the supreme court. This affidavit is as follows:

"Order 129 was issued by me after consultation with and with the approval of my immediate superior, the then governor, Frank S. Black."

Major Smith says he is prepared to prove that Governor Black not only did not approve the order, but that the order was never called to his attention.

In another charge Major Smith alleges conspiracy on the part of General Roe, asserting that in November, 1898, the general entered into an arrangement with Captain Anthony J. Bleecker and Captain William F. Meeks of the Seventy-first regiment to make public defamatory articles regarding his character as an officer. These two captains were court martialed for publishing the articles, and Major Smith asserts that, though convicted by the court, their fines were remitted on the recommendation of General Roe.

Major Smith also charges oppression. Under this charge he alleges that shortly after his return from Cuba General Roe made a demand for his resignation and threatened that if it should not be forthcoming promptly articles would be published reflecting upon his conduct in the Cuban campaign. Major Smith asserts that when he refused to resign attacks were made upon him by two officers of the regiment.

After this General Roe, according to Major Smith's charges, threatened to have him brought before a state board unless he requested a court of inquiry, and acting under this threat, he did ask for a court. The major alleges that the court was appointed by General Roe and was under his advice and direction and that General Roe used all the machinery of the law to oppress him.

Grow Wants Another Term.

HARRISBURG, April 23.—The Republican state convention will be held here on Wednesday to nominate candidates for congressman at large, auditor general and four presidential electors at large and elect eight delegates at large to the national convention at Philadelphia. Colonel Ned Arden Flood of Meadville has reached here and opened headquarters in the Lochiel hotel for his father, Dr. Theodore L. Flood, a candidate for congressman at large. Two persons will be selected for this office, and one of the incumbents, Samuel A. Davenport of Erie, is not a candidate. The other is Galusha A. Grow of Susquehanna, who entered congress 50 years ago and has served three terms as congressman at large. He is an active candidate for renomination and will be here on Tuesday to take personal direction of his canvass.

Murdered His Wife.

SYRACUSE, April 23.—John Hughes, aged 60 years, shot and killed his wife, Hannah Hughes, and seriously wounded Elizabeth Lyons, aged 16 years, as the women were leaving St. Vincent de Paul's church, in the northeastern part of the city, at noon yesterday. He then went to the house of a friend a mile distant and attempted to commit suicide by stabbing himself in the breast with a pair of shears. He was found there by the police and arrested, and on being taken to the police station his condition was so serious that the police surgeon ordered him taken to St. Joseph's hospital for treatment.

Killed His Friend While Drunk.

CHICAGO, April 23.—Laboring under the hallucination that his friends had entered a conspiracy to kill him and crazed with liquor, William Aylward, a fisherman, yesterday slashed with a pocketknife the throat of his old friend and schoolmate, William Larkins, severing the jugular vein and causing Larkin's death within ten minutes. Then turning on four other occupants of his fishing smack he lunged at them, cutting Thomas Norris, an 18-year-old boy, in the head and in his frenzy gashing his own right hand. He gave himself up and was lodged in jail.

Murdered by Indians.

SEATTLE, Wash., April 23.—Late arrivals from Alaska report the probable murder by the same Chilkat Indians that killed Mr. and Mrs. Horton of four prospectors. The latter went up the Chilkoot river, where they disappeared. They were followed by the Indians, who returned and acted in a mysterious manner. The names of three of the men are Anderson, "Sam" and Cleve. The other is not known.

Fatal Result of a Quarrel.

LEWISBURG, Pa., April 23.—In a quarrel between James Lenhart and Newton Motz the latter received a knife stab which severed the jugular vein and cut the windpipe. He died in a few minutes. Jealousy over a disreputable colored woman was the cause of the altercation, although both men are white. It is the first murder ever committed in Union county. Lenhart was arrested.

Fire In Northern New York.

PLATTSBURG, N. Y., April 23.—Fire destroyed about half the business portion of the town of Schuyler Falls, near here. Among the buildings burned were the town hall, two residences, a cheese factory, a barrel head factory, a storehouse and dryhouse.

READY FOR A BATTLE

Rundle and Campbell May Even Now Be Fighting.

BLOEMFONTEIN REPORTS CONFLICT.

The Forces of the Two Republics Said to Number Over One Hundred Thousand Men—Advance to Pretoria Delayed.

LONDON, April 23.—It is quite probable that by this time General Sir Henry Rundle has fought a decisive battle with the Boers. He intrenched himself Saturday to await the arrival of General Campbell with the Sixteenth brigade. That commander arrived Saturday evening, and news may therefore be expected at any moment.

It is still impossible to ascertain the position of affairs at Bloemfontein or to learn when the long expected advance northward will begin. The dispatches conflict regarding the state of preparations. For instance, the Bloemfontein correspondent of The Daily Chronicle says that the troops have been supplied with winter clothing and that the Modder river has fallen sufficiently to permit cavalry to cross. The Standard's representative says almost the exact opposite. Present indications, however, point to still further delay.

Without attaching undue importance to the stories from Lourenco Marques concerning the strength of the Boer forces, it would almost seem that the former estimates of 30,000 were rather low.

During the last few days there has been a renewal of Boer activity in all parts of the theater of war. The tenacity of the enemy around Colonel Dalgety proves that considerable forces are still there. Lord Roberts has ordered Lord Methuen to retire from Boshof, probably for the same reason. The presence of a Boer force at Frankfort looks like an intention to endeavor to cut off Methuen, who may next be heard of as retiring upon Kimberley.

The Boers are said to half encircle Bloemfontein to the eastward in a crescent formation.

The Daily News has the following from Lourenco Marques, dated April 20:

"It is reported here that General De Wet has been killed.

"Other European ambulance corps besides the Irish-American are taking up arms in behalf of the Boers. The latter are unable to obtain smokeless powder.

"Trenches are being constructed for eight miles around Pretoria. There are 69 guns in position at Kroonstadt and seven French guns at Pretoria. Twenty-five mines at Johannesburg have been charged with dynamite, and the Johannesburg fort has been dismantled."

The Lourenco Marques correspondent of The Times, under Saturday's date, says:

"Information received from responsible sources shows that at one time the two republics had 105,000 men in the field, including the colonial rebels. According to the same informant, they can still muster 80,000, of whom 50,000 are in the Free State, 10,000 in the Biggarsberg district and 15,000 in the districts of Fourteen Streams and Klerksdorp. It is now believed that before the war the burgher lists were deliberately falsified in order to deceive the British intelligence department."

A dispatch to The Times from Jammersberg, dated Saturday, says:

"The Boers are displaying renewed activity. Five guns were used freely today from four new positions against ours. Rifle fire from the south and west was heavy and continuous.

"Officers and men are on duty day and night in the trenches, and the heavy rains of late have made their task a great feat of endurance and pluck."

The Standard publishes a long dispatch from Bloemfontein, dated Friday, explaining the numerous difficulties which tend to delay the advance to Pretoria.

The Bloemfontein correspondent of The Daily Telegraph, in a dispatch dated Sunday, says all the troops are being rapidly equipped with boots, clothing and other accouterments. Lord Kitchener is making various disciplinary changes. The weather remains fine."

A dispatch from Walkerstroom, near Dewetsdorp, dated April 21, says:

"Fighting was continued today, mainly with the artillery. The yeomanry and mounted infantry pushed forward on the right flank and were subjected to shelling and a heavy rifle fire. The Royal Irish rifles captured a Free State flag. The Boers are well intrenched and hold their ground tenaciously. The British casualties have been slight."

General Brabant at Bushman's Kop.

MASERU, Basutoland, April 23.—General Brabant's advance guard reached Bushman's kop Saturday evening. The Boers hold a strong position there, with two guns. The engagement opened at sunrise with heavy rifle fire. At 9:30 cannonading began and continued for several hours. General Brabant's forces are on the plain and have fairly open country all the way to Wepener. Evidently the Boers reattacked Colonel Dalgety yesterday. Colonel Dalgety heliographs: "All well. Boers fired 300 shells yesterday without doing much damage."

Free Staters Making Money.

KIMBERLEY, April 23.—A letter from Bloemfontein says that the Free Staters are coining money out of the British occupation. Bread is 2 shillings a loaf, sugar 2 shillings and sixpence per pound and Swiss milk 3 shillings a tin. Other articles are proportionately high.

Hanna Will Be Chosen For Harmony

COLUMBUS, O., April 23.—The Republican convention opens tomorrow for the nomination of a state ticket and the selection of delegates at large to Philadelphia. It is believed that the delegates at large will be Senators Hanna and Foraker, Governor Nash and Congressman Dick. Senator Hanna has expressed his desire for some one else to be selected, but as there would be a contest for the place in the event of Senator Hanna's declination being accepted it is thought that he will be chosen in the interest of harmony.

Baseball.

NEW YORK, April 23.—Two games were played Sunday under the auspices of the National league. At Cincinnati the home team won from the Chicagos by a score of 7 to 6. The St. Louis team won an exciting game from Pittsburg in St. Louis by a score of 6 to 5. The attendance was 18,300.

—The Board of Trade will endeavor to hold a meeting this evening in the Babcock building.

—Jerusalem Chapter, No. 24, R. A. M., will hold a regular communication Thursday evening.

—There will be a special meeting of the Common Council this evening to consider the tax ordinance.

—Lucetta Council, Daughters of Liberty, will have initiation at their meeting Wednesday evening.

—The borough schools reopened this morning after being closed on account of the Easter vacation.

—Minerva Temple, No. 4, Rathbone Sisters, will meet tomorrow evening and arrange for an entertainment to be held soon.

—The North Plainfielders who enjoyed Honeyman's private tour to Washington last week returned home Saturday night.

—Residents on the upper part of Somerset street will appreciate the stonewalks now being laid on that street from Coddington avenue to Johnston's Drive.

—A week from this evening the board of governors of Muhlenberg Hospital will hold a regular meeting and discuss matters pertaining to the proposed new hospital.

—A large increase in attendance is noted at the services held at the Church of the Heavenly Rest, also at the meetings of the Industrial School. The members of the school are doing excellent work in making useful and pretty articles.

—The new water wagons recently purchased by the borough are now thoroughly equipped, the necessary hose having been attached to both so that water can be taken from the hydrants. The sprinklers have also been properly adjusted.

—Armstrong, the apothecary, corner of Park and North avenues, has the largest assortment of toilet soaps in the city at prices to suit all. The goods you purchase at this pharmacy can be relied upon, and accuracy in compounding prescriptions is a fundamental principle.

—The work of excavating a cellar for the Dyer residence on Grove street has been completed. The house, which now stands in the way of the extension of Duer street, from Craig place to the brook, will be moved to its new site on Grove street, near to the residence of Dr. D. C. Adams, this week.

—If you are at all handy (and you will be likely to find that you are a good deal more than you imagine) you can repair your rubber boots and family shoes, and any other rubber and leather articles, with Major's rubber cement and Major's leather cement. And you will be surprised at how many dollars a year you will thus save. If your druggist can't supply you, it will be forwarded by mail; either kind.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Raymond Schenck, of Somerset street, is very ill with an attack of the mumps.

Mr. and Mrs. John Adams, of Newark, spent yesterday with relatives in Netherwood.

Miss Douglass, of Brooklyn, has returned home after visiting at the home of Daniel R. Douglass, of Mercer avenue.

W. T. Powell and family, of Fairview avenue, leave this week for Asbury Park, where they will remain for the summer.

Among the guests registered at Haddon Hall, Atlantic City, are Mrs. E. B. Clark and her daughter, Miss Clark, of Crescent avenue.

Elmer E. Garretson, formerly of this city, but now of Seigfried, Pa., where he has an excellent position with the Lawrence Cement Company, expects to move his family there shortly.

Miss Edith Hyde, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Hyde, of East Front street, was one of the receiving party at a notable cotillion given Friday night by Mr. and Mrs. Clement A. Griscom, of Philadelphia, in honor, of their daughter, Miss Frances A. Griscom. The cotillion was given at Dolotran, Haverford, the country place of Mr. Griscom.

A SUIT OF WHITE.

IN every cake of Ivory Soap there are 100 complete suits of rich, creamy lather. Before dressing, put on a suit of Ivory Soap. Cover the entire body from head to foot with lather. Take the suit off with tepid water and you will remove with it all the impurities of the body which have been carried to the surface through the pores. Use a pure soap for this.

Manitoba Bush Fires Endanger Many Lives and Much Property.

WINNIPEG, April 23.—The city is in a fever of excitement caused by the awful bush fires now raging along the line of the Southeastern railway. All the country from La Broquerie, about 50 miles down the line, to Warren, Minn., a distance of 75 miles, is known to be in the grasp of the fire, which is sweeping the forest in all directions, fanned by a strong easterly wind, and the number of human beings entrapped is estimated at fully 500, composed chiefly of scattered settlers and men employed in the lumber camps. No messages have been received since 9 o'clock Saturday night, when the operator at Wood Ridge, about ten miles this side of Vassar, reported that the special train bearing Buchanan and Keith's men and railway officials had been within four miles of Vassar and was driven back by flames.

From stragglers who have escaped they learned that 100 teams, with all camping outfits, had been abandoned and that the men have scattered for their lives in all directions. One hundred thousand ties and 10,000 cords of wood were burned, and the camps were completely encircled by the raging flames. The special train had just left on another trial to break through the flames and attempt additional rescues. Since that time no word has been received, and the officials conclude that Wood Ridge is burned and the train entrapped. The forest along the track is dense, and retreat will be impossible. A rescue train with a strong force of men, doctors and supplies was dispatched at noon and reached La Broquerie safely. Beyond that the whole forest is a mass of flames, and advance is impossible, as the track is burned, and the retreat of the special train is cut off.

The wires are all down, and no news whatever can be obtained.

THE QUAY CASE NOW.

Senate to Consider That and Other Contests This Week.

WASHINGTON, April 23.—The senate will give considerable attention during the present week to questions of privilege involving three seats in the senate. Under the unanimous consent agreement reached on the 10th inst, the resolution declaring Senator Quay not to be entitled to a place in the senate probably will be voted on at 4 o'clock tomorrow, and in the meantime several speeches will be made upon the resolution. An intimation has been given of a possible effort to postpone the case further on the ground that there is not sufficient time left before the date set for the vote within which to deliver all the speeches senators desire to make on the resolution, but if a movement is made in that direction it will be stoutly resisted.

The case of Senator Scott of Virginia will be taken up next, to be followed by the report of the committee in the Clark case.

Prosperous Mexico.

CITY OF MEXICO, April 23.—Statistics showing great gains in Mexican trade and revenues have been published. In 15 years the gold value of imports has risen from $23,250,000 annually to $51,000,000. The exports, which are reckoned on a silver basis, have risen from $46,725,000 to $148,000,000. The stamp revenues increased from $4,474,000 to $23,250,000. The total federal revenue has risen from $37,621,000 to $60,275,000. The number of pieces of postal matter has increased from 10,400,000 to 111,452,000. The federal telegraph lines 15 years ago were 23,700 kilometers in extent and now extend 70,100 kilometers. The railway lines have increased from 5,708 kilometers to 12,751, and the construction of new lines is actively progressing. The number of ships and steamers entering federal ports has increased from 1,689 to 6,900. The treasury department now meets every bill as soon as due, and the revenues are steadily increasing.

Floods Cripple Southern Railroads.

MOBILE, April 23.—Two spans of the big Louisville and Nashville bridge at West Pascagoula, Miss., were forced out of place yesterday by floating logs coming down the overflowed river. The passenger service is badly crippled, and passengers and mail are being transferred in boats. The freight traffic is entirely suspended. This is the direct line of travel between the east and New Orleans, and traffic is always heavy. The Mobile and Ohio officials here have flood telegrams from Quitman, Miss., saying that the work of getting the Mobile and Ohio in shape after the high water is more difficult than expected.

INVESTIGATION COMPLETED.

Taylor's Indictment In Goebel Case to Be Held Up—Colson Set Free.

FRANKFORT, Ky., April 23.—While the Franklin county grand jury has not adjourned it is understood that the investigation of the Goebel assassination has been completed. The indictment against Republican Governor Taylor, charging him with being an accessory to the murder, will be held up till after the argument of the governorship contest case, which is docketed for hearing before the supreme court at Washington April 30, and it is said by persons in the councils of the prosecution that no steps will be taken in the case till after that time.

The rumor that Governor Beckham had been applied to for a requisition is without foundation.

Colonel David Colson, who has been confined in the Franklin county jail, which is guarded by the Beckham state troops, and who was acquitted on his trial in the circuit court Saturday of the killing of Lieutenant Scott, addressed the soldiers yesterday in response to an invitation from them. He left for his home in Middlesboro last night. His room was crowded all day by friends who called to congratulate him on his acquittal.

Former Governor W. O. Bradley, leading counsel for Republican Governor Taylor, has given the following interview:

"I have had no communication with Governor Taylor since he went to Washington. The press, I notice, states that he is there preparing his case for the supreme court. I am satisfied that this is not true. Governor Taylor went to Washington on purely personal business not connected in any way with the trial of his case.

"Nor do I believe the report to be true that he is in New York attempting to prevent the honoring of a requisition for his return to this state. As to whether a requisition could be lawfully issued by Mr. Beckham or would be recognized, it is necessary for me to express an opinion, as these are questions that must be determined by the authority upon whom such a requisition may be made.

"Governor Taylor has publicly declared that he was not and would never be a fugitive from justice and that if indicted he would respect the law and meet his accusers face to face. Therefore there remains but one course open to him, and that is to return as soon as he can, walk boldly and bravely into court and meet the indictments like a man."

CUBAN NEGROES OBJECT.

Terms Applied to Their Race Not Pleasing—What the Census Shows.

HAVANA, April 23.—A number of negroes have presented to Senor Tamayo, secretary of government, a petition to be submitted to Governor General Wood asking the latter to issue a decree making illegal the use by newspapers, official documents and police warrants of such terms as "mulatto," "colored" and "brown," which distinguish a man by his color. The petition asks that the papers and the authors of such documents shall be instructed to use the word "citizen." It says:

"The colored race has already proved its value and capability, and the continuance of the use of such descriptive epithets only tends to perpetuate the barrier between the black and white."

THE CROTON STRIKE.

All Quiet Now, and No Further Trouble Is Feared.

CROTON LANDING, N. Y., April 23.—So far as the strikers were concerned Sunday was an exceedingly quiet day in Camp Roosevelt. Trouble was feared because the contractors had on Saturday paid to the strikers nearly $30,000 due for wages, but there was not an incident of an exciting nature. All or nearly all of the men who gave any trouble and incited their fellows to disorder have either gone away or are under arrest.

Hundreds of visitors came to visit the soldiers in camp, but the visitors were not allowed to wander through the camp. The soldier boys could only see their friends outside the lines.

All three members of the firm of Coleman, Brounhard & Coleman were here looking over the ground. They said they considered the strike at an end. They believe that within a few days everything will be going along as quietly as before the first of the month. They anticipate no further trouble.

At the celebration of the one hundred and fifty-seventh anniversary of Jefferson's birthday at the Jeffersonian Club in Newark the other evening William B. Gourley, chairman of the Democratic State committee, and Assemblyman Allan Benny both declared for the renomination of Bryan for the Presidency. Mr. Gourley admitted that he was not an ardent supporter of Bryan in 1896, and was not now in favor of the 16 to 1 theory. "But," he went on, "the keynote of the coming campaign must be anti-imperialism. I do not say that the Democrats must take back anything or that they should recede from any position, but I believe that the living issues should be put forward. The most important, the vital issues for the Democrats, are anti-imperialism and anti-trusts. With these issues there can be constructed a platform broad enough to induce every Democrat to give earnest support to the party nominees."

Today's New York Tribune says that Congressman Charles N. Fowler commented briefly on the political situation in New Jersey yesterday, and said in his opinion the outlook for a clean Republican sweep in five, and possibly six, of the Congress districts was most promising, and he thought the general election in the State would be most gratifying to the Republican party. He did not care to discuss at length his own political future, but modestly said that he thought the prospects for his renomination were such as to lead him to hope that he would be returned. Attendance at the Republican State convention had convinced him, he said, that the party was entirely harmonious, and that it had but one purpose in view, and that was the achievement of a rousing victory for the Presidential, Congress and Legislative ticket.

Referring editorially to the approaching State convention of the Democrats for the election of National delegates, the Summit Record says: "Union county will present a candidate for this honor in the person of James E. Martine, whose services have been fully as valuable as any of those named and this county's delegates will probably be heard from in no uncertain tones if any attempt is made to shut out his candidacy. There are other Democrats in the State, too, who have been equally faithful and serviceable to their party, and whose friends should demand full consideration at this convention."

Standing pre-eminent among the jurists of New Jersey—a State which has given many noted men to judicial circles—the death of Chancellor McGill deprives the commonwealth of one who was a peer in affairs of law. Chancellor McGill was beloved by both the members of his profession and the laity, and his death causes profound sorrow and regret throughout the State. He was ever just and impartial, dignified and agreeable—possessing all the lovable attributes of a beautiful character.

In opening the last link in their Plainfield-Elizabeth line, the Riker syndicate is performing an act in trolley construction and extension that is of great importance and widespread in its effect of putting nearly all the large cities and towns in northern New Jersey in touch with one another by electric street railways. It opens up a new era for this section of New Jersey.

The movement inaugurated some time ago in Camden for the school children of New Jersey to raise funds to purchase a silver service, to be presented to the battleship to be named after this State, is being taken up by all the leading cities. So far the Governor and the Mayor in every large city in the State have consented to act on a committee to supervise the project.

The Democrats of Morristown have nominated Alderman Harrie A. Freeman as their candidate for Mayor in the city election that will be held in a few days. His Republican opponent is a minister. The campaign promises to be an exciting one.

In preventing a whist party that had been arranged for the purpose of raising funds for charitable purposes, the Ocean Grove authorities have become ridiculous in their efforts to be straight-laced.

The Jersey City Journal speaks of the Fowler-Bergen Congressional affair as "a friendly contest." It may have looked that way at the start, but it is very far from that now.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

There is a Justice of the Peace down in Bridgeton who appreciates the value of advertising, as shown by the following card printed in the Bridgeton Pioneer:

ATTENTION, EVERYBODY.

If a man's in love,
That's his business;
If a girl's in love,
That's her business;
If they contemplate marriage,
That's my business.

L. MEYERS, Justice of the Peace.

P. S.—I always reserve the right to kiss the bride. Terms liberal. Time given if desired.

The last sentence ought to start a matrimonial boom in South Jersey.

An amusing incident happened upon one of the late cars from Plainfield to Scotch Plains Thursday evening. The car was sidetracked on the Second street switch waiting for the customary car from the east to pass. The conductor, motorman and several passengers settled down for a little nap. In about 10 minutes the motorman came to and in an amusing manner informed the conductor and passengers that he thought they had better go on now, as the car they were waiting for had been in the carhouse for nearly an hour. The amusing side of the incident softened the wrath of the passengers. But the car had reached Scotch Plains before the conductor saw the joke.

The Sergeantsville correspondent of the Flemington Democrat-Advertiser has been made unhappy by the sight of vast but unattainable riches. "Being present," he says, "at a recent settlement between two gentlemen of our acquaintance, the one tendered the other a $100 bill in payment. Now, as your humble scribe has never been the owner of that amount, either before or since the Rebellion, he humbly asked the privilege of holding it in his hands for a minute to ascertain how one would feel with that much in his possession, but the request was politely refused for fear the bill might get broke in changing hands. As a panacea for our wounded feelings we borrowed a dime at the corner grocery, payable on the instalment plan, and—took a walk!"

Convention Hall Progressing.

KANSAS CITY, April 23.—Progress in the reconstruction of Convention hall is being made with rapid strides. The tons of twisted steel and debris have been removed from the site, much masonry in the outside walls has been replaced, and this morning the Gillette-Herzog company of Minneapolis, which is to erect the steel structure, put its force of men at work. Night work will be done to fulfill its contract, calling for the erection of the steel trusses by June 15. The last contract to be closed by the hall directors is for a fire and water proof tile roof to cost $14,000.

Thought to Be a Hero.

ATCHISON, April 23.—In the district court Thomas C. Woerman pleaded guilty to the charge of burning the costly residence of J. C. Fox, a prominent citizen, and was sentenced to serve 18 years in the penitentiary. He admitted the Fox family had been very good to him and that he set fire to the house in order to play the part of a hero by rescuing the family and thereby make his employer feel that his kindness had been bestowed worthily. Woerman was a reader of cheap novels.

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, April 23.—Miss Nettie Baldwin, grand-daughter of W. H. Cole, who had an operation performed on her nose, is now having trouble with her right ear. Although it is very painful no serious results are expected.

Thieves have again visited New Market and made life miserable for the inhabitants. About a month ago eighteen dogs were poisoned and this is believed to be a forerunner of the gang that came here Saturday night and entered the residences of Dr. Whitford and William Coriell. At one place they took an early breakfast, and at the other they took two overcoats, a watch and chain, some money and several other articles of value. They were undisturbed in their work, and it was not until late yesterday morning that the thefts were discovered. They entered both places without breaking any windows or doors, and not a trace of their visit is to be found except through the articles stolen. These robberies are becoming so frequent that there is some talk of organizing a vigilance committee.

No session of the Middlesex court was held Saturday, Justice Collins adjourning it until this morning, when he will try his last case.

Mrs. Palmer and son Arthur have again taken up their residence in town, after living in Newark for the past three months.

A little son arrived at the home of one of the Italian families near the sewage disposal beds Saturday morning.

Samuel Blazier, who has been with W. G. Runyon for sometime, has taken a position in Westfield.

Bert Taylor, of New Market, is receiving congratulations. A young son arrived Saturday.

Mrs. Neil Taylor and children have returned from a pleasant trip with Paterson relatives.

Adam Dealaman has placed a handsome new wagon in his delivery service.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, April 23—Those who have charge of the circulating of the petition or remonstrance, to be presented at the May term of court, against the granting of any of the numerous liquor licenses, which will be applied for then, report that they are meeting with much better success than was anticipated, notwithstanding reports to the contrary which have been in print and circulated. The League, in presenting this remonstrance to the citizens of Scotch Plains, changed their plans somewhat to the ones that controlled the several petitions circulated in January. Nearly everyone who desired could sign those. But the cry was immediately raised by the opposition that the signers were nearly all children. While this was not true to a certain extent, still there were some names that were under the legal age. To avoid this it was decided to put the work into the hands of one member and make a house to house canvass, and explain that women of eighteen or over and men of twenty-one would only be allowed to sign. It is estimated that this would give the League a petition of fifty bona fide and legal signers to be presented to the court. The work has been in operation one week. A thorough canvass is being made and will not be completed for several days, and The Press is free to state that the estimated number has been passed and the committee feel very much encouraged from the week's work. The saloon men are not standing idly by, but are working hard to get the requisite number of signers for their applications. This is proving to be hard work.

Efforts are being made to arrange a match shoot between Wm. Terry and Bender, of Murray Hill. If the arrangements are completed the match will be shot next month.

The Junior baseball team journeyed to Westfield Saturday afternoon to play the Junior Club, of that place. The Scotch Plains boys won by the score of 12 to 10.

If the newly-laid sidewalk along Front street could be rolled it would be a decided improvement and appreciated by pedestrians using that street.

The Saturday Night Club, of Fanwood, resumed their pleasant Saturday evening social gatherings in the borough firehouse Saturday evening.

Mrs. George L. Dunn led the young people's meeting in the Baptist church last evening.

Miss Susie L. Parse has returned from a pleasant visit with Brooklyn friends.

Miss Nellie Cook entertained friends from New York at her home Sunday.

SOMERVILLE.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Somerville, April 23.—A meeting was held at Somerset Hall Friday night to effect a permanent organization of a Democratic Club. In the absence of the former chairman, Walter Durling, the meeting was called to order by Jacob Klotz. Hon. James J. Bergen was chosen temporary chairman and Squire E. W. Farley secretary. The chairman of the committee on permanent organization, Jacob Klotz, presented a constitution and by-laws, which were unanimously adopted. The club was named the Jacksonian Democratic Club of Somerset County. The following officers were recommended and unanimously elected: President, Hon. James J. Bergen; first vice-president, Walter Durling; second vice-president, C. L. Voorhees; corresponding secretary, J. A. Gaffney; recording secretary, Nathan Weill; treasurer, James Q. TenEyck; sergeant-at-arms, George P. Norton. Committees were appointed as follows: Executive, finance, music, reception, public meetings, naturalization, membership, printing and polling. The executive committee was empowered to secure permanent club rooms to be kept open all the time. Meetings will be held the second and fourth Tuesdays of each month. The dues were fixed at $1 a year. Hon. James J. Bergen made a brief speech, outlining the duties and benefits of a club of that sort, after which the meeting adjourned.

As Harry VanDerveer was going to his home in East Somerville, about 10:30 Saturday night, he noticed that William Burd's residence was on fire. He banged on the door, but finding no response sent in an alarm from Box 123. The West End Hose quickly responded, but the other companies went to the depot, thinking the alarm came from there. The whole interior of the house was destroyed. The family was away from home, having gone to Liberty Corner to spend Sunday. It is thought the fire started from the kitchen range, as it was first discovered above that. There was no insurance on the household goods and only a small amount on the house. The total loss is about $4,000.

John A. Logan and Elizabeth E. Miller were united in marriage at the Second Reformed church parsonage Thursday, by Rev. Dr. E. G. Read. The couple were to have been married some time ago, but were prevented, owing to the bride having contracted measles.

Rev. Dr. E. G. Read, pastor of the Second Reformed church, went to New York Saturday to attend the Ecumenical Conference, to which he was a delegate, representing the Reformed church of America.

J. B. Ernst and Charles E. Clark, of Philadelphia, who were detailed here to start the free delivery system, have gone back to Philadelphia, having about completed their work.

Rev. Howard C. Hasbrouck and family of Peapack spent Friday and Saturday in town.

WESTFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Westfield, April 23—Sarah Brown, a colored woman, was arrested by Constable Peek Saturday evening and taken before Justice of the Peace Toucey, where "Shine" Manning, also colored, accused her of stealing $6 from his clothes while he was sleeping. The woman said that she had been visiting "Shine's" sister on Friday afternoon and that the sister had asked her to sit in the room where "Shine" was sleeping and that the sister had also asked her to take his money, which she did but she claimed that the amount was only $2. "Shine" and his sister both testified that the amount was $6 and the Brown woman, to settle the case, paid over the $6 and the case was dismissed.

A man, who had a razor with him, with the name E. Haring scratched on the blade, was arrested by Constable Chamberlin Saturday evening while begging. The man was drunk and was kept in the "jug" until yesterday morning, when he was sober enough to appear before Justice of the Peace Tucey. The latter gave him an urgent invitation to spend the next thirty days at Elizabeth and he was forced to accept.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

South Plainfield, April 23 — Will Hamilton's baby came very near having a serious accident Saturday. Some of the children were wheeling him in his go-cart, and they pushed the cart off the end of the bridge near the church. The cart fell about five feet alighting in about one foot of water. No damage was sustained except a wetting.

Al Soper was elected secretary and treasurer of the Baptist Sunday-school yesterday to fill the vacancy made by his brother, Charles, moving to Newark.

Quite a number of fish are being caught with hook and line and some strings have been gigged.

Patrick Kane spent Sunday in town with his mother, who was quite ill Saturday.

Raymond Randolph was home Sunday from Mariner's Harbor.

CRANFORD.

Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Cranford, April 23 — George Morrison, the local agent of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, has directed Dr. Winans to destroy an old, decrepit horse that has lately wandered on the thoroughfares, and for whom no owner can be found. The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals also has had a well-known horseman fined by Justice Cox $15 for cruelly driving and failing to properly care for a horse he owns. Mr. Morrison says offenders against the law are to be vigorously prosecuted in the future.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Miss Emma Hyatt, of East Ninth street, was one of the attendants at the wedding of Miss Henrietta Delaplaine Danforth, daughter of Mrs. George H. Danforth to Howard White Starr which was celebrated in the Central Presbyterian church, West Fifty-seventh street, New York Wednesday noon.

Gold In Central New York.

CANASTOTA, N. Y., April 23.—D. M. Tuttle of this village has discovered deposits of gold on his farm, but is not likely to enjoy the benefits to be derived therefrom. By the provisions of a New York state law such discoveries are public property, and the first man to stake a claim has a right to all the precious metals he can unearth within the limits of that claim. Mr. Tuttle was ignorant of the existence of such a law, but some of his neighbors were not. Accordingly he awoke one morning to find a number of claims staked out on his farm. His only redress lies in entering suit for damages caused by excavations made on his land. Whatever gold may be secured his neighbors will obtain. There are likely to be several lawsuits, as it is stated that a number of the claims overlap one another.

Mohammedanism In America.

KENOSHA, Wis., April 23.—Two thousand Americans, according to Steyan Krstoff Vatralsky, have embraced Mohammedanism since the congress of religions at the World's fair led Turkish missionaries to undertake the task of seeking converts in the United States. Mr. Vatralsky, who was graduated at Harvard with the class of '94, is a Bulgarian from the village of Vakarel. He believes the spread of Mohammedanism in America is to be viewed with indignation and alarm. Kenosha, Mr. Vatralsky insists, is the Mecca of American Turks.

Cuban Receipts Growing.

WASHINGTON, April 23.—The division of customs and insular affairs of the war department made public today the statement that the total receipts of the Cuban treasury for the month of March were $1,678,669. The receipts named are divided as follows: Customs, $1,472,990; postal receipts, $13,729; internal revenue receipts, $94,330; miscellaneous receipts, $97,619. The receipts for the corresponding month of 1899 amounted to $963,033.

Warren to Take a Civil Post.

DURBAN, April 23.—General Sir Charles Warren has arrived here en route for East London, Cape Colony. It is believed that he is going to the Orange Free State to assume an important civil post.

Large Shipment of Cotton Cloth.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 23.—The largest single foreign shipment of cotton cloth ever made from the south has just been forwarded by the Dwight Cotton mills of Alabama City, Ala. The shipment comprised 17 carloads and is destined for points in the Chinese empire.

Shot Girl Who Rejected Him.

NEW YORK, April 23.—Because she would not be his wife, Max Golb put four bullets into Gussie Sachs yesterday at her home. A howling crowd chased him for blocks, caught him and dragged him badly battered to the police station. The girl is likely to die.

Croker Well and Satisfied.

LONDON, April 23.—Mr. Richard Croker of New York is at Wantage, perfectly well. He expressed himself as eminently satisfied with the political situation at home.

Khaki Cloth.

This is the latest novelty in our department of Washable Dress Goods and promises to become extremely fashionable for bicycling, golfing, outing and tailor-made skirts and suits.

It is the same fabric as was worn by the U. S. Troops during the Santiago campaign and is used by the British soldiers in South Africa. Although firm in weave it is peculiarly solf and clinging, and will endure an unusual amount of rough usage. The color is a beautiful tan.

Lokal-Nachrichten aus der alten Heimath.

Sachsen.

Dresden. Der Export aus Dresden nach den Ver. Staaten im letzten Vierteljahr betrug $238,072, oder $25,044 mehr als in dem entsprechenden Zeitraume des Vorjahres.—Der Verbrauch von Pferdefleisch ist in Dresden im Jahre 1899 um 20.85 Prozent gegen das Vorjahr gestiegen; insgesammt wurden 1333 Pferde und zwei Esel geschlachtet. Besagte Zunahme wird bis zu einem gewissen Grade auf die hohen Schweinefleischpreise zurückgeführt.

Leipzig. Anhier brannte die Celluloidfabrik von Engelmann u. Richter ab. Elf Personen kamen bei dem Brande um, darunter die Familie des Hausmanns, der in der Fabrik wohnte. Letzterer sprang, um sich zu retten, aus einem Fenster der oberen Stockwerke herab und zerschmetterte sich den Schädel. Das Feuer war von einem Mitgliede der Familie des Hausmanns angelegt worden. Zu den Umgekommenen gehören der Buchdrucker Barth und seine Söhne Erich und Felix, die Buchhalter Delitzsch und Faber und der Laufbursche Irran.

Mittweida. In der Stadtverordnetenversammlung wurde den mit dem Gutsbesitzer Harter-Neudörfchen abgeschlossenen Verträgen zugestimmt, nach welchen die Stadt das im Zschopauthale gelegene Kratze'sche Fabrikgrundstück, sowie einige Feldparzellen und die daran liegenden Wasserkräfte der Zschopau für den Preis von 225,000 Mark ankauft. Durch diesen Kauf hat sich die Stadt die Wasserkräfte gesichert für ein hier zu errichtendes städtisches Elektrizitätswerk.

Netzschkau. Der Ausschuß für die Errichtung einer Bismarcksäule auf dem Kuhberge hat die Ausführung des von dem Architekten Thurm vorgelegten Entwurfes beschlossen. Die Säule soll 21 Meter hoch werden, die Kosten betragen 35,000 Mark. Betheiligt sind die Städte Greiz, Reichenbach, Lengenfeld, Elsterberg, Mylau und Netzschkau.

Thüringische Staaten.

Gera. Letzthin fand hier die Generalversammlung der Groß-Einkaufs-Genossenschaft deutscher Konsumvereine mit dem Sitz in Hamburg statt. An 58 Gesellschaften waren durch 100 Abgeordnete vertreten. Nach dem Geschäftsbericht betrug der Umsatz im Jahre 1899 6,296,072 Mark, gegen 5,579,-034 Mark im Vorjahre. Der Reingewinn betrug 43,216 Mark, wovon 29,142 Mark 44 Pfennige zur Vertheilung kamen. Das Stammkapital soll von 140,000 Mark auf 200,000 Mark erhöht werden.

Ilmenau. Der städtische Schutzmann Paul Louis Stüber wurde wegen Körperverletzung im Amte zu einer Geldstrafe von 60 Mark verurtheilt. Der Staatsanwalt hatte einen Monat Gefängniß beantragt. Stüber hatte in stark angetrunkenem Zustand zur Nachtzeit Ilmenauer Einwohner belästigt und bei der Schlägerei, die er durch sein Benehmen hervorrief, einen Handschuhmacher dermaßen in den Finger gebissen, daß dieser sechs Wochen arbeitsunfähig blieb.

Oberhof. Hierorts wurde für die holländische Königin Wilhelmine von Mitte Mai bis Mitte Juni Wohnung gemiethet.

Freie Städte.

Hamburg. Die Hamburg-Amerika-Linie hat mit Besitzern schwedischer Eisenerzgruben einen auf die Dauer von zehn Jahren laufenden Vertrag für Verschiffung von Eisenerzen abgeschlossen. Pro Jahr sollen durchschnittlich 1,000,000 Tonnen verfrachtet werden. —Der alle zwei Jahre vertheilte Preis der hiesigen Otto Wahlbruch-Stiftung von 12,000 Mark für die beste naturwissenschaftliche Arbeit wurde heuer dem Professor Karl Gegenbauer in Heidelberg zuerkannt.—Der ehemalige Lieutenant am Hamburgischen Kontingent, Heinrich Hagemann, Sohn eines früheren hiesigen Kirchenbuchführers, ist hier im 85. Lebensjahre gestorben. Hagemann mußte wegen eines Vorkommnisses, das zur Zeit viel Aufsehen machte, den Hamburger Dienst verlassen, fand aber Stellung im österreichischen Heer. Er avancirte dort zum Major, wurde 1866 bei Königgrätz verwundet und als Invalide verabschiedet.

Bremen. Nach einem Gesetzentwurf, den der Senat der Bürgerschaft vorgelegt hat, sollen künftig auch Frauen in der öffentlichen Armenpflege beschäftigt werden. Der Regel nach sollen ihnen alle Fälle, die Kinder betreffen, übertragen werden.—Aus dem Jahresbericht des Norddeutschen Lloyd geht hervor, daß die Gesellschaft im vergangenen Jahr 197,226 Passagiere beförderte, gegen 161,963 in 1898, und 2,308,404 Kubikmeter Fracht, gegen 1,983,082 Kubikmeter in 1898.

Lübeck. Die feierliche Eröffnung des Elbe-Trave-Kanals findet am 16. Juni statt. Der Kaiser nimmt daran Theil.

Oldenburg.

Jever. Hier starb Wilhelm Mettker, der Begründer der Gesellschaft „die Getreuen von Jever," welche alljährlich dem Fürsten Bismarck zu seinem Geburtstag mit einer dichterischen Widmung in plattdeutscher Sprache 101 Kibitzeier übersandten.

Easter Gowns for the Gotham Fashionables

Great Preparations Have Been Made for a Gorgeous Display of Finery

FIFTH AVENUE on Easter Sunday is the finest place in the country to study fashions. I have seen it in previous years, and know whereof I speak, and this year will prove no exception to this rule, if one is to judge from the many beautiful gowns which the Gotham dressmakers and tailors have been turning out for this occasion for some time past. Even the dressmakers and ladies tailors of Paris and London are contributing largely to this fashionable promenade for Easter Sunday.

Easter Sunday will bring with it a mass of tucks and plaits. Practically every gown that I have seen is arrayed with them, and they promise to be the feature of the early spring styles. Gowns of silk poplin will also be seen in comparatively large numbers on this day of new gowns.

I have made a round of the dressmaking and importing establishments, and this is what I have found in part:

A gown of royal blue silk poplin of which the skirt was made with a front panel of tiny tucks to within a foot of the bottom of the skirt where it flared in a deep flounce. The sides and back of the skirt were entirely new with four tucks just below the hips, running across the back, a space and then six tucks, another space and then eight tucks, with three tucks around the bottom. To be worn with this is a rounded empire jacket with high Medici collar with pointed revers, and four tucks in clusters of three rows in bolero effect on each side of the front.

OF HELIOTROPE SATIN FACED HENRIETTA CLOTH.

A smartly-cut gown of heliotrope satin-faced Henrietta cloth. The skirt of this gown is tucked all around with eight tucks in clusters up and down. Around the bottom of the skirt are four strappings of the goods with pipings of glace silk at each side. Strappings of the cloth between the tucks extending to the knees. The bodice has a round yoke tucked across, and tucks in clusters of four from the yoke to the waist line, with strapped pieces between. A jabot of white chiffon with rosettes at the throat to finish.

A handsome gown of light silk poplin, trimmed with ecru lace applique. The skirt has three deep tucks on each side that are stitched just below the knees. A double box plait at the back. There is handsome ecru lace applique around the foot of the skirt. To be worn with this is a pointed bolero jacket with the applique of lace over. A deep turn-back collar and revers of ecru satin, with rows of narrow black velvet ribbon on. Tight-fitting sleeves with the applique of lace on the top and deep points falling over the hand.

An attractive gown of sea green cloth trimmed with a grayish lace applique. This gown has four pieces of the lace applique on the front and sides of the skirt with a double box plait at the back. The bodice is short, just to the waist line with strappings of the cloth around it extending nearly half way at the back, and gradually growing very short under the arms. An applique of lace over the shoulders, with a high collar of the same.

A gown of sapphire blue cloth. The skirt is quite plain, with a simulated flounce at the foot. It is not very full, but just suggestive of a fullness that gives an outward curve below the knees. The back has a graduated box plait. A basque coat is to be worn with this, made of the same cloth, with turnover collar and deep rounded revers of sapphire blue panne, with silver braid over white on the revers, and a V to finish at the wrist.

These descriptions show that skirts will show more novelty than bodices in ordinary spring gowns. The models are many, and the selection of fashion is yet unmade; but certain it is that either draping or folding or trimming will be used on nearly every skirt. The choice ranges from the bands and the straps of the plain tailor-made to the plaitings, the kiltings, and the actual draperies caught up on the hip or the back of the smarter gowns. One of the favorite styles for soft materials is the side-pieces laid in flat plaits, leaving a plain tablier effect at the front, and a single or double box-plait flattened down as much as possible by ironing at the back. For the very softest of fabrics, such as crepe-de-chine, or taffetas, or the new silk crepon, graduated rows of gatherings are being run all round the top of the skirt for about six inches down; often these rows are shaped into a point in the center like a Swiss belt, and the same gatherings are continued upwards to an equivalent point on the bodice, giving the effect of a princess dress with a belt added. Other new model skirts have a tunic draped up to the back so as to draw it into a few folds at the left hip, which are caught under a buckle an inch or two from the top of the skirt behind. Of course this needs a separate foundation, on which the band of material round the foot to simulate the underskirt is stitched. A pretty novelty, not easy to describe clearly, but a pleasing change after long seeing plain and somewhat stiff designs, had a tunic draped up under a buckle to the front of the left hip, the folds thence carried round the hip in a manner worthy to be called a panier, and at the back passed under another buckle, whence the soft black cloth, of which the model was built, fall in a cascade of folds to the slightly trained end of the gown.

MUSKRATS SUCCEED TERRAPIN

Baltimore Gourmets Assert They Cannot Distinguish the Difference.

The rapid exhaustion of the supply of terrapin on Maryland's "east shore" has set the lovers of good living to devising a substitute for the succulent dish. One of the most fashionable clubs of Baltimore with a membership of 700 prominent citizens, and famous for the excellence of the meals served to those who dine at its rooms, has recently introduced the muskrat as filling the "long-felt want," and with a gratifying measure of success.

"Muskrat a la terrapin" is a feature of its menu, and it is stated that so popular has this amphibious "varmint" become that the price of muskrats has greatly increased on the eastern shore of Maryland.

It is said that the muskrat is the most cleanly of animals; that when not in the water he delights in rolling in clean, white sand; in short, that he, too, is one of nature's epicures. As to his odor, special care must be taken in skinning, cleansing and preparing him for the table. If that feat is successfully accomplished the little animal is ready for the attention of the cook, and then for the appetite of those who have the courage to eat it.

The club also serves the genuine old-time cornbread in pones—that is, whenever the real cornmeal can be procured. The ingredients of these pones are cornmeal, eggs, salt and water, and the best quality of butter. No buttermilk is used and the best cornbread authority says that the use of baking powder is "ruinous."—Baltimore American.

TO BE HONEST PAYS.

Senator Depew Gives Some New Views on an Old Subject.

Crooked Methods, He Thinks, Invariably Lead to Loss of Self-Respect and Usually End in Financial Disaster.

Senator Chauncey M. Depew, head of the Vanderbilt system of railroads, in response to an invitation from the Chicago Tribune to write a few lines on the subject of "honesty in business," sent in the following reply:

Honesty is too much talked about as if it were scarce in these days. The business principles of to-day are better, purer, and more universally honest than they were in the days of my boyhood. Then the motto of life ran something like this: "All is fair in love, war and trade!" But this generation has tabooed that maxim, and business methods were never better or more reputable than they are at this minute.

Many immense fortunes have been made by men of this generation, who employed strictly honest means to attain their ultimate success and great wealth. Take Bessemer, for example. He invented the steel which is used so extensively all over the world for car rails and revolutionized the manufacture of steel, giving employment to thousands of persons and bringing wealth to many beside himself.

John Wanamaker is a good man to take for another example. He started in a small way with a small store, and he is to-day one of the wealthiest men in the country, and he has been always an upright, honest man. In what lay the secret of his success. Simply in this: He knew what the people wanted, he knew where to buy it, and he knew how to advertise. Many a man, as we all know, has made a fortune through judicious advertising. Take two men starting in business at the same time. One uses all the money he makes in living well—even extravagantly.

The other invests all the surplus cash that he can lay his hands on in advertising here, there and everywhere that

CHAUNCEY M. DEPEW.
(New York Central Magnate and United States Senator.)

he thinks will attract public notice. What is the result? The man who advertises has crowds flocking to his shop to see the beauties of the advertised goods, and as the public begin to run so they will continue from sheer force of habit. The first shopkeeper will in the meantime be sitting, unthought of and uncared for, aghast at the crowds which daily throng the counters of his competitor and bitterly bewailing the bad luck which has followed his own venture into trade. Yet he has no one to blame for it but himself.

Some persons might consider that old Commodore Vanderbilt was dishonest because he did not refund the money which the stockholders of the Hudson River and Harlem railroads would have made if they had continued to hold their stock after he took hold of the roads. But he was not.

When the commodore had made $20,000,000 in shipping of various sorts he looked about for something good in which he might invest his capital. He found these railroads, which were then in a most deplorable out-of-date condition—the stock only worth $5 on $100—and the bonds you could not sell for love or money. But he took hold, built new bridges, put all modern improvements into the car service, advocated new signal systems; in short, he infused new blood into the entire service of the road at an enormous outlay of capital—and then all the capital came back, bringing more with it.

The main temptation with which the ordinary business-man of to-day is beset is the temptation to misrepresent his capital or business prospects and thus obtain greater credit. But don't do it. "Honesty is the best policy" is the safest motto to follow. I know what I am talking about.

"Be good and you'll be happy, but you won't have a good time," may sound smart and elicit rounds of applause, but it is a fallacy.

An Immense Kentucky Oak.

J. P. Harl, of Barrett's Ferry, near Fordsville, cut from his farm one white oak tree that measured 90 inches across the stump. He got 48 feet of trunk, which he made into sawlogs and floated to Evansville. He paid a neighbor who owned a low wagon $25 to haul the tree one-half mile on level ground to Rough river. It took eight horses to haul it, one cut at a time, each cut being about 12 feet long. A nine-foot saw was purchased in Owensboro by Mr. Harl to fell this monstrous oak. There would have been about 60 feet of trunk instead of 48 feet, but the top sawlog was ruined on account of splitting when the massive top struck the ground.

Young Gunner Was Cool.

A middy named Down, only 17 years of age, managed a gun during the Tugela battle, and his coolness was remarkable.

BRUIN WAS CURIOUS.

Bear Examines a Lazy Camper's Bed and Is the Cause of an Unpleasant Awakening.

It was while in the Yellowstone National park that this joke was played upon one of a jolly crowd of young people. The government keeps a great many wild animals at this place, and visitors are not allowed to shoot or even throw stones at them, so they become very tame. The bears in particular, big, clumsy, awkward fellows, loaf around the hotels to eat up everything that is thrown out of the kitchen. At the hotel where this particular party was stopping, one of the brown cinnamon bears would even come up on the porch to sleep, like a big dog, and would now and then go shambling into the office on chilly days and lie down in front of the fire.

Some of the party thought it would be great fun to camp out for awhile and they got some tents, which they pitched in the woods. One of the party was a lazy kind of a fellow who liked to sleep in the daytime, and almost every afternoon he could be found snoring away on the cot in his tent.

His friends thought it was about time to stop this after awhile, and they got one of the cub bears, that was really as tame as a big kitten and almost as playful, and one afternoon while the sleeper was tucked up as usual under his canvas cover, they put the cub inside his tent.

Bruin was nearly always hungry, and at first he went sniffing around to find something to eat. But pretty soon he heard the snoring, and at first he was going to clear out, but his curiosity got the better of him, and he went over to the corner in which the cot stood and began hauling at the covers to see what kind of an animal it was that was making such a funny noise.

When the sleeper awoke to find a big bear bending over him, he gave a yell, and a leap that sent young bruin sprawling, and ran away as fast as he could. When he found out the joke that had been played upon him he was "mad as a hornet," but after awhile he could see the fun and laughed with the rest of them. But he wouldn't go out camping any more.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

STOLEN TRADE SECRETS.

How the Mysteries of Some Notable Crafts Were Obtained by Enterprising Competitors.

Few inventions are at present worked secretly, as the patent laws now provide the protection which in olden times was wanting. One hundred years ago whatever a man discovered in the arts or mechanics he concealed. Workmen were put upon their oath never to reveal the processes used by their employers. Doors were kept closed, artisans going out were searched, visitors were rigorously excluded from admission and false operations blinded the workmen themselves. The mysteries of every craft were hedged in by precautions which now appear to be fanciful and silly.

But neither locks nor oaths availed against the ingenuity of envious or inquisitive rivals. One after another trade secrets were revealed, until the wise patent laws did away with all necessity for secrecy. The secret of the manufacture of citric acid was stolen from an old chemist who had a shop near Temple Bar, in London, by a chimney sweep, who dropped down the flue and took good note of the process.

The secret of the manufacture of tinware, which was discovered in Holland and kept a secret for 50 years, was stolen by James Sherman, a Cornish miner.

The history of cast steel presents a curious instance of a manufacturing secret stealthily obtained under the cloak of an appeal to philanthropy.

In 1760 a Sheffield watchmaker became dissatisfied with the watch springs in use, and after many experiments succeeded in making cast steel. In 1770 he had a large factory making this steel. The process was wrapped in secrecy by every means within reach—true and faithful men hired, the work divided and subdivided, large wages paid and stringent oaths administered.

It did not answer. One midwinter night a traveler knocked at the gate. It was bitterly cold, the snow fell fast and the kind foreman gave the wanderer shelter from the storm. He sank upon the floor and soon appeared to be asleep. But in reality he kept his eyes open, saw the whole process, and when he departed in the morning he carried with him the secret of making cast steel.

Ants Made a Bridge.

A naturalist found that some black ants were devouring the skins of some bird specimens on a table, so he made tar circles on four pieces of paper and put one under each leg of the table. Pretty soon he found the ants busily at work again, and, looking at the tar circles, found each one was bridged by bits of sand which the clever ants had brought in from the street.

COAL AND IRON.

Unprecedented Production of These Twin Minerals.

WASHINGTON, April 23.—According to returns representing between 80 and 90 per cent of the total tonnage, the production of coal in the United States in 1899 is estimated by Edward W. Parker, statistician of the United States geological survey, to have amounted to 230,838,973 long tons, equivalent to 258,539,650 short tons. As compared with the production in 1898, when the product amounted to 196,405,953 long tons, or 219,974,667 short tons, this indicates an increase of over 34,000,000 long tons, or 17.5 per cent.

These figures exceed by 15,000,000 short tons the outside estimates heretofore made on the coal tonnage for 1899. The production of 220,000,000 short tons in 1898 was nearly 20,000,000 in excess of that in 1897, and both of these years were banner years in the industry.

The coal mining industry is so closely associated with that of pig iron and of manufactured iron and steel that it is worth while to note what effect the record for 1899 made by these commodities will have upon the total mineral production for 1899. The production of pig iron in 1899 was 13,700,000 long tons against 11,773,934 long tons in 1898. The average price for pig iron in 1899 was about $18 per ton, making the total value about $246,600,000 against $116,557,000 in 1898, when the average price was less than $10 per ton. This makes an increase of $130,000,000, and the increase of $51,000,000 in the value of the coal product makes a total increase of $181,000,000, which without any increase in the other mineral production would make the total value of the mineral products in 1899 about $860,000,000.

ELEPHANT KILLED.

One of Forepaugh & Sells' Monsters Choked by Mistake.

NEW YORK, April 23.—Dick, a vicious elephant belonging to Forepaugh & Sells' circus, was strangled to death in Madison Square Garden in a futile attempt to subdue his belligerent disposition. According to a member of the circus, it was not intended to destroy him.

Dick was one of the eight original Forepaugh dancing elephants and was trained by Adam Forepaugh, Jr., nearly 20 years ago. Until last winter he was one of the most consistent performers in the circus, but a few weeks ago in Columbus, O., while preparations were being made to bring the show to this city, he began showing a rebellious disposition.

While preparations were being made yesterday morning to move the circus from the Garden Dick started to trumpet. Fearing a stampede of the 14 elephants, Lewis Sells, one of the proprietors, decided upon stern measures to subdue him. Huge ropes were passed around the giant's body and about his neck, and a dozen men seized the ends and began to pull, the idea being to choke him into submission. Finding that the men made no impression upon him, Mr. Sells had elephants attached to the ropes. They pulled with such vigor that the ropes tightened about Dick's neck and choked him to death. The carcass was cut up and carted away. It took 14 men nearly 16 hours to perform the task. The elephant was about 35 years old and weighed 5,000 pounds.

THE PORTE ANSWERS.

Will Treat American the Same as Other Missionaries.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 23.—The porte has replied to the American demands, stating that Turkey will compensate American missionaries under the same conditions as in the case of other foreign subjects.

The United States legation joined the other embassies in protesting against the increase of import duties, the reply to the notification of the porte asserting that the United States government expects to be previously consulted with regard to any changes.

There is the greatest interest in political circles regarding the attitude of the United States in the indemnity claim, and it is believed that the powers having similar claims will support American action.

Welland Canal Attacked.

NIAGARA FALLS, April 23.—An attempt was made Saturday evening to destroy Lock 24 of the Welland canal at Thorold, Ont. Three men are under arrest and held in the jail in Niagara Falls, Ont., right across the river from here. The explosion and attempted ruin of the lock occurred between 6 and 7 o'clock, and the village of Thorold was shaken as though by an earthquake. An immediate investigation revealed that the explosion was at Lock 24 on the Welland canal. This lock is the highest on the line and is located in the outskirts of the village at a point where men who sought to work on such a plot might easily pass unseen, especially at this time of year, before navigation has opened. Dynamite was the explosive used.

PET OF THE REGIMENT.

Jack Is a Soldier Dog That Has Seen Active Service Besides Being a Great Traveler.

"Jack," the mascot of the Second infantry and "Hero of Santiago," is perhaps the best known dog in the United States army. He properly belongs to company D, and has followed that company in its wanderings since it left Fort Omaha for the west. All the old officers and men of the regiment know "Jack." He is a noted fighter, and bears the record of never having been whipped; and if Jack don't get fair play in a fight, a dozen soldiers are ready to take it up. His picture shows him after a fight one afternoon in Cuba. He is an ideal terrier, rather large, and is playful. He isn't afraid of fire, strange to say, and when a pup would seize a burning cigar and tear it to pieces. Many tricks have been taught him, and his delight is the exhibition of these canine acquirements. Few dogs have traveled as much as Jack, he having been all over the eastern states and crossed the waters between the states and Cuba three times. He has been on all the marches with his company in the west, and is known by all the Indians and cattlemen around Standing Rock, Mandan and other frontier posts.

At the beginning of the Spanish-American war he left Fort Yates with company D for Chickamauga, Tampa, and finally Cuba—and was through the whole Santiago campaign. The rough riders, who crossed over to Cuba on the same boat with the Second infantry, all learned to know Jack, and he soon caught the sharp eye of Col. Roosevelt, who pronounced him a "great dog." After landing at Sibony the "miserable land crabs" infested our camps in hundreds, rattling over our blankets and faces at night and carrying off our much needed hardtack, and here again Jack came to our rescue; he had no love for these strange creatures, and immediately assumed the task of driving them from our camp. Just before crossing San Juan river, on July 1, the men of the Second piled their blanket rolls along the roadside, and here it was expected Jack would remain until after the battle, and be safe from the terrible rain of the Mausers. Then followed the slaughter at the Bend, and the charge and capture of the Spanish trenches, and in the excitement that followed the faithful dog was forgotten. And when the first detail went back for their blanket rolls Jack was gone. But two days after, while we were anxiously hugging our trenches, Jack was heard barking in Santiago, and several days after we found him with a squad of engineers, who had found him coming from the city.

This dog was seen to cross San Juan river during the battle. Many recognized him as "Jack," of the Second infantry, and as he wandered alone over the bullet-swept field, a conspicuous white figure, they said: "There goes Jack; he is going to be killed." He was seen to pause over the dead and wounded, stopping first at one and then at another, back and forth, then over the hill and into the Spanish lines. And when Jack was rescued every soldier was as glad to see him as though he had been a prisoner of war, and ever since then he has been idolized by officers and men. An old captain recently returning to his regiment in Cuba, first inquired: "How is Jack?"

But Jack, like some of the soldiers, contracted malaria at Santiago, and not a week passes that poor Jack doesn't have a chill. And last month when company D made its march around the bay, the faithful old dog was left at the barracks; Jack may survive many years, but he could never endure another Santiago campaign.—Detroit Free Press.

Executioners on a Strike.

A very peculiar "strike" is recorded as being in progress in Canton, China. The executioners who do the beheading act are complaining that unless they get more money they will starve. It appears from their complaint that they are paid 500 cash (25 cents) per head, and they demand 50 cents. Twenty-five cents is a small fortune to a poor Chinaman, but it seems that business has fallen off to a deplorable extent, or there is too much competition (been taking on too many apprentices, perhaps), and the executioners are suffering. The official to whom the complaint was made received it very gravely, and assured the strikers that he could not give them a raise in wages, but he was convinced that their business would soon be very brisk. How would the people who complain about this country like to live in China?

An Affectionate Wasp.

One of the eccentricities of Sir John Lubbock, who was recently raised to the peerage, is his fondness for live insects as pets. He once made a favorite of a wasp he caught in Spain, and the insect grew so fond of him that it would lie still in his hand to be stroked.

THERE IS AN OLD STORY

About a man who put green goggles on his horse and tried to feed him shavings. He thought the horse would think the shavings were grass. This seems exaggerated, but how many people are today buying grain containing 2 to 10 per cent dirt, and paying full prices for same, thus injuring the horse and the pocketbook?

To profitably maintain a grain cleaning plant requires a large business, a large business permits lower prices, thus our customers gain both in quality and price.

SPORTING.

GOLF

The next event scheduled at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club grounds is Saturday, May 12th, when there will be a scratch tournament, 18 holes medal play, open to all active members.

The need of proper instructions for the caddies has been noted at all the golf courses and a general set, applicable for all the clubs, has been drawn up by the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club, of this city, the Baltusrol Golf Club, and the Morris County Club. The instructions will be posted at the Hillside Club this week and will be as follows:

Keep yourself neat.

Do no speak unless spoken to, or unless you find it necessary to do so.

Never speak when a player is addressing the ball.

Never stand behind a player, but on the side where he can see you, and keep motionless during the stroke.

Mark down carefully your employer's ball.

Keep a moist cloth or sponge and wipe off the ball at each teeing ground.

The caddy whose employer's ball reaches the green first attends to removing and replacing the flag.

Stand perfectly still on the green.

Obey the greenkeeper.

Do not litter up the course or club surroundings with papers, rocks, sticks or refuse of any kind.

Replace the turf.

The charge for caddies is 15 cents per hour and 5 cents for each twenty minutes or part thereof.

Caddies will be required to clean the clubs of the players employing them. Pay for this work is included in the rate per hour.

Caddies shall not engage themselves and they must not decline to serve when called upon to do so.

Caddies unemployed shall remain on the side piazza or behind the enclosure on the side of the caddyhouse.

In case any caddy is reported to the golf committtee for misbehavior, he will be ruled off the grounds for such time as his offence warrants.

Caddies will only be allowed to play on the course in the discretion of the greenkeeper, and permission must first be obtained.

News in Short Paragraphs That are Interesting to Read During the Spare Moments of Many Busy Plainfielders

—Little Neck clams, on the half shell, from the seafood market.—Rogers.

—The Union Bible class taught by Rev. D. M. Stearns will meet this evening in the chapel of the First Presbyterian church.

—The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Burnett, of North avenue, died yesterday morning with a severe attack of whoopingcough and measles.

—The semi-annual meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society of the First Baptist church will be held Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the parlors of the church.

—A recital will be given in Y. M. C. A. Hall this evening by Miss Grace Elting Overton, of this city, assisted by Miss Bertha vanNuise Williams, also of this city.

—Charles Carter and a company of friends from Newark rode their wheels to Plainfield yesterday and spent the day with George Hill, of West Fourth street.

—A very helpful service was held at Marconnier chapel last evening when Rev. Daniel Rapelje, of 61 Fairview avenue, gave an interesting talk on China, her condition and needs. The attendance was gratifying.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mrs. S. K. Schwenck, of Park avenue, left today to spend two weeks in Philadelphia.

Dr. and Mrs. Willard B. Force, of Jersey City, spent Sunday with Plainfield relatives.

Garret Powers, of the borough, left today for Old Point Comfort, where he will spend a week for his health.

Mrs. Samuel Case, of East Second street, is recovered sufficiently from her recent illness to be out, but was not able to sing in the choir at the First Baptist church yesterday. Her place was taken by Mrs. Rob't Giddis, of Dunellen.

Henry J. Talford, who has been a member of The Daily Press reportorial staff since last June, severed his connection with the paper today to go to Washington, D. C., where he has secured a position in the census bureau. Thomas Muir, of West Fourth street, has taken his place as a reporter on The Daily Press.

The announcement of the wedding of Miss Margaret M. Donald, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Donald, of New York, to Dr. Janus Bishop, Thursday, April 26th, at the Collegiate church, Fifth avenue, will interest older Plainfield residents. The name of the maid-of-honor, a sister of the bride, Anna Edgar Donald will recall the mother to her friends, who was Anna Judson Edgar, a little girl of Plainfield. Following the ceremony there will be a reception at the home of the bride's parents, No. 30 West Forty-sixth street.

A Shad Dinner.

Funeral of Mrs. Rafferty.

The funeral services of Mrs. Susan Rafferty were held from her late residence on Sycamore avenue yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes, pastor of the First Baptist church, of which she was a member, officiated and spoke tenderly of the worthy Christian life that was ended. The floral tributes were very beautiful. Interment took place at Woodlawn Cemetery, New York, this morning.

Taken Suddenly Ill.

Mrs. Michael Cox, of East Fourth street, was taken with a sudden fainting spell on East Third street yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock, as she was returning from a walk to St. Mary's cemetery. She was taken to the home of the Misses Melvin and Dr. Browning was called. It was nearly 7 o'clock before she was able to leave for her home.

At a Big Function of Red Men.

William Newcorn attended the twenty-sixth anniversary of the Pequod tribe of Red Men at Atlantic City last Friday evening. After an interesting programme consisting of speeches and music, a banquet was held at which 650 people were fed. Mr. Newcorn goes to Paterson tonight to attend the twenty-first anniversary of the Osseo tribe.

END OF THE EYLER INQUIRY IN SIGHT.

Legislative Investigating Committee Arranges for its Last Session Next Week.

EXPENSES WILL BE $3,000.

WILL NOT EXCEED THE APPROPRIATION THAT WAS MADE.

Additional Testimony Will be Taken at the Last Meeting and Then a Report to the Governor Will be Made.

The special committee appointed at the last session of the New Jersey Legislature to investigate the management of the State Industrial School for Girls held a meeting at the office of Assemblyman E. R. Meeker in New York yesterday afternoon. Assemblymen Mungle, Meeker, Abbett and Wakelee were present. The committee revised the incidental expense bills, and they found that they now amount to about $2,500. The appropriation made by the State to defray the expenses of the committee is $3,000, and it was said by Mr. Wakelee that the limit would not be exceeded.

The greater part of the four hours, of the sitting was occupied in going over the testimony taken before the committee, and a rather desultory discussion of the nature of the report which the committee will begin to prepare soon after its next meeting which will be held at Trenton Monday, April 30th. At this meeting some additional testimony will be taken, and Mrs. Eyler, the matron of the school, will be given an opportunity to testify again if she so desires. It has been understood that she wishes to contradict the testimony of some of the witnesses who have already been heard, and that in case of additional testimony against her management she would like to be heard in rebuttal.

Mr. Mungle, the chairman of the committee, said that the meeting next week would be the last one at which testimony would be heard, and that he wished it to be known that if there were any witnesses who desired to be heard they could have a hearing by making their wishes known in writing to the clerk of the committee, P. H. Charlock, of Elizabeth. Mr. Mungle also said that the resolution of the Assembly authorized the committee to sit during the recess of the Legislature, and that it was impossible to tell when the investigation would be finished. As under the law passed by the last Legislature the time for the appointment of a new Board of Trustees of the school expires today, it is probable that Governor Voohees will make some ad interim appointments, if he does not make them permanent, without delay. The law also requires that the new Board shall reorganize the management of the school within ten days after it is appointed.

The testimony already taken by the the committee makes 3,212 folios, and it was the opinion of Mr. Meeker and other members of the committee that it could not be properly examined without holding two or three more sessions, when the report to the Governor would be made in consonance with the facts presented.

Mr. Fisk Will be Quartered at Bellevue.

Former Mayor Charles J. Fisk, of this city, who has been chosen one of the delegates to represent the Eighth Congressional district at the Republican National convention at Philadelphia, has taken a suite of rooms at The Bellevue, corner of Broad and Walnut streets, and he will make his headquarters there during the convention. U. S. Senators Kean and Sewell, of this State, are to be quartered at The Walton on Broad street.

Supper and Musicale.

The annual supper given by the women of the Seventh-Day Baptist church will take place tomorrow evening between the hours of 6 and 9 o'clock at the church parlors. In addition to the serving of the supper, a musicale will be given. After the supper hour icecream and cake will be served. Booths of fancy articles and home-made candies will be in evidence and a pleasant social evening is anticipated.

Address on Missionary Work.

Mrs. M. M. Waterbury, secretary of the Baptist Home Missionary Society, will make an address next Friday evening at the First Baptist church, and the regular meetings of the various societies of the church will meet that evening. The sociable that was to have been given after the Christian Endeavor Society that evening has been declared off and will be held at some future time.

TAX ORDINANCE PASSED.

It Took the Common Council but Five Minutes to Transact the Business Last Night.

There was a special meeting of the Common Council last evening for the express purpose of adopting the tax ordinance on its third reading. This was required by law at this time. It required about five minutes to do the business. Mr. Mellick presented a communication from Mrs. Pierre Malli, in which the latter asked the Council to make its usual appropriation of $100 for the city park. President Smith decided, however, that it would be out of order to consider the communication at a special meeting and it will go over to the next regular session in May.

MISS OVERTON'S RECITAL

CLEVER READINGS GIVEN BY PLAINFIELD YOUNG WOMAN.

At Y. M. C. A. Hall Last Night—Was Assisted by Miss Willis, Soprano, and Miss Howell, Pianist.

Miss Grace Elting Overton, at her recital in Y. M. C. A. Hall last evening, proved herself a young woman of exceptional talent. An appreciative audience listened to her selections with much interest and pleasure. She was assisted by Miss vanNuise Willis, soprano, and Miss Saidee Mae Howell, pianist.

Miss Overton is of pleasing presence and possesses a clear voice that she used with success to portray the different characters in her selections. The selections were all new and well chosen. A little scene from Paul Leicester Ford's "Hon. Peter Sterling" was cleverly pictured. The opportunity for a strong dramatic effect was taken advantage of in "The Crime of Count Nicholas," taken from Anthony Hope's Zenda Stories.

As the independent Irish maid in "The Letter From Ireland," Miss Overton was excellent, handling the difficult brogue very naturally. The Scotch dialect in "His Other Sweetheart," was good. By way of encores, Miss Overton gave two amusing little recitations, "Dooley's Five O'clock Tea" and "It's Time You Was in Bed," with piano accompaniment by Miss Saidee Mae Howell.

Miss Overton was best in her last selection, a monologue entitled "A Young Lady's Observation." She was perfectly natural and unaffected as the young woman who ran off with a young man's dress-suit case by mistake. And when she discovered the mistake, she was very properly indignant at the young man. It was all very cleverly portrayed.

The soprano solos of Miss Willis were well rendered. She possesses a sweet well-trained voice which she used with much expression in the various numbers. Her enunciation was distinct and her manner pleasing. Miss Howell's piano solo showed her a well trained musician and she afterwards made an excellent accompanist.

Husband Was Surprised.

George B. Allen, of Linden avenue and Steiner place, celebrated the anniversary of his birthday last Sunday, and last evening in honor of the event a number of his friends gathered at his home and gave him a surprise party. The affair was arranged by his wife, who was assisted by a few friends. The time was passed pleasantly playing games, and at midnight supper was served. Mr. Allen received a number of useful and handsome presents.

Cemetery Association Incorporated.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, April 24—The Cedarcroft Cemetery Association has been incorporated at the County Clerk's office, those controlling it, with one exception, being Essex county people. The incorporators and trustees are Robert S. John and Harry G. Fairchild, of Newark; John Ingle, Jr., Bloomfield; Frank G. Smith and Albert T. Hunt, East Orange, and Ella S. Leonard, of Perth Amboy. The office of the association is at 800 Broad street, Newark.

Trolley Line Opening Postponed.

The official opening of the trolley line between Elizabeth and Plainfield, which was scheduled for last Friday, with the public opening for Saturday, and which was deferred by reason of bad weather, which interrupted grading and laying of tracks, has been further postponed in order to give the officials of the road time to determine how much extra power and rolling stock will be necessary.

To be Wedded at St. Mary's.

The marriage of Miss Margaret Scully and Frank R. Vermeule, of this city, will take place next Monday evening at the rectory of St. Mary's R. C. church. Rev. Father Smyth will officiate, and Mr. and Mrs. David Angerbauer will appear as witnesses. The couple will reside in one of the Voehl flats on East Front street.

ROPER IS FOUND GUILTY.

HIS LAND AND INVESTMENT SCHEMES WERE FRAUDS.

Prisoner Was Not Put on the Stand—Stood on the Record of His Books.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, April 24.—Osmer W. Roper, of Newark, charged with using the mails to defraud by means of schemes of land and loan investments, was found guilty in the United States District Court last night. He will be sentenced tomorrow.

After the Government had rested, Mr. Bradner, counsel for the defendant, asked the Court to instruct the jury to acquit on the ground that there was no proof that the Trust Fund, of which Roper was president, did not intend to issue a loan to Samuel A. Laird, of Mt. Vernon, Ill., the prosecuting witness. Mr. Bradner claimed the Trust Fund was legally organized and conducted; it had property and mortgages, and made loans. Judge Kilpatrick declined to do so.

After calling a few witnesses, Mr. Bradner closed the defense without putting Roper on the stand, and in summing up he explained this by saying he declined to subject Roper to the ordeal of a cross-examination, because he is a physical wreck, and it would be easy to trap him into making apparent admissions. Roper, he said, would stand on the records in his books. A man who intended to defraud would not keep a record of it in his books. In the case of Miller, the Franklin Syndicate manager, not a book was to be found, while in Roper's case the books were on hand and properly kept.

OFFERED REAPPOINTMENT.

Governor Not Sure How Many of the Girls' School Board of Trustees Will be Willing to Accept.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, April 24.—Governor Voorhees Saturday declared that he had not yet decided to who would be named as the members of the new board of trustees of the State Girls' Home. The appointments may be announced this week, as the law passed by the last Legislature declares that the Governor shall appoint the new board within thirty days after the passage of the act. The thirty days expired yesterday, but it is possible that owing to complications, the announcement of the names of the appointees will not be made for several days yet.

"I will probably appoint all the members of the old board who are willing to serve on the new board," said the Governor. "I have not yet fully ascertained the wishes of all the members of the old board, but when I have done so the announcement of appointment will be made."

LUNCH BOX SOCIABLE.

Pleasant Affair Arranged by Mizpah Lodge of Odd Ladies.

Mizpah Lodge, No. 1, U. O. of I. O. L., gave an entertainment and lunch box sociable at the lodge rooms last evening. An excellent programme of solos and recitations was given by Miss Kittie Cortright, Miss Bertha Clum, Miss Ohl and Bob Mattox. The programme concluded with a dialogue entitled "A Morning Call," by Mrs. Cox and Mrs. Bush.

The lunch boxes were the auctioned off by Bob Mattox, who disposed of them at good prices. After the members had tried their luck at a grab-bag, the rest of the evening was spent in a sociable way.

The committee in charge were Mrs. Randolph, chairman; Mrs. Page, Mrs. Bush, Mrs. Sweeney and Mrs. Riker.

Cleaned the Standpipe.

The Plainfield Water Supply Company emptied the Netherwood standpipe last week and gave it a thorough cleaning and scraping from top to bottom. Superintendent Andrews has also placed a new motor and dynamo in position which furnishes the lights for the pumping station and his residence.

Western Wonders Will be Viewed.

A free stereopticon entertainment will be held in the Park Avenue Baptist church this evening. The subject of the views will be "The Wonders of Colorado and Utah." A silver collection will be taken for the benefit of the Sunday-school.

Mr. Miller's New York Church.

W. H. Miller, organist at the First Presbyterian church, officiated last Sunday for the last time. Commencing with next Sunday he will fill a similar position at the Scotch Presbyterian church, New York.

Took Collection to Aid Famine Victims.

A collection for the benefit of the India Relief Fund was taken at the Christian Endeavor meeting at the Congregational church Sunday evening. The collection amounted to over $18.

CONTEST TO CONTROL MELLICK'S ESTATE.

Letters of Administration Have Been Granted by Surrogate Parrot in Union County.

HE LIVED IN MIDDLESEX.

MELLICK DIED APRIL 10TH, BUT RECORD SAYS MARCH 26TH.

Application Also Made for Appointment of Administrator in Middlesex County, but Final Action is Held Up

What promises to be one of the most important legal contests on record is now interesting the surrogate courts at Elizabeth and New Brunswick, where there is a complicated state of affairs over the estate of the late Henry Mellick, the wealthy miser, who died near Avon Park Tuesday, April 10th, leaving an estate valued at about $100,000, which includes money in both the First and City National Banks. Mellick died intestate, making a contest a very likely thing among so many who claim to be relatives.

A short time ago John C. Morris, of Stelton, who is not a relative, it is said, applied to Surrogate Furman, of New Brunswick, on behalf of himself, for letters of administration. He has since filed a renunciation bearing the names of most of the first cousins who claim to be the nearest of kin. There are twenty-one signatures to the renunciation.

As an offset to the above several who claim to be more closely related to Mellick than the cousins have filed a caveat which states that the caveators are next of kin. The filing of the caveat has held up the appointment of an administrator, as the caveators do not want the Surrogate to make an appointment until the case hase been heard in the Orphans' Court.

While all of the above was going on at New Brunswick things have been working at Elizabeth. A short time after Mellick was erroneously reported to have died, which was March 26th, F. T. O'Kell, a resident of Westfield, and a New York attorney, made application to Surrogate Parrott for letters of administration. This application was made at the instance of nephews, who claimed to be nearest of kin. It is a matter of record at Elizabeth that Mellick died on March 26th, when as a matter fact he did not die until Tuesday, April 10th. What would appear to be the irregular part of the proceedings is the fact that Mellick lived in Piscataway Township of Middlesex county, and that there is no jurisdiction in the case in Union county. However, the application was granted to F. T. O'Kell, of Westfield, on Monday, April 16th. It is also stated that Mr. O'Kell is not a relative of Mellick. He furnished American Surety Company bonds for the faithful performance of all duties, and Surrogate Parrotte states that everything was regular. But according to law he would have to swear that Mellick was a resident of Union county, and this he could not do legally. If he did so he must have been misinformed.

The latter part of last week Mr. O'Kell, in company with another man, came to Plainfield to investigate matters pertaining to the estate of the dead man. He had a letter of administration which he showed to F. S. Runyon, cashier of the First National Bank. Everything appeared regular on paper, and Mr. Runyon believed him to be the legal administrator, although he had heard that Mr. Morris would probably be appointed. The men asked a great many questions about the heirs of Mr. Mellick, and finally decided to visit the late home at Avon Park. They met the colored woman there who had charge of Mellick for many years. They questioned her, but got little information. They also asked for the keys which open the private box in the safe deposit vault at the First National Bank. These she could not give them for she said they had been sent to Rahway.

The two men then returned to the First National Bank, thinking possibly Cashier Runyon had a duplicate set of keys and he would open the box. Mr. Runyon informed them that he did not have a set of keys and he could not open the box. Without going any further in their search, they left the city and have not been seen since.

A representatives of The Press in communication with the Middlesex county officials say that the acts of the Union county officials must be null and void, if for no other reason than that Mellick did not live in their county. This alone would annul the transaction. In all events the outcome is sure to be of great interest, as it will affect a host of people who claim to be nearest of kin to Mellick. If a contest should be made between the two counties over the case it would only tend to increase the interest and higher courts would be called upon to decide it. When Surrogate Parrot was questioned about the status of the case he refused to give his opinion at present.

INTEREST IN BOULEVARD

MAIN TROUBLE IS TO GET CONSENTS IN CRANBORD.

A Movement on Foot to Carry the County Project to a Successful Consummation.

Interest is reviving in the county road widening and boulevard scheme, with a trolley road accompaniment. The prospect of a brand new 100-foot wide boulevard from Elizabeth to Aldene, or the Cranford line, and ending there, with the continuance of the present narrow and inadequate highway is not relished by some farseeing citizens and property owners, who are apprehensive that such a condition would be injurous to real estate values and be a drawback to towns along the line.

Indeed, one property owner has said that he has told parties who have approached him about compensation for property on account of widening the road that he would willingly take one-half the value of the land necessary to be taken if only the county road scheme should prevail. He was tired of holding land and paying taxes without prospect or opportunity of profit, and says that if the road were widened and a trolley road built the whole of the unoccupied land between Elizabeth and Plainfield would be of service to thousands of homeseekers and industrial corporations.

The fact that last year North avenue, beginning at Broad street and continuing to Plainfield, was declared a county road to Plainfield, and stands in need of and is waiting for improvement reduces the matter to getting consents through Cranford only.

WON A FORTUNE.

Strange Story of Hiram Belding Who Was Born in Plainfield Thirty-five Years Ago.

The strange story of the wonderful success in the Alaska gold fields of a young man, who claims Plainfield, N. J., as a birthplace, was published in the Sunday edition of the New York Herald. It was a most remarkable tale of sudden rise from abject poverty to affluence.

According to the statement of the returned miner, Hiram Belding, he was born in this city, October 11, 1865. His father was a section hand on the Jersey Central Railroad. His mother died when he was a small child. With no real home, he wandered to New York where he went to live with an uncle. His uncle died when Hiram was sixteen and the lad was thrown on his own resources. He tried his hand at a little of everything and managed to save a little money.

He gradually worked his way westward in various capacities until the Klondike fever began. He was one of its most enthusiastic victims, and in January, 1898, left Seattle with a crowd of other prospecters, having invested his hoarded savings in an outfit.

Out near Nome City, two claims on Anvil Creek turned forth wealth far beyond his expectations. Today he owns a block of stock in the Alaska Commercial Co., for which he paid $65,000; a hotel at Oakland, Cal., that cost him $30,000; property at Nome City that brings a monthly rental of $400; and the two claims on Anvil Creek, one of which he declined to sell for $80,000. His income on his present investments will reach $15,000.

The first thing that Belding says he is going to do now as he is rich is to aid his two sisters and crippled brother now living at Paterson, N. J.

Hearing on New Cemetery.

The State Board of Health will grant a hearing to the parties interested in the Oakdale Cemetery Association's application to locate a cemetery near Roselle. The hearing will be at Clark's Hotel, Elizabeth. It is practically a rehearing of the case, as a former Council of Roselle refused to grant the application.

Fire Alarm Cards.

Cards containing the revised and correct list of fire alarm boxes in both the city and the borough can be had for the asking at The Daily Press office. Cards containing the arrival and departure of mails at the post-office are also ready for distribution gratis by The Daily Press.

Four Would Join Odd Fellows.

Four propositions for members were received last evening by Queen City Lodge, No. 226, I. O. O. F. Next Monday night they will hold the eighty-sixth anniversary roll call of Odd Fellow membership. An effort will be made to have all members answer the roll call.

An Approaching Marriage.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Simmons, of Berkeley Heights, announce the marriage of their daughter, Louise A., to Thomas P. Rogers, Wednesday evening, May 9th, at 7:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents.

TROLLEY WAITING STATION.

Board of Trade May be Able to Induce the Street Railway Company to Establish It.

The Board of Trade held their regular meeting last night and took up the question of a waiting station at the Watchung avenue terminal. Secretary Runyon reported that the matter had been put in Superintendent Afleimann's hands, who had in turn brought it to the atttention of the head officials. No reply has been received as yet, but a favorable one is expected.

A committee was appointed to draw up a set of resolutions for their departed member, John D. Runyon. The committee was as follows: E. M. Laing, James C. Pope and Harry C. Runyon.

NOW LIEUTENANT'S WIFE

MISS VERMEULE MARRIED IN SALT LAKE CITY YESTERDAY.

At the End of Her Long Trip She Was Met By Prospective Husband and Quickly Wedded.

Word was received here yesterday afternoon announcing that Miss Marguerite Vermeule, daughter of Mrs. Sarah Vermeule, of Watchung avenue, who started for Salt Lake City, Utah, last Thursday, to meet her prospective husband, Lieutenant Samuel B. Pearson, of the Ninth United States Cavalry, had arrived at her destination safely. She was met by Lieut. Pearson, who had made all arrangements for the wedding ceremony.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. William Paden, of Salt Lake City, assisted by Rev. Mr. Campbell, the chaplain at the military post where the groom is stationed. Rev. Mr. Paden was a college mate of Rev. C. E. Herring, of the First Presbyterian church in this city, of which Miss Vermeule is a member.

The happy couple will spend a short honeymoon in Salt Lake City, and then go to Fort Duchesne, on the Unitah Indian Reservation, where they will take up their residence in the officers' quarters.

Mrs. Pearson enjoyed a very pleasant trip on her way to meet her husband. At Chicago she met Guernsey Nevius, formerly of this city, and at Salt Lake City she met Augustus Coombs, also formerly of this city.

WANT CITY TO ACCEPT IT.

Madison Avenue, North of Front Street, Offered by W. M. Stillman and Babcock Executors.

William M. Stillman and the executors of the Babcock estate have requested the Common Council to accept the Madison avenue extension, between Front street and Green brook. The North Plainfield authorities have already promised to accept Duer street from Craig place to the brook and when these are both accepted, the Freeholders will build a bridge.

Mr. Stillman and the Babcock estate will file an agreement with the Common Council to macadamize Madison avenue within one month after the bridge is finished. Work on the Duer street side will be started within a short time.

An Electrical Canal Boat.

Within a few days the officials of the Delaware and Raritan Canal will make a test of a new electrical canal boat propelling device. The machine works in a manner somewhat similar to a trolley, and is expected to pull much heavier loads and at much higher speed than can be effected by the present method. Superintendent Henry W. Dunn, of Trenton, will conduct the test.

Awheel After Arbutus.

The social committee from the Christian Endeavor Society of the Congregational church has arranged another bicycle trip for Saturday afternoon. The destination will be Bonhamtown and the party expect to secure enough arbutus to be able to send some to the New York missions. The start will be made from the church on West Seventh street at 2:30 o'clock.

To Recount Votes on May 8th.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, April 24—The recount of the votes for Aldermen cast April 10th in the Eighth and Twelfth wards, of this city, has been fixed by Judge Vantyckel for May 8th. It will take place at the Courthouse and will be conducted by the County Board of Election in the presence of the Judge.

Looking After Mother's Estate.

John Bunting, of California, has been in Plainfield for several days looking after the interest of the estate of his mother, who died some time ago. Mr. Bunting will return home in a few days, but will be obliged to come to this city again within a few weeks.

RUMMAGE SALE OPENS TOMORROW MORNING.

Wonderful Collection of Bargains Awaits the First Visit of the Public.

CORPS OF SALESWOMEN.

GREAT ASSORTMENT NOW CROWDS STORE IN JACKSON BUILDING.

Benefit Sale Will Open Tomorrow Morning at 10 o'Clock—Those Who Are to be in Charge the First Day—Many Visitors Already.

The Rummage Sale will open tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock. Already the store in the Jackson building is overflowing with a variety of articles while the temporary storeroom in the Stillman building is fast filling up with an equally strange assortment. The store in the Jackson building is a busy place today. Everything is being placed in order for the grand opening tomorrow. The stock is there. If the purchasers turn out anything near as well this benefit for the Muhlenberg Hospital and the Plainfield Relief Association will be a great success.

Six long tables, heaped with the great variety of articles, are arranged in the store. Great signs tell the price of the articles on each table and then everything is tagged with the price. The larger articles are heaped about the walls. As has already been told, this collection includes everything imaginable except groceries and vegetables. There is even a bicycle department with several wheels therein. Hats and garments are possibly the most numerous of any one class. The only thing lacking is a mouse trap and that is expected yet.

For the benefit of prospective purchasers it may be well to state that this collection of bargains is to be fumigated tonight by Health Inspector Addis, so there will be no possible chance of purchasing a choice lot of bacilli, together with some other bargain.

A crowd of visitors have flocked to the sale all yesterday and today and those in charge have been compelled to turn them away. At promptly 10 o'clock tomorrow morning the doors will be opened to the public and the sale will begin.

Mrs. Charles E. Brooks and Mrs. L. N. Lovell will be in general charge of the sale tomorrow. They will be assisted by the following saleswomen: Mrs. William Myers, Mrs. J. M. Myers, Mrs. George B. Brainard, Mrs. Henry D. Haven, Mrs. Phoebe B. Ames, Mrs. Samuel Huntington, Mrs. H. P. Reynolds, Miss E. B. Cock, Mrs. H. B. Munger, Miss Rosabel Schroeder, Miss Stella Brainard, Miss Daisy Elsberg, Mrs. Isaac Field, Mrs. Charles W. McCutchen, Mrs. I. N. VanSickel, Miss Rodman, Miss Mabel VanDeventer, Mrs. Howard Runyon, Mrs. Frank S. Runyon, Mrs. Edgar S. Hyatt, Miss Erskine, Mrs. George Wharton Edwards, Mrs. F. C. Harder, Mrs. James E. Kimball, Mrs. Charles S. Lee, Miss Bass, Miss Anderson, Miss Coe, Miss Thompson, Miss Negley and Miss Agnes Opdyke.

The corps of saleswomen will be divided for morning and afternoon duty. Mrs. Josephine H. Lapsley is treasurer of the sale. Tomorrow the cashiers will be Miss Florence Tweedy and Miss Edith Leonard, Thursday they will be Miss Marion Dumont and Miss Mary Tracy. Friday they will be Miss Emilie Schipper and Miss Julia Scribner. Thursday and Saturday evenings H. P. Reynolds will be in charge of the cashier's department. Miss Phoebe Lovell is chairman of the committee on cash boys.

KEAN SAID TO BE AGAINST QUAY.

New Jersey Senator Reported Will Vote Against Seating.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Washington, D. C., April 24—Senator Quay's friends are disturbed by the report that Senator Kean, of New Jersey, and Culbertson, of Texas, who were counted upon to vote for Quay, have been won over to the opposition.

Mr. Kean said that he had not made up his mind, and Mr. Culbertson, in conversation with a fellow-Senator, said positively he would vote against Quay.

Gave $1,500 to the Church.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, April 24.—Rev. Martin Geesner, rector of St. Patrick's Roman Catholic church at Elizabethport, has just received a gift of $1,500 for his church from Mrs. Ellen Durning, widow of Michael Durning, formerly a wealthy undertaker, who died over a year ago. Mrs. Durning inherited all her husband's money.

TO DECIDE QUAY CASE

Final Debate Begins—A Vote to Be Taken Today.

THE RESULT VERY MUCH IN DOUBT.

Several Speeches For and Against the Seating of the Man From Pennsylvania—House Discusses Postoffice Appropriation.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—A two days' debate on the right of the Hon. M. S. Quay to a seat as a senator from Pennsylvania was begun almost immediately after the senate convened yesterday. For months the case has been pending in the senate, and from time to time senators have discussed it, but until now the debate has been desultory in character. Today at 4 p. m., under a special order, the case is to be disposed of. Under the special order all subsidiary motions will be in order at and after the time of the expiration of the debate. A direct vote upon the proposition to seat Mr. Quay may not be taken immediately after the close of the debate. Mr. Chandler has a motion pending which is in effect a motion to seat Mr. Quay, but it is held by the senate parliamentarians that every subsidiary motion will take precedence over Mr. Chandler's motion. These include motions indefinitely to postpone, to postpone to a definite date, to recommit to the committee and to amend. That one or more of these motions will be made is quite likely. How the senate will vote on any of them is a matter of speculation.

In support of Mr. Quay's right to a seat speeches were delivered by Mr. Chandler of New Hampshire, Mr. Kenney (Dem.) of Delaware and Mr. Penrose of Pennsylvania. Mr. Platt of Connecticut and Mr. Quarles (Rep.) of Wisconsin delivered speeches in opposition to Mr. Quay.

The house entered upon a consideration of the postoffice appropriation bill, and the general debate, which closed with the adjournment, was devoted largely to discussion of pertinent matters. The minority of the committee dissented from the provisions in the bill relating to the extension of the pneumatic tube service, special fast mail facilities and the cost of railroad transportation, and these were the main subjects of contention.

Our Locomotives Used as Models.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—In a recent report to the state department Consul Frank M. Mason, at Berlin, relates that trials and tests of the efficiency of American locomotives are now taking place in Germany. By reason of their great boiler space and the extent of their heating surface American locomotives are much more economical than those now in use on German railways. It is very evident, however, says Mr. Mason, that, like other American machines that have been tested by the Germans, the locomotives have been brought over to be studied and used as models to be imitated by German builders and that no idea of obtaining a supply of locomotives built in the United States is entertained for a moment.

Historic House For a Soap Factory.

NYACK, N. Y., April 24.—The '76 Stone House at Tappan, N. Y., where Major Andre was imprisoned until his execution during the Revolutionary war, is just entering a new phase in its checkered history. For two years past it was run as a hotel, but recently the license of the proprietor, Charles A. Pike, was revoked, and now the historic house and grounds have been leased to parties from New York city, who will turn the place into a soap factory, with additional buildings in the rear. The building stands within sight of the spot where Andre was executed, and for more than half a century no visitor was permitted to enter it.

The Forger Count Sued.

CHICAGO, April 24.—The Bank of Nova Scotia has brought suit in the superior court against Count Toulouse de Lautrec, who was arrested at the Auditorium annex Saturday, charged with having sold forged bonds in Canada, for the recovery of $1,500 alleged to be due the bank. Count de Lautrec is also named in the papers filed as M. Castano. The affidavit accompanying the summons states that the defendant is indebted to the Bank of Nova Scotia in the sum of $750, the amount of damages asked being customary in such cases in excess of the actual debt.

Forest Fires Surround Duluth.

DULUTH, April 24.—Although forest fires are reported in all directions around Duluth, no very serious losses have yet come to light. Several freight cars on the Eastern Minnesota road have been destroyed, with a number of telegraph and telephone poles. Considerable trouble is reported on the long distance telephone service between Duluth, St. Paul and Ashland on account of poles burning and wires down.

A Bequest For Good Roads.

BOSTON, April 24.—Patrolman Isaiah S. Robinson of the police department, who died Sunday, leaving $53,000, has bequeathed the sum of $40,000 to the town of Gilmanton, N. H., the income to be expended for good roads. The remainder of the fortune is divided among the friends, relatives and police associates of the old man, who was styled "the hermit of the police court."

Uniforms For Guardsmen.

HARTFORD, April 24.—The quartermaster general has decided to purchase about 2,500 khaki uniforms for the Connecticut national guard to be worn during the encampment at Niantic. Each uniform will cost $3.25, making the entire cost of the uniforms about $8,200. The uniforms will be worn by the men while in practice and at drill.

Family of Seven Drowned.

JACKSON, Miss., April 24.—John Horton, a negro, his wife and five children were drowned in the backwaters of Pearl river while trying to escape from the flood. Their cabin had been inundated by the high waters, and the family was endeavoring to escape in a wagon when the vehicle fell through a broken bridge.

Dropped Dead While Wheeling.

WEST POINT, N. Y., April 24.—Edwin Crowe, a well known farmer of Lewis, near Elizabethtown, came here on a bicycle yesterday and when dismounting dropped dead.

Duke of Argyll Dead.

LONDON, April 24.—George Douglas Campbell, Duke of Argyll, died this morning.

PORTO RICAN MAP AND ROAD SCENE.

The map shows the island of Porto Rico and the principal towns thereon. The road from San Juan to Ponce is one of the principal trans-island thoroughfares, and as it is well kept there is considerable travel upon it. The distance from Ponce to Porto Rica is 65 miles. It was over this road that the American soldiers who landed at Guanica went to San Juan.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

The theatrical event which at present is attracting more attention than any other in New York city is the revival of "The Great Ruby" at the Fourteenth Street Theatre. This famous Drury Lane melo-drama was first introduced into this country last season by the lamented Augustin Daly, who imported the production from London intact. For two hundred nights the play drew immense audiences to Daly's Theatre and the run was terminated only at the death of Mr. Daly. Shortly after his decease, Manager Rosenquest, of the Fourteenth Street Theatre, entered into an arrangement with the executors of Mr. Daly's estate by which the entire production could be reproduced this season at his theatre, exactly as it was seen at Daly's. The cast of "The Great Ruby," at the Fourteenth Street Theatre, is probably the strongest ever put together for a melodrama in New York city. It is headed by Rose Coghlan and Minnie Seligman, whose names alone would be a sufficient guarantee of the strength of the company. The merit of the cast, however, does not stop with these celebrated artists, for included in the list of players are such well known names as John T. Sullivan, Cuyler Hastings, Louis Massen, Robert Rogers, Annie Buckley, Kate Lester, Gertrude Perry, Charlotte Deane, Beatrice Vaughan, Theo. Carew, Lucille Wyman, Dolores Letanni, Grace Hadselle, Robert Greppo, George Heath, Victor M. de Silke, William Hazeltine, Charles Chappelle, George Anderson, Charles F. Tingay, Edmund Hogan, etc. A small army of extra ladies and gentlemen are also employed throughout the production. The number of out of town residents who have journed to New York city to see "The Great Ruby" at the Fourteenth Street Theatre is already very large and will undoubtedly be much larger in the future since the "last times" of the play are announced.

SUIT AGAINST CHURCH.

Order Granted in Lane's Case Against Episcopalians at Summit.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Summit, April 24—An application filed three weeks ago by Frank Bergen, as counsel for Thomas F. Lane, for permission to reopen the suit instituted by Lane against Calvary Episcopal church, of Summit, has been granted by Vice-Chancellor Stevens. The suit was originally the result of negotiations for the property owned by the church at Keithock place and Springfield avenue. In a letter which Lane claims constituted a contract, the vestry agreed to sell him the land for $15,000. Subsequently, within five days after sending him this letter, the vestry sold the land again to Norman Schultz.

The suit was tried before Vice-Chancellor Stevens, and he decided in favor of the church officials. The reasons advanced for his decision were that the religious acts required the consent of the Bishop and a majority of the standing committee of the diocese before property owned by an Episcopal church could be sold, and that the plaintiff failed to show that such consent had been obtained.

—The Young Ladies' Missionary Society of the First Baptist church will not meet Friday afternoon, on account of the mission meeting in the evening.

—Contractor C. M. Meeker expects to have the use of the city steamroller in a few days in order to put a good polish on the new macadamizing of West Third and Fourth streets.

Ask Your Neighbor.

Hundreds of Plainfield Citizens Can Tell You All About It.

Home endorsement, the public expression of Plainfield people should be evidence beyond dispute for every Plainfield reader. Surely the experience of friends and neighbors, cheerfully given by them, will carry more weight than the utterances of strangers residing in faraway places. Read the following:

Mr. Richard Day of 134 East Front street says:—"I had a miserable pain across my back and a sort of lame feeling over my kidneys. Standing any length of time or walking any distance aggravated it greatly. I was never sick much in my life and consequently never took much medicine, so when I first began having these attacks I paid but little attention to them. They however grew worse instead of better so I had to look about for a remedy. I read quite frequently in our papers about cures brought about by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills so I got a box at L. W. Randolph's drug store and after taking them I felt greatly relieved. I have recommended them to my friends and those who have used them speak very highly in their praise."

BOERS RESIST HOTLY

Larger Force at Wepener Than at First Reported.

BRITISH GAINS NEAR BLOEMFONTEIN.

Paarde Kraal Captured by a Gallant Dash Just Before Sunset—General Carrington's the Only Force Headed For Mafeking.

LONDON, April 24.—The strong body of re-enforcements which Lord Roberts sent to assist the relief of Wepener and to endeavor to envelop and cut off the Boers from a retreat northward furnishes further evidence that the Boers are assembled in much larger force around Wepener than had hitherto been supposed, and, as The Times in an editorial this morning remarks, whatever may be the difficulties of roads and rains, the Boers always appear to have guns, and sometimes big ones, where they want them.

A Boer dispatch, dated Thaba N'Chu, April 20, says that a fresh supply of cannon and ammunition has reached General De Wet at Jammersburg drift. It also asserts that one of Colonel Dalgety's guns has been smashed.

Karriefontein, mentioned in Lord Roberts' message to the war office, is 15 miles southeast of Bloemfontein. Leeuw kop is two miles farther south.

Apparently the British captured Paarde Kraal Sunday night. The Boers evacuated Leeuw kop during the night, removing the gun, and the British occupied the kop the next morning.

Although the Boers appear to be offering stout resistance to the British advance their position is dangerous. They can scarcely delay further their retreat northward without incurring the risk of being cut off.

The war office last evening issued the following dispatch from Lord Roberts, dated Bloemfontein, Monday, April 23, 2:50 p. m.:

"Yesterday I dispatched the Eleventh division under General Pole-Carew and two brigades of cavalry under General French from this point to assist General Rundle. The force reached Karriefontein without much opposition.

"General Pole-Carew's mounted infantry seized a high hill a few miles north of their last night's position. The enemy evacuated hurriedly, leaving some rifles and ammunition.

"General Rundle reports that 25 men of the First Worcesters are missing. Fifty-three were sent with Wood to an outpost after dark, and only 18 returned. Their numbers and names will be reported today, as well as the four wounded yesterday."

The war office has given no explanation of the apparent discrepancy in the figures as to the men of the Worcester regiment.

The Bloemfontein correspondent of The Standard, describing the operations at Leeuw kop, says:

"At an early stage the cavalry came under a heavy fire from a 'pompom' on a ridge adjoining Leeuw kop. Unable to continue its march to the southwest, General Dickson's brigade fell back to the north to await the infantry attack.

"The flanking movement having failed, General Pole-Carew, with General Stephenson's brigade, advanced in crescent form from the west and south with the object of enveloping the kopjes. The Welsh, Warwickshire, Essex and Yorkshire regiments advanced in extended line, covering the west, while the guards brigade took up a position to the south with two field batteries and naval guns. Sheltered by the rocks, the enemy opened a heavy fire from rifles and a 'pompom.'

"Our men advanced over the open ground in splendid style by a succession of short rushes, falling prone while pouring in their volleys. The approach of darkness threatened to leave the Boers in possession, but just before sunset the Essex regiment gallantly pressed forward and drove the last of the enemy from Paarde kraal, a bold spur of Leeuw kop."

The Cape Town correspondent of The Daily Mail says that General Carrington's force is the only one going to the relief of Mafeking and that no force of any kind is operating from the south.

Boers Just Getting Used to War.

ELANDSLAAGTE, April 24.—Boer messengers who arrived in camp yesterday were identified as Reus, a solicitor from Boskburg, and Edwards, notorious for his anti-English speech after the Jameson raid. They brought a letter from the Boer general to the commanding officer here. They were much surprised at the ordinary appearance of the camp. Reus declared they were only getting used to the war now and that the soldiers were only beginning to fight. The messengers were finally escorted to the outpost.

Boers Outflanked by Brabant.

MASERU, Basutoland, April 24.—General Brabant's forces outflanked the Boer position at Bushman's kop Sunday, but the movement had not been completed when darkness fell. At dusk British forces, apparently infantry, were seen approaching from two directions with a view of surrounding the kop. Colonel Dalgety's garrison at Wepener was not molested.

Dalgety Holding Out.

ALIWAL NORTH, April 24.—Colonel Dalgety is holding out at Wepener. It is reported that all the Boers have crossed to the north side of the Caledon river.

General Warren's New Job.

DURBAN, April 24.—General Sir Charles Warren has been appointed administrator of British Bechuanaland. He has sailed from Cape Town.

Will Not Raise Tariffs Secretly.

WASHINGTON, April 24.—Lloyd Sriscom, the United States charge d'affaires at Constantinople, has cabled the state department that the Turkish minister for foreign affairs has informed the embassadors that the porte will not raise tariffs without previous agreement with the powers.

Gift to Bowdoin College.

BRUNSWICK, Me., April 24.—At a meeting of the faculty of Bowdoin college President Hyde announced that General Thomas H. Hubbard of New York, Bowdoin, '57, had presented the college with $150,000 to be used for the construction of a new library building.

The Plague In Australia.

SYDNEY, April 24.—Two deaths from the plague and eight cases of that disease were reported here yesterday. Plague infected rats have been found at the Brisbane, Auckland and Melbourne wharfs.

MISSIONARY CONFERENCE.

Enthusiastic Meetings — Sixty-seven to Be Held In Eight Days.

NEW YORK, April 24.—The first real sessions of the ecumenical conference on foreign missions began simultaneously at 9:30 o'clock yesterday in Carnegie hall and the Central Presbyterian church, west of Seventh avenue. The session in both places opened with devotional exercises.

When the exercises began, Carnegie hall was filled. Rev. Dr. Augustus H. Strong began his address on the "Authority and Purposes of Foreign Missions." Dr. Strong is the president of the Rochester Theological seminary. The audience was one well worth a close inspection. By far the majority of those who composed it were Americans, but here and there were delegates whose dress showed that they were natives of distant lands. In one row were a half dozen Japanese, in another was a group of men who said that they had come direct from Constantinople to attend the conference, and not far away were several women said to have come from Egypt.

REV. JACOB CHAMBERLAIN.
[The famous missionary from India.]

It was announced yesterday that about 2,500 delegates were in attendance and that every great missionary society in the world was represented. When those who have made the plans for the conference found weeks ago that the attendance would be so large as to make it impossible for every one to gain admittance to Carnegie hall, they arranged for other meetings in various churches. The programme, as completed, calls for 67 meetings during the eight days of the conference, and arrangements for others may be made later in the week.

THE DYNAMITERS.

Had They Been Sober Great Damage Might Have Resulted.

NIAGARA FALLS, April 24.—If Karl Dullman, John Nolin (not Nolan, as was first reported) and John Walsh, the dynamiters who last Saturday morning tried to blow out a lock on the Welland canal at Thorold, had not been so free in their use of whisky the chances are that a good many of the people of the village of Merriton and the country roundabout would have been drowned. The men did their planning when they were sober, but when the time came for their last and most dangerous move they were drunk. As a result they did their work carelessly and used topers' judgment in their selection of a time to put their plans into execution.

Persons familiar with the region say that had the lock at Thorold been opened the rush of water from the surface level above would have swept the town of Merriton out of existence, destroyed a section of Thorold and devastated a vast area.

The Canadian authorities are at the present time as much in the dark as to the motive of the dynamiters as they were on Sunday. They are also without positive knowledge of the identity of the prisoners.

Thought to Be Work of Cranks.

OTTAWA, April 24.—The government has no evidence of any conspiracy in the United States at Chicago or elsewhere for the purpose of attacking Canada because of its sending troops to South Africa. The opinion is expressed here that the attempt to destroy the Welland canal lock was the work of cranks. The local authorities have called out the militia to assist them in the Niagara district.

Watch Your Kidneys!

They are Filters For the Blood. Impure Blood Causes Disease.

Few people understand the important part performed by the kidneys in filtering the blood. As the blood in its circulation through the body passes through the kidneys, its impurity is left in the kidneys, which in turn empties the secretions into the bladder in the form of urine.

If the kidneys are blocked and filtration of the blood from poisonous or diseased germs is prevented thereby, the result is one or all of the following: Sleeplessness, Nervous Prostration, Weak Back, Pains in the Back and Loins, Scalding Dark and Cloudy Urine, Dizziness, Rheumatism, Diabetes, Congestion of the Kidneys, Bright's Disease and Inflammation of the Bladder.

Unhealthy Kidneys Must Be Treated

A medicine is needed that will properly promote the filtration of the blood and check the over-secretion of urine.

BRIDGE WORK
In Dentistry is the best substitute for nature's work that can be done. Sound roots may be built up and crowned and thus fill up an unsightly space. JOTTINGS OF THE DAY

ENTERPRISINGLY GATHERED AND CONCISELY TOLD BY REPORTERS.

Newsy Notes of More or Less Importance Bunched Together for the Ready Reference of Press Readers.

—An important meeting of the Borough Board of Education will be held next Monday.

—The street committee is having the dirt streets of the West End scraped, turnpiked and rolled.

—The Woman's Auxiliary will hold a regular meeting this afternoon at the First Presbyterian church.

—Have you noticed the handsome display of millinery and ladies' underwear at Bonn's, West Front street.

—The communion of the Lord's supper will be celebrated in Hope chapel three weeks from last Sunday.

—H. C. VanEmburgh is making a survey of the Roberts' property, facing on North avenue and East Second street.

—The Cranford baseball field and grand stand are to be put in repair this week to be ready for the season's games.

—Work has started on the new residence of Patrolman Vanderweg, on West Fourth street, near Spooner avenue.

—The officials of the Lehigh Valley Railroad have agreed to put the crossing at Aldene in safe condition for horses and wagons.

—Better the grade better the trade and that is why so many people look to Peck with confidence for newness, originality, uncommoness, variety and highest quality.

—By mistake it was announced that the Borough Public Schools would open yesterday. They opened this morning. Announcement of the changes in the teaching corps will be announced in a short time.

—It is about time the Plainfield Street Railway Company removed the flat wheels from some of the trolley cars. The condition of these cars makes one feel as though they were riding in a box wagon minus the springs.

—John Powers, the Somerset street druggist, is now prepared to serve his friends and patrons with the best kind of soda water. He also keeps a complete line of all kinds of drugs at reasonable prices. Prescriptions are carefully compounded.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Mr. and Mrs. William Potter, of Mount Pleasant, and Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Cadmus spent Sunday at the Barrington, New York City, where Mr. Potter's daughter Mabel, has been staying a few weeks.

AN ORDINANCE

FOR THE ASSESSMENT OF TAXES FOR THE YEAR 1900.

The Inhabitants of the City of Plainfield, by their Common Council, do enact as follows

Section 1. That pursuant to the statutes and ordinances and resolutions in such cases made and provided, there shall be assessed and raised by tax for the year nineteen hundred, for the general purpose of said city, exclusive of poor, library, school, fire, State and county taxes, the sum of Thirty-eight Thousand Dollars ($38,000). This sum includes the sum of Twenty Thousand Dollars ($20,000), to be raised by general tax for street improvements; for the expense for said year of lighting the public streets and places in said City, pursuant to Chapter CCCXVIII of the pamphlet laws of 1894, (page 477), as ascertained and determined by resolution of the Common Council and certified to the assessors of said City the sum of Twelve Thousand Four Hundred Dollars ($12,400); for the principal of such bonds except obligations payable out, of assessments and temporary obligations as may mature during the ensuing fiscal year, under and by virtue of the Acts of the Legislature entitled, "An Act to provide for drainage and sewerage in cities of this State," approved April 7, 1890, and the several amendments thereof and supplements thereto, and proceedings had and taken thereunder in said city, the sum of Five Thousand Six Hundred Dollars ($5,600); for interest on the obligations of the City issued under said last mentioned act, the sum of Five Thousand Dollars ($5,000); for the support of the city poor, the sum of Two Thousand Five Hundred Dollars ($2,500); for the maintenance of the public library and reading room, the sum of Four Thousand Dollars ($4,000); for the maintenance of a fire department to be under control and government of said city, the sum of Twenty Thousand and Five Hundred Dollars ($20,500); and in addition to the foregoing, a license fee of Two Dollars ($2) to be paid by the owner of every dog within the City of Plainfield.

Adopted by the Common Council April 23, 1900.

Approved by the Mayor April 23, 1900.

GEO. W. ROCKFELLOW, Mayor.

Attest: JAMES T. MacMURRAY, City Clerk.

FLOODS STILL RAGING

Pouring Rains Increase Damage In the Southwest.

DAMAGE EXCEEDS THREE MILLIONS

In Mississippi, Alabama and Louisiana Houses Have Been Swept Away, Railroads Washed Out and Crops Destroyed.

LOUISVILLE, April 24.—Pouring rains continue throughout the flood districts of the south, and the danger to lives and property is becoming more grave. It was thought Saturday that the crisis was passed, but in many localities the rain is falling again with increased violence. Late reports to the weather bureau show that heavy precipitation has been general within the last 12 hours throughout the flooded country. It was estimated last Saturday that $3,000,000 worth of private property had already been destroyed, and it is now thought probable that this damage will be heavily increased. Mail and telegraph communication has been destroyed between the smaller towns in Mississippi and Alabama south of Jackson, the northern limit of the flood. Many farmhouses have been swept away, the occupants barely escaping with their lives, and the drowning of a family of seven negroes is reported from Jackson, Miss. The flood district is roughly bounded by a line drawn from Mobile up to the Tombigbee river to the center of the state of Alabama, thence west through Jackson, Miss., to the Mississippi river.

Around Columbia, Miss., every railroad and wagon bridge is reported washed away, and first crops are a total loss. At Enterprise, Miss., the water stands five feet in the houses and stores. At Meridian, Miss., the water is reported at six feet in the streets and still rising. Timber and buildings are reported destroyed at Ellisville, Meridian, De Soto and through the Bayou Pierre district in Mississippi, and numerous small points in Alabama report great damage.

Trains on railroads into New Orleans which have not been abandoned entirely are running only in the daylight owing to the dangerous condition of the tracks. The Louisville and Nashville's New Orleans line, which was in fair condition until last evening, is now cut in two by the destruction of a four span bridge over the West Pascagoula river near Scranton. Arrangements have been made to ferry passengers across the break. Many people in the small water bound towns of Mississippi are reported on the brink of starvation.

Croton Strike Ended.

CROTON LANDING, N. Y., April 24.—Most of the militia who have been guarding the works here will leave for home today. The Seventh regiment, it is announced, will be in their armory in New York city this evening. The cavalry will either reach home about the same time or will be in camp well along on the road. A portion of Troops A and C will remain for a few days to enforce the law if necessary. The strike is about over so far as the troops are concerned. Ten gangs of men out of 12 are now working. At the quarries 187 men are employed, while 350 were at work on the dam. This is about 163 men less than were at work on the day prior to the strike. The contractors claim that they can get ten times as many men as they have need for.

Forest Fires In the Northwest.

MINNEAPOLIS, April 24.—Unless a heavy rain speedily visits the Cass lake region the fires now raging in the "toppings" will extend to the standing timber, inflicting losses which will run into the tens of millions of dollars. The fire is confined to the stumpage and boughs, the old cuttings of the past two winters. Minneapolis log owners are greatly alarmed. Everything is as dry as tinder. M. J. Scanlon of the Scanlon-Gibson Lumber company said yesterday that a terrible fire was raging south and west of Cass lake. The streams have dried up, and everything favors a most disastrous forest fire.

Jefferson Dinner In Syracuse.

SYRACUSE, April 24.—Five hundred leading Democrats of Syracuse and northern and central New York attended the Jefferson dinner given under the auspices of the local Democracy by Mayor James K. McGuire last evening. It was an enthusiastic gathering calculated to harmonize the Democracy and encourage the party for the coming campaign. Gold men and silver advocates united in making the affair a great political success. Former Senator David B. Hill made the main speech of the evening.

New Mode of Suicide.

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., April 24.—Leaping high into the air, as an expert diver would in taking a fancy plunge into the water, an unknown man committed suicide at the foundry works of the H. C. Frick Coke company by diving into a coke oven. In less than a minute what had been a man apparently in the full vigor of life had mingled with the curling smoke of the ovens, distinguishable only by its bluish brown color and nauseating odor from the gas smoke of the burning coal. A more tragic death never occurred in this region.

Robbed by Clairvoyant.

GRAND RAPIDS, April 24.—Miss Ethelyn Quimby, a prominent society young woman, is alleged to have been robbed of $800 in money and jewels by Mrs. D. Preston, a visiting clairvoyant. Miss Quimby consulted the clairvoyant about a lawsuit and was induced to borrow the money. The clairvoyant and her husband have disappeared. Miss Quimby's physician says she was hypnotized.

In Port After Long Struggle.

NORFOLK, April 24.—The Spanish steamer El Salto, Captain Londa, from Rio for Queenstown via Philadelphia, limped into port here a mere iron hull, everything combustible on board having been fed to the furnace to help her reach a coaling port. The Salto sailed from Rio March 21 with a big cargo of manganeze ore, ship and cargo being valued at $300,000.

Run Down By a Train.

BLOOMSBURG, Pa., April 24.—While driving in the evening near Willow Grove, midway between Bloomsburg and Berwick, Clifton Dean and a lady whose name is unknown, both of Berwick, were run down by a train on the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad, and the man was instantly killed.

Weather Probabilities.

Fair; cooler; fresh northerly winds.

COMING EVENTS.

April 23-28—Tommy Shearer Company at Music Hall.
May 1—"A Night Off" at Music Hall.

The veteran Trenton correspondent of the New York Herald says it is believed that the new Chancellor will be Justice Gilbert Collins, of the Supreme Court, although other names have been mentioned. It was understood some time ago that Justice William Gummere was slated for the place, but that slate is believed to have been shattered. Vice-Chancellors Emery and Pitney, Judge J. Franklin Fort and Chief Justice Magie have all been mentioned. The appointment may, it is true, be offered to the Chief Justice. He lives in the same city with the Governor and they are warm personal friends, the Governor having studied for the law in Mr. Magie's office. His fitness for the place is unquestionable. The essential qualification in a Chancellor is a conscientious, trained and accurate sense of equity. He mainly exercises what are called equity powers. He needs, of course, to be well read in the law and its principles, because the theoretical fundamental grand rule of the law is equity; but it often happens that following the exact letter of the law would work injustice, and it is for such cases that the Court of Chancery exists.

If it is the intention of the Borough Council to enact an ordinance providing for the laying of flagstone sidewalks in front of all properties in the municipality not so improved now, and then allowing the law to stand as a deadletter against certain ones at the discretion of the Council, a dangerous double-edged instrument is being made to cause trouble in the future. It would seem to be the height of folly to pass a borough ordinance designed to be enforced under such circumstance. Sooner or later it is bound to cause a vast amount of bitter quibbling and feeling. In providing for improvements of this kind the ordinance should be framed as specifically as possible. If the Council, at the present time, believes that it is not necessary to lay sidewalks in front of various properties the members should see to it that those particular spots should be omitted in the ordinance. It is a poor policy to say in legal terms what it is not intended to carry out in practical work.

Mayor Briggs, of Trenton, has had notice to the effect that the War Department, instead of alloting to New Jersey two cannons captured by the United States in the Spanish-American War, has allowed but one of these relics, and this has already gone to Paterson. Trenton is, as a consequence, left without the "souvenir" that was to have stood on the State House grounds. Gov. Voorhees is still making a fight for the cannon, however, and hopes, in spite of the the reported decision, to secure two guns.

Whether or not Taylor has been wrongly and unjustly indicted in Kentucky, he will loose what little respect there is left for him if he attempts to evade facing the accusation by staying in New York and inducing Governor Roosevelt to decline to honor the requisition that will be issued for his return to Kentucky.

The biggest blackmailing scheme ever organized in this country has been divulged in the publication by the World of the design which Admiral Schley's friends resorted to force his recognition by the administration. It would seem that the Admiral is seriously in need of being saved from his friends.

Clark, of Montana, probably has a very hazy idea of what people mean when they speak of the United States Senate as the "Millionares' Club." Certainly Clark has the required number of millions, but they failed to land him in the the place that he coveted so.

While the British are pouring millions of dollars into South Africa to carry on an unholy and needless war, its dependents in India continue to die of starvation. It is a black page for England.

The Ohio State convention is being held today; or, more properly, Mark Hanna is carry out the slate that he has arranged.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

The boys of the West End fire house claim the honor of having broken the record for answering an alarm. At Sunday morning's fire they had two streams on the burning structure before the gong had ceased blowing. As the distance between the different houses was about the same they have a right to feel proud.

The open season for black bass and yellow perch fishing will begin Memorial Day this year as usual. A law was passed at the last session of the Legislature extending the close season to June 15th, but the "take effect immediately" clause was omitted, so that the act this year does not go into force until July 4th. This will be good news for many fishermen who love the "gentle sport," but whose opportunities to enjoy are few. Memorial Day being a public holiday, is utilized by many persons whose circumstances will not permit them to take a day off whenever the fishing fever strikes them. These people are entitled to as much consideration as the wealthy angler whose time is his own and who can afford to spend as much of it as he pleases in dangling a hook and line. And why should not the black bass season open Memorial Day just as well as two weeks later?

The author of "The Domestic Blunders of Women" is a wise man if not a brave one. He has hidden his identity behind the phrase, "A Mere Man." Any one who would place himself in the path of such a storm of feminine protest as is sure to follow the advent of that book would be rash indeed. "The Domestic Blunders of Women" has just been published by the Funk & Wagnalls Co., New York, and has aroused a wonderful lot of talk by its scathing criticism of woman at home and in her efforts to manage the household. The book is well written, but it is unlikely to find much attractiveness to fair readers. The thoughts expressed concerning women are not the most complimentary, but they may suit the like of the "mere man" who claims to write from his own experience with the fair sex. The book is now on sale at Estil's, Park avenue.

It is quite a common occurrence, now-a-days for wagons to block street car traffic, but when it comes to a hay wagon blocking a canal it's another thing. Last Friday night a Bound Brook man and a friend were driving a loaded hay cart along the Raritan canal. As the ride was a long one, and each had taken a little too much liquid refreshment before they started, they both fell asleep on top of the hay, leaving the horses to themselves. They wandered into the canal, freed themselves from the harness, leaving the wagon in the water and climbed the opposite bank. The Bound Brook man still slept on, but his friend was thrown into the water. When he saw what had happened he disappeared, and did not turn up until 10 o'clock the next morning. The sleeper was still sleeping when a tug-boat came up the canal and encountered the obstruction. He was finally awakened by the crew and taken from his perch. The horses were found in a nearby field.

NEWS OF THE SUBURBS.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, April 24.— A heavily loaded wagon, belonging to the Union Beef Company, of Plainfield, broke down on West Front street, near Rock avenue, yesterday afternoon, and blocked trolley traffic for over two hours. Passengers were transferred in the meantime, much to the discomfort of ladies, who had to walk through the mud. It was 6 o'clock before another wagon was brought from Plainfield and the load transferred.

The annual meeting of the Middlesex County School Board Association will be held at the Mansion House, New Brunswick, Thursday. There will be a friendly rivalry between the members of the association and the circus, but County Superintendent H. B. Willis expects there will be a good attendance of the members of the association. The gathering will be addressed by Martha Luther Cox, one of the supervising principals of the Newark schools.

Dunellenites are puzzled over the action of Peter Schneiderwind, who has started painting his house from the bottom. As this is an unusual thing to do everyone is wondering what it means. Some say it is for a sort of rainbow effect, for as he goes higher the paint will drop down below, giving all the latest dashes. Peter, himself, will say nothing about it.

Justice Collins has about completed his work for the April term in Middlesex county, having disposed of all cases on the calendar except a few to be tried without a jury and these he will probably dispose of at his office in Jersey City.

An Italian, employed on the Morrer property, came to Dr. Brakeley yesterday with a badly-cut hand, which had come in contact with a corn-cutter. One finger was nearly severed from the hand.

There is some talk among the residents of New Market of forming a vigilance committee in order to prevent a repetition of Saturday night's burglary.

Workmen in the employ of the railroad have placed posts for a fence in position as far as this place and have commenced the wiring near the Eighth Row.

The postoffice has received a number of the new stamp books which the Government is making for the convenience of large stamp users.

A supper was given at Taylor's Hotel Saturday night, which was attended by a number of Plainfielders.

Mrs. Clay, of Plainfield, has bought the Ziba P. Osmun property and will take possession shortly.

Mr. Contrelly is making a number of improvements on his property.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, April 24.—Fanwood Council, R. A., will hold their semi-monthly meeting in their rooms this evening.

Rev. G. M. Shott, of the Baptist church, is attending the meetings of the Ecumenical conference being held in Carnegie Hall, New York.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Grant, of Plainfield, have been the guests of Mrs. Grant's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas M. Paff, Sr.

Miss Bertha Crooker, of Plainfield, has been visiting at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Henry Schreiner.

George Johnston is detained at home suffering from a painful attack of muscular rheumatism.

A calico masquerade ball will be held at Emery's dancing pavilion tomorrow evening.

Seeley's paper mills have closed for two weeks to make necessary repairs about the mill.

Miss Ella Squires has returned from a pleasant visit with relatives in New York.

SOMERVILLE.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Somerville, April 24.—The rummage sale held last week by the ladies of Somerville, Raritan and Bound Brook, for the benefit of the Somerset Hospital, netted that institution over $500. It was a good thing for the rich, who got rid of many articles they did not want, and enabled the poor to obtain many articles which they otherwise could not have obtained. Mrs. Anna Reed, mother of Senator Reed, and Mrs. J. J. Bach, who engineered the sale, are to be congratulated on their success.

The Somerset County Christian Temperance Union will hold a School of Methods at the M. E. chapel, Martinville, Thursday, May 3d, beginning at 10 a. m. Addresses will be made by Mrs. Emma Bourne, State president; Mrs. D. P. Peeke, county president; Mrs. W. S. Cooyman, of Gladstone; Mrs. M. E. Coupland, president Ellis Union, Union Hill, and others.

Editor C. H. Bateman, of the Unionist-Gazette, has gone with the Legislative correspondents on an excursion to Annapolis, Washington and Richmond. He expects to return Wednesday night.

Rev. Charles H. Pool, of this place, will address the eighth annual convention of the Christian Endeavor Missionary League, to be held at New Brunswick May 2d and 3d.

Charles Opdyke sold Monday night to a gentleman from Plainfield a pair of seal brown mares for $1,000. They are beauties.

Misses Anna and Ida M. Irving spent Sunday at Harlingen with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Boice.

The friends of the public library are talking about having a rummage sale for the benefit of that institution.

A. V. D. Taylor, of Newark, is spending a few days at Mrs. Veghte's on North Bridge street.

B. R. Schopp, postoffice inspector, was at the Somerville office Monday.

Rev. B. V. D. Wyckoff and family, of Readington, were in town Monday.

Miss Mayme Stryker, of Millstone, is visiting in Somerville.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

South Plainfield, April 24—The annual business meeting of the Baptist church will be held next Saturday afternoon.

Quite a number from here attended a funeral in Plainfield yesterday.

George Arrowsmith is working at the coaling station.

THEATRICAL.

A large audience witnessed the opening performance of the Tommy Shearer Company, who presented "A Day of Reckoning" last evening at Music Hall. It was indeed worthy of their attendance for the performance was very interesting. The scenery and costumes were equal to any ever seen here at popular prices. The company is a strong one which was proven by the manner in which each one portrayed his or her part. Specialties were introduced between the acts which pleased to the satisfaction of all present. Tonight they appear in "The Moonshiners' Daughter," a strong play of the sensational order. Matinee Wednesday afternoon, prices 10 and 20 cents.

* * * * * * *

There will be produced at Music Hall Friday evening, May 4th, A. W. Pinero's beautiful play, "Sweet Lavender." This must be regarded as one of the most successful plays of modern times and the most popular of the Frohman productions. This play has an international reputation, having been produced in England, the United States, Australia, India, South Africa and Russia. In England thousands of performances have been given, while in London alone the play enjoyed the remarkable run of two years. "Sweet Lavender" met with equal success in this country, when it was first produced by Daniel Frohman at the Lyceum Theatre, New York, and it proved to be one of the most successful plays of Mr. Frohman's repertoire. The play appeals especially to those who enjoy a quiet domestic drama, with just enough pathos to bring the tears and comedy enough to dry them. In these days of the sensational melodrama—problem plays and those dealing with immorality and the weary side of life—"Sweet Lavender" acts as a refreshing antidote. For the whole play has not one bad part, and a great treat is in store for people of Plainfield and its vicinity.

EARLY INTELLIGENCE.

—The Christian Endeavor Society of the First Baptist church has decided to hold a social Friday evening, May 4th, after the regular prayer meeting service.

—Prescriptions prepared with care; best drugs; many years' experience; up-to-date pharmacy to be found at new drug store of C. M. Nagle, West Front and Grove streets.

—Buy right and also get trading stamps. N. K. Barnes, of 245 West Front street, quotes very low prices. Look over the prices in his advertisement and save yourself money by buying of him.

—Don't miss reading advertisement Wednesday and Thursday of William Willis, manager of Long Branch Fish Company, West Front street, next to Powlison & Jones. His prices will never make him rich.

A THRILLING RIDE.

Mrs. Harned in a Closed Carriage Drawn by a Terrified Horse Without a Driver.

Rare presence of mind is probably all that saved Mrs. M. S. Harned, of East Front street, from perhaps fatal injuries in a runaway accident this morning.

She was seated in a carriage belonging to E. N. Horne, of North avenue, and driven by William Price. When near the corner of Park avenue and Front street Price left his seat with the intention of loosening a rein which had caught in the shaft, but as he touched the ground he slipped and fell, frightening the horse.

The animal started down Park avenue on a furious run, miraculously escaping all obstructions. At the corner of Park avenue and Fourth street the lines became entangled in the wheels, drawing the horse's head around with a sudden jerk and throwing him to the ground.

He was caught and held by Wesley Dunn. Mrs. Harned, who had been sitting calmly in the carriage, stepped out, none the worse for her ride.

Price sustained no injuries, but the horse was cut about the head and the shafts were smashed.

Mrs. Chas. H. Hall and son, of 502 Watchung avenue, returned home today after a pleasant two weeks' visit at her former home, Perth Amboy.

Khaki Cloth.

This is the latest novelty in our department of Washable Dress Goods and promises to become extremely fashionable for bicycling, golfing, outing and tailor-made skirts and suits.

It is the same fabric as was worn by the U. S. Troops during the Santiago campaign and is used by the British soldiers in South Africa. Although firm in weave it is peculiarly solf and clinging, and will endure an unusual amount of rough usage. The color is a beautiful tan.

Wolfenbüttel. Dieser Tage verstarb der älteste Krieger Wolfenbüttels, der Steueramtsassistent a. D. August Grüne. Derselbe war am 3. Dezember 1817 zu Braunschweig geboren. Als Sergeant machte er im Braunschweigischen Infanterie-Regiment den Feldzug gegen die Dänen im Jahre 1848 mit.

Dessau. Der Landtag nahm auch in dritter Lesung den Gesetzentwurf hinsichtlich der Errichtung einer Landwirthschaftskammer an.

Detmold. Die Gründung der Lippe'schen Elektrizitäts-Aktiengesellschaft fand im Hotel „Kaiserhof" statt. Die Aktiengesellschaft übernimmt die elektrische Straßenbahn vom Bahnhof Detmold bis Berlebeck und Hiddesen und die dazu gehörige elektrische Centrale und wird diese Bahn erweitern nach Horn-Externsteine, sowie durch einen elektrischen Aufzug nach dem Hermanns-Denkmal. Weiter wird auch elektrisches Licht und Kraft zum Betriebe von Kleinmotoren nach Wunsch und Bedarf abgegeben. Das Aktienkapital beträgt vorläufig 600,000 Mark.

Korbach. Die neuerbaute Bahnlinie Korbach-Frankenberg ist so weit fertiggestellt, daß sie am 1. Mai dem Betriebe übergeben werden kann. Damit ist die ganze Neubaustrecke Warburg-Marburg betriebsfähig und sollen auf derselben zunächst vier Personenzüge täglich verkehren.

Großherzogthum Hessen.

Darmstadt. Die feierliche Grundsteinlegung des auf der Mathildenhöhe dahier geplanten Künstlerhauses wurde neulich vollzogen. Nachdem Professor Olberich eine Rede gehalten, verrichtete der Großherzog die üblichen drei Hammerschläge mit den Worten: „Dem Hessenlande, dem Volke zum Ruhm, der Kunst!"

Alzey. Am 25. Oktober 1890 sandte Karl Fritz von hier seinem damals am deutschen Konsulate in Rio de Janeiro (Brasilien) weilenden Bruder eine Postkarte mit der Anzeige eines freudigen Familienereignisses. Am Bestimmungsorte konnte die Karte nicht bestellt werden, und es kam dieselbe jüngst, also nach etwa 9½ Jahren, wieder in Alzey an. Damit die Karte nun doch noch in die Hände des Adressaten, des jetzigen Bezirksamtmannes Georg Fritz in Saipan (Marianen) gelange, wurde dieselbe nach dessen jetzigem Aufenthaltsorte weitergesandt.

Bensheim. Hier wurde die „Starkenburger Getreide-Verkaufsgenossenschaft" gegründet. Gegenstand des Unternehmens ist, das selbstgebaute Getreide der Mitglieder durch gemeinschaftlichen Verkauf und bessere Ausnutzung der Preisverhältnisse angemessen zu verwerthen, den Anbau bestimmter Getreidesorten zu fördern und den Verkauf von Saatgut in die Hand zu nehmen.

Mainz. Die Verwaltungsbehörde hat das Gesuch eines auswärtigen Unternehmers, hier einen Automobildroschkenverkehr einzurichten, abgelehnt, da ein Bedürfniß nicht vorliege.

Bayern.

München. Der Verein für Verbesserung der Wohnungsverhältnisse in München, der heute 550 Mitglieder zählt, hat sich den Erwerb eines ausgedehnten Bauterrains nächst der Lindwurmstraße zum Preise von 275,000 Mark gesichert. Nach dem vorläufigen Bebauungsplane werden auf dem Terrain 19 Anwesen, die zwei größere gärtnerische Anlagen einschließen, Platz finden.—Professor Röntgen, der Entdecker der Röntgenstrahlen, früher in Würzburg, jetzt in München, ist von der Pariser Medizinischen Akademie mit Einstimmigkeit zum auswärtigen Mitgliede der Akademie erwählt worden.

Augsburg. Der frühere Gastwirth Andreas Rindle hat sich im Wirthschaftsgarten seines vor sieben Jahren verkauften, im benachbarten Oberhausen gelegenen Anwesens erschossen.

Hutthurm. Der Bauer Joseph Fuchs von Gumering wurde auf dem Felde während des Eggens plötzlich von seinem Ochsen angegriffen und zu Boden geworfen. Das wüthende Thier versetzte ihm mit den Hörnern einen so wuchtigen Stoß unterhalb des Genickes, daß die Wirbelsäule durchbohrt wurde. Fuchs ist an den Folgen der Verletzungen gestorben.

Kolmberg. Hier wurde unter Erweisung militärischer Ehren seitens des Veteranenvereins Kolmberg ein alter Veteran Namens Johann Thomas Jeßberger zur letzten Ruhe getragen. Jeßberger, der vollständig erblindet war, dürfte wohl der älteste in Bayern lebende Veteran gewesen sein, der 1849 die Erstürmung der Düppeler Schanzen mitgemacht hat.

A grocer in Bluffton, Ohio, suffered from heart trouble, caused by inflammatory rheumatism. One day he was reading a Prohibition paper called New Era, published at Springfield, in the same State, and saw the advertisement of Ripans Tabules. The advertisement led him to think that the Tabules might do him some good, so he went to the drug store to buy a box, but they were not kept in stock. A traveling salesman happened to come along the same day, and the grocer incidentally brought up the subject of Ripans Tabules. The drummer had a bottle of them in his vest pocket, and he gave several Tabules to the grocer. The medicine helped the latter right away, and as he could not at that time buy them in the drug store, he wrote for a supply to the Ripans Chemical Co., New York, saying: "The Tabules greatly relieve my heart trouble." The demand for Ripans Tabules is increasing so fast that to-day there are few druggists who do not keep them.

DEMANDING HER RIGHTS.

But She Forgot to Ring Up the Main Office and Got No Satisfaction.

When a gentle-faced, mild-eyed and sweet-voiced woman gets angry the surprise of those familiar with her is as great as that accredited to the savage hound when attacked by a hare.

One of the most charming of this class of women, who was entertaining a number of friends from out of the city, went to the telephone, put the receiver to her ear and in low, melodious tones called for a number. She waited patiently and called again. At the third request her voice showed a slight elevation and a corresponding approach to sharpness. Then began the real entertainment.

"See here! If you don't care to take the time or don't know enough to get me that number, kindly explain what we are renting this telephone for. It's a nuisance and an imposition, that's what it is. If the line's busy, say so. I have a right to know whether there is any use of my standing here waiting. I'm not in the hello business as you are. Are you deaf and dumb, or both? Give me a thousand. I've stood this neglect as long as I'm going to. Hurry up, now. If the company is paying salaries for impudence, inattention and incompetency, I want to know it. I never saw anything like it," and there was an edge on her voice that fairly sawed the air.

The husband and the company were holding their sides, suppressing the noise of laughter with handkerchiefs at their mouths and signaling each other to keep quiet.

"Mamma," said the little daughter, who had just grasped the situation, "you forgot to ring up the main office. You're talkin' to the empty wires."

Mamma blushed, joined in the laugh and admitted that she was glad that her temper had caused nothing but pleasure.—Detroit Free Press.

BALLOONING FOR ASTHMA.

So Said Henry Coxwell, Who Made the Highest Ascent and Is Just Dead.

Henry Coxwell, whose death is announced, made the highest balloon ascent on record. Henry Glaisher accompanied him. This was in the early 60's. They reached an altitude of seven miles, where the atmosphere was so rarefied that Mr. Glaisher fainted and Mr. Coxwell's hand became so stiff that he was forced to open the valves with his teeth.

Mr. Coxwell had a thorough belief in balloons as adjuncts to military operations, and for 30 years advocated their use in this way. At the Crystal palace long ago he gave an exhibition of their signaling capabilities by day and night. In 1863 he sufficiently stirred the military authorities to permit him to give experiments at Aldershot and at Woolwich arsenal with captive balloons. After a time a balloon corps was formed, but it was permitted to buy its experience by many failures, which, as Mr. Coxwell said, might have been averted if professional instruction had been engaged.

To the question: "Will ballooning ever become a fashionable pastime?" once put to him, Mr. Coxwell replied that he thought not. "Ballooning," he added, "is remarkably popular to-day to a certain extent, as it is now more used for acrobatic purposes and fancy acts. But a balloon is a costly affair. When I was a young man they used to be made of expensive silk, and a good balloon would cost £500; now you can make them of muslin at a cost of from £150 to £200. No, I don't think it will ever become fashionable." Mr. Coxwell experienced the fact that ballooning is of great benefit to people who suffer from asthma. "You see," he said, "you get into such pure air, and I know I always feel better after an ascent."—N. Y. Journal.

TACTLESS SOCIETY PEOPLE.

Topics That Should Be Forbidden Are Often Persistently Dwelt Upon.

It is a well-known circumstance that the fact of knowing that there is some subject that must be avoided causes the conversation by some fatality to turn into that particular direction. At a recent luncheon the hostess wore for the first time a set of new teeth, and, of course, dental appendages came up every now and again as a topic of conversation.

"Teeth," declared a young mother, who was all too occupied with her own nursery difficulties to notice the connection, "are a trouble from the nursery to the grave." A skating accident was mentioned where a pretty young debutante broke a front tooth, and the advisability of replacing it with a false one was discussed. A new dentist who had effected wonderful improvements in the shape of the jaw was spoken of. In short, the topic cropped up again and again, and there seemed no way of suppressing it.

To a very fat person it is almost impossible to avoid talking of individuals similarly afflicted. To a thin man or woman, living skeletons seem the inevitable trend of conversation, and so on. Chief among social sins is to say that which ought not to be said and leave unsaid that which ought to have been said, and we rarely leave an important function without deploring mistakes or regretting lost opportunities.—N. Y. Tribune.

Running No Risks.

George—The ring doesn't seem to fit very well, Clara. Hadn't I better take it back and have it made smaller?

Clara—No, George; an engagement ring is an engagement ring, even if I had to wear it round my neck.—Tit-Bits.

ECONOMY IN DRESS.

The Secret of Making a Good Appearance on Small Expenditure.

One of the great problems of everyday life is how to dress tastefully and with due regard for the prevailing style and yet with reasonable economy. But few women have solved this problem satisfactorily, and only after years of painstaking and patient study.

The secret of success lies to a great extent in the choice of materials. Fancy fabrics in new designs and novel arrangements of color attract the majority of young and dressy women, and flimsy stuffs with dressy possibilities are irresistible temptations to them. They buy these fabrics, and pay good prices for having them made up, for only an artist can handle them successfully. The dresses are worn a few times, when they become faded, or draw in the seams, or a few rain-drops make ugly spots, and they become worthless for best dresses. Then there is an imperative demand for something new, and the same ground is gone over again, with the same results.

Of course, this sort of thing is excellent for trade, and pleasing to dressmakers, and all right for wealthy women who can afford to wear such goods and have them replaced every new moon, but the woman who would be economical must put all these temptations away from her, for economy in dress means the purchase of only excellent fabrics, mostly in plain colors, and these must be made in styles as simple and plain as possible.

Some women are always in exaggeration of the fashion. When trains are worn theirs are at least half a yard longer than those of other people; when high sleeves are in vogue theirs cover their faces. The woman who would be well dressed must remember that there is no greater error than exaggeration in dress, and to push a fashion to the extreme is to suggest the grotesque. We often blame fashion for ridiculous excesses, when it is the exponents of fashion who by their exaggeration bring certain styles into disrepute. Any fashion in excess degenerates into vulgarity, and the wearer of such exaggerations is deficient in refinement and good taste.

A high-grade silk-warp cloth in black, made up stylishly, but in a plain fashion, and finished with a little elegant garniture, is one of the most useful and becoming of garments. It is also inconspicuous, and may be worn repeatedly without exciting comment. A handsome black dress may be worn again without exciting unpleasant comment, or it may be changed in appearance by the use of a few trifling variations in the way of neck-dressing trimmings or by the introduction of a bit of color.

Another useful costume would be a black china crepe trimmed with lace or ruffles of the same material. Provide several sets of ribbons, one set of black and the others of whatever tints or tones are the most becoming and appropriate. In buying ribbons avoid high colors or fancy patterns, and above all get a good quality. Cheap ribbons do not belong in the wardrobe of the economical woman, neither do cheap fabrics of any sort. Everything she buys must be first-class, and all garments must be well made to be profitable.

In outside garments—wraps, cloaks and the like—the economical woman must be to all appearances extravagant. That means that she must buy the best and richest material, goods that do not depend upon show, but intrinsic worth, for their effects. Novelties, or what are usually called stylish patterns, are not her wisest selections. Richness and elegance, not showy styles and materials, must be the economical woman's dependence if she would achieve satisfactory results.—Farm and Fireside.

A GREAT SPLURGE.

The Picturesque Downfall of a Young Man Who Tried to Make an Impression.

He is from the aristocratic old town of Richmond and visiting in Detroit. Being young, pleasing and susceptible, it was inevitable that he should become enamored of some fair local belle. She happened to be one of the most enthusiastic patrons of the skating rink. To her there is no sweeter music than the ring of the steel upon the ice.

"O, yes, I skate," in answer to her inquiry. "Ce'tainly. I love the spoht. So exhili'atin' and healthy, don't you know? Could we go this evenin'?"

They went. She entered the rink, her cheeks aglow and her eyes sparkling. He looked about him in a dazed way, shivered and felt faint. "Thought it was rollah skatin'," he muttered to the boy who was adjusting his skates. "Nevah pehfo'med on the ice in my bo'n days. Reckon I'm in fo' it, shuah. Kindah lingeh near me on the go off, boy," and the lad closed his grimy fist over half a dollar.

"Heah we ah'," announced Mr. Richmond with an uncertain bow as she took his arm and the boy whispered to go slow at first. But she knew nothing about going slow. She was keen as a race horse and struck out as though for a time record. He set his teeth and tried the roller motion. He will never be able to describe the events of those two seconds.

Eye witnesses declare that it was nothing more than a kaleidoscopic fit. The air was full of feet, warm winter colors and screeches. The belle slid 40 feet with her nose as a brake. The boy was pulled from under Richmond, flat as a crush hat in repose.

Mr. Richmond declared that it was a mere nothing. Skate must have loosened and slipped. All that he claimed was a "broken coll'a' bone and a slight concussion of the brain," just enough to carry a well arm in a sling and she wears a ring.—Detroit Free Press.

NEW DRESS NOTES.

The Latest in Skirts for the Spring Season—Accordion Plaits Popular.

The new dress skirts are being made of every sort of fabric, from guipure lace and satin matelasse to French batiste and gingham; and no two styles seem alike, so varied are their outlines and effects, and so differently does each designer or dressmaker fashion and decorate them.

From Paris, the Riviera and London come the following hints for the spring season: Double vests of contrasting color and fabric, set one beyond the other; carrick shoulder capes of graduated sizes, ending in points at the waist; revers superposed one above the other; and a series of Eton-jacket fronts corded at the edges, silk-lined, graded in size, and lapping each other like the roof of a thatched cottage.

New effects in side, kilt, accordion, knife, box and double-box plaiting are constantly appearing. Handsome silk and satin petticoats are similarly finished, and on many gowns the plaiting on the skirt is repeated on the waist, the side or box plaits reaching either from the shoulder seam to the belt, from the neck to below the bust, or from the bust to the waist line. If perfectly adjusted and fitted, a waist of this kind is becomingly worn by women of moderately full figure.

In making up the new plaited skirts they may be cut in one piece, the single seam made to come under the right fold of the box-plait at the back; or, where narrow-width materials are in hand, such as summer silk, taffeta, and the like, the seams may without difficulty be brought to the under fold of any desired plait. Paper patterns show the skirt notched at the top and bottom for each plait, which is perforated its entire length with lines that mark the creasing of each fold. These perforations are followed and covered with chalk or soapstone, which leaves its mark upon the skirt material laid beneath the pattern.

To give the full expanding effect to the lower part of the dress skirt, are set forth some accordion-plaited silks sold by the yard, in different colors and in black and white; also deep flouncings of sheer lawn embroidered in deep patterns on the lower edge. The embroidered batistes in soft ecru tints are pretty, and the craze for applique effects is exemplified once more among imported robe dresses in pure white or in pale delicate shades, as well as among silk and other richer fabrics for both spring and summer wear. Petticoats are of the greatest importance in properly adjusting new dress skirts. The latest French models are mostly of frilled glace silk. It is the French decree that they shall fit very closely around the hips and widen to their fullest extent at the foot, emphasized by a multiplicity of small frills nearly covering one very deep flounce or two narrower ruffles.—N. Y. Post.

HIS LIMITATION.

He Couldn't Find Some Things According to Supposed Orders and Wanted to Quit.

Some months ago one of the janitors of a certain school rang up a member of the school board.

"What do you want?" said the member.

"This is Smith, the janitor of the—— street school, and I have made up my mind to quit my job."

"What's the trouble?"

"I am honest, and I won't stand being slurred. If I find a pencil or a handkerchief when I am sweeping I place it on the teacher's desk. Every little while, though, the teachers or some of the pupils, who are too cowardly to face me, give me a slur."

The members of the board thought that something was really wrong, and decided to find what it was and correct it.

"In what way are you slurred, Smith?" he asked.

"Why, a little while ago I saw written on the board: 'Find a common multiple.' Well, I don't know what it is like, but I have looked from cellar to garret, and I can't find it."

The M. S. B. had to get away from the 'phone to laugh. When he had recovered his composure he came back.

"Well, what made you give up your job?" he said.

"Well, last night, in big writing, on the blackboard, I found this: 'Find the greatest common divisor,' and I said to myself: 'Both of them miserable things are lost, and I get the blame for swiping them. So I am going to quit. Good-by."—Memphis Scimitar.

Indiscriminate Savings.

Saving is not always economy. True economy consists as much in throwing out perfectly worthless articles which draw moths into the house as it does in saving articles that are of value. The woman who hoards up old tin cans, with the idea that they may be utilized some time as receptacles for food, is an extravagant manager, because she risks the health of her family thereby. The cans are made of inferior material, and it is not safe to use them to hold food or as cooking pans. Their usefulness is past after they are open and their contents poured out. It is economy to burn greasy, old twine, old dusty paper, or anything which represents matter out of place when it is hoarded up.—N. Y. Tribune.

Salted Brazil Nuts.

Salted Brazil nuts are a rather heartier dainty than the salted almonds, but are valuable as an occasional variety. A cupful of them should be blanched and marinaded in a tablespoonful of olive oil. Let them stand about three-quarters of an hour before they are thoroughly salted and browned in the oven.—N. Y. Post.

PERPETUAL YEAST.

When Properly Prepared Will Be Ready for Use for an Indefinite Period.

An excellent and simple yeast, which gives the very best results, is now generally used in place of the old time hop or potato yeast. It is perpetual. That is, once started, the yeast may be kept and easily renewed each week by simply adding the potato water and a little sugar to it. A quart preserving can is the most convenient thing to start and to keep this yeast in. To begin a can of this perpetual yeast, dissolve a compressed yeast cake in a quarter of a cup of lukewarm potato water—that is, the water in which the potatoes for dinner are cooked. Fill a quart can or glass half full of lukewarm potato water. Add half a cup of granulated sugar to it, and when this is dissolved add the quarter of a cup of dissolved yeast. Stir well and set the can containing the yeast in a moderately warm place, but not where it will be heated perceptibly, and let it stand until the whole is very light. Seal up the can and the day before you are ready to make bread fill the can full of lukewarm potato water, and add another half cup of sugar. Let the can stand for about 24 hours. Beat the foaming white yeast and use a pint, or half the can, for four small or three large loaves of bread. Use as much lukewarm water as you do of yeast, and mix the bread at once, kneading it thoroughly. Seal up the can of yeast, set it away and a day before the yeast is needed fill up the can again with lukewarm potato water, in which the potatoes were boiled, and half a cup of sugar, and it is ready for use again when it is risen.—N. Y. Tribune.

A Transient Population.

Every Friday evening New York loses thousands of its residents, who go to other cities in the state and to Boston and Philadelphia. These people are citizens of Albany, Utica, Syracuse, Rochester, Buffalo, Elmira, Binghamton and the travelers to Boston and Philadelphia have their homes in these cities. All of these men do business in New York city. They return to New York from their homes on Sunday night, arriving on Monday morning, and from that time until Friday evening they are going after the almighty dollar.—Baltimore News.

Savory Bean Stew.

Soak two cups of white beans over night, put them on in cold water on the middle of the range, but not front, till they come to a boil. Then change the water, add three good-sized potatoes and four medium-sized onions, cut small; let them all cook till the onion has given a brown tinge to the stew, pepper and salt to taste. For those who prefer it, a cup of canned tomatoes may be added at the last.—Housewife.

THE COOKING OF FISH.

Some Points Which May Be of Service to the Careful Housewife.

That fish is almost invaluable as a food is well known; although its actual proportion of flesh-forming material is low compared with beef or other meats, it contains a large proportion of phosphorus, which is necessary for the nourishment of the brain, and even in this particular fish differ as to their nutritive value. The white varieties—such as cod, haddock, halibut, sole and flounder—contain but a small per cent. of solid nutritive matter, and for this reason are usually served with butter sauce. Other fish, such as mackerel, salmon and herring are richer in fat, and contain more nutritive matter, but because of their fat are somewhat difficult to digest. Of the shell fish whose nutritive value is on a par with white varieties of fish, oysters are most digestible, scallops, shrimps, lobsters and crabs following in the order named.

In selecting fish it is well to remember that it cannot be too fresh; then that the flesh of a fresh fish is firm and elastic, leaving little or no depression if pressed with the fingers, and also that the eyes of fresh fish are bright, not glassy.

In cooking it is best to boil or bake a large fish. When boiled they should be served quite plain with potatoes steamed and peeled, and a buttered sauce flavored with a more tasty fish, such as lobster or oysters or herbs. Most fish admit of boiling; it is usual to prepare them for this process by washing them in strong vinegar; they should not be allowed to soak in it, however.

All large fish with the skins whole should be put in cold water, first carefully wrapped in a cloth, but the smaller varieties of fish in slices require more rapid cooking, and should therefore be plunged into boiling water at once. By this way the cut surfaces are hardened and closed and the juices of the fish prevented from boiling out. No more water than will just cover the fish should be used, or the skin will crack and the juices escape. As fast as as scum rises on the water it should be taken away, and after it has come to a boil a tablespoonful of salt added for each quart of water is advisable. The fish is said to be done when the flesh begins to leave the bone, but if a fish has been cooked steadily by simmering instead of fast boiling, the skin may remain quite sound and yet the flesh be sufficiently cooked. The best method of learning whether it be entirely cooked is by pushing a wooden skewer through the thickest part; if it goes in easily it is done.

As soon as the fish is cooked lift it out and let it drain thoroughly; then untie the cloth and transfer the cooked fish to a heated dish. The water the fish is boiled in will make a sauce, or may be used as stock for a fish soup.

For frying, fish requires the same preparation as for boiling, being afterward dipped in butter or egg and bread crums. The pan should be half full of boiling fat and the fish let down on a wire strainer or basket previously heated.

For broiling, fish should be washed and carefully dried, rubbed over with a lemon and then floured. The bars of the gridiron should be hot and well buttered before the fish is placed on them.

The foregoing general instructions are sufficient for most purposes and those usually practiced.—American Queen.

BEAUTIFUL FRANKNESS.

That of the Little "Pitchers" Which Is Always Manifested at the Wrong Time.

The new minister was preaching temporarily at the church in the western suburb to which he had accepted a call. He had not yet completed his pastorate in the city, and consequently it was an unsettled matter whether he would be able to fill his new pulpit regularly until after his release by the old congregation. It may be premised that the minister's name was not Brown. Mrs. Brown went out to call one day at the house of one of the prominent members of the new church, whose name was not Smith. Mrs. Smith received Mrs. Brown graciously and the two women had a pleasant call. Little Miss Smith, aged eight, assisted her mother in doing the honors for the new minister's wife. Finally Mrs. Brown arose to go. She was accompanied to the door by both Mrs. Smith and her daughter.

"By the way, Mrs. Brown," asked Mrs. Smith, as the former stood for a moment in the open door, "who will preach in the church on next Sunday?"

"O! my husband," said Mrs. Brown. "Mr. Brown will preach next Sunday, surely."

"Why, mamma," said the Smith child, with the beautiful frankness of childhood, "I thought you said Mr. Brown couldn't preach at all."—Chicago Tribune.

To Restore Polish to Marble.

When the polish has been removed from marble by acids or from any other cause it is quite difficult to restore it with such appliances as one can use in the home. However, if one have patience and strength, it can be done. Cover the defaced place with a thick bed of powdered pumice stone; wet this with water and then rub with a large flat stone, renewing pumice stone and water from time to time. It requires a great deal of hard rubbing to get a smooth surface; half an hour a day for three or four days may do it. Finish by rubbing with putty powder and water. For a rubber, use a block of wood covered with a piece of soft woolen cloth.—Ladies' Home Journal.

PUT UP A SPITE FENCE.

Trouble Between New Brunswick Neighbors Assumes New Phase.

There is another spite fence in New Brunswick. William J. Daly and John Garretson, neighbors, on Easton avenue, had a dispute over their property lines. On Saturday Daly erected a board fence 10 feet high between his property and Garretson's, completely shutting off the latter's view.

The dispute over the lines has been before the local courts for sometime. The spite fence is expected to lead to further trouble.

Supervisors May Get More Pay.

For nearly a year the six supervisors of the census in New Jersey have been busily engaged in the work preliminary to the taking of the twelfth census, which will begin June 1st. Hon. William B. Merriam, the director of the census, recently made a recommendation to the committee on census of the House of Representatives, to the effect that the compensation of the supervisors should be increased. This recommendation has had favorable consideration, and it is believed that when the matter comes up in the House it will be adopted without much opposition.

A Wonderful Tramp.

J. McCormick, the stranger who was arrested Sunday morning in the rear of West End Park, was arraigned before Mayor Smalley last evening and given three days to serve in the borough lockup. Since McCormick's confinement it has been learned that he has hypnotic powers. For this reason Chief Campbell keeps out of his way, lest he should be hypnotized and the man escape. It is said that he has been successful in putting many persons to sleep by his extraordinary powers over the mind.

GREAT THRONG AT THE RUMMAGE SALE.

Auspicious Opening of That Worthy Enterprise to Aid Local Charities.

LIVELY SALE OF STOCK.

SOCIETY FOLK WAITED ON CUSTOMERS OF ALL NATIONALITIES.

Crowd Assembled Before Time Came to Open the Doors—Grand Scramble for Bargains—Those Assisting the Committee—Will Close at 6.

The Rummage Sale opened this morning. The beginning was decidedly auspicious and promises a success for this movement in the aid of Muhlenberg Hospital and the Plainfield Relief Association. A strange and wonderful collection of articles has been in the store in the Jackson building for several days. All that was needed was the people and this morning the people came.

The vanguard of the patrons for the Rummage Sale appeared full an hour before the time set for opening the doors, 10 o'clock. They wandered by, looked in the windows and congregated at neighboring street corners. Meanwhile the corps of saleswomen and other assistants began to arrive. There were a host of little details to be arranged at the last minute that kept the committee busy.

The display of wares on the tables was complete and everything was priced. A remarkable mixture it was. Much of the stock was salable, but some of the articles may have to wait some time for a purchaser. The prices are, with a few exceptions, very low. A few curiosity hunters, who came early, found some rare old things in the line of furniture and crockery.

But the stock and the sellers thereof were only part of the sale. A wonderfully important feature was the host of customers who flocked in. Ten minutes before the time came for opening the doors fully a hundred men, women and children had assembled in front of the store. The saleswomen and the cash girls took their place and the doors were swung open at just 10 o'clock.

In swarmed the crowd and in a few moments the place was packed with people who crowded and pushed each other in a good natured scramble for the bargains. The saleswomen found their duties decidedly pressing. Everybody was anxious to know the price of this and of that, was in a hurry and wanted to be waited on without delay.

"Cash, cash" could be heard at every side. As the young folk who are to appear as cash-boys and cash-girls later in the day were at school when the sale began, a number of young women, familiar in Plainfield society, volunteered for the place. A lively time they had of it, buffeted about by the crowd and forced to nearly fight their way to the cashier's desk. Inside of a minute after the doors were opened to the public the first sale had been made and the money deposited with the cashier.

The throng that took possession of the store was intent upon business. No time was lost in reaching the desired counter and there the various articles were tossed about as the customers viewed their worthiness. Women prevailed in the crowd but the other sex turned very well considering the hours. All nationalities were represented there.

Ten minutes after the doors were opened, Patrolman Geise, who was on duty at the door, refused to allow any more in as the store was fairly swamped. As those inside passed out, others were admitted and the throng continued all the morning. At noon there was a period of inactivity for the workers and then the crowd gathered again with the prospect of continuing all the afternoon.

As to any estimate regarding the receipts of the day, it is impossible to give any at present. There have been plenty of purchases, however, and might have been more but for the limited accommodations.

Most of the purchases were of the smaller articles which could be easily carried. The chief trouble in selling the larger things will be the difficulty on the part of the purchaser in taking them home as nothing will be delivered. The clothing for both men and women was possibly the most popular department although the ladies' hats and the shoe table found many gathered about them.

In addition to those whose names were given yesterday as assisting today as saleswomen were the following: Mrs. William Wheeler, Mrs. Thomas

SMALL BOY AND MATCHES.

The Combination Gave the Firemen a Hard Run and a Lively Blaze to Battle.

Two setting hens were the first occupants of the hennery in the rear of the premises 1203 North avenue yesterday afternoon. Then came that dangerous combination of the small boy and matches. After that the fire department was sent for. The house was occupied by Sullivan Esault, an Italian, and his family.

The wife saw the flames and an alarm was sent in from box 28 at 4:30 o'clock. It was a long run for the department, but the firemen reached there in time to save the adjacent barn which was threatened with destruction. The hennery was destroyed but the little blaze on the side of the barn was extinguished and that structure was saved.

What seemed to worry the Esault family the most was that their setting hens had been disturbed. The house is owned by James Brown, of Cottage place. The loss will not amount to more than $75. Barn and hennery was covered by insurance to the amount of $300.

CLOSING OF THE GYM.

CLEVER WORK DONE BY YOUNG Y. M. C. A. ATHLETES.

Various Exercises Led by the Class Leaders, and Watched by a Good-Sized Crowd.

Probably the large number of the fair sex present may have had something to do with it, but at any rate the boys of the Y. M. C. A. gave an excellent exhibition of gymnasium class work at their formal closing last night. The gallery of the gymnasium was well filled long before the exercises began.

The entertainment opened with a selection from the orchestra, composed of members of the classes, followed by an exhibition of dumb bell work by all classes, and closing with an apparatus drill.

The classes were then divided and put through a series of class work, with their leaders, as follows: Low bar drill, led by Charles Zimmer; horse moves, led by Herbert Brokaw; parallel bars, by Eric Moraller; high bar moves, by Fred Cranston, and window diving, by Paul Whitall.

A reading was then given by Elmer Cutting, after which the lights were turned down and an interesting and clever torch swinging act was given by Physical Director Heywood.

This was followed by a tumbling act by Terry and Harkins, and bag punching by Hervey Doane. The exhibition closed by the presentation of medals by John Valiant. The winners were mentioned in The Press some time ago.

The ladies then took part and invited the boys to the refreshment room where a lunch had been prepared for them before leaving for home.

Everyone voted the exhibition a success and too much credit cannot be given to Director Heywood and to the following class leaders: Eric Moraller, Herbert Brokaw, James Stafford, Charles Zimmer and Fred Cranston.

During the evening Mr. Heywood took occasion to mention the summer privileges which are given to new members, of which full information can be had at the office.

Runaway Horse Demolished Carriage.

A horse belonging to Mrs. G. H. Kenyon, of Kensington avenue, which had been left on Belvidere avenue yesterday afternoon, took fright and ran away. The horse ran down Watchung avenue as far as Crescent avenue before being caught. The carriage was entirely demolished. As no one was near the horse at the start it is not known what frightened him.

NEW YARDS FOR CENTRAL

CONTRACTS LET FOR RECLAMATION OF COMMUNIPAW BAY.

When the Improvements are Completed Will Have Nearly 400 Miles of Sidings.

A square mile of Communipaw Bay lying between the present coal docks of the Central Railroad of New Jersey and the National Storage docks, adjoining Black Tom Island, is to be filled in and converted into a great train yard for that railroad company. Contracts have already been let for a large part of the work. A temporary bulkhead, nearly 6,000 feet long, will be constructed at once from the coal docks to the National Storage property. This temporary bulkhead will cut across the mouth of the bay a short distance back of the permanent bulkhead line, and eventually it will be replaced by a permanent bulkhead on the proper line.

The filling in of the inclosed area will be done gradually and by sections, each section being marked off by a transverse bulkhead running out from the shore to the temporary bulkhead. It is expected that the reclaimed space in the first section will be ready for use some time next year. The entire work will be completed in about four years, and then the Jersey Central will have a train yard capable of accommodating between 350 and 400 miles of sidings and stretching along a mile of water front. Piers not less than 1,500 feet long will be built out from this front from time to time as they may be needed by the railroad company.

A MIDNIGHT PROWLER.

Mayor Smalley's Wife Pointed a Revolver at the Intruder and He Disappeared Quickly.

Burglars attempted to gain an entrance to the home of Mayor Smalley, Myrtle avenue, about 1 o'clock yesterday morning.

The prowlers were heard by Mrs. Smalley, who discovered a man standing on top of the porch near a second-story window. On pointing a pistol at the intruder he slid off the porch and disappeared.

Chief Marshal Campbell was called and on investigation found footprints around the house, but was unable to trace them up. Mayor Smalley was not home at the time or he might not have got off so easily.

FEDERATION OF WOMEN'S CLUBS.

Speakers Selected for the State Organization's Meeting at Cranford.

The executive committee of the State Federation of Women's Clubs is busy completing arrangements for the State Federation social meeting to be held in Cranford May 10th. The programme is not complete as yet, but the speakers have been chosen. It will be a prose and poetry afternoon, probably consisting of a debate as to the relative value of prose and poetry, by Mrs. Terhune (Marion Harland) and Margaret Sangster.

As yet the debate has not been decided upon, merely suggested, and the afternoon's programme may terminate in a lecture by Mrs. Terhune and recitations from her own works by Margaret Sangster. At any rate these speakers have been secured.

WANT A WIDER STREET.

Project to Make a Wonderful Improvement on Duer Street.

In connection with the movement to change the name of Duer street to Hamilton avenue, there is also a movement on foot to widen the street to the full width, setting the sidewalk back to the fence line. There are many who think that this should be done before the name of the street is changed. Supervisor of Highways Thomas Doud has made a casual survey of the street and finds that the only great change will be at the corner of Lincoln place and Duer street where the grocery store is located. A slice will have to be taken off there. Otherwise the property-owners will not suffer much loss. The question is now being agitated and there are fair prospects for its success.

IN MIDST OF FLOWERS.

WILLIAMS—RANDOLPH NUPTIALS WERE CELEBRATED.

Pretty Wedding Ceremony in a Somerset Street House Performed by Rev. C. Herring.

It was a pretty wedding that took place yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock, when Miss Leanora Williams, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Frederick Williams, of Somerset street, and Blanchard Elston Randolph, eldest son of Former Councilman and Mrs. Isaac Randolph, of West Front street, were united in marriage at the home of the bride's parents. It was a quiet family affair, only a very few intimate friends outside of the immediate relatives being present.

The home was decorated in unusual good taste through the use of palms, ferns, smilax and roses. In one corner of the parlor there was a bank of palms and flowers so arranged as to make an improvised altar, while on either side were placed beautiful lilies that stood as symbols of purity and love. It was here that the happy event was solemnized by Rev. Charles E. Herring, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, where the bride is a member.

Precisely at the appointed hour, while the sweet strains of the Lohengrin wedding march were being rendered on the piano by Miss Elizabeth Whitlock, of East Orange, the bride, accompanied by her father, entered the parlor through the sitting room. At the same time the groom entered the parlor from the hallway and all met at the altar, where the officiating clergyman stood waiting to receive them. The bride was given away in marriage by her father.

There were neither bridemaids nor best man. The bride's gown was of broadcloth and silk, trimmed with Russian lace, with hat to match. She carried an exquisite bouquet of bride roses.

After the ceremony congratulations were showered upon the popular couple, and then a pleasing wedding supper was served by Stephenson, the caterer. About 6:30 o'clock Mr. and Mrs Randolph left their relatives and friends to enjoy a honeymoon. They departed with all the good signs for a happy and successful married life. Rice in abundance was thrown at them, and to escape any undue notoriety they took a train from Dunellen, where they were enabled to leave unobserved. They will be absent about two weeks, and when they return will take up their residence on Albert street in a house owned by the groom which has been completely furnished and awaits their occupancy.

The many select gifts of value and elegance are but a slight evidence of the great amount of esteem in which they are held. They consisted of furniture, solid silver ware, banquet lamp, china, a check to the bride from a relative, a handsome silk sofa pillow made entirely by a young girl in her teens, and many other things too numerous to mention.

The groom is one of Plainfield's most popular young men. He holds a position of trust with a large wholesale hardware firm in New York. The bride is also one of the borough's most popular young women, and both have the best wishes of their many friends as they commence married life.

Mr. and Mrs. Randolph are spending their honeymoon at Old Point Comfort.

Dr. Henderson, of Burma, Ill.

Friends of Dr. A. H. Henderson, a medical missionary to Burma, will be pained to learn that on his return voyage to America he was stricken with pneumonia four days from New York and is now lying critically ill at the Presbyterian Hospital in New York. Dr. Henderson's wife, who is with him, was Miss Cora Shinn, of Ladewood, the twin sister of Miss Julia G. Shinn, who went to Burma as a missionary last October.

WOMEN IN BLACK FACE.

ABSURD ALIASES ASSUMED BY METUCHEN SOCIETY LEADERS.

Up-to-date Minstrelsy for Benefit of a Church—Performers Were in Fantastic Costumes.

Society women in Metuchen last night hid their countenances behind burnt cork and their identities behind absurd aliases and gave a minstrel performance in Robins' Hall, under the direction of Mrs. E. Holden Spear and Miss Josephine Schureman, for the benefit of St. Paul's Episcopal church. It was designated as "Up-to-Date Minstrelsy by the Twentieth Century Troubadours."

"Sister Johnsing," otherwise Mrs. Harry Johnson, was interlocutor. Mrs. Edward Kelly, tall, dignified and stately, had asked the stage manager to refrain from giving her an absurd name. "Of course," assented the stage manager, and he put her down as "Tiny Forget me-not."

Miss Kitchen, who bears a marked resemblance to a well-known stage favorite, was called "Olga Papersole." Her sister, a clever dancer, was denomidated "Lole Fuller Ruffles." Her gown was appropriate for it was a triumph of the accordion plaiter's art.

Other names on the programme were Celeste Barnewell, Sally Waters, Selina Sassafras, Pansie Blossom, Flossie Redtop, Chloe Stubbles, Mandy Brown, Morning Glory Washington, Sunshine Quickstep, Lily White, Lucy Waitawhile, Trudy Tripper, Tabitha Snowball, Black Pink, Lucy Overnine, Adelina Patti Brownskin, Chloe Coalscuttle, Lillian Russie Weak, Goldie Pearl, Dinah Dark-o'-de-Moon and Susan Thompson.

MR. DAVIS CAN'T COME.

He Writes James E. Martine That It Will be Impossible to Speak in Plainfield at Present.

James E. Martine, the well-known Democratic leader, received a letter from Former Assistant Secretary of the Interior Webster Davis this morning, dated at Washington, in which he says that it will be impossible for him to accept the invitation to speak in Plainfield which Mr. Martine extended to him. Continuing, Mr. Davis says: "I hope you will do everything in your power to arouse the sympathies of your friends in the interest of the brave people who are making such a heroic struggle for liberty and independence in the two South African Republicans. There cause is indeed a just one and should have the earnest sympathy of liberty loving people everywhere."

Getting Points.

Letter-Carriers Deitz, Garretson and Jones, who have been appointed for duty in the new free delivery service of the Somerville postoffice, were in Plainfield yesterday. They accompanied the local carriers over their routes to get a general idea of the methods in use and afterwards learned something of the work of distributing at the office.

Morris Canal Open.

The Morris Canal was opened for navigation for the fifty-fifth season yesterday. The boatmen anticipate a very prosperous and busy season. There are about two hundred and fifty boats in the canal.

OFF FOR NEWARK.

The Free Excursion Took 610 People From Plainfield and a Thousand From Other Towns Along the Line.

A free excursion of the Newark merchants carried 610 people out of Plainfield this morning, besides a thousand from the other towns along the road. Three trains of fifteen cars each transported the excursionists. One train started from this city and two from Somerville, stopping at the other stations along the line.

The crowd from this city was not as large as it was last year when nearly 900 people were taken. The terrible rush for tickets at that time was not to be seen this morning. Nearly 200 tickets were sold last night and the remainder this morning. There was quite a crowd about the ticket office at times this morning but it was very quiet and orderly. Most of the excursionists were women. The Plainfield train left at 8:55, and the first Somerville section followed immediately after. The other was a few minutes later. There was plenty of room in all the trains.

MEETING OF CREDITORS.

PRELIMINARY TO A. D. THOMPSON GOING THROUGH BANKRUPTCY.

Held in Court House in Elizabeth This Morning—Surrogate Parrot Appointed Referee.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, April 25.—Atwood L. DeCoster, referee in bankruptcy for Union county, called a meeting of the creditors of A. D. Thompson, who has petitioned the court to allow him to pass through bankruptcy. The meeting was held at the Court House and there were about fifteen creditors present. Proofs of claims were filed and Surrogate Parrot was nominated and appointed trustee by the creditors. The referee appointed J. C. Pope, Henry Leifke and B. Frank Coriell, of Plainfield, as appraisers, to appraise the assets, which amount to $56,000 and include accounts, notes, judgments and real estate. The latter amounts to $16,000, which is included in the $56,000. The liabilities amount to about $250,000.

Some of the creditors desire an examination of affairs, and the examination was set for May 16th at the office of the referee at Newark.

This morning A. D. Thompson appeared in person, while W. K. McClure, attorney, appeared on behalf of J. H. McVey, of Plainfield. Other Plainfielders present as creditors were Elisha Coriell, W. M. Greenwood, J. Fred MacDonald, L. B. Woolston and J. F. Buckle. George J. Tobin, a creditor, was present, but filed no proof of claim. He will probably wait for the examination.

BOUGHT SERRELL BLOCK.

Morris Weinberger, the Clothier, Made an Important Purchase of Business Property.

An important deal in real estate circles took place this morning when Morris Weinberger, the well-known West Front street clothier, purchased the valuable business property on West Front street owned by Mrs. Harold Serrell, which building is now occupied by Wm. Sebring, the clothier; Wm. Newcorn, the lawyer, and by the Jewish congregation who have a synagogue on the top floor. The sale was made through Lawyer Walter L. Hetfield, who represented his sister, Mrs. Serrell, in the disposition of the property. Mr. Sebring has a lease on his store for this year, and it is not likely that Mr. Weinberger will make any changes for the present, although he may occupy the place himself at some future date.

Tablet for Dead Soldier.

It was announced Monday at Rutgers College, in New Brunswick, that arrangements had been completed for the unveiling of a bronze tablet in memory of the late Colonel J. J. Brereton, U. S. A., who died in the Philippines. Colonel Brereton was formerly military commandant of the Rutgers College Cadets. The tablet will be unveiled with appropriate ceremonies on May 10th in Kirkpatrick chapel.

Won't Have His Sight Again.

John Reilly, of New street, who has been at the hospital some time under treatment for poisoning, will be discharged in a few days. His sight has not returned and the chances are that it never will.

Still at Odds.

Conditions remain the same between Chris Bock and James Sisser over the saloon question on Somerset street. The principals seem to be as far apart as ever.

In Honor of Dr. Snodgrass.

A sociable will be given in Vincent chapel tomorrow evening in honor of the fourth anniversary of the pastorate of Rev. W. C. Snodgrass.

DISAPPEARANCE OF FLOWERS CLEARED UP

All the Trouble Caused by Old Man Getting Into the Wrong Church.

AN ARREST WAS CAUSED.

WILLET MISTOOK PARK AVENUE BAPTIST ED.FICE FOR ALL SOULS.

A Peculiar Chain of Circumstances Prevented the Right Story Being Known Until Willet Was Arraigned Before Judge Nash.

The mysterious disappearance of the Easter flowers from the Park Avenue Baptist church was cleared up yesterday afternoon through the arrest of Lewis Willet, of West Second street, an old man seventy years of age. The arrest was a mistake, however, as Mr. Willet is entirely innocent of the charge. The mistake happened in the following manner:

Mrs. Denton, the West Front street florist, by whom Mr. Willet is employed, had sold the flowers to the church, and at the same time rented some to the Unitarian church. The Easter services being over, Willet went for the flowers at the Unitarian church last Monday. Being an old man and not well acquainted with the churches he became confused and entered the Baptist church, whose doors had been left open, in place of the Unitarian. As no one was around, he picked out the flowers he knew had come from Mrs. Denton's and took them away. As a large number of plants had come from other sources at the same time they were placed unnoticed in the store. Mrs. Denton had left the matter of checking the plants to the clerks who did not notice the difference.

Yesterday afternoon the sexton of the Baptist church, Edgar Brokaw, made complaint before Justice Nash against Willet on the charge of stealing the flowers. He had been seen taking some plants away by an expressman who had informed Mr. Brokaw. Justice Nash, who is well acquainted with Mr. Willet, sent for him and saw that some mistake had been made. Explanations followed and he was released to appear this afternoon, when no doubt the whole matter will be cleared up satisfactorily.

HIGH SCHOOL SITE.

Indications Point to the Cemetery Property of the Seventh-Day Baptist Society.

It is generally understood among those on the inside that the site most likely to be chosen for the proposed new high school will be the Seventh-Day Baptist cemetery property. The church officials are making every effort to remove the bodies interred there and such energy is taken to mean that it is desired to get the property in shape to sell to the city at an early date.

Marshall Wants Senatorship.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Cape May, April 25.—Assemblyman Ellis H. Marshall, of this county, announced today that he would be a candidate for the Republican nomination for State Senator to succeed Senator Robert E. Hand. Assemblyman Marshall has served two years in the House, and was re elected last year by over 800 plurality. Many friends have asked Mr. Marshall to declare himself.

For Benefit of Choir.

An enjoyable musicale has been arranged for Saturday night at the parish house of the Holy Cross church. It will be given by the Guild of the church for the benefit of the choir. Those who will take part in it are Mr. Ruff, tenor soloist at Trinity chapel, New York, Miss Frances Wier, pianist, Miss Bertha van Nuise Willis, soprano, Maurice Audsley, violinist, and Fred VanEps, banjoist.

Watchung Social Club Danced.

The Watchung Social Club gave a dance in the Camera Club rooms last evening, which was well attended by the young people of the city and borough. Refreshments were served at midnight and dancing was kept up until a late hour this morning. Music was furnished by Professor Carpenter.

A Narrow Escape.

A stranger driving across the railroad tracks at Garwood last night did not heed the ringing of the electric alarm bell, and did not see an approaching train, owing to the fog, until it was nearly upon him. He saved himself by driving his horse upon the depot platform.

SEAT REFUSED QUAY

Senate Rejects the Pennsylvanian by One Vote.

DANIEL MAKES AN ELOQUENT PLEA

Vest of Missouri Had Been Counted to Vote For His Friend, but Responded "No" at the Roll Call, Thus Turning the Scale.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Hon. Matthew S. Quay yesterday was refused a seat in the United States senate on the appointment of the governor of Pennsylvania by a vote of 33 to 32. The day was devoted entirely to debate upon the question, many of the greatest lawyers and orators in the body delivering speeches. As the day's session wore on and the hour for the final vote approached the galleries gradually were filled until they were thronged with multitudes, while other multitudes were unable to gain admission. On the floor of the senate every member of the body now in the city and scores of members of the house of representatives were present. The great throng listened with deep attention to the brilliant argument of Mr. Spooner in favor of the seating of the former Pennsylvania senator and to the dramatic and fiery eloquence of Mr. Daniel of Virginia, who appealed to his colleagues to do what, on his oath as a senator, he deemed right and vote to do justice to him who was knocking at the senate doors. As the big clock opposite the president pro tempore indicated 4 o'clock there was a hush in the chamber. Mr. Frye in the chair announced that the hour for the final vote had arrived and that the question was the pending motion of Mr. Chandler to strike out of the resolution declaring Mr. Quay not to be entitled to a seat the word "not." Senators eagerly followed the call, for all knew that the vote would be close.

The first sensation was caused by the failure of Mr. Pettigrew of South Dakota to answer to his name, although he was in his seat. When Mr. Vest's name was called he voted "no" in a clear, distinct voice, thus dashing the last hope of the friends of Mr. Quay, who had expected confidently that the distinguished Missourian would vote for his long time personal friend. In perfect silence it was announced that the senate had denied to Mr. Quay the seat which he had sought for some months past.

The senators were recorded as follows:

Yeas—Allison, Baker, Carter, Chandler, Clark (Wy.), Cullom, Daniel, Davis, Deboe, Foraker, Frye, Gear, Hansbrough, Jones (Nev.), McComas, McLaurin, Mason, Morgan, Nelson, Penrose, Perkins, Platt (N. Y.), Scott, Sewell, Shoup, Spooner, Stewart, Sullivan, Taliferro, Warren, Wetmore, Wolcott—32.

Nays—Allen, Bacon, Bard, Bate, Berry, Butrows, Butler, Clay, Cockrell, Culbertson, Hale, Harris, Heitfeld, Hawley, Jones (Ark.), Lindsay, McBride, McCumber, McEnery, McMillan, Martin, Money, Platt (Conn.), Proctor, Quarles, Ross, Simon, Teller, Tillman, Turley, Turner, Vest, Wellington—33.

Pairs were announced as follows, the first named in each instance being favorable to Mr. Quay and the second opposed to him: Pritchard with Gallinger, Depew with Hanna, Foster with Kean, Lodge with Thurston, Kenney with Caffery, Elkins with Chilton, Fairbanks with Mallory, Hoar with Pettus and Kyle with Rawlins.

These senators were unpaired: Aldrich, Beveridge, Clark (Mon.) and Pettigrew. The vote was then taken on the resolution declaring Mr. Quay not entitled to the seat. The resolution was carried—33 to 32.

A slight demonstration was made when it became known that Hanna had forsaken his party lines and by pairing with Senator Depew of New York had registered a vote against Quay.

The house adopted the Foraker emergency resolution to continue the present officers in Porto Rico until the appointments are made under the civil government act as amended by the committee on insular affairs. The amendments require that all franchises shall be approved by the president before they become operative and place certain restrictions upon chartered corporations.

HOW PENNSYLVANIANS FEEL.

Quay's Friends Disappointed—Say Legislature Will Elect Him.

HARRISBURG, April 25.—Matthew S. Quay's defeat in the senate at Washington fell like a bombshell in the camp of his followers gathered in this city for the state convention. It was entirely unexpected, as in anticipation of his triumphant vindication the regular organization leaders had come together from all over the state, and extensive preparations had been made to celebrate what they expected would be a joyous occasion.

The general opinion among the Quay lieutenants is that the result at Washington takes their leader out of the race for the senatorship. The positive declaration is made that Colonel Quay will no longer be a candidate. Naturally Governor Stone is spoken of as the party candidate in the event of Colonel Quay's withdrawal from the race.

Attorney General John P. Elkin, who argued the Quay case before the senate committee on privileges and elections, said: "We have lost the fight in the senate by one vote. This will not dishearten the friends of Senator Quay and the Republican organization in Pennsylvania. It will only make them contest the harder in the interest of the man whom they love and the principle which they believe to be right. A great wrong has been done Senator Quay, and the people will see that it is righted in due time.

"The friends of Senator Quay will organize both branches of the next legislature and elect him to the United States senate in January next."

Senator William Flinn of Pittsburg said: "The action of the United States senate has not surprised me. It would have been a national calamity had it seated Quay. It would have opened the door to the only possibility of ex-Senator Quay's name ever again appearing upon the roll of the United States senate. He will not be elected by the next legislature and would not have been elected even had he been seated."

Miss Ryle Got the Slippers.

PATERSON, N. J., April 25.—The hospital fair closed last night. It is believed that it will net nearly $7,000. Mrs. McKinley contributed a pair of blue worsted slippers which she made herself. They were put up at auction and were sold for $100 to a party of gentlemen, who presented them to Miss Julia Ryle, president of the Hospital association, who has done much toward making the enterprise a success.

ATTENDING THE WOUNDED UNDER FIRE.

Lieutenant Howard Ensor, attached to the Seaforth Highlanders and a member of the British army medical corps in South Africa, is a hero. During a hot engagement near the Modder river he went upon the field and dressed the wounds of injured soldiers. It seemed certain death, but he finished his task and escaped injury.

PROGRESS OF EFFORTS FOR PEACE.

Expedition of Wheaton and Schwan In Northern Cavite Successful. Outlook For the Pacification of Luzon Favorable.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—The military situation in the Philippines as shown by the latest mail advices received at the war department is summarized in the following statement made public at the department:

"On the 1st of January, 1900, the insurrection in the part of Luzon embracing the province of Manila and the provinces to the north of it had collapsed to the extent that organized resistance to American control had virtually ceased. A different state of affairs existed in Cavite, Batangas, Laguna and Tayabas, the provinces lying immediately south of Manila. In this territory, the richest and most populous of the island, the birthplace of Aguinaldo and the rebellion, the insurgent troops were still intact, had in fact been strengthened by accessions from the north, and as regards equipment, discipline and cohesion were equal if not superior to any that had been raised in support of the insurgent cause. General Otis committed the task of the destruction or dispersion of the forces within this district to two expeditionary brigades, commanded respectively by Brigadier Generals Wheaton and Schwan. In and about the two towns of Bacoor and Imus, in northern Cavite, there were and long had been insurgent bodies of considerable size, some of which had actually besieged our garrisons in those towns.

"These insurgent bodies General Wheaton's command attacked and completely routed on Jan. 7, 8 and 9. The further disintegration of the remnants of this force—giving it, so to speak, the coup de grace—of suppressing the insurgent troops in the remainder of the four provinces and of restoring if practicable peace and order therein fell to the lot of General Schwan's brigade. In the course of its campaign his troops covered 610 miles, fought 33 combats and established permanent garrisons in 21 towns within this district.

"It set out on Jan. 4, and its work was practically finished on Feb. 8. Not that all hostilities had then ceased. On the contrary, our troops have had and still have frequent conflicts with the robber bands that were formed from the disintegrated insurgent military organizations and who emerged periodically from their hiding places in the mountains and thickets to pounce upon inadequately guarded wagon trains and small parties. But concert of action or co-operation, existing only on a very limited scale, was ended on the latter date, the control exercised by the insurgent leaders except over their small immediate following was minimized and their power for mischief materially reduced, if not wholly broken. In the principal towns or centers of trade and municipal government military forces, generally battalions, have been placed. These forces operate within their several spheres under their majors, for the most part energetic young officers holding lesser rank in the regular army, and whenever necessary co-operate under their colonels, for the battalions of a regiment are grouped in neighboring places.

"On the whole the outlook for the pacification of this district and other parts of Luzon is favorable. In their conflicts with our troops the ladrones are invariably worsted. Their defeats will become more and more serious as our troops gain the confidence of the intelligent and property owning class, and when the latter become unwilling to submit to the robbers' exactions and become willing to guide our troops to their retreats their doom will be sealed. To accomplish this object may take time, and it is possible some of the robber bands may be able to maintain themselves during the coming wet season, but their eventual destruction is regarded as certain."

No Light on the Welland Affair.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—The latest report from the United States consul at Clifton, Canada, respecting the Welland canal outrage goes to exonerate what are known in Canada as Fenians from complicity in the attempt to blow up the lock and disable the canal. The grain handlers of Buffalo also being given a certificate of good character, the actual movers in the affair must remain a mystery, according to the consul, unless the examination of the three men now held under arrest in Canada for the crime shall throw light upon the affair.

Acquitted In Manila of Smuggling.

MANILA, April 25.—Louis Spitzel, an agent of the Remingtons and Maxims and one of the biggest promoters in the orient, has been tried and acquitted on the charge of smuggling. Government detectives have shadowed him since he arrived in Manila, suspecting his business was filibustering, and the authorities were said to be anxious to get rid of him. Learning that an employee of his had brought $2,000 worth of jewelry without paying duty, they arrested Spitzel, but were unable to prove the charge. Spitzel is a British subject.

Killed at a Barn Raising.

DUNKIRK, N. Y., April 25.—Volney Bull, an eccentric farmer, holding mortgages against 100 farms in Chautauqua county, was crushed to death while assisting at a barn raising at his home in Greenfield. Bull had a terror of burglars and often went to jail, paying his board, to enjoy safety. On one occasion he was tortured by masked men and forced to give up $1,100 in cash. He lived the life of a miser, although the richest farmer in Chautauqua county.

Reception For General Otis.

ROCHESTER, April 25.—The Rochester Chamber of Commerce has decided that upon the return of Major General E. S. Otis to his home in this city a grand reception and welcome will be tendered him. President McKinley and cabinet, the head officials of the army and navy, Governor Roosevelt and many others will be invited to welcome home the general.

Bicyclists Held For Manslaughter.

ATHOL, Mass., April 25.—Dana S. King and Robert Brady, aged about 19 and 23 respectively, have been arrested, charged with manslaughter. It is claimed that the young men, while on a tandem bicycle, ran into and knocked down Mrs. H. G. Sedgwick. She is dead from her injuries.

A LONG ELECTRIC ROAD.

To Connect Pennsylvania Coalfields With Tide Water.

ALBANY, April 25.—The state board of railroad commissioners has granted a permit to run an electric railway from Pennsylvania coalfields to tide water.

The grant of the commissioners allows the Delaware Valley and Kingston Railway company to build a road 81 miles in length, which will occupy that part of the now abandoned canal formerly owned by the Delaware and Hudson Canal company lying within this state and extending from Lackawanna, Pa., through Sullivan, Ulster and Orange counties to tide water on the Hudson river at Kingston. The remainder of the proposed route to be operated in conjunction with this line lies within the state of Pennsylvania and consists of a section 16 miles long extending from Lackawaxen on the Pennsylvania side of the Delaware river to Hawley, Pa., to a connection with the Erie and Wyoming railroad.

The applicants avow that their object is to open a shorter and more practicable and economical route than any existing from the Lackawanna and Wyoming anthracite coalfields to tide water.

Happy Over Grant.

KINGSTON, N. Y., April 25.—There was no end to the enthusiasm shown here last night over the news that the state railroad commissioners had granted the right to the Delaware Valley and Kingston railroad to build its road from the coalfields along the Delaware and Hudson canal to this city. Bonfires were burned, cannons were fired, there were parades, and the city was illuminated with red fire.

HANNA AND HARMONY.

State Convention of Ohio Republicans of One Accord.

COLUMBUS, O., April 25.—The Republican state convention made a great administration demonstration here yesterday. Usually there is only one keynote speech, that of the temporary chairman, but there were two yesterday, and the one that caused more comment than any other convention speech in the history of the Ohio Republicans was by Senator Hanna. It was very much of a Hanna day, without dissenting or discordant notes.

The senator arrived early in the morning and was engaged all the forenoon in receiving visitors. Several delegations called on him in a body, and he responded in short speeches. At the district meetings in the afternoon his friends were selected on the new state committee and all other committees. When Senator Hanna entered the convention hall, there was a great demonstration, and he was forced to bow acknowledgments from the platform.

With two keynote speeches and other proceedings there, was no reference at any time to the currency, the tariff or any former issues.

Word From Dawson.

VICTORIA, B. C., April 25.—Arthur P. Curtis and two partners have just arrived from Dawson, which point they left April 8. They say water is running in all the creeks and will, owing to the last winter's light snow, be exhausted before the clean up is fairly commenced. In consequence of the water shortage many claim owners are pumping from the Bonanza, while the majority will make their wash up by rockers instead of sluicing. This will give employment at good wages to all the unemployed in Dawson until the lower river breaks and the exodus to Nome sets in. Sulphur, Hunker and Dominion creeks are the new fortune holders this year, while Bonanza and El Dorado are as productive as ever, the dumps on Cook & Co.'s and Berry Bros.' being the largest on record.

Swiss Guides In Canada.

MONTREAL, April 25.—The government is perplexed on account of the importation of a band of mountain and glacier guides from the neighborhood of Interlaken, Switzerland. They are held up here en route to the Canadian national park in the Rocky mountains. It seems that a great number of German, English and French Alpine club delegates are to explore the country in the Canadian Rockies during this summer, and these guides have come to Canada to compete with the native Canadians. This is not liked by the Canadians, as the Swiss guides are professionals and are licensed by the Swiss government.

Wadsworth Heads Fish Commission.

ALBANY, April 25.—Governor Roosevelt will appoint Austin Wadsworth of Geneseo, president of the new fish, forest and game commission, a member of the state forest preserve board to succeed former Commissioner Charles H. Babcock of Rochester by reason of the expiration of the term of the latter as a fisheries, game and forest commissioner.

To Attend Boston Banquet.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—A distinguished party of officials, including Secretary Long, Secretary Gage, Secretary Root and Representative Moody of Massachusetts, will leave here tonight to attend the banquet of the National Association of American Manufacturers at Boston Thursday evening. Mrs. Long will accompany the party to Boston.

—The Women's Society for Christian Work of the Seventh-Day Baptist church will hold its annual Easter supper in the church parlors this evening. Supper will be served from 6 o'clock until 9. It will be followed by an informal musicale.

—We are in receipt of a letter from Mr. Major, the famous cement man, of New York, in which he sets forth some very interesting facts about Major's cement. The multitudes who use this standard article know that it is many hundred per cent. better than other cements, for which similar claims ard made, but a great many do not know why. The simple reason is that Mr. Major uses the best materials ever discovered and other manufacturers do not use them, because they are too expensive and do not allow large profits. Mr. Major tells us that one of the elements of his cement costs $3.75 a pound, and another costs $2 65 a gallon, while a large share of the so-called cements and liquid glue upon the market are nothing more than sixteen-cent glue, dissolved in water or citric acid, and, in some cases, altered slightly in color and odor by the addition of cheap and useless materials

DALGETY ATTACKED.

Withstands Fierce Assault. Reported Relief Premature.

ROBERTS HAS BOERS IN A NET.

Combined Operations on a Great Scale Now In Progress—Much Sickness at Mafeking—Foragers Shot by Boers Without Question.

LONDON, April 25.—The reports that the siege of Wepener had been practically raised were apparently premature. The Boer attack upon Colonel Dalgety's northern position, as described from Maseru, was probably a final attempt to rush the garrison before securing a safe retreat, and as Colonel Dalgety repulsed the attack little further anxiety is felt on his account.

Lord Roberts has now spread a net with some 40,000 or more men and 150 guns, covering the whole western semi-circle around Wepener, while General Hamilton has occupied the waterworks practically without opposition.

The Seventh division under General Tucker, assisted by naval guns, has made a demonstration from Karee Siding, the Boers showing some opposition. At the same time a brigade moved out from Glen to take up a position on a range of hills at Gennaadenale, north of the Modder. The waterworks were found undamaged, with the exception of the removal of the sliding valves of the pumping engines.

The Boers now can only escape without risking an encounter northward to Ladybrand, and the chance of a successful outcome of the plans of Lord Roberts depends on whether the British troops can reach Thaba N'Chu and Ladybrand before the retreating commandoes from Dewetsdorp and Wepener.

The Mafeking correspondent of The Times, telegraphing Monday, April 9, gives a gloomy account of the depression due to the probability of the siege lasting until the end of May, and says:

GENERAL POLE-CAREW.

"It is hard to accept Colonel Baden-Powell's efforts to cheer the people by optimistic predictions in the absence of any sign of release."

The war office issues the following from Lord Roberts, dated Bloemfontein, April 24:

"Generals Brabant and Hart yesterday turned the position occupied by the enemy, who tried to prevent their moving northward, and got into heliograph communication with Colonel Dalgety, commandant of the besieged garrison at Wepener, who reported all well.

"General Brabant has three wounded and one missing. Three were wounded on the previous day. The Border regiment had seven wounded.

"At 1 p. m. yesterday Brabant and Hart were eight miles south of Wepener. The Eleventh division, under General Pole-Carew, and General French's two brigades of cavalry reached Tweede Ceuk yesterday afternoon without having met serious opposition.

"Heliograph communication has been established with General Rundle. A patrol of the Seventh dragoons, under Lieutenant Jenkins, which was reported missing yesterday has rejoined General French's camp, with the exception of Corporal Taylor and Private Cook, who are believed to be wounded and prisoners.

"Mounted infantry yesterday, under General Ian Hamilton, occupied the waterworks at Sannas post. As the enemy are holding the neighboring hills in some strength the Ninth division, consisting of General Smith-Dorrien's and General Macdonald's brigades, has been dispatched to support Hamilton.

"General Maxwell's brigade, formerly General Chermside's, of the Seventh division yesterday moved eastward and seized the hills covering the wagon bridge over the Modder river at Krans kraal, an important communication much used by the Boers during the last three weeks."

The Daily News has the following from Lourenco Marques, dated Monday, April 23:

"The American ambulance returned here Saturday night, with the flags, on the way to New York, being dissatisfied with its treatment."

Lady Sarah Wilson in a dispatch to The Daily Mail from Mafeking, dated Sunday, April 8, says:

"Our bread is now made entirely of oats and is full of husks. This causes much illness. There are many cases of nervous prostration and malarial typhoid among the garrison.

"The news of the check to the relieving column is a terrible disappointment. Last Friday 33 natives issued forth to recover some cattle which had been looted by the Boers. They were betrayed by unfriendly natives to the Boers, who surrounded them while they were sleeping and shot them all but one, giving no quarter. One escaped to tell the tale.

"The natives are now mad for revenge, and it will be very difficult to control them.

"The bombardment continues. Our casualties to combatants up to the end of March aggregated 368 in killed and wounded."

Attack on Wepener Repulsed.

MASERU, Basutoland, April 25.—The Boers severely attacked Colonel Dalgety's northern position, facing Bokpoort ridge, at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, bringing four guns into action, under whose fire they made a determined advance. The British returned a heavy fire, before which the Boers recoiled, afterward extending across the flats and maintaining a continuous long range fusillade for some hours. Artillery can be heard in the direction of Dewetsdorp, but there is no sign that the British relief column in that quarter has advanced farther. The natives report that another British force has been detached from Bloemfontein. If so, the position of the Boers around Wepener is precarious.

Boer Army Small, Losses Little.

PARIS, April 25.—Captain Leon, the French engineer who had charge of the Boer artillery and engineers and who was shot in the head during the siege of Kimberley, has arrived at Marseilles. His head is still bandaged, and the sight of the left eye is lost. In the course of an interview he described the Boers as "splendid artillerists." He said they never had more than from 36,000 to 40,000 men under arms, and of these they had only lost 6,000, of whom only 600 had been killed.

NATIONAL MANUFACTURERS.

Association Meets In Boston In Annual Session.

BOSTON, April 25.—After listening to words of welcome from William H. Lincoln, Speaker James J. Myers and Mayor Thomas N. Hart, representing respectively the Boston Chamber of Commerce, the state of Massachusetts and the city of Boston, and a response by Theodore C. Search of Philadelphia, its president, the annual convention of the National Association of Manufacturers, which is to be in session for three days, formally opened in Lorimer hall, Tremont Temple, yesterday morning. When President Search's gavel fell, not more than 300 delegates were in their seats, although there are probably more than double that number in the city. Secretary Wilson announced the standing committees, after which President Search presented his annual report, which occupied the remainder of the morning session.

The afternoon was devoted to the reports of the treasurer, Charles A. Shieren, the committee on international freight and transportations and the committee on parcels post. The treasurer's report showed the receipts of the year to have been $71,266 and expenditures $65,377.

In the evening the delegates enjoyed a smoker and entertainment in the Bijou theater, the use of which was tendered by Mr. B. F. Keith.

Congressman Fowler is doing things nowadays that are just outside the realms of politics and official life, but which will nevertheless have a healthy tendency to aid his efforts to secure a renomination at the hands of the Republicans in the Eighth district. Yesterday it was announced that Mr. Fowler had donated a plot of ground worth $20,000 to the city of Elizabeth, to be used as a site for a new public library. Such an act of philanthrophy will probably not be lost sight of when the delegates meet together in a few weeks to decide the political fate of Congressman Fowler. And further than this Congressman Fowler yesterday entertained the Trenton legislative correspondents at his Washington home and showed them the sights of the capital city. Incidentally, he took them all over to the White House, where they were duly impressed with the Congressman's importance. Like the shrewd man that he is, Congressman Fowler does not underestimate the worth of having the newspaper boys on his side.

Since the Republicans have such a narrow majority in the Board of Freeholders there has been considerable speculation as to how Freeholder Adams, of Cranford, will vote in matters of political consideration in county affairs. Freeholder Adams was elected on an independent ticket. The Cranford Chronicle thinks that it is "strange that the question should have been raised at all, since Mr. Adams was elected to the Board two years ago under similar conditions, and he then participated in the Republican caucus, and otherwise identified himself openly with the Republican side of the body, just as he had the right to do, and as he was expected to do by the voters who elected him. That he will do the same this year is a foregone conclusion. Mr. Adams is a good, straight Republican, and everybody but the clique of ringsters who cannot boss or break him will bear witness to it."

The fact that there are 400,000,000 people in the Chinese Empire, 40,000,000 in Japan and 300,000,000 in India, suggests the Philadelphia Record to say: "This is the swarming Asiatic hive which faces the Pacific coast of the United States, with an open highway between. Then there are the Russian Asiatic territory at the north and the rapidly developing Australasian States at the south. Our position on the hither side of the Pacific and our established foothold in the Philippines, Hawaii and the South Seas have opened up to us wonderful political, industrial and commercial possibilities. It is not beyond the range of probability that the end of the coming century will find the American Continent the controlling centre of the trade of the world, doing as large a business with the populations of Asia as we now do with the populations of Europe.

A Princeton correspondent says that yesterday it was reported there on good authority that Gov. Foster Voorhees, of New Jersey, has practically decided on the appointment of Chief Justice Magie as Chancellor of the Court of Chancery to fill the vacancy left by the death of Alexander T. McGill. Should Justice Magie accept the appointment well-informed men say that it is likely that Associate Justice Gilbert Collins, of Jersey City, will be chosen as Chief Justice, and that the office of Associate Justice will be tendered to Allan Strong, of Elizabeth, an attorney of the Pennsylvania Railroad in New Jersey. In a recent conversation with a friend Chief Justice Magie intimated that he would not accept the Chancellorship, but it is understood that he has changed his mind since then.

The Common Council should grant the application for an appropriation of $100 for use in putting the city park in good condition for the summer months. Since the progressive women of Plainfield raised enough money to put the park in decent shape three years ago, it has been one of the most pleasant public features of the city in the summer months. It requires a small expenditure each season, however, to keep it into proper condition, and the Council cannot do better than to recognize the beauty and need of this little breathing spot for the public by appropriating the small sum that is necessary to prevent it from going back to its former disgraceful condition.

The Newark News notes that the nation's drink bill in 1899 is estimated in recent statistics as reaching $1,146,897,822, and of this enormous sum $973,589,080, nearly a round billion, is credited to alcoholic drinks, beer leading with more than half, followed by whiskey with more than a third.

Governor Voorhees has proclaimed that he has set aside Friday of this week as Arbor Day, when he recommends that the people plant trees and that appropriate exercises be held in the public shools.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

In 1881 Marvin Ward, a lad twenty years of age, living at Glenwood, Sussex county, went to Iowa to visit an uncle. He remained with his relative for some time, and then, instead of returning home, went farther west. For a time he kept his family informed as to his whereabouts, but finally letters ceased to come, and after a time he was mourned as dead. A few days ago, however, a letter came to the Glenwood postoffice addressed to Richard Ward, father of the missing Marvin, but who had died in 1898. The latter was forwarded to Richard Ward's widow, who, upon opening it, found that it was from the son whom she had long looked upon as dead. At the time the letter was written Marvin was at Fort Benton, Mon. During his long silence he had wandered over the west, engaging in various occupations, and had spent eight years in Australia. He said that he expected to start for the Alaska gold fields this spring, but gladdened his mother's heart by the promise that before many more months had elapsed he was coming home.

A rather exciting experience fell to the lot of the Misses Saunders, daughters of Former Mayor and Mrs. W. L. Saunders, of Washington Park, last Sunday afternoon. They had been spending a few days in Philadelphia, and were to leave the Quaker City Sunday afternoon for home, which they did. By mistake they boarded a Royal Blue train, which they had every reason to believe would stop at Plainfield and let them off. Their parents were at the North Avenue Station waiting for them, and when the train arrived they were surprised to see it go whizzing by carrying their children toward the metropolis. As the train did not stop here they had no assurance that it would at Elizabeth, and they had about made up their minds that the young ladies would be obliged to go to Jersey City. They hastened to the telegraph office and quickly were in communication with the proper authorities. They were then assured that the train would stop at Elizabeth and that the children would be put on the right train for home. For a time Mr. and Mrs. Saunders felt some anxiety, but their fears were relieved when they saw their daughters arrive in the city about 4 o'clock, safe and sound. It was then learned that the children had also been in a state of anxiety lest something should happen, and they were very glad to reach home after such an exciting time.

NEWS OF THE SUBURBS.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, April 25.—Wheat took a decided drop yesterday and took nearly all the afternoon before it rallied. The wheat in question belonged to Joe Fields, the Democratic candidate for sheriff in Middlesex last fall, and there was just thirty-six hundredweight of it on his wagon consigned to Plainfield. Joe was driving across the street car tracks, near Clinton avenue, at the time, when a rear wheel gave way, throwing the load to the ground. The wagon was dragged from the tracks and another one was procured to finish the journey.

A German Tea will be held in Apgar's Hall tomorrow night under the auspices of the United Order of the Golden Cross. A programme, consisting of music and phonograph selections, will be given, followed by a supper.

Alick Harris, Goldson Smalley and Dan Gulick, at a recent visit to Five Mile Rock, secured twenty-five shad. A number of other fish were caught which resembled herring, but the boys are not certain if they are.

Mr. and Mrs. James Manning, of Trenton, are visiting Mrs. Manning's parents, of Washington avenue. They expect to leave for Providence, R. I., in a few days, where they will visit for a time.

Frank Smalley bought two horses at the recent Campbell sale, at Avon Park. Pete Osmun also secured one.

The sale of the household effects of Rev. A. I. Martine will take place tomorrow afternoon.

S. B. Merrill and wife have returned after a two weeks' visit in Philadelphia.

Mrs. T. W. Jones is visiting Mrs. B. Brokaw, of Centre street.

PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, April 25.—Fanwood Council, R. A., held an important meeting in their rooms last evening. Arrangements were made to have the council represented at the grand council meeting which meets at Lakewood May 7th and 8th. Wm. E. Collins and W. R Buckley will be the representatives from Fanwood.

Rev. Mr. Woodruff, of the Methodist church, will graduate at the commencement exercises to be held at Drew Seminary, Madison, Thursday morning. A number of Mr. Woodruff's members and friends will attend the exercises, making the trip by stage. Arrangements have been made for two stages and it is expected that about twenty-five will attend the commencement.

Spearing seems to be the favorite sport in town at present. Nearly every night several parties are out along Green brook searching for the elusive eels and suckers.

Judge Clark has issued another batch of delinquent tax warrants, which have been given to Special Constable Henry Cook for collection.

Scotch Plains is more than represented at the merchants' free excursion to Newark today.

Mrs. John R. Morey is visiting her parents at Syracuse, N. Y., for a week.

Onward Council, L. A., met in their rooms last evening.

SOMERVILLE.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Somerville, April 25.—Postmaster Cooper has received a supply of the new stamp books. There are six stamps on a sheet with waxed leaves between. They contain twelve and twenty-four stamps and sell for 25 and 49 cents. The covers contain the domestic and foreign postage rates, information in regards to money orders, registry system, special delivery, etc. They fit the vest pocket and are very convenient.

Miss Elsie, daughter of Janeway Garretson, of South Bound Brook, died Saturday at Bayonne, where she was teaching, after an illness of only three days from pneumonia. The funeral was held Tuesday from her parents' residence, Rev. T. E. Davis, pastor of the Presbyterian church, officiating. Interment in the Bound Brook cemetery.

A horse belonging to William VanFleet became frightened at the trolley yesterday and ran away. It ran to Bound Brook before it was caught, a distance of four miles. Strange to say the wagon or harness were not damaged.

The county teachers' examinations for all grades will be held at the schoolhouse in Somerville Friday and Saturday, May 4th and 5th, beginning at 9 p. m. each day.

The quarterly meeting of the Somerset county S. P. C. A. will be held at the office of Miss Mary M. Steele, Friday evening, May 4th, at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. D. W. Bowman, of South Branch, is spending a week with her mother, Mrs. Anna Dorland, of North Bridge street.

Clerk in Chancery L. A. Thompson, of this place, was one of the pall-bearers at Chancellor McGill's funeral yesterday.

Prof. H. C. Kiebs will attend the banquet of the High School Principals' Association, at Newark, Friday night.

Ex-Prosecutor Nelson Y. Dungan has commenced housekeeping in his house on West Cliff street.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

South Plainfield, April 25—Notices have been posted for a special school meeting for the purpose of voting a $6,000 bond on the township to build a new schoolhouse in South Plainfield. It is to be built on the same ground that is occupied by the old house. The meeting will be held in the schoolhouse in New Market Friday, May 4th, at 3 p. m.

P. J. McDonough went to Newark yesterday to purchase horses. He returned with one and reports the prices high.

Mr. Cathers, principal of the township schools, was in town yesterday visiting our school.

W. E. Smith is building an addition to and repairing his cottage.

The mill is open only from 8 a. m. to 4 p. m. now.

Al Manning is repairing the interior of his home.

Ecumenical Conference.

NEW YORK, April 25.—The public enthusiasm in the meeting of the great ecumenical conference now going on in this city is unabated. While the total number of delegates to the conference is 2,500, it is not overestimating it to state that their meetings every day are attended by as many thousands. Yesterday again, after a great meeting in Carnegie hall in the morning, there were nine meetings held simultaneously in various churches of the city, all of them well attended, and last night there was another great meeting in Carnegie hall. Besides the meeting at Carnegie hall in the morning and simultaneous with it there was a great meeting at the Central Presbyterian church, which devoted itself exclusively to women and their work.

Convict Wright Inherits $14,000.

TRENTON, N. J., April 25.—George Wright, aged 50, a convict in the state prison here for nearly a year for assault and battery on his wife, who lives at Camden, has inherited $14,000 by the will of his aunt, who was the widow of Captain Malloy of Philadelphia. The convict was a favorite nephew, and, despite his misbehavior, she could not bring herself to cut him off without anything. Wright has three children, a son and a married and a single daughter living in Camden, where he carried on a huckster business. His term will expire next month.

Five Murders In Four Months.

HUNTINGDON, Pa., April 25.—The fifth cold blooded murder that has occurred within the past four months at Spruce Creek, this county, where the new work on the Pennsylvania railroad is being done, was committed yesterday afternoon, and, as before, the murderer escaped. During a dispute between Thomas Taylor and Samuel Gilchrist, both colored, at one of the numerous speak easies, the former drew a 38 caliber revolver and shot Gilchrist in the abdomen. The latter returned the fire and, it is thought, hit Taylor. Gilchrist died in half an hour.

Raising the Flag at Apia.

BERLIN, April 25.—The official report regarding the hoisting of the German flag at Apia, German Samoa, has just been received from Dr. William Solf, the governor. It says that the ceremony occurred on March 1, when the entire white population was present, together with 5,000 natives. Mataafa made an appropriate address, as did also Tamasese, both giving assurances of loyalty to Germany. After the ceremony a banquet was given to 125 chiefs.

Conviction of Lammerts Affirmed.

ROCHESTER, April 25.—The appellate division has handed down a decision affirming the judgment of the conviction in the case of John C. Lammerts, the defaulting treasurer of Niagara county. Lammerts was convicted some two years ago on an indictment charging misappropriation of something over $2,000. This was the only indictment on which he was tried, although it was charged that he was in default in a larger amount.

Great Find of Oil.

ELMIRA, N. Y., April 25.—One of the greatest oil strikes in 40 years' history of Pennsylvania oilfields has been made at Gaines. Well No. 3 of the Blossburg Oil company was completed Monday afternoon and flowed 100 barrels per hour the first 12 hours. The second well owned by the same company produced 900 barrels the first 24 hours when oil was struck a few weeks ago.

MISSING FOR TWO YEARS.

Zachary Taylor Cooke Left Newark With Large Sum of Money.

Left no Clue Behind.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Belvidere, April 25.—The foreclosure proceedings against the estate of Zachary Taylor Cooke, now in progress in the Warren county courts, have revealed the fact that Mr. Cooke is missing. He cannot be found, and there are no evidence of his death.

Mr. Cooke formerly lived in Freilinghuysen Township, where he owned a valuable farm. He moved to Newark, and when last heard from he lived at 16 New York avenue.

On March 31st, 1898, he left Newark ostensibly for the purpose of visiting his former home. He had on his person a large sum of money, with which he intended paying off the interest on a mortgage, and making some improvements on his property in the country.

His family expected his return in a few days, but no trace of him has since been found, every effort made to locate him having proved futile.

MEDALS FROM THE STATE.

Sailors and Men of the Regular Army to Receive Them.

All the men of New Jersey who served their country in the late war, except the volunteers, who already have them, will be given medals by the State. Last week it was announced that these medals would not be distributed until after July 4th, but they are being made now and will be given out at once. Adjutant General William S. Stryker has written as follows:

"Since my letter of last week the Governor has ordered that the medals be manufactured immediately. This being the case, sailors, marines, signal corps men and men of the regular army, who served to the credit of New Jersey in the Spanish-American War, should send their discharges to the quartermaster-general, and if they are found to be entitled a proper record will be made, the discharges returned, and the medals sent them as soon as the order given under the new law has been executed."

Some of the New Jersey sailors entiled to the medals are still in the service, but no matter in what part of the navigable globe they may happen to be, the medals will be forwarded them when their credentials are passed upon by the quartermaster-general.

TO ABOLISH CHANCERY COURT.

Movement in Essex Looking Toward That Improvement.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Newark, April 25.—As a result of the death of Chancellor McGill a movement to abolish the Court of Chancery in New Jersey is being resuscitated among influential members of the State bar. They say New Jersey should fall in line with other States and abandon the antique processes that make chancery so cumbersome. Practice in this court is practically a specialty, and those who have had experience with the simplicity of procedure in other States wish for such simplicity here.

A committee, consisting of Judge J. Franklin Fort, Eugene Stevenson, Judge Robert S. Woodruff, Joseph Cross, Abraham Q. Garretson, David O. Watkins, Alan Strong, James J. Bergen and C. H. Sinnickson, is preparing court reform recommendations to submit to the State Bar Association meeting in Atlantic City on next June 15th, and may include a recommendation for the abolition of the Chancery Court.

GOLF AT CRANFORD.

Extensive Improvements Being Made on Grounds of Club.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Cranford, April 25—The Cranford Golf Club met Monday evening and adopted plans of Oakley & Sons, architects, for a new $2,500 clubhouse.

It is the intention of the club to expend about $10,000 more next fall for a more elaborate building, but this was necessary as a temporary expedient for the summer.

Some $5,000 has been already spent in putting the links in shape, and it is the intention of the management to continue regardless of expense until the grounds are second to none in the State.

The committee is composed of Thos. A. Sperry and Leroy M. Lyon.

New Catholic Church.

The Right Rev. Bishop McFaul, of Trenton, laid the corner-stone of the Church of the Holy Trinity, at Perth Amboy, Sunday afternoon. He was accompanied by Rev. Dr. Norris, chancellor of the diocese.

—S. Scheuer & Co., the West Front street grocers, have taken another lease for five years with J E. Martine, the owner of the property.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

Lord Penrhyn's King's Messenger won the Metropolitan stakes at Epsom.

Count Festetics burned his yacht Tolna after its wreck in the Arabian sea.

Philip D. Armour will retire from the personal supervision of his packing interests.

Henry H. Yard was discharged in bankruptcy in the United States court at Trenton.

A Peking dispatch said Chinese opposition to the "open door" policy was growing, endangering the lives of foreigners.

Repairing Flood Damages.

MOBILE, April 25.—Advices from the flooded district on the Mobile and Ohio railroad are to the effect that trains will not run until possibly Thursday. Two thousand men are at work between here and Meridian. The water has been slowly subsiding, but the rains of the past 24 hours were felt considerably. Rev. W. F. Russell, a Baptist preacher, was drowned in the flood near Waynesboro, Miss. The situation on the Louisville and Nashville is unchanged. One thousand men are at work repairing the bridge which was swept away at Pascagoula. The water is slowly falling, and the 3,000,000 logs in the booms are still held intact, with excellent prospects of holding them together until the danger is past.

Minister's Prayer Answered.

STROUDSBURG, Pa., April 25.—Several months ago the Rev. E. E. Dixon, pastor of the East Stroudsburg Methodist Episcopal church, prayed that God would strike the new big brewery which is being built here with lightning. Mr. Dixon and others believe that the prayer has been answered. Monday lightning struck the brewery, doing some damage. When it became known that a bolt had struck the brewery, the words of Mr. Dixon were at once recalled. The bolt at the brewery went down the elevator shaft, knocking off a few bricks in its passage.

Postmasters Appointed.

WASHINGTON, April 25.—The following fourth class postmasters have been appointed: Massachusetts—West Chop, S. C. Luce. New York—Ampersand, C. M. Eaton; Center Berlin, F. J. Bentley; Clarenceville, Jacob Schmabl. Pennsylvania—McWilliams, Frank Sanders; Millport, David Rixford; Nolo, Hiram Strong; Nassville, J. O. Parson; South Hatfield, H. M. Kassenger; West Whiteland, T. B. Carter.

Chinese Antiforeign Spirit.

PARIS, April 25.—A dispatch from Peking says: "Chinese opposition to the 'open door' policy is growing and endangering foreign capital and the lives of foreigners. Russia is most feared, and America is least disliked because least aggressive. The Mantchoos are losing military power. They are now only 3,000,00 out of 350,000,000, and they only retain their ascendency by keeping the people in ignorance."

A Big Mortgage Suit.

NEW YORK, April 25.—A suit for the foreclosure of a mortgage for $3,000,000 has been filed in the supreme court by the State Trust company as trustee against Harper & Bros. The property against which the mortgage stands consists largely of real estate. The foreclosure also applies to the machinery and plant of the firm. A lis pendens against the real property was also filed.

Japs Study Yankee Machinery.

HARTFORD, April 25.—Gompei Kuwada and Hikonobu Atria, two mechanical engineers in the service of the Japanese government, are visiting in this city for the purpose of studying machine work and getting ideas on machinery. They arrived here on Monday and remained until today.

German Poet Dead.

BERLIN, April 25.—Wilhelm Schring, the poet and historian, is dead at Carlsruhe, in his eighty-fourth year. He was born at Konigsberg.

Swept Into the River.

LOWVILLE, N. Y., April 25.—Fay Bannon, aged 20, in attempting to drive across the dike between Lowville and Watson last evening, was swept into Black river by the high water, and himself and horse were drowned. Charles Watterman of Watson was carried into the river by the stiff current, but he was rescued. His horse and wagon went down stream.

Carloads of Fruit Jars Burned.

FAIRMOUNT, Ind., April 25.—The ware sheds of Wilson & McCulloch's fruit jar factory were burned, with a loss of $150,000. The origin of the fire is unknown. This represents almost an entire season's output, as the heavy spring shipments had not yet begun. Three hundred carloads of finished fruit jars were consumed.

Khaki Cloth.

This is the latest novelty in our department of Washable Dress Goods and promises to become extremely fashionable for bicycling, golfing, outing and tailor-made skirts and suits.

It is the same fabric as was worn by the U. S. Troops during the Santiago campaign and is used by the British soldiers in South Africa. Although firm in weave it is peculiarly solf and clinging, and will endure an unusual amount of rough usage. The color is a beautiful tan.

A joiner and builder of Karoma, Oklahoma, who was employed in building a schoolhouse at that place, related the following narrative to his fellow workmen one day during noon hour, while they were eating dinner: "Before I came to Oklahoma I used to live in Chicago. I worked at the bricklayer trade and was troubled with dyspepsia a great deal. My head ached terribly at times, and I durst not eat raw vegetables of any kind. I tried all kinds of medicine with no effect. My case grew rapidly worse; I had to quit work. One day an old friend of mine visited me and asked me what kind of medicine I was taking. I named a whole list of medicines that had been prescribed for me, all having little or no effect. 'John,' said he, 'try Ripans Tabules. You can get them at the corner drug store.' I sent my little boy to the store and told him to get me some. He soon came back with them and I commenced to use them. Before I had used half of the box, I began to get better, and when I had used it all, I was well and went to work again. Since then I have always kept them in the house. And if you will come to my house," he said, turning to a man who had complained of headache, "I will give you a medicine that you will have faith in."

Proceedings of the Union County Board of Chosen Freeholders.

[OFFICIAL.]

Regular meeting of the Board of Chosen Freeholders of the county of Union, N. J., held on Thursday, April 5, 1900, at 2:30 p. m.

Roll-call showed all members present—18.

The minutes of the previous meeting, reading of bills being omitted, were on motion approved as read.

On motion, a recess of ten minutes was ordered for the purpose of permitting the members of the Board to examine the maps, plans and specifications for the macadamizing of the road in New Providence leading to Townley's bridge, as prepared by F. J. Hubbard, C. E., and for the macadamizing of the road in Fanwood Township known as Mountain Avenue and extending from Park Avenue to the Somerset County line, as prepared by J. L. Bauer, C. E.

Upon reassembling after recess, Freeholder Higgins was excused from further attendance at the meeting.

NEW BUSINESS.

The opinion of the New Jersey Court of Errors and Appeals November term, 1899, between John C. Blore vs. The Board of Chosen Freeholders of Union County, was presented and read in full by County Attorney Codington.

The judgment of the court below was reversed, and it was declared that Charles W. Dodd, the present warden, was entitled to the emoluments of the office during the time the office was held by former warden, John C. Blore after the expiration of his term of office.

It was ordered that the opinion be received and placed on file.

Freeholder Roll moved that the maps and specifications for the macadamizing of the roads in New Providence and Fanwood as presented by Engineers Hubbard and Bauer, be approved, which motion on roll-call was unanimously adopted.

On motion of Freeholder Wahl, it was ordered that the engineer be empowered to have said specifications printed, in case same cannot be procured from the State.

Freeholder Farrell, chairman of the special committee appointed to confer with a committee from the last grand jury relative to the care of incorrigible prisoners, reported that a joint meeting had been held, and the matter fully discussed. The construction of a workhouse was considered, but no decision was arrived at, and he would therefore report "progress," which report was received.

The following bills, properly audited and approved were read, and on roll-call ordered paid, viz.:

RUBBER IN BRAZIL.

United States Steamer Wilmington Explores Amazon River—Crew Watch Rubber Gatherers.

By studying a map of Brazil you can see that the Para river extends almost due west, south of the island of Marajo, to a network of narrow streams, known as the Passes, which connect the Para with the Amazon. These numerous channels are from 70 to 150 yards in width, and some of them are navigable for vessels of 18 to 20 feet draft. These Passes are interesting enough to those traversing them in small craft, but to the officers and sailors of such steamers as the U. S. S. Wilmington they are trebly so. At night there is little to arrest the attention other than the weird, dark shapes of the banks, which ever seem close aboard. The land being low and flat, and the trees near the water's edge, it seems as if the ship has forsaken her natural element and is running overland on invisible wheels.

When daylight comes in a sudden burst of light like the unheralded flash of the theater's illumination, there is revealed on each side of the narrow channel the forest's solid wall, exposing to view a panorama of overhanging branches, brilliant with the multitudinous hues of tropical vegetation.

There is a strange chattering of animal life and a whirr of winged insects. The discordant cries of myriad parrots echo from the trees. There is human life, too. Here and there embowered in the jungle can be seen little wooden huts, with thatched roofs and sides open to the cooling winds.

These are the homes of the rubber gatherers, who labor day in and day out collecting the milky sap of the Hevea brasiliensis. This rubber gathering is interesting, and the Wilmington's crew watch curiously as the winding channel reveals little groups of natives at work along the edge of the stream.

Those on board who have read the descriptions tell others of the manner in which the half-naked Indians labor, of how each family works what is called an "estrada," or street, a path through the forest, which embraces as many rubber trees as can be conveniently tended, of how these trees are slit with a machete and a cup fitted in the cut to catch the sap, and of the manner in which the owner makes his daily round and brings to his hut the collected juice.

There is also interest in the description of its next stage, when the sap is dipped up by a stick and revolved over a smoky fire. The smoke causes each layer to coagulate on the stick, and when the desired amount is formed it is removed and made ready for shipment. These balls of crude rubber usually weigh in the neighborhood of 25 pounds, and are of a dark, lustrous hue. It was a novel experience, this visit of the Wilmington's crew to the home of the rubber gatherers, and the closest attention was paid to the ever-changing scenery as the white cruiser steamed slowly along through the Passes.—Ainslee's Magazine.

An Up-to-Date Fable.

Once upon a time a stork was given a nice present, which he hid in a hollow tree. "Why did you hide your present?" asked the fox, who had been watching the performance. "Because it is a beautiful present, and I intend to keep it for my children," replied the stork. "But suppose you should have no children?" queried the fox. "Oh, in that case," replied the stork, "it will come in handy for my grandchildren."

Moral—Never enumerate your poultry until the incubator has ceased to incubate.—Chicago Evening News.

BRIDGE WORK

In Dentistry is the best substitute for nature's work that can be done. Sound roots may be built up and crowned and thus fill up an unsightly space. It has to be made of a material that has strength and durability and one that will not discolor. Gold is the one that stands the test. That is the secret of the expense. But the advantages of a bridge over a plate are many times more than the cost of one compared to that of the other.:

THE MODE.

Skirts Illustrate the Extremes of Length and Shortness.

Skirts, instead of becoming shorter, seem to be growing longer. This has had the apparently contradictory effect of inducing many women to adopt, for walking, a skirt which escapes the ground by several inches. The skirt of fashionable length being utterly impossible for pedestrianism, they decide to have a costume for that special purpose made in a suitable way, and thus the change has come about. Generally speaking, however, skirts are very long all around, with a decided train. Even the dress of young girls feels the influence of the style, and reaches the feet instead of ceasing at the boot tops.

There is far greater variety permitted in the fashionable costume of today than in that of years past. This tendency to eclecticism has been steadily increasing for a long time, and, as a result, more women are becomingly and appropriately clothed than when everybody blindly followed a fashion because it was the mode, regardless of its suitability or sense.

A picture is given showing a tailor made costume of cloth. The skirt is plain in front and laid in stitched plaits at the sides and back. The double bolero is short and is bordered with stitching, as are the two pelerines. The collar and revers are faced with velvet. The upper half of the sleeve is laid in stitched plaits, and the bolero can be worn open or closed by small straps and gold buttons. The high corselet belt is of velvet. The collar, cravat and plastron are of silk. The hat of fancy straw has a rippled brim and is trimmed with bows of velvet and a cluster of flowers.

THE WARDROBE.

Pretty Additions to the Warm Weather Outfit.

A fluffy cravat does a great deal toward rendering elegant the plainest of costumes, and a variety of such accessories widens the range of the wardrobe wonderfully where only a few gowns can be afforded. Voluminous decorations about the neck and shoulders have long been the mode, and, as they are usually very becoming, there is no present prospect that they will be abandoned.

Stitched plaits have invaded the domain of wraps, and now there are straight sacks thus made, to be worn with a skirt of the same character.

Crepe de chine and bengaline are among the favorite summer materials. They come in all the bright and delicate colors and are of double width. Few fabrics are more charming than these, which have just enough wool in them to render the folds soft and pliable without a tendency to crush and become stringy.

The illustration shows a costume of gray cloth. The tablier of the skirt is covered with fine braiding, and there are pointed tabs at the top, with ornamental stitching. The tight bodice has a braided plastron at the back and front, while over the shoulders are three stitched bands, forming a sort of triple pelerine. Each band has a single button, and one fastens the stitched collar. The belt is also stitched and secured at the back by buttons. The hat of ficelle horsehair braid is trimmed with the same braid and with coquilles of lace and tulle, while at the left side are two black plumes. JUDIC CHOLLET.

He Knew Where.

"Where were you born, Thomas?" asked the teacher, eying the new pupil over his glasses.

"Born in sin," answered the frightened little boy, falling back upon his recollections of the catechism.—Chicago Tribune.

PERSONAL AND LITERARY.

Senator Depew is a director in 83 corporations and is an active member of 25 clubs.

Congressman J. C. Needham, of California, began to collect postage stamps when he was a small boy and has never given up his collection, which is now one of the best in the United States.

Chevalier Bayard's full name and title were Pierre du Terrail, Chevalier De Bayard. He was the beautiful ideal of the age of chivalry. Walford's life of him is the authoritative English biography.

Mrs. Agassiz has resigned the presidency of Radcliffe college—sometimes called the Harvard Annex—an office which she had held since the beginning of the institution, her health no longer permitting her to perform its duties.

Gelett Burgess and Gilbert Burgess have names that are so "horribly similar," according to the latter, that people sometimes confuse the two writers. The former, however, is a Californian, and the inventor of "The Purple Cow" and other strange things, and the latter is an English art critic.

Mrs. Theodore Barney, national president of the mothers' congress, is urging the members of that body to do all in their power to investigate and remedy the evils of overstudy among children. It is her opinion that children study too hard and that overwork has often made pupils hysterical.

"The King's English." This phrase first appeared in "The Merry Wives of Windsor," Act I, Scene 4. Thirty years ago Dean Alford wrote "A Plea for the Queen's English," and a reply to his book was called "The Dean's English." In this country the phrase is sometimes altered to "The President's English."

In copyrighting a book the copyright department at Washington records any title, even if it is a duplicate of that of a well-known book. The department is only an office of record. In special cases, however, it will answer beforehand whether a title has already been recorded, but the inquiry should be made entirely independent of any application for a copyright.

Interesting Account from a Woman Who Traveled in the Transvaal.

This amusing account of her experiences was written by a woman who was traveling in the Transvaal a short time before the war broke out. She says: "As we drew up an enormous woman came to the door, filling the aperture wholly up; a stiff whitecapple covered her head, from under which peeped a jolly face and twinkling eyes. Her dress consisted of a different color print skirt and bodice, utterly devoid of waistband or waist. Round her hips was tied tightly a cord which bunched her dress up in a bundle and shortened it nearly to her knees, in approved Dutch fashion for working hours—and a dodge taken from the ordinary Kaffir. In her hand she held a big breakfast cup of black coffee, which she was vigorously stirring with the broken handle of a knife. She welcomed us warmly and patted me familiarly on the back with a heavy fat hand and beamed all over with delight and good temper.

"The front entrance led straight into the fone-kamer or sitting-room, which was a low, square room with a wooden ceiling, some old-fashioned cottage windows, four or five doors leading to the different parts of the house, and a smooth mud floor. The walls were lined with prints and photographs of all descriptions; tables with every inch covered with small ornaments, glass images and wax flowers, most of which were tied up in different colored muslins and finished off with ribbons. What amused me most was an old piano which stood before the fireplace, as much enveloped in its coverings of blankets as was possible, its legs being carefully drawn into a large pair of old white and black striped stockings with the feet cut off, and long pale pink ribbons tied into a careful bow at the top to keep them up. Do what I would, I could not help smiling at the comical expression it lent to the little worn-out instrument.

"In the corner of the room, sitting in an enormous wooden kitchen chair, was an old woman whom I was introduced to as 'Oom ma,' or lady of the house, and grandmother to our first friend. Her head was tightly incased in a small black cappie which came close down over her old shriveled, wrinkled brown face, showing no hair at all. Beside her chair stood a small deal table, and on it a large old-fashioned tea caddy and three or four pipes. On a nail just above her head hung a heavy bunch of keys which were evidently in her charge, and a long piece of biltong (dried venison), and on a hook at her side a thick stick and a roomy black shawl.

"Her footstool attracted my attention at once. Under her feet was a square wooden box about a foot in height, covered with tin and punched with many holes, and fitting the box underneath stood an iron shovel of glowing smoldering wood. Imagine this on a day when the sun was so fierce that on resting my hands on the walls of the kraals they burned my fingers so that I had to draw them away! They gave us seats and Tante (Aunte) Johannah, the younger woman, brought us coffee and we began to talk."—Chicago Evening News.

Some of the Wonders Which We Are Showing the People of the World

OF ALL the nations at the Paris exposition, and every nation of the earth is represented there, the United States stands second to none but France in the excellency, variety and quantity of its exhibits. In liberal arts, in manufactures, in agriculture, in mining, in the fine arts, in every department this country has an exhibit of which we may well be proud, and which the American visitor will be glad to say: "It comes from my land."

Beginning at the United States government building, one of the most imposing governmental buildings at the exposition, down to the minutest detail of the individual exhibitor everything is perfect, and in keeping with the name and reputation of the great country which it represents.

The United States government building stands on that most elaborate of all the exposition thoroughfares, the Quay d'Orsay, with another frontage on the River Seine, and is a conspicuous structure among the buildings of all the great powers of the world. The building is a square 85 by 90 feet and 160 feet in height. While it is a picturesque and imposing structure, yet it is also a home for the American visitor to the fair. Inside it a large rotunda serves as a meeting place for friends. Opening off of this rotunda on three sides are rooms 13 by 36 feet. That on the left of the main entrance is used as a lounging room for men; that on the right for women, and that in the center as a parlor for both men and women. The second and fourth floors are given up to the various states of the union, where visitors may rest and register their names if they desire, while the third floor is reserved for the offices of the American commission.

UNITED STATES PAVILION AT PARIS.

There is probably no more beautiful entrance on the exposition grounds than that to the United States government building from the river front. It is under a large portico, which spans the esplanade, and under this every visitor who walks to the other national buildings is obliged to pass. In the center arch of this portico, facing the River Seine, is French's statue of Washington, while a bust of President McKinley occupies a niche over the door. In front of the building, on the river bank, there is a boat landing, highly ornamented as a classic barge. All the boats of the American line which connect with the American trolley system at Vincennes make a landing at this pier.

The style of the exterior of the building is classic, and while different in design from any of the buildings at the Chicago fair, yet the scheme there prevalent has been retained and will be in marked contrast to the present French buildings, which are not so architectural in treatment.

The interior decorations have been the subject of particular consideration by Commissioner General Peck. The national eagle, with outstretched wings, crowns its top, and over all the American flag has been unfurled to fly until the exposition shall finally close its doors.

But to the American visitor many attractions have been provided other than the building itself. Within its walls the visitor from the states will find his American newspapers, American guides, American stenographers to assist in his correspondence, his mail will be delivered to him from an American post office, and for the man of finance even the American "ticker," giving the latest New York and Chicago stock quotations, will be in daily operation. In fact it is an American building throughout, made for the convenience and pleasure of the American people who visit the fair as well as a worthy representation of the American nation.

Among other American buildings at the Paris exposition none will be more prominent or more attractive to the visitors from all lands than that devoted to the publishers of this country and their interests. Just as the American newspaper is the wonder of the civilized world, so will the methods by which the newspaper, whether it be a large or small one, be of interest to the peoples of all lands. It is in a good location, being situated immediately adjoining the main exhibit palace in the Esplanade des Invalides, the palace in which are exhibited the manufactured products of the world, and which will be the central point of interest to the majority of exposition visitors.

Inside the building there is shown every modern device known to the American printing trades. There are typesetting machines of all the various kinds; there is a well-equipped commercial printing office, supplied with all the latest and best of the American type designs and the best of American commercial presses; electrotyping and stereotyping appliances in operation; a bookbinding plant, and the wonderfully made and interesting multiple newspaper presses turning out their thousands of printed sheets every hour. In this building will also be located the American publishers' headquarters, where Mr. Charles H. Simms, assistant director of liberal arts on the staff of Commissioner General Peck, will be in charge.

Another of the buildings of which the visitors from the states may well be proud, not so much because of the building itself, but because of the exhibits it contains, is the American machinery building, in which all classes of American machinery, designed for every conceivable purpose, are in constant operation. This exhibit will also be an attractive one for people from all lands, for our American machinery is to-day invading every portion of the globe where machinery is used.

Among the novel exhibits prepared by the government is that of the weather bureau. In this is given a thorough demonstration of the American method of determining the weather changes.

Still another is the American post office in the government building, fully equipped with every modern appliance for the rapid handling of mails and the convenience of the public. Here the visiting American will receive his mails each day, as Commissioner Peck has completed arrangements with the French authorities to deliver to the American commission all mail directed to American visitors at the exposition.

The agricultural department has an elaborate exhibit, which includes practically everything of interest connected with American agricultural systems and American agricultural products. Irrigation methods in the western states are shown. American grains and American meats are displayed in interesting and inviting ways, and the entire exhibit should do much to reduce the prejudice against American farm products in Europe.

Another government exhibit is a miniature American navy, with a fleet made up of exact models of such ships as the Olympia, the New York, the Oregon, the Iowa, the Massachusetts, the Boston, the Baltimore, the Miantonomoh and the Maine. Such a display is bound to add to the respect for the fighting power of the nation.

There is a merchant marine exhibit, a mineral exhibit, a fresh fruit exhibit, and so many others that even to name them all one would have to go through the entire catalogue of the exposition.

SCHOOL AND CHURCH.

A training college for Sunday School teachers—the first of its kind in England—has been opened at Handsworth, Birmingham.

Dr. E. J. Banks, former consul at Bagdad, has undertaken to excavate the ruins of the historic Ur of the Chaldees for the Smithsonian institution.

Rev. Dr. Patrick, of St. Paul's church, Dundee, Scotland, has signified his acceptance of nomination to the principalship of Manitoba college, Winnipeg.

Rev. Henry J. Callis, the pastor of the African Zion church of Syracuse, N. Y., was born a slave. He is a Hampton graduate, has studied law, and once declined a nomination for member of the Virginia legislature.

Some of the English clergy in the diocese of Natal and Pretoria have been reduced to the humblest poverty, owing to lack of funds from England and the multitude of war appeals for money for other purposes.

Rev. Dr. Curtis, pastor of Mount Auburn Presbyterian church at Cincinnati, has been devoting his church services to the especial interest of street railway employes. The Cincinnati street railway companies grant free transportation to employes and their families to and from the church.

In a number of our oldest and largest universities in the college circle a teacher is never addressed or spoken of as president or professor, but only as plain "Mister." It is "Mr. Eliot," "Mr. Hadley," not President Eliot or Hadley. The reason is an inherent modesty, which dislikes to assume titles of distinction and prefers the forms of democratic equality.

PICTURES OF VOLCANOES.

Some of the Difficulties Encountered in Photographing These Wonders While in Action.

As things go these days, the photographer is the man who is at the front, whether it be at El Caney, or off Morro, or at Manila, and one has but to make any danger worth while to find some one of the amateur or professional brethren taking it with his camera, to hand it down as an imperishable and indisputable evidence of what man will risk and accomplish.

When it was reported in Honolulu last summer, or rather when Honolulu was enveloped in a thick cloud of smoke, it knew without any further reporting that Mauna Loa was once more on the rampage. And so it turned out, the great volcano, through new fissures and vents and new craters, was pouring out great masses of lava, which made the eruption one of the most striking of recent years. When it was made known from the island of Hawaii that the spectacle was likely to prove unique, two parties started out from Honolulu for the great mountain, accompanying them being Mr. Frank Dewey, a photographer, who did not mind such a thing as danger in his desire to take a snap at a full-fledged eruption on the plank of Mauna Loa near the summit.

The main outburst formed a lake of boiling lava 100 feet in diameter, from which huge masses were thrown 300 feet in the air. From a breach in the cone a flood of lava 40 feet wide rushed down the mountain side at a rate of 30 miles an hour. A dozen vents near the great crater were throwing lava in the air, which covered the surrounding territory with a thick coating gliding down and enveloped in a thick smoke.

Lower down a new crater not so large as the upper lake threw great masses of lava and solid rocks in the air weighing hundreds of pounds. While the onlookers were fascinated at the sight, there was considerable danger, as on one occasion the wind blew thick columns of sulphurous smoke toward the party when they were on their way home. The running lava behind them prevented a retreat and death from asphyxiation surely threatened as the black cloud advanced in a menacing manner. Just as it was about to cover them, a violent gust of wind opened a gap arched like a tunnel. Through this the terrified tourists rushed and reached the pure air on the other side in safety, falling upon the ground exhausted and overcome by their fearsome experience.

They also suffered from hunger and thirst, and it was under these circumstances that Mr. Dewey took the views, his zeal causing him among other things to lose his shoes, which were burnt off his feet by the hot lavas. However, he got back to Honolulu safely, and was delighted at his success in catching one of the small cones in operation, as well as photographing some older lava beds and the solidified rivers of lava of other days.—Philadelphia Times.

Temperature of Surface of Sea.

In a paper communicated to the Royal Meteorological society on "The mean temperature of the surface waters of the sea round the British coasts and its relation to the mean temperature of the air," Mr. Dickson arrived at the conclusion that the mere presence of Atlantic water is more effective in depressing the summer temperature in Britain than in raising that of the winter months.—Chicago Tribune.

Dispute Stopped the Train.

On a train going from Ghent to Brussels such a fierce discussion about the war arose among some of the passengers that the alarm was given, the train was stopped and the disputants were compelled to get out and finish the discussion on the ground.—N. Y. Journal.

THERE IS AN OLD STORY

About a man who put green goggles on his horse and tried to feed him shavings. He thought the horse would think the shavings were grass. This seems exaggerated, but how many people are today buying grain containing 2 to 10 per cent dirt, and paying full prices for same, thus injuring the horse and the pocketbook?

To profitably maintain a grain cleaning plant requires a large business, a large business permits lower prices, thus our customers gain both in quality and price.

A number of borough young men have formed a baseball team under the name of the North Plainfield Stars, and they offer to play any team in this vicinity. All communications should be addressed to James Block, of Chatham street.

The Watchung ball club defeated Leal's second in an 8 inning game yesterday afternoon by the score of 16 to 13. The game was called by the umpire at the end of the eighth on account of darkness.

ROD AND GUN.

Jack Porter, of East Second street, captured a ten-pound carp by the tail while fishing at Bound Brook Saturday.

Tony Lusardi and Harry Milligan were driving by the New Market pond Saturday when their attention was attracted by a loud splashing in the water near the bank. On investigation they found a large carp in the shallow water which they caught without any trouble. It was brought to Plainfield and weighed by Wm. VanSickel, who declares it tipped the scales at 13 lbs.

—The exhibition of the "Passion Play," that was to have been given Monday and Tuesday evenings at Reform Hall, will be given this evening.

Convict Wright Inherits $14,000.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, April 25.—George Wright, aged 50, a convict in the State prison here for nearly a year for assault and battery on his wife, who lives at Camden, has inherited $14,000 by the will of his aunt, who was the widow of Capt. Malloy, of Philadelphia. The convict was a favorite nephew, and, despite his misbehavior, she could not bring herself to cut him off without anything. Wright has three children, a son and a married and a single daughter living in Camden, where he carried on a huckster business. His term will expire next month.

The Final Play.

The last meeting for the season of the Tuesday Evening Euchre Club was held last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Codington, Mountain avenue. There were the usual five tables and after a very close contest Mrs. Harry Codington and Miss Minnie Smalley won the first and second prizes for the ladies, while Wm. Morrison and Harry Codington won the first and second prizes for the men.

TELEPHONE SERVICE.

THE NEW YORK AND NEW JERSEY TELEPHONE COMPANY,

333 Park Avenue, Plainfield, N. J. 2 12 3m

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

A gentleman who delights in calculation has made some very interesting computations in reference to the great play, "Ben Hur." There are, he says, 18,500 words in the manuscript, read by 17 principals in one hour and fifty-eight minutes. When "Ben Hur" closes its present run at the Broadway Theatre, New York, May 12th, these actors, in 194 performances, will have spoken 3,589,000 words, occupying 381 hours and 32 minutes. The chorus of 180 voices sings 24 minutes each performance, and will have sung at the close of the season 77 hours and 36 minutes. There are 17 scenes in the play. The canvass in these scenes would cover an area of 102,740 square feet. The entire scenery and properties, exclusive of the chariot race apparatus, weigh 42,509 pounds, or 21¼ tons. Thirty men set and clear the stage of this equipment—or handle it twice—in 34 minutes, the combined waits between acts at each performance. In the 194 performances these thirty men will have have han died 4,122½ tons twice, or 8,245 tons, in 109 hours and 56 minutes. There are 375 lines of about the size of clothes lines, used in suspending and hoisting the great drops, or hanging pieces of scenery, and as "trip lines." There are 150 feet of rope in each line, making 56,250 feet, or 10½ miles of rope used in the production of "Ben Hur." In the chariot race scene eight horses are used. Each horse runs one minute and 15 seconds. Though running on tread mills they cover a distance, practically, of 1,320 feet each performance. In the 194 performances they will have run 2,048,640 feet, or 388 miles.

VIEWS IN COLORADO.

Interesting Pictures Seen at the Park Avenue Baptist Church.

A hundred views of life and scenery in Colorado and Utah were shown with stereopticon at the Park Avenue Baptist church last evening. The views were made from photographs taken by G. E. Hall, of this city, who explained them, pointing out the objects of special interest. The stereopticon was in charge of his brother, H. L. Hall.

A fair-sized audience listened with interest to Mr. Hall's remarks and found the views very entertaining. A silver collection was taken for the benefit of the Sunday-school.

BUILDING WORK SUSPENDED.

Many New Jersey Towns Suffer From Strike of Carpenters.

Practically all building operations in Newark, Kearney, Harrison, East Newark and Arlington came to a standstill yesterday as a result of the order issued Monday by the District Council of United Carpenters, calling out all journeymen who had gone back to work.

At their meeting yesterday the strikers appointed 500 pickets and 250 committeemen to patrol all the wards of the city and suburbs, and call out all union men and notify non-union men that a general strike was on.

Charged Interfering With Fire Boxes.
(Special to The Daily Press.)

Cranford, April 25—Charles Lamphere, a lad, was arrested here Monday evening and taken before Justice Cox, charged with opening a fire-alarm box. For some time past the fire department officials have been annoyed by having the fire boxes tampered with. The boy under arrest was caught by Chief Electrician A. E. Miller with an old key inserted in Box 415, corner of Lincoln avenue, near the Sherman Public School. When arraigned before the Justice he denied any intention of wrong-doing, but the Justice did not see it that way, and held him in $200 bonds to await the action of the Grand Jury in May. Rufus Robinson, a relative, became his surety.

Tried Suicide at Seventy-five.

Despondent because of illness, Guerin Pruden, seventy-five years old, of Morristown, attempted last night to commit suicide at his home in Hazel street. He fired three pistol bullets into his head. One bullet entered the skull so near the temple that it is wonderful that it did not cause instant death. Pruden is still alive, but his death is only a question of time.

Big Peach Crop in Sight.

The farmers and peach growers report that the indications are that there will be a large crop of peaches and other fruit this year. The peach trees are now coming out in blossom, and if only half remain upon the trees, the growers assert there will be an immense crop.

ITEMS BRIEF AND BRIGHT.

GATHERED ALL ABOUT THE TOWN BY ALERT PRESS REPORTERS.

News in Short Paragraphs That are Interesting to Read During the Spare Moments of Many Busy Plainfielders.

—All bills against the city must be in the hands of the City Clerk by Saturday night to ensure payment at the next meeting of the Council.

—Drake & Mundy, the meat dealers, are now located at their old stand, the store next to Exchange alley. They have purchased the business of Charles Koch, which was conducted at that place.

—Lawyer Walter Hetfield has about effected a settlement for his client, Joseph Carbone, of North avenue, against the Metropolitan Traction Company, of New York, for injuries sustained by the plaintiff three weeks ago while attempting to board a car in New York.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

T. S. Keller and wife, of New York, called on a few of their many Plainfield friends today.

Among the guests at the one hundred and fourteenth annual dinner of the St. George's Society held Monday night at Delmonico's banquet hall, New York, were A. D. Shepard, of "The Gables," Fanwood and John Doul Miller, of Plainfield.

Mr. Woodhull Doing Well.

Floyd T. Woodhull, of the firm of Woodhull & Martin, who was obliged to undergo a second operation Monday evening, is now doing as well as can be expected. He is resting comfortable and the physician thinks that he will continue to improve. Owing to the severe train Mrs. Woodhull's health has broken down and she is confined to he room under treatment.

Head Struck the Door.

A lad named Rayton had his forehead cut in an accident at the Plainfield High School this morning. He was about to enter the building when another boy coming out, pushed the door open and Rayton's head struck the glass in the door, breaking it and cutting his head. The injury was not serious.

Entertained Clergymen.

Rev. and Mrs. William Montgomery Downey, of Washington Park, entertained at luncheon yesterday Rev. Dr. Taylor, Rev. Dr. Rodman and W. W. Moore, of this city; Mr. Phelps, of New Brunswick; Mr. Harris, of Somerville; Dr. Fenton, of Metuchen, and Mr. Phelps, of Bound Brook.

Entertained at Whist.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Apgar, of Somerset street, entertained the whist club of which they are members, last evening. The usual number was present and everyone had a good time.

Flower Thieves.

Flower thieves have been operating in the dark around Ninth street residences. A watch is being kept and arrests may be made.

RIVERA RESIGNS.

Governor Wood's Secretary of Agriculture Out—Annexation Talk.

HAVANA, April 25.—General Ruis Rivera has resigned the post of secretary of agriculture, industry and commerce in the governor general's cabinet. He has also announced to the citizens of Havana that he is a candidate for the mayoralty.

General Rivera made the following statement for publication:

"Although I have left the cabinet, I shall not identify myself with any particular party. I have confidence in the American people. It is, however, possible that the administration at Washington may not be so honest as the people at large. Cuba is not conquered. If the United States government wishes to annex Cuba, it will have to do so by force of arms. The Cubans will not consent to slide into annexation without resistance. Eventually Cuba would probably ask for annexation, but she must first pass through the stage of independence. During this period the Cubans would not object to the Americans quartering their troops in the island."

Except when the United States battleship Texas came for the bodies of the Maine victims and when four United States warships recently assembled in Havana harbor for a few days there has been no American war vessel here since the departure of the Resolute about a year ago.

Insect Canning.

The gardens in Hamburg have within the last ten years been decorated with white-leaf maples, and a writer in the Zoologist says that since the introduction of these shrubs the common white butterfly has chosen them for its settling places. Concealed in the white leaves, the butterfly is safe from enemies. An anecdote, more suggestive of insect reasoning, is told of a spider by James Weir. It spun its web in a sawmill in a place where the passing of lumber frequently broke the long stay threads that held the web. The situation was too favorable for flies to be abandoned, and finally the spider got around the difficulty by discarding the use of stays and substituting for them, to keep the web stretched, a nail which it wove into the lower edge of the fabric.

Siberian Farm Life.

The most characteristic feature of Siberian farm life is that the farmers live not scattered all over the country, remote from neighbors, but in villages as near as possible to the land they are cultivating.

STEPHEN HOWELL DEAD.

A Prominent Resident of New Brunswick—Funeral Will Be Held Friday.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, April 25.—Stephen Howell, aged 73 years, one of the most prominent citizens of this place, died this morning at his home 61 Livingston avenue. Mr. Howell formerly lived at East Millstone, where he owned a large farm. He afterward moved to this place and engaged in the lumber business up to the time of his death. He was a brother of Louis T. Howell, president of the First National Bank, and was closely indentified with the interests of this place. The funeral services will be held from his late residence next Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. Relatives and friends are invited to attend.

Resolutions of Condolence.

Queen City Lodge, No. 226, of Plainfield, N. J.

Whereas, It has seemed good to the Almighty Disposer of events to remove from our midst our late worthy and esteemed fellow brother, Isaac S. Lance, and

Whereas, The intimate relations long held by the deceased with the members of this order render it proper that we should place upon record our appreciation of his service as a member and his merits as an Odd Fellow. Therefore

Resolved, That we deplore the loss of Isaac S. Lance with the deep feeling of regret, softened only by the confident hope that his spirit, having fought a good fight here, is enjoying perfect happiness in a better world.

Resolved, That we tender to the afflicted relatives our sincere condolence and our earnest sympathy in their affliction at the loss of one who was a good citizen, a devoted member and an upright man.

Resolved, That a copy of the foregoing resolutions signed by the committee be transmitted to the relatives of the deceased brother.

HIGH SCHOOL NINE WASN'T IN THE GAME

Leal's School Boys Overwhelmed Them by the Score of 38 to 2.

A SICKENING EXHIBITION.

HIGH SCHOOL PLAYERS LOST THEIR HEADS ENTIRELY.

Twenty-eight Errors by Defeated Team—Denton Was Batted Freely—Only Two Hits Off Dupee—High School Scored in Eighth.

For nearly three weary hours the members of the Leal's School baseball nine ran about the diamond on Martine Common yesterday afternoon. On a few occasions the Leal boys were reminded that they still had as opponents the Plainfield High School team, but most of the game the latter did not figure at all. Everybody expected the Leal nine to win but not by such a remarkable score as 38 to 2.

It was easily the worst game of baseball witnessed in Plainfield. The playing of the High School boys could not, in fact, be dignified by the name of baseball. A gigantic hoodoo had apparently settled down upon them all and they played without method or reason. Hardly a man on the team seemed able to get hold of the ball and when such an event did actually occur the ball was immediately thrown any old way but the right one.

After the second inning, when the Leal's School boys made eleven runs, nobody tried to keep track of how many more they made. It was simply a question as to whether or not the High School would score.

Will Schoonmaker, centre fielder for Leal's, started to catch Pond's fly in the eighth, but tripped and fell. Pond reached first in safety. He stole second, reached third on Herman's hunt and made the High School's first run on a wild throw by Tilney to third. Herman added another, scoring on Fred Mason's sacrifice hit. After that the High School boys lapsed into their former condition and the agony continued.

The High School made just two hits off Dupee, who pitched a fine game throughout. Denton was hit safely fifteen times and gave numerous bases on balls, on one occasion forcing in a run in that manner. In the field the Leal School men played good clean ball with only four errors.

Twenty-eight errors were recorded against the High School team as follows: F. Mason, 1; Squires, 4; T. Mason, 3; VanAuken, 6; Schomp, 2; Monihan, 1; Denton, 6; Pond, 1; Herman, 4. The teams batted as follows:

WEDDED AT ST. MARY'S.

Miss Mary Sullivan Becomes the Wife of John Delaney, of Philadelphia.

The West End lost one of its most popular young women yesterday afternoon, when Miss Mary Sullivan, of South Second street, became the wife of John Delaney, of Philadelphia.

The ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Father Smyth, took place at 3 o'clock in St. Mary's church. The bride was dressed in white dotted swiss, over white silk, trimmed with lace.

The bridemaid was Miss Lottie Sullivan, a sister of the bride. She wore white dotted swiss over pink silk, and carried pink carnations. The best man was William Delaney, a brother of the groom.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the guests proceeded to the home of the bride, where a supper had been prepared.

The happy couple left on the 8:09 train for Philadelphia last evening, where they will make their future home.

Want Better Sidewalks.

The Cranford Township Committee is preparing for a crusade against poor sidewalks and have directed the Township Attorney to prepare ordinances compelling property-owners to repair walks.

A Disgraceful Scene.

Passersby on North avenue last night were attracted by the sight of a young girl vigorously puffing at a cigarette. She seemed unconscious of the attention she was attracting.

MUST PAY $10 FINE TONIGHT

Otherwise "Buck" Wilson Will Have to Spend Twenty Days in County Jail at Somerville.

Theodore Wilson, alias "Buck" Wilson, who was arrested yesterday morning on Somerset street for being drunk and disorderly, was arraigned before Mayor Smalley last evening. This is not the first time that he has been in the borough court and His Honor did not forget it. He therefore gave the prisoner a severe lecture that he will always have cause to remember. The Mayor then gave him his choice between $10 or twenty days, and he gave him until this evening to raise the money. Otherwise he will go to Somerville for twenty days. This is the first case where Mayor Smalley has pronounced such a sentence, and he hopes that the man will pay the fine so that the county will not have the expense of keeping him.

A BEAUTIFUL FOUNTAIN.

LOYAL TEMPERANCE LEGION'S EFFORTS REWARDED.

The Fountain Has Been Ordered and Will be Set up Within the Next Month.

Plainfield is soon to have a handsome public fountain, which will be a credit to the city and to the children of the Loyal Temperance Legion, who were instrumental in raising the funds. The fountain, which is to cost $125, is being built by the G. F. Mott Company, of New York, who designed it especially for Plainfield. The work is expected to be done and the fountain erected inside of a month.

The matter of an appropriation was laid before the Common Council five months ago, but no action was taken until February, when $200 was voted to the league fund.

Since then the children have made great efforts and the remainder of the amount has been raised mostly from the Sunday-schools and public schools of the city. Fifty dollars was promised by the Plainfield Water Company, who will also give the water free.

The fountain, which is to be for man and beast, will be twelve feet in heighth, with a child's statue on top, as it is aimed to symbolize those who have worked so hard for its success. At night it is intended to have it lighted by incandescent lights. It will be erected directly opposite the North avenue station, in front of the property of John MacIntyre, who donated the site.

The legion would urge those who have promised contributions to send them at once to Mrs. D. S. Miller, of 442 Orchard place, who is treasurer of the fund.

A TROUBLESOME WRECK.

Coal Train Broke In Two and the Two Parts Came Together and Caused a Bad Smashup.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, April 26—A bad wreck occurred on the Central Railroad near the Somerville Woollen Mills about 5 o'clock this morning. An eastbound coal train broke in two and came together again, throwing some cars over on the westbound track just as a westbound train was passing. The engine of the westbound train ploughed into the cars, wrecking them badly. The engineer, George Rowland, jumped, and sprained his leg. The fireman was caught between the engine and tender and bruised considerably, besides being nearly scared to death. Both men were sent to their homes Eight big gondolas were wrecked. The wrecking train was soon on the scene and both tracks were cleared this afternoon.

BIG JOB FOR HIM.

F. A. Dunham to Build Roads in Tennessee to Cost $50,000.

F. A. Dunham, civil engineer, has returned from a southern business trip, during which time he was looking after a great deal of work in Bradley county, Tenn., where he is county engineer. New honors has just come to Mr. Dunham since his return. He received the appointment of county engineer for Hamblen county, Tenn., and the inhabitants of that county have decided to spend $50,000 at once on road work. A little later on a similar amount will be expended in addition to the other. There is a great boom at present in the south for good roads and a great amount of work will be done in the next year.

Mr. Dunham returned home by the way of Wellesville, N. Y., where his chief engineer, Ephraim Vail, is now superintending the construction of fine roads.

MADE $400 YESTERDAY.

GREAT SUCCESS OF THE RUMMAGE SALE'S FIRST DAY.

Bigger Business Than Was Expected—Wonderful Business in Shoes.

The crowd at the Rummage Sale this morning was larger than ever. The success of the sale has already been thoroughly demonstrated. Tonight it is expected that the crowd will be still larger.

Yesterday was the first day of the sale. After the receipts had all been collected, they showed a total of about $400. It was much larger than was expected. The tables, particularly in the clothing departments, were almost empty. The shoe department did a wonderful business. The entire stock was exhausted, one man alone buying twenty pairs evidently to be resold elsewhere. While the business yesterday afternoon was not as brisk as it was in the morning, there was nevertheless plenty doing.

This morning the tables had been all restocked and the store was once more crowded with eager purchasers. Some valuable things have turned up, among them a picture by Hopkinson Smith, the famous artist, which had not been sold up to noon.

A new corps of saleswomen presided at the tables and were kept constantly busy. Another set will be in charge this afternoon and a third set this evening. This evening, when the sale will be open from 7 until 10 o'clock, a number of the men will assist.

PERSONALITY IN CHILDREN.

Second Interesting Discourse Delivered Before School Teachers by Prof. Griggs.

"The Development of Personality in Children" was the subject of a very interesting lecture which was delivered yesterday afternoon by Prof. Edward Howard Griggs in the chapel of the Franklin School. A large number of the teachers of the city, and others interested in child study, were in attendance. The lecture was the second in a course of four on "Education and Life."

The spiritual universe, said Mr. Griggs, can only be known through the medium of personality. We have no knowledge of thought and feeling outside of ourselves, except as we see them manifested in the actions of those around us. We are coming to have a reverence for personality, and the study of personality in children is coming to be a prominent factor in the educational world. There are two facts to be considered, each easily understood in itself, but each the exact opposite of the other. First, every human personality is very much like every other one that has been or ever will be. Life everywhere is made up of the same elements—love, work, aspiration and a hunger for the truth. Second, every human being in the world is unique. If we knew exactly what heredity might be expected to give a child, the result could not be prophesied. The child would be a new quotation of old elements. Both sides of the question, then, must be considered in educational work; all children need to have implanted in them the same great general principles, but every child needs to be studied as an individual to learn its particular needs. Bring out the personal element in teaching; make the people of history real to the children, and introduce them, through the world of literature, to the great minds who can help them to understand themselves and the life upon which they are just beginning to look out upon.

Sixty Years a Minister.

After a pastorate of forty-four years in the Presbyterian church of Basking Ridge, N. J., Rev. John C. Rankin died yesterday. He was born in Greensboro, N. C., eighty-four years ago, and was graduated from Princeton Theological Seminary in 1840. He first married Norah Comfort, daughter of Rev. David Comfort, and, with his wife, went to Hindostan as a missionary, in 1840, a month after they were married.

Address on Home Missions.

Mrs. N. M. Waterbury, home secretary of the Woman's Baptist Foreign Missionary Society, whose headquarters are at Boston, will give an address on "Mission Work" in the First Baptist church tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Waterbury was one of the speakers last Tuesday at the Ecumenical conference in New York, and her addresses are of rare interest. All are cordially invited.

Sprained Her Ankle.

Mrs. Charles Sprague, of Central avenue, made a misstep in front of the Manning flats yesterday afternoon, and fell, spraining her ankle. She was taken to her home in a carriage where she will be confined for some time.

FORMAL OPENING OF ELIZABETH TROLLEY.

Initial Trip From Elizabeth to Plainfield and Return Made This Afternoon.

CHANGED CARS AT B. & O

PLAINFIELD PARTY LEFT AT ONE O'CLOCK TO MEET OTHERS.

Elizabeth Delegates Started at Same Hour—Will Meet at B. & O. Crossing—Return to Plainfield—Then To Elizabeth for Dinner.

The formal opening of the Plainfield-Elizabeth trolley road of the Elizabeth and Westfield Street Railway Company took place this afternoon. The connecting link between Roselle and the Elizabeth city line was completed this morning so that the first car to make the trip was run this afternoon It carried a number of city officials from the terminals of the line, together with representatives of the company.

One of the big double-truck cars of the North Jersey Traction Company left the Elizabeth station this afternoon at 1 o'clock. On board were a number of the Elizabeth city officials, Chandler W. Riker and Dr. J. T. Fritts, president and vice president of the company, and General Manager Young and General Superintendent Chapman, of the North Jersey Company.

At the same hour two of the Elizabeth and Westfield Company's cars left the North Avenue station, this city, with a party of Plainfield officials and General Superintendent Adelmann on board. The two parties will meet at the B. and O. crossing, and those from Elizabeth will be transferred across the railroad tracks and brought back to this city.

The party will then return to Plainfield and make the trip out to Dunellen and then back over the line, transferring at the B. and O. crossing, back to Elizabeth, where a dinner will be served to the invited guests at the Clark Hotel. The party is expected to reach Elizabeth at 5 o'clock.

SCARLET FEVER CASES

FOURTEEN OF THEM REPORTED UP TO THIS NOON.

Board of Health Believe That the Cause of It is Impure Milk That Has Been Sold.

What now appears to be a rather mild epidemic of scarlet fever has developed in the city within the past twenty-four hours, and up to noon fourteen cases have been reported to the Board of Health. Dr. Murray, president of the Board, gives assurance that the severity in most cases is moderate only. The cases are among a better class of people who are perhaps better able to take care of them.

The cause for the epidemic seems to be through the use of milk, and Dr. Murray informs a Daily Press representative that the Board of Health are almost sure that they have determined the cause and its source. The Board is wideawake and everything is being done to prevent any further spread of the disease. The physicians who are in charge of the several cases believe that there will be no danger of the disease spreading as the cases are now well under control.

Every home where there is a case of the disease quarantine has been established and every precaution is being taken. Thus far only one death is reported and that is George Vreeland, aged about thirty years, of Sandford avenue. He was taken ill last Sunday with the fever and rapidly grew worse. He died last evening. He was a carriage painter by trade and worked at Westfield. He is survived by a wife and a child about a year old. Owing to rules of the Board of Health burial took place within twelve hours after death.

A very few cases of the fever have developed in the borough, but they also are of a mild form in most cases.

RECEPTION TO MR. AND MRS. HUMMER

Given by the Groom's Parents and Was a Pleasant Affair.

A pleasant event of last evening was the reception tendered to Mr. and Mrs. Louis Mulford Hummer, who were recently married, by Mr. Hummer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. Hummer, of Somerset street. There were about forty relatives and friends present to join in expressing their best wishes to the bride and groom. The evening was passed in playing games, listening to good instrumental and vocal music and in dancing. A supper was served and it was nearly 12 o'clock when the happy occasion was terminated.

In addition to the Plainfield and borough people present, there were many from Hunterdon county and other places in this vicinity. With the exception of one or two the entire bridal party was present to renew congratulations and wish the bride and groom a happy and successful journey through life.

New Postmaster at Pluckamin.

Miss Elizabeth Teeple has resigned as postmistress at Pluckamin, Somerset county, and Representative Howell yesterday recommended the appointment of Stewart Brown. Mr. Howell has been advised that C. E. Abrams has been appointed postmaster at Nelsonville, Monmouth county, and J. V. D. Pumyea as postmaster at Plainville, Somerset county.

BERGEN FOR THE BENCH.

His Friends Want Him Selected as One of the Judges for Porto Rico.

The Trenton State Gazette is authority for the assertion that a boom has been launched by a number of prominent State political leaders to have Frank Bergen, the well-known Elizabeth lawyer, appointed one of the new United States Judges in Porto Rico. The appointment of these judges in the provinces will be made under the civil government bill recently passed by Congress.

No sooner had the idea been suggested than it met with the hearty approval of Mr. Bergen's friends, prominent among whom was Governor Voorhees. Plans were quickly laid to further the boom, and when Attorney-General Griggs returns to Washington he will urge upon President McKinley the appointment of Mr. Bergen.

CENTRAL IMPROVEMENT.

RAILROAD OFFICIAL ON A TOUR OF INVESTIGATION.

Canopies Under the Railroad Bridges and Macadamizing of Street Proposed.

George W. Twining, engineer of maintenance and ways for the Jersey Central Railroad, with offices at Mauch Chunk, came to Plainfield yesterday at the request of Street Commissioner Gavett for the purpose of acquainting himself with several matters that need attention here. One matter introduced was that of placing canopies under the Grant avenue and Plainfield avenue bridges, so that pedestrians will not be annoyed with the dripping of water when it rains. Another matter was that of macadamizing South Second street below Plainfield avenue bridge, and the erection of a small retaining wall along the railroad bank on South Second street west of Plainfield avenue. One other thing brought to the attention of Mr. Twining was that of enlarging the surface drainage inlets under the Watchung avenue bridge so that the water would be taken off more readily.

Mr. Twining, accompanied by Station Agent Joseph A. Haynes and Street Commissioner Gavett, made a tour during Mr. Twining's official visit, and personally looked after the various improvements suggested, and Mr. Twining seemed inclined to do what was right. He said that he would report the matter to the company and then inform Mr. Gavett of the result.

Regarding the improvements suggested the railroad company would not have to stand the entire expense if they are made. They would only pay a portion of the cost of macadamizing South Second street and enlarging the inlets under the Watchung avenue bridge. Mr. Twining said that when the company erected any more canopies under the railroad they would be of galvanized iron, thus making them perfectly water-tight. Mr. Gavett was much pleased with the encouragement he received from Mr. Twining and feels as though the improvements suggested will be accomplished at an early date.

GOOD TIME FOR PYTHIANS.

First of a Series of Entertainments to be Given by Unity Lodge.

The first of a series of monthly entertainments and socials was held last evening under the auspices of Unity Lodge, No. 102, K. of P., in their lodge rooms for the members and their families. The programme consisted of piano selections by Miss Nettie Bauersachs, recitations by Beulah VanWinkle, cornet solos by Benjamin LaVere, phonographic selections under the direction of Frank Humpston, and comic selections by John H. Carney.

After the programme was rendered cake and ice cream was served under the supervision of the committee in charge consisting of George Radford, chairman; Frank Putnam, J. W. A. Bauersachs, Jeremiah VanWinkle and Edward P. T. Smith.

An Elizabeth Bride.

Many Plainfielders will be interested in the announcement of the approaching marriage of Miss Minnie Agnes Oakley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Augustus Oakley, of Elizabeth, and William Harrison Reese, of Carpentersville, N. J. The happy event will take place this evening at 6 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, 1201 East Broad street, Elizabeth.

To Play on $1,000 Violin.

P. Ludwig Conde, whose annual orchestral concert takes place this evening at the Y. M. C. A. Hall, will perform on a $1,000 violin owned by John Frederich, of Cooper Institute, New York, the great violin expert. Mr. Frederich received first prize at the Chicago Exposition for the fine instrument.

Prosperous Condition of Congregational Church Shown at Annual Meeting.

MEMBERSHIP INCREASING.

TRUSTEES WILL CONSIDER ENLARGEMENT OF THE CHURCH.

Annual Meeting of Congregational Church And Society Held Last Night—Officers Elected and Reports Received—Board of Trustees Organized.

Absolutely free from debt, a small balance in the treasury, and with a growing membership the Congregational church is in a flourishing condition. These facts were brought out at the annual meeting of the church and society held in the church parlors last evening.

The meeting of the church was first held. L. I. VanAlstyne acted as clerk in the absence of George Fuller. The report of the Sunday-school work was made by J. A. Robinson, superintendent of the school. It showed an increase in the enrollment and attendance and of the benevolences. The report of the pastor, Rev. C. L. Goodrich, gave the total benevolences of the church as $2,041. The membership is now 251, a net gain of 11 over last year. During the year only one member was lost by death.

The election was held and L. I. VanAlstyne was elected clerk and L. B. Morgan and J. M. Whiton deacons. The members of the official board chosen were H. C. Nomer, J. W. Wynant and J. A. Robinson.

It was decided to aid the Swedish church, which meets in the Congregational church once a week, by private subscriptions and by two collections yearly. A committee of five was appointed to prepare a new church constitution.

At the meeting of the society of the Congregational church J. M. Whiton acted as chairman. The report of the treasurer, M. C. VanArsdale, showed that all the bills against the church had been paid and there still remained a balance of $50.40. There is no mortgage nor bonded indebtedness to the church and never has been since the church was formed.

The election of officers resulted as follows: Clerk, L. I. VanAlstyne; auditor, Stacy Baynolds; trustees, George W. Rockfellow, Joseph E. Morse, Alex Millar, H. W. Tomlinson, J. E. Stewart, M. C. VanArsdale and L. I. VanAlstyne.

The board of trustees were directed to take up the consideration of plans for the enlargement of the present sanctuary and report to the church in the fall. The salary of the sexton, George Dean, was slightly increased.

A meeting of the board of directors for organization was held at the close. George W. Rockfellow was elected president of the board, Joseph E. Morse secretary, and M. C. VanArsdale treasurer. The following committees were appointed: Church property, G. W. Rockfellow, J. E. Stewart and Alex. Millar; music, M. C. VanArsdale and G. W. Rockfellow; pews and sittings, J. E. Morse, L. I. VanAlstyne and H. W. Tomlinson.

MYSTERIOUS TAPPING.

Borough Firemen Were Puzzled by Queer Action of Fire Alarm System.

The borough firemen were given a scare last evening owing to a mysterious tapping of the fire bell. It was about 9:35 o'clock when the first tap sounded. It came in at Warren Engine Company, but at first the bell did not strike. The taps came singly and the firemen finally decided that the wires must be crossed somewhere, but a diligent search failed to disclose the trouble. Firemen went in all directions looking for a blaze, but could see none.

Chief Debele responded to the alarm and he decided that wires must be crossed. Word was sent to Joseph Newman, borough electrician, and an investigation was made. After spending much time looking for the trouble the investigation was given up for the night. Today Mr. Newman will renew the search in the hopes of locating the disturbance.

Reception Postponed.

The women of the First M. E. church had arranged for a reception to be given this evening in honor of Rev. Dr. Snodgrass and family, but they have decided to postpone the affair indefinitely.

INSURGENTS PILLAGE AND TERRORIZE

Many Towns Destroyed, Including San Fernando—A Warning Proclamation Issued—General Otis Starts Early In May.

MANILA, April 26.—Officers who have arrived here from Nueva Caceres, province of South Camarines, bring details of a fight April 16 in which 80 Filipinos were killed. The American outposts reported 300 natives assembled three miles from the town, and General Bell sent three detachments of the Forty-fifth regiment, with two Maxims, who nearly surrounded the Filipinos, the majority of whom were armed with bolos and wore carabao hide helmets, coats and shields. The Filipinos were quickly put to flight, leaving the field strewn with armor.

Their riflemen were unable to shoot straight, and the bolomen never got near enough to the Americans to do any execution. Therefore none of the Americans was wounded.

Lieutenant Balch, with 20 cavalrymen from the Thirty-seventh regiment, cornered 50 bolomen in a river and shot every one, the bodies floating away. One soldier had his head struck off with a bolo.

General Bell's two regiments are hard worked in clearing the country. They meet with many small squads of bolomen and last week killed a total of 125. A squadron of the Eleventh cavalry is about leaving Manila on board the transport Lennox to re-enforce them. The insurgents keep the province in a state of terror and are wreaking vengeance on natives who trade with the Americans, burning many villages, including the populous town of San Fernando.

General Bell has issued a proclamation declaring that he will retaliate relentlessly unless this guerrilla war ceases and that he will burn all the towns which harbor guerrillas.

In a fight at Sorgogon, Albay province, on April 16 three companies of the Forty-seventh infantry, Captain Gordon commanding, routed a large force of insurgents, mostly bolomen, killing 53.

The plans of General Otis have not been announced, but it is understood he intends sailing on the Meade or the Grant early in May. He will be accompanied by his staff and will probably visit Hongkong and other ports.

Run Down by a Train.

PITTSBURG, April 26.—The southwestern express on the Pennsylvania road ran down a party of three at South Fork, Pa., killing Joseph Petargen, a miner, aged 35 years, and Mary Poteski, his niece, 5 years old, and fatally injuring Petargen's daughter Lizzie, aged 3 years. Petargen and the children had just arrived from Hazleton, and Michael Poteski, the father of Mary, was at the station to meet them. Heedless of the express coming in the opposite direction, Mary dashed across the tracks to greet her father. Petargen, who carried his daughter Lizzie in his arms, sprang to save her, and the three were grount under the wheels.

Government Pleased With Straus.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—A report being current to the effect that the government is dissatisfied with the action of Mr. Straus, United States minister to Turkey, in the matter of the presentation to the porte of the claims of the American missionary societies for indemnity for the destruction of their colleges in Harpoot and Harsan, it can be stated by official sanction that so far from disapproving his action, the president cordially approves of the course pursued by Mr. Straus at Constantinople and wishes him to resume his duties at that capital at the expiration of his present leave of absence.

Baseball Player Starving.

ROCHESTER, April 26.—Patrick Hoey, a former well known baseball player, and his wife, Ellen Hoey, were found homeless and nearly starved to death in a hovel on the bank of the canal basin in Trowbridge street shortly before midnight and sent to the station in a patrol wagon. Hoey played with the Rochester team about 30 years ago and later with the Washington team of the National association. He is about 60 years old.

Queen's Last Day In Ireland.

DUBLIN, April 26.—Queen Victoria spent what is practically her last day in Ireland very quietly. Though she drove out in the afternoon, she did not visit any institutions. Her majesty left the viceregal lodge at noon today and after the short train journey to Kingstown embarked on board the royal yacht and, escorted by the channel fleet, sailed for England. It is expected the queen will arrive at Windsor Friday morning.

Catskills Land Bought.

ALBANY, April 26.—The state forest reserve at a meeting held yesterday purchased 3,000 acres of land of the Hardenburg patent in the Catskills at $1.25 per acre from J. W. Olmstead. The board considers this a remarkably good purchase, as all the taxes have been paid up to date.

SHELLS ANNOUNCED BY BELLS.

A novel method of notifying the people of besieged Mafeking that a Boer shell is coming is by ringing bells. Soldiers watch the Boer batteries with telescopes and the big town bell gives warning. In addition, boys with sharp eyes keep a lookout and ring hand bells when they see a flash. The sketch was made from a picture drawn by a British officer.

SPORTING.

ON THE DIAMOND

Edward Connors, of West Third street, has signed with the Westfield semi-professional team as first baseman.

The Arion A. C. will play its next game Saturday afternoon against the team from the Lincoln High School of Westfield. The game will be played on the Sherman avenue grounds and will be called at 3 o'clock.

Ralph Schoonmaker, who has been playing at both second and third base for the Leal's School team, has made a great showing so far this year. His fielding has been of a high order and he has also distinguished himself batting and on the bases.

John Evans, manager of the West End Perfectos, is much incensed at the action of the Arion team, who had arranged a game with him for next Saturday, and then made one with the Westfield team. He says they knew they would be defeated, so backed out.

The diamond on the Washington avenue grounds where the Leal's School team plays, has been stripped of turf and is now a "skin" diamond. The change has left the field in excellent condition. It is level and smooth on the diamond and the outfield is in good shape.

Warren McLoughlin, the well-known local pitcher, quite distinguished himself Sunday afternoon when he occupied the box for the Senecas of New York in their match with the West New York A. C. At the seventh inning the score stood 4 to 3 in favor of the West New Yorks. With two men out, McLoughlin made a two-base hit that brought in two runs. On the last inning, the Senecas were in the lead 8 to 4, but the other team had filled the bases with only one man out. "Mac" struck out two men in succession, however, and saved the day.

William A. Fisher, manager and shortstop of the Plainfield High School nine last season, is winning new honors this season on the Rutgers College team, where he is playing shortstop. Of him, The Targum, the college publication, says: "Fisher, '03, at shortstop won the admiration of the coaches both at Princeton and New York. His fielding record so far, sixteen accepted chances out of a total of seventeen, is certainly hard to beat." Of the men who have taken part in all four games that Rutgers has played this season Fisher has the highest fielding average and stands third in batting. For a freshman the record is a remarkable one.

The Leal's School nine has already demonstrated that it is the strongest of any of the local baseball teams that are playing regularly this season. The Plainfield High School, the North Plainfield High School and the Arion A. C. have all fallen before the victors and by such a large margin as to leave no doubt as to the result. Dupee makes a fine showing as pitcher and Tilney has caught him well. Crowe, the shortstop, and Brown, the first baseman, have both been unable to play several times. The team has been unusually fortunate in having good material among its substitutes who could fill the vacant places satisfactorily. The season is now well under way and if the Leal's School team continues to play its present game there will be few if any defeats recorded against it this season.

GOLF

While both of the local golf links are now open for play, there will be no special activity at either one for several weeks. Except those players who have had the advantage of practice in the south and at Lakewood, most of the local golfers are way off their usual form and will have to spend several months in practice to get back again. A few weeks will be needed to take off the rough edge and so, after the opening events, there will be no competitions until May is partially over. General activity is not expected to start until Memorial Day. On that day there will be events of importance on both courses.

ROD AND GUN.

Shad are still running in Raritan Bay. The price has dropped on account of the large catches being made daily. On the streets of Matawan Saturday night shad could be purchased for 15 cents each.

The shad fishing season in Raritan Bay has been the best experienced in many years. The biggest catch in twelve years was made Monday by Augustus Lehman, who secured 1,135 shad in two hauls. The record catch, which was made twelve years ago, a famous year for shad, was made by Lehman, who that year secured 4 000 shad in a single day. The season that year was shorter, however, and this year will see a longer and more uniform season.

Aguinaldo Reported to Be Skulking In Luzon.

YOKOHAMA, via Victoria, B. C., April 26.—Fifty Japanese warships were engaged in naval maneuvers off Kure, which were to close April 20 with a review by the emperor.

The river Horonai rose ten feet on the 5th inst, owing to rapid thawing. Twenty-seven persons were drowned or injured by the flood.

French, German, English and American warships are crowding into Taku. It may be necessary to land marines to quell riots in Shangtung.

Manila papers state that Aguinaldo is reported skulking among the Igorotti villages of Luzon.

The island of Kozu, which forms one of the seven islands of Izu, is in great tribulation. Last year 340 houses were destroyed by fire out of 417 in which the population of 1,928 persons were living. The emperor gave a sum of 500 yen for the relief of sufferers, and the Tokyo municipality contributed 1,500 yen, but these sums were soon expended, and as the people lost many of their boats and nearly all their farming gear their distress is sharp. They have sent a deputation to Tokyo to seek assistance.

Lacoste May Succeed Rivera.

HAVANA, April 26.—Governor General Wood yesterday offered the post of secretary of agriculture, industry and commerce to Senor Perfecto Lacoste. In his first reply Senor Lacoste said that he was unable to accept and had even determined to withdraw his name as a candidate for the mayoralty, assigning as his reasons the necessity of devoting his personal attention to his plantations and the time occupied in the discharge of his duties as president of the Planters' association. To this General Wood answered that he desired to secure for the position a man of influence, having personal interests in connection with agriculture, rather than one whose sole qualification was his Cuban nationality. Thereupon Senor Lacoste asked to be given until today before making his final decision.

Chance For American Capital.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—Consul Donaldson at Managua informs the state department that the Nicaraguan government is very anxious to extend its railroad system to the Atlantic by way of Rama and Bluefields. An effort is being made for the immediate construction of a line to connect Rama with the railroad now operating between Managua and Granada, or with Lake Nicaragua at San Ubaldo. A certain percentage of the import duty collected at Bluefields will be given as a guarantee for this work. The estimted cost is about $2,000,000. Bids have not yet been advertised for.

Olympia to Be Docked.

BOSTON, April 26.—Weather permitting, Admiral Dewey's flagship, the Olympia, will be floated into the drydock at the navy yard next Saturday morning. She will be the largest vessel ever placed in the drydock since it was built, and the dock could not accommodate any larger ship than the Olympia. The Olympia will be in drydock for about a month. During that time every part of the ship outside below the water line will be examined, and repairs will be made wherever necessary. The total repairs on the vessel will require probably more than a year for completion.

Public Officers In Trouble.

OSWEGO, N. Y., April 26.—President M. McGowan and Peter Griffin of the local department of education have been arrested on an indictment by the grand jury, charged with willfully refusing to perform their duty as public officers. This move comes as a climax to a politico-religious fight over school affairs of the city. The indictment was secured by the Republicans, who accuse the Democratic officials with refusing to confirm appointments of teachers by superintendents of schools. The commissioners were admitted to bail.

The Fatal Live Wire.

COLUMBUS, Ga., April 26.—Claude Dorsey of Atlanta, 21 years old, while up a telephone pole slipped and came in contact with a live wire. At the same time his head struck in a network of telephone wires, a circuit was established, and 1,040 volts went through his body, killing him instantly.

The war office has issued the following from Lord Roberts, dated Bloemfontein, April 25, 3:25 p. m.:

"The enemy retired from in front of Wepener last night and this morning fled northeastward along the Ladybrand road. Their number was between 4,000 and 5,000."

A special dispatch from Pretoria, dated Tuesday, says that the Boers have reoccupied Boshof, the British retiring.

It is now apparent that the chances of Lord Roberts catching the retreating Boers in a net are very slender. The Boers have everywhere retired at the first pressure of the British advance, and the hope that General Rundle would be able to induce them to remain at Dewetsdorp until they had been forced to fight or to surrender has been disappointing.

No attempt was made to pursue the commandoes retiring from Wepener. Everything now depends upon the progress of General French's cavalry brigades, but they are entering a very difficult, hilly and practically unknown country.

The cavalry have already had a long march over heavy and sandy roads, and nothing is known regarding the condition of the horses. In any case it is now a race between the federals and the forces of General French and General Hamilton.

The Times has the following from a special correspondent, dated Mafeking, Basutoland, April 25:

"I rode from Jammersburg here, skirting Wepener, and I met General Brabant's advance guard four miles south of Wepener. They report three successful fights Saturday, Sunday and Tuesday, with 22 casualties.

"The siege was raised, and 5,000 of the enemy retired along the Ladybrand road within our sight and unpursued. Colonel Dalgety's casualties are 33 killed and 182 wounded."

A special from Warrenton, dated April 25, says:

"The Boers, having become emboldened, shelled the village and the British trenches, and it became necessary to give them a lesson and to ascertain their strength.

"Monday night Colonel Paget placed several guns on the river bank under cover of the darkness within 1,000 yards of the Boer trenches across the river. The horses and carriages were withdrawn beyond range, and at daybreak the British opened a heavy bombardment with shrapnel and lyddite.

"The Boers were taken completely by surprise, but they replied with five guns, including a 40 pounder, and a heavy rifle fire was opened at the same time. The duel continued many hours, the Boers finally evacuating the position with, it is believed, considerable loss.

"There were no casualties on the British side. During the evening the guns were safely withdrawn. The sniping today showed that the Boer laager had been removed far back to the eastward."

A dispatch from Bloemfontein, dated April 25, says:

"Richter's farm, near Leeuw kop, from which while flying a white flag the Canadians were fired upon, has been burned as a punishment. Richter is a prisoner."

The Daily Mail has the following from Lourenco Marques, dated Wednesday, April 25:

"A daring attempt to destroy the bridge at Komati Poort Sunday night was frustrated by Kaffirs, who gave the alarm and frightened off the Boers.

"The Boers have lined all the hills in the vicinity with riflemen, fearing an attack by British troops advancing by some mysterious route.

"The Irish-American brigade, chiefly so called 'ambulance men,' left Pretoria Saturday."

A dispatch to The Daily Mail from Kimberley, dated Wednesday, says:

"Yesterday the Boers formed a new laager near Windsorton. The force there consists of Prieska, Campbell and Griqualand rebels, about 500 strong."

Brabant Relieved Dalgety.

CAPE TOWN, April 26.—The relief of Colonel Dalgety was accomplished by General Brabant.

Big Blaze In Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, April 26.—Fire started in the four story building of J. W. McCausland, 227 Church street, manufacturer of paper cobs and spools, at 10:30 o'clock last night. It swept through the upper floor and attacked and completely gutted the ten story building used by John & James Dobson, the carpet manufacturers, for the storage of wool and carpets on Filbert street. This building was formerly occupied by the Newhall sugar refinery, and the floors being saturated with sugar, burned rapidly. The fire from this building spread across Filbert street to Dobson's nine story annex, which was burned. The loss is upward of $200,000.

Governor Tanner Very Ill.

SPRINGFIELD, Ills., April 26.—Governor Tanner is extremely sick. For several days no solid food has passed his lips. For the present he declines to submit to the operation recommended by Dr. Senn. The governor wants to go to the Republican state convention at Peoria a week from next Thursday.

OUR CLAIM AGAINST TURKEY.

Former Minister Terrell Says Facts Have Not Been Determined.

AUSTIN, April 26.—When asked for an expression as to the merits of the United States claim against Turkey for indemnity for the burning of missionary property during the Armenian troubles, ex Minister A. W. Terrell, now residing in this city, said:

"I entirely agree with General Lew Wallace in his estimate of the sultan of Turkey. There is much ignorance about the nature of our claim against Turkey. We claim indemnity for the burning of missionary property at Harpoot and Maras, places then dominated by Kurds and a fanatical populace and remote at the time from consular protection. Missionaries claim that the burning was done with the aid or connivance of Turkish soldiers. The porte has insisted that it was done by Kurds and by an ungovernable mob. Our claim is sustained by circumstances resting on missionary evidence, the denial of the Turks is sustained by official reports of Turkish officers and pashas, and the issue of fact has not been settled by any impartial tribunal. The burning was done during the Armenian massacres, and the Kurds have been the enemies of the Armenians from the time of Xenophon.

"Turkey, by the treaty of Berlin, is under a quasi protectorate of the six great European powers. The claims of Russia and several other powers for indemnity on account of spoliations are far greater than ours, and it would seem that while those powers refrain from enforcing their claims the United States ought not to act hastily.

"A healthy public sentiment should protect the president in his foreign diplomacy against the spirit of religious intolerance. I pressed our claim for indemnity to the utmost limit of friendly diplomacy while in Turkey. If the sultan has ever promised to pay it, he will keep his word, and if he ever made the promise, he will not deny it. I regard him as an honest man. I know him well and believe he was the most intellectual man I met while in Europe."

An Ohioan's Dire Prediction.

WICHITA, Kan., April 26.—Allen O. Myers of Ohio, responding to a toast at the banquet of the Sunflower league, following William J. Bryan, created a mild sensation. Turning toward Mr. Bryan, the speaker exclaimed: "You may be elected, sir, by 1,000,000 majority, but they will not permit you to take the presidential chair. Look at the fate of William Goebel. Men whose pastime is bribery find in murder an amusement. Ohio was bought. In 1896 the country was bought. It will be bought again in 1900, and Mark Hanna's reward for it is a seat in the United States senate. The masses of the country will continue to permit the encroachments of the classes," concluded Mr. Myers, "until finally too late for a restoration of rights by the ballot; then the sword and gun, violence, revolution—a new order of things."

Vermont Railroad Sold.

BENNINGTON, Vt., April 26.—The portion of the old Lebanon Springs railroad in Vermont, six miles in length, was sold at auction here yesterday for $21,000, the purchaser being the Chatham and Lebanon Valley Railroad company. The Lebanon Springs road extended from Bennington to Chatham, N. Y., a distance of 60 miles. The part in New York state was sold two years ago to a new company organized under the name of the Chatham and Lebanon Valley railroad. The section in Vermont was not included in the sale and has not been operated for several years. The strip just purchased will be put in order so cars can run in one month over the entire line of 60 miles.

A Cuban Company Organized.

TRENTON, April 26.—The Cuba company has been incorporated here with an authorized capital stock of $8,000,000, of which $2,500,000 is already subscribed for. The stock is divided into shares of $50,000 each. The incorporators are W. C. Van Horne, Levi P. Morton, W. C. Whitney and Thomas Ryan, holding eight shares each; C. G. Hanen, six shares; E. A. Harriman and James J. Hill, four shares each; William L. Bull, three shares, and H. L. Terry, one share. The company is to operate railroads and electric railways in Cuba.

Mine Owners' Fatal Fall.

LEAD CITY, S. D., April 26.—David C. Buncon, president of the Union mining syndicate and one of the most prominent mine owners and promoters in the west, was killed while inspecting a mine in company with a number of New York stockholders. He stepped backward into an old shaft and fell 500 feet. He formed a syndicate in Wall street during the winter with J. Pierpont Morgan, Mrs. Hearst and others.

Massacre by Boxers Denied.

PEKING, April 26.—The report from Tientsin, dated April 23, that a number of native Christians had been massacred by members of the Chinese secret society known as the Boxers is quite erroneous. Some Boxers attacked a village occupied by a number of Catholics, but were driven off. One villager was wounded. The Chinese report that 70 Boxers were killed or wounded, which is doubtless an exaggeration.

To Discuss Race Problem.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., April 26.—Visitors from every quarter will be welcomed to the sessions of the approaching conference to be held here May 8, 9 and 10 to discuss the race problems of the south. After addresses of welcome by the mayor of Montgomery and the governor of Alabama Hon. Hilary A. Herbert will make the opening address on "The Problems That Present Themselves."

Sousa's Band Sails.

NEW YORK, April 26.—John Philip Sousa and his band sailed on the American line steamship St. Paul. The band will play first at the American pavilion at the Paris exposition, when it is dedicated on May 5. A tour of Germany will follow, after which the band will go back to Paris in time to play at the unveiling of the Lafayette statue on July 4.

Illinois Coal Miners Strike.

LA SALLE, Ills., April 26.—The 1,800 coal miners employed by the Spring Valley Coal company have struck owing to the refusal of the officials to agree to hold back from every union miner's pay his dues and assessments in the union.

Revolutionists Hold Cartagena.

CARACAS, Venezuela, April 26.—A German steamer which has arrived at La Guayra reports that the Colombian revolutionists are masters of Cartagena, the most important Colombian port.

REPUBLICANS MEET.

Three Important State Conventions Held Yesterday.

PENNSYLVANIANS INDORSE QUAY.

He Heads the State Delegation—Hanna Refuses to Lead Delegates, but His Slate Goes Through—Harmonious in Wisconsin.

HARRISBURG, April 26.—The Republican state convention which was held in this city yesterday cordially indorsed the administration of President William McKinley and instructed the delegates to the national convention at Philadelphia to support his candidacy for renomination. The convention also declared in favor of the election of United States senators in the same manner that state officers are elected, indorsed Senator Penrose, the administration of Governor Stone and other state officials and pledged "its hearty and cordial support of Colonel M. S. Quay for re-election to the United States senate."

The convention also nominated Senator E. B. Hardenbergh of Wayne county for auditor general and Galusha A. Grow of Susquehanna county and Robert H. Poerderer of Philadelphia for congressmen at large. The indorsement of Colonel Quay was opposed by Senator William Flynn of Pittsburg, the leader of the anti-Quay Republicans in the last legislature. Mr. Flynn explained that he was in sympathy with the platform in everything except this plank and moved that it be stricken out. His motion was defeated and the platform was adopted as reported from committee.

The following delegates at large to the national convention were unanimously elected: Colonel Quay, J. B. Steel, ex-Senator Charles A. Porter and James Elverson.

BUCKEYE REPUBLICANS.

State Convention at Columbus Carries Out Hanna's Wishes.

COLUMBUS, O., April 26.—The Republican state convention here yesterday was of national importance. The delegates and alternates at large are close personal as well as political friends of the president, and the platform is just as it came from Washington, with the addition of the antitrust resolution and the omission of the Porto Rican.

The so called "Hanna slate" on delegates and alternates at large and the state ticket went through without any breaks. There was, however, opposition to Food Commissioner Blackburn because he was running for a third term and for other local reasons and to General Grosvenor for delegate from the friends of ex-Governor Bushnell. The efforts of the Bushnell men to substitute some one in place of Grosvenor made an unusually interesting scene. Senator Hanna was finally called to the front of the platform. While the senator's speech was on local state affairs, especially on factional and personal preferences, it was delivered with more force and feeling than his address of Tuesday. In declining to be a delegate he delivered a philippic against what he termed "expediencies."

The resolution making Foraker, Nash, Grosvenor and Dick the delegates at large was offered by ex-Senator Massie of Grosvenor's congressional district, and the Bushnell men charged that it was the Grosvenor plan to avoid balloting. As soon as this resolution was adopted General Grosvenor offered a resolution just like it by which the four alternates at large were also selected in a bunch without any of the forms of presenting names or balloting.

The convention was unusually harmonious with the exception of the personal fights made on Grosvenor and Blackburn, both of whom won.

The state ticket nominated is as follows: Secretary of state, Lewis C. Laylin; supreme court judge, John A. Shauck; board of public works, Charles A. Goddard; state school commissioner, L. D. Bonebrake; dairy and food commissioner, J. E. Blackburn.

Wisconsin Republican Convention.

MILWAUKEE, April 26.—The Republican state convention yesterday elected the following delegates at large to the Republican national convention at Philadelphia. Joseph B. Treat of Monroe, H. August Leudtke of Milwaukee, Isaac Stephenson of Marinette and James H. Stout of Menominee. The alternates are C. H. Baxter of Lancaster, A. J. Frame of Waukesha, John D. Erdell of Madison and N. C. Foster of Eau Claire. In addition to the above the convention ratified the selection of delegates to the national convention and presidential electors as named by the different congressional districts. The convention was characterized by harmony throughout. Resolutions indorsing both the national and state administrations were unanimously adopted.

Choate at Lord Mayor's Banquet.

LONDON, April 26.—The diplomatic representatives of the United States, Germany, China, Greece, Servia and the Netherlands were present last evening at the annual Easter banquet of the lord mayor of London. The Duke of Cambridge and the Australian federation delegates were also of the company. The chief feature of the function was the warm reception given Mr. Joseph H. Choate, who responded to the toast, "The Embassadors." He was greeted with vociferous applause, and his speech, although chiefly in a humorous vein, was punctuated with a few serious remarks that turned the tide of laughter into hearty cheering.

Carter Starts For Prison.

NEW YORK, April 26.—Oberlin M. Carter, formerly a captain in the United States army and now a convict under sentence, was started last evening for the United States penitentiary, Fort Leavenworth, Kan., on the southwestern express over the Pennsylvania railroad, which leaves New York at 7:53 o'clock and Jersey City at 8:14. He was in the custody of First Lieutenant Thomas R. Harker of Company I, Fifteenth infantry, and a detail of a corporal and three men.

Russia Would Oppose Payment.

LONDON, April 26.—The Constantinople correspondent of The Daily Telegraph says: "The porte considers that its offer to rebuild the American structures burned at Kharput will close the question. It bases this belief on news that Russia has intimated an intention to oppose any attempt on the part of the United States to enforce payment."

The bitter fight and unseemly struggle that is now taking place on the part of a number of people claiming varying degrees of relationship to the late Henry Mellick in order that they may control and profit liberally in the division of the wealth that he accumulated by a life of parsimony, self-denial and hard labor, was to be expected. Similar contests have been witnessed by the thousands in this country. They ought to afford a healthy lesson to the thousands who are living the same kind of a life that Mellick eked out, but yet in their mad desire for mammon the misers and money-mad go on oblivious to the fact that they are enjoying none of the good things of this world and are only working toward an end of their earthly career when their belongings are to be swallowed up in a disgraceful scramble that taxes the legal machinery of the State to adjust. In the particular case of Mellick, the old man had a holy horror of lawyers and rather than permit them to hedge his estate about with legal safe guards he died intestate. The result is already seen in the complicated mess into which his affairs have been pitched by the haste of the alleged heirs to secure a slice of the fortune he left.

The New Jersey Representatives have been advised by the Civil Service Commissioners that young men are wanted as cadets in the revenue cutter service, and they are requested to forward the names of any young men who would like to take the required examination, which will be held on May 17th, 18th and 19th. The requirements are similar to those for the Naval Academy, but the position is considered one of the best in the service.

The Kansas City Star speaks of heroes and the Presidency, gives a long list of military men who aspired to the White House chair and failed, and says: "The navy may be said to have never had a President. Admiral Dewey is the first son of the salt sea wave who has cast an eye on the position. He will do well to consider the history of the army."

No matter how well an advertisement may be dressed to make it attractive to the eye, it will fail of its logical purpose if it be without a strong body of argument to engage the reason, says the Philadelphia Record. That advertisement is best which pleases the eye and at the same time appeals to the understanding of the reader.

James E. Martine will be one of the principal speakers at the dinner of the Bryan enthusiasts in Camden this evening, which promises to be a big political event for South Jersey. Mr. Martine will speak on the "The Claims of Democracy."

As a politician of many years experience Matthew Stanley Quay has always realized the need and value of every vote, and we presume he is in a position now where he appreciates more that ever the failure to get the pivotal one.

Senator Pitney, having been left a legacy of something like $150,000 by the late George Richards, will now be able to devote plenty of time in trying to satisfy his ambition to become Governor of New Jersey.

A Paterson man paid $100 for a pair of slippers knitted by Mrs. McKinley. Such being the case, we wonder how much would be given by some men to be in President McKinley's boots.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND.

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

J. S. McCutchen, of Plainfield, a member of the State Board of Education, seems to have completely convinced the Newark authorities that the new State school law is all right. The features which Senator McDermott has objected to as unconstitutional are shown to have been in the old laws for many years, and to have incited no opposition either in law or in practice.—Elizabeth Journal.

PASSING COMMENT

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

The circulation of the Ladies' Home Journal has reached 900,000, and passed it by 5,000—905,000 being the aggregate circulation of the April issue. This is an increase of over 36,000 copies per month for the last four months—since January 1st of the present year—over the corresponding period in 1899. Even these figures do not tell the whole story of the growth of the Journal's popularity. But they stand for the extreme limit of the capacity of the presses upon which the magazine is printed, but which for the last year or more—even with the constant increase in their number, and running day and night—have been unable to keep the supply apace with the increasing demand. Every issue within that period has been exhausted in less than a fortnight after the date of publication, and the mechanical restrictions have made it impossible to meet subsequent calls for the magazine — several thousand each month.

* * * * * *

The Newark News tells the following incident of the invasion of Newark yesterday by the free excursionists: "The crowded condition of the big bazars made an excellent field for pickpockets, and precautionary measures were taken, private detectives mingling in the throngs. The local police, too, kept a closer lookout for a chance pocket-picking case. There were a few scares notwithstanding these steps. A matronly-looking person, who ordered her purchases, expressed to Scotch Plains, startled a floorwalker of a Market street store by her announcement that she had been robbed of money, return ticket, handkerchief and shopping list. The inquiries were made at the counter where the supposed victim had last stopped. The missing pocketbook had not been seen there. Neither had it in other parts of the store, where search was made. When hope of finding it had been abandoned a clerk ran up with a pocketbook. Handing it to its owner she explained apologetically: 'I must have put a roll of dress goods over it where you left it on the counter.'"

DOES COFFER AGREE WITH YOU?

If not, drink Grain-O—made from pure grains. A lady writes: "The first time I made Grain-O I did not like it but after using it for one week nothing would induce me to go back to coffee." It nourishes and feeds the system. The children can drink it freely with great benefit. It is the strengthening substance of pure grains. Get a package today from your grocer, follow the directions in making it and you will have a delicious and healthful table beverage for old and young. 15c. and 25c.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, April 26—The free excursion to Newark yesterday was well patronized by the residents of the borough and vicinity. Altogether Ticket Agent Romayne disposed of 124 tickets.

Auctioneer Day will dispose of the household effects of Abram Bennett at the residence of George Larkins, on the New Market road, next Monday.

Miss Nettie Baldwin is now improving from the trouble with her ear. It was feared at first that she would have to be taken to Muhlenberg Hospital.

John F. Tinsman, of Port Murray, will soon remove to Dunellen and take the place formerly occupied by J. F. Kinney.

Work is progressing on the new residence of Theodore Kuldoshes. S. C. Staples is doing the carpentering.

A number of Dunellen ladies attended the opening of the "Rummage Sale" in Plainfield yesterday.

Street Commissioner Staats' men gave North avenue a general cleaning yesterday.

Rev. Frank Fletcher attended the Ecumenical conference in New York yesterday.

Rev A. K. Doolittle and family are installed in the Methodist parsonage.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, April 26.—Mr. and Mrs. William S. Emery entertained a number of their friends at a "Calico Masquerade" in the large pavilion in the rear of the hotel last evening, and a very enjoyable event it proved to be. The pavilion was very prettily trimmed with bunting and flags, forming a rather odd contrast to some of the unique costumes worn by the ladies. Dancing was the feature of the evening. At midnight a most tempting and sumptuous repast was provided by the ladies. Before attending to the wants of the inner man, those who were in costume unmasked, and many pleasant surprises were sprung upon the male members of the company who had been kept guessing as to the identity of their partners all the evening. After supper dancing was resumed, and it was a rather late hour before the merry guests began to leave for their homes. The music, which was enjoyed so much by all, was furnished by Prof. O'Reilly, of Plainfield. Guests were present from Somerville, Bound Brook, Plainfield, Elizabeth, Bayonne and the village.

Arbor Day will be observed at the Public School tomorrow in an appropriate manner. The teachers have arraged a very interesting programme, consisting of recitations, addresses, essays, planting of two trees and arranging flower beds on the lawn in front of the building. The exercises will begin at 9 o'clock, and it is hoped that the parents and friends of the school will encourage the efforts of teachers and scholars by a large attendance.

Forest avenue is being improved by a coating of crushed stone and gravel and when finished will be a decided improvement. The work is being done under the direction of Town Committeeman Bruchman.

Miss Emma Adams, of Middletown, N. Y., a former member of the corps of teachers in the Public School, is visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas S. Whitenack.

No meeting of the Sacred Literature Society of the Baptist church was held last evening. The meetings will be discontinued for a short time.

Richard Hart, who has been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Archbold, has returned to his home in New York.

Judge Clark is limping quite badly as the result of a poor aim with the axe while cutting wood several days ago.

Mrs. E. L. Hand and Mrs. George Schick have returned from a pleasant visit with Newark friends.

Nearly 25 from the village attended the Newark merchants' free excursion yesterday.

WATCHUNG.

SOMERVILLE.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Somerville, April 26.—The regular quarterly members' meeting of the Y. M. C. A. will be held next Monday night. State Secretary Donald McCall will be present. A game of basket ball between Somerville and Plainfield will be played.

A Bundy time-clock has been placed in the Somerville postoffice, for the purpose of keeping the time of the carriers and clerks. An electric cancelling machine will also be added to the equipment of the Somerville office.

Batallion Adjutant John E. Wehrly, Captain Nelson Y. Dungan and Lieut. McAleary went to Newark last night to attend a drill of the Second Regiment.

Miss Young and Mrs. Jennie Howell, have returned to their residence on Mountain avenue from New York, where they spent the winter.

Miss Anna Hagaman, of Neshanic Station, is at Muhlenberg Hospital, Plainfield, having a tumor removed from the tongue.

Miss Anna Reed, sister of Senator Charles Reed, has returned from Havana, Cuba, where she has been all winter.

Mrs. G. B. VanNortwick has been visiting her sister, Mrs. John H. Kenney, of Germantown, Pa.

The Utopia Literary Club will have a public debate at Somerset Hall Thursday night, May 4th.

Arbor Day exercises will be held at the Public School Friday morning, commencing at 9 o'clock.

Mrs. Jennie Howell attended a euchre party at the Waldorf-Astoria Wednesday night.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

South Plainfield, April 26.—A very enjoyable party was given by Mr. and Mrs. Fred La Tourette last evening. About fifty guests were in attendance. Music and dancing were the features of the evening.

One of McDonough's new houses is almost inclosed. Mr. Thompson, the carpenter, is rushing the work.

Mrs. Harry Weaver is improving after her severe illness.

Most of the fall grain in this vicinity is looking well.

Dan Laing is quite ill with measles.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

Tommy Shearer made his first appearance with his repertoire company at Music Hall last evening in the three act comedy, "The Girl From Porto Rico." The play had the advantage of being really funny and Mr. Shearer and his company presented it in a clever manner. Miss Isabelle Fletcher was particularly good in the role of "Dina Mite." The specialties were new and pleasing. This evening the thrilling drama "The Son of Monte Christo" will be presented. "Cyrano de Bergerac" is the attraction announced for tomorrow night. It has been produced in other cities by Mr. Shearer and his company and highly commended.

* * * * * *

But two weeks, beyond the present, remain for that most delightful rustic idyl, "Way Down East," which concludes the record-breaking run at the Academy of Music, New York, Saturday night, May 12th, when it will have been given altogether, 427 times in New York city. It has drawn enormous audiences since early last autumn and is still testing the capacity of the vast playhouse, where it will be revived for some weeks next season. No rural play of recent years has equaled this forceful drama for deftness of construction, charm of portrayal, adroit blending of tender pathos and quaint humor, and for the wonderful realism with which it portrays the picturesqueness of New England farm life. The exquisite acting of Phœbe Davies is in itself a delight, and there is no flaw in the cast. "Way Down East" is to be transferred to McVicker's Theatre, Chicago, in August, for an extended run.

Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly for May, 1900.

Frank Leslie's Popular Monthly for May is a bright and dainty springtide number, full of timeliness and variety. "A Klondiker's Dairy," from Seattle to Dawson City, pictures step by step the hard road travelled by the gold-seeker in Alaska. Joaquin Miller writes upon the thoughtful and poetic side of life in a Klondike cabin. Ramon Reyes Lala, writes about the fierce Moros. In the same magazine Captain W. P. Moffett pays an appreciative tribute to Dr. Jose Rizal, the martyred Filipino poet, novelist and patriot. "English Royalty and the Fashions," by Mrs. E. C. Clarke, gives an intimate and authorized account of what is worn by Queen Victoria, the Princess of Wales and other royal ladies.

TRAGEDY IN LICENSE CASE.

Fight Against the Middle Brook Hotel Growing Out of a Suicide.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Somerville, April 26—A large number of residents of Bound Brook appeared in the Somerset court yesterday to oppose the granting of a license to Mrs. Caldwell, of Middle Brook Hotel. The citizens were represented by Senator Charles A. Reed and Joel M. Coddington, while Mrs. Caldwell's interests were in the hands of former County Prosecutor Dungan.

About twenty witnesses were produced, who testified regarding the character of the Middle Brook Hotel, and a former servant of the hotel gave sensational testimony relating to the actions of Mrs. Caldwell's daughter, who was formerly Mrs. Herman Vogel. The case excited unusual interest owing to the sensational career of the applicant and her daughter. The hotel was formerly under the management of Herman Vogel, who shot Mrs. Caldwell and attempted to kill his wife in New Brunswick, after which he committed suicide.

Judge Schenck decided to refuse the application for the license.

Union County Court of Common Pleas

Notice of hearing objections to assessments for street improvements in the City of Plainfield.

Andrew J. Gavett, Robert H. Cook and Arthur T. Gallup, the Commissioners appointed by the Union County Court of Common Pleas by order entered on the 24th day of January, 1900, to estimate and assess benefits conferred by the permanent street improvements in the City of Plainfield, under the ordinances of said City specified in said order, said improvements being the macadamizing of portions of East Sixth Street, Franklin Place, East Ninth Street, West Fourth Street and West Third Street in said City, under and by virtue of the provisions of the Act of the Legislature entitled "An Act to Authorize the Improvements of Streets and Highways in Cities of this State, and to Provide for the Payment of the Expense of the Same," approved June 13, 1898, and the amendments and supplements thereto, having made and filed in the office of the Clerk of said Court, a report in writing of their estimates and assessments, accompanied by a survey and map prepared by the City Surveyor under their direction, showing lot or parcels of land and real estate peculiarly benefitted by such improvements, respectively, the cost of the whole work under said several ordinances, the portion assessed upon the City at large, and the names, so far as ascertained of the owners of the said lots or parcels of land and real estate and the amount of the assessment to each owner for each of said lots or parcels of land and real estate for the said benefits, and the excess thereof to be paid by the City at large, and raised by general tax, and the other matters required by said Acts of the Legislature, as by reference to said report and maps will more fully and at large appear:

Notice is hereby given that the said Union County Court of Common Pleas has fixed Saturday, the twelfth day of May, 1900, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, or as soon thereafter as the Court can attend to the same, at the Court House in the City of Elizabeth, as the time and place for hearing any objections that may be made to such assessments, when and where all parties interested may be heard, and has directed the publication of this notice.

Dated April 25, 1900

Berlin. Als Mittelpunkt von Berlin galt in früheren Jahren der speiende Löwe auf dem Dönhoffsplatz. Jetzt ist zum amtlichen Mittelpunkt von Berlin die Flaggenstange auf dem Rathhausthurm auserkoren. Es hängt dies mit der Neuvermessung Berlins, welche der Magistrat durch das städtische Vermessungsamt bewirkte, genau zusammen. —Ein Aufruf mit zahlreichen Unterschriften, darunter die des Reichskanzlers Fürsten zu Hohenlohe, der Staatsminister Dr. v. Miquel und von Thielen, des Staatssekretärs von Podbielski und des Staatsministers Delbrück ladet die Berliner Bürgerschaft zu Beiträgen für eine in der Umgebung der Reichshauptstadt zu errichtende Bismarcksäule ein.—Der Verlagsbuchhändler Paul Parey, der sich um die Förderung der landwirthschaftlichen Literatur hervorragende Verdienste erworben hat und daraufhin von der Universität Halle zum Ehrendoktor ernannt worden war, ist nach längerem Leiden gestorben.

Mr. Wain's emphatic testimony for the Sovereign Rheumatism Cure:
Sovereign Remedy Co.:
Gentlemen,—Have suffered from Sciatica all last winter—could not work—tried doctors and medicines without avail. Last week I heard of the wonderful Sovereign Rheumatism Remedy, called and obtained a sample bottle, used it according to directions, and am thankful to say I am a cured man; all pains have ceased, and I cannot sufficiently thank you. I called on my doctor, and told him I was cured, and he said he "never expected to see me a well man again."
Shall be pleased to satisfy any sufferers from Rheumatism of the value of your wonderful Sovereign Rheumatism Remedy. Yours truly,

SUMMER FASHIONS.

Continuance of Forms Already Established in Favor.

The bolero and figaro remain in favor for both walking and evening gowns. They are seen in lace, velvet and cloth, sometimes long, sometimes short, draped or plain, open or closed. In spite of the long continuation of this style, it is still seen among the best and newest models and is varied by many ways of trimming and odd methods of cut.

Bodices cut down in round or other form over a guimpe are still worn. They open in front or at the side and are draped or tight. The trimming often consists of revers, although fringed fichus outlining the guimpe are much used for this goods.

Skirts with lengthwise plaits and tucks are extensively shown, but the fashion is one not likely to be long lived. The plaits are very fine and extend only as far down as the knee, the foot of the skirt being left free.

Princess gowns, opening over a tablier, are a feature of the new styles. The polonaise is cut in scallops or points or is finished with a flounce or silk fringe.

An illustration is given which shows a princess gown of biscuit cloth, very light and soft. It is laid in stitched plaits from the yoke to the knee, the foot of the long skirt being bordered with a band of guipure and left free. There is a pointed yoke of guipure, encircled by a guipure bertha. The plain, tight sleeves are flaring at the wrist and are edged with a fine band of guipure. This gown is made over a plain princess lining of silk, and the extra thickness of the folds on the wrong side of the cloth is cut away so as to insure a perfect fit and avoid clumsiness.

OUTER GARMENTS.

Newest Styles In Jackets and Wraps. The Loose Sack.

The loose sack seems to have established itself as a hard service wrap, and it is undoubtedly convenient, although ugly. It is becoming only to tall, stately women with a dignified carriage and no superfluous flesh. Upon a small woman it loses all attraction, and on a stout one it is absurd. The flaring collar and large revers give it what style it possesses, and for traveling it is decidedly useful.

To most figures the short jacket, tight at the back and tight or loose in front, is more becoming than anything else. This never goes out of fashion, although the basque, revers and sleeves vary a little from year to year. When it is trimmed at all this season, except by stitching or straps, the decoration usually consists of round cords, which form a design in relief.

The long redingote holds its own. It is adorned with stitching, which often simulates a round pelerine at the shoulders.

The latest form of the cape, for use with elegant toilets, is short at the back and sides and has long stole fronts reaching to the foot of the gown. These capes are covered with lace, beads and spangles and are very elaborate.

The cut depicts a new jacket of mastic cloth. It is half fitting at the back and straight in front, entirely bordered with six rows of stitching. The collar and revers are very large, and there is a deep pelerine with stitched straps at the shoulders. The lining is of light broche silk. The large straw hat has a twisted brim and is trimmed with plumes. A fringed scarf of velvet is arranged beneath the brim, over the hair, in the Spanish style. JUDIC CHOLLET.

MUSIC as a Feature of the Public Schools of Chicago

Music in the primary public schools of Chicago is not confined to the traditional 15 minutes of "opening exercises" which have long been a part of the daily programmes in many schools throughout the country. It is now recognized that there are few things capable of exerting a more powerful influence upon a child's life than good music. The itching to keep time to lively airs seems to have been "bred in the bone," so far as the majority of children are concerned. Teachers who, in the past, have frowned upon this subtle tendency have, according to the new order of things, erred greatly in this respect.

A New Use for Music in School.

In the great schools of Chicago the children of the second, third and fourth grades are taught to do their sums to the rhythmic strains of a march and to manipulate their drawing crayons to the fascinating measures of a two-step. By this method, it is said, they not only learn their lessons more easily, but absorb a foundation knowledge of music that is invaluable—a department in which the pupils of the past have been sadly deficient. More than this, it is urged, they are not nearly so apt to forget what they have learned as are the more unfortunate pupils who tackle a piece of work for the sake of getting through with a bad job, rather than for the pleasure of overcoming it with the aid of a few bewitching strains of music. However this may be, it is certain that the children take hold of the new system with an enthusiastic delight which alone augurs well for its success, for it is universally recognized among teachers that, if signs of substantial advancement in studies are expected, the interest of the pupil must be aroused at all hazards, and that any educational method which accomplishes this result will have done quite enough to recommend its permanent adoption.

Methods of Studying Music.

The new system in vogue in some of the public schools of Chicago, which gives to music a place of more prominence than has previously been accorded to it, is rapidly being adopted by the lower grade teachers throughout the city. The realization that music as a study should come in for more attention than it has in the past, is keen. Heretofore, however, the teacher has been at a loss to know how to introduce it without detriment to other studies. The fact that it may be taught easily, and at the same time become an important aid to the general education of the children of the lower grades, was fitly illustrated in a recent musical institute given by the children of the Alcott school.

The Blowing of Bubbles to Music.

As the pianist began the playing of a lively march the pupils from one of the rooms came tripping into the big hall by twos. When they were all in their seats the teacher stepped before them, held her finger up for a sign, and a humming sound, at first scarcely audible, but swelling into volume as it progressed, followed the motion of her hand up and down as the scale was run. Then the pupils broke into a song about soap bubbles and acorn gathering; but there was no "make believe" here. A certain number of pupils, keeping time to the music, actually blew bubbles while the others sang. Surely this was not school! It was a child's Paradise! Everything to which the pupils put their hands was done to the rhythmic strains of music. A particularly pleasing scene was enacted when the children were allowed to make valentines. Swiftly the scissors flew, and the notes from the piano seemed to be winged with the bright little clippings of paper which fluttered to the floor. Out of the medley there appeared first one and then another of the finished valentines—before the piece was ended there were a score or more of cupid's missives as dainty and beautiful as one could wish to see.

Teaching the Rhythm.

The theory upon which the new method of teaching music, as introduced into the Chicago schools, is based, is the fact that children will quickest learn the principles of music by learning the rhythm of it; that is, by doing those things which they are accustomed to doing, but keeping time meanwhile to the measures of a march or other lively piece of music. That the new scheme is a success so far as the teaching of music (to a mixed crowd of youngsters) is concerned, was demonstrated at the recent musical institute given by the children.

The "Star Spangled Banner" Recognized.

Many severe tests were made upon the pupils, but each was met with apparent ease. For example, notes were struck at random upon a xylophone, and the pupils were able to write immediately upon the blackboard the notes which had been sounded, designating them, however, by numbers instead of names. A table was brought in, upon which were arranged bells, whistles and rattles of various kinds, the sounds from many of them being very similar. The pupils were asked to close their eyes while the teacher operated several of the toys. This done, she would indicate a pupil by name, and the latter, stepping to the table, would repeat the operation, rarely failing to reproduce the series of sounds he had heard. The various tests, together with the pupils' apparent familiarity with the more simple terms of musical parlance, proved beyond question that the general tone of the public schools with regard to music is capable of very marked improvement.

Patriotism and Music.

The teaching of patriotism is by no means neglected by the advocates of the new system of musical training as adopted by the public schools of Chicago. In the musical institute given by the children of the Alcott school there was not a more stirring feature of the programme than the drawing of the stars and stripes with red, white and blue crayons. Under the spell of the inspiring notes of "The Star Spangled Banner" the children plied the chalk with a spirit of enthusiasm that was contagious and not lost upon the audience. Not a motion was made which was not in perfect time with the music. First there appeared a blue field; it became dotted with stars, and then, under the practiced strokes of a sturdy young patriot, the graceful folds of the waving stripes were delineated. A single stroke gave the flag a staff and the drawing was finished. In the same manner rows of tulips and other flowers were drawn with a rapidity and accuracy which would have done credit to pupils of more advanced years. A most noticeable and significant feature of the demonstration was the expression of serious earnestness which was depicted upon each chubby face, and it is safe to say that there was not a moment in the proceedings when the interest of the pupils lagged in the slightest degree.

Keeping Time to the Music.

The institute was given under the supervision of Miss M. Elizabeth Farson, district superintendent of schools in charge of District No. 1, who seems to be the patron saint of new and novel methods designed for the purpose of reaching the hearts of the children, to lessen the labor of teachers and at the same time to raise the standard of the school so far as its prestige in an intellectual way is concerned.

"Short Cuts" of the City.

It is often urged by parents that many of the new methods which are finding their way into the daily school life of the country at large and particularly of the great cities, are based upon sheer nonsense and a mistaken notion of the vital needs of the American youth of to-day. It is not to be denied that an educational system which has grown rapidly to such marvelous proportions as has the public school system in America is liable occasionally to suffer as the result of following some mistaken theory. This is the more true from the fact that past growth along the lines of the development of educational facilities has come as the result of repeated experiments, some of which very naturally have not succeeded. On the other hand, the general drift of new aids has been in the line of progress, and in most instances they have demonstrated their right to become incorporated in the daily work of the school.

Trudging Along the Dusty Road.

While it is undoubtedly true that there is as much virtue in good, hard, honest study to-day as there was in the days when a greater proportion of the pupils of America were compelled to trudge daily along the dusty highway to the "little red schoolhouse," it cannot be denied that new methods have tended to make the pupil alert to take advantage of many "short cuts" which were wholly unrevealed to the studious youngster of the district school. Therefore, because the work of the modern school seems less laborious than did the school work in the days when, from every schoolroom, there came a sound like the swarming of bees, it does not follow that the modern youngster will be lacking in the qualities which go to make a good citizen.

Ask Your Neighbor.

Hundreds of Plainfield Citizens Can Tell You All About It.

Home endorsement, the public expression of Plainfield people should be evidence beyond dispute for every Plainfield reader. Surely the experience of friends and neighbors, cheerfully given by them, will carry more weight than the utterances of strangers residing in faraway places. Read the following:

Mr. Richard Day of 134 East Front street says:—"I had a miserable pain across my back and a sort of lame feeling over my kidneys. Standing any length of time or walking any distance aggravated it greatly. I was never sick much in my life and consequently never took much medicine, so when I first began having these attacks I paid but little attention to them. They however grew worse instead of better so I had to look about for a remedy. I read quite frequently in our papers about cures brought about by the use of Doan's Kidney Pills so I got a box at L. W. Randolph's drug store and after taking them I felt greatly relieved. I have recommended them to my friends and those who have used them speak very highly in their praise."

MR. MCSWAT AS A COOK.

Notwithstanding Explicit Instructions He Makes a Dismal Failure of It.

The McSwat household was thrown into temporary confusion by the sudden adjournment, sine die, of the kitchen lady, a young woman of great force of character, who had learned of a place where the hours of work were shorter and the afternoons out longer and more frequent, and had gone to fill it.

"Now, Lobelia," said Mr. McSwat, as they were preparing to retire for the night, "if your headache isn't any better in the morning don't you hurry about getting up. I can manage the breakfast."

"You!" exclaimed Mrs. McSwat, with the contempt that every experienced housewife feels for the meddlesome masculine being who seeks to thrust himself into the affairs of the domestic cook-shop. "You! Why, Billiger, you don't know any more about cooking a breakfast than an old hen!"

"I'll show you," he retorted. "We have buckwheat cakes every morning, don't we? Well, you tell me how to manage them, and if I don't turn out as good an article of buckwheat cake as you ever put into your system I'll eat the griddle. What is the first thing you do?"

"Well, if you are bound to try your hand at it—but you've got to promise one thing. Will you do exactly what I tell you?"

"Of course I will. What do you take me for?"

"Then the first thing you do after you have got your fire all ready is to prepare the batter. It's in the stone jar on the kitchen table. There's always some left over after breakfast, and it leavens the batter for the next morning. Understand that?"

"Anybody can understand that. Go on."

"Well, I've fixed it for to-morrow morning. All you will have to do will be to thin it, put in a little soda, salt, and New Orleans molasses—"

"What is the molasses for?"

"To make the cakes brown nicely, stupid."

"Don't you call names, madam. What else?"

"Have your griddle on the fire. You'll find the greaser in the little saucedish by the batter jar. Don't use too much grease—"

"How do I thin the batter?"

"I hadn't forgotten that. You take a cup of warm water—not hot, remember—stir in a small teaspoonful of soda, about the same quantity of salt, pour it in the batter, stir it slowly a minute or two, add the molasses—that's in a fruit jar in the pantry—and then bake a trial cake. If it lacks anything you can tell what it is from the way it tastes. Can you remember all that?"

"Remember all that!" said Mr. McSwat, with crushing disdain. "Do you call that anything to remember?"

"There's one thing more. You'll need the cake turner. It is in the drawer of the kitchen table. Now do you think manage it?"

His only reply was a soft snore.

About 6:30 the next morning Mr. Billiger McSwat might have been seen in his great act of getting the breakfast.

He lighted the gas range, hunted up the griddle, put it over the fire, and approached the jar of batter.

Rolling up his sleeves he contemplated it in silence a moment, and then began business.

The first thing he did, after hunting up the necessary groceries in the pantry and greasing the griddle, was to fill a teacup with water from the boiler, which, providentially, was still warm, and stir in a heaping tablespoonful of soda.

"I think that's the quantity she prescribed," he said, cheerfully. "If it isn't enough I can put in more."

Then he added a tablespoonful of salt, a teaspoonful of the New Orleans molasses and poured the mixture into the batter jar.

He stirred the batter fiercely. It foamed up at once and ran out over the top of the jar.

"She mixed up too much of the blamed stuff," he muttered, stirring it still more vigorously.

By this time the kitchen was filling with smoke.

Concluding that the griddle was hot enough he hastily lifted the jar, carried it to the stove and poured a quantity of the batter out on the smoking griddle through the spout on the side of the jar.

There was a tremendous sizzle.

"You bet it's hot enough!" he exclaimed. "Now where's the blooming cake turner?"

He could not find it.

"Never mind," he said. "I've seen my mother use a caseknife."

When he had secured a caseknife it appeared to be high time to turn the cake. On the upper side it looked dry and yellowish. But the cake stuck. He sawed the knife under it with desperate haste, however, and finally got it over—in sections—a blackened, frazzled, discouraging semblance of a buckwheat cake.

"I don't believe it needs any cooking on that side," he said, scraping it off the griddle and slapping it on a plate.

"This," he continued, with a ferocious grin, "is the 'trial cake' she was talking about."

He tasted it.

"Ye gods!"

It was all he said.

And then Mr. McSwat took that jar of buckwheat batter, carried it out to the alley and emptied it into the garbage box.

Five minutes later he appeared at the foot of the stairway running up from the front hall.

"Lobelia," he yelled, "that batter of yours got spoiled last night! I'm going to the meat market for a steak!"—Chicago Tribune.

SUPPER WAS A SUCCESS

ANNUAL AFFAIR OF LADIES OF THE SEVENTH-DAY BAPTIST CHURCH.

Held in the Parlors Last Evening—Excellent Repast Served—Those Who Assisted at the Supper.

A delightful repast was provided last evening for those who attended the annual supper, given by the Ladies' Society for Christian Work of the Seventh-Day Baptist church, in the church parlors. As were its predecessors, so was this affair, a complete success.

The tables were arranged in the parlors, where yellow was the prevailing color of the decorations. A menu of good things at reasonable rates was offered. The attendance was good and a large number of suppers served. In addition to the supper there were several booths in the chapel where the guests gathered after supper for a social hour. A few piano solos and duets helped to make the time pass pleasantly.

The apron and cake table was under the charge of Mrs. Frank H. Smith. At the candy and popcorn booth were Mrs. J. E. Kimball, Miss Ernestine Smith and Miss Louise Clawson. The committee in charge of the refreshments consisted of Mrs. C. H. Randolph, chairman; Mrs. J. F. Hubbard, Mrs. L. T. Rogers, Mrs. F. A. Dunham, Mrs. J. G. Miller and Miss Lucy Dunham. The waitresses at the different tables were the Misses Nellie Miller, Bertha Mitchell, Kizzie Neagle, Ethel Titsworth, Bessie Randolph, Mertie Randolph, Matie Green and Mabel Rogers.

The results of the supper will be devoted to the tract and missionary work of the society.

FOWLER WILL BUILD LIBRARY.

Congressman's Gift to Elizabeth Will Cost About $100,000.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, April 26 — It was announced here yesterday that Congressman Fowler is going to supplement his gift of a $20,000 site for a public library and reading room, as was told in yesterday's Press, with a donation of the building also, which, it is said, will cost about $75,000 and the plans for which are already being designed.

The Congressman, it is said, will also present the library with $50,000 worth of books, which will make his entire contribution to the cause of education in Elizabeth the splendid sum of $100,000.

Rev. Mr. Nelson Able to be Out.

The many friends of Rev. Dr. W. J. Nelson, Summit avenue, will be pleased to know that he is once more able to be out. Dr. Nelson sustained a severe injury some time ago in which he had a fracture of the shoulder. The healing has been slow and tedious, but the doctor is feeling much better and is glad to get out again. Yesterday he was able to go to Newark.

At Randolph's.

The soda water department at Randolph's pharmacy is now ready for the summer trade. The sale of glaces and frapes has been resumed and a full stock of fruit and other syrups carried. The wonderful popularity of Randolph's soda promises to be even greater than ever this year.

Real Estate Transfer.

The following real estate transfer was recorded from North Plainfield last week: Selah Schoonmaker, sheriff, to Luthera L. Van Duyn, $1,500.

WEDDED IN CITY OF ELMS.

J. W. Leary, of This City, Was Married to Miss Katheryn V. Flynn at New Haven Yesterday.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Haven, April 26—Miss Katheryn V. Flynn, of this city, and J. W. Leary, superintendent of the Aluminum Plate and Press Company's Works at Plainfield, N. J., were quietly married yesterday morning at 11 o'clock in the Sacred Heart church, this city.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. M. McKeon, rector of that church, in the presence of the immediate relatives of the couple. Augustus Carroll, of New Haven, was best man and Miss Alice Flynn, sister of the bride, the bridemaid. The wedding was a quiet one on account of the death of the groom's father a few weeks ago. The couple have gone on a wedding tour to Boston and the Massachusetts coast. They will be at home at 302 Grant avenue, Plainfield, after May 21st.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Miss Marion Bowen, of Watchung avenue, is visiting out-of-town friends.

Miss Horner, of Philadelphia, is visiting her friend, Miss Shreve, of Grove street.

Former Sheriff Kirk has had a new telephone placed in his residence. His number is 181.

George B. Wean, of 425 Spooner avenue, is the proud father of a little boy, born yesterday.

Mrs. F. A. Weber, of Liberty street, has returned from Newark after spending a few days with friends.

Mrs. Stephen Dayton, of Bernardsville, spent yesterday with her brother, James H. Searing, of Orchard place.

George A. Audsley, who has resided on Grove street for a number of years, has removed with his family to Lowerre-on the-Hudson, where he will take up his residence.

Married by Rev. Mr. Hand.

Announcement is made of the marriage of Henry Staats and Mrs. Ella Carrigan, of the borough. The wedding took place Tuesday evening and Rev. B. W. Hand, of West Front street, performed the ceremony. Miss Flora M. Curtis and Charles Warnock stood up with the bride and groom. Mr. and Mrs. Staats will live on Watchung avenue.

Small Wreck at Asbury Park.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Asbury Park, April 26.—An axle to the driving wheels on one of the Jersey Central engines, broke near the North Asbury station, nearly causing a serious wreck. The locomotive was drawing the 8:15 fast train for New York. The passengers escaped with a severe shaking up.

A Bicycle Sociable.

The bicycle sociable of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Congregational church will be held Saturday afternoon. The party will leave the church at 2 o'clock instead of 2:30 o'clock as was first stated, and will go to Bonhamton after trailing arbutus.

Reception to New Pastor.

The congregation of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church will make the acquaintance of their new pastor, Rev. John McMurray, this evening, at a reception to be held in the Epworth house.

By a Special Train to Virginia.

Miss Daisy Shepard, of the "Gables," East Front street, has gone with a party of New York friends in a special train to Hampton, Va. While there, they will visit the Industrial Institute.

BLOW AT PNEUMATIC TUBES.

House Cuts Off Appropriation Because of Crooked Work.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—The house yesterday put its heel on the pneumatic mail tube service now in operation in New York, Boston and Philadelphia, and if its action stands the whole service will be crushed out. The postoffice committee had recommended an increase of the appropriation for this service from $225,000 to $725,000. The proposed increase was attacked by the appropriations committee under the leadership of Mr. Moody of Massachusetts with such vigor and success that in the end the house voted 87 to 50 to strike the entire appropriation from the bill. Mr. Moody created a sensation by the manner in which he assailed the methods of the pneumatic tube company and the direct charge that a former member of congress who was a member of the appropriations committee had been a holder of the stock and bonds of the company. He declined to disclose the gentleman's name. He added to the scandal by charging that a block of stock had been sent as a New Year's gift to a near relative of another member of congress, but to the credit of the member he said the dishonoring gift had been returned to the sender by the next mail. Although the tube service was highly commended by other members these revelations transformed the sentiment of the house, which has several times voted for the service, into a decisive majority against its continuation in any form.

Mr. Tawney of Minnesota moved his bill to reclassify railway mail clerks, but it went out on a point of order.

After a brief debate the senate agreed to the conference report on the Hawaiian civil government bill, the provisions relating to the right of franchise and imprisonment for debt having been amended to conform to the ideas of the senate. The agricultural appropriation bill was passed, carrying a little over $3,000,000.

Mrs. Lottridge Acquitted.

CHICAGO, April 26.—Mrs. Anna Louise Lottridge was freed from custody and exonerated from all blame for the death of Millionaire Rufus Wright by the coroner's jury. On the advice of her attorney Mrs. Lottridge refused to testify at the inquest on the ground that she might incriminate herself, but the testimony of all other witnesses who spoke with Mr. Wright before he died in the rooms at the Leland hotel, where he was shot April 14, agreed that Mr. Wright had repeatedly, when asked about the shooting, stated that it was accidental and that he had been clear in his mind when he said this. There was nothing in the testimony to indicate that the shooting was other than accidental and the jury found that Mr. Wright came to his death from a bullet accidentally fired from a revolver held in his own hand.

WAS MORRISSEY OF AGE WHEN HE DIED?

Important Question to Be Settled in Case Now Before Court of Chancery.

INVOLVES LARGE ESTATE.

MRS. HICKEY, OF MADISON, TRYING TO RECOVER BROTHER'S PROPERTY.

David Morrissey Left All His Property to His Son James, Who Willed the Estate to Latter's Mother—Question of Legality of Will.

Former Senator Marsh, of Elizabeth, has as yet failed to file his answer to the suit instituted by Bridget Hickey, of Madison, who is a sister of the late David Morrisey, one of the wealthiest hotel proprietors in Summit, at the time of his death, which occurred about eight years ago. His widow, Catherine Morrissey, has managed the business since his death. Suit was instituted in the Court of Chancery two months ago by Edward A. and William T. Day, counselors-at-law, of Newark, in behalf of their client, Bridget Hickey, of Madison, whose husband, Michael Hickey, was a well-known rose grower previous to his death, which occurred about two years ago.

At the time of Mr. Morrissey's death his property, including real estate and money invested in bond and mortgage, was estimated at $100,000. He died intestate. Four years after his only son, James Morrissey, died. A few days previous to the son's death he made a will bequeathing his entire interest in all of the real estate and money invested by his deceased father to his mother. It was a well-known fact in and about Summit that James Morrissey at the time of his death was a minor, but for some unexplained reason "22 years of age" appeared on the coffin plate.

About three months after the death of James Morrissey rumors began to circulate that at the time of his death he had not attained his majority, and it was said that in order to overcome any technical obstacles to perfect the title Mrs. Morrissey was advised by her counsel to transfer all the real estate possessed by her late husband and bequeathed by her son to her to another party, and have that party for a nominal consideration transfer it back to her. Acting upon this suggestion all of the real estate owned by her husband was transferred to Edward B. Kelly. It included four deeds. John A. A. Hicks, as commissioner of deeds, executed the acknowledgements. The real estate was at the same time transferred back to Mrs. Morrissey. The consideration mentioned in each transfer is $1.

In the meantime Mrs. Hickey was not letting any grass grow under her feet. She had employed a detective, who visited Brooklyn, where James Morrissey was born, who obtained the exact date of the boy's birth, and, from St. James' church, the date of his baptism. The church records also contained the date of his birth. According to these he lacked almost three months of being 21 years old when he died.

It is understood that a demand was then made on Mrs Morrissey by her husband's sister for her legal share of Mr. Morrissey's estate, but the demand was refused, and suit was immediately instituted.

The answer should have been filed twenty days ago, but ex-Senator Marsh, who is counsel for Mrs. Morrissey, has already asked two extensions of time. Prominent lawyers say that the only defense that can be offered is to prove that James Morrissey was of age at the time the will was executed, and it is conceded by all parties that his mother will not go on the stand and swear he was born on any other date than the one mentioned in the church records, especially as there were two sons and a daughter of old time residents of Summit born on the same day.

The value of the real estate now in controversy is estimated at from $35,000 to $45,000.

Jersey Central and Lehigh Coal.

Rumors that the Jersey Central Railroad would absorb the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company and make it part of one great system caused a quick advance in the price of Lehigh coal shares yesterday. Geo. F. Baber, Vice President of the Jersey Central Railroad, said that that company already had a 999-year lease of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company, and so far as he knew there would be no change in the relations of the two properties.

Strong Protest From Many Duer Street Residents Against Widening That Thoroughfare.

Many of the residents of Duer street are highly indignant over the report that there is a scheme on foot to widen that street and set the sidewalk back to the fence line. They say that not over one or two property owners on the street desire the improvement, and they should not be allowed to have their own way in the face of so much opposition. They claim that for a residential street it is wide enough for all purposes, and then the thoughts of cutting down the beautiful shade trees along the street has only caused a stronger feeling against the scheme. There is little likelihood of the street being widened in view of so much opposition, and if the matter should be brought up in the Council no doubt the residents would bring their strongest influence against the movement.

WEDDED IN ROCHESTER

HENRY AYRES PATTEN, OF THIS CITY, WAS THE GROOM.

Fashionable Marriage of Miss Frances W. Morse at Her Home in Rochester—Will Reside in New York.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Rochester, N. Y., April 27.—Among the notable weddings of Wednesday was the marriage of Miss Frances Whiting Morse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Baxter Morse, of No. 298 West avenue, and Henry Ayres Patton, of Plainfield, N. J. It was a pink sweet pea wedding, one of the handsomest house weddings of the season, celebrated at 7 o'clock by Rev. Dr. H. H. Stebbins, of the Central church, in the presence of about one hundred guests.

The ceremony took place in the bow window of the front drawing room, where was erected a beautiful floral altar of palms and blossoming plants. All of the rooms were elaborate with a profusion of palms, potted plants and pink flowers. A passageway connecting the Morse house with one adjacent, where the banquet was served, was enclosed and converted into a beautiful conservatory. An orchestra was stationed in each house.

The bridal party entered from the dining room as the orchestra played the wedding march from Lohengrin. The ushers, Charles Case Morse, John Plunket Morse, brothers of the bride; Dr. William Horace Morley, of Detroit; Percy Ingalls, of Montclair, N. J., advanced first, followed by the matron-of-honor, Mrs. William Samuel Morse, walking alone, then the four bridemaids, Misses Louise Patten, sister of the groom, of Plainfield, N. J.; Ida McCaffrey, Oswego; Sarah Biggs Furman and Ella Elizabeth Thayer, of this city, and the bride with her father. The groom and his best man, David Huntington Lanman, of Brooklyn, awaited her coming.

The bride, a tall beautiful brunette, a familiar figure in Rochester society, was most becomingly arrayed. She wore an imported gown of all-over lace built over ivory satin. Her corsage ornament was a diamond crescent, a gift from the groom. She carried an immense bunch of lilies of the valley.

The matron-of-honor wore a beautiful creation of rose color liberty satin. Her flowers were bridemaid roses. The bridemaids were all gowned alike in white mousseline de soie over pink taffeta. Shower bouquets of pink sweet peas finished these dainty toilettes. The bride presented each maid with souvenir pearl stickpins.

Dinner was served immediately after the ceremony. A large reception to 250 guests followed at 9 o'clock, at which Teall served supper.

Mr. and Mrs. Patten left for an extended southern tour, and will later settle in New York, where the groom is cashier of the Astor Place Bank.

There was a large number of out of-town guests. They included Mr. and Mrs. George T. Patten, parents of the groom, of Plainfield, N. J.; Mrs. Elizabeth K. Patten and Miss Gladys Wells, of Chicago, grandmother and niece of the groom, and Henry Ayres, of Philadelphia, grandfather of the groom.

Great Improvement on Third Street.

East Third street has been greatly improved by the new macadamizing and the improvement will be much appreciated by the truckmen who are daily called upon to drive along that street. When that job is completed the street department will next turn its attention to Putnam avenue, where repairs are greatly needed.

AN EVENING IN SPAIN GIVEN AT THE CASINO.

An Enjoyable Entertainment in Honor of Twelfth Anniversary of Monday Afternoon Club.

SERIES OF TABLEAUX SEEN

SPANISH MUSICAL SELECTIONS WERE RENDERED DURING THE EVENING.

Unique Programme Was Greatly Enjoyed by Large Audience of Members and Friends—Those Who Took Part—The Committees.

The twelfth anniversary of the Monday Afternoon Club was celebrated last evening at the Casino under most favorable circumstances. The attendance of members and friends was large and everything passed off successfully with not a thing to mar the pleasure of the occasion. The programme was unique and something different from anything given before.

The music for the affair was furnished by an instrumental quartette, mandolins and guitar, under the direction of Julian M. Floersheim, of New York. The selections through out were Spanish, in fact, the whole affair might be termed a Spanish evening, as the tableaux represented events in Spanish history.

After the opening selection by the quartette the first tableau was given. It was entitled "A Jewish Merchant displaying his wares to Queen Isabella, about 1480." This was arranged by Mrs. Isaac Miller. Mrs. Howard Tracy took the part of the "Queen," and the merchants were Miss Scribner, Miss Viola Conklin, Mrs. Deuse M. VanVliet, Mrs. Charles S. Lee, Mrs. Malcom McKenzie and Miss Louise Green. The second tableau, "Courtship of the Cid," was in two scenes, and was in charge of Miss Whiton. E. C. Perkins took the part of the "King;" Mrs. Jose A. Machado, the "Queen;" Mrs. W. L. Saunders, "Princess," while Miss Rushmore and Mrs. Howard Fleming were the "Ladies in Waiting." The second scene was the same as the first excepting the addition of Jose A. Machado who took the part of the "Prince."

In part second, the tableaux were from "The Spanish Gypsy," of George Elliot's poems, and consisted of four scenes, the first being the scene in the plaza. Miss Munger and Miss Tracy were in charge of these tableaux. Mrs. Howard Tracy represented "Fidelma," and Mrs. Charles Stover "Papita." The other participants were Mrs. S. B. Krom, Miss Krom, Mrs. Walter M. McGee, Mrs. Deuse M. VanVliet, Miss May Shreve, Charles Stover, Edward Patterson and VanWyck Brooks.

Scene two was the jewel scene. Mrs. Howard Tracy represented the "Princess," and C. E. Perkins the "Count," and in scene third Jose A. Machado, the "Gypsy Father," appeared with Mrs. Howard Tracy, who was the gypsy. The last scene was "The Gypsy Camp." Here Mrs. Tracy appeared as the "gypsy;" E. C. Perkins as the "Count," and Mrs. Charles E. Brooks, Miss Sutphen and Miss Krom represented gypsies.

Additional pleasure was given those present by Miss Grace Cooley, whose explanatory readings of the tableaux were greatly enjoyed. Interspersing the tableaux some of the best songs from the Spanish were rendered by a member of the quartette, and while the scenes were being given the quartette rendered pleasing instrumental selections. Every tableau was well received and the participants heartily applauded.

The committees who deserve unstinted praise for their efforts include Mrs. Eugene H. Hatch, Mrs. Albert H. Atterbury, Mrs. John Gray Foster and Mrs. W. L. C. Glenney, who were in charge of the entertainment, and Mrs. Isaac L. Miller, Miss Whiton, Mrs. Charles B. Corwin, Miss Tracy and Miss Munger, who were in charge of the tableaux.

After the entertainment, refreshments were served. Those who presided at the tables were Mrs. D. N. Groendyke, Mrs. W. H. Sterling, Mrs. Charles Stover and Miss Sutphen, and they were assisted by a number of the members.

Mattison Will Be Justice Sure.

FINE MUSIC WAS HEARD.

PROF. CONDE'S ORCHESTRAL CONCERT WAS A SUCCESS.

Attracted an Appreciative Audience to Y. M. C. A. Hall—Blind Singer Very Fine.

A fair sized audience greeted P. Ludwig Conde and his pupils in the Y. M. C. A. hall last evening on the occasion of their annual orchestral concert and received the various numbers on the programme with polite but hearty approval.

The playing of the entire orchestra was a fine example of ensemble playing worked up to a high degree of excellence, and the unity of purpose, the keen understanding of the relative value of the different parts and the harmonious conception of the compositions being played, spoke very highly for these young people and their tutor.

Much interest centred in the conducting of Mr. Conde. The first few minutes of the performance, however, gave ample timation that a man was in control whose will was being carefully, even enthusiastically, obeyed. His personality simply dominated the whole work of the orchestra by the almost unfailing balance of tone he kept among the various instruments and by the apparently spontaneous fashion in which his orchestra would follow him in accelerating or retarding the tempo.

The programme opened with the march "Athalia," by Mendelssohn, followed by a selection by Masenet, played by nine string instruments.

Miss Charlotte Cave won the hearty applause of all by a well executed violin solo, in which she displayed an intellectual grasp and a keen artistic perception, making her ability apparent.

Lewis Schnepel, the blind singer, scored a great success and was enthusiastically applauded and encores were demanded until he was tired. Mr. Schnepel possesses a fine baritone voice, of wide range and remarkable clearness, while his enunciation was a pleasing feature of his performance. He appeared at two different times on the programme and sang several of his selections in German.

A sextette, of which Mr. Conde was the leading violin, played a waltz movement by Gillet, which contained a very pretty rythm. A selection from Lohengrin, in which the musings of the 'cello were plainly audible, and in which the brass took up the theme of the well-known wedding march, brought the first and largest half of the programme to a close.

Mr. Conde delighted his hearers with a violin solo, a selection from the Mendelssohn Concerto. He has temperament, but it is absolutely under his control, and this, combined with his well-rounded technique, his delicacy of touch and refinement of expression, made his performance a distinctly artistic achievement. It was evident that the popular demand for the violinist was not satisfied.

The overture to "William Tell" by the orchestra brought the concert to a close.

Arbor Day Exercises.

Arbor Day was observed at the Plainfield High School this afternoon by the planting of ivy by the members of the class of 1900. The ivy was placed close by the front of the building. There were two class songs, one written by Miss May Ross and the other by Miss Rose and Miss Emily Runyon. Miss Marion Woodcock, president of the class, made the presentation speech, to which H. M. Maxson, superintendent of schools, replied. An Ivy Ode was read by its author, Miss Mary Locke.

Provoking Conduct.

One unfortunate incident at the baseball game on the Martine Common, between the Plainfield High School and Leal's School Wednesday afternoon, was the conduct of a crowd of young men who used profane and abusive language in the presence of the young women who were watching the game. They tried to provoke the High School boys but the latter had nothing to say to the taunts of the others.

STILL BIG CROWDS AT RUMMAGE SALE.

No Signs of a Break in the Successful Career of This Worthy Enterprise.

YESTERDAY RECEIPTS $300.

NO POSSIBLE DANGER FROM CONTAGION AS EVERYTHING IS FUMIGATED

Demand for Women's Skirts and Clothing for Children Exceeds the Supply—Donations Will be Gladly Received.

The Rummage Sale still continues on its successful career. There was a steady stream of customers there yesterday afternoon and evening and today the crowd, while not as large as it has been, has been enough to keep the saleswomen busy.

For the benefit of those who have heard vague rumors of the danger of contagion from the articles at the sale, it may be well to state that there is not the slightest possibility of any disease being caught there. The store has been thoroughly fumigated and the articles are fumigated every evening before they are put on sale.

There is a great demand for women's skirts and children's clothing which the present stock will hardly supply. The committee announces that any donations, particularly of the articles mentioned, will be gratefully received.

The receipts of yesterday will amount in the neighborhood of $200. This morning $581.82 was deposited in the bank to the Rummage Sale account. The remainder of the funds have gone toward the necessary expenses and in furnishing change. The original system of cash-girls has been given up and now each table is supplied with plenty of change. This greatly facilitates matters.

The sale was under the general charge of Mrs. L. N. Lovell and Mrs. J. M. Whiton yesterday morning. The saleswomen were Mrs. Jos. Myers, Mrs. S. St. John McCutchen, Mrs. J. E. Kimball, Mrs. Stephen Haff, Miss Haff, Mrs. William Murray, Mrs. Townsend Rushmore, Mrs. George Wharton Edwards, Miss Elizabeth B. Cock, Mrs. Craig A. Marsh, Miss Leonard, Miss Vail, Miss Reinhart, Miss Bass, Mrs. Charles L. Lewis, Mrs. Thomas Minford, Mrs. J. G. Foster, Mrs. Erickson, Mrs. Stover, Mrs. S. G. Smith, Mrs William Wheeler, Mrs. Monroe, Mrs. J. H. McNaughton, Mrs. F. C. Harder, Mrs. Selter, Mrs. Isaac Field, Mrs. W. M. Stillman, Mrs. Glen, Miss Glen, Mrs. Eugene Moore.

In the afternoon, Mrs E. L Finch was in charge while the corps of saleswomen included the following: Mrs. J. M. Whiton, Mrs. William Murray, Mrs. A. V. D. Honeyman, Mrs. Harold Serrell, Mrs. Augustus Van Deventer, Mrs. I. N. Van Sickel, Mrs. Monroe, Miss Yough, Mrs. A. Mellor, Miss Van Boskerck, Mrs. E. M. Van Buren, Miss Waring, Miss Florence Waring, Miss M. Holly, Miss Virginia Hegeman, Mrs. Gosse, Mrs. Agnes Smith, Mrs. Samuel Kimball, Mrs. Master, Miss Negley, Miss M. Negley and Miss J. E. Kimball.

Leander D. Lovell, John M. Whiton and John Benson were in command at the evening session of the sale. Their assistants at the tables were Mrs. I. N. Van Sickel, Mrs. F. C. Harder, Mrs. Erickson, Mrs. Wilcox, Mrs. S. St. John McCutchen, Mrs. J. M. Whiton, Mrs. John Benson, Mrs. Kerr, Mrs. Brainard, Mrs. Monroe, Miss Palmer, Miss Brantigle, S. R. Struthers, Mrs. S. R. Struthers, Miss Florence Marsh, Miss Minnie Marsh, Miss Helen Brainard, Miss Schiller, Miss Agnes, Miss E. Coe, Miss Bass, Miss Phoebe Lovell, J. B. Dumont, Jr., J. K. Myers, Miss Van Herwerden, Mrs. William Murray, Mrs. W. A. Pinto and W. A. Pinto.

His Arm in a Sling.

Alex Willett, one of Plainfield's reliable shoe merchants, is once more able to be at his place of business on Park avenue. Last week Friday Mr. Willett was crossing Craig place on Somerset street and in stepping up on the sidewalk near Powers' drug store his foot slipped and he was thrown forward on the sidewalk. His arm and hand was badly bruised and sprained, necessitating the use of a sling. Fortunately there were no bones broken.

Sparks Set Fire to Rubbish.

Sparks from a passing locomotive set fire to a pile of old lumber in the yards of the Poul T. Norton Company this noon, threatening the trestle work of the railroad siding. The fire department was called from box 41. It was extinguished with a single line of hose. The loss is trifling. Owing to some trouble with the key in box 41, the recall was sounded from box 13.

SECRET HAS LEAKED OUT.

The Marriage of Miss Gerhold to William Jennings Took Place Quietly Wednesday.

The many friends of Miss Lavinia Gerhold, of West Front street, will be surprised to learn of her marriage to William Jennings, of Dunellen, Wednesday afternoon. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. D. J. Yerkes, at his residence, on West Seventh street. Immediately after they were made man and wife, the young couple left for New York, for a short trip, returning this afternoon.

They had intended to keep the marriage a secret for sometime yet, but it leaked out yesterday. A reception will be given to them tonight at the residence of the bride's grandmother, Mrs. John Stewart, of West Front street.

The groom is employed in Elizabethport, but they will reside in Plainfield on Central avenue near West Fourth street.

I. O. O. F. WERE HOSTS.

PLAINFIELD LODGE ENTERTAINED IN HONOR OF 81ST ANNIVERSARY.

Entertainment Given During First Part of the Evening—Dance in Camera Club Rooms Followed.

Plainfield Lodge, No. 44 I. O. O. F., gave an enjoyable entertainment and dance last evening in honor of the eighty-first anniversary of Odd Fellowship. The entertainment consisted of a varied programme by local talent, every number being well received. They were given in the following order: Overture, by Carpenter's orchestra; remarks on the order by Charles M. Baybert; vocal solo by Miss Edna Sebring; piano solo by Miss Lucy Ruckman; recitation by Mrs. Philip Bach; piano solo by Edie Krausse; vocal solo by Miss Ethel Reynolds; violin solo by Mr. Schneidler; recitation by Miss Virginia Anderson; vocal solo by Mrs. John Manley; piano selection by Prof. Carpenter; phonographic selections by Frank W. Miles, and last but not least John H. Carney, in his inimitable German character sketches.

The hit of the evening was made by little Virginia Anderson, whose recitation, "A Naughty Girl's View of Life," was given in an excellent manner. For an encore she gave "A Baldheaded Man."

At the conclusion of the programme there was dancing in the Camera Club rooms, which continued until a late hour this morning, stopping at midnight for refreshments.

The committee in charge was Stephen Schlief, chairman; Peter Doerringer and Henry Nischwitz. The master-of-ceremonies was E. C. Morse.

OFF FOR PARIS.

Young Robert Morgan Has Disappeared, Supposedly on His Way to the Paris Exposition.

Visions of the magnificent buildings, the wonderful machinery and the myriad sights of the Paris Exposition proved too much for young Robert Morgan, son of Lewis H. Morgan, of West Front street. Young Morgan, who is fifteen years of age, and was learning his trade at the Pond Tool Works, drew his money from the office Wednesday morning and took his departure for New York, where he intended taking a vessel for the French capital. He told a few of his intimate friends that he would work his passage over on a cattle steamer.

As soon as Mr. Morgan learned of his son's departure, he started to trace him up, but lost track of him in New York city.

A cattle steamer sailed from New York yesterday noon, and it is supposed he was on board of her.

Robert, who has an excellent home, has run away several times before, but always returned inside of a week or two.

Judge Changed His Mind.

The case of Paul T. Norton against the Hetfield estate is being tried in the Elizabeth district court today. The plaintiff claims $300 damages to hay and grain on account of a leaky roof on a building that was purchased from the defendant, and which, it is claimed, was represented to be in good condition. The case was called yesterday when a jury trial was demanded. The jury was called, but it was found that it would take a long time to try the case in that manner, and then the judge discharged the jury and determined to decide the case himself after hearing the evidence.

INVITED GUESTS TOOK TRIAL TROLLEY TRIP.

First Ride Over Elizabeth and Westfield Company's Complete Line.

SUPPER AT CLARK'S HOTEL.

COL. HINE AND ELIZABETH OFFICIALS SWAPPED COMPLIMENTS.

Successful Opening of Trolley Road From Elizabeth to Plainfield Yesterday Afternoon—Who the Guests Were.

A party of invited guests made the initial trip from Elizabeth to Plainfield and return over the lines of the Elizabeth and Westfield Street Railway Company yesterday afternoon. The line will be opened to the public tomorrow. It is still necessary to change cars at the B. and O. crossing at North Cranford, as the bridge over the tracks has not yet been built. Otherwise the line is complete.

The trip of yesterday afternoon was made the formal opening of the line, and was followed by a supper at Clark's Hotel, Elizabeth. The guests included many of the city officials from Elizabeth and a few from Plainfield.

One special car brought the guests over from Newark and was then joined by another with the Elizabeth guests. These two cars ran out to the B. and O. crossing, where the passengers were transferred to cars Nos. 8 and 9, of the Elizabeth and Westfield Street Railway. The latter cars had left Plainfield at 1:30 o'clock under the charge of Superintendent John Adelmann. The Plainfield guests were with him.

Then the whole party was carried on to Plainfield and over the local trolley lines to Dunellen, making the trip from Elizabeth to Dunellen in one hour and fifty minutes. The cars were then sent back over the same route, transferring the guests again at the B. and O. crossing.

At Elizabeth a collation was served in the banquet room of Clark's Hotel. After the supper Col. Hines and a number of the prominent guests spoke, congratulating each other on the general success of the line and the possibilities that lie before it.

Neither of the Rikers were able to be present so Col. E. W. Hine, of Newark, did the honors of the occasion. Among the Elizabeth guests were Mayor W. A. M. Mack, City Attorney James C. Connelly, City Clerk James J. Manning, Councilmen D. F. Collins, Paul Noll, Frank Kleinhans, Joseph L. Benedict, George W. Horre and Robert L. Patterson, City Treasurer James Morrison, Street Commissioner N. K. Thompson, Former Sheriff Jacob Glazer, Chief of Police Tenney, Detective William Decker, City Surveyor W. H. Luster, Theodore Glazer, Richard F. Henry, Health Inspector Richards, William N. Edelsten, Albert Stevens, superintendent of the Suburban Electric Light Company. Mayor George W. Rockfellow was present from this city. None of the Councilmen were able to go.

From Roselle came J. N. Meeker and H. S. Bachman, of the Borough Council, James W. Hope and Freeholder Henry Krouse.

A delegation from the North Jersey Traction Company attended. It included General Superintendent George W. Chapman, Auditor Hibbs, Treasurer D. N. Hill, Adjuster Daniel Wolfskeil, James Smith, superintendent of the Union county division, Superintendent John C. Husbands, of the Elizabeth City Railway; Vice-President J. T. Fritts, Engineer H. C. VanEmburgh and General Operator A. A. Giddis, of the Elizabeth and Westfield Company, were also of the party.

The newspaper representatives present were Joseph D. Lowden, city editor of the Elizabeth Journal, Harry McDougall, of the Newark Call; H. A. Pearson, Elizabeth correspondent; M. F. Gannon, Elizabeth correspondent; F. E. Whiteside, of the Plainfield News, and a Press reporter.

Troubled by Ash Carters.

Residents of West Front street in the vicinity of Plainfield avenue are indignant, and justly so, regarding the various ash carters that dump rubbish, etc., on the grounds corner of West Front street and Giraud avenue. When the wind blows the papers are blown about the street and a disgraceful sight is presented. There should be some way of putting a stop to this sort of thing and if the Board of Health has the power to stop it the residents are hoping that they will do so at once.

BOERS DRIVEN BACK.

Strong Position Taken by General Ian Hamilton.

BRITISH HOLD KEY TO THABA N'CHU.

Lord Roberts Thought to Have an Effective Army Now—Story of Reoccupation of Boshof by Boers Untrue—Pretoria Explosion.

LONDON, April 27.—Israel's Poort, which is not marked on the maps, lies between Sanna's Post and Thaba N'Chu. General Hamilton has probably by this time arrived at Thaba N'Chu, as he is using his utmost endeavors to cut off the Boers who are retreating from Dewetsdorp.

The Boer forces at Thaba N'Chu are not unlikely to make a stand to cover the escape of the convoys from the southward. They have laagers eight miles apart, stretching from Brandfort to Thaba N'Chu, with a base camp at Samalldell station.

A report comes that a small force of British mounted infantry had a brush with a party of Boers ten miles east of Karee Siding, who were trying to establish a connection between Brandfort and the Boer forces to the southward.

Otherwise there is no news beyond the official dispatches of Lord Roberts, except belated details of recent operations. It appears that General Brabant, in the fight with the Boers at Wepener, had a narrow escape. General Pole-Carew's advance was much hampered by the tardy arrival of artillery, which prevented him from capturing Leeuw kop before darkness set in and enabled the Boers to secure their retreat.

Although the large scheme of operations worked successfully, several cases of unaccountable delay in the advance are remarked by the correspondents. Taken on the whole, however, there has been no bungling, and apparently Lord Roberts, with the commands in the hands of younger generals, now has an exceedingly efficient army.

The report that the Boers had reoccupied Boshof proves to be untrue. Lord Methuen is still there, and General Hunter's division from Natal, which was supposed to be going to Bloemfontein, is arriving at Kimberley. This is evidence that some important operations are afoot in that district.

The war office publishes the following dispatch from Lord Roberts, dated Bloemfontein, April 26:

"General Ian Hamilton yesterday drove the enemy off a strong position at Israel's Poort by a well conceived turning movement, which was admirably carried out by General Ridley, commander of the Second mounted infantry brigade, and General Smith-Dorrien, commanding the Eighteenth brigade. These troops are today advancing toward Thabu N'Chu.

"Our losses were slight, only one yet reported, Major Marshall, Grahamstown mounted rifles, severe wound in the shoulder."

It is understood that the reason the Boers did not destroy the Bloemfontein waterworks was that there are many Boers among the shareholders.

The Boers are showing more activity in Natal. They are placing some heavy guns four miles north of Elandslagte.

The Bloemfontein correspondent of The Daily Telegraph, under Wednesday's date, says:

"Our mounted infantry entered the high mountain plateau of Thaba N'Chu today almost without opposition. As Thaba N'Chu is a natural fortress this must mean that the Boers have practically thrown up the sponge in this section of the country. If the force presses on to Ladybrand, the whole country south of that point and in line with Bloemfontein will be completely in our hands.

"One difficulty is that many of the Boers forming commandoes immediately on finding themselves beaten retreat to their farms and resume the roles of peaceful citizenship, hiding their rifles."

The Bloemfontein correspondent of The Standard, telegraphing Thursday, says:

"General Ian Hamilton, with mounted infantry, naval guns and a howitzer battery, advanced from the waterworks in the direction of Thaba N'Chu. A large force of infantry supported him. He met with no opposition, and the mounted infantry occupied a position dominating the Ladybrand district."

A dispatch from Brandfort, Orange Free State, dated April 23, says:

"A British column in the direction of Bultfontein and Hoopstad has been beaten back through Boshof. The federals sustained two casualties, and the British had 12 men killed and a number wounded. Yesterday General Kelly-Kenny's artillery at Dewetsdorp indulged in a mild bombardment of General De Wet's position, the firing lasting through the morning.

"The scarcity of water is supposed to be very pressing at Bloemfontein. A desperate attempt was made by a large British force in two columns yesterday to recapture the waterworks. Their right flank was beaten back, however. A party of 50 were cut off, and 12 men were killed.

"The Johannesburg commando has captured a British scout. Some American scouts have been shot."

The Pretoria correspondent of The Daily Mail, telegraphing Wednesday, says:

"The government inquiry suggests that the explosion was a planned outrage. The explosion occurred in a house quite separate from the works and required a much larger quantity of nitroglycerin than could have been found on the premises. The factory will be working again in a fortnight."

The Lourenco Marques correspondent of The Daily Mail, under Tuesday's date, commenting upon the methods of the Transvaal government in expelling British subjects at a time when there is no steamer to take them from here, says:

"United States Consul Adelbert Hay is doing his best to delay their departure until a steamer is ready. As the British are suspected at Pretoria of causing today's explosion by means of a tunnel dug from a house on the opposite side of the street, the affair is likely to precipitate the expulsion of those yet remaining. It is also feared that the Boers will make reprisals on the mines."

General Pole-Carew's March.

BLOEMFONTEIN, April 27.—General Pole-Carew's forces are seven miles north of Dewetsdorp. They are disappointed at the failure to surround the Boers, but believe the march will have a good effect on the Free Staters. The latter, trusting to British leniency, had played the game of pretending to surrender and of taking every opportunity to fight.

THE ISLAND OF JOLO.

The accompanying illustration gives a view of the island of Jolo and its beach. Here is the official residence and palace of the sultan of Sulu. Jolo is one of the smaller islands of the southern Philippine group, being one of those picturesque little dots of land which go to make up the by no means insignificant sultanate of Sulu. The Mohammedan inhabitants of this island, who are now under the protection of the American eagle, have a record of 900 years of internicine warfare, and are ready to try the blessings of peace for awhile. There are not many pretentious buildings on the island, but the palace of the sultan stands out well in the picture and the sultan himself is said to have aspirations in the direction of civilization. Fishing in the shallow waters about the island is one of the principal occupations of the Jolo islanders.

The Leal's School nine will play its next game Saturday afternoon at Elizabeth against the team from the Battin High School, of that city.

The youthful captain of the St. Mary's Juniors denies that his team has been defeated by the West Ends. He says no game has yet been played but that one is scheduled to take place Monday afternoon.

The latest team to announce its advent on a local diamond is the Crescent Baseball Club, which played under the name of St. Mary's team. Daniel Guinee is manager and Joseph Barry captain. The first game will be played Saturday afternoon on the Washington avenue grounds with the North Plainfield Stars as their opponents. The Crescent team is anxious to arrange a series of games with the Leal's School or any other of the local teams.

The Watchung Baseball Club, an organization of boys of the city, has been making quite a record for itself already this season. Although only youngsters, the Watchung B. C. has been winning right along from much larger teams and have not yet met with defeat. Wednesday afternoon they defeated James Scott's nine by a score of 13 to 11. The Watchung team is made up of the following: Minford, p.; Wills, c.; Doane, 1 b.; Barnaby, 2 b.; Ivins, 3 b.; Glenny, s. s.; Smith, l. f.; Day, c. f.; Stuart, r. f.

The showing made by the nine from the Plainfield High School has not been wildly encouraging to the supporters of that team. The worst showing was made Wednesday afternoon at Martine Common against Leal's School. It isn't as if the High School boys couldn't play any better than they did on that occasion. They can and they have, but when the time comes for an important game they seem to possess the unfortunate faculty of forgetting everything. The High School team has been favored this year as last in having the best coach of any of the local school teams. A. B. Meredith, who has been coaching the High School boys, was on the Wesleyan College team for several years and also played at Boston University. Last year his good training was evident in the excellent showing made by the team. This year the boys seem unable or unwilling to take advantage of his advice. Only two of them have ever played on a regular team before and so they apparently fail to recognize the advantage of team play as against an individual game. In the game Wednesday almost all the High School nine played listlessly. When they learn to brace up they will not be so disgraced as they were in the game with Leal's.

FIRE DESTROYS CITY

Chief Town of Ottawa County, Quebec, Wiped Out.

CITY OF OTTAWA ALSO SUFFERS.

All Efforts to Check the Flames Fail—Fifteen Thousand People Homeless—The Loss Estimated at Twenty Millions.

OTTAWA, April 27.—The city of Hull has been burning since noon yesterday, and all that remains at the present time of writing are a few houses standing in the suburbs of the burned city. Hull has a population of about 12,000 people, and a large share of them are homeless. The entire business part of the city, including the courthouse, postoffice and public buildings and newspaper offices, is one mass of ruins. The population is almost entirely composed of people who work in the mills or who derive their business from those works. The fire crossed the Ottawa river in the afternoon, took hold among the lumber piles on the brink of the river and extended to the lumber yards and mills. The result is that the whole of that part of Ottawa known as the Chaudiere flat surrounding the Canadian Pacific railway depot, where the lumber mills are all located, is fire swept. The only building standing in the whole area is that of the Ottawa carbide factory, which is newly erected and fireproof. From the flats the fire extended across the Richmond road on to Rochesterville and as far as the experimental farm. Westerly the fire took in Huntonburg and Mechaniesville, so that on the Ottawa side of the river there is a larger area covered by fire than on the Hull side. It is estimated that at the present time the number of people homeless in the two cities and suburban towns is not less than 12,000 and may reach 15,000. The government has given the drill hall and the city the large exhibition buildings to accommodate the unfortunate sufferers. All the institutions in the city which have any accommodation at all have lent a hand to aid the distressed. The only industry left standing in Hull is the Goulmer & Houston lumber mill at the extreme end beyond the city limits, near Gatineau point, and it is still in danger.

As soon as the members of the government saw that the fire was to be a disastrous one the acting minister of public works telegraphed to Montreal, Peterboro and Brockville for fire appliances and all assistance that could be sent. But although they arrived speedily, they were of no avail. Nothing could stop the ravages of the fire, which leaped over whole blocks and broke out in all directions.

The Canadian Pacific railway depot, which is on the Chaudiere flats, was among one of the first buildings to go, as it was a wooden structure.

The large cliff which extends from the Ottawa river back by Christ church and St. John the Baptiste church on to Rochesterville was the only thing which prevented the whole city of Ottawa becoming a prey to the fire. Shortly after noon the wind, which was blowing previously in a northerly direction, changed to a southeasterly direction, and in this way what remained of Ottawa was saved. It is almost idle to talk of losses, but a moderate calculation would be somewhere between $15,000,000 and $20,000,000. The government had the militia called out and adjourned the house of commons until Tuesday on account of the disastrous conflagration.

The Bishop Defied.

HUNTINGDON, Pa., April 27.—Rev. Dr. N. W. Irvine, rector of St. John's Episcopal church here, who was deposed from the ministry by Bishop Talbot on charges of unministerial conduct, announced that the would ignore the bishop's decree, which, he asserts, is based on the result of an unjust trial, false evidence and contrary to the requirements of church canons. "I am still rector of St. John's church here," said the doctor, "and I will continue as such until the supreme court of Pennsylvania says I am not. My vestry support me in my stand, and I am convinced the community does also."

How the Sultan Gets Around It.

LONDON, April 27.—The Constantinople correspondent of The Daily Mail says: "In addition to rebuilding the American structures at Kharput, the sultan has found a way of paying the indemnity by ordering a cruiser to be built in the United States, the cost of which will include the $90,000 claim. By this adroit move he hopes to shelve the question of principle and to avoid giving the powers a pretext for pressing their claims."

This Is For Shafter.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—Senator Burrows has introduced a bill in the senate authorizing the president "to select from the retired list of the army an officer not above the rank of brigadier general who has distinguished himself during the war with Spain in command of a separate army and to appoint him to be major general on the retired list." The bill is in the interest of General Shafter.

Gift From Lord Salisbury.

PHILADELPHIA, April 27.—The Philadelphia Law library has received as a gift from Lord Salisbury, the English premier, 23 unbound volumes of the report of the English commission on the Venezuelan boundary dispute. These are, it is said, the only copies of the report sent to the United States. Accompanying the books was a note from Lord Russell.

Bids For Postoffice Supplies.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—Bids have been opened at the postoffice department for supplies of registered letter and package envelopes and "official" envelopes. There were but two bidders, the Hartford Manufacturing company, $112,154, and the Western Envelope company of Chicago, $97,410. The contract has not yet been awarded.

To Urge the St. Louis Fair.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—The delegation from the Louisiana purchase states and from the city of St. Louis, whose mission in Washington is to urge the passage of the bill authorizing an appropriation of $5,000,000 for a world's fair in St. Louis in 1903, has arrived over the Baltimore and Ohio road.

Injured by Bursting Wheel.

TRENTON, N. J., April 27.—Three men were injured yesterday by the bursting of a flywheel at the Trenton Oilcloth works. Two of the men are likely to die from their injuries. They are now at the St. Francis hospital.

WHAT CONGRESS DID

House Passed Postoffice Bill After Long Debate.

EXTRA PAY FOR LETTER CARRIERS.

Salary of Census Director Raised to $7,500—The Senate Discusses the Claims of Scott of West Virginia to a Seat In That Body.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—After four days of discussion the house yesterday completed the consideration of and passed the postoffice appropriation bill. The attempt to strike out the $196,000 for special mail facilities from New York to New Orleans and from Kansas City to Newton, Kan., met the fate it has ever since the appropriation was placed in the bill in 1893. No one demanded a separate vote upon the amendment striking out the pneumatic tube provision, and the house by a large majority stood by the amendment to give extra compensation to letter carriers for work in excess of 48 hours a week, although the carriers were said by Mr. Cummings of New York to be opposed to it. The bill to increase the salary of the director of the census to $7,500 and the salaries of supervisors of census by 2 per cent of the amount received by their enumerators was passed.

The final conference report on the Hawaiian government bill was presented, but not acted upon owing to the absence of a quorum.

Almost the entire session of the senate was devoted to consideration of the right of Nathan B. Scott of West Virginia to retain his seat in the senate. Mr. Pettus of Alabama, who alone of the members of the committee on privileges and elections is opposed to the claim of Mr. Scott to a seat, made an elaborate argument to sustain his views. Mr. Morgan of Alabama spoke in favor of his colleague's contention. Mr. McComas of Maryland, Mr. Turley of Tennessee, Mr. Chandler of New Hampshire, Mr. Teller of Colorado and Mr. Allen of Nebraska spoke in support of the resolution declaring Mr. Scott entitled to his seat. The case went over without action.

EIGHT HOUR LAW.

House Committee Reports Favorably the Gardner Bill.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—The house committee on labor at a special meeting has directed a favorable report on the Gardner eight hour bill which has attracted much attention in labor circles and among contractors for government work. The vote was unanimous in its favor. In its amended form the bill is as follows:

"That each and every contract hereafter made to which the United States, any territory or the District of Columbia is a party and every such contract made for or on behalf of the United States or any territory or said District of Columbia which may require or involve the employment of laborers or mechanics shall contain a provision that no laborer or mechanic doing any part of the work contemplated by the contract in the employ of the contractor or any subcontractor contracting for any part of said work shall be required or permitted to work more than eight hours in any one calendar day; and each and every such contract shall stipulate a penalty for each violation of the provision directed by this act of $5 for each laborer or mechanic for each and every calendar day in which he shall labor more than eight hours; and any officer or person designated as inspector of the work to be performed under such contract or to aid in enforcing the fulfillment thereof shall, upon observation or investigation, report to the proper officer of the United States for any territory or the District of Columbia all violations of the provision in this act directed to be made in each and every such contract, and the amount of the penalties stipulated in any such contract shall be withheld by the officer or person whose duty it shall be to pay the moneys due under such contract, whether the violation of the provisions of such contract is by the contractor, his agents or employees or any subcontractor, his agents or employees.

"No person on behalf of the United States or any territory or the District of Columbia shall rebate or remit any penalty imposed under any such provision or stipulation herein provided for, unless upon a finding which he shall make up and certify that such penalty was imposed by reason of an error in fact.

"Nothing in this act shall apply to contracts for transportation by land or water or so much of any contract as is to be performed by way of transportation or for such materials as may usually be bought in open market, whether made to conform to particular specifications or not. The proper officer on behalf of the United States, any territory or the District of Columbia may waive the provisions and stipulations in this act provided for as to contracts for military or naval works or supplies during time of war or a time when war is imminent. No penalty shall be exacted for violations of such provisions due to extraordinary emergency caused by fire, flood or danger to life or property."

Confederate Memorial Day.

SAVANNAH, April 27.—Business was suspended throughout the city yesterday in honor of the Confederate Memorial day. At night the memorial address was delivered by Colonel A. R. Lawton, and S. B. Adams presented to the veterans the Southern Cross of Honor on behalf of the Daughters of the Confederacy. The crosses are made of bronzed iron measuring about an inch and a quarter and are inscribed as given in recognition of valor and devotion to the southern cause. This is the first time these decorations have been given out.

What Gates Made by the Slump.

CHICAGO, April 27.—John W. Gates, chairman of the American Steel and Wire company, has arrived here. When asked if it was true that he made $1,200,000 in the recent slump in steel and wire stocks, Mr. Gates replied: "If every dollar that I made from that decline was a silver dollar, I could carry them all in one trousers pocket." Mr. Gates said he did not know when work in the mills that are shut down would be resumed, as no one could tell what time would bring forth.

A Mammoth Cotton Mill.

GAINESVILLE, Ga., April 27.—The Woodside Cotton mill, capitalized at $200,000, will be located here. Building will begin immediately. The mill will work 10,000 spindles, 300 looms and 350 operatives. Plain cotton goods will be manufactured.

PARTICULAR MENTION

PERSONAL GOSSIP OF INTEREST TO CITY AND BOROUGH.

In Brief are Told the Daily Doings of Many Residents and Visitors Who Go and Come in a Social and Business Way

George Firstbrook, Sr., of Liberty street, is visiting friends in Dover.

John Kenny, Jr., of East Second street, is enjoying an attack of the mumps.

Maxson Dunham, of Dunellen, has been visiting Plainfield relatives for a few days.

Mrs. R. B. Rogers, of Westervelt avenue, has been detained at her home by illness.

Miss Margaret Campbell and Miss Margaret Kiely have returned from Brooklyn.

Mrs. Clay, of Netherwood, is entertaining relatives from Jersey City for a short time.

Dr. Dundon, of Baltimore, who has been visiting borough relatives, has returned home.

Miss Sadie Randolph, of West Eighth street, is kept at home with an attack of measles.

Richard Randolph, of West Eighth street, is detained at his home with an attack of the measles.

Mrs. Augustus Runyon, of West Front street, is very much improved from a tedious illness.

Chas. Hummer, of Hunterdon county, has returned after a short visit with borough relatives.

William Pangborn, of Trenton, has given up his position there and returned to this city, where he will remain.

Miss Annin, of Liberty Corner, who has been spending a few days with Plainfield relatives, has returned home.

Mrs. P. B. Hodge, of Plainfield avenue, is now steadily improving from a severe attack of measles and neuralgia.

Raymond Schenck, of Somerset street, who has been seriously ill with the mumps, is reported to be improved.

Mrs. Herr, of Whitehouse, who has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. S. S. Swackhamer, of the borough, has returned home.

J. P. Northrop and family, have left Mrs. Truell's place on Central avenue, and returned to Washington Park, where they will reside at 81 Myrtle avenue.

A letter received from Garret Powers, who is in Boston for his health, says that he is feeling much better. He will probably visit Old Point Comfort before he returns.

Harry Hann, of Somerset place, has received a new Telephone wheel from O. Frank French in place of the one damaged by Mr. French's horse recently when he ran away.

T. B. Green, of East Front street, and Francis Whiteley, of the borough, who have been in the south sometime for the benefit of Mr. Green's health, write that their health is greatly improved.

EQUINE PARADOX AT NEWARK.

New Jersey Horse Owners Will Gather With the Cream of Their Stables.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Newark, April 27.—A special committee chosen by President James E. Howell, of the New Jersey Road Horse Association, has decided on Saturday, May 26th, as the date for an "equine parade" open to the whole State.

The event promises to eclipse anything of the kind ever held here. Invitations will soon be sent out to owners of light harness horses all over the State, and four-in-hands, tandems, drags, traps, road wagons and carts will join in the procession. The parade is to start at 2 o'clock in the afternoon from Washington Park here. Isaac Bond, of Newark, heads the committee of arrangements.

New Industry for Westfield.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, April 27.—The Economy Grate Company filed articles of incorporation Wednesday with the clerk of Union county. The company is capitalized at $60,000. The incorporators are John B. Conger, George S. Hull, Sidney W. Petrie and Clinton B. Wyckoff, of Buffalo, N. Y., with Emory J. Whitehead, of Westfield. The company's office will be on Prospect street, Westfield. It will engage in the manufacture and sale of grate bars and fire brick.

—Genuine Jersey spring lamb and poultry young, plump, tender and juicy, to be found at Fred Endress', 131 West Front street.

—Something every man and woman wants is an easy neat-fitting shoe. Such an article you can purchase at Flynn Brothers, 222 West Front street, near Music Hall.

THROUGH A GLASS.

IVORY SOAP is a skin soap. On one square inch of your hand there are 2,800 pores. On the whole body you have 2,381,284 of these little cavities to look after. Every one of these openings must be kept clear, or the impurities of the body can not pass out. Now, to cleanse the pores, you need a fine, pure soap. Scientists who speak not from opinion, but from scientific analyses, urge the use of Ivory Soap. 99 44/100 per cent. pure.

INDIANA REPUBLICANS.

Colonel Durbin Named For Governor After a Long Contest.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 27.—After a contest that lasted from 9 o'clock till 3 in the afternoon Colonel W. T. Durbin of Anderson was nominated for governor by the Republican state convention. The first ballot showed that Durbin and Griffiths were close leaders. The succeeding ballots steadily narrowed the margins until the seventh was reached, when Durbin and Griffiths had the field to themselves.

As the ballot closed it was seen that Durbin had won, and Griffiths moved to make the vote unanimous. Colonel Durbin made a brief speech of thanks, after which the state ticket was completed, as follows:

For governor, Winfield T. Durbin; lieutenant governor, J. N. Babcock; secretary of state, U. B. Hunt; auditor of state, W. H. Hart; treasurer of state, Leopold Levy; attorney general, W. J. Taylor; superintendent of public instruction, F. L. Jones; judge of supreme court, First district, John H. Gordon; Fourth district, L. J. Monks; reporter of supreme court, C. F. Remy; state statistician, B. F. Johnson; delegates at large to the national convention, United States Senators Fairbanks and Beveridge, Governor Mount and Charles S. Hanly, chairman of the Republican state central committee.

When the convention was called to order at 9 o'clock yesterday morning, no delegate could be found who would risk a forecast on the gubernatorial nomination, but it was unanimously agreed that the contest would be vigorous and spirited. With the announcement of the result of the first ballot for governor the wildest enthusiasm burst forth. The ballot revealed the relative strength of the candidates for the first time, relieving the intense uncertainty of the past two days. The only time that a serious squabble threatened was during the nomination for reporter of the supreme court. The Marion county delegation vote was challenged and the roll called. One member endeavored to vote a proxy, but it was challenged on the ground that it was illegal because it did not bear a revenue stamp. Excitement quickly started, and a ruling from the chair was called for. Acting Chairman Congressman Watson ruled that the absence of a revenue stamp did not invalidate the proxy and that it could be voted. After a time order was restored, and the balloting proceeded.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

Queen Victoria left Dublin en route for England.

Nicaragua has finally canceled the concession to the Maritime Canal company.

The British house of commons reassembled. Novelist James M. Barrie will contest a vacancy.

The advance guard of delegates to the general conference of the Methodist church arrived in Chicago.

Burglars secured $5,000 from the vaults of the Bank of Coulterville, Ills., a private institution, and made their escape.

Governor Roosevelt has signed the metropolitan election district bill and the Elsberg amendment to the civil service law.

By the explosion of a portable boiler belonging to Drake & Seatton, contractors, at Rankin, Pa., five men were terribly injured and eight others cut, bruised and slightly scalded.

Two special trains left Chicago on the Santa Fe railroad hauling 38 Armour refrigerator cars filled with 1,000,000 pounds of tinned and crated bacon consigned to the American soldiers in the Philippines.

Chief Joseph In Washington.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—Chief Joseph of the Nez Perce Indians was introduced to the secretary of the interior yesterday by General Miles, by whom he was charged during the uprising in 1877. Chief Joseph asked that the band be returned to their old reservation in Oregon. The secretary stated that the Indian bureau had made an adverse report on this petition, but he would personally investigate the subject.

Commencement at Drew Seminary.

MADISON, N. J., April 27.—The thirty-second annual commencement exercises of Drew Theological seminary were held in the chapel of the new administration building yesterday. There were 59 graduates representing every Methodist conference and every section of the country. Rev. Dr. Henry A. Buttz, the president, was in charge of the exercises.

ELECTRICITY FOR CANALS.

Delaware and Raritan Company the First to Adopt This Power.

TRENTON, April 27.—The first of the electric motors to be used on the Delaware and Raritan canal for the propulsion of boats has arrived here. The motor is in the form of an automobile and will travel along the towpath propelling the boat with a towline.

The Delaware and Raritan will be the first canal in the world to be equipped with electricity for the propelling of boats, and it is believed that this new method will materially reduce the cost of transportation. The motors are being provided by the Erie Canal Electric Traction company, which has contracts for equipping other canals.

A Family Hanging.

CAMBRIDGE, Md., April 27.—A most shocking tragedy has been discovered at a small farm seven miles from this city. A German family consisting of Carl Kernig, his wife and son were discovered dead in their little farmhouse, each corpse having a noose about the neck. Strangulation was probably the cause of death in each case. John A. Tschantre, a jeweler of this city, who owns the farm tenanted by the Kernig family, visited the place. Finding everything quiet, he entered the house and was shocked to discover the body of Mrs. Kernig tied with a rope to a doorknob. The son Carl was suspended from a bedpost in the same room, his body resting upon the floor, while his head was held tightly in a noose. In an adjoining room the body of the elder Carl Kernig was found hanging from a hook.

To Gray and Blue Alike.

MOBILE, April 27.—Five thousand people gathered in Magnolia cemetery to pay tribute to the memory of the Confederate dead yesterday. While the ceremonies were going on the rain descended in torrents. All the local militia and the Confederate veterans were present and decorated the graves of the dead soldiers. After the ceremonies there had been completed the soldiers and veterans marched to the place where the federal soldiers are buried in the same cemetery, and exercises were held which were shortened by the rain.

Appointed Bishop of Vancouver.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—An official brief from Pope Leo XIII preconizing the Very Rev. Bertrand Orth, D. D., as bishop of Vancouver, in British Columbia, has reached the papal legation here and been sent direct to Archbishop Christie of Portland, Or., in whose province the see is located. Dr. Orth ranks high among the priests of the Pacific coast, being pastor of St. Lawrence's church, Portland.

Hanna Defines His Position.

CLEVELAND, April 27.—Senator Hanna says that the attempt to impugn his motives in pairing himself against Mr. Quay was ridiculous. "I was opposed to giving Mr. Quay a seat," he said, "because under the constitution I did not believe him entitled to a seat on the appointment of the governor of Pennsylvania as it was made. I never promised to vote for Mr. Quay."

Another Postoffice Robbed.

RALEIGH, April 27.—Robbers broke into the postoffice at Mooresville, N. C., blew open the safe and stole $1,000 in money and stamps. The explosion broke several glasses in the windows, and the safe was turned over. Parties near the postoffice heard the explosion, but paid no attention to it. This is the fifth postoffice robbed in North Carolina during the past few weeks.

Miss Looney Indicted.

ELMIRA, N. Y., April 27.—Catharine Looney, the young woman arrested on the charge of securing a forged instrument to be recorded as a deed, has been indicted by the grand jury and arraigned in the supreme court. Bail was fixed at $1,500, and on request of her attorney she was remanded to the care of the police matron instead of being sent to jail.

Cholera Raging In India.

LONDON, April 27.—A special dispatch from Bombay says: "The cholera is raging fearfully at the great camp at Godra, where thousands of famine stricken natives are receiving relief. A hundred and fifty corpses were removed yesterday, but 100 others had to be left because it was impossible to procure bearers."

Thompson Men May Be Fired.

The Somerset Messenger in an editorial in this week's issue, discusses the trouble between the Reed and the Thompson Republican factions in a lively manner, and declares that notwithstanding the harmonizing process that was brought into play at the State convention there is going to be a veritable disruption at the approaching Congressional convention in Asbury Park for the selection of delegates to represent the Third district at the National convention in June. Referring to the disposition of the Bridgewater contest in the State convention, the Messenger goes on to say that at the district convention Chancery Clerk Thompson's friends will insist on his being named as one of the National delegates, despite the intentions of the Reed followers to secure that honor for F. P. Olcott, of Bernards. The Messenger then says:

The Thompson men claim that Mr. Olcott has, until the last few years, been an active Democrat, and that if David B. Hill or some personal friend should, four years hence, receive the Democratic nomination for President, he would at once jump back again. Against this is advanced the apparent y unanswerable argument that, if the Republicans win the election this fall, it will have to be accomplished by the persuasive power of the honest and omnipotent dollar, and the practical Reed contingent simply asks for the privilege of pulling Mr. Olcott's leg good and strong this year, and he can vote the Prohibition, Socialist-Labor or any other old ticket he chooses four years from now.

The leaders of the Reed faction are already claiming that the Thompson delegates will be incontinently fired from the Asbury Park gathering, and, on the surface, it looks like a pretty good guess. Mr. Thompson's friends have been jumped on so often in the last few years, and then have performed the kiss-the-rod-and-look-happy act, that the Democrats would be disappointed at any other outcome.

The importance of the great systems of electric street railways that are springing up all over the country cannot be over-estimated. The tracks of the North Jersey Traction Company already unite the important cities and towns in the northern part of this State. Trenton is another centre of the radiating lines while Camden is the important point in south Jersey. Plainfield first possessed a little system of its own without connecting with any of its neighbors. Then came the Brunswick Traction Company and the two lines met at Dunellen, opening up the Brunswick system with Bound Brook, Somerville, Raritan, New Brunswick, South River and Metuchen, all within reach of Plainfield by trolley.

Yesterday the line of the Elizabeth and Westfield Street Railway Company, between Elizabeth and Plainfield, was opened. All the spring the cars have been running to Roselle, but the connection is now complete. By this act Plainfield is now included in the great network of trolley roads that cover the northern part of the State. Hereafter it will be possible to reach Newark, Orange, Jersey City, Paterson, Passaic and other cities of that section by trolley. It means that trolley communication between Jersey City, at the very door of New York, and New Brunswick and Raritan exists.

The spread of these lines will continue. From New Brunswick a line will be extended down along the Jersey coast. Plainfield may look forward to direct communication with Metuchen in a year or two at most and to a branch to Watchung and possibly further.

Advertisements are read at all times, without regard to whether the business season be dull or active, says the Philadelphia Record. Therefore, the business man who advertises when business is quiet is bound to be remembered by the purchasing public when commercial activity becomes greater. Whosoever among merchants can keep himself in the public mind will enjoy the greatest amount of custom.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND.

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

So much has been made public about the generosity of Plainfield land companies that manufacturing concerns seem to look upon that town as a place where everything can be had free of charge. One corporation now located at Wilmington, Del., has just addressed a letter to the secretary of the Board of Trade asking for a location. Not satisfied with a grant of land for a site, the parties specify that they would like a two-story brick building, at least 100x200 feet with eighty horse power. Strange as it may appear the simple request was not granted.—Newark News.

PASSING COMMENT.

Things that Are Not Exactly New but Just as Interesting.

Daniel Little, the oldest voter as well as the oldest inhabitant of Frenchtown, cast his vote for the sixty-eighth consecutive year at the recent borough election. His first vote was cast for Andrew Jackson for President in 1832, and since that time he has never missed a single year in casting his ballot. Mr. Little, who is a retired farmer, was ninety years old on March 27. He is in full possession of all his faculties, and is seen on the streets nearly every day, as strong and steady on his feet as a man of fifty.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

Plainfield is to have the real Jeffries-Sharkey contest through the medium of the moving pictures for the first time. The management of Music Hall has arranged with Messrs. W. A. Brady and Thos. O'Rourke for the exhibition of the famous twenty-five round battle. There can be no doubt as to the genuiness of these pictures. They are said to be clear and distinct, but those who viewed the encounter will have an opportunity to form their own conclusions as to what the verdict should have been.

* * * * * * *

The story of adventures and final triumph of the son of that famous character, the Count of Monte Cristo, furnished excellent material for a stirring drama that was satisfactorily given by Tommy Shearer and his repertoire company at Music Hall last evening. "The Son of Monte Christo" proved a good attraction to exhibit the talents of Mr. Shearer's company. Of course, Shearer himself was funny. He simply couldn't help it. All he had to do was to smile at the audience and everyone laughed forthwith. Frank Munnell, as the hero of the play, was excellent. He put much force and vigor into the part. A more charming "Eugenia Danglat" than Miss Isabelle Fletcher would be hard to imagine. She filled the role with great success. The other members of the company were equally pleasing. Tonight Shearer and his players are going to attempt "Cyrano de Bergerac." It's an ambitious undertaking but the ability that they have demonstrated in the past promises well for the attempt this evening. Already there has been a large demand for seats for that performance. By special request, "The Girl from Porto Rico" is going to pay another visit here at the Saturday matinee. The attraction for Saturday evening is that thrilling western drama, "In the Heart of the Rockies."

—Delicious strawberries and a full line of vegetables at Neuman Bros. tomorrow morning.

—Choice cut roses at 25c per dozen is the attraction at Crosby & Hill's department store tomorrow.

—Borden's unsweetened condensed milk is best for all purposes. Debele's creamery. Telephone, 1113. Fine sweet cream a specialty.

—There is a decrease in the number of cases of measles in the borough, and most of those who have been suffering with the disease have recovered.

DOWN STAIRS ... THE FREE COOKING SCHOOL ...

We have never attended a better conducted school. We never knew more affable and entertaining teachers, and never saw pupils so attentive, orderly and generally well-behaved. The delicate art of good cake-baking is made so plain that it is possible for all who attend the school to make cake that must appeal to the most epicurean taste. The mixing of the ingredients has a great deal to do with the matter, but the pans used are of even greater importance.

This illustration shows the "VAN DUSEN" PANS, acknowledged to be positively the best made. These pans are used by our Lecturers who Demonstrate most clearly the importance of having the right sort of Pan in order to secure the best results. We have a full line of all the styles. They may be had singly or in entire sets. Attend at least one session of our Free Cooking and discover how much there is to be learned about Cake-baking.

"Where are you going, my pretty maid?"
"I'm going to Harker's store," she said.
"What will you do there, my pretty maid?"
"I'll get great bargains, sir," she said.

"He sells magazines at the publishers' price,
And his store is just delightfully nice.
He has pretty inkstands and paper weights,
Alphabet blocks and transparent slates.

"He has all the popular novels, too,
And special books he'll get for you.
He has paper napkins and fountain pens,
And the sweetest, loveliest, dearest things.

He has dominoes, checkers and playing cards,
Duplicate whist and tally cards,
Crokinole, archarena and also chess,
And all other kinds of games, I guess.

"He has papeteries in greatest array.
From the daintiest tints to the very gay—
"You've said quite enough, my pretty maid,
I must see that wonderful store," he said.

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, April 27.—New Market seems to be the mecca for burglars lately judging from the number of housebreakings that have occurred. Danz's Hotel was the latest to suffer from a visit of the midnight prowlers, which they entered Wednesday night and appropriated a number of bottles of fine imported wine. They were frightened off before securing anything more.

Scarlet fever has made its appearance in the borough, but it is confined to one case at present. A little child of Antonio Marianschenck's was taken sick yesterday. The house has been placed under quarantine.

Yesterday's high wind raised large clouds of dust on North avenue which could have been prevented if the Brunswick Traction Company would sprinkle the road, as their franchise requires.

Mrs. C. M. Bowyer, formerly of Dunellen, was buried from her residence at Beverly yesterday. A large number of relatives and friends attended the funeral.

The Father Light Circle will hold their regular meeting tomorrow night at the home of Miss Emma Nelson.

Mrs. Thomas Brown, of Atlantic City, has made preparations to spend the summer at Casterline's Hotel.

A baseball game took place yesterday afternoon between the Grammar and High School grades.

Miss Janie Churchill has returned from a pleasant visit with relatives in New York.

Fowler Vail had his men at work yesterday cleaning up the depot park.

Dr. Brakeley is making a number of improvements about his property.

John Hague, of Brooklyn, has purchased Mrs. Milliken's property.

The fire department held their regular meeting last night.

The Banjo Club will meet for practice tonight.

Scotch Plains, April 27.—Two stageloads of the members and friends of the Methodist church attended the commencement exercises held at Drew Seminary, Madison, yesterday. Rev. Mr. Woodruff graduated and is now a full-fledged minister.

Miss Sadie Bogar entertained a few of her Westfield and Scotch Plains friends at a social evening gathering at her home last evening. Games and social chat, followed by refreshment, passed away a very pleasant evening for all.

The schedule on the trolley line was pretty well broken up last night. The trouble was caused by one of the "cripples" jumping the track midway between here and Westfield.

Ernest Marsh, who has been confined to the house all winter, is improving and his friends are glad to see him able to be out again.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Emery and daughter, of Bayonne, have been visiting Mr. Emery's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Emery.

Seeley's Paper Mills will resume work again Monday morning after being closed for necessary repairs for two weeks.

John Bornman's new cottage on Westfield avenue is nearly completed and will be ready for occupancy in a few days.

George H. Johnston, of Westfield avenue, is painfully ill at his home suffering from muscular rheumatism.

Several from the village attended Buffalo Bill's Wild West Show in Madison Square Garden last evening.

The Bible study class of the Methodist Sunday-school will meet in the class rooms of the church this evening.

Goodwill Lodge, K. of P., held an important meeting in their rooms last night.

Somerville, April 27—The Somerset County Medical Society held their annual meeting and banquet at the Ten Eyck House yesterday. Dr. Edward J. Ill, of Newark, delivered an able address on "Treatment of Pelvic Inflammation." The following physicians were present: Fisher and Wild, Bound Brook; Taylor, Millstone, Buchanan, North Plainfield; Ten-Eyck, Franklin Park; Sutphen, Bernardsville; Hecht, Raritan; Reed, Stillwell, Flynn and McWilliams, Somerville, and W. H. Moore, delegate from the Hunterdon County Society. The following officers were elected: President, W. H Merrell, South Branch; vice-president, S. O B. Taylor, Millstone; secretary, A. L. Stillwell, Somerville; treasurer, J. P Hecht, Raritan; reporter, J. H. Buchanan, North Plainfield; permanent delegate, A. L Stillwell; delegates to State convention, Mary E. Gaston, L. T. Reed, F. Sutphen and W. H. Long, Jr.

A serenade was given Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Augustus Disborough Wednesday night on their return from their wedding trip. The X Club hired a street piano to be played in front of the bride's home for an hour, a huge bonfire was built and three cheers given for the bride and groom. After considerable noise and sport the bride and groom appeared on the piazza and acknowledged the serenade and the boys were treated to refreshments and cigars.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kenyon have returned from a visit to Mrs. Kenyon's parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. D. Stiger, at Flemington.

Miss Helen Sanderson, of Flemington, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kenyon, at their residence on Easton avenue.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

South Plainfield, April 27.—Mr. Beckstin, of New York, was out yesterday looking after the repairs being done on his place on Park avenue.

A very pleasant surprise was given Rev. and Mrs. J. A. Cubberley last evening, it being their wedding anniversary and also Mrs. Cubberley's birthday. About fifty friends of their church were in attendance including some from New Market. Among them was Rev. Mr. Fletcher who made pleasing and appropriate remarks. The celebrants were the recipients of presents in the was of money and a birthday cake; also a chair from the D. and L., of New Market.

J. D. Louizeaux, the Plainfield lumber dealer, will soon commence the erection of one or more houses on his lots on Church street.

Frank Warren, of Stelton, brother-in-law to Mrs. J. Mahar, dropped dead Wednesday.

NEW YORK CENTRAL STRIKE.

Employees In Car Shops at Buffalo Ask More Pay and Reinstatement.

BUFFALO, April 27.—About 950 men employed in the New York Central railroad shops and in the yards repairing cars struck yesterday morning for an increase of wages and the reinstatement of a number of men alleged to have been unjustly discharged. The latter the strikers claim number 200, but at the Central's shops it was stated that but 50 men had been laid off in the past month, the result of the falling off of work and for the reason that 150 extra men had been put on during the past year. There was no discrimination, they say, all of their men being members of the union, and the men who could be best spared were let go.

President Saelzer of the car repairers' union said yesterday: "What we are chiefly demanding is that Superintendent Macbeth take back the men he has discharged. He claims there is no work for them. We can arrange that to the satisfaction of everybody, we think. We have been working ten hours or more every day. We are willing that the company reduce the hours of labor to eight, and that will give work to all.

"The repairers are getting 15 cents an hour, and they want 16; the painters are getting 17 cents and want 18; the carpenters are getting 20 and want 22; mill hands are getting 20 and want 22; blacksmith helpers are getting 15 and want 17; machinists are getting 20 and want 22, and the lumbermen and scrap gang are getting 14 and want 15."

Superintendent Macbeth of the Central shops claims that the company on March 16 voluntarily increased the wages of their employees 12 per cent. Two weeks ago the men asked for a further increase amounting to 10 per cent, which the officials would not allow, stating that they could not make a further advance at present. He believed a majority of the men are contented and willing to work.

Horsewhipped by His Wife.

NEW HAVEN, April 27.—Alderman George Cooley was horsewhipped by his wife yesterday. He had just returned from a meeting of the city fathers. He quarreled with his wife over her pet cat and, she alleges, swore at her and threatened to strike her. Then she horsewhipped him soundly.

Bonds Received For Exchange.

WASHINGTON, April 27. — The amount of bonds so far exchanged at the treasury for the new 2 per cent consols is $257,194,250, of which $44,050,150 was received from individuals and institutions other than national banks.

WELCOMED NEW PASTOR

RECEPTION GIVEN TO REV. JOHN MAC MURRAY LAST EVENING.

Congregation of Monroe Avenue M. E. Church Received New Pastor at Epworth House in Social Manner.

The Monroe Avenue Methodist Episcopal church's charming auxiliary Epworth House, was crowded last evening by the congregation who had gathered to welcome their new pastor, Rev John MacMurray, and his wife.

The reception, which began at 8:15, was opened by selections on the piano and violin by Higham Brothers. Lewis Batson, president of the board of trustees, arose and in a few well chosen words made the address of welcome to the new pastor on behalf of the congregation. He also read a letter of regret from Rev. Dr. W. C. Snodgrass, who was expected to be present but was unable to do so. He was followed by Rev. George W. Smith, presiding elder, and Rev. G. W. Gardner, pastor of Grace Methodist church, who made short addresses. The pastor responded and thanked the congregation for their hearty welcome.

More music followed, after which refreshments were passed and the rest of the evening was spent in a social way and getting better acquainted with the pastor.

Rich Gold Find In Japan.

VANCOUVER, B. C., April 27.—The Empress of China brings news that vast deposits of placer gold have been discovered in the districts of Oshina, Hitaka, Ishkara and Teshiwa in Japan. The auriferous river extends for miles, and nuggets weighing half a pound have been found.

JUST A TASTE

of our Butter is enough. Henceforth we have you as a customer.

We carry three different grades of butter, each of which has its special merits.

Our Rockdale Print Butter at 25 cents per pound, is the best on earth. It has the rich, delicate flavor of the finest cream and for table use cannot be surpassed.

Some of the cheaper grades of butter sold elsewhere are often tasteless. Our lowest priced goods are of excellent flavor.

Lokal-Nachrichten aus der alten Heimath.

Schweiz.

Bern. Der Nationalrath bewilligte dem Bundesrath einen Kredit von 300,000 Francs zur Fortsetzung der Versuche in der Neubewaffnung der Artillerie. Es soll behufs Vergleiche mit der bestehenden Krupp'schen Versuchsbatterie eine 2. Batterie des belgischen Systems Coquerill-Nordenfelt angeschafft werden.—Eine neue Bergbahn soll im Berner Oberland gebaut werden und zwar von der Kleinen Scheidegg (Wengernalp) aus nach dem Männlichen. Die Länge der Bahn ist auf 4.1 Kilometer berechnet.

Zürich. Der große Stadtrath in Zürich beschloß die Errichtung eines städtischen Arbeitsamtes. Die Vermittelung von Arbeit erfolgt unentgeltlich durch dasselbe. In der Leitung der Anstalt sind Arbeiter und Arbeitgeber vertreten. Die bisher von Gewerkschaften geführte Arbeitskammer wird im Arbeitsamt aufgehen.

Solothurn. In Schönenwerd hat sich ein Komite gebildet, um die Mittel für ein Denkmal zu sammeln, das dem verstorbenen Fabrikanten und Wohlthäter C. Fr. Bally errichtet werden soll.

Aargau. Nordwestlich vom bekannten St. Laurenzenbad liegt circa 700 Meter über dem Meere ein stilles, ruhiges Mattenthal, von Wald umsäumt und reich mit Kirsch- und Aepfelbäumen bestanden, genannt die Kienbergmatten. Hier wird von gemeinnützigen Männern von Aarau ein Haus errichtet als Ferienaufenthalt für schwächliche, erholungsbedürftige Schulkinder. Die Landankäufe sind bereits abgeschlossen.

Waadt. In Lausanne fand man eine gewisse Frau Simeon-Lavanchy todt in ihrer Wohnung vor. Bei der Untersuchung ergab es sich, daß sie den Tod durch Dolchstiche gefunden und daß Diebstahl der Beweggrund der That war. Später wurde der Bruder des Opfers verhaftet; er ist ein mehrmals bestrafter Bursche, der kürzlich aus der Strafanstalt Orbe entwichen war.

Wallis. Die Unternehmer des Simplontunnels haben sich gegenüber der Jura-Simplonbahn-Gesellschaft verpflichtet, die Arbeiten einschließlich der Ausmauerung bis Mitte Mai 1904 fertig zu stellen. Da aber die tägliche Durchschnittsleistung der 12 beim Baue des Tunnels eingestellten Bohrmaschinen bis jetzt zusammen nur 9 Meter beträgt, so könnte der 19,730 Kilometer lange Tunnel erst in etwa 2200 Arbeitstagen, also in 6 Jahren, beendet werden. Die Gesammtkosten des Tunnelbaues betragen 55,000,000 Francs, also pro Kilometer 2,800,000 Francs. Beim Gotthard-Tunnel kostete ein Kilometer fast 4,000,000 Francs.

Provinz Westpreußen.

Danzig. Hierorts ist Heinrich Röckner, der frühere Prediger der freireligiösen Gemeinde, gestorben. Röckner, der während des Jahres 1848 als Führer der Königsberger Studentendeputation die studentische Versammlung auf der Wartburg und das Frankfurter Parlament besucht hatte, übernahm Ende der sechziger Jahre die politische Redaktion der „Danziger Zeitung." Er gehörte 22 Jahre lang dem Danziger Stadtverordnetenkollegium an.

Steegen. In Junkertroyl brannte das Gehöft des Besitzers Siemundt nieder. Der Schwiegervater Siemundts, der 60jährige Rentier Selke, welcher in dem brennenden Hause noch einige Habseligkeiten retten wollte, fand hierbei den Flammentod.

Rheinprovinz.

Köln. Die hiesige Arbeitsnachweisanstalt wurde im verflossenen Jahre von 15,119 Arbeitgebern und 21,047 Arbeitnehmern in Anspruch genommen; vermittelt wurden 14,299 Stellen. Auch diesmal zeigte sich wieder, daß die Zahl der männlichen Arbeitsuchenden das Angebot um fast 6000 überstieg, dagegen die Nachfrage nach weiblichen Arbeitskräften (10,752) das Angebot (6212) überwog.

Aachen. Kommerzienrath, Kirdorf und Generaldirektor Magery vom Hüttenaltienverein „Rothe Erde" stifteten gelegentlich ihres 25jährigen Dienstjubiläums 100,600 Mark zur Förderung des geistigen und sittlichen Wohles der Arbeiter und Angestellten des Werkes.

Kreuznach. Ueber das der Firma Kurt Müller gehörige Dampfsägewerk Ellern wurde der Konkurs eröffnet. Der Prokurist des Werkes, Wilhelm Arnhold, wird wegen Urkundenfälschung steckbrieflich verfolgt. Es handelt sich um Wechselfälschungen im Betrage von über 100,000 Mark.

M.-Gladbach. Dem hiesigen Verein gegen Fabrikdiebstahl gehören jetzt 184 Mitglieder an. In den sechs Jahren seines Bestehens wurden mit Unterstützung des Vereins insgesammt 244 Diebe, 134 Hehler und 74 Waarenschwindler ermittelt, während sich der Gesammtwerth der veruntreuten Waaren auf 284,656 Mark belief. Der Verein erstreckt sich über den ganzen Handelskammerbezirk M.-Gladbach.

Lifted Back to Health.

RIPANS TABULES help people back to health. They are not so very wonderful when you come to think of it. They simply supply the things that nature needs—the ingredients lacking in the food. Digestive troubles come because food is improperly selected, poorly cooked, or hastily eaten. Most digestive troubles mean acidity or sourness in the stomach; constipation of the bowels; and sluggishness of the liver. These are the things that RIPANS TABULES correct. They are serious things if you let them run on. They are miserably uncomfortable things always. Most all the ills suffered are traceable to some form of indigestion. It is safe to say that if people would keep their digestive organs active and healthy, nobody would ever be very sick.

RIPANS TABULES are made of the things most often prescribed by physicians for dyspepsia, indigestion, sour stomach, bilious headache, constipation and all other disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels. They make the appetite better, digestion easier and more thorough, bring clearness to the head and new vigor to the body.

NEW STYLES.

Novel Ideas For Cloth and Other Gowns.

Some of the most elegant among the new costumes are made with a polonaise which is a sort of long, tight redingote laid in plaits at the back and with a train like a skirt. In front it opens over the tablier of a separate skirt. These polonaises are seen on gowns of lace, liberty foulard and Louis Quinze taffeta and also in plainer style for cloth costumes, being trimmed with stitching, straps or folds of satin and worn over a skirt of the same material.

Embroideries and all sorts of rich accessories are now employed upon cloth gowns, making them of great elegance. On the other hand, the newest tailor made gowns are of peau de soie, cut in the most severe and correct style. The skirt is plain except for stitched straps over the seams. The jacket is closed by a fly and has stitched revers and straps upon the seams and absolutely no other ornament. This is the extreme of fashion. Taffeta jackets of the same uncompromising character are appearing as a wrap for general use.

The illustration shows a costume of lilac voile. The skirt has two scant circular flounces at the foot, bordered with stitching and headed by a band of violet satin. It closes at the left side under a band of violet satin and is ornamented at the back with stitched shirrings. The bodice is gathered at the belt behind and plaited diagonally in front and has a plastron closed at the side by ornamental buttons on a violet satin band. The top of the bodice has two scant circular ruffles with stitched edges and headed by violet satin, and the tight sleeves have bands of satin at the wrist. The belt is of satin, the collar of guipure. The hat of lilac straw is trimmed with lilac tulle fastened by a pearl buckle. A white quill and a cluster of azaleas complete the decoration. JUDIC CHOLLET.

SUMMER HATS.

Airy Materials and Trimmings For Millinery Purposes.

Thin, transparent tissues are in great favor in the millinery world. Gauze, tulle, lace, lace straws and braids made of horsehair are all used in abundance, with quantities of flowers and foliage.

An immense variety of shape and style is seen in headgear. There are tiny toques of tulle, large draped toques, wide brimmed hats, hats with almost no brim, hats with a flower crown and straw brim, and vice versa; high crowns, low crowns, turbans of taffeta, sailor hats and toques, all of straw, with straw trimmings.

Toques composed entirely of violets, roses or poppies are worn with elegant costumes, a drapery of tulle being the only trimming.

On hats of tulle, horsehair braid and lace straw very delicate flowers are used, such as morning glories, lilacs, pompon roses, bluets and hyacinths, mingled with tulle and lace.

Apricots of velvet are now seen and are in excellent imitation of the natural fruit, destined to ornament large hats of La Valliere style, in combination with flowers.

For elderly ladies the capote of jet spangles is preferred and is trimmed with wallflowers, violets and hyacinths. Such flowers as lilies of the valley and daisies are consecrated to young girls.

The hat shown in the cut is of pale mauve straw, the brim being rippled. At the back is an immense bow of the same kind of straw, which raises the brim and rests upon the hair. A thick garland of pale pink moss roses passes forward along each side of the crown, diminishing toward the front.

Historical and Statistical Data Bearing on the News of the day From Foreign Lands

Gold Mining in Ecuador. Capital is slowly flowing into Ecuador for the development of the mining interests of the country, and in time the vast mountain system of South America may be giving forth their proportionate share of the world's gold supply. In this connection a little history of gold mining in Ecuador will not be out of place.

As early as 1549 the Spaniards began to work the rich mineral veins found near Zaruma, in the province of Del Oro, and they are to-day worked by an American company. The placer mines near the rivers Santiago, Uimbi, and Cachabi, in the province of Esmeraldas, were also early exploited; but these were all abandoned when slavery was abolished. The most attractive field thus far discovered is that of Zaruma and the provinces southeast of Guayas.

A report on the Zaruma district in 1876 by Dr. Wolf caused the formation of several companies, but none of them survived. Afterward the South American Development company, of New York, was formed and is now successfully mining. The same can be said of the National, a small native company. The ore found carries one to four ounces of pure gold per ton, and the vein varies from 39.37 to 59.06 inches in width, occasionally running much wider. It is incased in porphyritic rock covering an area of about 38.61 square miles. The upper or surface veins carry "free gold" to a depth of 65.6 to 98.4 feet. Below this depth it is found generally in combination with copper and iron pyrites; in some cases galena and zinc blendes occur, with specks of pure copper. The yield of these ores is three-fourths of an ounce to one ounce; but in some instances rich pockets have yielded 30 ounces, and in one case 300 ounces. After smelting, the product shows 73.04 per cent. of gold and 26.06 per cent. of silver. Motive power for all purposes is afforded by the Amarillo and Calera rivers, more properly mountain rapids. Timber is found in ample quantity, but transportation is costly. Peons familiar with the business can be employed at from 60 to 80 cents per day in United States gold; native miners, at $1 to $1.20; foreigners, by contract. The climate is trying near the streams, even at an altitude of 2,000 feet; but the higher ranges are healthy. Temperature is from 14 degrees to 25 degrees C., according to elevation.

The district is about 60 miles from the coast and is reached by very bad roads, or mountain trails, which make transportation slow, difficult and expensive, especially during the rainy season, when the road is a mere bog. This is the most serious drawback, work being frequently retarded thereby.

The mining in Zaruma district is principally by drifts, and the mines are self-draining. There are also placer mines in the district, but they have received little attention.

Despite her ample deposits, Ecuador is at the bottom of the list of South American republics in gold production, largely on account of lack of roads. The Engineering and Mining Journal places the amount produced in 1897 and 1898 at only 440.7 pounds; but this is erroneous, as a portion is used locally and more leaves the republic by way of Colombia. From June to October, 1899, the South American Development company exported about $36,000 worth; they are now shipping about $7,500 per month. It is believed that this product will soon be doubled or trebled.

MOTIVE POWER FURNISHED BY THE MOUNTAIN RIVERS.

No Openings for Foreigners. Foreign consuls in Japan are uniting in their advice to the young men of their respective countries to stay away from Japan, if they intend going there to seek positions. United States Consul General Gowey, at Yokohama, says of the conditions there:

"There are more young men here seeking clerical and official places than there are positions to be filled. Every issue of the English daily newspapers contains notices from young men seeking positions, many of them claiming experience in bookkeeping or the silk or curio trade, and the ability to speak and write French, German, etc.

"There is no chance whatever to obtain positions under the imperial government, for the tendency in official circles is to discharge foreigners as fast as practicable and fill their places with Japanese.

"Every year finds an increasing number of young Japanese who have been educated abroad coming home and seeking positions, and it is, of course, the natural and inevitable thing that they should fill the places in their own government.

"I would not recommend Americans to come to this country unless they have secured employment in advance."

Mines in British Columbia Closed. The northwestern states are likely to have an influx of miners from British Columbia, caused by the closing of four of the largest mines in that portion of British territory. These four mines combined were shipping at least 4,000 or 5,000 tons of ore per week and, united, employed in the neighborhood of 1,000 men. The mines yield gold and copper. The managers give as a reason for closing down the necessity of introducing new machinery. The discharged miners, however, believe that the principal cause for the suspension of work is the eight-hour law, enacted by the last session of the provincial parliament, under which the miners have been receiving the same compensation for eight hours' work that they formerly received for ten.

Short Crops Expected in France. Both the wheat and rye crops of France promise to be short this year. The minister of agriculture has just published an estimate of the present condition of the crops of wheat and winter rye sown this year. This year's acreage of wheat covers a surface of 16,869,509 acres, against 17,097,837 acres last year. It is estimated that the production will be 344,385,624 bushels, against 366,117,778 bushels last year. The acreage of winter rye sown this year is 3,559,974 acres; last year, 3,652,509 acres. Present prospects indicate a production of 64,157,815 bushels, against 69,964,646 bushels last year, a decrease of 3,573,313 bushels.

Japanese Immigration Statistics. Japanese immigration statistics recently given out by the Japanese government show that Japanese emigrants abroad at present are distributed as follows: In Hawaii, 40,000; in Australia, 4,000; in Canada, 4,000; and in Peru, 1,000. Besides these, there are, of course, a large number of Japanese emigrants in China and Corea. There are 12 emigration establishments in Japan and two more in course of formation.

New Trust Formed in Germany. The latest industrial combination in Germany that is attracting attention is the recently formed safety fuse trust, in which the eight manufacturers of this line in Germany are interested. These manufacturers have been compelled to take this step in order to protect themselves as a result of competition. The idea of pooling their interests was not a new one with them; indeed, they were only perfecting a plan which was started in 1880, when they entered into an agreement not to sell fuses except at uniform prices. First one manufacturer and then another broke the agreement in their efforts to secure orders, until in 1893 the manufacturers declared war upon each other, with the result that fuses were in many instances sold below the actual cost of production.

The trust does not fix the market prices for fuses in all countries. In the United States, Mexico, Italy, Africa, Russian Poland and England they can be sold without regard to the prices which have been fixed by the trust. This is, of course, in order to allow German fuse manufacturers to compete with those of other countries.

As an immediate result of the formation of the safety fuse trust, the prices in Germany have advanced about 25 per cent. since the first of the year.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning April 29—Comment by Rev. S. H. Doyle.

TOPIC.—What is God's due?—Luke xx, 19-26.

"Is it lawful for us to give tribute unto Cæsar or no?" With this question the Pharisees sought to entrap the Saviour. If He said "Yes," they would charge Him before the people with being against them and an emissary of the Roman government. If He said "No," they would inform on Him and have Him accused of disloyalty to the government. But, as ever, He defeated their plans. Asking for a penny, a Roman coin containing Cæsar's image, He inquires, "Whose image and superscription hath it?" They answer, "Cæsar's." "Render, therefore," He replies, "unto Cæsar the things which be Cæsar's and unto God the things which be God's." Obligations are owed to Cæsar representing human government, and these obligations should be fulfilled. But beyond them are moral and religious obligations which belong to God. These debts should be paid to God. There is no conflict in the obligations. A man should be both pious and patriotic, a saint and a citizen. He should be loyal to God, who alone is king in the moral world, and to Cæsar, who is king in the secular world.

Since we should render unto God the things that are God's, it is very natural to inquire: What are the things of God? What is God's due? It is impossible for us to estimate what we owe God. His gifts to us are so numerous and so valuable that we cannot compute that which we owe to Him for them or what is due from us to God in consideration for what God has done for us. Among many things:

1. We owe God a debt of gratitude. All His gifts are mercies to us. They are absolutely unmerited. They come to us without any worthiness upon our part at all. Therefore gratitude is due unto God for them. Unmerited mercies should call forth our deepest and truest gratitude unto God.

2. We owe God a debt of love. God has given us a love that is unspeakable and unsurpassed. He has manifested His love in the gift of His Son to die on the cross for our sins. This is His priceless gift to us. It should call forth our love to Him in return. Love should beget love. Love is under obligation to love, and, therefore, we should love Him because He first loved us.

3. We owe God a debt of service. God has bought our lives. We were dead in trespasses and in sins, but He redeemed us. We have been bought with a price. Therefore we are not our own and should serve and glorify Him to whom we belong. The service of the owned belongs to the owner. Therefore the service of our lives is due unto God. He owns us.

We owe God more than we can ever pay in ourselves. There is but one way in which our debt can be fully canceled—we must cast ourselves upon God's mercy in Jesus Christ, and for His sake God will abundantly pardon us and cancel all the debt that we owe.

THE PRAYER MEETING.

The topical reference is mainly a question and an answer. It is therefore appropriate to have a "question box" meeting. Call the roll and have as many as will respond by asking a question on some phase of things lawful and unlawful, our duties to God and our relations to government and society.

BIBLE READINGS.

Ex. xiii, 1, 2; Lev. xxiii, 9-14; Ps. xxiv, 1; Mal. iii, 8-12; Prov. xvi, 8; Math. ii, 1-11; Acts iv, 36, 37; xx, 28; Rom. xii, 1, 2; I Cor. vi, 19, 20; vii, 23, 24; I Tim. v, 8.

Some People Who Need Watching.

People who are on the watch for frauds generally need close inspection. The disposition to magnify trifles and discern flaws is fatal. It is often a disease for the alienist to cure, but usually it is a mask to cover one's own faults. In fact, the more convinced a man is that his neighbor or competitor is a scoundrel the more certain it is that the rascality is in the critic. No one is secure from calumny, but the tricks of the envious and the malicious always recoil upon themselves.—Jewish Messenger.

Music.

Music, heavenly and holy art, thou hast ever been a great help in stirring the depths of men's souls to a higher devotion, to a deeper attachment to Deity! But thou hast not been intended to drown God's word—aye, and to drown the sweet words of prayer! Music should be a help, but not what it has really come to be—the sole object of the worshiper's attention.—Jewish Voice.

He Is Ever Coming.

If the Lord should come in the morning
As I went about my work,
The little things and the quiet things
That a servant cannot shirk,
Though nobody ever sees them,
And only the dear Lord cares
That they always are done in the light of the sun,
Would He take me unawares?

If my Lord should come at noonday,
The time of the dust and heat,
When the glare is white and the air is still,
And the hoofbeats sound in the street;
If my dear Lord came at noonday
And smiled in my tired eyes,
Would it not be sweet His look to meet?
Would He take me by surprise?

If the Lord came hither at evening
In the fragrant dew and dusk,
When the world drops off its mantle
Of daylight like a husk,
And flowers in wonderful beauty,
And we fold our hands and rest,
Would His touch of my hand, His low command,
Bring me unhoped for zest?

Why do I ask and question?
He is ever coming to me,
Morning and noon and evening,
If I have but eyes to see,
And the daily load grows lighter,
The daily cares grow sweet,
The Master is near, the Master is here;
I have only to sit at His feet.

Topic For the Week Beginning April 29, "What Is God's Due?" Text, Luke xx, 19-26.

"He perceived their craftiness."

Jesus was in the temple at Jerusalem teaching the people and preaching the glad news to them of salvation from sin and the setting up of God's kingdom of holiness among men.

The chief priests and scribes were angry at Him and determined to silence Him by some means—fair means, if possible; foul means, if necessary. If He set Himself up as a religious teacher, He should have license from the recognized authorities unless, indeed, He claimed to be an inspired prophet like John Baptist or the Old Testament prophets. Hoping to silence Him, they demanded His authority for teaching, knowing He had never been authorized by them as a rabbi.

Jesus turns upon them with a question as to how they regarded the baptizing practiced by John in the wilderness. It had never been approved by them, was not under their direction, but they had been powerless to prevent it, though it struck heavily against their teachings. They dared not publicly say it was not inspired of God for fear of violence from the people who believed John to be a prophet.

The more fully Jesus shows the evil spirit in them the more deeply are they angered at Him. They send men to entrap Him in some statement that will make it possible to denounce Him to the Roman governors. "Ought we Jews to pay tribute to Cæsar?" It is a crafty question. The Jews resented bitterly the subjugation of their nation by the Romans and the imposition of tribute, or taxes. If Jesus favors its payment, He will incur their hate. If He says it should not be paid, He will be declared guilty of stirring up rebellion against the government. But His truthful clearness of soul and wisdom are more than a match for their craft and deceit. "Give to Cæsar what belongs to him; give God His dues."

What is due to God?

First of all stands honest attention to His message. John Baptist had preached repentance; Jesus came preaching a message of Divine love and compassion. It contradicted the old course of formalism and heartless customs which had been established as the religion of Israel. It was due to God to listen to His messengers with receptive mind and heart.

It was due God that when the evil of their past lives and the hollowness of their religious forms were clearly shown they should forsake them and adopt the true and sincere way.

It was due God that if they would not mend their own sinful ways they should not hinder other people hearing the gospel and accepting its conditions.

It was due God that the recognized leaders in religious life should deal openly and honestly with the Lord's messengers and message.

How are you dealing with them? Are you on the side of Christ or with the priests?

General Conference.

Every four years during the month of May the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal church meets to review the work done by the church, elect general officers and make laws for the whole church. It is the highest court of appeal and so has judicial as well as legislative powers.

This year it meets in Chicago in the Auditorium, said to be the finest audience hall in the world. The membership is composed of delegates elected by the annual conferences of ministers and laymen elected by bodies of laymen in each conference appointed for the purpose by local churches. No laymen were delegates until 1872. This year it is proposed that the number of ministers and laymen shall be equal, and if this plan is adopted the body will consist of about 700 members. Some of the most distinguished men of the nation are among the delegates. There will also be representatives present from various countries of Europe, South America, Africa, India, Japan, China, Korea and Mexico.

The bishops take turns in presiding. All members of the church, young and old, should read the church papers and keep posted on the doings of this most important body in our church and one of the most influential representative bodies of the world.

Methodist Theology.

One cause of the marvelous success of Methodism is found in the doctrines it has preached. They commend themselves to the devout student of the Bible as simple truth adapted to the understanding of all men, learned or ignorant, and firmly based in human nature as well as in the Christian Scriptures. In the main they are briefly stated as—

Free Will—Placing the responsibility of sin on the sinner.

Unlimited Atonement—Opening free salvation to all.

Gracious Ability—Encouraging and leading the sinner to faith.

Witness of the Holy Spirit—Leading the convert to communion with God.

Possible Apostasy—Warning him to "hold fast the profession of his faith," with the assurance of present salvation.

Entire Sanctification—Inspiring him to press on to every height of holiness.

HAS A FINE RECORD.

Admiral Terry, the Commander at Washington Navy Yard.

Will Become the Ranking Officer of the American Navy, Next to Admiral Dewey, in the Course of Three Years.

Rear Admiral Silas Wright Terry, who became the junior flag officer of the service by promotion to the highest grade the other day, and who will become the ranking officer of the navy, next to Admiral Dewey, in the course of three years, has recently been placed in command of the Washington navy yard and ordnance factory. His record is one of the best in the service. It was his good fortune to be in the position frequently, in his career afloat, to grasp opportunities for distinguishing himself, as well as reflecting great credit on the flag.

Admiral Terry is a Kentuckian, and was 55 years old on December 28 last. He entered the naval academy at the age of 16 as an acting midshipman. Before completing his course, at the outbreak of the civil war, he was ordered to active sea duty, and from June, 1861, to September, 1862, he served on the Dale in the Atlantic coast blockade. His first fight occurred while he was a member of a boat expedition up the South Edisto river, in April, 1862, when he was attacked by confederate sharpshooters. After this he was promoted to ensign and transferred to the flagship Wabash, and thence to the Alabama as aid on the staff of Rear Admiral Lee, until July, 1863, when he joined the sloop Dakotah, blockading the mouth of Cape Fear river. In the autumn he was transferred to the flagship Black Hawk, of the Mississippi squadron, where he took part in the Red river expedition, and for conspicuous bravery and good judgment was placed in command of the transport Benefit,

ADMIRAL TERRY, U. S. N.
(Commandant of the United States Navy Yard at Washington.)

with a detachment of 50 men and two brass howitzers, to carry dispatches and supplies for Admiral Porter.

Of Terry's discharge of these perilous duties, Admiral Porter, in an official report to the secretary of the navy, dated May 4, 1864, commented most highly on his 21-year-old officer.

President Lincoln promptly advanced Terry five numbers in the grade of lieutenants for gallantry and Admiral Porter appointed him detail officer on his staff, retaining him in this capacity until the close of the war. Terry was with the admiral during the operations against Forts Fisher and Anderson, at the capture of Wilmington and through the James river campaign, participating in the fall of Richmond and accompanying President Lincoln into the city the morning it was occupied by Gen. Grant.

Terry then had a European cruise on the Ticonderoga, a tour of theoretical inspection at Annapolis, served as executive officer of the flagships Severn and Worcester, was inspector of the Maryland lighthouse district, and finally, in 1881, secured his first independent command of a regular warship, the cruiser Marion, attached to the South Atlantic.

After a tour of shore duty at League island, Commander Terry was made a flag officer, a distinction unique in its grade, and given command of a training squadron, consisting of the Portsmouth, the Jamestown and the Saratoga. In 1887 he came to Washington for board duty for five years. He was promoted to captain in 1893, and received command of the Newark. In that vessel he was with Admiral Benham at Rio during the Brazilian insurrection. During the war with Spain he commanded the receiving ship Franklin at Norfolk, and, though petitioning for a fighting ship, he performed excellent and essential service in recruiting and manning the active ships. At the close of the war he was placed in command of the battleship Iowa, and after taking that vessel around the Pacific was summoned to Washington as a member of the examining board, to be transferred a few weeks ago to the command of the Washington yard.

Profit from Refuse.

Clinker from the refuse destructors at Bradford, England, which in 1894 cost nearly $5,000 for carting and dumping, is now turned to profitable purpose in mortar and concrete making. Ground and mixed with cement, it has been found to give excellent results for the formation of reservoirs and inverts. During the winter months screened clinker has found favor for sprinkling on roads made slippery by the frost.

Contracts Made by 'Phone.

A contract made over the telephone is legal and binding, according to a decision recently rendered in a Pennsylvania lawsuit.

Think It Over,

How much money have you wasted in your lifetime on dirty grain?

It is probably quite a sum, and you might just as well have saved it. Don't buy grain anywhere you happen to see a feed sign. Come to us and you will always be sure of getting your money's worth.

Why? Because our grain is bought in the west by our own men and brought east in large lots, thoroughly cleaned in our perfect plant, and delivered direct to the consumer, thus saving all intermediate profits.

THIRTY-SEVEN CASES.

Quite an Increase in Scarlet Fever Epidemic Since Yesterday's Reports.

Quite an increase in the cases of scarlet fever in this city is reported since yesterday, when it first became known that the malady was epidemic. Up to 1 o'clock this afternoon there had been thirty cases reported to the Board of Health. The health officials are not apprehensive, however, about serious results, and believe that they will have the disease under control in a short time.

Yesterday afternoon an investigation was made in the hope of determining the cause of the malady in this city, but when Dr. Murray, president of the Board of Health, was asked by a Press reporter what the results were, he declared that the investigation had developed nothing definite in the matter.

In the borobgh seven fully developed cases of scarlet fever have been reported to the Board of Health up to noon today. Several other suspected cases are being watched. In five of the seven cases, the patients have been drinking milk purchased from the same milk man. All of the borough cases are light.

South Jersey Democrats for Bryan.

James E. Martine and W. W. St. John, of this city, attended the Democratic dinner in Camden last night, Mr. Martine making the principal address to the large assemblage of South Jersey leaders who were present. His talk was characteristically enthusiastic, and at the conclusion he was greeted with a veritable ovation. The sentiment in favor of Bryan's renomination was very pronounced on the part of the South Jersey men, and they dwelt especially on the idea that the New Jersey delegation to Kansas City should be instructed to vote solidly for the Nebraskan.

Mrs. William Chamberlain and family, of Westfield, are spending a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. McIntyre, of North avenue.

ROBINSON POUND DEAD.

Had Been Ill With Consumption for a Long Time—Member of Friends' Society.

Robinson Pound, aged forty-three years, died at 3 o'clock this morning at his home, 255 East Second street, after an illness of six-and-a-half years with consumption. During the past four months Mr. Pound was confined to the house, and his death was expected at any moment.

Mr. Pound was born in this city in the old house that stood where the Y. M. C. A. building is now located. He was the son of the late George Pound, and a brother-in-law of A. M. Griffin, and worked at the latter's hardware store for about four years. He was a member of the Friends' Society on Watchung avenue, and was always faithful in attendance at the various meetings. He leaves a wife and two children, a boy and girl. The funeral services will be held next Monday afternoon from the house at 2:30 o'clock.

Funeral of Late William Dunavan.

The funeral services of the late William Dunavan were held from the house yesterday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, and were conducted by Rev. Cornelius Scheck, pastor of Trinity Reformed church, who read the Scriptures and spoke comforting words to the bereaved ones. He also spoke words of commendation about the departed and his upright life. There was as a large attendance of relatives and friends, including all of the children. There were many floral tributes, including a set piece from the children, one from the Epworth League of the First M. E. church, and another from the fire department. Interment took place in Evergreen Cemetery.

George Gayle is Fast Recovering.

The condition of George Gayle, of 18 Vine street, who was thrown out of a delivery wagon of the H. E. Gayle Hardware Company Wednesday morning, is very gratifying. Although both wheels of the wagon passed over his legs, no bones were broken, but he was badly bruised. Several hours after the accident, while in his son's store, he fainted away, and his family and friends were very much alarmed for a time, but he is gaining strength every day and will soon be out again.

Miss Merrell, of Annandale, has been visiting friends in the borough for a short time.

Charles Armstrong, of Camden, representing a large printing house in Philadelphia, is visiting his brother, T. S. Armstrong, the druggist.

SUPPOSE!

SUPPOSE! your house is on fire, what is the easiest way to summon the Fire Department?

SUPPOSE! a member of your household is suddenly and dangerously ill, immediate attendance of a physician means LIFE or DEATH, how most quickly obtain that attendance?

SUPPOSE! any one of the many emergencies when Police aid is desirable or vitally necessary, how may these guardians of life and property be instantly notified?

SUPPOSE! unexpected guests arrive, the larder is low and the dinner hour near, how connect with the butcher, the baker and the confectioner and hurriedly gather the supplies that shall make the dinner a credit to the housekeeper?

SUPPOSE! you wish to gather a group of guests for an evening to do honor to an occasion or a friend—how most conveniently communicate with their acceptance or regrets?

SUPPOSE! you are interested in the Stock Market, or commercial matters of any sort, but desire to stop at your country house for a few days—how keep in constant touch with Wall Street and the market centres?

SUPPOSE! you want seats for the Play, a box for the Opera, a carriage for a drive to engage places at a restaurant—how in incredibly short time arrange it all?

SUPPOSE! you are obliged to travel, leaving a member of your family ill at home—how can you receive news at any station from Boston to Omaha—from Montreal to Key West?

SUPPOSE! you are worried and flurried and bored by the petty details of living—the marketing, the shopping and the annoyance of the hustling streets—how sit in your office or library and press a button which shall do it all for you?

Porch Railing Gave Way.

Mrs. Henry Wyckoff, of Clark street Westfield, while visiting Mrs. Harry Kitchell, of this city, last Wednesday, met with an accident which will detain her at home for sometime. She was leaving the house to return home when the porch railing, on which she was leaning, gave way, throwing her on a picket fence. The sharp points pierced her face and lacerated the flesh. She was taken home after proper treatment, and is doing as well as can be expected.

Wild West Show is Coming Here.

Pawnee Bill's Historic Wild West is booked to appear in this city, Friday May 11th. Fred Wynne, the hustling press agent and manager of advance car No. 2, is in town today, looking after the arrangements for this well-known out-door entertainer. He says the show this year is better than ever and predicts an enjoyable entertainment for Plainfield people who attend.

Released The Hypnotist.

J. McCormick, the alleged hypnotist, who has been spending five days in the borough lockup for vagrancy, was released yesterday.

A Strange Arrest.

FISHKILL LANDING, N. Y., April 27.—The police here arrested a man for being drunk. He was in a dazed condition, and his clothing was much soiled. When searched, letters on his person indicated he was William D. Ashley of Foxboro, Mass. He told the officers searching him to look underneath his clothing. They discovered a bag containing $4,000 in bills. Later the man said that his name was William D. Ashley and that relatives had him confined in an inebriate asylum at Foxboro.

Home From the Philippines.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 27.—The first detachment of regular troops that have served two years in active service in the Philippines to be returned to this country arrived here yesterday on the transport Sherman from Manila via Nagasaki. They are the home battalion of the Fourteenth regiment, the greater part of the regiment being made up from men recruited from San Francisco and different sections of California.

Liquor Dealers to Discontinue.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., April 27.—Many liquor dealers throughout Orange county are forced to discontinue business owing to the refusal of the surety companies to furnish bonds as heretofore. The companies complain that their losses during the past year throughout the state have been very heavy because of damages resulting from violations of the Raines law.

CHANCELLORSHIP FOR JUSTICE MAGIE.

Governor Voorhees Decides on the Successor to the Late Chancellor McGill.

JUDGE MAGIE WILL ACCEPT.

JUSTICE DEPUE TO BE ADVANCED TO CHIEF JUSTICE.

The Selection of Magie Gives General Satisfaction—General Sewell's Attitude Compromise on Chief Justiceship.

Gov. Voorhees stopped in his office at Elizabeth yesterday before starting for Basking Ridge to attend the funeral of Rev. Dr. J. C. Rankin, father of former Mayor Rankin. He announced that he had tendered to Chief Justice Magie the appointment of Chancellor, to succeed Alexander T. McGill, who died a week ago.

Justice Magie will accept the offer, and intimated last night that the matter was settled as far as he is concerned. He has not yet formally accepted, but will probably do so this morning. The Justice spent most of his time yesterday morning in the Chancery Chambers examining the routine and asking questions.

In Trenton Governor Voorhees' judicial appointments are looked upon as in the nature of a compromise. The tendering of the position of Chief Justice to Justice Depue is the compromise in question.

The choice for the Chief Justiceship lay between Justices Collins and Gummere, but the Governor preferred to appoint Justice Collins. General Sewell, however, wanted Gummere named, and was as much opposed to Justice Collins as the Governor was to Gummere. The Governor not desiring to offend General Sewell by naming Justice Collins, and being unwilling to name Justice Gummere, chose Justice Depue.

Justice Depue would have been selected in the first place but for his age. He will be seventy-four years old next October. He is one of the most learned Judges who has ever sat on the Bench.

All these appointments are ad interim only, and next winter the Governor will have to rename these men, or others in their stead, in order that they may be confirmed by the Senate. The present term of Chief Justice Magie expires March 1st, 1904. The salary of the Chancellor is the same as that of the Chief Justice, namely, $10,000. The Associate Justices receive $9,000.

Chief Justice William J. Magie was born at Elizabeth, December 9th, 1832. His father, David Magie, was for nearly forty five years pastor of the Second Presbyterian church of Elizabeth, and was also a native of the same town. The future Justice entered Princeton College in 1852 and was graduated in 1855. He studied law with the late Francis B. Chetwood, of Elizabeth, and was admitted as an attorney in 1856, and as a counsellor in 1859. From 1863 to 1871 he was Prosecutor of the Pleas for Union county.

WANT EIGHT HOURS.

Journeymen Plumbers Ask for a Concession From Their Bosses.

At a recent meeting of the plumbers of the city it was decided to ask the bosses for eight hours work with nine hours pay. The demand has been made and the bosses will meet in a few days and make a reply to the communication. There seems to be but little doubt but what the demand will be granted. The plumbers are now well organized and have a good set of officers. It is impossible to learn who they are for their business is transacted in secret and not even the bosses know them.

Last Time in This City.

W. H. Miller will officiate tomorrow for the last time as organist of the First Presbyterian church. A week from tomorrow he will take his new position in New York. This is also true at the Crescent Avenue church, where Frank H. Smith will play for the last time. He also goes to New York to accept a position as organist at one of the city churches.

Not Settled Yet.

Chris Bock and James Sisser expected to settle their troubles yesterday concerning the Somerset street saloon case, but the latter failed to put in an appearance and the trouble still exists.

Paid His Fine.

"Duck" Wilson, who has been spending a few days in the borough lockup, paid his fine of $10 yesterday and was released.

DARING ROBBERS THESE

FOUND IN THE ACT OF LOOTING ROSS FOSTER'S HOUSE.

Escaped When Discovered by Mrs. Foster, Who was Alone With Several Small Children.

North Plainfield is just now having trouble with burglars. Early last Tuesday morning two men attempted to enter Mayor Smalley's house in Washington Park, but at the point of a revolver they were frightened away. Early last Monday evening two men entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Foster, which is located on the outskirts of the Park, near Scribner's brick yard. From what can be learned they are the same men who tried to enter Mayor Smalley's home.

Mr. Foster was in Trenton that night and his oldest boy was in Newark, leaving Mrs. Foster and several small children at home. About 8 o'clock in the evening Mrs. Foster heard a squeaky noise, the sound coming from the second floor. She sent her little girl to the next floor to see what the trouble was, and as she reached the head of the stairs and turned to her mother's room, she saw a big man standing in the room. She was frightened and could scarcely speak. The man threatened to murder her if she screamed, but this did not prevent her from doing so. The scream brought Mrs. Foster to the second floor. When she reached her room there stood the man with his arms outstretched and refused to allow them to enter the room.

Mrs. Foster did not lose her head, but sent her little girl downstairs for the oldest boy at home, and told her to send him for Mr. Scribner. The boy secured a lantern and hastened across the fields to Mr. Scribner's home. He had scarcely started when the robber hastened to a window to make his escape.

As the boy was making his way to Mr. Scribner's he looked around just in time to see a window in his father's room open. Then a man jumped to the ground and disappeared. He had been in Mr. Foster's room, but while his pal was in the other room being held up he did not dare come out. In a few minutes Mr. Scribner returned with the boy and an investigation was made. The two men had entered the room by the porch and had collected many valuables which had been placed in one bundle.

Both men were very large and dark complexioned. One wore a red bandana about his neck, and both wore slouch hats.

ALUMNI RECEPTION.

It Will Form Part of the Commencement Ceremonies of the High School in June.

It has been definitely decided that the alumni reception will form part of the commencement ceremonies at the Plainfield High School in June. The regular graduation exercises will be held at Music Hall, Thursday evening, June 21st. The reception will be held the same evening from 10 o'clock until 1 at the Casino. The reception this year is under the charge of the classes of 1898 and 1899. Henry W. Brower, president of the class of 1898, is chairman of the committee of arrangements. The reception will be on slightly different lines than last year. An attempt will be made to have a regular reception the first part of the evening as was the custom at one time and then have it followed by a dance.

"Bob's" Untimely End.

The fox terrier puppy "Bobs," named after the English commander in Africa, met with an untimely end Thursday night. "Bobs" was the property of Sergeant Kieley's little son. That evening "Bobs" ran out on West Fourth street as a trolley car was passing and his young life was suddenly ended beneath the wheels of the car. His youthful owner sadly mourns his loss.

Perseverance Lodge's Good Time.

Perseverance Lodge, No. 74, K. of P., gave an entertainment and smoker to the lodge members and their friends at the lodge rooms last evening. An enjoyable programme of violin and piano solos and singing was furnished by New York talent. At the conclusion of the entertainment the lodge rooms were thrown open for visitors. The smoker closed the evening's pleasure.

SUING FOR EXCESS OF LICENSE FEES

The Setting Off of Borough of Dunellen Caused All the Trouble.

$50 TOO MUCH EACH YEAR.

HOTEL KEEPERS CLAIM THEY ARE ENTITLED TO REBATE.

The Case Tried in Middlesex County Court Yesterday—Briefs Submitted to Justice Collins, Who Reserved Decision.

An interesting suit was on trial in the Middlesex county court yesterday before Justice Collins, brought by Francis Mulvey against the inhabitants of the township of Piscataway for the recovery of certain excess license fees paid the township prior to 1898. Theodore H. Strong represented the plaintiff and H. C. Suydam, of Plainfield, the defendants.

Mr. Mulvey together with Patrick Fitzgerald, Lena H. Dantz and Charles Mulvey, all of whom have assigned their claims over to the plaintiff, secured inn and tavern licenses, according to the opening of Lawyer Strong, from the county courts during 1896 and 1897, paying a license fee of $150.

Before any testimony was taken Lawyer Strong read a written stipulation relatives to certain facts agreed upon by the counsel concerned. This statement gave the points agreed upon as follows:

In 1886 the population of the township exceeded 3,000 the number necessary to justify a license fee of $150. In 1896 the borough commission of Dunellen became a borough and Dunellen was set off from the township as a distinct municipality. This reduced the population below the figure of 3,000 and yet the license fee remained the same and was not cut down to $100 till 1898. The suit was brought for the recovery of these excess fees with interest from the time they were paid to the township through the County Clerk.

That the persons licensed were as named above; that they lived outside the borough of Dunellen; that Dunellen became a borough commission in 1886 and a borough in 1896 and that the limits of each were identical; that the township population from 1886 to 1896 including Dunellen exceeded 3,000 and since the borough was set apart was less than 3,000; that the fee from 1886 to 1896 was $150 and that in 1898 it was reduced to $100.

It was also admitted by counsel for the defendants that the county had paid the fees to the township each year.

The first witness was Francis Mulvey, who testified that he paid a license fee of $150 during the years 1896 and 1897 and $100 in 1898.

On cross-examination he said he had made no effort in 1896 or 1897 to see what the population of the township really was.

Similar testimony was given by the three other parties interested.

No witnesses were called on the part of the defence. The case was argued by the two attorneys and briefs will be submitted to the justice, who reserved his decision.

The amount involved is about $500.

RECEPTION TO YOUNG COUPLE.

Mr. and Mrs. William Jennings Pleasantly Greeted by Friends.

Mr. and Mrs. William Jennings, who were quietly married Wednesday, returned home from New York last evening in time to attend a reception being held in their honor at the home of Mrs. Jennings grandmother, Mrs. John Stewart, of West Front street. A large number of relatives and friends from Somerville, Dunellen and vicinity were waiting for their return. The evening was spent in playing games and dancing. Miss Etta Higgins gave a fancy cakewalk.

Before leaving for home the guests were invited to partake of a splendid collation. A large number of handsome and useful presents were received by the young couple.

A Fake Message.

The reading of a fake message of congratulations from Oom Paul to the members, was the feature of an entertainment given by the Millionaire's Club last night. The musical part of the programme was furnished by Ben Schenck, William Doud and Charles Everett. Speeches were made by the president, Walter Higgins, and Stephen Fitzgerald.

An Honor for Rev. Mr. Whitney.

Rev. G. H. Whitney, D. D., of First place, ex president of the Hackettstown Institute, has been elected by the trustees President Emeritus.

FOUR NEW CASES.

A Total of Forty Persons Now Sick With Scarlet Fever in This City.

Four new cases of scarlet fever were reported to the Board of Health this morning up to the noon hour, making a total number of forty cases in all that are now under quarantine. Dr. Hunt, of the State Board of Health, was in town this morning in consultation with the local Board, but as yet it has been definitely determined what has caused the epidemic.

The health authorities are working very hard to solve the mystery, and they say that as soon as the cause is learned they will announce the fact. No new cases have developed in the borough and the same number, seven, is all that have been reported. In a few cases the disease is very severe, but the majority of cases is, as stated at the outset, moderate only. There has been a great demand for trained nurses and several have been secured from New York and other places. It can be confidently started that there is no cause for great alarm. The health authorities and the physicians believe that they have the cases under control, and the small number of new cases reported today, lead them to believe that there is little likelihood of a wholesale spread beyond the present number.

THORPE MANTEL COMPANY.

Organized With a Capital of $40,000 —To Enlarge the Present Business.

Curtis M. Thorpe, the mantel dealer at 310-312 Park avenue, is the leading stockholder in a new company, the articles of incorporation for which were filed at Elizabeth yesterday. The title of the new company is the "Thorpe Mantel Company," capitalized at $40,000, and besides Mr. Thorpe the incorporators are James H. Blazure, of Plainfield, and Arthur M. Hulbert, of Dumont, N. J. It is the intention to enlarge the business now carried on and also to add some other lines that are readily associated with it. The principal office of the company will be at Mr. Thorpe's present establishment on Park avenue.

BICYCLE SHED BURNED.

Flames Originated While Garments Were Being Fumigated.

The fire department was called out at 11:45 o'clock this morning by an alarm from box 23, corner of Franklin place and East Fifth street. The bicycle shed and an arbor in the rear of the residence of John H Doane, of 423 LaGrande avenue, were all ablaze and the flames had spread to the adjoining barn in the rear of the residence of J. Hervey Doane, next door.

The fire originated in the bicycle shed where some garments were being fumigated. It was discovered by Captain Doane who partially subdued the flames before the department arrived. The loss will reach $125, fully covered by insurance.

Rented Netherwood Farm.

The Netherwood Farm on Mountain avenue, which has been vacant since April 1st, has just been rented to Messrs. William Lindsay and son for a period of years. The new tenants are extensive breeders of Guernsey and Ayrshire cattle whose merit has been widely recognized by numerous prizes and medals won the last few years at numerous fairs. The farm, formerly the property of the late John Taylor Johnston, has been well-known as the "Johnston Farm" and belongs now to his daughter, Mrs. Pierre Mali. Numerous alterations have been made since the farm became vacant, so as to suit the new tenants, and it will soon show busy life again, with the best modern accommodations for dairy farming known in the district.

Paid an Official Visit.

Deputy Grand Master J. W. A. Bauersachs, of Columbia Lodge, No. 58, A. O. U. W., went to Elizabeth last evening and paid an official visit to Elizabeth Lodge, No. 21, A.O.U.W. He found the condition of the lodge to be excellent, with thirteen applications for membership.

Will be Interesting Services.

Rev. J. F. Whitney, for ten years a missionary to Oceania, will speak in Warren chapel tomorrow at 10:30 a. m. and 8 p. m. He will bring with him some curiosities of the isles of the sea now on exhibition at the Ecumenical conference in New York. All welcome.

Fire on the Mountains Again.

Fire has broken out on the mountains and last evening a brilliant illumination could be seen for miles around. The extent of the fire is not great and people living in the vicinity are not alarmed as before, as there is very little left to burn.

TO ELIZABETH BY TROLLEY FOR 15 CTS.

The Through Line of Riker Syndicate Opened Up to the Public Today.

THREE DIVISIONS ARE FIXED

TRANSFERS TO ALL PARTS OF PLAINFIELD AND ELIZABETH.

An Extra Five Cents Will Carry Passengers to Newark—Many Passengers Take the Trip Over the New Route.

The trolley line of the Elizabeth and Westfield Street Railway Company, between Elizabeth and this city, was opened to the public today and many passengers made the trip between the two cities. Now that the line is entirely open a new schedule of rates has gone into effect.

The line is divided into three sections, at the limit of each of which the registers in the cars are reset. The first includes Plainfield to Scotch Plains. The second extends from that point to the line separating the township of Cranford and the borough of Roselle. The third begins at the latter point and extends to the Elizabeth end of the line.

The fare will be five cents in each section or fifteen cents from Plainfield to Elizabeth. Special coupon tickets are to be issued between the intermediate points which will have the effect of giving a reduction at some points so as to conform with the various ordinances under which the line was built.

These special coupon tickets will be as follows: Plainfield to the Elizabeth city line, 10 cents; Plainfield to the Westfield station, 5 cents; Scotch Plains to the Elizabeth city line, 8 cents; Scotch Plains to Elizabeth, 10 cents; Westfield to the Elizabeth city line, 5 cents; Cranford to Elizabeth, 8 cents.

Scotch Plains passengers will be entitled to transfers in Plainfield without extra charge. In Elizabeth transfers to any part of that city can be secured without extra charge. The fare to Newark will be 5 cents extra.

Plainfield Churches Represented.

The Union Fresh Air Mission Association held a business meeting at Westfield Wednesday evening, when the following officers were elected: President, George E. Wolfe; first vice-president, Arthur N. Pierson; second vice-president, Lucius H. Bigelow, Jr.; third vice-president, Burtis Vaughan; secretary, Miss Edith T. Moorehouse; treasurer, Lawrence A. Clark. The following Plainfield churches are represented on provision and supply committee: Miss May Voorhees, Crescent Avenue; Miss Ella Whitall, Congregational; J. Henry Crane, First Baptist; Irving L. Brady, East Third Street mission. J. Stanley Voorhees, of this city, is a member of the committee on transportation.

Measles Keep Scholars Out of School.

The epidemic of measles in the borough among the school children has had quite an effect on the attendance at the schools. It is intimated that about one-half of the scholars in some of the grades are in attendance. No doubt many parents are detaining their children at home until the epidemic is over, rather than have their children run the risk of getting the measles.

Arbor Day at Watchung.

Appropriate Arbor Day exercises were held yesterday afternoon at the Watchung Public School, when the scholars gave a programme of songs, recitations, dialogues, etc., under the direction of the teachers, the Misses Higgins. A feature of the affair was an able and interesting address by County Superintendent of schools, J. A. Mets, of Somerville.

Mr. Lane will Sing Tonight.

Douglass Lane, bass soloist at St. Paul's chapel and Temple Bethel Synagogue, New York, will give two selections at the musicale in the Holy Cross parish house this evening. Mr. Lane is now a resident of Plainfield and has already shown his ability as a vocalist.

Jerry Didn't Like His Talk.

On the complaint of Patrolman Jerry Cash, Augustus Frazee came before City Judge Runyon this morning. He was charged with using improper language to Jerry. The trial was an exciting one. The Judge held Frazee under $100 bonds to keep the peace.

Away From His Home.

Acting on the advice of the health officers Rev. W. C. Snodgrass has taken lodgings away from home for the period, during which the parsonage may be quarantined, and will continue his pulpit and pastoral work.

$900 TAKEN IN THUS FAR

RUMMAGE SALE GOING ON WITH GREAT SUCCESS.

Yesterday's Receipts Were $200—Morning Session Will be Given Up.

The total receipts of the rummage sale during the last three days amount to about $900. Today's receipts are not included in that amount. Yesterday it is estimated that $200 was taken in. Today promises to do equally as well.

A change will be made in the hours of the sale next week. The morning session will be given up. Hereafter the sale will open at 2 o'clock and remain open until until 6 at night, Thursday and Saturday the sale will also be open in the evening from 7 until 10 o'clock. If the sale continues as well as it has since it started, the entire supply of goods will be disposed of before next week is over. Otherwise the sale will last all next week.

The absurd rumors concerning the danger of contagion at the sale are absolutely without foundation. Every article that has been sold or is on sale at present was thoroughly fumigated before it was placed on sale. Health Inspector Addis had charge of the fumigation and has given the sale a clean bill of health.

THEIR SILVER WEDDING.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Emmons Married Twenty-five Years—Entertained Their Friends.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Emmons celebrated the twenty-fifth anniversary of their wedding last evening at their residence on Prospect place. The members of the Jolly Whist Club, of which they belong, a number of relatives from New Brunswick and Ford's Corner, were present in honor of the event and a very enjoyable evening was spent.

Whist occupied the attention of the guests for the first part of the evening. Mrs. H. S. Taylor and Peter A. Emmons won first prizes at the game. The second prizes were captured by Mrs. John Whitenack and J. P. Homan.

At the conclusion of the progressive whist, a collation was served and the rest of the evening was spent in dancing and social intercourse. Mr. and Mrs. Emmons received the congratulations at the successful termination of a quarter of a century of their married life.

Proper Proportions.

To be properly proportioned a man should weigh twenty-eight pounds for every foot of his height, and be as keen-visioned as his appetite is good; and that will be the condition of your sight with proper care and the adoption of timely measures to insure its preservation. Do not wait until your eyes show signs of weakening, but go at once to Collier's, 103 Park avenue, and learn by a free examination what their real condition is.

Planted an Ivy Vine.

Arbor Day was observed in the North Plainfield High School yesterday by recitations and songs appropriate to the day. In place of the customary tree, an ivy vine was planted in front of the school by the senior class president, Frank Bach. As the vine was planted the school sang the "Ivy Day Song," composed by Maud Homeycutt, and set to the music of "Kentucky Babe."

Fatal Wreck at Phillipsburg.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Phillipsburg, April 28—A coal train crashed into a freight train in the New Jersey Central Railroad yard here Thursday night. Michael McNally, a fireman, of this place, was instantly killed, and a number of cars and an engine were wrecked. The accident was due to a misunderstanding of orders, and an investigation is being made.

Pleasant Surprise Party.

A pleasant surprise party was given to Sidney Clark at his home on South Second street last evening. About 20 young people were present and spent the evening in playing games and singing.

H. P. Reynolds Honored.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Trenton, April 28.—Governor Voorhees yesterday appointed Howard P. Reynolds, of North Plainfield, a member of the board of managers of the Village of Epileptics.

GRIGGS AND KEAN WILL HELP BERGEN.

To Urge the President to Appoint Elizabethan to Porto Rican Judgeship.

BERGEN NOT SAYING MUCH.

GOV. VOORHEES DOING ALL HE CAN TO AID THE SCHEME.

When President McKinley Returns to Washington it is Expected That Kean and Griggs Will Talk With Him About Bergen.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, April 28—The movement which was on foot to have Frank Bergen appointed as a Federal Judge in Porto Rico, while a surprise to the people of this city, nevertheless meets with general approval. Gov Voorhees was enthusiastic on the subject, and said he was doing all he could to have Mr. Bergen selected.

Attorney-General Griggs, it is understood, also strongly favors Mr. Bergen for the Judgeship. Mr. Bergen visited Washington Thursday and it is pretty certain that he could count on the support of Senator Kean.

When Mr. Bergen was spoken to in reference to the matter, he said the thing had been sprung on him so quickly that he had had no time to consider the proposition.

"You can say as coming from me," remarked Mr. Bergen, "that some of my friends have kindly suggested my name for a judicial position in Porto Rico. The office has not been tendered to me, and I suppose I should say nothing about it for publication for the present."

When asked whether this movement had anything to do with his campaign for the nomination for Congress, Mr. Bergen replied: "Nothing at all, as far as I know."

It is said that as soon as President McKinley returns to Washington Attorney-General Griggs and Senator Kean will urge upon him the qualifications of Mr. Bergen. Governor Voorhees during his flying visit to Washington had a lengthy talk with Senator Sewell, a part of which no doubt related to Mr. Bergen's candidacy.

MORE WORKERS WANTED.

Mrs. A. M. Waterbury Talked of Mission Work to Audience in First Baptist Church.

There was a good-sized audience at the First Baptist church last evening to hear Mrs. A. M. Waterbury, secretary of the Woman's Foreign Missionary Society. She has been engaged in mission work for many years and her knowledge of those affairs is wide and complete. Mrs. Waterbury told of the great amount of work being done for missions by the Baptists, but she said that much is needed in the way of money and additional workers. She told of recent gifts by a Scotch Presbyterian of a large schooner to take missionaries to Japan, and a valuable piece of property in Japan, where the missionaries can live comfortably. This, she said, should incite more interest among Baptists.

Dr. Yerkes was in charge of the meeting and there was special music, with vocal solos, by Edson C. Martin, baritone, and George Smith, tenor. She two also sang a hymn together. After the address a collection was taken for mission work.

Dress Rehearsal Monday Night.

All society is looking forward with interest to the performance of "A Night Off" at Music Hall Tuesday evening by a cast of local amateurs. The dress rehearsal will be held Monday evening. A few tickets for the performance still remain on sale at Armstrong's Pharmacy. A word of special commendation should be given to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Curtis who have entire charge of the stage settings.

Fate Was Against Him.

Pendleton Rogers, of East Front street, met with a combination of accidents while playing golf on the course of the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club a few days ago. A party of players behind him came too close and a flying ball struck him behind the ear. He fell senseless to the ground and in falling sprained his ankle. It was necessary to take him home in a carriage and he is now hobbling about the house on crutches.

Rheumatic People!

F. L. Bathmann, 608 East Sixth street, gives electric massage treatments. Thousands have been cured. Failure impossible. No money asked until cured. Free treatment every Monday. Netherwood cars pass house within one block.

THE CITY IN ASHES.

Little Else Remains In Path of Hull's Great Fire.

OTTAWA'S LOSS ALSO HEAVY.

Seven Lives Lost, and Many Thousands Without Shelter—$17,000,000 Considered a Low Estimate of the Loss—Relief Pouring In.

OTTAWA, April 28.—The fire area was viewed by thousands of people yesterday. One of the most remarkable things about the sad scene was that no smoke was to be seen. There were no half burned buildings or smoldering logs anywhere. Everything that the fire touched was burned to ashes. All of Hull's principal buildings with the exception of the Catholic church are things of the past. The buildings and land in the place are valued at $2,700,000, and of this amount over $1,000,000 may be put down as a loss. Then in stocks, fixtures, equipment, household effects and wearing apparel there is a loss of nearly $3,000,000. The vast piles of lumber which went up in smoke may be reckoned at $2,000,000 more.

It is hard to tell just yet what is the amount of insurance. The burned part of the city from east to west—that is, from the Ottawa river to Brewery street—extends over Laurier avenue, Alma, Inkerman, Britannia, Main, Albion, Kent, Lake, Duke, Church, Chaudiere, Brewery and Front streets. From south to north, going from Charles street to the suspension bridge, the streets that were flame eaten were Charles, Albert, Philomen, Wright, Wellington and Main.

The 1,000 families who met with disaster will probably number considerably over 7,000 persons. It is said over 150,000,000 feet of lumber was destroyed.

The most serious problem that confronts Hull is that of work. The majority of householders who were burned out are poor and have large families. It is not expected there will be employment for a considerable period, and the way in which many of the poor are going to live in the meantime is doubtful. Coming to the Ottawa side, fully two-thirds of Dalhousie ward is devastated, and an estimate by residents of the district places the number who were without roofs of their own last night in this district at 5,000. The destroyed property in this district included some of the finest residences in Ottawa as well as a great many of the humblest.

The Ottawa Electric company will be a very heavy loser. An approximate value of their property destroyed is placed at $300,000. The Ottawa Electric Light company had six power houses. There was one central or distributing power house, and the other five were auxiliary or substations. Of these substations only one, that operated by steam, remains, the other four being destroyed.

Mr. C. W. Spencer, general superintendent of the Canadian Pacific railway, places that company's loss approximately at 175 freight cars, $130,000; loss of freight, $80,000; loss of buildings, $40,000; total, $250,000.

The Ontario government has telegraphed $25,000 for relief of the fire sufferers. The governor general has given $1,000, Bank of Montreal $10,000 and the Bank of Ottawa $5,000 for the relief of sufferers from the fire. Subscriptions are pouring in from all directions. Seven dead are reported thus far.

The insurance men are busy making calculations as to the losses, and it is very hard to get anything authentic. The estimate of $17,000,000 as total loss is held by many of the oldest agents as being too low.

Texas Town Flooded.

WACO, Tex., April 28.—The heaviest rain in 15 years fell in Waco and vicinity yesterday. Reports of death and destruction are coming from every direction. Between eight and ten persons have been drowned within the city limits of Waco, and searching parties headed by the fire department are out looking for the drowned. So far the bodies of two white women, mother and daughter, and one negro have been recovered. They are Mrs. Nancy Caudle, Miss Clara Caudle and Frank Walker. The water is so high that progress is slow in the search for the dead. Boats are being used in the principal streets on the south side to take people to places of safety. In the basement of the Provident bank building, the largest and finest building in the city, the water stands four feet deep.

Successful Operation on Mr. Porter.

NEW YORK, April 28.—John Addison Porter, formerly secretary to President McKinley, has just undergone an operation for appendicitis in one of the New York hospitals. Mr. Porter's brother-in-law, George F. Betts, who lives at 102 Madison avenue, said last night: "Mr. Porter has been operated upon, and the operation was entirely successful. We do not care to give the name of the hospital or the names of the doctors, but you can say that Mr. Porter is out of danger."

Spain Hears of Cuban Insurrection.

MADRID, April 28.—A commercial house here has received a dispatch from Cuba saying that Jesus Rabi, the Cuban leader, has headed an "insurrectionary" movement in the province of Santiago, which the sender of the dispatch believes to be "supported by the chief towns of the province."

Killed at Hot Springs.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., April 28.—Adolph Spitzel, a widely known sporting man, was killed here yesterday. He was found lying in the street early yesterday with his head crushed. It is thought he was murdered, but his jewelry and money had not been taken.

Cornell Wins In Debate.

ITHACA, N. Y., April 28.—The first Columbia-Cornell annual debate, held here last evening, resulted in a victory for Cornell. The question debated was, "Resolved, That the ultimatum of President Kruger was justified."

Big Forest Fires In Pennsylvania.

READING, Pa., April 28.—More than 3,000 acres of fine lumber land in the upper part of this county along the South mountain have been burned by forest fires. The air is dark with smoke. The fire may be seen for miles.

Trouble In Sierra Leone.

FREETOWN, Sierra Leone, April 28.—A serious rising among the Younies in the Ronietta district is reported, and a detachment of the West African regiment has been sent to Rotofunk to quell it.

QUEEN OF THE HOLLAND DAMES.

Lavinia H. Van Westervelt Dempsey, of New York, who is queen of the Holland Dames, seems to be lacking in loyal and devoted subjects. She was arrested recently, charged by Robert Tromp with appropriating to her own uses $750 of his money, and went to the Tombs in lieu of $500. But she was dignified in her bearing, as a queen should be.

BRIDGE WORK

In Dentistry is the best substitute for nature's work that can be done. Sound roots may be built up and crowned and thus fill up an unsightly space. It has to be made of a material that has strength and durability and one that will not discolor. Gold is the one that stands the test. That is the secret of the expense. But the advantages of a bridge over a plate are many times more than the cost of one compared to that of the other.

There Was No Marked Demonstration by the Crowds Which Watched the Debarkation at San Juan.

SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, April 28.—The United States warship Dolphin, bearing Mr. Charles H. Allen, the newly appointed civil governor of Porto Rico, dropped anchor off San Juan at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, as did also the United States armored cruiser New York, the United States battleship Texas and the United States gunboat Machias. The New York remained outside the harbor, the others entering.

General Davis, military governor, visited Mr. Allen on board the Dolphin at half past 11. A detachment of 75 insular police and four companies of the Porto Rico regiment, with a band, were drawn up on the wharf. The Dolphin's launch, carrying Mr. Allen and his family, with General Davis and Lieutenant Parker, the latter's aid, left the Dolphin promptly at noon, the Texas and Dolphin firing a salute of 17 guns. Meanwhile the band played "Borinquen," the Porto Rican national air, and the steamers lying in the harbor kept up a continuous whistling until the launch reached the landing.

Mr. Allen ran quickly up the steps, and the families of General Davis and the new civil governor were introduced to each other. A crowd of 3,000 looked on, but was kept at a distance. The police and troops marched past at port arms, Mr. Allen doffing his hat.

He then entered the carriage that was in waiting and drove to the executive mansion, preceded by troops and followed by squads of police. He constantly raised his hat to the throng that lined the sidewalks.

Mr. Allen took breakfast with General Davis and with his family will remain as the guest of General Davis indefinitely. He landed in an ordinary costume, straw hat, blue coat and duck trousers, and a wave of exclamations followed the carriage. "That can't be Mr. Allen," said one. "That's not the new governor," said another; "not that man in the straw hat; surely not." The simplicity of the costume and of the general details of the reception took the Porto Ricans by surprise, and they could scarcely realize that they looked upon the new governor. Mr. Allen is the first governor of Porto Rico to arrive in anything less conspicuous than a gorgeous uniform covered with gold lace and similar trimmings.

Bloodhounds After the Shaws.

WOODSTOCK, Vt., April 28.—The use of bloodhounds has been employed in the pursuit of the Shaws, father and son, escaped prisoners from the Windsor county jail who when cornered yesterday probably fatally shot Deputy Sheriff G. H. Hoffman of White River Junction. The animals were brought up from Rutland and taken to Stockbridge and put on the trail of the Shaws, who are still making their way through the woods. Volunteers with all sorts of firearms are going to the scene of the shooting, and if the Shaws are again cornered they are likely to be killed. Deputy Sheriff Hoffman's condition last night was a little easier, although he was barely alive all day.

New York Central Strike.

BUFFALO, April 28.—The leaders of the striking car repairers and inspectors of the New York Central railroad declare that if the demands of the strikers are not granted within a reasonable time every employee in that line of work between New York and Buffalo, about 20,000 in all, will be called out. A formal demand was prepared and transmitted to Superintendent McBeth of the car shops. He informed the strikers that he would be unable to make them an answer until he communicated with his superiors.

Counterfeiter Arrested.

TOWANDA, Pa., April 28.—United States officers have arrested Stanley J. Powers, 60 years old, living near Black Walnut, on a charge of counterfeiting. A number of molds and some metal were found in his house. Some years ago Powers served 12 years for murder. It is thought he is the last of the gang that has made much bogus money in this county the last two years.

Big Navy For Germany Sure.

BERLIN, April 28.—By the action of the budget committee yesterday the passage of the naval augmentation bill is virtually assured. At all events this is the feeling in parliamentary circles. The outcome will be that Germany's fighting strength on the sea will be measured by 34 large battleships, 32 large and small cruisers and a score of old battleships which will be renovated.

Postmasters Appointed.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—The following fourth class postmasters have been appointed: Maryland—Ocean, S. Goodrich; Valley Lee, L. R. Springer. New York—West Stockholm, A. W. Tucker. Pennsylvania—Dorrance, W. G. Fenstermacher; Glen Hazel, W. A. Rogers.

Bavarian Priest's Heavy Sentence.

BERLIN, April 28.—A priest named Faulhaber has been sentenced at Schwaebisch Hall, Wurtemberg, to penal servitude for 27 months for fraudulent practices.

ROOSEVELT IN GALENA.

Governor of New York Receives an Ovation In Grant's Town.

GALENA, Ills., April 28.—General U. S. Grant's birthday was observed here, with Governor Theodore Roosevelt of New York as the principal orator. Special trains were run by the railroads, and the announcement that the governor of the Empire State was to be present brought thousands into the quaint little city which for many years was the home of the dead general. Nearly every business block and hundreds of private residences were flaunting flags and bunting.

At the conclusion of Governor Roosevelt's speech an informal reception was held on the stage of Turner hall, after which the visitors were driven to General Grant's old residence and other points of interest, and at 6 o'clock they took the train for Chicago. The special train on which Governor Roosevelt came to Galena made but one stop after leaving Chicago. At every station large crowds had congregated to get a glimpse of the governor. At Rockford the train stopped a few minutes in response to repeated cheering from a crowd of fully 10,000. Governor Roosevelt spoke briefly from the rear platform of his car.

SCOTT SEATED.

Only Three Democratic Senators Vote In the Negative.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—The senate yesterday reported upon the resolution declaring Nathan B. Scott to be entitled to his seat in the senate from West Virginia. The number of votes in the negative was only three. Mr. Chandler gave notice that he would call up the case of Senator Clark of Montana on Wednesday of next week, but intimated that he would not press consideration until senators could have time to read the testimony in the case. The Alabama and cotton claims bills were also considered.

The house broke all records by passing 91 private pension bills. Among them was one to pension at the rate of $40 a month the widow of the late Colonel John M. Stotsenburg of the First Nebraska, who was killed in the Philippines. The conference report on the Hawaiian government bill was adopted, and the bill now goes to the president.

Virginia Bank Robbed.

RICHMOND, April 28.—The Massanutten bank at Strasburg, Shenadoah county, was robbed yesterday morning about 1 o'clock and some $5,000 secured by the burglars. An entrance into the bank building was effected with a skeleton key. The vault was forced with levers and the safe wrecked by means of nitroglycerin. There were eight men in the gang, most of whom stood guard in various sections of the town. They fired a number of pistol shots to draw attention from the bank. Several persons who looked out of their windows were ordered to withdraw on threat of being shot. After the robbery the members of the gang boarded a handcar at the Southern depot and went to Riverton, where all trace of them was lost.

Watson Says He Is Dead.

ATLANTA, April 28.—Indorsement by the Populist conventions in several northern states of Hon. Thomas E. Watson of Georgia for first place on the Populist ticket has caused something of a stir in political circles all over the south. Mr. Watson has stated several times that he is out of politics, but in view of recent rumors connecting him prominently with the Populist nomination he was asked for a final declaration. Today he made this statement: "Under no circumstances would I accept any nomination or any office. Please number me among the politically dead and let me henceforth rest in peace."

Colonial Dames Elect Officers.

WASHINGTON, April 28.—The National Society of Colonial Dames of America has elected the following officers: Mrs. Howard Townsend of New York, president; Mrs. Gillespie of Pennsylvania, first vice president; Mrs. Herbert Claborne, second vice president; Mrs. Samuel Cole of Connecticut, third vice president; Mrs. William Reed of Baltimore, secretary; Miss Jackson of Baltimore, assistant secretary; Miss Elizabeth Nicholas of Washington, treasurer; Mrs. Emil Richter of New Hampshire, register; Miss Wharton of Philadelphia, historian.

Fishing Record Broken.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., April 28.—Captain Courant of the fishing schooner Lucinda I. Lowell has again broken her own and the world's record for bringing in the largest fare of fresh fish ever caught at this or any other port. On March 30 the Lowell returned with 173,000 pounds of fresh fish, mostly codfish. On April 24 she landed 178,000 pounds, the weighing out being finished yesterday.

Bohnenberger Found Guilty.

NEW YORK, April 28.—Charles Bohnenberger, the former regular army man who has been on trial for having shot and killed Louis Wicht in a saloon in Newark, N. J., on the morning of March 13, was found guilty of manslaughter by a jury in the court of oyer and terminer in that city. A recommendation for mercy accompanied the verdict. The jury was out nearly four days.

UNJUST JUDGES.

Cuban Officials to Have Their Acts Investigated.

HAVANA, April 28.—Several complaints have recently been made to Governor General Wood that the judges are endeavoring to collect extortionate fees for civil marriages despite the fact that the law only permits them to charge $1 for performing the marriage ceremony. A negro living at Pinar del Rio asserts that one judge proposed to charge him $15, and another asked $20. General Wood has ordered Major Rolfe, inspector general of the division, to investigate the matter and if the complaints prove well founded to suspend the offending officials. He is determined to put an end to such corruption among the judges, illustrations of which come to light almost daily.

Carlos Garcia in his capacity as inspector general of prisons has brought many instances forward, and influence is exerted to prevent action upon his charges, but General Wood intends to expose all judges who prostitute their office whenever the evidence is sufficient to convict them.

General Wood has issued a decree directing that persons under 23 years of age shall not marry without previously obtaining the consent of their lawful guardian. Persons over 23 need not procure such consent.

Hitherto a man desiring to marry was compelled to obtain the consent of his parents, or if he wished to avoid this he was obliged to resort to tedious and complicated procedure.

NEW PHILIPPINE CODE.

Spanish Star Chamber Methods Superseded.

MANILA, April 28.—Major General Otis has approved the recommendations of the supreme court in regard to a new code of procedure.

These recommendations include the abolishment of Spanish secret procedure and star chamber methods. In its stead the American system of a public trial of the accused, with the right of confronting witnesses and cross examination by counsel, is substituted.

It is also provided that there shall be exemption from searches—something that has hitherto been denied to the Filipinos.

Another provision is that all residents accused of crimes shall be tried before the ordinary tribunals. This abolishes the jurisdiction of the ecclesiastical courts over offenses by priests.

The new regulation also provides that an accused person cannot be compelled to give evidence against himself and extends the American rule of evidence over the islands.

This really constitutes a Philippine bill of rights. It materially advances the idea of reconstruction and gives the inhabitants a larger measure of liberty than they are able at present to appreciate.

Nicaragua Canal Situation.

NEW YORK, April 28.—Considerable speculation is being indulged in by persons interested in the building of the Nicaragua canal as to what effect the decision of the Nicaraguan government to vacate the concession to the Maritime Canal company will have. President Hitchcock of the Maritime Canal company and President J. W. Miller of the Nicaragua company, which has a contract with the former company for the construction of the canal, are both out of the city. Secretary Atkins of the Maritime Canal company said: "This action by the Nicaraguan government if it is as reported will not bother us in the least. Our company has some rights, and the Nicaraguan government cannot take them away. We will enforce our rights."

Wants Gottfried Expelled.

LIMA, Peru, April 28.—The press of Trujillo, capital of the department of Libertad, together with the papers of that district generally, calls upon the Peruvian government to expel from the country Mr. Edward Gottfried, formerly United States consular agent at Trujillo. The demand for expulsion includes his brother also. Mr. Edward Gottfried, at one time a resident of Wilkesbarre, Pa., who was appointed United States consular agent at Trujillo in 1885, was seized by Peruvian revolutionists in the summer of 1898 and subjected to torture, his house at Huamachuco being at the same time sacked and destroyed. He protested and declared his immunity as an American citizen.

Bandit Robs a Train Alone.

LITTLE ROCK, April 28.—Posses are scouring the woods in White county in search of the lone bandit who robbed the south bound passenger train on the Iron Mountain railroad near Higginson. As the robber left the train with about $500 booty he was fired at by some of the train crew, but he made good his escape. One passenger, E. Riegel of New York, was robbed of $215. The bandit compelled Conductor Collett to go ahead of him and awaken the passengers. He returned all watches and jewelry, keeping only the money handed him by the passengers.

Fierce Storm In Nebraska.

LINCOLN, Neb., April 28.—A storm of wind and hail did much damage in a limited area in the western part of this county last evening. The wind wrecked some small outbuildings, and hailstones of unusual size killed young stock and ruined wheat and gardens. In the southeastern part of the state there was much damage. Between Wahoo and Cedar Bluffs a tornado wrecked the farmhouses of Thomas Rochford and Mr. Settle and tore outbuildings to pieces. Mr. Rochford was severely injured by a flying plank.

Carpenters and Plumbers to Strike.

ALBANY, April 28.—On Tuesday morning next 450 journeymen carpenters in this city will go on strike, all efforts to come to an agreement with the Master Builders' association having failed. With the carpenters will be the Plumbers' union, who will also go out if a compromise with the Master Builders' association is not effected by Monday at midnight. The carpenters ask for 32½ cents an hour, which the bosses decline to pay.

In Death Not Divided.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., April 28.—While the funeral of Richard G. Sliter was in progress at his home in this city last night a dispatch was received by the family announcing the sudden death of Mr. Sliter's brother, Charles Edward Sliter, in New York.

Germany Demands Satisfaction.

BERLIN, April 28.—The German government has formally demanded satisfaction for a number of outrages lately committed at Melbourne upon German residents supposed to be friendly to the Boers.

BOERS OUT OF DANGER

General Botha Proves to Be a Shrewd Leader.

ADVANCE TO PRETORIA NOT BEGUN.

Lord Roberts Reports Movements of Rundle and French—Seven Thousand Boers Retiring From Dewetsdorp Toward Ladybrand.

LONDON, April 28.—In Commandant General Louis Botha the Boers appear to have found a capable successor to Joubert. As the result of his insight and quick decision it may be assumed now that the retreating commandoes have got safely away with the transport.

It is true that Lord Roberts' dispatch leaves much unsaid as to the whereabouts of other forces than those of General French and General Rundle. Nothing is said about the troops of Generals Brabant, Pole-Carew, Hart and Chermside, but the indications from Aliwal North show that several small commandoes are still hovering in the vicinity of Springfield, causing a certain amount of danger, and the advices from Dewetsdorp outlining the duties of General Chermside justify the conclusion that it will still be necessary to employ a considerable body of troops to keep the Free State clear of Boers.

The position is that the Boers, who began their raid a month ago by compelling Colonel Broadwood to retire on Bloemfontein, have now got safely away to the northward, practically without loss, but with the advantage of seven British guns, together with 100 prisoners captured.

Meanwhile the advance to Pretoria has not begun. Small wonder is it that muffled complaints and criticisms are beginning to be heard here and there against Lord Roberts. Two-thirds of his entire force has been employed in effecting this small satisfaction, and the probability is that the whole force must be again concentrated on Bloemfontein before the main advance begins. As similar raids on the British communications are likely to be repeated, it is evidently still a far cry to Pretoria.

The war office has issued the following from Lord Roberts, dated Bloemfontein, Friday, April 27:

"General French reached Thaba N'Chu this morning, with cavalry. He met General Ian Hamilton's and General Smith-Dorrien's brigades there.

"The enemy were still holding the eastern outlet of the town, wherefrom General French and General Hamilton were proceeding to turn them out.

General Rundle's division was eight miles south of Thabu N'Chu last evening.

"Additional casualties thus far reported: Ian Hamilton's mounted infantry, Lieutenants Barry and Hill, wounded, both of Marshall's horse, the former severely the latter slightly.

"A patrol from Bethulie came across a body of the enemy on Smithfield road April 25. Private King of the Prince Alfred guards was killed, and two of the Royal Scots service corps were taken prisoners.

"The yeomanry cavalry under General Brabazon, after reconnoitering as far as Wepener, returned to Dewetsdorp this morning."

The Bloemfontein correspondent of The Daily Chronicle, telegraphing Thursday, says:

"The latest reports show that the Boers passed east of Thaba N'Chu when going north. A prisoner reports that a commando which doubled back on the pursuing British is now making its way west in the direction of Leeuw kop."

The Bloemfontein correspondent of The Morning Post, telegraphing Thursday, says:

"Most satisfactory progress has been made in the accumulation of stores during the present week. Supply park now presenting a respectable appearance. The prospects of a general advance are more favorable."

The Bloemfontein correspondent of The Daily Telegraph, under Thursday's date, says:

"The Boers who retreated from Dewetsdorp kept well ahead of General French's cavalry. Unless the enemy should make a stand at Kroonstadt Lord Roberts will rapidly cross the Vaal river."

Other Bloemfontein dispatches throw interesting points of light upon the situation. One special says:

"Seven hundred and fifty wagons of a Boer heavy transport train have reached Kroonstadt from the south. Only light wagons have been left behind. The Boers have organized a specially mounted corps for foraging and other work requiring mobility."

Another dispatch reports that before the Boers were driven from Dewetsdorp about 7,000 of them had been slowly retiring toward Ladybrand, where large supplies are stored and immense cornfields are ready for harvesting.

The Daily Express says this morning:

"We learn that the sudden return of Mr. Cecil Rhodes to the Cape was due to his receipt of news of a great find of copper in northern Rhodesia. Mr. Rhodes will soon be heard of as a 'copper king.'"

Killing Goes on In Swaziland.

LOURENCO MARQUES, April 28.—Swaziland runners report that the recent visit to the queen of Swaziland by Sir Ellis Ashmead-Bartlett, member of the British house of commons in the Conservative interests for the Ecclesall division of Sheffield, has not checked the killing. The Swazi queen has placed the former king's brother on the throne, a boy of 18. She argues that, as she will have to answer for the death of Sebugau, she may as well continue killing, and she has given the chiefs permission to kill whom they please throughout the whole of Swaziland. The sending of General Cronje to St. Helena has greatly enraged the Boers, who are said to be more than ever determined to fight to the death.

Praise For Consul Hay.

PRETORIA, April 28.—All advices indicate that the United States consul, Mr. Adelbert S. Hay, has won a diplomatic success. His position is exceedingly difficult, but he is pursuing an impartial, determined policy and has succeeded in considerably ameliorating the condition of the British prisoners at Pretoria, including the colonials.

French and Rundle Leave.

DEWETSDORP, April 28.—General French's and General Rundle's forces left Thursday, going in different directions. General Chermside remained to garrison the town, to search for arms and to restore order.

It Ought to Have Been Settled.

The Somerville Unionist-Gazette has found itself in a peculiar position with reference to Republican affairs in Somerset county for the past two years owing to the differences between the Thompson and the Reed factions. It has been very careful not to take sides with either faction in the bitter contest for power, and has succeeded remarkably well. In this week's issue, however, it makes bold to discuss the recent contesting delegations from Bridgewater township in the following manner:

The seating of both the regular and the contesting delegates from Bridgewater township in the Republican State convention last week was doubtless the easiest way out of the difficulty, but the danger of such action comes in the future. Hereafter, with such a precedent, there need be no regular certified delegates sent to any convention. A half-dozen primaries may be held by dissatisfied persons and their delegates will be given one-sixth of a vote in the convention. There need be no contests in primaries to send delegates representing the views of a majority of the voters, for the minority and majority can both send delegates and all will be seated and the vote divided upad infinitum.

One or the other of the delegations which went to Trenton from Bridgewater was entitled to represent the voters of that township. Which was the rightful one should have been decided in order that the voters may know what to expect. It made little difference last week because there was really no contest when the election of delegates-at-large came before the State convention. But under some circumstances it would be of vital importance to the voters.

There would have been no change in results last week, but we believe it would have been only just to all parties concerned, after both sets of delegates had gone to Trenton, to have let the matter come before the committee on credentials and had a decision upon the merits of the case.

It is a very guarded and fair statement that The Unionist-Gazette makes in respect to this political contest, and from present prospects it looks as though its suggestions, if they had been carried out at the State convention, would have been of considerable value.

The Porto Rican Judgeship.

The acceptance of the judicial position in Porto Rico by Frank Bergen, as is being urged by many prominent Jerseymen who possess great influence in administration circles, would simplify the situation in the Eighth Congressional district in a wonderful manner. Considering the determination and earnestness that has always characterized Mr. Bergen, it hardly seems possible that he will consent to be side-tracked in his Congressional aspirations by the offer of a place in the judiciary of Porto Rico, especially since he has started out with such vim to defeat Congressman Fowler for a renomination. That Mr. Bergen will go off to Porto Rico as a judge, however, is probably devoutly hoped for by the friends of Fowler. With the former out of the way Mr. Fowler would undoubtedly have clear sailing for another term in Washington.

Concerning the talk that connects Mr. Bergen's name with the Porto Rico judgeship, the Jersey City Journal says:

If Frank Bergen consents to accept a position on the bench in Porto Rico it will be a good thing for the Porto Ricans. They will get an honest and capable Judge. If he accepts appointment, Mr. Bergen will become a National factor in a short time. He will find so much that is stupidly wrong in the Spanish methods which have become habitual on the island that his instincts as a genuine reformer will be deeply stirred and Porto Rico needs reformers.

William B. Gourley, chairman of the Democratic State committee, has issued the call for the Democratic State convention, to elect delegates to the National convention, to be held in Trenton May 31st. Under the rules fixed by the State committee the basis of representation will be one delegate for every two hundred Democratic votes cast in the last Gubernatorial election. This will make a total of 1,089 delegates in the convention, of which 545 will be necessary to a choice. Union county will be entitled to fifty-seven delegates, Somerset to twenty-four and Middlesex to forty-five. Differing from the practices of the Republicans in New Jersey, the Democrats elect both their delegates-at large and their district delegates at the State convention. There are four delegates-at-large and sixteen district delegates, or two for every district.

The Tribune says that "The revival of the rumor that Senator Reed, of Somerset county, was getting ready to contest the renomination of Congressman Howell, of the Third district, was quite unnecessary, as Mr. Reed had said publicly some time ago that he was doing nothing of the kind. In fact, speaking of this matter, recently, one of the best known Republicans in the Third district said that so far as he had heard there was not a Republican in the three counties who was opposed to Mr. Howell's renomination, unless it was Robert Carson, of New Brunswick, of whom it was said that he would like the nomination for himself.

Turn about is fair play in politics. Tom Platt didn't want Teddy Roosevelt for Governor anymore than he wanted a Democrat, but he was forced to accept his nomination and witness his election. Now Platt wants Roosevelt to run for Vice-President, but the latter doesn't want the honor; but it may be that Platt having bowed to Roosevelt's desires two years ago, Roosevelt will have to return the favor and do for Platt what Platt did for him.

Admiral Dewey's political managers are—according to the New York Times—finding out that it is very hard to manage him because of his vigorous mind and his impulse to act on his own judgment. The Philadelphia Times says it now becomes the public duty of our New York contemporary to print the names of these managers in large type. What they are finding out is for the moment of minor importance.

In the never ending battle for commercial supremacy the man who advertises, as compared with the non-advertiser, has the same advantage as the scientifically equipped soldier who fights against an opponent armed with only a club, says the Philadelphia Record. Modern methods and the best equipment are bound to win in business as well as in physical contests.

William B. Gourley, chairman of the Democratic State committee, has issued the call for the convention to be held in Taylor Opera House, Thursday, May 31st. The basis of representation to the State convention will be one delegate for each 200 Democratic votes cast at the election of 1898, and one for each fraction of the same over 100.

Nothing seems to be too good for a Union county Republican these days.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND.

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest in Plainfield.

Yesterday the Riker-Gaddis-Hine trolley line from Elizabeth to Plainfield was opened, and it is now possible to make the journey from Jersey City to Metuchen by trolley car. The day of a continuous trolley road from Jersey City to Philadelphia is not far off.—Jersey City Journal.

* * * * *

Senator Charles A. Reed of Somerset has been mentioned as a possible opponent of Congressman Howell before the next Congressional convention in the Third district, but there is no truth in the statement. Senator Reed is a level-headed lawyer, and he will be found leading his county for the renomination of Mr. Howell, and he will be with the majority, too.—Jersey City Journal.

DOWN STAIRS ... THE FREE COOKING SCHOOL ...

We have never attended a better conducted school. We never knew more affable and entertaining teachers, and never saw pupils so attentive, orderly and generally well-behaved. The delicate art of good cake-baking is made so plain that it is possible for all who attend the school to make cake that must appeal to the most epicurean taste. The mixing of the ingredients has a great deal to do with the matter, but the pans used are of even greater importance.

This illustration shows the "VAN DUSEN" PANS, acknowledged to be positively the best made. These pans are used by our Lecturers who Demonstrate most clearly the importance of having the right sort of Pan in order to secure the best results. We have a full line of all the styles. They may be had singly or in entire sets. Attend at least one session of our Free Cooking and discover how much there is to be learned about Cake-baking.

THE PRETTY MAID.

"Where are you going, my pretty maid?"
"I'm going to Harker's store," she said.
"What will you do there, my pretty maid?"
"I'll get great bargains, sir," she said.

"He sells magazines at the publishers' price,
And his store is just delightfully nice.
He has pretty inkstands and paper weights,
Alphabet blocks and transparent slates.

"He has all the popular novels, too,
And special books he'll get for you.
He has paper napkins and fountain pens,
And the sweetest, loveliest, dearest things.

He has dominoes, checkers and playing cards,
Duplicate whist and tally cards,
Crokinole, archarena and also chess,
And all other kinds of games, I guess.

"He has papeteries in greatest array,
From the daintiest tints to the very gay—
"You've said quite enough, my pretty maid,
I must see that wonderful store," he said.

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, April 28.—The New Market school held their Arbor Day exercises yesterday. After a programme of songs and recitations, a tree was planted and named after Superintendent Cathers.

The members of the School Board who went to New Brunswick Thursday to attend the discussion of the new school law, reports a very interesting meeting. I. J. Stites, who was among them, called on his old friend, Prof. Morris, of Rutgers.

Bryant, the poet, and China, the country, will be the topics discussed by the Literary Society at tonight's meeting. Mrs. John Herbert will entertain them.

Rev. Martin Sindall, pastor of the Seventh-day Baptist church, was called to Minneapolis yesterday by the death of his mother.

The school children of both the Whittier and Lincoln schools spent yesterday at Washington Rock.

John Tinsman has arrived in town, and is living in the house formerly occuped by John Kinney.

Mrs. John VanHorne, of Whitehouse, is spending a week with Mrs. J. Emmons Henry.

Master Thomas Mohan is riding a new bicycle, the gift of his father, Owen Mohan.

Rev. Jonathan Buck, of Plainfield, will preach in the Presbyterian church tomorrow.

John Sutphen, of New York, is spending a few days in town with his brother.

Mrs. Henry TenEyck, of Fairview avenue, is confined to the house with illness.

William Seiger, of Bethlehem, Pa., was in town on business yesterday.

Mrs. Batson, of Plainfield, was calling on friends in town yesterday.

Mrs. Chas. Tilton spent yesterday with friends in Westfield.

Wm. Terry is home from a short visit to Metuchen.

Mrs. William Hamilton was in New York Thursday.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, April 28—Very appropriate and interesting Arbor Day exercises were held at the school yesterday morning. The exercises were arranged for 9 o'clock and shortly after that hour the scholars and a number of the parents and friends of the school gathered in the assembly room of the building and listened to an interesting programme, consisting of recitations, singing, essays and addresses. At the close of the indoor programme they all adjourned to the school yard and the Arbor Day planting part of the programme was given. This consisted of the planting of two trees, one by the school and the other by the class of 1900. A number of the different classes in the school planted several flower beds yesterday and there will no doubt be some pleasant rivalry during the year between the classes as to which class will have the prettiest bed. At the close of the exercises the school closed for the day. The programme rendered was a very entertaining one and was thoroughly enjoyed by the friends who attended.

The line of battle between the Citizens' League and the hotel keepers, whose licenses expire next week, is about drawn and the opening battle of the present campaign will be fought at the Court House at Elizabeth Tuesday morning next. Neither side are letting up in the fight and the battle will no doubt be continued until one or the other is defeated. The members of the League are encouraged over the outlook and the remonstrance which has been circulated has been more successful than had been anticipated. The hotel-keepers are looking for a renewal of their licenses if they present their applications with twelve bonafide freeholders' names attached.

Rev. Mr. Woodruff, of the Methodist church, will occupy his pulpit tomorrow as a fully ordained minister of the goepel, having been one of the graduates at Drew Seminary Thursday. Mr. Woodruff will no doubt be greeted by a large audience and will receive the congratulations of his many friends and best wishes for his work in the future.

The subject of Rev. G. M. Shott's sermon tomorrow morning will be "Abundant Grace for Abundant Work." In the evening the subject will be "The Horrible Pit."

The weekly social of the Saturday Night Club of the borough will be held in the Fanwood fire house this evening.

The Epworth Literary Society held an interesting reading in the class rooms of the Methodist church last night.

Twilight Council, Jr. O. U. A. M., held a large and interesting meeting in their rooms last evening.

SOMERVILLE.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Somerville, April 28.—Henry Alvord, aged 71, died Thursday night at his home on South street, from Bright's disease. Mr. Alvord was employed for many years as a wheel-tapper at the Central station, up until about a year ago, and was well known by patrons of the road. His funeral will be held Monday afternoon from his late residence. A son and two daughters survive him.

Sylvester Robbins, aged about 65, died Wednesday night from heart disease, at his home near North Branch. He was stricken suddenly and died before a physician could be called. County Physician Wagoner was called and granted a burial permit after viewing the remains. Mr. Robbins was one of the greatest mathematicians in the country and delighted in working out difficult problems. The funeral was held this noon, and the remains were interred at Bloomsbury.

The old blue cars on the Brunswick Traction line will be replaced by large ones, similar to the few recently put on. The summer cars were all burnt up recently, when the company's car sheds at Milltown were consumed, and they will be unable to get new ones before September, so that patrons of the road will have something to kick at all summer.

Mrs. Westcott's dancing classes held their closing reception at Germanic Hall last night. There was a large attendance. A number of fancy dances were given by the children, after which the floor was given up to general dancing until the morning hours. Garland furnished excellent music for the occasion.

Rev. W. Stockton Cranmer, pastor of the First Reformed church, will preside over the sessions of the Particular Synod of New Brunswick, which meets at Weehawken Tuesday and Wednesday next. Mr. Cranmer will make an address Tuesday evening.

Rev. F. A. Smith, pastor of the First Baptist church, who has been a delegate to the Encumenical conference, in session at Carnegie Hall, New York, this week, will tell his congregation Sunday morning all about the work of the conference.

William K. Smith has broken up housekeeping and he and his son Harry H. are boarding at the Ten-Eyck House.

George Grader, an employe of the N. J. Bottling Works, has been transferred from the Somerville to the Plainfield establishment, and has moved his family to that place.

Prof. and Mrs. H. C. Krebs attended a banquet of the Teachers' High School Association, at Newark, Friday night.

Rev. J. R. Bryan, D. D., has been attending the Ecumenical conference in New York the past week.

Mrs. F. M. Messler is down sick with the measles.

WESTFIELD

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Westfield, April 28.—The annual meeting of the Board of Trade and Improvement Association was held at the town rooms last evening and seven enthusiastic members of this organization, which started a year ago with flying colors, were present. J. Alston Dennis was elected the new president of the Board and E. S. Malmer was elected treasurer. When it came to electing a secretary all declined to serve in that position, Franklin Reese at this time walked into the room and when it was found that he was not a member he was at once elected and the motion to make him the secretary was introduced but Mr. Reese saw the game and refused to accept the place. He was followed by Wellington Morehouse who was elected to membership in the same way and then elected to the secretaryship while the seven members had hard work in keeping their faces straight.

The Westfield Base Ball Association is again without grounds. Wednesday B. H. Woodruff agreed to let the association have a tract of land on Westfield avenue and arrangements were made to have the field graded but today Mr. Woodruff said that he had changed his mind and had decided not to lease the grounds.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

South Plainfield, April 28.—Morris Higgins' team left him yesterday with a load of furniture, but Tom Brantingham caught them before they did any damage.

A fine flock of wild ducks were on the pond yesterday for a short time. No one got a shot at them.

Nellie VanNest, who was taken ill Thursday, was no better yesterday.

The school observed Arbor Day yesterday, and had a half holiday.

Mrs. Pender has shipped her household goods to Perth Amboy.

PASSING COMMENT

Things that Are Not Exactly News but Just as Interesting.

Last Wednesday afternoon about 4 o'clock while Chief Doane and his driver, James Bailey, were out in the fire wagon, they picked up two small children who had wandered away from home and lost their way. The girl was six years old and the boy four years old. They were put in the wagon and then the trouble of finding out where they lived began. The girl said her name was Wyckoff and that the boy was her brother. The boy refused to confirm this statement of relationship. Chief Doane travelled all through the West End in search of the children's homes. Finally it was learned that the girl was the daughter of Charles Wyckoff, of Somerset street, and the children where taken there. They had wandered away from home at 2 o'clock in the afternoon and the parents were greatly concerned about them.

The class of the Plainfield High School inaugurated the observation of Arbor Day with special exercises by the senior class of the High School. The present senior class of the same institution followed the idea this year, but with some changes. 1899 planted an oak in the school yard. 1900 choose ivy instead and planted it at the front of the High School building over which it may eventually creep. In honor of the event, two class songs and an Ivy Ode were written, the latter by Miss Mary Lock. The ode is as follows:

Oh! grim are the walls of our old High School.
And gray are its stones each one.
Its angles squared to the plummet and rule.
Of beauty it boasteth none.

But within is there ample atonement made
For grimness and grayness without;
There Gladness and Life have their wealth displayed,
And scattered their riches about.

And yet we Seniors have felt that here,
Without on these rough stone walls,
Should be reflected the brightness and cheer
We have known within those halls.

So when Dame Nature is holding her fete
And gladdening all the scene,
We have joined to help her celebrate,
By planting an ivy green.

As we do it this hope in our hearts must rise.
That even when scattered all,
We may cling together in Friendship's ties.
As the ivy clings to the wall.

May it strike deep root, may it stoutly climb,
Making the chill stone bright;
Preserving our memory fresh through time,
When we shall have passed from sight.

The idea prevails among many people that the reformatory institutions of this State are, in reality, nothing more or less than prisons and that a child once sent to them is bound to start a career of crime. Such an idea is just as far from the truth as it can possibly be. The mother of one of the boys now at the Reform School at Jamesburg, N. J., is pretty well-qualified to judge of the fair treatment of the inmates. She writes as follows to The Daily Press concerning her visit to the Reform School to see her son:

"He was bright and happy, striving to do the best he could and seemingly in favor with most of them there. Poor little man how he needed a firm man's care to take an interest in him and direct him. I am sure he has found friends in the school officers, who understand him and do the best they can for him. It gave me great pleasure to see how kind the officers were, and how all the boys appeared well-cared for and happy.

"The buildings are many, each occupied by families which are presided over by an officer and his wife. The workshops are large and well-lighted. The boys have plenty of recreation and all kinds of sports. There is also lots of good reading for them and proper teaching for those who have had no education. ——— has a little collection of flints that he has found and of which he is quite proud He also has a garden ready to plant and care for this spring."

Special Sermon for Young People.

Rev. W. T. Griffen, who preaches in Trinity Reformed church tomorrow evening, has prepared a special address for young people. As Mr. Griffen is a gifted speaker, a large attendance is looked for.

The many friends of E C Mulford, of East Fifth street, will be pleased to learn that he is so much improved in health as to be able to take a carriage ride around town.

IRON AND STEEL FALL.

Great Decline Where Least Expected—Stocks Also Depressed.

NEW YORK, April 28.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s weekly review of trade says:

The reaction in prices came where it was expected least—in the industry more fully organized than any other to check competition and in the branch which, through contracts covering roadmaking and other machinery and through patents, seemed more fully controlled than any other. Reduction of $20 per ton in wire nails, barbed wire and galvanized fence and $18 in smooth wire showed that no control can afford to hold prices so high as to check consumption. In a week the prices of iron products have declined 5.86 per cent and since Feb. 7 10.3 per cent. As the wire and nail prices have been relatively the highest, others in the iron and steel industry cannot be expected to fall in like measure.

The tendency toward lower prices is strengthened by the idea that overproduction may appear in other branches. In cotton goods, after the rise of about 30 per cent, following the advance in cotton, it is asked whether the surprising increase in southern output has not cut off part of the demand which eastern mills find insufficient. In staple goods no change is seen, but in other lines and fancy goods irregularity is increasing, and greater concessions are made for future deliveries.

Stocks were depressed to the lowest point since December by the closing of wire and nail mills and fear of other industrial results equally discouraging. But it was presently seen that only the Steel Wire company had found a remarkable reduction necessary, and with reviving faith industrial stocks recovered over $1 per share. The railroad stocks, after depression in sympathy, were again well sustained and closed a little higher.

The produce market is inactive, though wheat yielded a fraction and corn gained 1 cent for the week. Exports of both continue larger than a year ago.

Exports of merchandise from New York in three weeks have been 37.9 per cent larger than last year, and with the aid of the heavy cotton movement the aggregate for the month promises to considerably exceed $100,000,000, while imports here are 13.6 per cent larger than last year, but will fall below exports by more than $30,000,000.

Failures for the week have been 204 in the United States against 184 last year and 22 in Canada against 23 last year.

Child Burned to Death.

TRENTON, April 28.—Freddie Tomlinson, 2 years old, was burned to death as a result of playing with matches. He obtained a box of matches while his mother was absent from the room and soon was enveloped in flames. The mother was badly burned in trying to save the child.

American Institute In Paris.

PARIS, April 28.—The American National institute was inaugurated last evening by a soiree given at the temporary premises of the institution, 50 Avenue d'Lena, under the presidency of M. Sully-Prudhomme, the poet. M. Massenet played several of his own compositions.

Quarrel In a Courtroom.

PARIS, Tex., April 28.—In a quarrel in the courtroom here Lawyer E. P. Scott stabbed Justice J. J. Hooks. Scott was arrested. Judge Hooks was badly wounded.

Provinz Sachsen.

Halle. Durch die nunmehr erfolgte Eingemeindung der Vororte Giebichenstein, Cröllwitz und Trotha erhöht sich die Einwohnerzahl Halles auf rund 150,000. An den Saalkreis hat die Stadt Halle für Entlassung der bisherigen Landgemeinden aus dem Kreisverbande 400,000 Mark als kapitalisirtes Steuererträgniß gezahlt.

Köfen. Das Haus, in dem Ferdinande v. Schmettau 1875 gestorben ist, die bekanntlich 1813 ihr schönes Haar auf dem Altar des Vaterlandes opferte, ist auf Grund einer Schenkung jetzt als Diakonissenstation eingerichtet.

Naumburg. Anhier wurde durch den Generalinspektor des Militärerziehungs- und Bildungswesens, General Freiherrn v. Funck, die neue Kadettenanstalt feierlich eröffnet.

Provinz Schlesien.

Breslau. Gestorben ist hierorts der päpstliche Hausprälat, Weihbischof Dr. Hermann Gleich.

Gottesberg. Durch Ausweisungsbefehle des Liegnitzer Regierungspräsidenten wurden in Rothenbach bei Gottesberg 100 czechische Bergleute betroffen. Viele Ausgewiesene standen seit Jahren dort in Arbeit und machten sich durch nichts lästig.

Hirschberg. Um die Leiche seiner Frau, welche in Groß-Aupa beerdigt werden sollte, auf dem Hörnerschlitten zu Thal zu schaffen, wählte der Wächter der Riesenbaude, Dix, den Weg durch den Riesengrund. Hierbei wurde er von einer herniederdonnernden Lawine verschüttet. Das Ehepaar wurde in Groß-Aupa gemeinschaftlich beerdigt.

Warmbrunn. Der aus dem Irrenhause entsprungene Kaufmann Girnsberg überfiel Nachts seine Mutter und seine 14jährige Schwester und erstach letztere; die Mutter war schwer verletzt. Girnsberg wurde in Hirschberg wieder festgenommen.

Fjelstrup. Der Führer der dänischen Protestpartei und Vorsitzende der dänischen Landwirthschaftsgesellschaft, Mußmann, verkaufte seinen Hof Kehlet bei Fjelstrup für 350,000 Mark an die preußische Regierung.

Kiel. Anhier waren viele Familien zum April-Umzugstermin nicht im Stande, eine Wohnung zu erlangen, und mußten Unterkunft in den städtischen Obdachlosenbaracken suchen. Da die Firma Krupp leider in diesem Jahre nur reichlich 100 Wohnungen bauen wird, ist eine Milderung der Wohnungsnoth vorläufig kaum zu erwarten, zumal der Zuzug nach Kiel in Folge der reichen Arbeitsgelegenheit ein starker ist.

Provinz Westfalen.

Münster. Die Stadtvertretung hat endgiltig die Errichtung eines Elektrizitätswerkes zur Lieferung von Licht und Kraft und die Anlage einer elektrischen Straßenbahn beschlossen. Die gesammten Kosten belaufen sich auf 2,660,000 Mark, wovon auf das Elektrizitätswerk 1,560,000 Mark und auf die Straßenbahn 1,100,000 Mark entfallen.

Bochum. Im hiesigen Centralgefängniß wurde neulich die Musterung abgehalten, zu der sich 154 Sträflinge im Alter von 20 bis 22 Jahren zu stellen hatten. Unter den Insassen des Gefängnisses befinden sich außerdem noch 150 im Alter von 12 bis 18 Jahren und 100 im Alter von 18 bis 20 Jahren.

Witten. Der betagte Arbeiter Kuhn wollte auf einen in voller Fahrt befindlichen elektrischen Straßenbahnwagen springen, wobei er unter die Räder gerieth und sofort getödtet wurde.

Dresden. In den Tagen vom 18. bis 20. August soll hier der erste sächsische Grenadiertag stattfinden, welcher mit der 30jährigen Erinnerungsfeier an die Schlacht bei St. Privat verbunden sein wird.—Ingenieur Rost wurde vom Gerichtshofe der Beamtenbestechung schuldig erklärt und zur höchsten Geldstrafe von 1500 Mark eventuell 150 Tagen Gefängniß verurtheilt.

Chemnitz. Die Ausfuhr aus dem hiesigen Konsulatsbezirk der Ver. Staaten nach dort hatte im ersten Vierteljahr 1900 einen Werth von $1,523,321; das sind $93,065 mehr als in derselben Zeit des Vorjahres.

Ebersbach. Der Sohn des hiesigen Rechtsanwalts Kroker, welcher vor Ausbruch des südafrikanischen Krieges in Bloemfontein als Uhrmacher thätig war und dann bei Ausbruch des Krieges in das Artillerietorps des Kommandanten Albrecht eintrat, ist neulich zu seinen Angehörigen in Ebersbach zurückgekehrt.

Leipzig. Die Erbauung der Heil- und Versorgungsanstalt in Dösen erfordert einen Kostenaufwand von 4,068,822 Mark, wovon 2,908,896 Mark zu Lasten der Stadt Leipzig und 1,159,925 Mark zu Lasten des Johannishospitals entfallen. Nicht eingegriffen sind hierbei Aufwendungen für Mobiliar, Wäsche und Bekleidung in einem Gesammtbetrage von 466,776 Mark.

Plauen. Ende Januar wurde der 63jährige Tischler Porst aus Ruderitz aus dem Waldheimer Zuchthause entlassen, wo er wegen Falschmünzerei vier Jahre verbüßt hatte. Vor wenigen Tagen wurde er wiederum bei der Herausgabung und im Besitze falscher 5-Markstücke betroffen und von Neuem verhaftet.

I have been subject for the past five years to chronic liver trouble, constipation, vertigo and dizziness and have been prescribed for by three different doctors without any good effect. A friend who had used Ripans Tabules prevailed upon me to try them, which I did, although my experience did not make me very expectant of good results. I am happy to state that after using the Tabules for about eight months I am feeling better than I have for years, and can attend to my housework as well as ever and without any of the bad results I had been subject to.

MILLINERY HINTS.

Summer Hats and the Newest Trimmings For Them.

White will predominate among summer hats. A hat entirely of dead white is rather trying to the complexion, but trimmed with black or colors it is usually becoming. Straws of many delicate tones are also shown and are immensely trimmed with crepe de chine, mousseline de soie and chiffon.

Fruit is the season's chief millinery novelty. Grapes—blue, purple and green—with foliage, are first favorites, and next come cherries in all the natural shades. There are also charming wreaths and trails of strawberries, fruit and leaves together, which are most effective on wide brimmed straw hats of the rustic order. Among flowers immense roses, poppies and orchids predominate. Foliage is well represented, both plain and variegated, and a great deal of maidenhair fern is used. Violets, so long a favorite, still retain their prestige.

Veils with flat velvet spots are more worn than those with chenille dots, but the velvet particles, which are only stuck on the net, are apt to drop off, while the chenille dots, which are woven into the tissue, retain their position.

A picture is given of a hat of ficelle lace straw. It has a crown of violets, and the brim, which is much rippled and twisted, is lined with shirred mauve mousseline de soie. In front is a cluster of violets, the stems of which are turned upward to form an erect aigret. This hat accompanies a tailor made gown of fawn cloth, trimmed with large pearl buttons.

Arrangement of Dining Tables—Suggestions For the Wedding Costume.

For ball suppers small tables have entirely replaced large ones. In the case of dinners where a number of guests are invited the same plan is often adopted, care being taken to arrange matters so that the party at each small table shall be congenial. In place of signifying the different tables by letters or numbers often each table is decorated with a different variety of flower, the guests being supplied with small bouquets of flowers like those upon the table at which they are to sit.

PRINCESS GOWN.

The wreath of orange blossoms worn by a bride is becoming smaller and smaller and consists of a smaller proportion of flowers and more leaves. These must be of the best quality to look well.

When widows marry again, they do not wear white or black, but choose pale gray or mauve. Bridal gowns of any kind are usually of the princess form. If not, the bodice is tight, the blouse form being absolutely proscribed.

The picture shows a princess gown of pastel red satin cloth. A scant circular flounce cut in points at the edge and bound with black velvet is placed at the foot of the skirt. Black velvet galloon embroidered with jet heads the flounce, and a band of it is carried up the left side of the skirt and bodice. The corsage has a collar and triple revers bordered with galloon, and the wrists of the plain tight sleeves are also bordered with galloon. The guimpe and high collar are of venetian point over white satin. The toque of red grosgrain is trimmed with a big bow and a feather.

Tropical Fruits in the Paradise of the Pacific

Berutiful Hawii Has Much to Offer in the Good Things of Life

THERE are several fruits in Hawaii you have not here, and several here we cannot have there. While we enjoy the native papayas, guavas, alligator pears, bananas, mountain-apples, limes and oranges, you revel in apples, peaches and pears that the tropics cannot produce. Those of us that grew up in the shadow of the hillside orchards in America sometimes look back longingly on the rosy-cheeked apples, Bartlett pears and luscious peaches of the past, though we know we have compensations; strawberries nine months of the year 20 different kinds of bananas; or oranges, big and juicy and delicious, growing wild in the mountain valleys.

The strawberries are not very large, but are sweet and well flavored. The bananas are worth making a long journey for, I think. I believe if the banana is sufficiently ripe when eaten, it is one of the best fruits man has offered him—Mrs. Rorer notwithstanding. I am told there is an island in the South seas where the banana is the only food. Not all of the 20 varieties grown in Hawaii can be eaten raw, but there are possibilities in all. We bake, boil and make fritters of them, and, take them any way you will, they are delicious.

Most of the banana plants were originally brought from other countries, but there is one kind, small and with salmon-colored flesh, that is native and grows wild in the mountains. I am not particularly fond of the native fruit myself, but I am told my taste has been perverted by having been used so many years to only the Chinese banana, the kind usually sold in America. The native banana, except by the native born, is considered too starchy and tasteless and is seldom eaten, taken only as a last resort when one is mauka (up the mountain) and can get nothing else. The apple banana, which is not very common, is rather small, but is delicious, tastes like and has the fragrance of an apple. The Brazilian is another favorite, and not only produces fine fruit, but is a very ornamental tree. Then there is the fat red baking banana, which is very good boiled or baked, but cannot be eaten raw. It is much like the plantain of the South seas. Almost any one of the common kinds can be fried, and when delicately browned in butter makes a dish fit to set before a king. Banana fritters are too good, tempting one to be indiscreet, but at least once in a lifetime one should indulge.

People seem to have a rather hazy idea of the manner of tree on which the banana grows, and a word about it may be in place. The life of the banana is but a year and a half; in that time it has done its work, produced fruit and sent up shoots. It then falls down or is cut down and the shoots begin their cycle. They are usually transplanted, but when let alone send up a colony of young plants that make a very ornamental group. The trees grow wonderfully tall for the short time they have to live, and with their very long, broad, thick leaves add considerably to the tropical picturesqueness of the land. The banana adds not only to the picturesqueness of the country, but not a little to the wealth, as the fruit is an important article of export. There is an increasing number of banana plantations in Hawaii, and the finest bunches produced thereon are set aside for the American market. The pineapple also is exported.

Pineapple growing as a business, perhaps, has not gone beyond the experimental stage, but the fruit itself has reached a high degree of development, and the big sugar-loaf variety is exceedingly fine. The other fruits, which are more perishable, are kept for home consumption.

Among these the mango is a favorite. The mango, a reddish-green pear-shaped fruit with a great deal of stone and not much flesh, grows on a very large, wide-spreading tree whose foliage and form are both beautiful. The taste for the mango must be cultivated, but, as with the olive, one can grow fond of what at first was considered distasteful. There is an undeniable flavor of turpentine to the mango, and besides that peculiarity it is very troublesome to eat it, and one has to eat so many to get any. The fruit is smooth and slippery, what little flesh there is is very juicy and stringy, and one finds it serious work trying to keep hold of the slimy thing with one hand and remove the trickling juice from face, dress front and hands with the other. It is best to follow the advice of the initiated, which suggests the bath-tub or the proximity of a running stream as a proper place for the enjoyment of the mango. It does not pay to get so besmeared for just one mango, and when one is about it one makes a regular business of it, and disposes of six or seven before quitting. But to tell the truth, a kamaaina (old resident) can eat a mango at table with neatness and dispatch, and it is the newcomer that finds it such an ordeal.

The alligator pears also grow on large, handsome trees, and are considered fine fruit, but are not so common as the mangoes. They look somewhat like big, green pears, and have a stone about as large as an English walnut. The fruit is cut in two lengthwise, and after the stone is removed is dressed with salt, pepper and vinegar and served as a salad. It is very rich and should be eaten with bread and butter. Nothing that grows on the islands is considered a greater delicacy. Alligator pears from Mexico are now sold in the Chicago markets.

Guavas, the lemon and the sweet, grow wild in the valleys and up the mountains, and he who passes may pluck. The wild varieties are about the color and size of a lemon, but are nearly spherical in shape. They have a smooth, thin skin, next this a thick, white, tasteless substance, and in the center a generous, delicious, seedy, pink pulp. They are very refreshing, and Providence has kindly placed them where the dusty wayfarer most needs and can easily procure them. The strawberry guavas, a delightful little fruit, which resemble their namesake in size and color, are cultivated in private gardens, but are not obtainable in the markets.

A PAPAYA TREE.

The papaya is not to be obtained in the markets either—more's the pity, for it is such a good and healthful fruit. An occasional Chinaman will sell a few papayas if the purchaser go to his place and request it, but the vegetable and fruit venders do not seem to consider it worth while to carry them about. The papaya is sometimes called the melon-tree, as the fruit looks and tastes something like a musk-melon. It contains much pepsin and is considered very good for those inclined to dyspepsia; in fact, an expensive medicine for the use of unfortunates that suffer from indigestion is made from the papaya. Apart from its medicinal qualities, it is valued as a most refreshing fruit. It is cut lengthwise in halves, the mass of yellow pulp and gray seeds in the center cleaned out, and the firm flesh slightly softened and acidulated by a few drops of lime juice. It is considered a perfect breakfast fruit. The papaya tree is a queer, tropic-looking affair, with its smooth shaft, its tuft of serrated leaves for a crown, its dozens of yellow ovoids close grouped among and below the leaves.

FRENCH BLOOD IN AFRICA.

Why Gallic Names Are Found Among the Boers of the Transvaal.

We are accustomed to look upon the Boers as being entirely of Dutch extraction, but, in reality, there is a leaven of French blood among them, and, indeed, there are French names among them still, such as Joubert, De Villiers, Duplessis, Dutoit, Roux and many others. Probably there are few Africanders without a mixture of French blood in their veins. How did this French blood mix with that of Holland? Through a colony of French Huguenots who settled in South Africa long ago. The actual colonization of South Africa did not begin until 1652, when a small colony settled on Table bay and at Cape Town. This colony was founded by an officer of the Dutch East India company.

The population of the young colony increased but slowly, and was probably not more than 400 in 1685, the year in which Louis XIV. issued a decree revoking the edict of Nantes, under which the Huguenots had enjoyed freedom and toleration. A cruel and vigorous persecution followed and many of the Huguenots escaped to Holland. A proposal was made to send some of these to South Africa, but the Dutch of the East India company feared it might be dangerous to their interests to harbor a large number of French subjects in their South African colony, so only a select few of the Huguenots and such as were skilled in such branches of agriculture and other industries as the Dutch settlers were ignorant of were sent over, in all about 200 souls.

Before leaving Holland the heads of the Huguenot families were required to take an oath of fidelity to the Dutch East India company and to promise to conform to all regulations which might subsequently be made for the South African settlement.

These Huguenots were undoubtedly the best settlers the colony had received, and in point of numbers they were nearly equal to the original Dutch settlers. They were superior to the latter in industrial attainments and the amenities of life and soon made their influence felt in the colony.

The rule of the Dutch East India company was tyrannical and corrupt and the result was that difficulties soon rose between the governor and the French settlers, who on several occasions made a bold and more or less successful stand for their rights. Whenever in the subsequent history of the colony principles had to be asserted, the descendants of the Huguenots have been well to the front. In the late '30s it was a man with a French name, Peter Retief, who raised his voice in protest against the action of the British authorities in connection with the emancipation of the South African slaves and the native question in general. This protest was followed by the migration of about 6,000 colonists into the desert, and this migration led to the founding of the Transvaal and the Orange Free State.—St. Louis Republic.

A GIRL'S REVENGE.

Her Cleverness in Getting Even with Some Smart Young Men in a Street Car.

As soon as the good-looking girl entered the car the five young men on the opposite seat began surveying her with critical eye, and she hadn't yet made out whether the bald-headed man with the medical magazine was to be included in the lot, when the conductor came in for his fare. The girl opened her portmonnaie and began to take out latchkeys, samples of ribbon and little memoranda in the usual way, and the five young men smiled, each after his own particular style. Baldheaded was out of it. The girl didn't see any of the smiles, but she caught on just the same. There was a nickel all ready for her fingers, but when one pale-faced young man added a giggle to his smile, the nickel was thrust aside for a two-dollar bill. She didn't hand it over to the conductor, as she fished it out, but, leaning forward with a winning smile on her face, she began at the head of the line and asked:

"Will you please be so kind as to change this bill for me?"

It was impossible. A young man with only a dime in his pocket has no show to bust a fifty. The next one had a quarter, but he had to decline, and so it went to No. 5. His hand sought his pocket as his turn came, but it didn't bring up any change. The smiles had been replaced by sheepish looks, and they rubbed elbows and trod on each other's feet in trying to look out of the windows. There was a long minute of painful suspense, and then the good-looking girl handed the bill to the conductor. She hadn't a word to say to the five young men who had started out in life so gayly, but the old bald-headed had. When all was over he turned half around and growled out:

"If I were you fellows I wouldn't try to be so blamed smart next time!"—Philadelphia Press.

Strange Swarms of Flies.

In British central Africa rise colossal columns of the kungu fly from the surface of the waters of Lake Nyassa. The natives living along the shores of the lake esteem these flies as a great delicacy, and when these extraordinary smokelike columns of insects rise they are beaten down and gathered up for food. They are then pounded up into cakes and made into a kind of bread.—N. Y. Journal.

Knew He Was a Good Catch.

She—And now, Elfred, dear, you would better go and ask papa.

He—No, darling, it isn't necessary. He and I fixed that all up beforehand. It's business before pleasure, you know. —Philadelphia Bulletin.

THE OLDEST MASON.

Adna Adams Treat Has Belonged to the Order Since 1823.

A Many Other Respects He Is Also One of the Most Remarkable Men Now Living—Writes Poetry at the Age of 103.

Adna Adams Treat, of Denver, Col., is doubtless the oldest man in the world who is a mason, and by many of his friends it is claimed, since the death of John Blackman, of Derby, Conn., that he is the oldest mason in the world. This Mr. Treat does not claim, as it is said that William E. Cook, of Portsmouth, R. I., although a younger man in years, has still been a mason four years longer than Mr. Treat, who took the oath and went through initiation in February of 1823.

If not the man who has longest been a member of the order, Mr. Treat is certainly the oldest man in the masonic order in the world to-day. He is a fine, patriarchal old gentleman of the type seen all too seldom in these latter days. He is now in his one hundred and third year, and his mental vigor is remarkable. Mr. Treat has been a mason now nearly 77 years, and to the present day his interest and loyalty to the order has never wavered. His masonic record is as follows: Initiated in Apollo lodge, No. 13, at Troy, N. Y., on February 4, 1823; passed to the degree of F. C. February 7, 1825, and raised to the sublime degree of M. M. on February 21, 1823. On December 25, 1825, he was elected J. W., and on December 5, 1826, was chosen W. M. of his lodge. One of Mr. Treat's treasures is a certificate of life membership in his old lodge.

Mr. Treat was one of a committee appointed by his lodge in 1824 to receive the marquis of Lafayette on the occasion of his visit to Troy, N. Y. Mr. Treat remembers every incident of that memorable occasion as if it were yesterday, and talks most entertainingly of the event. With a bright twinkle in his eye Mr. Treat says, apropos of Mr. Blackman's having belonged to the order longer than he: "At any rate, if I do grant that Mr. Blackman belonged to the order longer than I did, he could not say that he greeted Lafayette on his visit to this country. I was of the masonic company that met him, and I can see him as plainly as if he stood before me to-day. As I recall the impressions made upon my mind of his appearance and address, he was of medium height, erect of figure, with faultless dress—in manner and appearance a French gentleman."

(The Oldest Mason in America and Perhaps the World.)

Mr. Treat was born in Hartford, Conn., April 8, 1797, and comes of Puritan stock. While yet a young man, with the consent of his parents, which was a necessary form in those olden days, he went to Troy, N. Y., where he lived for many years. Later in life he went to Ohio, where he reared his family of seven children. At the age of 80 Mr. Treat retired from active business, and for the past 17 years has resided with a daughter in Denver, who is the wife of a prominent physician. It was at the age of eight that Mr. Treat began to woo the muse. He commenced to rhyme for recreation, and for a number of birthdays past has written a poem for each occasion. His writing is his great delight now. Scarcely is one poem done than another is begun, and he is a poet of no mean ability. One of his best poems was written for Christmas of last year, and he is now at work on one for his birthday, which occurs in April.

Mr. Treat, says the Chicago Times-Herald, is perhaps the most remarkable case of longevity in the world at the present time. With strong mentality and vigorous quite out of proportion to his years, he is likely to still live a number of years unless an unforeseen accident occurs.

This remarkable man enjoys the unique distinction of living in each of the last three 100-year divisions of the Christian era. Born in April, 1797, he has lived two years in commended according to his wisdom." The possession of a policy of Life Insurance is an indication of wisdom, and especially to be commended is the man who has selected the policies issued by The Prudential.

THEATRICAL.

Current Dramatic Attractions That Plainfielders Can Witness.

The Jeffries-Sharkey contest pictures will be seen at Music Hall next Thursday night and will show in detail every move and incident of the famous encounter. The pictures have demonstrated one fact, and that is that from an unprejudiced point no one can say that Jeffries is not a wonderful exponent of the manly art. The exhibition starts with the scenes that were enacted before the battle began. Surrounded by their seconds the men can be discerned seated in their corners receiving their final preparations. Referee Siler stands against the ropes occasionally greeting some friend in the crowd. Fourteen hundred arc lights are arranged to take the pictures; waiters serving "soft stuff" can be observed rushing up and down the floor, policemen and ushers stand against the posts with their eyes piveted on the fighters. It is easy to see the crowd applauding and cheering. The fight begins and all seem spellbound with interest.

* * * * * * *

For a repertoire company, like that of Tommy Shearer's, which produces a different play every evening of the week, the performance of "Cyrano de Bergerac" at Music Hall last evening was a rather hazardous experiment. It proved, however, eminently successful. Frank Munnell, in the title role, showed a remarkable depth of feeling, while W. H. Vedder's "Christian" was of a high class. Too much cannot be said of the clever work of Miss Isabelle Fletcher as "Roxine." The rest of the company did well. At the matinee today "The Girl From Porto Rico" will be repeated by request. "In the Heart of the Rockies," a sensational western drama, will be the attraction this evening.

New Members Elected.

The Young Men's Association of Hope chapel had their regular meeting last night and elected several new members.

—Among the many attractive new spring shoes at Doane & Edsall's is the "Kid Calf" just out for men; as soft and easy as vici kid and the wearing qualities of calf skin.

WOMEN WILL HELP SAVE THE PALISADES

State Federation of Clubs to Try and Raise Money to Aid the Project.

STATE HAS FAILED TO DO IT.

PALISADE COMMISSION HAS AUTHORITY, BUT NO CASH.

Without Both it is Impossible to Do Effective Work, and the Women Have Decided to Come to the Rescue.

The New Jersey State Federation of Women's Clubs has arranged for a meeting to be held next Thursday afternoon in the Assembly hall of the United Charities building, 105 East Twenty-second street, New York. At this meeting the federation will probably take steps to form a Palisades league to raise money throughout the United States to save the Palisades.

A Palisade commission is provided for under a law passed by the last Legislature, but this commission is without funds with which to buy the land that is to be saved from further defacement.

In a call for next Thursday's meeting it is stated:

"The New Jersey Federation took up the question of Palisades preservation at its spring meeting in 1897. The conferences and careful investigations of the commissions resulted in the bills introduced at Albany and Trenton during the past sessions of the Legislatures, for the appointment of a permanent commission in each State, to create an Interstate park. The bill passed the New York Legislature with practically no amendments, but as New Jersey owners were more affected by its provisions, certain alterations were imposed on the New Jersey bill, which somewhat affects its usefulness. Enough has been gained, however, to make a good beginning.

"The fate of the bills was not decided in time to ask for appropriations, except for commission expenses, and if anything is to be accomplished by the commissioners this year money must be raised from outside sources.

"The New Jersey Federation desires a representative on the commission, as it has done much work and hopes to continue its efforts, but in any event its Palisade committee is pledged to carry out instructions received at the annual meeting held in October.

"It was then authorized to form a National League for the purpose of raising money, and now that a plan has been formulated and responsible men chosen, with the legal authority to carry out its provisions, it seems a suitable time to set in motion the auxiliary society. A meeting for this purpose will be held in the United Charities Building Thursday next. Members of the various commissions have been invited to speak, and Frederick Lamb, of the Scenic Society, and DeWitt Warner, of the Reform Club, have also agreed to deliver addresses."

SETTLED IN THEIR NEW HOME.

Rev. Mr. O'Donnell Received in a Pleasant Manner in Flemington.

Rev. and Mrs. William C. O'Donnell and their little son are now settled in their new home at Flemington. Rev. Mr. O'Donnell, formerly of the Monroe Avenue M. E. church, of this city, is now pastor of the M. E. church of that place, one of the largest and most flourishing churches of that section. It is a grey stone structure, somewhat resembling Grace P. E. church, of this city, in appearance. They received a cordial welcome from the congregation who gave them a reception last week. Mr. O'Donnell and his family are very comfortably quartered in the parsonage which stands close by the church. Mrs. B. O. Bowers, mother of Mrs. O'Donnell, accompanied them to Flemington and returned home last Friday after seeing them properly settled.

To Put Up a Press in Japan.

Frank Hoppler, of Richmond street, left Plainfield last Thursday for the Pacific coast in the interests of the Aluminum Plate and Press Company. Mr. Hoppler will erect presses in San Francisco and LosAngeles, Cal., and one in Japan, stopping at the latter place until the pressmen becomes acquainted with the machine. Altogether the trip will take about eight months.

HOLY CROSS MUSICALE.

TALENTED ARTISTS WERE HEARD SATURDAY EVENING.

The Affair Arranged by Clarence Sears, Organist of the Church.

A musicale was given Saturday evening in the Parish House of the Church of the Holy Cross under the auspices of the Guild of the church. There was a large attendance of members and friends who enjoyed the several numbers on the programme, arranged by Clarence Sears, organist of the church. Mr. Lane, of this city, expected to render vocal solos, but was detained by illness.

Part first consisted of banjo solos by Fred VanEps, piano selections, "Poem," and "Fantasie," by Miss Weir; a tenor solo by James H. Rough, of New York, with violin obligato by Maurice Audsley; Scotch songs by Miss Bertha van Nuise Willis, and violin selections by Maurice Audsley. In part second Miss Weir played a "Dirge," by Weir; Mr. Audsley rendered violin selections; Miss Willis sang two pretty selections; Mr. VanEps gave several popular banjo selections and M. Rough sang two favorite selections.

Each and every number was cordially received by the audience, but Miss Willis was slightly favored by receiving a few more encores than the rest. Her voice was clear and strong, and her control of it was an enjoyable feature. All of her selections were favorites, but the Scotch songs won the most favor.

Mr. VanEps also came in for a large share of applause, and he was recalled several times. Mr. Rough, tenor, was well-received, and his work was thoroughly appreciated, as was also the work of Miss Weir, whose playing was delightful. Mr. Audsley's violin playing was, as usual, a feature. His work is always of a high standard.

Miss Saidee Mae Howell was the accompanist for Miss Willis; Stuart Pope for Mr. VanEps, and Clarence Sears for Mr. Rough. The work of the accompanists was superb and added greatly to the enjoyment of the several numbers.

SAUCY TO THE COP.

As a Result Mrs. Apgar Will Probably Sojourn Twenty Days in the County Jail.

The household of George Apgar, in the rear of French's mill, first attained rather undesirable notoriety last winter by a rather thrilling family quarrel. A fire followed the quarrel as the result of the throwing of a lighted lamp by the wife, Mrs. Elizabeth Apgar, at her husband. This morning Mrs. Apgar was in the City Court again.

Patrolman Weizenreid was attracted to the corner of Front and Somerset streets Saturday evening by loud talking. He found the Apgars engaged in a lively battle of phrases. His instructions to depart were obeyed only by the husband. Mrs. Apgar, who had been drinking, turned her attention to the officer and gave her opinions freely and without reservation. She was locked up. This morning the Judge fined her $5. She will probably have to take twenty days in jail as funds are lacking at the Apgar household.

Stealing a Ride on Royal Blue Liner.

Harry Newton was arrested by Patrolman Saffron Saturday evening for stealing a ride on a passing Blue Line express. He explained that he was going from Philadelphia to New York looking for work. The Judge suspended sentence but suggested that the county roads were better means of reaching the desired end than the Central Railroad unless Newton had the necessary cash.

Tried to Kill His Toothache.

David Totten came from Newark Saturday afternoon with a toothache. He took several glasses of whiskey to drown the pain. Then he laid down in Blimm's alley to die. Patrolman Saffron found him there and aided him to navigate to the station house. Totten remained in a cell until this morning when City Judge Runyon suspended sentence with a warning.

Imbibed too Freely.

John Waldron, a boarder at the Arlington Hotel, imbibed too freely Saturday night and Marshal Kliner found him on Somerset street in a state of intoxication and disorder. He was locked up and will be given a hearing this evening before Mayor Smalley at 7 o'clock.

OLD PLAINFIELDER DEAD.

James Webster King Passed Away in Brooklyn Yesterday—Interment to be at Bound Brook.

James Webster King, aged 78 years, for many years a resident of this city, where he was well-known, died yesterday morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. A. B. Heath, 1,417 Pacific street, Brooklyn, where he had been living for some time past. Mr. King's death was due to an abcess of the stomach. He was a long and patient sufferer from the disease which caused a great wasting away. He had many friends in Plainfield who will learn of his death with deep regret.

Mr. King is survived by three children, David W. King, of Craig place, in the borough; Mott King, of New York, and Mrs. A. B. Heath, of Brooklyn. He also leaves two sisters, Mrs. Fannie A. Sutphen, of LaGrande avenue, and Mrs. Arthur Sutphen, of Dunellen, and one nephew, A. C. Vail, of West Eighth street. The funeral survices will be held from the residence of Mrs. Heath tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock, and interment will take place Wednesday morning at Bound Brook on the arrival of the 9:10 o'clock train from New York.

HAD NO LICENSES.

Hebrew Peddlers Did Not Get Consent of City Government Before Doing Business.

Moses Levy, a Hebrew peddler, was captured last year by Roundsman Flynn and arraigned before City Judge Runyon for peddling without a license. He promised to get a license without delay. Patrolman Mattox captured the same man this morning, as he left the 8:46 train at the North Avenue station. Levy had forgotten about the license entirely. He promised Judge Runyon to get the license this afternoon and the Judge gave him another trial.

Julius Sacker, another Hebrew peddler, came before City Judge Runyon this morning on a similar charge preferred by Patrolman Mattox. Sacker said there was no truth in it. The officer offered to produce the necessary witnesses to prove his case, and the trial was adjourned until next week Tuesday.

Body Found in the River.

December 31st of last year Charles Tisch, of New York, a brother of Mrs. Denckiau, of East Second street, disappeared. He was a wealthy retired manufacturer, and had left his home for a walk. He was never seen again alive. His body was found last Saturday in the East River, and was positively identified by Tisch's daughter. The initials "C. T." were found on his shirt, and the police were sure that they had discovered the right body. The family took charge of the body at once and will bury it. Mrs. Denckiau expects to go to New York today. The police have no clue as to how Tisch met his death. There are no marks of violence on the body, but the chances are that he committed suicide.

Death of Miss Peckham's Mother.

The friends of Miss Helen Peckham, formerly teacher of German in the Plainfield High School, will regret to learn of the death of her mother, Mrs. Nancy Wooster Peckham, who resided here with her. Last February she fell on an icy pavement and broke both bones in her limb. After patiently suffering for seven weeks her physician decided, as the bones did not knit, amputation necessary, but in her enfeebled condition she did not rally, and her death occurred in the hospital at Syracuse, N. Y., April 23d. Her son, who resides in St. Louis, and Helen, who was in Los Angeles, Cal., reached her bedside a few moments before she became unconscious. Interment at Pulaski, N. Y.

Mr. Vail in Charge.

On account of being away from Plainfield so much of the time, looking after engagements in various cities and counties, where he is supervising engineer in charge of the construction of pavements, roads, sewers, etc., and finding it impossible to give home work the attention it should have, F. A. Dunham has arranged with Ephraim Vail, who has had charge of his main office for sometime, to personally look after all engineering that may come to the office.

A Sprinkling Car a Necessity.

According to the ordinance the Plainfield Street Railway Co. is compelled to commence sprinkling May 15th, and it is quite likely that a regular sprinkling car will be used, as the lines have been extended making the old system impracticable.

Last Meeting for Study.

The last meeting of the Plainfield University Center for study before vacation, will be held tomorrow evening in the assembly room of the High School building. All members are urged to be present.

SCARLET FEVER CASES NOW UNDER CONTROL.

The Board of Health Believe That the Epidemic is Nearly at an End.

NO SUSPECTED MILK SOLD.

DR. HUNT, PRESIDENT OF STATE BOARD OF HEALTH, IN TOWN.

Only One New Case Has Developed During the Past Thirty-six Hours in the City—Three New Cases in the Borough.

The Board of Health physicians throughout the city are glad to report that the epidemic of scarlet fever is diminishing. Only one new case has developed in the city during the past thirty-six hours, and all of the cases are now well under control. No milk is being sold from the suspected dairy for the present, as prohibited by the Board of Health. The owner of the dairy is showing every possible desire to right the matter and solve the mystery. He is working in complete harmony with the Board of Health, and not a stone is being left unturned to get at the bottom of the mystery.

The sale of this milk from the suspected dairy was forbidden by the president of the Board of Health Wednesday last, and not a drop has been sold since.

In the borough three new cases have developed since Saturday, but the new ones as well as the old ones are doing very well, and strict quarrantine is being kept at all houses where there are any cases. There are many wild and erroneous reports being circulated, but they should be stamped as false. People should be very careful in circulating reports that they are not absolutely certain about as this tends to excite others and may lead to serious trouble. At present the conditions are not alarming, and if people will only use their best judgment this will do as much as anything to allay possible fears.

Dr. Hunt, of Trenton, is in town today, and he, together with the local Board of Health, are prosecuting a vigorous search in the hope of ascertaining just how the disease started.

No Danger in the Schools.

To the Editor of The Daily Press:—Will you kindly permit me to use your columns to reassure those parents who are afraid of scarlet fever contagion in schools? The report sent to me this morning by the Board of Health shows that only a small portion of the cases are from the public schools. Out of more than two thousand children in school we have only seven cases reported. The highest number reported from one school is three, and several of the schools have none at all. There is therefore nothing alarming as far as the schools are concerned. While the teachers are always watchful to detect any sign of disease, they are particularly so at this time. The inspector informs me that no new cases developed yesterday, so that that the original cause, whatever it was, seems to have spent its force. I feel warranted, therefore, in assuring the parents that they may continue to send their children to school without any fear of contagion.

Sincerely yours,
H M. Maxson,
Supt. of Schools.

SALE NETS NEARLY $1,200.

Wonderful Success of the Rummage Sale Since It Started Last Wednesday Morning.

Hereafter the Rummage Sale will not be open in the morning. It will open in the afternoon at 2 o'clock and close at 6. Thursday and Saturday evenings it will be open from 7 until 10 o'clock. The stockroom in the Stillman building is fast being emptied but there is still a supply of articles large enough to last for several days yet.

Saturday was a very successful day at the sale. There was a great crowd there Saturday evening and the trading was lively. During the day over $250 was received and deposited in the bank to the credit of the sale. There is now nearly $1,200 in the bank as a result of the Rummage Sale.

Reception in T. A. B. Hall.

The Ladies' Association of the Plainfield Catholic Club will give a reception in T. A. B. Hall, Fourth and Liberty streets, next Wednesday evening. There will be dancing. Eugene O'Reilly will furnish the music.

—S. H. Peer, of Plainfield, and George Peer, of Pine Brook, N. J., have been appointed administrators of the estate of their father, the late Tunis D. Peer, of this city.

THREW CASH AT OFFICER.

Crazy Conduct of Frazee Connett When Waked From Drunken Sleep by Patrolman Saffron.

Patrolman Saffron found Frazee Connett fast asleep in the North Avenue station at midnight Saturday night. Connett's spare cash was scattered about the floor. Saffron waked the sleeping man and told him to go home. Connett objected to the awaking, consigned the officer to a warmer land and hurled his watch at the policeman's head. A handful of small change followed the watch.

Saffron collected the valuables and led the man away to a place where the opportunities for damaging results were not so promising. Connett remained locked up in the station house until today, when he was arraigned before City Judge Runyon on the charge of being drunk and disorderly.

As the prisoner is very hard of hearing the trial proceeded under difficulties and it became necessary for Judge Runyon to deliver his questions in his most stentorian tones. Connett failed to remember anything that happened, so the Judge made it $3 or eight days in jail. Lacking the funds, Connett took the time.

A CHORUS CHOIR.

Charles L. Lewis to Organize it for the First Methodist Church—Commences the Work Immediately.

The official board of the First M. E. church today closed a contract with Charles L. Lewis to take the position of musical director for the coming year. Mr. Lewis will organize a large chorus choir with about thirty-five voices, and it is the purpose to bring the musical part of the services at this church up to a high standard of proficiency. Mr. Lewis enters upon his work this week and he will begin to enlarge the present choir. This work will be gradual. In addition to organizing a choir and directing it, Mr. Lewis will sing at both Sunday services. His solos will be a feature, as they were at the Crescent Avenue church, where he sang for a long time.

The enlarging of the choir will necessitate some improvements, and the choir loft will also be enlarged to accommodate the extra singers. This work will be started very soon. Mr. Lewis will be in charge next Sunday for the first.

PLUMBERS ORGANIZE.

Their Purpose is for Protection and to Foster Best Interests of Their Trade.

The master plumbers of Plainfield met in the Board of Trade rooms last week Friday evening and effected an organization for protection and for the best interests of the plumbers. All the master plumbers in the city were present and complete harmony prevailed. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, John H. Carney; vice-president, C. W. Krausse; treasurer, A. E. Enander; secretary, D. H. Pound.

The plumbers will meet from time to time as the occasion demands, and plans will be formulated to strengthen the organization so that the greatest good may come to all.

BERGEN IS WILLING.

The Elizabeth Lawyer will Take Porto Rican Judgeship if it is Offered to Him.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, April 30.—Frank Bergen started for Washington yesterday afternoon to consult Senators Sewell and Kean, it is said, relative to the movement on foot to secure for him the appointment of Judge in Porto Rico. Governor Voorhees is strongly urging Mr. Bergen for the place, and, it is said, he will have the indorsement of Attorney-General Griggs. If Mr. Bergen finds that the two New Jersey Senators will encourage him, he will become an active aspirant for the place. Should he receive the appointment he would retire from the Congressional contest, making Congressman Fowler's renomination a certainty.

Will Play in Somerville.

The several members of the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium classes will go to Somerville tonight to give an exhibition basket ball game, for the benefit of the members quarterly meeting of the Somerville Y. M. C. A.

Reports From Ecumenical Conference.

Stephen Cahoone will conduct the Volunteer League meeting at the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow night. After the usual Bible study short reports will be given from the ecumenical conference.

LEAL BOYS WON AGAIN.

DEFEATED BATTIN HIGH SCHOOL AT ELIZABETH SATURDAY.

Plainfield Team Victorious by a Score of 10 to 5—Tilney's Hand Injured in First Inning—The Teams.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Elizabeth, April 30—The Battin High School nine, of this city, met defeat Saturday afternoon at the hands of the boys from Leal's School, of Plainfield. The Pingry's School team was defeated by the Leal's School boys several weeks ago. The Plainfield team won the game by a score of 10 to 5.

In the very first inning an accident happened that came very near proving a serious misfortune for the Plainfield boys. Robert Tilney, catcher and captain of the visiting team, had the nail nearly torn from the first finger of the right hand. The injury was a painful one, but he continued playing. It troubled him considerably during the game and was largely responsible for the three errors credited to him. Barcalow was the only other player on that nine to make an error.

The visitors followed their habit of batting hard and safely. Fifteen hits were made off the delivery of Meranda and they were well bunched. Meranda struck out four. Dupee pitched his usual excellent game for the Plainfield school team. Five hits were made by Elizabeth and only one figured in the run making. The Battin boys played good ball, although there was an occasional tendency to drop the ball at critical times. Eight errors were marked against them.

Will Schoonmaker was unable to play and so Millar went out to centre field for Leal's, Mason playing second base. Brown was back at his old place at first.

The teams were as follows:

IN THE FISH BUSINESS.

B. O. Bowers, Jr., Will Have Charge of an Important Industry in Maine.

Benjamin O. Bowers, Jr., of Franklin place, left yesterday morning for Cutler, Maine, where he will assume charge of a large canning factory of which he is now sole owner. Mr. Bowers has been associated with his father, B. O. Bowers, of this city, in the commission business in New York. They handled sardines and other canned fish. Mr. Bowers has now gone to learn the practical side of the general fish canning and curing business.

Mr. Bowers' factory at Cutler is the principal industry in that town and employs from 150 to 200 hands. He will have complete charge, assisted by an experienced superintendent. The nearest town of any importance is Machias, fourteen miles away, where the bank is located.

The fishing season begins there May 10th and there is every prospect of a good catch this year. In case of a successful catch the factory will turn out as many as 20,000 cans a day. Mr. Bowers will be there all the season and will not return to Plainfield again before Thanksgiving Day. The season ends December 15.

It is a great responsibility for a young man to undertake but the success that Mr. Bowers has met with so far has led his friends to believe that he will do equally as well in his new venture.

Wind too Strong for Many of Them.

Owing to the high wind and the scarcity of trailing arbutus, the bicycle sociable of the Christian Endeavor Society of the Congregational church Saturday afternoon was not the success it might otherwise have been. The wind was so strong that only seven gathered at the meeting place for the start. The season for the arbutus was found to be practically over and not enough was obtained to send to the New York flower mission as was first intended.

Sidewalk is Too Uneven.

If the Board of Education want to make an improvement that will be greatly appreciated they have the sidewalk on Arlington avenue, running by the Franklin and High schools, relaid and straightened. A few nights ago a person walking along there narrowly escaped serious injury. The walk is very uneven and should be attended to before a law suit follows.

CONSPIRED TO KILL THE PROSECUTOR?

Serious Charge Made Against Woman Hotel Keeper in New Brunswick.

SHE IS UNDER ARREST NOW.

MRS. RUCK INCENSED BECAUSE SHE HAD BEEN INDICTED.

Detectives Allege That They Were Offered $100 to Commit the Murder—The Prisoner Denies the Charge.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

New Brunswick, April 30.—Mrs. Rosa Ruck, keeper of a hotel at Catharine and Somerset streets, was arrested last evening on a charge of conspiring to bring about the assassination or disappearance of Prosecutor John S. Voorhees, of Middlesex county. The charge is preferred by Sylvester F. Cosgrove, a detective connected with an agency in New York city.

March 28th last there was a fire at the factory of the Consolidated Fruit Jar Company, in this city, which was almost a duplicate of one which had occurred at the same factory only a few months before. It was believed that the fire was of incendiary origin, and to discover the incendiaries and accomplish their arrest and conviction the Fruit Jar Company offered a reward of $1,000.

For some time Cosgrove and another detective named John Hill, connected with the same agency, have been in New Brunswick working up the case.

Cosgrove secured employment with the Fruit Jar Company. He was discharged in a few days for smoking a cigarette in the factory. He went to Mrs. Ruck's place, where he was boarding, and told her that he would "do up" the man who had discharged him before he left the city. Mrs. Ruck, Cosgrove alleges, said that she wanted the prosecutor put out of the way, as he was constantly persecuting her. Cosgrove says she offered to give $100 if Mr. Voorhees was killed.

Mrs. Ruck is alleged to have made the same offer to Hill, and to have given as her reason that the Prosecutor had had her indicted for keeping a disorderly house. Cosgrove and Hill entered into the arrangement, it is said, and agreed to kill Mr. Voorhees Thursday night.

Friday, they say, they reported to Mrs. Ruck that they had been unable to carry out the plan, as they had not positively identified the Prosecutor.

The detective agency received reports from Cosgrove and Hill, and these reports were submitted to the Fruit Jar authorities. Mr. Voorhees was informed of the contents of the reports so far as they concerned him. He waited without action until Saturday night, when, on the advice of the agency, he allowed the complaint to be made by Cosgrove.

Mrs. Ruck had a hearing before Recorder Kuhn after her arrest. The two detectives made sworn statements. Mrs. Ruck made a voluntary statement denying the charges and asserting that the men had offered to put the Prosecutor out of the way for $100. She said she laughed at their talk, as they had been drinking.

Sermon to Young People.

Rev. W. T. Griffin, of LaGrande avenue, who occupied the pulpit of Trinity Reformed church last evening, delivered a most excellent sermon to a large congregation, from the text 2d King, 5th chapter, part of the 13th verse—"But what, is thy servant a dog, that he should do this great thing?" Mr. Griffin has many warm friends in Trinity church and the very earnest words of the preacher last evening were attentively listened to and thoroughly enjoyed by all.

Good Music Heard.

One of a series of concerts was given in Y. M. C. A. hall Saturday evening, by Willard and Bartlett, two New York musical artists. They played a number of difficult pieces on the saxaphone, harp, guitar, piccolo-banjo, mandolin and violin. The audience showed their appreciation by loud and frequent encores.

Southern Industrial School Work.

Last evening at the First Baptist church a delegation of colored men from the Fort Valley Industrial School in Georgia sang some of the old Negro songs, and Mr. Torbert, who accompanies them, told something of the work of the school. A collection was taken for the school at the close of the service.

BRITISH NEED A REST

Last Week's Failures Cause Impatience at Home.

FIGHT AT THABA N'CHU DESCRIBED

Battle Extended Over a Frontage of Ten Miles—The Explosion at Johannesburg Charged to the Proprietor of the Works.

LONDON, April 30.—The only dispatch from Lord Roberts published yesterday was the usual list of deaths and sickness. The flood of newspaper dispatches today describing the recent operations throws no light whatever upon the present position of affairs or upon the great question as to when the main advance is to begin. The Standard's announcement that General French's cavalry are returning to Bloemfontein is clear proof that there is no further hope of catching the retreating Boers, and the London papers are beginning to display impatience at the practical failure of the elaborate operations of last week.

The Standard says:

"It is disheartening to find that these elaborate maneuvers have had so small a result."

The Daily Chronicle remarks:

"We are reluctant to criticise Lord Roberts, but it is impossible to shut our eyes to the fact that during the last ten days we have gained very little from our enormous display of force."

Without doubt these operations have been of a very exhausting nature and will entail further delay. The Bloemfontein correspondent of The Times, writing on March 3, after the Paardeberg affair, describes Lord Roberts' army as a "wreck" because it was without horses and without transport. The Bloemfontein correspondent of The Post speaks now of the urgent need at present and always of more horses.

There is very little news from other quarters.

According to a special dispatch from Thaba N'Chu, dated Sunday, the British troops, now that the adjacent country is cleared of the Boers, who trekked hurriedly in the direction of Ladybrand, will recuperate for a short period.

A special dispatch from Thaba N'Chu, dated Thursday, describing the fight at Israel's Poort, which is about seven miles west of Thaba N'Chu, says:

"The British artillery shelled the kopjes all day from three positions. The Boer positions were extremely well chosen, consisting of a long range of very precipitous hills, with narrow passes between, commanding a vast extent of country.

"The mounted infantry made a wide turning movement, while the foot infantry advanced within 2,000 yards under good shelter.

"During the afternoon the battle became general and extended over a frontage of ten miles.

"At 3 o'clock the Canadians advanced in open order; but, meeting with a terrific fire, they took shelter in a donga. When they finally captured the kopje, the Boers were seen retiring north and east with wagons, and subsequently, when the infantry made a dash, the rest of the enemy fired a few shots and cleared off.

"On occupying Thaba N'Chu we found the stores and hotels all looted by the Boers. The natives complain of having their horses and cattle stolen and of cruel treatment. The English residents were subjected to taunts and insults."

A dispatch to The Daily Mail from Johannesburg, dated Thursday, April 26, says:

"Personal examination at the scene of the Begbie works disaster shows that the foundry was destroyed by the explosion beyond repair, probably, this side of the declaration of peace, although the shell making plant may be transferred to another foundry.

"It is said that 17 workmen are still unaccounted for. Mr. Begbie is charged with murder. He is suspected by the Boers of having blown up his works, which cost £80,000, in order to revenge himself for the affront of being compelled to manufacture munitions of war for the enemy."

The Bloemfontein correspondent of The Standard, telegraphing Sunday, says:

"The Boers have taken every advantage of the mountainous nature of the country which marks the line of their retreat to Ladybrand. The task of driving them is difficult, and it is doubtful if they can be reduced to submission in a district so favorable to their tactics.

"I have visited a British outpost, the one nearest Brandfort. The Boers show the deepest anxiety to learn the probable line of our advance, and they declare that they will not fire a shot from Brandfort, as they wish to save the town from bombardment.

"The enemy are intrenched on the hills southeast of Brandfort, but they are not likely to make any serious stand until we reach Kroonstadt."

British to Hold Thaba N'Chu.

BLOEMFONTEIN, April 30.—It is understood that the British will continue to hold Thaba N'Chu owing to its strategic importance and especially with a view of checking future raids. The commandoes that had recently been operating in the direction of Thaba N'Chu are melting away, the Boers quietly returning to their farms and many of them taking the oath of allegiance. Experience has shown, however, in many cases that this is only a pretense to enable the Boers to create disturbances on the rear of the British, and vigorous methods will probably be necessary to force real disarmament.

Commandant Olivier Wounded.

ALIWAL NORTH, April 30.—It is reported here that Commandant Olivier was wounded at Wepener last Monday. Six New Zealanders while scouting fought six Boers, killing three and wounding three. One New Zealander was wounded. The inhabitants of Rouxville do not know to which government they belong, as there is no civil administration there.

Boer Commissioners Coming Here.

THE HAGUE, April 30.—The members of the Boer peace mission will sail from Rotterdam for the United States next Thursday evening by the Holland-America line steamship Maasdam. Dr. Leyds and Dr. Mueller will not accompany the delegates. The delegates visited Amsterdam today.

Weather Probabilities.

Fair and cooler; fresh to brisk southwesterly winds.

TO TIDE WATER NOW.

Important Obstacle Overcome by the Lehigh Valley at Jersey City.

The only remaining obstacle to the completion of the Greenville and Hudson branch of the Lehigh Valley Railroad through Jersey City was overcome Friday, when laborers dug a deep cut at Chapel avenue and built a temporary bridge across the opening. Last year the street and water commissioners granted the application for the change of grade of Chapel avenue, enabling the construction of a viaduct, but the resolution went to the Supreme Court by a writ of certiorari, granted on the application of the Morris & Cumings Company, owners of the shore front at Chapel avenue. The ordinance was sustained by the Supreme Court, the decision being rendered a few days ago. The Lehigh Valley owns the property north and south of Chapel avenue, and will establish a large freight yard there.

FINE PROSPECT FOR PEACHES.

San Jose Scale Not Troubling Hunterdon County Growers.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Flemington, April 30.—A careful inquiry as to whether or not the dreaded San Jose scale had made its appearance in Hunterdon county, the banner peach county in New Jersey, has been made with the gratifying result that none of the groves have thus far been seriously affected. The growers report that the trees are in a healthy condition and that an enormous crop may be expected.

The peach growers are watching their trees carefully and will take prompt action should the scale make its appearance. The trees are now in bloom. The truckmen say that the prospects for this year's crop of blackberries, raspberries and other small fruits has never been equalled. The large prices reaped for last year's crop of peaches has caused the peach fever to break out on a modified scale, and hundreds of groves are now being planted.

NEWARK'S $1,000,000 HOTEL.

Project Taking Definite Shape and Promoters are Hopeful.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Newark, April 30.—The project of erecting a hotel here to cost not less than $1,000,000 has taken definite shape, and it is believed the building will be completed in time to meet the demands of the throngs of visitors who are expected at the State Industrial Exhibition in 1902.

Among those most actively interested in the project are State Senator Thomas N. McCarter, Richard C. Jenkinson, president of the Board of Trade; County Prosecutor Chandler W. Riker, Azal H. McCarter, Bernard Strauss and Moses Plaut. The promoters have held several meetings and $100,000 has been subscribed. They favor a site in Military Park.

Is the "State Center" Sold?

Rev. A. L. Wilson has informed his friends this week that he has bought the State Center newspaper plant, and will assume charge of that Democratic exponent May 1st. BRIDGE WORK

in Dentistry is the best substitute for nature's work that can be done. Sound roots may be built up and crowned and thus fill up an unsightly space. It has to be made of a material that has strength and durability and one that will not discolor. Gold is the one that stands the test. That is the secret of the expense. THE SULTAN NO SAINT Armenians Take Exception to Lew Wallace's Eulogy.

TURKISH DEPREDATIONS CENSURED

Sultan, They Say, Justly Deserves the Condemnation of the Civilized World as the Author of Horrible and Disgraceful Crimes.

BOSTON, April 30.—Following close upon the agitation in diplomatic circles over the question of settlement by Turkey of indemnity growing out of depredations on American property during the massacres by the Kurds the Armenians in this country have arranged for meetings to urge upon this government an insistence of payment by the porte. Last night the Armenians of Boston met in such a meeting in Caledonian hall, where prominent men of the race spoke strongly against Turkey.

As an outcome the meeting adopted resolutions which in brief reply to the public statements by General Lew Wallace in defense of the sultan. The resolutions set forth that "as General Lew Wallace, an ex-minister to Turkey, has made public statements which may mislead the public, especially when our government is demanding of Turkey the payment of indemnity for the loss of American property during the Armenian massacres; that General Lew Wallace attempts to present the sultan and his government as not responsible for the atrocities committed in his empire, the Armenians of Boston and vicinity assembled in mass meeting; the facts in question are so universally known and officially proved that Mr. Wallace's statements either betray his ignorance of historical events or are meant to hamper the administration in its just demands upon the Turkish government; that in spite of Mr. Wallace's eulogy of the sultan's character he (the sultan) justly deserves the condemnation of the civilized world as the author and perpetrator of the horrible crimes that disgraced the closing century."

The meeting pledged its support to the national administration that will pursue such vigorous foreign policy as to protect the rights of American citizens abroad, especially in Turkey.

Copies of the document will be sent to the president.

No Reply From the Porte.

CONSTANTINOPLE, April 30.—The porte has not yet replied to the note handed to Tewfik Pasha, the Turkish foreign minister, by the United States charge d'affaires, Mr. Lloyd Griscom, regarding the indemnity claim, and the situation is unchanged. It is believed in some quarters that a settlement will yet be made by means of some arrangement with private American contractors, concealing the actual payment and thus relieving the Ottoman government from admitting responsibility for the losses occasioned at the time of the massacres.

General Wallace Not Considered.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—With reference to published reports that the name of General Lew Wallace was under consideration for appointment as minister to Turkey to succeed Mr. Straus it is stated authoritatively that General Wallace has not been considered in connection with the mission and that Mr. Straus has not resigned as minister.

Mr. Wilson's Views.

KANSAS CITY, April 30.—William L. Wilson, author of the Wilson tariff bill, while in this city en route from Hot Springs to Nebraska City, Neb., where he is to be the guest of J. Sterling Morton, his associate in Cleveland's cabinet, said: "It is to be McKinley and Bryan. Mr. Cleveland will not allow his name to be mentioned, and Dewey will not get an opportunity to see himself voted down." Mr. Wilson gave expression to his views regarding the candidacy of Admiral Dewey. "He is innocent of the game of politics," he said, "and has blundered in his bluntness, as blunt people often do. He will blunder out of it again as suddenly as he came in. Dewey does things suddenly. He generally anticipates, and when the row is at its height he will surprise everybody by sailing away, or I am mistaken in the man."

The Rush For Nome.

SEATTLE, April 30.—The formal rush to the goldfields of Cape Nome was inaugurated today, when the steamer Jeanie of the Pacific Steam Whaling company, the first steamer to start on the trip this year, sailed. This vessel took 80 passengers and 400 tons of freight from this port and expects to be one of the first to reach Nome when the obstructing ice has broken. For the last several weeks people have been arriving here by the hundreds to get ready to make the northward trip and have filled all the hotels to such an extent that it has been difficult to get accommodations.

Attempted Murder and Suicide.

NEWARK, N. Y., April 30.—Edward Norley went to the home of C. W. Stuart on Willow avenue, where his wife is employed as a domestic, early yesterday and attempted to kill her. He entered the kitchen where she was employed, threw her down on the floor, drew a razor from his pocket and inflicted several gashes about her neck. Leaving her, as he supposed, to die, he went into the rear yard and cut his own throat with the same weapon. The wound self inflicted was so serious that he died in about an hour. It is thought that his wife will recover.

Baseball.

NEW YORK, April 30.—Two games of baseball were played yesterday under the auspices of the National league. In Chicago the home team was outplayed by the St. Louis nine, the score standing 1 to 6. An eleven inning game was played at Cincinnati, in which the Pittsburgs defeated the Cincinnatis by a score of 6 to 8.

Indian Uprising Feared.

SEATTLE, April 30.—Residents of the Haines Mission, 18 miles below Skaguay, on Lynn canal, have made an appeal to the army officers at Skaguay for troops to protect them against the feared Indian uprising. The trouble arose over the imprisonment of Indians arrested for murders last fall.

DEATH AT THE FAIR

Nine Killed and Many Injured by a Falling Bridge.

HOLIDAY HAPPINESS WAS CHECKED

The Shaky Structure, Newly Erected by a Show Company, Had Been Condemned, Thus Preventing Much Greater Damage.

PARIS, April 30.—An accident within the exposition grounds yesterday caused the death of nine persons and injured many others. A temporary bridge, unable to withstand the Sunday crowd, broke.

The accident threw a pall over the happiness of an immense throng who had profited by the magnificent weather to visit the exposition. It was probably the record day for attendance. Not merely the interior of the grounds, but the precincts also were crowded, and the concourse was particularly great along the Avenue de Suffren, which forms the northern boundary of the grounds.

Here is situated a big side show, the Celestial Globe. A footbridge on which the finishing touches were being put crosses the Avenue de Suffren, connecting the side show with the exhibition. It was constructed of wood, with a stucco facade and with a plaster made tower at each end.

Strangely enough, the bridge had been condemned only that morning as unsafe by the exhibition authorities. The public was therefore not allowed to go upon the structure, and in this way a disaster even more terrible than that which occurred was averted.

The gay crowd was passing along the avenue, and some hundred or more persons were walking beneath the bridge when suddenly an ominous crash was heard. Before those underneath could turn aside the structure fell with a fearful crash, burying nearly 50.

A shout of horror rose from the spectators, mingled with the cries of the victims. For a moment nothing could be distinguished but a cloud of dust and plaster. A scene of the greatest excitement and confusion followed. But this was only for a few seconds. Almost immediately the crowd attacked the debris in an effort to release those lying beneath.

The workmen within the grounds who had witnessed the accident, the police and the republican guards, together with quite a number of soldiers, joined in the rescue work. The promenaders forgot their Sunday attire and covered themselves with dirt and grime in tearing away the rubbish with their hands.

The victims first recovered were mostly only the injured, the dead being found later beneath the center of the structure. Messengers were dispatched to bring firemen and sappers, with their equipments, and the first body was found after a quarter of an hour's frantic labor.

It was that of a little girl about 7 years old, whose head was horribly crushed.

The weighty plaster towers seem to have been responsible for the fall of the structure. Commissioner General Picard and other high officials of the exposition arrived shortly after the accident and superintended the work of relief. President Loubet sent an officer of his household for information.

It should be said that the exhibition authorities are not responsible for the defective construction of the footbridge, which was erected by the management of the Celestial Globe.

Ingersoll Caught Again.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 30.—Charles Ingersoll, defaulting treasurer of Tompkins county, N. Y., has been arrested here. Ingersoll was found to be a defaulter on Dec. 12 last, but he fled when the discovery came and went to Baltimore and St. Louis and was finally captured in Iowa. He returned to Ithaca and on April 4 was held on two charges of embezzlement aggregating $16,000 and on one charge of forgery. He gave bonds in $10,000, but three weeks ago he disappeared. He says he spent two weeks in Chicago and then came here.

Prinstein's Wonderful Jump.

PHILADELPHIA, April 30.—One world's record was shattered and the world's figures for another event were equaled on Franklin field during the sixth annual relay races under the auspices of the University of Pennsylvania. The new world's record was made by M. Prinstein, the marvelous jumper of Syracuse university, who leaped 24 feet 7¼ inches in the broad jump. The former record was held by A. C. Kraenzlein of Pennsylvania, 24 feet 4½ inches.

Governor Tanner's Illness.

CHICAGO, April 30.—The skiograph of Governor Tanner's anatomy taken Saturday was developed, and when the first print was examined the diagnosis of the state executive's case was shown to be accurate, for the presence of gallstones in the biliary ducts is revealed clearly in the picture. The governor will return to Springfield today, where an operation will be performed by Dr. Senn.

Missing Man Found In a Well.

ATHENS, Ills., April 30.—The body of Robert Carter of Mason City, who disappeared March 31, has been found in an old well on the farm of Wolf Satzenstern, one mile west of Athens, with a rock weighing 50 pounds attached to the neck. James Dixon, Leslie Harvey, "Rusty" Harrison and George Moore, the men last seen with Carter, have been arrested.

Penitentiary Shops Burned.

FRANKFORT, Ky., April 30.—The penitentiary chair shops have been burned, entailing a loss of $25,000. Huge tanks of kerosene and naphtha were stored in the building, and the firemen with difficulty prevented the flames from reaching the locality. The fire is supposed to have started from spontaneous combustion.

American Tobacco Company Wins.

RALEIGH, April 30.—Judge Simonton, in the Blackwell Durham Tobacco company case, has decided in favor of the American Tobacco company on evidence presented, making the receivership permanent and ordering the sale of the property.

Postoffice Safe Blown Open.

RIVERHEAD, N. Y., April 30.—Burglars visited the Aquebogue postoffice, three miles east of this village, blew open the safe with dynamite and got away with $60 in cash and about $10 worth of stamps.

Union County Court of Common Pleas.

Notice of hearing objections to assessments for street improvements in the City of Plainfield.

Andrew J. Gavett, Robert H. Cook and Arthur T. Gallup, the Commissioners appointed by the Union County Court of Common Pleas by order entered on the 24th day of January, 1900, to estimate and assess benefits conferred by the permanent street improvements in the City of Plainfield, under the ordinances of said City specified in said order, said improvements being the macadamizing of portions of East Sixth Street, Franklin Place, East Ninth Street, West Fourth Street and West Third Street in said City, under and by virtue of the provisions of the Act of the Legislature entitled "An Act to Authorize the Improvements of Streets and Highways in Cities of this State, and to Provide for the Payment of the Expense of the Same," approved June 13, 1898, and the amendments and supplements thereto, having made and filed in the office of the Clerk of said Court, a report in writing of their estimates and assessments, accompanied by a survey and map prepared by the City Surveyor under their direction, showing lot or parcels of land and real estate peculiarly benefitted by such improvements, respectively, the cost of the whole work under said several ordinances, the portion assessed upon the City at large, and the names, so far as ascertained of the owners of the said lots or parcels of land and real estate and the amount of the assessment to each owner for each of said lots or parcels of land and real estate for the said benefits, and the excess thereof to be paid by the City at large, and raised by general tax, and the other matters required by said Acts of the Legislature, as by reference to said report and maps will more fully and at large appear:

Notice is hereby given that the said Union County Court of Common Pleas has fixed Saturday, the twelfth day of May, 1900, at ten o'clock in the forenoon, or as soon thereafter as the Court can attend to the same, at the Court House in the City of Elizabeth, as the time and place for hearing any objections that may be made to such assessments, when and where all parties interested may be heard, and has directed the publication of this notice.

Dated April 25, 1900
WILLIAM HOWARD,
Clerk of Union County Court of Common Pleas.

Want a Graded School.

The members of the School Board of Bernards township, since the defeat by popular vote of the measure to erect two new schoolhouses in Bernards township—one at Bernardsville and one at Basking Ridge—are discussing the project of erecting a graded school in the township. The site selected is on the old parsonage grounds, near the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad depot at Basking Ridge. An election will probably be held in a few weeks to vote on the proposition.

YOU never cut off three-quarters of a new cake of soap and throw it away! Yet you pay twice the price of Ivory Soap for a cake of "tinted" toilet soap less than half as large. Your little cake of toilet soap costs you four times the price of Ivory, for it lasts only half as long and costs twice as much. No money can buy purer or better soap than Ivory. If it came in dainty paper, all scented and colored, you would pay fifteen cents for a very small cake of it.

CHICAGO TERRORIZED.

Strikers Have Caused Bloodshed and Death.

CHICAGO, April 30.—Rioting, bloodshed, death, property destruction and a reign of terror, extending over several weeks have characterized the labor disturbances here this year. With the exception of the strike of 1886, when nearly a score of policemen were killed and wounded by the explosion of the bomb thrown by an anarchist sympathizer, and the railroad riots, the strike of 1899-1900 has been the bloodiest Chicago has ever seen. Four men have been killed practically outright and more than 100 wounded since November last, the greatest part of the casualties having occurred since Feb. 10 of this year, when the lockout of the men in the building trades formally began.

Many men have been assaulted and beaten of whose cases no record was ever made, the victims preferring to maintain silence. It is also said that more than one man has died in consequence of a beating administered by union pickets, the cause of death being attributed to something else. The present week has been gory, 35 men having been beaten more or less badly and one killed. On Monday three men were hurt, Wednesday the casualties were 25, Thursday three and Saturday four.

Mayor Harrison has made an appeal to citizens of Chicago to use their influence in settling the labor troubles. The city administration, he says, has done all in its power to bring the question to arbitration and final settlement, but has failed, and he calls upon patriotic citizens to take up the question and fight it through to a termination.

The Philippine Trade.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—The division of customs and insular affairs of the war department has made public an advance summary of its monthly bulletin relative to the imports and exports of merchandise which have passed the several ports of the Philippine Islands for the period of four months ended Oct. 31 last. The total value of merchandise imported during this period was $8,912,521, comprising articles of food and animals to the value of $2,084,124, or 24 per cent of the total amount; manufactured articles, $4,532,424, or 51 per cent; luxuries, $463,708, or 5 per cent. The total value of exports during these four months was $5,774,049, of which agricultural products to the amount of $5,102,438 constituted 88 per cent.

Governor Taylor Returns.

LEXINGTON, Ky., April 30.—Governor W. S. Taylor passed through here yesterday from Washington en route to Frankfort. He was met by a large number of leading citizens at the station. He said he returned to silence the rumors that he was endeavoring to escape indictments. His friends insist that these rumors were started by some one who took advantage of his absence. After learning whether there is an indictment against him he will return to Washington. His wife accompanied him. He is looking well and appreciated the fact that his friends met him. A number of Lexingtonians will go to Frankfort to aid him in any way in their power.

Dewey Off For Chicago.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—Admiral Dewey, accompanied by Mrs. Dewey and his private secretary, Lieutenant Caldwell, left here yesterday in a special train over the Baltimore and Ohio railroad en route to Chicago to participate in the celebration of the second anniversary of the battle of Manila. Their train was one of the finest which ever left the capital city. It consisted of three handsome cars fitted with every luxury to insure the greatest possible comfort for the travelers. Upon the central windows on either side of the three cars was painted the admiral's flag, and the hotel car was profusely decorated with cut flowers and potted plants.

Death of Missing Furniture Dealer.

NEW YORK, April 30.—Joshua Gregg, the Sixth avenue furniture dealer who unexpectedly made an assignment on Feb. 10 and, leaving his home, this city, with his wife, evaded the inquiries of his friends as to his whereabouts for several days, died late Saturday at Glens Falls, N. Y., where he had been staying for the last three weeks. Previous to that he had been at Saranac Lake. His health had been despaired of by his physicians since last December. His wife has been with him at Saranac Lake and Glens Falls. Death was due to pulmonary troubles.

NEW YORK CENTRAL STRIKE.

If Strikers' Demands Are Not Heeded, a General Tie Up Will Be Ordered.

BUFFALO, April 30.—The striking employees of the New York Central have given the company until 1 o'clock this afternoon to grant their demands. If the concessions are not made by that time, it is the intention of the strike leaders to extend the strike, and they predict that it will be the largest in the history of railroads of the east. They claim that all they have to do is to remove the restraint under which they have been holding railroad men and that it then will run through the entire New York Central system in the state and will cripple nearly every road entering Buffalo. A strike leader said that he and his fellows had arranged their plans so nicely that within 24 hours 30,000 men would join the ranks of the strikers if the situation seemed to demand it.

The New York Central strikers say that they have induced others to delay action pending a reply from the officials of the company.

The members of the board of mediation and arbitration concede that the situation is grave, and they do not disguise their belief that a great railroad strike is imminent.

After talking with some of the railroad officials Superintendent of Police Bull consulted with Mayor Diehl and Commissioner Cooper and then promulgated a significant order to the force which says in part:

"The strike among certain employees of two railroads and reports that the strike will become general presents an emergency that requires the entire police force to be placed on duty prepared to promptly respond to any demand for the careful protection of life and property. The entire force will go upon duty at midnight Sunday, April 29, and work in two platoons until further orders."

An important conference was held at the Hotel Iroquois in the afternoon between Commissioners Delahanty and Webster of the state board of mediation and arbitration and the committee of the strikers headed by Chairman A. M. Fish. At the request of the arbitrators the rock bottom terms which the men are willing to accept from the New York Central were presented. They are identical with the original demand, including a general increase in wages and the re-employment of the old union men who were discharged.

Young Vanderbilt to Wed.

NEW YORK, April 30.—The engagement of Alfred Gwynne Vanderbilt, the second living son of the late Cornelius Vanderbilt, and Miss Elsie French, the daughter of Mrs. Francis Ormond French, is announced. Miss Elsie French and her mother and Mr. Vanderbilt are in London. The announcement was made to a few relatives and friends. The engagement was not a surprise. It was also learned at Newport that Mr. Vanderbilt and Miss French will be married there in September at Trinity church, and the wedding will be followed by a small reception at Harbor View, the villa of Mrs. French.

A Notable Wedding Today.

NEW YORK, April 30.—A special train left the Grand Central station this afternoon for the purpose of conveying to Greenwich, Conn., the guests from New York and vicinity who have been invited to witness the marriage of Miss Helen Benedict and Mr. Thomas Hastings at Greenwich, Conn. When the 1,500 guests who have been invited to witness the ceremony reach Greenwich, they will find that all the resources of springtime have been drawn upon for the floral adornment of the Second Congregational church, in which the marriage is to be solemnized.

Clearing the Way for Fowler.

The observing Trenton correspondent of the Philadelphia Record has this to say of the offer of a Porto Rican judgeship to Frank Bergen:

"The olive branch is being held out to Frank Bergen, who is a candidate for Congress in the Eighth Congress district. His friends wanted him appointed as a Judge in Porto Rico. Should President McKinley tender him such an office, and he accept it, then Congressman Fowler would have clear sailing for a re-election to the National Legislature. This was a happy thought on the part of those who originated it, because it will remove some vexatious complications which were caused by the contest for the nomination for Congress between Mr. Fowler and Mr. Bergen. And it promised to be a bitter fight—so bitter, indeed, as to open many ugly sores which could not well be healed during this year's campaign. It involved the old fight over again between Senator Kean on the one side and Mr. Fowler on the other, and it is asserted that Mr. Kean trotted out Mr. Bergen as a candidate solely for the purpose of defeating Mr. Fowler. So far the struggle for superiority has been very much in favor of Mr. Fowler, and, seeing this, the friends of Mr. Bergen, no doubt, hit upon the idea of saving him from the humiliation of a defeat by having him withdraw to accept a judgeship in Porto Rico. That now seems to be the solution of the problem, provided Mr. McKinley agrees to the programme. And thus another spoke, which was out of joint, will be welded in a wheel of the party machinery. All of this goes to show the great anxiety of the Republican leaders in the interest of harmony."

An Iowa young man not long ago proposed marriage to a young woman and was accepted. But hearing that her hair was false he declined to fulfill his engagement. She brought suit against him for breach of promise, and, being put on the stand, admitted that she wore a wig; whereupon she was non-suited on the ground that she had won the young man's affections under false pretences. The defendant probably now figures that he escaped by some other measure than that which is described as "a hair's breadth."

If the Democrats of New York finally decide to select Comptroller Coler as their candidate for Governor, Roosevelt, if he escapes the Vice-Presidency nomination, will be pitted against a candidate that can come nearer defeating him for the executive chair in Albany than any other man in the Empire State.

The selection of Chief Justice Magie for the place of Chancellor puts one of the most astute and brilliant legal minds in the judicial chair occupied with such honor and capacity by the late Alexander McGill.

Perhaps the Sultan thinks that if he can postpone the payment of that $90,000 till November, Uncle Sam will forget all about it in the wholesale slaughter of turkeys for Thanksgiving.

James P. Logan, formerly editor of the New Brunswick Fredonian, has been advanced to the chief editorship of the Newark Evening News.

The little boom to make Grover Cleveland a member of the State Game and Fish Commission seems to have fallen by the wayside.

It will be a sad blow to the anti-Fowlerites to have Frank Bergen accept the judicial appointment in Porto Rico.

Admiral Dewey has stopped talking about his Presidential aspirations. That is where he shows good sense.

WHAT THE SHEARS FIND.

Editorial Comment From Other Papers of Interest to Plainfield.

The name of James E. Martine, of Union county, is suggested by the Summit Record as a delegate-at large to the National Democratic convention. By all means give the "farmer orator" the post of honor.—Bayonne Herald.

PASSING COMMENT

Things that Are Not Exactly New, but Just as Interesting.

The servant girl question is becoming more difficult than ever for the residents of Bayonne to solve and they claim that Plainfield is largely responsible for the increased difficulties. Quite a number of domestics have left that city to come to Plainfield on the promise of securing better wages here. The supply for Bayonne was small enough at any time, but now it is very hard to get reliable help without paying very high wages. One domestic in Bayonne secured a place in Plainfield with better wages and was told that any of her friends might do as well if they came to Plainfield. The word was passed about and quite a number came to this city in search of positions. They say that wages in Plainfield are higher than they were in Bayonne.

A veteran of the Mexican War, who in his younger days was a pilot on the Tom Potter, the first steamboat that plied through the Kill von Kull and Staten Island Sound between Perth Amboy and New York city, has been leading a sort of hermit life in Elizabeth for many years. Samuel S. Waldron is the name of the old pilot, but few people in that city, where he has dwelt for over thirty years, know him by any other soubriquet than "Sidewheel Sam," so called because of his peculiar shuffling gait. Waldron was born in Washington Valley, Somerset county, in 1824, and is still healthy and vigorous at the age of seventy-six. He took up the work of a millwright when a lad and afterward learned the trades of wagon-maker and boat-builder. He was pilot on the Tom Potter when the Mexican War broke in 1846, and giving up his job enlisted in the Fourteenth New York Artillery and was in General Phil Kearney's company when the famous leader was a captain. Waldron then drifted into the boatbuilding business and with two other men constructed in 1862 the Quickstep, a small vessel that plied between Newark and Amboy and finally was sunk in a collision. His wife and two sons died, and then Waldron resolved to pay no more rent, but became a squatter and built himself a small house on wheels, which was an odd-looking structure. He made a tiller for the body of the vehicle, and whenever he was ordered to move from one vacant tract to another because of new buildings going up he would utilize himself as a horse to draw his movable habitation, while a crowd of school boys, who took great interest in the hermit and his unique dwelling, were always ready to help "Sidewheel Sam" change his location. Meanwhile he continued working at the ship charpenter trade, but one day, to the surprise of those who knew the eccentric old chap, came the news that he had married again and abandoned his Nomadic life and also had joined a church. This new departure, however, only lasted for a few years. His second wife died nine years ago and Waldron was again left alone in the world, all his relations being dead, and he resumed his life of a recluse. He ekes out a precarious existence now by doing odd jobs, but is too proud to go to the almshouse and seems to be contented in his mode of living. From once being a notorious blasphemer, he has become religious and says he is always prepared and ready to die any time the Lord sees fit to call upon him.

THE FREE ... COOKING SCHOOL ...

We have never attended a better conducted school. We never knew more affable and entertaining teachers, and never saw pupils so attentive, orderly and generally well-behaved. The delicate art of good cake-baking is made so plain that it is possible for all who attend the school to make cake that must appeal to the most epicurean taste. The mixing of the ingredients has a great deal to do with the matter, but the pans used are of even greater importance.

This illustration shows the

acknowledged to be positively the best made. These pans are used by our Lecturers who Demonstrate most clearly the importance of having the right sort of Pan in order to secure the best results. We have a full line of all the styles. They may be had singly or in entire sets. Attend at least one session of our Free Cooking and discover how much there is to be learned about Cake-baking.

REFRIGERATORS ... are now in demand.

If you need one--buy a "JEWETT." They are the best we kuow of. We have sold them for 8 years and claim to know something about them. Dry-air circulation, Charcoal filled, Zinc lined, removable ice chamber, etc.

And his store is just delightfully nice.
He has pretty inkstands and paper weights,
Alphabet blocks and transparent slates.

"He has all the popular novels, too,
And special books he'll get for you.
He has paper napkins and fountain pens,
And the sweetest, loveliest, dearest things.

He has dominoes, checkers and playing cards,
Duplicate whist and tally cards,
Crokinole, archarena and also chess,
And all other kinds of games, I guess.

"He has papeteries in greatest array,
From the daintiest tints to the very gay—
"You've said quite enough, my pretty maid,
I must see that wonderful store," he said.

THINGS THAT INTEREST SCOTCH PLAINS AND DUNELLEN.

Brief and Terse Observations Gathered by Alert Press Reporters to be Perused at the Supper Table at Your Leisure

DUNELLEN.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Dunellen, April 30.—Rev. Frank Fletcher has been noticed of late taking frequent looks at his watch. It is a handsome one, made in England, and was the gift of his son in Boston.

Constable William Polhemus, of Lincoln, received word Friday night to arrest a gang of men supposed to be in Abe Smalley's barn, but on arriving at the premises the men were missing. The constable then proceeded to the Green brook tanks, where he found two men whom he took into custody. They were placed in the Dunellen jail and locked up. On being brought before Justice Warden Saturday morning they gave their names as Kelly and Solomon. The former lived in Bound Brook and was returning from Elizabeth where he had been working. Solomon lives in Elizabeth, but had been to Whitehouse. Both had been riding on coal trains and met accidentally. They easily proved their innocence and were allowed to go. A funny incident happened when the men's breakfast was brought to them Saturday. The key of the cell was missing and it was discovered that it was in the possession of Constable Rhinehart who was in Jersey City. Before breakfast could be given to them, and the men brought out, it was necessary to file a staple off the cell door. It is needless to say that hereafter when anyone is in the cells the key will be left home.

Charles Henry Hill, a farm hand employed by a farmer at Pennington, went to Trenton yesterday to get shaved. When he arrived at Trenton the shops were closed and meeting some friends he went off and had a good time. He drank a little too much for his good, and after awhile his friends forsook him. In the course of the afternoon he landed in Dunellen, but how he got there he does not know. Last evening Constable Reinhart found the man in a helpless condition and he locked him up for the night. This morning he was arraigned before Justice Warden who after hearing the man's story released him. Hill had not been guilty of any serious offense, and the circumstances were such that it would be unreasonable to fine him or send him to jail. He promised never to drink again.

At a meeting of the Literary Society Saturday night a paper was read on Bryant, by Mrs. F. T. Titsworth, and one on China was read by Mildred Titsworth. Short stories and personal anecdotes followed and refreshments were served before the members left for home.

Mr. and Mrs. James Manning have returned to Trenton from a pleasant visit with Mr. and Mrs. John Runyon.

Clifford Fenner, of New York, was entertained Saturday by his sister, Mrs. Harry Swackhammer.

William MacDonough and William Zellers, of Hilton, registered at Taylor's Hotel yesterday.

Miss Ella Dunham, of Church street, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Harold Tomlinson of Plainfield.

William Fletcher is home for a short time from a business trip through New York State.

Chas. Corriell, Jr., is organizing a ball team. A practice game was held Saturday.

Lewis Randolph, of Piscataway, spent Saturday with Plainfield friends.

Mrs. J. Newton Apgar has returned from a visit to Martinville.

'PLAINS AND FANWOOD.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Scotch Plains, April 30.—The first Sunday since the opening of the trolley line through to Elizabeth has passed and gone. The event has enlightened the traveling public to the fact that the company cannot begin to accommodate the public under a fifteen-minute headway and with the small cars now in use. The afternoon cars were crowded to their utmost, and still people insisted upon riding wherever they could get a foothold upon the cars. The trouble will no doubt be remedied somewhat when the open cars are put on, but for Sunday accommodations the headway should be reduced.

Rev. G. M. Shott made passing reference only from his pulpit yesterday morning regarding the fight at Elizabeth tomorrow between the Citizens' League and the hotel-keepers. He said the League was very well satisfied with the number of signatures obtained on the remonstrance to be presented to the Court. The list would be kept open until this evening so as to allow any of the timid ones who wished to sign to do so.

The Saturday Night Club of the borough enjoyed another of their weekly socials in the fire house Saturday evening. Dancing was the feature of the evening and a very enjoyable evening was spent by the members and their friends.

Former Sheriff George Kyte has been ill at his home, Fanwood, for over a week with an attack of the grip. He hopes, however, to go to business tomorrow.

Rev. J. H. Parks led an interesting monthly conquest meeting of the B. Y. P. U. Society in the parlors of the Baptist church last evening.

Rev. and Mrs. G. M. Shott entertained friends and former parishoners from the North Baptist church of New York Sunday.

A match game of ball was played near Graceland yesterday afternoon between Westfield and Plainfield teams.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Jimerson, of Westfield, were the guests of their daughter Mrs. George W. Marsh Sunday.

Miss Emma Adams, who has been visiting friends in town, has returned to her home in Middletown, N. Y.

Miss Hattie Wilcox, of Brooklyn, has been visiting at the home of her mother, Mrs. Nancy Wilcox.

SOMERVILLE.

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Somerville, April 30.—The Volunteers of America have at last come to Somerville, after giving this place the go-by for fifteen years past. They have rented the vacant storeroom in the Vanderhoof building, and opened up Saturday night. Their posters announce that they have decided "To Storm the Stronghold of Satan."

Hon. Ben Duke, of Durham, N. C, is visiting his brother, J. B. Duke, President of the American Tobacco Company, at the latter's place, south of Somerville. Ben Duke is a large stockholder in the American Tobacco Company and is at the head of their large factory at Durham.

Mrs. D. N. VanZandt, of Philadelphia, who has been visiting her nephews, D. N. and F. M. Messler, returned home Saturday.

George Elmer Garretson played the violin at St. Joseph's concert, at the Waldorf-Astoria, New York, one evening last week.

Assistant Supervisor White, of the Central Railroad, has transferred his headquarters from German Valley to Somerville.

Mrs. John D. Bartine is able to walk out again after being confined to the house for four months.

Edwin I. Lane went to Washington, D. C., Saturday, on business for the Somerville Woolen Mill.

L. S. Hernett, of New York, was the guest of Somerville relatives over Sunday.

J. S. Garwood, of Brooklyn, spent Sunday with relatives in Somerville.

Mrs. Dr. Tracy H. Dawes is visiting relatives at Hightstown.

WESTFIELD

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

Westfield, April 30.—The Westfield firemen were called to Oakland Saturday to fight a fire in the handsome summer home of J. J. Willis, the retired officer of the United States Navy, who fought with Admiral Dewey when that official was Lieut. Dewey on the ship Mississippi. A defective flue in the dining room set fire to the wood work and when Mrs. Willis entered the room the walls were ablaze. Miss Ganzell, who lives next door, sent in an alarm but the system was out of order and it was sometime before the firemen got to the scene of the fire, but when they did arrive they did such prompt work that the house was saved and only a few hundred dollars damage was done. The loss is fully insured.

SOUTH PLAINFIELD

(Special Correspondence to The Press.)

South Plainfield, April 30—Mr. Lane, of the First Baptist church, of New Brunswick, will give a free lecture Tuesday and Wednesday evenings of next week in the church here. It will be illustrated with stereopticon views.

One of the little daughters of Samuel Dayton, of Piscataway, is very ill with heart trouble.

Chas. Soper and son Ralph came out from Newark on their wheels yesterday.

Dan Laing is again able to be up and around the house.

Frank Faulks is driving a new rubber-tired buggy.

A Promoter of Publicity.

Henry Swift Thomas, formerly of the News, and late of the Elizabeth Journal, resigned his position Saturday evening to engage in advertising work at Elizabeth.

TO AID INDIA.

Needs of the Famine Stricken Presented at Missionary Conference.

NEW YORK, April 30.—The ecumenican conference at the session in Carnegie hall last night discussed the Indian famine in its various phases, and Bishop Potter seems to have expressed the general sentiment of the great audience when he said that the remarkable public interest in the conference should crystallize into some material aid for the millions now starving in the far east. The enormous and appalling character of the distress was pointed out by many missionaries familiar with the situation, and at the close of the evening the make up was announced of the conference's Indian famine relief committee. On the committee are some of the wealthiest men in the country. President Seth Low of Columbia university presided at the meeting, and in opening it he said:

"We are here tonight to hear something of the Indian famine, but more particularly to see what we can do to make this great trouble weigh less heavily on that stricken land and people. It is hard here in the midst of plenty to understand what it means to be in want, to suffer as they do in an old land like India, populated so much more closely than we have any idea of.

"The population of India is 250,000,000 or about that number. What will be the problem of life in our own country when we get as large? I am sure none of us can tell, but I think that it is the duty of this lusty young country to come to the aid of hoary old India. There are some 40 dialects in India, and but few of us could ever learn them, but if we sent to the natives of India help in their time of distress we will speak a language that they understand, let their dialect be what it may."

The Rev. Dr. John Henry Barrows, president of Oberlin college, told of a recent visit to India and drew a vivid picture of the famine sufferers. He said it was shameful that some of the money being spent in the prosecution of bloody wars was not used to feed the unfortunate and starving in India and other countries.

THE WATERS RECEDING.

Situation In Texas Greatly Improved. Many Homeless Ones.

WACO, Tex., April 30.—The flood situation is very much improved, the destitute and suffering being nearly all provided with wearing apparel and food. The citizens, especially the business men, gave out large quantities of clothing and food, which ameliorated the suffering to a great extent. The principal difficulty the committee of organized charity, which has the distribution of supplies in charge, is meeting with is a place to house the homeless. Many houses contain several families, while many persons are living in tents, fearing the predicted overflow of the Brazos.

The prospects of the Brazos not overflowing are exceedingly bright, as the river has been steadily falling since Saturday and is now only ten feet above the low water mark.

The crop situation in the bottoms is considerably worse, and many crops will have to be replanted, thus throwing the cotton crop, which is already late, back about six weeks.

Prominent Judge Dead.

AMSTERDAM, N. Y., April 30.—Judge Zerah S. Westbrook of Amsterdam, who was found dead in the Hoffman House, New York, yesterday, was born in Montague, Sussex county, N. J., April 7, 1845. He served in the Fifteenth regiment, New Jersey volunteers, in the civil war. He was graduated from the Albany Law school in 1867 and admitted to the bar the same year. In 1873 he was elected president of Amsterdam village, in 1877 county judge of Montgomery county and re-elected in 1883. In 1888 he was appointed deputy state comptroller and served until 1892.

A Breach of Promise Sensation.

DETROIT, April 30.—Society was surprised when the news was made public that Mrs. Mary Fraser had filed a declaration in court demanding $100,000 damages for breach of promise of marriage from John E. King, a millionaire lumberman and of the real estate firm of Hubbard & King. Mrs. Fraser is the widow of James Fraser, a former partner of Colonel Harrah and well known in business affairs. She is pretty, 38 years old and much sought after in society. Mr. King is reputed to be worth not less than $3,000,000.

More Trouble With Boxers.

TACOMA, Wash., April 30.—The steamship Olympia brings news that the Boxers, the Chinese antiforeign society members, are giving more trouble than ever in Shangtung and Chi-li provinces. Foreigners residing in Chi-li province became alarmed last month, with the result that 1,500 Chinese troops were sent against several marauding bands of Boxers, which combined, giving them a total force of 2,000. A hard fight ensued, in which 200 Boxers were killed. The Chinese troops won because they were better armed.

The Canal Bill Now.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—The feature of this week in the house of representatives will be the Nicaragua canal bill, which will be considered tomorrow and Wednesday. The elimination of the section relative to the fortification of the canal removes the objections entertained to it by the friends of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, but because of that very fact the resentment of some of the Democrats has been aroused. The bill, however, doubtless will command a very large majority when it comes to a vote.

Mrs. Wilson's Tragic Death.

HAVANA, April 30.—The wife of Major General James H. Wilson, military governor of the department of Matanzas-Santa Clara, is dead from the effects of burns accidentally received while driving with her daughter. While alighting from her carriage Mrs. Wilson stepped on a match, which ignited her dress. She was terribly burned, and although everything was done to relieve her sufferings she died.

Artist Jones Killed.

NEW YORK, April 30.—Alfred Jones, one of the best known artists in this country, was run down by a cab at Thirty-third street and Fifth avenue and died in the New York hospital of his injuries. The cabman escaped arrest by whipping up his horse.

England to Send Relief.

LONDON, April 30.—The lord mayor of London, Mr. A. J. Newton, has opened a Mansion House fund for the relief of the victims of the Ottawa fire.

Search For the Shaws Fruitless.

WOODSTOCK, Vt., April 30.—Thoroughly exhausted after a four days' uninterrupted pursuit of Dunstan and Frank Shaw, the fugitives from Woodstock jail, Deputy Sheriffs Thomas and Spofford returned here yesterday from Pittsfield and Stockbridge, both having been recalled to attend the funeral of Deputy Sheriff Hoffman at White River Junction. They will return and join in the hunt with a stronger determination than ever to run down the murderers. Sheriff Thomas says it is now believed that the Shaws are in a swamp in West Rochester.

Ohio Democratic Convention.

COLUMBUS, O., April 30.—The Democratic state convention will meet in Columbus May 3 to fix the time and place of holding the state convention. Political circles have been somewhat agitated by a suggestion that the convention be held in this city June 6 and 7, the dates set for Admiral Dewey's visit, but Democratic leaders assert that the convention probably will be held a week later.

Canton to Celebrate.

CANTON, O., April 30.—President McKinley will be in Canton on July 4, and preparations are being made by citizens for a big celebration. Invitations have been sent to Governors Roosevelt and Nash, Senators Hanna and Foraker, Admiral Dewey and others. The programme being arranged includes a civic parade in the forenoon and a military parade in the afternoon.

ATLANTA, April 30.—Senior Astronomer W. W. Campbell and Assistant Perrine of Lick observatory, California, have arrived in Atlanta en route to Thomaston, where they will select and establish a station for observing the solar eclipse May 28.

New Line to Chicago.

RICHMOND, Ind., April 30.—A new railroad line from Cincinnati to Chicago was practically assured by an election held here, a subsidy of $225,000 being voted.

Gold Miner Returns.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., April 30.—Stephen Caldwell of Phillipsport, Sullivan county, who has spent nearly 45 years in California and the Klondike engaged in gold mining, has just returned home with the intention of spending the remainder of his life here. Caldwell was one of 39 passengers rescued from the steamship Central America when that vessel went down off Cape Hatteras in 1857, carrying 761 passengers and $2,000,000 in gold with her. Caldwell is said to have accumulated a fortune.

Found by Bloodhound.

CORNING, N. Y., April 30.—George H. Thompson, a tinner of Prattsburg, N. Y., who disappeared from his home on April 17, has been found dead by a bloodhound in a field about 1½ miles from his home. He had been despondent for some time. An empty bottle which had contained carbolic acid was found by his side. He was a widower, with a brother and mother living in Canada.

Destructive Forest Fires.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., April 30.—Great damage has thus far resulted from forest fires in Pike county, Pa. Many acres of valuable wood land have been destroyed in the vicinity of Matamoras and Milford. The fire is believed to have started from matches dropped among the leaves by fishermen.

For a number of years I have been a sufferer from bilious sick headache, and as is the custom of many, tried almost every remedy that I could hear of. A little over a year ago a kind friend at Albany obtained a promise from me that I would try Ripans Tabules. I procured a 50-cent package, put up in little glass vials, and in a very short time the change for the better was so marked that many of my acquaintances, among them my kind doctor, asked me what was the cause of my improved condition. Ripans Tabules were so effective in my case that I gave them to my husband, and I certainly think it was due to them that his life was spared through the winter. I soon learned that the Tabules were put up in a cheaper form, so procured twelve of the paper cartons for 48 cents, and found them just as effective and so much cheaper, which was very acceptable to me. After using that quantity I felt sufficiently restored to discontinue their use, having gained in flesh and being able to partake of foods that before were out of the question. Along in October of this year I began to awaken mornings with a severe, dull aching pain at the base of the brain, and after I was up awhile a fit of drowsiness would come over me, and it did not matter what I was doing, I found it almost impossible to keep awake. I bethought of Ripans Tabules and at once sent for a twelve-carton package. I had no trouble to keep awake after I had used four or five Tabules. I feel that I can not praise Ripans Tabules too highly.

WANTED.—A case of bad health that RIPANS will not benefit. They banish pain and prolong life. One gives relief. Note the word RIPANS on the package and accept no substitute. RIPANS (10 for 5 cents) may be had at any drug store. The five-cent carton (12 tablets) and one thousand testimonials will be mailed to any address for 5 cents, forwarded to the Ripans Chemical Co., No. 10 Spruce St., New York.

THE FASHION.

Prevailing Ideas In Wraps—Children's Styles.

The class of wrap called visite is revived for elderly women and is very dignified and elegant when composed of fine cloth embroidered with soutache or of sicilienne decorated with fringe.

Plaid capes, with capuchons and woolen fringe, continue to be in great demand for traveling, excursions and all purposes where a warm, serviceable and easily adjusted wrap is required. To a great extent they take the place of the shawl, which the last generation found so useful. They are worn by young girls as well as women.

For children the long cloak, the loose sack and the jacket are seen. In the case of older girls the figaro is also employed, while the skirt of the gown is plaited, and the chemisette and high corselet belt are added to the wardrobe.

Plain cloth, plaids in different shades of the same color, checked woolens and bengaline are all fashionable materials for children's wear.

Today's cut shows a girl's costume of silver gray cloth. The skirt is laid in stitched plaits, and the bodice and sleeves are also plaited, the folds of the latter being horizontal. There is a short bolero of guipure, which forms epaulets and is secured in front by a chou of velvet and a jeweled button. The plaited collar is of bengaline, the belt of velvet, with a chou and long ends hanging at the back.

Materials and Accessories For Summer Wear.

Printed warp taffetas are among the new summer goods. They are in both floral and oriental patterns, and are used for bodices of various kinds, as well as for entire gowns.

Scarfs are used in all sorts of ways. One of the newest methods is to arrange the scarf in a large bow upon the breast, the ends falling upon the skirt. It is also worn inside the opening of open front jackets and boleros.

Net is greatly used in many ways, accompanying the lace and guipure, which have continued in vogue for so long. Numerous cravats of pure white point d'esprit are to be worn during the summer, ornamented at the ends by large tucks in which satin ribbons are run. Embroidered and fringed scarfs of crepe de chine will also be used. Nothing is prettier than these large, soft scarfs, the knot of which is sometimes fastened by a jeweled ornament. They are particularly pleasing with the half length loose sacques. There are cravats composed of cascades of mousseline de soie or dentelle, the ends of which are fastened in the belt, which are more suitable for wear with the bolero or short jacket.

A picture is given of a short jacket of black cloth. It is closed at the side by a fly, and all the edges are finished by a band of stitched white cloth. The collar and cuffs are of white cloth with a facing of black velvet, and the pockets are of black velvet. The hat of spangled black net has white feathers at the side.

Various Teas.

There are various kinds of tea which, though not fraudulent manufactures, are not made of the real leaf. In Mauritius they make tea of the leaves of an orchid. In Peru they drink mate, a tea made from a native species of holly. The Abyssynians make a tea from the leaves of the Catha edulis, which has such stimulating qualities that even a leaf or two of it chewed have all the reviving effects of "the cup that cheers."

FANCIES OF FASHION.

The Season's Millinery to Be of the Airy-Fairy Variety.

Soft, Clinging Materials Destined to Enjoy Great Favor—An Era of Tucking, Stitching, Plaiting and Applique.

[Special Chicago Letter.]

FASHION is going through all sorts of fantastic phases at the present moment, and it is a somewhat difficult matter to describe accurately what she is doing just now or to predict with any degree of certainty what her whimsical disposition may lead her into doing in the near future. It is reasonable to conclude, however, that the general fashions now in vogue will be the prevailing ones throughout the summer months.

For instance, the dainty headgear which first saw the light of day on Easter morn sounded the keynote of the coming fashions in millinery. With each succeeding day milliners are bringing out hats galore, one and all being more or less of the airy-fairy description. In fact, there never was a time when diaphanous materials played so important a part in the world of millinery as they do just now. Lace and chiffon are held in the highest favor, while tulle and fine net of every known kind and quality are more popular than ever before. Floral decorations predominate on some of the latest Paris hats, while others show a curious medley of trimming which the French milliner alone would have the hardihood to attempt. Almost every other hat sent out by a leading New York house boasts of trimming showing some variety of fruit, currants, cherries and grapes leading in popularity in the order in which I have named them. But any mode which becomes a craze invariably gets passe in a short time, and unless one can afford to change this expensive trimming at the first wink of capricious Dame Fashion it is best to stick to floral decorations or, better still, the ever becoming and modish ostrich feathers.

The picture hat reigns supreme, and when seen at its best has the brim softly lined with shirred chiffon, while the crown is composed entirely of small ostrich plumes. An air of extreme novelty pervades the headgear made of rose petals. This pretty fancy shows to particular advantage in a small French toque seen within the week, made entirely of pink rose petals, its sole trimming consisting of two rather large rosettes of black accordion-plaited chiffon held in place by tiny jeweled pins. The prettiest all black toques are of tulle, adorned by the lightest of lisse wings profusely jetted. Large hats of finely-tucked silk tissue are to be reckoned among the swellest things of the season, and if one can afford to invest a small fortune in headgear, a hat of this description is quite the thing to buy. With the coming warmer weather lovely hats of ivory white tulle will put in an appearance. The material on these dainty-looking hats is shirred, and tucked, and plaited in the most wonderful manner possible; and while fragile in the extreme, and having the appearance of being blown together, as it were, they really represent the highest workmanship and the most artistic skill to be found in the millinery world. When one remembers the hopeless manner in which tulle sticks to the fingers and how bedraggled and forlorn it looks when not absolutely fresh and clean, and the consequent waste thereof, the price of these modish and altogether fetching hats, while not to be wondered at, places them beyond the reach of any but the plethoric purse.

The hat in the picture shows one of the latest and most popular shapes, and with a little careful manipulation a pinch here and a pat there will prove itself becoming to the majority of faces.

The chief object and aim of the fashionable modiste nowadays is to find something new and original, as well as smart and elegant, in the world of black, for the black gown still remains the one par excellence, although there is at the present moment a slight prospect of a little lightening of this extreme somberness. It is to be hoped that this may prove to be the case, as black, although an ideal gowning, is not nearly so dainty and cool-looking for warm weather wear as a soft color.

Soft, clinging materials are destined to enjoy deserved favor. Crepe de chine and crepe de laine vie with each other in popularity, while French cashmere of an exquisite fineness is daily gaining in favor. Some of the handsomest gowns are made of the latter material, chief in attraciveness being the model illustrated. A description will give you a good idea of the prevailing styles. The skirt is made with a number of tiny tucks running downwards from the waist and fitting closely round the figure, while the lower part of the skirt is exceedingly full. The bodice is arranged in a very becoming fashion and trimmed with insertions of lace, a vest of panne velvet in soft coloring and an inner chemisette of tucked silk.

The other model is made of crepe de laine in an exquisite shade of gray, trimmed with the all conquering chantilly lace, the bodice showing any number of charming features only to be seen in gowns hailing from gay Paris.

Smartly dressed women are wearing their skirts, boleros and short coats tucked and stitched in all directions. The furore for this style of ornamentation seems utterly without limit, and the same may be said of the new kilt and box plaitings.

TWO DAINTY CREATIONS FOR EARLY SUMMER.

The day of the severely plain tailored frock has passed, and nowadays no up-to-date tailor would think of turning out a gown that did not have its hard lines softened by the addition of lace or chiffon or the somewhat newer applique.

One of the prettiest forms of tailor trimming now in vogue is shown in an applique of glace silk outlined with chenille. It is particularly effective in boleros, and gives a charming finish to the entire gown, while not detracting a bit from its usefulness.

The jaunty little bolero is still a prime favorite with fashionably dressed women, and is perhaps seen at its best when made of black tucked taffeta, with nicely strapped seams and pouched ever so slightly, both back and front. It is well to know, however, that newer by far than the idolized bolero and really much more chic is the tight-fitting taffeta or strapped broadcloth coat, made with the shortest of basques and the tightest of sleeves. There is always to my mind something distinctly stylish and swell about the short coat, and I am often led to wonder why women of good taste wear any other kind.

The newest skirt, whether of cloth or silk, is made to fit tight at the top and very frou-frouing at the bottom. The cloth ones usually have three shaped flounces by way of trimming, while those fashioned of silk are mostly tucked and finished round the bottom by a series of accordion-plaited flounces.

A word about waists and I am done. White waists, figured silks and soft oriental crepes will take the place of the plain taffeta so much worn last summer. Some of these figures are very large and striking, and there seems a tendency to return to the large floral designs of several seasons ago. The waists made of crepe are bloused slightly and finished with a belt and collar of crushed satin and closed with studs of real or imitation pearls.

The Game of Croquet Under the New Name of Roque

YOU WILL not play croquet any more if you wish to be au fait. You will play roque, which is the proper name for the game that was once so widely known as croquet. Since the advent of the National Roque association, the game has been placed in the category with tennis by many expert critics. It is a sport, certainly, and a good one, for it keeps the participants out in the open air, furnishes them with a moderate amount of exercise and has the element of skill to recommend it to those who would excel with the mallet. The Horsman mallet, for so many years the emblem of the championship of the United States, and the Van Wickle gold badge are of as much importance to the roque players as are the Havemeyer cup and the gold medal of the United States Golf association to the amateurs who compete for them.

One of the chief reasons given for the retarding of the development of roque in many places is that the inability to secure ground for permanent courts has not been removed by men who might well afford to devote a few breathing spots to the players. In large cities the roque courts are mostly unimportant bits of lawn entirely unsuited to the uses of the game, provided with little or no good turf and often in a dark corner where the sun rarely shines. These places certainly would offer no attractions to players. One big club, the Springfield Country club of Massachusetts, I believe, has made permanent courts for roque just as many other country clubs have provided permanent courts for lawn tennis, and golf, the original and preferred game at the Springfield club, is but a running mate for roque. It would be a poor country club indeed that could not spare a few square yards from its broad acres for a roque court.

But it must not be taken for granted that it is enough to simply set aside a place for a roque court. The ground must be prepared for the arches just as carefully as the court is fixed for the net and line of the lawn tennis game.

SACHET L. DURYEE.
Present Holder of the Van Wickle Championship Medal.

The paraphernalia of the game must be of the best. Any old thing in the way of mallets and balls used to be the fashion some time ago when croquet was regarded by many as about as exciting an entertainment as throwing stones in a lake or watching ants build their homes. Nowadays the expert in the game of roque can delight throngs with his tact, skill, strategy and execution. The game is capable of evolution—it has been evolved from the legendry that surrounded its earliest forms.

There is no man in the United States who has done so much for the game of roque as Charles Jacobus, now called the official editor of the National Roque association. He was most prominent in the formation and development of the national association, and his influence, not only in shaping the rules of the sport but in arousing a national interest in the game, has been paramount since 1882. One of the secrets of Mr. Jacobus' power in fostering interest in his hobby is his own skill with the mallet and his ability to worry an adversary against whom he may be pitted with his strategy. He thought out the problems of play and gave many valuable plays to the world. Hiding the ball at the third arch and the slambang or Jacobus shot, as it is called, are two of the most important.

Like the geniuses of the gridiron, Mr. Jacobus works from pure love of the sport, in his efforts to do something for the advancement of roque. He does not neglect his professional business. Rather does he impose on his leisure time for a few hours each week devoted to roque. In 1885 Mr. Jacobus won first prize in the national tournament. Thrice since then he has been given the second prize after trying for first prize. At all times he has been a hard rival for his opponents. For several years he held the Horsman mallet, which was the emblem of championship of the United States. He won the Van Wickle gold medal when it was presented to the National Roque association, and after holding it for several years against all comers he relinquished it in 1896 without a contest.

There are handicaps in roque, but the handicaps have not been passed upon by the national body, for the rules and regulations are in an indeterminate state. But at the last session of the national body, in August, 1899, the subject was widely discussed and a committee was appointed to report upon handicapping in general and on the merits of a special plan proposed by W. H. Wahly, of Washington.

There is so much elasticity to the game that is played purely by amateurs and for simple amusement that there is no reason why any two players differing materially in the amount of skill each possesses should not adopt any plan mutually agreed upon to equalize the results of individual play. At the national tournaments that have been held the necessity for handicapping has been, in a sense, rendered unnecessary by separating the players or grading them into divisions, according to their merits as players, as determined by a committee appointed to do this work. So well has this committee done its duty in the past that there has been little but favorable criticism for its fairness and justice. The players who have been assigned to divisions containing players too strong for them have made no complaint, for the good reason that so far none but sportsmen have participated in the contests.

CHARLES JACOBUS.
Official Editor National Roque Association.

At the next meeting of the national body this fall there will be many expert opinions given on the methods of handicapping. If some of the plans proposed are adopted the published reports of the contests will become more intelligible and more interesting to the readers.

Young men are making records for progress in roque. Sachet L. Duryee, the holder of the Van Wickle gold medal, is but 20 years old. He played his first game of roque May 2, 1896, and, liking the sport, became so proficient that he won first honors at the Washington fall tournament of 1896. He won seven games and lost but one in that tourney. The next year at the national tourney at Norwich he took the first honors by ten contests won and one lost. Since then he has won the badge several times and has shown great skill.

Charles E. Cox, the Malden Roque club champion, is only 19 years old, yet the critics never tire of talking of his peculiar stroke and his dashing, reckless play.

The etiquette of roque as interpreted by Mr. Jacobus has many points in common with that of golf. No spectator, umpire or player—except he be a partner—is permitted to speak while a player is in the act of striking the mallet to the ball. This is as it should be. By the same token the spectators should not embarrass the players by taking a position near the player or by standing in the line of direction of the play. But the umpire is permitted to assume any position that does not interfere with the player's free stroke. It is also very fitting that outsiders should not volunteer any advice or information as to error to the players.

CHARLES E. COX.
Champion of Malden Roque Club, Mass.

Mr. Jacobus endears himself to the majority of players by his declaration that there is such a thing as being offensively particular on unimportant points. Courtesy is after all the chief rule and guide. It is not considered to be in good taste to be charged with loud talking while discussing rules and plays. How like the golfer's rule, "replace the divots," is the ninth rule of roque etiquette—any damage to an arch or the surface of the court should be repaired at once. An error is an error, whether made with the head or the hand, and it is not therefore considered a necessary courtesy to inform an opponent when he is in the act of striking the wrong ball or making the wrong arch. Above all, it is especially requested that players keep their tempers.

DEVOTED PAPA FROG.

He Holds His Little Sons and Daughters on His Back and Carries Them Wherever He May Go.

Here is the picture of a male frog with the little tadpoles living on its back, discovered lately by Dr. August Brauer, of Marburg, Germany. For a little fellow it has a pretty long name, but perhaps its paternal devotion has earned it the Latin name, arthroleptis seychellensis boettger. It has been noticed before that in some species of frogs living in Venezuela and the island of Trinidad the male bears the young on its back, to which they hold by their mouths. But this new species is the first one on which so many as nine little ones were discovered, and, besides, they do not hold on by their mouths, but seem to be stuck to the papa frog's back and sides by some gummy substance, which holds them in place until they are large enough to care for themselves. Like all tadpoles, these still have the tails, which will soon drop off, and if you look carefully you can see the beginnings of their legs just in front of their tails. It is a wonderful device of nature that the female sometimes deposits her eggs on the back of the male where they hatch out, and the little tadpoles grow until they attain a certain size. Such is, of course, not the case with our common frogs, but in these rare species, only lately found by naturalists, is a strange reversal of what seems to be the usual law that the mother takes care of the young. In this species the eggs are not laid on the back of the male, but on the ground, and only after they are hatched do they take up their position on papa's back. And there they may ride, not for a trot upstairs or through the hall, as little children do, but until they are big enough to walk around and look for their own food. It would hardly be an exaggeration to call this kind of a frog the most paternal of animals.—Cincinnati Commercial-Tribune.

THE FLOATING NEEDLE.

How a Pretty Experiment Can Be Performed with a Sewing Needle and a Small Magnet.

An interesting experiment may be performed with quite a small magnet and a common sewing needle. Insert a light thread in a needle, tie and cut off one end, leaving a single thread six or eight inches long. Lay a horseshoe magnet on a table, with the poles in front. Magnetize the needle by rubbing it several times, always in one direction, by one pole of the magnet, after each stroke returning the magnet in an arc through the air.

Take the end of the thread between thumb and finger, and suspend the needle over its attractive pole, allowing the point to come within one-fourth inch of the magnet, then, with a circular sweep of the hand to keep the point in position, draw the eye of the needle down toward the other pole. This, if carefully done, will bring the needle to a horizontal position, where it will remain, floating or in suspension, as long as the thread itself is held steadily.

The magnetic forces operating to produce this effect appear to be: First, the attraction of the left pole for the point of the needle; second, the repulsion of the right pole for the same point, and, third, the attraction of the right pole for the eye of the needle, which is resisted by the thread supporting the needle; the latter also is held from approaching the left pole by the same means.

The experiment may be made more effective by covering the magnet with a sheet of paper, thus concealing it.—Golden Days.

WONDERFUL CREATURE.

Nature Has Given the Chameleon the Power to Change Its Form Almost Instantaneously.

The chameleon has for ages been an object of curiosity, not only on account of its ability to change its color at will, as one might suppose who had read accounts which mentioned only that one characteristic, but also on account of a remarkable power which admits of the creature instantly changing its form. At times it takes upon itself almost the exact form of a mouse; again, with back curved and tail erect, it is the exact counterpart of a miniature crouching lion, which no doubt gave origin to its name, chameleon, which clearly means "ground lion." By inflating its sides and flattening back and belly, it takes upon itself the form of an ovate leaf, the tail acting as the petiole, the white line over the belly becoming the midrib.

When thus expanded it also has the extraordinary power to sway itself over so as to present an edge to the observer, thus greatly adding to its means of concealment. As is well known, the least excitement, as in handling, will cause a change in the color. In its normal state it is of a light pea green. When excited, the groundwork remains the same, but transverse stripes about 30 in number appear on the body. These stripes, which are of a very dark green to begin with, soon change to inky blackness. The prevailing idea that the chameleon takes upon himself the peculiar hues of whatever he is placed upon is as curious and widespread as it is erroneous. Placed in boxes lined with red or blue silk, they retain their pea green color, with no leaning toward the brighter hues of the surroundings.—Brooklyn Eagle.

HOMEMADE COMPASS.

How to Put Together a Toy Which Affords Amusement as Well as Instruction.

Get a piece of a mainspring to a watch, from three to five inches long. It can be straightened by passing repeatedly between the thumb and finger if held firmly. Now, if you have nothing better, take an old file and grind or file the small end, or handle, to a sharp point. Then strike this punch with a hammer into the middle of the steel so as to make a little dent; then give the steel a little bend at this point. Now drive a nail through a little block of wood and sharpen the nail to a long point. You are now ready to balance the steel on the standard, made of the sharpened nail. If the work has been carefully done the steel will balance nicely upon the point of the nail, as shown in the drawing.

Now comes an essential part of the proceedings, and not a difficult part if you have a magnet. If you haven't one, you will have to find some one who has. At some other time I may tell you how you can magnetize your needle without a magnet. To magnetize the compass needle, lay it upon a smooth surface, and with one pole or end of the magnet stroke the steel from near its middle to one end; and with the other end or pole stroke the other end of the steel from the middle to the other end. This should be repeated until the steel is thoroughly magnetized. If now the needle be balanced upon its support it may dip a little. This can be remedied by breaking off a little of the heavy end. Try different metals on your needle, and see if all act upon it in just the same way.—Orange Judd Farmer.

Hunter Pursued by Baboons.

While exploring in Borneo, a hunter shot a large baboon at a spring some distance from camp. It fell with a sharp cry, and immediately another baboon came in sight and gave a loud yell. While the hunter was preparing to shoot the newcomer, a small army of baboons appeared on the scene and the man realized that he was in danger of being torn to pieces. One full-grown baboon is easily a match for a man, and a hundred are to be dreaded more than as many wolves. The hunter promptly took to his heels and the baboons after him. Occasionaly he paused and shot the nearest animal, but he would have been overpowered had not his comrades sallied out from the camp and with shouts and a combined volley compelled the pursuers to retreat.

Think It Over.

How much money have you wasted in your lifetime on dirty grain?

It is probably quite a sum, and you might just as well have saved it. Don't buy grain anywhere you happen to see a feed sign. Come to us and you will always be sure of getting your money's worth.

Why? Because our grain is bought in the west by our own men and brought east in large lots, thoroughly cleaned in our perfect plant, and delivered direct to the consumer, thus saving all intermediate profits.

SPORTING.

WHIST

The state challenge whist trophy is still in Jersey City but it came very near going to Forest Hill last week. The Forest Hill Club, as challengers, played the Jersey City Club last week and at the close of the three rounds, the score stood 11 to 11. An extra round was played, Jersey City winning with a total score of 16 to 12. The New Jersey Whist Club, of Newark, play for it tonight.

ON THE DIAMOND

The Woodside baseball team defeated the Plainfield Juniors on the old golf grounds Saturday by a score of 12 to 9. Batteries for the Woodsides O'Keeffe and Kilpatrick; for the Juniors Tratter and Bird.

GOLF

The new greens recently added to the golf course at the Hillside Tennis and Golf Club grounds is rapidly being put in condition. Expert Brown is hard at work every day and he says that the new greens will equal the others in a short time.

WON BY ONE RUN.

Great Game Played by Arion A. C. and Lincoln High School, of Westfield, Saturday Afternoon.

A thirteen-inning baseball game was played on the Sherman avenue grounds Saturday afternoon when the Arion A. C., of this city, defeated the Lincoln High School team, of Westfield, by a score of 15 to 14. The game was exciting throughout.

Charles Smith pitched a good game for the home team and had satisfactory support from the rest. Hegeman also pitched a careful game for Westfield. The runs were made by good batting rather than poor fielding. Quite a crowd witnessed the game.

TO REPAIR PRESSES HERE

CAMPBELL COMPANY SECURES OLD CARPET WORKS BUILDING.

It Will be Equipped With Modern Machinery and Hands Skilled Hands Given Employment.

The Campbell Printing Press Company, one of the oldest press manufacturing concerns in this country, have leased the VanDaventer carpet factory and will use it for the re-building of second-hand machinery that is taken in exchange when installing new presses. This work was formerly done in New York city, but the many advantages of Plainfield as a manufacturing centre induced the company to bring this department here. Presses are now being built for them in large quantities at Bridgeport, Conn., and at the Potter Press Works in this city. As this department will employ about forty skilled mechanics at present and possibly more in the future, it will add considerably to Plainfield's industries.

THROWN FROM TROLLEY CAR

H. Texier, the Watchung Glove Maker, Met With Serious Injuries at Jersey City Last Week.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Jersey City, April 30—Henry Texier, a glove manufacturer in Watchung, is now confined to the hospital in this city as the result of injuries received last Friday afternoon in a fall from a trolley car. He was standing on the rear platform of a trolley car when a sudden jerk of the car threw him to the pavement.

A severe wound was made in his scalp, in which it was necessary to take several stitches. His face was bruised and one eye badly cut. It is believed that the sight in that eye can be saved.

TEN YEARS FOR MILLER.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Brooklyn, April 30 — William F. Miller, manager of the Franklin Syndicate, was arraigned today in the Kings County Court before Judge Hurd and sentenced to imprisonment in Sing Sing prison for ten years.

A Big Easter Collection.

The Easter collection at St. Mary's church amounted to $1,116 25. One hundred and seventy-five special envelopes have yet to be returned, which will swell the amount to a much larger sum. The money will be used toward paying the expense of alterations now going on in the church.

THE AMUSEMENT WORLD

Local and Metropolitan Performances That Will Please Those Who Delight in the Art of Thespis and Mimic World.

In the pictures of the Jeffries-Sharkey contest at Music Hall Thursday night, will be seen incidents of great import in such events, such as the handling of the fighters by their seconds and advisers. The picturesque method of counting time when a man is down, and the many other minor details that sustain the interest every instant. There is something new developing with every breath you draw. When the views are finished you feel the supreme satisfaction of having witnessed the big fight, and can discuss every detail as though you were a spector at the actual contest at Coney Island on November 3d. As an object lesson of the science of the manly art of self-defense it is invaluable. The pictures are the marvel of a progressive age, and their accomplishment is truly a fitting climax to a century of surprising inventions and famous discoveries.

* * * * * *

With the opening of Proctor's Fifth Avenue Theatre Monday, May 7th, forming the third continuous performance theatre in the F. F. Proctor circuit in New York city, vaudeville patrons are assured of seeing one of the strongest programmes of refined vaudeville ever given in New York city. Numerous novelties have been secured for the opening week, including Thos. Q. Seabrooke, the comic opera star, who will make his vaudeville debut, appearing in an original skit. Another novelty will be the debut in vaudeville of the Earl of Yarmouth, England's actor nobleman. The Earl will appear in a new comedietta, which is said to display his abilities to the best advantage. Other big "headliners" are: Cissie Loftus, in new imitations; Henry French, the European juggler and cyclist; Midgley and Carlisle, in their quaint juvenile sketch, "After School;" Kittie Mitchell, a New York favorite; Kalatechnoscope, which will project a series of war views of the latest battles fought in the South African Republic and many more "turns" of the highest grade. The Fifth Avenue Theatre will open daily at 12:30 p. m. and continue until 11 p. m.

DESPERATE BURGLARS.

Used Chloroform to Overcome a Woman Whose House They Intended to Rob.

(Special to The Daily Press.)

Sterling, April 30.—A daring robbery was committed here Saturday night. About 1 a. m. burglars gained entrance to Mrs. H. Reinauer's house and entered her sleeping-room on the first floor.

At the point of a pistol they bade her not to make any outcry. They then chloroformed her and bound her hands and feet. The burglars took $50 in cash, a valuable gold watch and chain and other jewelry and clothing.

Mrs. Reinauer was under the effects of the drug Sunday morning and is still suffering from shock. Mr. Reinauer and the children, who sleep upstairs, knew nothing of the occurrence until yesterday. No clue to the burglars has been found. Mrs. Reinauer says she would recognize them if she saw them again.

PARTICULAR MENTION.

Miss Maggie Malli, of New York, visited friends on Codington avenue yesterday.

Fred Adams, of Newark, returned home last night after a week's visit with his parents in Netherwood.

Miss Anna Walbridge Miller, of Watchung avenue, is spending a few days at Haddon Hall, Atlantic City.

Miss Edna Smith, of Grove street, who has been ill with scarlet fever, now has the diphtheria. She is in a critical condition.

On account of the illness of the pastor, Rev. A. E. Main, the pulpit in the Seventh-day Baptist church Saturday morning was filled by Rev. Dr. A. H. Lewis.

For the Paris Exposition.

The Campbell Press Company had a force of men working all Saturday night and yesterday on two large presses consigned to the Paris fair. They were completed yesterday afternoon and shipped last night.

—The regular meeting of the McAll Auxiliary will be held at the Public Library Wednesday morning, May 2nd, at eleven o'clock.

—The Union Bible class taught by Rev. Dr. Stearns will meet at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon at the Y. M. C. A., instead of meeting at 7:45 the evening of May 7th.

—On account of the funeral of Robinson Pound, of West Second street, brother-in-law of A. M. Griffen, the latter's store will be closed today from 12 until 6 p. m.

—S. D. Frazee, of Park avenue, is suffering with a badly-lacerated thumb, which he was so unfortunate as to get caught in the door of a passenger car on leaving the train Saturday morning at the North avenue station. Dr. Tomlinson dressed it and Mr. Frazee is able to be at his place of business.

English Pronunciation.

An English journal recently wondered whether the pronunciation of some of the ignorant classes or of some of the cultivated classes is the worse. For instance, the groom says: "'Arry, 'old my 'oss." But the curate says: "He that hath yaws to yaw, let him yaw." And the doctor's wife says: "Jawge, please go to Awthah and awdah the hawse, and don't forget to look at the fiah." And the vicar says: "If owah gracious sovering lady wur-ah to die!"

A Rich Bedstead.

Not very long ago a bedstead made of gold and silver and inlaid with precious stones was discovered in a cave between Beyrout and Damascus. An inscription shows that it belonged to the famous Queen Eleanor of England, who followed her royal husband to the Crusades. This wonderful piece of furniture had lain concealed in the cave for six centuries.

SCARLET FEVER PREVALENT.
Every householder is hereby urged to use disinfectants daily during this month, thus warding off the prevailing diseases and preventing future sickness. For purifying the waste pipes, closets, sinks and all waste carrying arrangements, for sprinkling about the cellars, store rooms, etc., Platt's Chlorides has proven a most reliable and economical disinfectant. It is a colorless liquid and when diluted and sprinkled about leaves no stain or smell while it instantly removes any foul odors and destroys disease breeding matter. A quart bottle will last an average family a month and it can be obtained at all druggists. 4 30 2
